GRIDIRON GOSSIP

MANY CHANGES IN CHAMPIONSHIP RACE.

Minnesota and Iowa Undefeated—
Chicago, Michigan and Wisconsin
Out of Race.

Saturday's Games.

Wisconsin 54; Notre Dame 0.
Iowa 28; Michigan 5.
Northwestern 5; Chicago 0.
Minnesota 23; Illinois 0.
Penn. 12; Lafayette 5.
Harvard 11; Brown 6.
Cornell 29; Oberlin 0.
Beloit 17; Dixon 0.
Yale 35; Indians 0.

The past two weeks have witnessed some of the greatest surprises in football circles for years. They have seen three of the strongest factors in the western championship race, Wisconsin, Chicago and Michigan, eliminated from the struggle. From what looked like a hopeless muddle of championship claims there has arisen one team which thus far this season has shown itself plainly superior to its opponents. Although Minnesota is raising strong objections to Iowa's assertion of superiority, the fact remains that the Hawkeyes deserve the honors at this stage of the game.

Northrup field saw the second successive victory for the maroon and gold over members of the "Big Nine." Illinois failed to make the showing against the Gophers that the Badgers did the week previous. Weight again bobbed up as the deciding factor of the contest and as before decided in favor of Minnesota. The Illini were unable to withstand the mass plays of the heavy Gophers and went to defeat by a score of 23 to 0.

Iowa won again on Saturday, Michigan being its victim. The Wolverines were outplayed at all stages of the game and were lucky in getting a placekick which prevented a total white-wash. Iowa has not had her goal line crossed for a touchdown but once in two years which certainly is a record to be proud of. Saturday's contest virtually decided the western championship. It will only be through a wonderful run of luck that will permit any other team to secure a straight claim on the pennant.

After four years of discouraging defeats Northwestern turned the tables on her old-time rival, defeating Chicago by a single touchdown. This makes the fourth defeat the Maroons have met with this season while it marks practically the first victory the Purple have gained over a big team this season. This victory has awakened championship aspirations in the hearts of her supporters and they are already making claims on its pennant. It will need decisive victories over both Minnesota and Iowa to substantiate these claims however.

Notre Dame Easy.

Although Wisconsin scarcely looked for Notre Dame to put up much of a game against them, the almost entire lack of opposition met with came as a surprise to them. The Badgers were never kept from making the necessary distance while Notre Dame on the contrary made her first downs at no time in the game, gaining but two and a half yards during the game. The visitors, although light, were game to the end and seemed to play the best ball they were capable of throughout the contest. But this is not saying much. The ignorance of the first principles of football which they displayed was amazing. Had the last half lasted as long as originally agreed upon it is quite possible that Wisconsin would have equalled the score of 76-0 made by Chicago against Northwestern last year and which broke the record for a large score among the teams of the first class.

Wisconsin's work on the contrary was sharp and snappy and considering the light practice of the previous week was very encouraging to the coaches. Cochems, formerly left end, played his part game in the back field and made his mark as a worthy successor of his brother in that position. His ground-gaining on the whole was the best of the day and with a little more acquaintance with the position he is sure to prove one of the best of the Badger backs. Tratt, Driver, Schreiber and Larson played their customary games while other members of the team did good work. Owing to the little opposition that was encountered in any of the plays, it is scarcely possible to criticize the team work of the men, as individual strength was sufficient to make the required gains.

Captain Farley of the Notre Dame team sustained quite a serious injury during the game. He had sustained a painful injury about the head during the Indiana game the week before and entered the game Saturday against the doctor's orders. In the second half he was again injured and was carried from the field, remaining in an unconscious state all of Saturday night while Sunday he was able to take but little nourishment. He was able to leave with the team this morning however.

Mrs. Conklin Speaks.

A large body of students listened to Mrs. Mabel Conklin yesterday in the Senior Law room. She gave the second of her series of lectures on Social Purity. Her primary subject was, "What is the Drift and Tendency of Young Men?" The educated young men, she thought, would be the leaders of all trades and occupations, and with them lies the problem of the moral tone, and daily are the young men deciding the physical vigor and moral health of the future. The destinies are decided daily and thus are the fruits of men's lives eternal. Her words sank deep into many, being weighted as they were with such great truths and presented in a very earnest and impressive manner. At the close of the meeting many responded to the opportunity of joining the White Cross.

In opening Mrs. Conklin greatly complimented the Y. M. C. A. on its work and progress.

The week of prayer for the Associations is being observed this week. Dr. Updike will address the meeting next Sunday.

ENGINEERS' TRIP.

Seniors Left Today for Chicago with Professors Bull and Turneaure.

A large number of senior mechanical and civil engineers left this morning at 8:30 o'clock for Chicago over the Northwestern road for the purpose of investigating the working of several commercial firms. This inspection will involve visits to the Illinois Steel company, the Pullman Car Works, Chicago and Edison company, John Mehr and Sons, McCormick Harvesting company, Metropolitan Elevated Railway company, and many others. The trip is under the direction of Professors Bull and Turneaure.

TECHNICAL LIBRARY

ENGINEERING READING ROOM RECEIVES A BIG DONATION.

Has a Duplicate Technical Library—Valuable For Reference Work For Engineers.

The beautiful reading room in the southwest corner on the first floor of the new Engineering Building is to be supplied not only with all the leading engineering journals of the world, but also with a Duplicate Technical Library. This Duplicate Library is to contain the standard works in engineering which are needed for reading reference either by the students themselves or for the professors to use in class illustration.

A fine donation to this library has just been made by Mr. O. Chanute of Chicago, Past-president of the American Society of Civil Engineers. He has donated about one hundred volumes, containing bound proceedings of the Institution of Civil Engineers (London), American Institute of Mining Engineers, a number of important engineering works, besides many unbound volumes of the American Society of Civil Engineers, of the Engineering News, of the Engineering Magazine, and other society proceedings. To this nucleus will at once be added over one hundred volumes of the most recent publications in engineering, and all these will be installed upon open shelves where the students can consult them at their pleasure. Both the duplicate technical library and the engineering periodicals are maintained by the fund formed by a fee of $1.50 a year for every student in the College of Engineering. For this small sum all the students in this college have immediate access to all the current engineering literature as well as to the most important works of reference, without having to go to the General Library. The bound volumes of the engineering periodicals which come to this reading room are, however, kept in the General Library, as well as other copies of all the works of reference. The current numbers of these periodicals and the duplicate set of reference books are kept in the Engineering Building only as a matter of convenience to the students.

The walls of this room are hung with beautiful pictures and the room is supplied with twelve large library chairs, upholstered in leather.

The Roman Forum.

Dr. Grant Showerman will begin a series of lectures on the Roman Forum to-morrow afternoon at 4. The series forms a part of the course on Ancient Rome which is being given Tuesdays and Thursdays at 4 in room 64 U. H. The lectures are open to outsiders as well as to students taking credit.

The trustees of Wesleyan University have limited the number of women who may be enrolled to twenty per cent. of students enrolled the previous year.

The postal sub-station at Yale handled in all, during the first month, 153,434 pieces of mail, including registered letters. Many students use the station as a depository by making out money orders payable to themselves.

Wisconsin Men in the Legislature.

The next Legislature will find many University men as members. At this writing at least six Wisconsin men are known to have been elected to our Legislature, and it is very probable that there are more. The fact that two of them are Democrats and were elected over their Republican opponents, while the rest of the Democratic ticket was not successful, is worthy of thought and attention.

University men are daily becoming more prominent in politics and with a Wisconsin man as Governor of our state, and so many Wisconsin men in our Legislature, we may be certain that our University will be well taken care of this winter.

Football Energy.

Recent experiments concerning the amount of food consumed by football players and oarsmen have disclosed some very interesting facts. It is the common belief that oarsmen in training for a race use up more energy than do football players. Because, they say, "while a boat race is not as long as a football game, yet it is more severe while it lasts and the nervous tension is more intense."

Yet, experts in observing the quantity of food consumed in both cases, have come to a different conclusion. Seven different colleges, including Yale and Harvard, were studied and their food carefully weighed and considered, and it was found that the average football players consumed from 30 to 50 per cent. more food a day than did the oarsmen.

These experiments show clearly that the daily football practice is very much of a strain on the players and that it is difficult to realize how much energy each player wastes in practice. The weights taken before and after practice generally show a loss of three to five pounds per man.

Hence, in this light, the creditable scholarships which our football players maintain, even during the strict training of the football season, is very commendable to our team, and speaks well for the standard of athletics here.

Grand Opening.

The new quarters of the Groves-Barnes Music company were formally opened to the public today. The new location is at 27 E. Main street, which has been thoroughly remodeled and refinished throughout. The floor space is over 4,000 feet, and in point of beauty and convenience few music stores in large cities rival it; but, as a matter of fact, the business done by this popular firm is also unrivaled by firms in cities of many times the size of Madison. This magnificent trade has been built up in the last six years and is a credit to the business ability and fair dealing of its proprietors.

For the opening which will include two days, Prof. Nitschke's full orchestra will provide the string music, and Prof. Phillips, the celebrated Chicago pianist, will give recitals tomorrow afternoon and evening.

The Groves-Barnes people carry everything in the musical line. In their stock may be found pianos of the following makes: Chickering, Fischer, Albrecht, Regent, Kingsbury, Schiller, and others well known to the public. In sheet music and instruments their stock is always complete. The company employ seven travelling salesmen.
