FAIRCY EQUALS WORLD'S SWIM MARK IN MEET

Minnesota Wins Annual Big Ten Tank Contest at Chicago

BADGERS PLACE SECOND

By CHAS. J. LEWIN

(Special to Daily Cardinal)

CHICAGO, March 18—A world's swimming record was tied, four Big Ten marks were broken, and another was equaled during the twelfth annual conference swimming meet, which Minnesota won by scoring 34 points in Bartlett pool, University of Chicago, last night.

Wisconsin captured second place with 29 points. The final results hinged on the last event which Lanpher won to bring a second consecutive title to the Gophers. Chicago trailed in third position by counting 20 points, while one marker gave Illinois fourth place over Northwestern.

Equals World's Record

Faircy, of Minnesota, equalled a world's record in the 200-yard breast stroke when he negotiated the distance in 2 minutes 38 4-5 seconds, 6 1-5 faster than the old Big Ten mark held by Biersold, of Wisconsin. "Johnny" Bennett, Wisconsin tank ace, was crowned conference swimming champion after he had broken one mark, tied another, and scored 14 points, three more than Blinks, of Chicago, his closest rival.

Bennett did the 40-yard swim in 19 3-5 seconds and clipped 1-5 of a second off the 100-yard race. He defeated Blinks in the 40- and 100-yard races, finished close behind the Maroon in the 220-yard event, and took a fourth in the 440-yard

OZORA DAVIS TO SPEAK AT DINNER

The Congregational students' association will hold a banquet Tuesday, March 21, at 6 o'clock at the Congregational church. Ozora Davis, president of the Chicago Theological seminary, who has frequently made visits to Madison, will speak on "Life Investments." Dean F. Roe will act as toastmaster. A musical program will consist of a whistling solo by Reba Hayden '22, and a vocal solo by Carroll Robb '25.

The tickets, which are priced at 75 cents, will be on sale today at the parish house.

COMMERCE MAGAZINE TO OUTDO EDISON BY REVISED QUESTIONS

The Commerce Magazine is sponsoring another feature, in the form of a revised Edison questionnaire, consisting of 100 question and embracing 17 different subjects. The questions are intended to be of such a nature that every person who has had two years of college education should be able to answer them, in the opinion of the 25 university professors who contributed the material.

According to the statistics obtained from the questionnaires that were issued by the magazine in one of its previous numbers, 80 per cent of the students had read the set of questions that were put out by Thomas A. Edison, and of those who read the questions 79 per cent thought that they were worthless because of their limitations and unfairness. Edison's questions covered only a limited technical field and for this reason it was thought desirable to get out questions that should cover a wider field and should include educational subjects and current affairs.

Among the professors who assisted in preparing the new list are: John R. Commons, Carl Russell Fish,

A. B. Hall, William Kiekhofer, J. F. A. Pyre, S. A. Ogg, William Scott, dean of the Commerce school, H. L. Russell, dean of the College of Agriculture, B. W. Snow, Carl Young, H. B. Lathrop, E. M. Hyde, and G. H. Stuart. The professors represent the different departments of the university, and each has picked out the questions relating to his own subject.

Besides this big feature, the Commerce Magazine will have a love story, "Red Hair and Violet Eyes," written by Earl Hanson and illustrated in two colors by Hub Townsend, and a story about university stage door Johnnies entitled "Theater Blues," written by Arthur Aylward and illustrated by Kenneth Fagg.

A heavy demand is expected when this issue goes on sale next Tuesday, and for this reason more extra copies have been ordered this time than for any other issue except the one which had the results of the first questionnaire published. Five hundred copies are to be sent to different newspapers throughout the United States.

STUDENT LIFE A PLAY WORLD

—BRUNKER

College Work Should Be Miniature of Career After

That a student's four years of college life should be a play representing in miniature the problems and difficulties of the world he faces after leaving school was the statement of A. R. Brunker, president of the Liquid Carbonic company, Chicago, before the All-Commerce convocation in Sterling hall, yesterday.

"A broad understanding of human nature is the best thing a student can get from his college course," said Mr. Brunker. "This understanding, when coupled with the usual amount of common sense and determination enough to stick to a thing and see it through, is the element which leads to a successful business career."

"The extra-curricular activity of a student is the best indication of his business ability," said Mr. Brunker. He points out that his firm, in selecting college graduates to fill supervisory and managerial positions, selected them on the basis of their out-of-the-classroom record.

Mr. Brunker also addressed members of the Men's and Women's Commerce clubs, Commerce Advisory commission, and Ad club at a banquet in the Woman's building, last night. George A. Shipley also told of the organization of the French Battery company.

MICHIGAN WINS DEBATING TILT WITH BADGERS

Defeats Proposition That War
Debts Should Be Canceled

SUCKERS ALSO VICTORS

Michigan's negative team won from Wisconsin last night in the debate held in Music hall on the question, "Resolved: That the war debts due the United States from her allies in the Great War should be canceled." The decision was made in favor of the visitors because of the clear and consistent arguments which were presented, according to Prof. F. A. Rarig of Minnesota, judge of the contest. Wisconsin also lost to Illinois in the debate at Urbana, according to a wire received last night.

That cancellation would not materially help Europe in reconstruction was the strong point in Michigan's stand, which the Wisconsin team was not successful in battering down.

Dean Richards Is Chairman

Michigan forced Wisconsin to dwell on the moral obligation to cancel the debt. Sterling Tracy, speaking for the affirmative, established the moral obligation from an unanswerable ethical standpoint but this took time from his constructive speech.

Prof. Harry S. Richards, dean of the law School, acted as chairman. The affirmative speakers speaking for Wisconsin were Francis K. Karel '23, Robert B. Stewart '23, and Sterling Tracy '22. The negative speakers of the Michigan team were Julius B. Glasgow '23, Francis (Continued on Page 8)

Prof. Showerman Appointed to Post In Italian College

Prof. Grant Showerman of the classical department, who left last fall on a year's leave of absence in Italy, has been appointed annual professor in the American Academy at Rome for the year 1922-23.

This school for classical study which was established in 1895, has a permanent director, and an American professor is newly appointed every year to assist in the work. The school is kept up by private contributions from Americans interested in the study of classics, and from a number of American colleges. There is also a limited endowment fund.

All who attend the school are graduate students in the classics. Many visiting professors spend several months in study there. The annual professor gives a series of lectures on any optional subject.

Prof. M. S. Slaughter, who was the annual professor for the year 1909-10, delivered his talks on "Roman Life."

Men's Glee Club to Give Second Concert

The university Men's Glee club will give its second home concert at Music hall, March 24. Violin solos by Cecil Burleigh, accompanied by Dr. C. H. Mills of the Music school, will be special numbers on the program.

"This will be by far the best program ever turned out by the club," said Prof. E. E. Swinney, president of the organization.

Editorial Meet to Be Held May 19-20

The Daily Cardinal will send representatives to Minneapolis, Minn., for the Western Conference Editorial meet which will be held at Minnesota May 19 and 20. All Big Ten publications will be represented and plans are being made to consider the serious problems confronting the publication of college dailies.

The Minnesota Daily, Tom Phelps, managing editor, will act as host and will arrange accommodations. Brewster P. Campbell of the Michigan Daily was elected president last year at the first conference, and has charge of the program this year.

Pistol Men Hold Telegraphic Meet

Five men chosen from those who attend the practice Saturday will shoot in the first pistol meet by telegraph, which will be held Saturday afternoon, March 25, with the pistol team of the University of Missouri.

Wisconsin has challenged more than fifteen universities and has arranged twelve meets which will be held during the spring. The Badger team will shoot in the stone quarry which is the only place where a 50-yard range can be had.

The total score of each meet will be telegraphed to the opposing team. Individual scores will be sent by mail so that the final winners can not be announced until one or two days after the meets have taken place.

OUR DAILY BOOK REVIEW

"The Motor Boys in Tepid Waters" is the best work the author of this series has yet turned loose on the public. As the New York Sun says, "Mr. Bung has caught the spirit of American youth and has given us a real picture of youthful ambition, indecision, and indigestion."

In this new volume we find our old friends engaged in the bootlegging profession—not for profit but for the love of the game. The plot shapes itself around a new invention of one of the boys, a formula for making pre-war gin out of shellac and Mellin's food. Everything looks rosy until Noddy Nixon, their old rival, threatens to form an anti-prohibition bloc in Congress, repeal the Volstead act, and ruin the new business. The artistic way in which Mr. Bung unravels his story and shows the downfall of the opposition is comparable only to the finesse and power of some of Mr. Alger's later works. $0.65 postpaid. Student Saves Co-ed From Burning House

Two rescues which brought cheers from the crowd and which saved great unhappiness were made Thursday night when a student rushed from a burning rooming house at 428 N. Murray with a co-ed in his arms. Alderman Henry Ceasar followed him, carrying a load of feminine clothing.

The fire is believed to have started from sparks on the roof. The damage is partly covered by insurance but none of the clothing was insured.

Juniors-Seniors Win In Basket Tourney

The women's basketball tournament opened last night in Lathrop gym when the seniors won from the sophomores, 22-17, and the juniors defeated the freshmen by a score of 32-12.

The sophomore and senior teams were evenly matched, and the game was a close one. The sophomores held the seniors to a tie of 8-8 at the end of the first half. Early in the second half the seniors shot into the lead and stayed there.

The freshmen surprised the juniors by keeping the score down to 8-6 at the end of the first half. During the second half the freshmen women were unable to keep up with the rapid shooting of Phyllis Tatman and Florence Huprich, the junior forwards.

Ties World's Record In Big 10 Swim Meet

Blinks Smashes Mark

The record in the 220-yard free style went by the boards, Blinks paddling the distance in 2 minutes 24 1-5 seconds. To cinch the championship for his team, Lanphier panned 7 2-5 seconds off the old mark in the last event, the 440. He was third highest individual point winner with 7 markers chalked up as a result of one first place and one third.

Wisconsin's victory in the relay was one of the most sensational of the Midwest swimming classics. Galbraith, Davies, Lamboley, and Bennett barely scraped out a win over Minnesota and Chicago in a blanket finish. Swimming as an anchor man, Bennett again demonstrated his superiority over Blinks.

Saddle and Sirloin Club is Addressed By W. M. McSadden

W. M. McSadden of the Poland-China Record association talked on "The Present Day Hog," before the Saddle and Sirloin club at a meeting Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock in the auditorium of Ag hall.

McSadden brought out the points that the present day per capita consumption of lard is as great, if not greater, than before the war. The export of lard to Europe, according to figures, is also greater than before the war. Farmers, he advocated, should put their skimmed milk, butter-milk, and whey on the market, in the form of hogs to avoid the great waste of dairy products.

The next meeting of Saddle and Sirloin will be on April 4.

TO HOLD SHEEP CONTEST TODAY

A sheep judging contest, open to all sophomores and juniors in the College of Agriculture, will be conducted by Prof. Frank Kleinheinz in the university sheep pavilion this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

"The contest is held for the purpose of training students for the stock judging team which will be picked to represent Wisconsin at the International Live Stock show next fall," said Professor Kleinheinz.

All agrics who are eligible are urged to enter the contest.

GET IT ALL

A GREAT many things, aside from the actual courses offered, may be learned at a university. One of the most striking instances of this occurred last week in a lecture room of the university. The professor, who is also director of the course, instead of giving his own lecture, read one given before a similar class in another university by a member of his profession.

The lecture itself was a real inspiration to students preparing for that line of work, but the interesting side-light was not in the lecture, but in the delivery. The last few words were indeed impressive, a splendid motto for all students, not only in that course, but for all young, ambitious people. In glowing words it summed up the rewards to be had for work well done in that professor. The gist of it was that to be successful in that profession, you must first care for it tremendously, place it above all else, get on fire with enthusiasm about it, believe in it, think it, talk it, live it. As the professor came to these words it was very evident that he, himself, was caring about his profession tremendously. Just as he reached the end, there was a perceptible break in his voice. His eyes were moist, and there were other moist eyes in the room. The professor had forgotten students, lecture, everything except that he was on fire with enthusiasm about his work, believed in it, thought it, talked it, lived it. It was a splendid tribute to the man who wrote the lecture and to the profession by a man who had spent the greater part of his life in it.

So long as we have men in the chairs of our universities who care tremendously about their work, who love it, who get on fire with enthusiasm about it, so long as there are students who look far enough ahead to visualize the end beyond the means, we need not fear for the future of our universities nor for the products of them.

There is, indeed, a great deal to be learned in college, outside of the things that are required. Look around you for some of the finer things in life, some of the things that cannot be learned from books, some of the worth-while things. Take a few moments from the busy whirl of studies and activities for them. You will profit by it, and so will everybody else.

A DUTY

TO complain against whatever administration is in power and to bewail the unfitness for office of the candidates and the office holders are prerogatives which the average American voter never forgets to call into play.

Before woman suffrage was passed, there was reason for righteous indignation by the women because they were asked to obey laws that they could not help pass. In any form of government and in any country where suffrage is limited, there are sufficient grounds for complaint. It is natural for anyone to resent being refused a part in electing the officers in authority.

For many of us, however, there is no excuse for such railings at the constituted authority. The remedy is in our hands if we care to use it. The fact that we are students and primarily interested in securing an education in no sense relieves us from our duty to cast an intelligent vote at those elections where the right to vote is given us. For the privilege to vote is as much a duty as it is a privilege. And certainly no one who neglects or refuses to exercise his or her right of franchise should feel that they can with impunity criticize when they fail to exercise this right.

At the coming city election, students who have been in residence in the state for one year and in the precinct for 10 days have the right of franchise in Madison, provided that their home is in the city. In order to vote, they must register by Tuesday, March 21. At this election there is a student candidate running for the office of alderman from the fifth ward.

The Daily Cardinal has no desire to foist political issues or candidates upon its readers. It does feel, however, that students who are privileged to vote at the city elections should perform this duty, regardless of what candidates or issues they are supporting.

KEEP YOUR MIND ALERT

One of the greatest fields open to the engineer of today is that of invention. The problems of the inventor of the present generation center about the greatest problems of saving human labor. Every thinking man is constantly on the lookout for methods of doing things that will require less human labor. Great manufacturing concerns have efficiency experts working to the best way of doing things. One of the things that hinders the course of progress is mental laziness.

Many of us have a tendency to be lazy about our thinking. This in itself is not dangerous, because the habit can easily be corrected, but too many of us continue to allow lazy thinking habits to develop unchecked. The lazy thinker always has an excuse ready. It is easier to complain of being exhausted rather than exercise the mind.

Find out for yourself if your mind is working or shirking. The best way to do this is to test your ability to hold your mind on one subject without allowing it to wander to other thoughts. If you can take a proposition, which requires reasoning to reach a definite conclusion, and follow through the different steps to the final answer without other thoughts entering your mind, you can feel that your mind is ready and willing to work. If you find that from time to time you must climb back to the problem at hand, it might be well to exercise the mind to a greater extent.

If you find your brain is lazy, give it a little more exercise. Start carefully at first and increase the effort daily, and it will not be long before the mind will respond with ease to the tasks at hand.—Purdue Exponent.

students have a change of address in the spring, again in the fall, and often in the middle of the year. Since the mailing machine requires a form to be made for each address, it would entail a useless cost of several thousand dollars to have new forms made at the end and beginning of each school year.

To use the permanent addresses of the students is the only possible solution of this difficulty. Already a pile of letters from enraged parents have come into the Memorial Union office, inquiring as to what the payment notices referred to.

EIGHT SCHOOLS
SEND ENTRIES
TO GYM MEET

Veteran Maroon Men
Are Expected to Cop First

The gymnasts of eight universities will compete tonight in the eighteenth annual meet of the Western Intercollegiate Gymnastic, Wrestling, and Fencing association.

This association was originated by Dr. J. C. Elsom, of the Physical Education department, in 1898. In order to encourage general excellence in gymnastics, the first of the University "Circuses" was held in 1901, and since that time the Circus has been a biennial affair.

Chicago Expects Win

The schools which are sending representatives to the gymnastic meet this year are: Chicago, Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, Ohio State, Purdue, and Wisconsin. Of these teams, Chicago is generally conceded to be the best. It won the meet last year, and has most of the men who were on last season's team back again. Chicago has defeated Illinois, Minnesota, and Wisconsin in dual meets this season, and the dope all points to the Maroons as the winners of the meet tonight.

The Badgers will be greatly handicapped in this meet by the inability of Leitz to compete, due to an infected hand. Leitz is Wisconsin's best man on the rings and the horizontal bars. In spite of this, handicap, Coach Fred E. Schlatter hopes that his men will place a close second to Chicago.

The entrants in the gymnastic events will each perform two exercises of their own choice on the piece of apparatus for which they are entered. The judges will mark on form, difficulty of execution, and beauty of combination. In fencing, the contestants will fight a round robin contest. The championship for each weapon, foils and broadswords, will be awarded to the man who wins the greatest number of bouts. The team championship will be awarded to the team which scores the largest number of points.

High School Fives Fight Tonight For District Laurels

Winners Will Enter Big State Tournament in Madison

Eighteen of the strongest high school basketball teams in the state will battle tonight to decide what institution will be represented at the state tournament which will be held here under the auspices of the university next week.

The district tourneys have been in session since Wednesday, and the fierceness of competition has even surpassed that of former years. The Stevens Point tournament was held a week ago, giving the winning team, Rhinelander, fifteen days in which to prepare for the big meet at Madison.

The University of Wisconsin high school team bids fair to carry the laurels away from Whitewater. For the first time in history, the Badger prep on Wednesday night downed the Madison high five. Present indications point to a clash tonight between the University high and Evansville for first place.

Milwaukee Scrap Close

Judging from the strong competition at Milwaukee, the team which represents the Cream city next week should put up a strong scrap for state honors. A big upset occurred when the five, districts winners a year ago, was eliminated at the hands of Columbus, after the former quintet had piled up a 13 to 4 lead in the first half.

The Oshkosh tourney was likewise filled with upsets. Appleton, conceded the best chance for honors, lost to Oshkosh by a score of 19 to 14. Neenah, Fond du Lac, and Oconto all appear to have strong aggregations, with the dope favoring the last two.

The Nelson-Dewey high school team of Superior appears to have a firm hold on the northern district championship, although Ladysmith and Mellen won their initial contests handily.

Menominee, La Cross, New Richmond, and Eau Claire are leading their respective meets. Each has vanquished its opponents by lopsided scores in the preliminary tilts.

Spetz and Johnson Make Respective Heats in Conference Prelims

(Special to Cardinal)

EVANSTON — Wisconsin placed two men in the middle distance preliminaries held here tonight when Spetz and Johnson won their respective heats in the quarter mile.

The heats were fast, as only the four first place men and two second place men were allowed to qualify for the final. No Badger placed in the half mile. Four Illinois men placed, two in the quarter and two in the half mile. Two Minnesota runners placed in the half, and Chicago, Iowa, Michigan, and Ohio each placed one man.

In the 448 yard run, the first in each heat and the best other two to qualify entered the finals. The first heat was won by Spetz, Wisconsin; Pyott, Chicago, second; time 52 seconds. Second heat won by Simmonds, Michigan; Sweet, Illinois, second; time 53. Third heat by Johnson, Wisconsin; Kepler, Iowa, second; time 53:01. Fourth heat won by Schlapprizzi, Illinois; Beck, Iowa, second; time 53:2. Pyott and Sweet were the two best seconds to qualify. In the 880 yard run, first heat won by Yates, Illinois; Wicoff, Ohio, second; time 2:01 2-5. Second heat won by McGinnis, Illinois; Winter, Minnesota, second; time 2:03 2-5. Third heat won by Noll, Iowa; Hart, Minnesota, second; time 2:05 1-5.

Entries For Inter-College
Track Meet Come in Slowly

The annual inter-college track and field meet will take place this afternoon in the annex. The entries have been coming in very slowly and as yet only half of the available athletes have signed up for their events. It is expected that the delinquent ones will enter at the post this afternoon, and will carry their college colors in the meet.

The interest between courses lies between the Letters and Science students and the commerce squad. Both of these groups have entered formidable lists.

Tuhtar May Star

In the 40-yard dash, although the entries have not been closed as yet, there are several men of worth who will try their speed out today. I. M. Benson, W. C. Benson, Cornwell, and Blumenstein are four likely candidates. Hart and Stebbins will probably run in this event. All have been heard from in previous meets.

The usual line-up in the hurdles will be out again today with Tuhtar, the lanky frosh being favored to win the low and high hurdle events. Porter, Stebbins, and others will try to defeat the new Badger star.

Few of the stars have signed up as yet and so little can be said for the other events. In the half mile, Valley will run. He has done consistent work in this event this season and has turned in several victories. A four-lap relay will end the meet.

Carl Olson and Charles Tollefson pleaded guilty in Superior court this morning to drunkenness. Each was fined $5 and costs.

Fast Bouts Feature
Last Preliminary Contests

Following the speedy semi-final bouts of last night, seven of the best wrestling matches ever seen at the University of Wisconsin will feature in the finals of the championship mat tournament to be held at 7:30 in the gym tonight. Ames featured with five wins in each division.

Bowen, the Iowa State scrappy lightweight, won an easy decision over Hatowski of Chicago in the first bout of the evening. The Ames grappler took the advantage from his lankier opponent early in the fight and held it with bulldog tenacity throughout nearly the whole of the allotted twelve minutes.

The only two falls of the semi-finals came in the two 175 pound battles. Sarpolius of Chicago threw Held of Indiana in a snappy 2:05 minute round for the shortest bout of the evening. The long Midway boy had the advantage of size and weight over his Hoosier opponent and flung him easily to the mat. The other bouts in this division also contained a few thrills when Troutman of Nebraska felled Essinger, the Illini captain, after a hard struggle. The fall came at the end of 9:45 minutes.

Heavyweights Fight Hard

The heavyweight scraps were the best of the first round of battles. Mundy, the Hoosier heavy, lost to Spencer, the giant Boilermaker, only after an overtime bout of six minutes, the Purdue man having a shade of 27 pounds advantage over the lighter Indiana grappler.

In the final scrap between Zink of Ames and Held of Iowa, the wrestlers in the heat of their battle were three times thrown from the ring. Zink won the decision after

Orph Program for Second Half Gets A Good Reaction

By H. C. T.

The Orph opens with a kick the second half of this week. The show is devoid of acrobats and the audience liked it from start to finish. Several acts are above average, and none are dull.

Elliott-Johnson Revue

Three ladies with much enthusiasm. They prepare the audience for the rest of the show much better than the customary strong men. Their dancing is good, especially that of the junior partner.

Johnny Coulon

Coulon is an ex-prize fighter. Two healthy men from the audience couldn't lift him off the stage when he didn't want them to. He has traveled a lot and told all about it.

Jack Hughes Duo

A cornet blowing pair who can play any instrument but a squiffer and produce much harmony in the process.

Howard & Fields

Two darky waiters in a ragtime dining car. They have some new stuff and get away big. The comedy is clean and laughs are frequent.

Harry Bussey

This versatile man maintains a good line of talk while he does everything from throwing the dumb bells to operating a Hawaiian banjo.

The Wright Dancers

Eight well-costumed dancers and a naval officer. This is a good revue. The unusual costumes and color effects are better than the average.

Greenwich Village Follies, Season's Hit, Coming to Parkway

"The Greenwich Village Follies" described as "a revivial comedy of life in New York's Latin Quarter" is announced for the Parkway Tuesday and Wednesday Mar. 21-22. Much advance interest has been created by the fact that this revue has been one of the hits of the current season in New York City and Chicago. Added also are the varied discussion of people who have seen the performance.

Today and tomorrow furnish the last chances for Madison people to see "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court." This picture has been declared by the people who have thronged the Parkway nightly for the past week to be the greatest and best picture that has ever visited Madison. Performance Saturday will be continuous starting at 1 o'clock.

AT THE ORPHEUM

There is one act at the Orpheum which is worth the admission price if all the others were omitted. They are the Wright dancers and Walter Peterson, their soloist. They have the advantage of natural gracefulness which has been well-trained to their difficult tasks. Their series of national dances were a delightful entertainment. Harry Bussey is an amiable barterer of jovial words whose undertakings include songs, jigs and more music. Howard, Fields and Lee are merry-makers and songsters in "a Ragtime Dining Car." The boys can sing and do correctly the correct things which we expect from darktown minstrels. The Jack Hughes duo are music makers on all different instruments. They are a treasure house of abilities to play; they select one instrument after another and seem to know them equally well. Johnny Coulon has devised a new mystery of staying on the ground while several young huskies endeavor to move him. The first, you lift him and then you don't act is interesting and mystifying. The Elliott-Johnson revue is the opener with songs and dances.

FINAL WRESTLING BOUTS TO BE HELD IN GYM TONIGHT

ter an overtime period of six minutes.

Three bouts to decide third and fourth places will be held this afternoon in connection with the finals of the all-university boxing tournament at 2 p. m. in the gym.

Run Finals Tonight

For the finals of the wrestling tournament, seven bouts will be run off tonight at 7:30. Loucks of Ames will meet Bana of Iowa for the featherweight title; Sogard of Ames will wrestle Turner of Purdue in the bantamweight division; Sweeney of Iowa will meet Bowen of Ames for the lightweight championship; Trenkle of Illinois will struggle with Martier of Ohio for the welterweight crown; McKibbon of Ames and Tempkin of Wisconsin will fight out honors in the middleweight class; Sarpolius of Chicago and Troutman of Nebraska will go to the mat in the light heavyweight finals; and Spencer of Purdue and Zink of Ames will contend in the heavyweight division.

Michigan Victors in Inter-College Tilt

H. Greenbaum '22, and O. W. Rush '22.

Karel opened the debate with an appeal for the cancellation of the debts as a necessary step in the process of reconstruction. His point was based on the justice of such action and the return to normal trade conditions which would result.

Rush, first speaker on the negative, built his talk on the question of war spoils. "Other countries," he said, "got benefits out of the war while the U. S. got no spoils" and he maintained that there was no moral obligation to cancel the debts.

Stewart Argues Benefits
Stewart then took the floor for cancellation by battering down Rush's arguments that America ought to have her just dues because she did not get any of the spoils of the war.

He went deep into the foreign exchange, currency, and trade situation in attempting to show how Europe would benefit if relieved of the twelve billions owed us.

Glasgow next spoke for the Michigan team and in refutation of Stewart reasoned that cancelling the debt would rather demoralize Europe than fill her with hope and industrial life.

Tracy Closes

Tracy came forth as the Wisconsin closer and said the lifeblood lost by the Allies in our war was our obligation to cancel the debt. Goods that would not help our industrial condition greatly, and not gold, would be our payment if we made them pay, he explained.

Greenbaum, the Michigan closer, then spoke in general terms on what the refunding plan would be by which the Allies could easily pay the debt. He made a point on the lightening of the taxes in Europe by showing that it would not be materially helped by cancelling the debt.

Stewart and Tracy made interesting rebuttals in which they trampled arguments of their opponents one by one and laid them aside. Tracy in the last rebuttal cleared the question as to whether the debt was a moral obligation by putting it on an ethical basis. Prof. Rarig commanded his rebuttal speech when he announced his decision.

Michigan strengthened her stand in the rebuttals, that cancellation would not lighten taxes in Europe or America.

Women's Commerce Club Elects Eight

At a meeting of the Women's Commerce club held yesterday the following were elected to membership: Susie Schaefer '25, Martha Boese '23, Mary Ball '24, Marion Ayres '23, Margaret Remington '23, Bernice Rhodes '24, Kaura Blix '24, and Esther Schadde '24.

Those nominated for offices were: president—Maude Killam '23, Helen Zuchlke '23, and Elsie Iversen '23; vice-president—Mary Nee '23, Marjorie Delbridge '23, and Jennie Baily '23; treasurer—Bessie Berkley '24, Margaret Kiekhofer '23, and Eunice Ransom '23; secretary—Mary Bailey '23, Angeline Lins '23, and Katherine Felix '23. The election of officers will be held the first Wednesday of April.
