Student Board Approves Compulsory Fee for WSA

By LOUISE ARNOLD

University students must pay 50 cents a semester to the Wisconsin association (WSA) beginning next fall, according to a resolution unanimously by student board Tuesday night.

Senior school students will be required to pay a 25 cent fee under the new plan.

Students who paid a lump sum this year to cover their WSA membership until graduation will be exempted from payment of the fee. No one who has been in attendance at the university for eight semesters or more will be required to pay.

The WSA fee has been defined by student court as "a condition precedent to the privilege of attending the university."

The year 1947-48 was the last in which WSA income met the association's expenses. For the past three years board has been spending more than it received. This year, income was $5160, or 32 cents per student; expenses were $5200, or 36 cents per student.

The compulsory fee is expected to provide an income sufficient to cover all operating expenses and possibly to extend WSA's services to the student.

Jennie Stumpf, junior in commerce, was elected president of summer board over her two opponents, Dan Carter and Armond Fields. She said she favored continuation by summer board of the police and financial adviser investigations, and she urged improvement of the exam files.

Wisconsin delegates to the National Student association (NSA) national congress at the University of Minnesota in August were announced by Harley Hinrichs, board's NSA co-ordinator. They are: Rita Baer, chairman, Armond Fields, Larry Harrington, Karl Meyer, Jerry Schechter, Lesly Scheinfeld, and Joe Silverberg.

Hinrichs said that these seven will tentatively constitute Wisconsin's voting delegation. Jim Weber asked that the delegates to the congress try to learn the cause of NSA's financial deficit.

A resolution by Alvin "Skip" Reiss asking that all members of board attempt to meet with the students they represent at least once a month was tabled until the first meeting next fall.

The case is considered deserving a new ticket for a later test and returned to the student. The university has urged students to report for the college qualification test on the date and at the assigned place.

Notify the local draft boards of change of address. Tell the board of intentions to attend a college deferment. Report for the college qualification test on the date and at the assigned place.

Have the university send a statement of their draft status to local draft board. Fill out the statement in T-2.

Submit evidence before July 1.

Board Postpones Action on ROTC Draft Deferments

The military science deferment has been postponed action on 226 ROTC deferment applications for the second semester grades are available. Col. Winfred G. Skelton, chairman, announced yesterday.

Assured the cadets, however, they cannot be called into service until July 14, and that the men will be notified of the board's decision at their home address before the end of June.

Some 300-odd freshman cadets who have not yet applied for deferment can do so by filling applications with their ROTC instructors, he said.

Application forms for cadets deferred last week by the military science department are available in the ROTC office, and should be turned in immediately, according to Col. Skelton. Names are being turned in outside the office.

2,900 To Receive Degrees On 98th Commencement Day

India Food Drive Total Reaches $380

Individual contributions have pushed the Food for India drive total up to $380, Barbara Levine, drive chairman, announced last night. Most of the organized houses have not yet given their donations, she said.

"If the houses come through the way I hope they will, we will easily reach our goal of $500," she said.

Contributions should be mailed to the Food for India committee at the Union. The fund will be used to send CARE packages to India to combat the famine there.

The latest organization to pledge money is the Hillel eating co-op, which promised a part of its profits. Other house pledges so far: Walden house, $20; Dover house, $15; Langdon Manor, $15; Villa Maria, $5.

Panhel to Discuss Quotas Next Fall

A proposal to limit sorority memberships to a definite quota will be discussed by the Panhellenic council when school resumes in September.

The announcement was made locally by Mary Jeffries, president of Panhel council.

"Nothing definite has been discussed so far on the subject," she said.

The proposal arose from a discussion of sorority quota rulings at the national Panhel-IF convention at Michigan State university on May 5.

The quota ruling limiting memberships of social sororities is presently in effect on many campuses in the U. S.

'U' Drive Collects 734 Pints of Blood

For the first time since last July the refrigerator at the Red Cross regional blood center was filled. Seven hundred sixty-seven donors gave 734 pints of blood to the all-campus blood drive held May 21-26.

The 41.4 percentage of coeds donating was considerably above the national average of 25 per cent, Ted Taylor, drive chairman, said.

Since December 2, organized campus drives have yielded 1,325 pints. The all-campus program will be continued during summer session and next year. Richard Galstad has been named as chairman for this program.

Med Student Dies After Brief Illness

Thomas Stuart McCormick, 23, university medical student and member of the football squad in 1948 and 1949, died yesterday at the student infirmary after a brief illness.

Son of Dr. and Mrs. Stuart A. McCormick, Madison, he was a former all-state football player at Edgewood high school. Exact cause of McCormick's death was not immediately known. He entered the infirmary last Thursday but had not been feeling well for some time previously.

Funeral services will be held Saturday morning at the Joyce funeral home and at Blessed Sacrament Catholic church. The family requests that flowers not be sent.

Articles by two university professors and architect Frank Lloyd Wright are featured in the last issue of the Athenaeon literary magazine which will be on sale next Monday, Karl Meyer, the editor, announced yesterday.

Miss Campbell, 'Rock' Mother, Resigns

The lady who has been house mother to the girls at Elizabeth Waters hall since it opened 11 years ago is retiring this spring.

After carefully watering the plants and flowers that decorate her rooms overlooking Lake Mendota, Miss Ruth Campbell sat down and chatted about that retirement.

But she also spoke of the problems and rewards that come with being head resident of the university's largest women's dormitory. And she spoke with devotion and affection of the university and of the city of Madison.

"I hate very much to leave," said the gray-haired lady, "but I think it's time to leave."

"I feel it's time to quit this work while I'm feeling well and strong."

I don't want to get to the point where I have to quit."

Before becoming head resident at Liz Waters in the summer of 1940, Miss Campbell was house mother

AT A GLANCE

FROM THE WIRES OF THE UNITED PRESS

Edited by Stan Zuckerman

IN KOREA. Communist artillery has been bombarding the allies with one of the heaviest shelling of the war. Officers on the western front say the barrage may be a prelude to a big attack.

The Reds also threw heavy fire at American troops who gained two miles east of Hwachon reservoir. Enemy counterattacks and a bad turn in the weather have brought the week-old allied offensive to a halt at the line the troops held before the Communist push late in April.

ADMIRAL FORREST SHERMAN yesterday told the Senate committee investigating Gen. MacArthur's dismissal that American military commanders were alerted to the danger of World War III at the time of the general's ouster.

The navy member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff said the alert went out after MacArthur turned in a particularly gloomy report on the Korean war. It was in connection with this war alert, Sherman testified, that President Truman ordered all military commanders to cut down on foreign policy speeches and clear all policy statements with Washington.

Sherman also named Russia as the string-puller for Chinese leader Mao Tse-Tung. The Russians, he said, could "call off" the Korean war any time they want to. However, the Admiral said he is not convinced that Russia wants a general war because the Russians may see a way to achieve world domination without it. The great deterrent, he testified, is the Kremlin's "respect" for our industrial might, not just the A-bomb.

SECRETARY OF STATE DEAN ACHESON is preparing to face the Senate investigating committee today. The hearings are expected to last several days.

Aides close to Acheson say he has been preparing for the hearings "like a lawyer working on a brief". They say he does not intend to be "tripped up" by any questions put to him. The same sources say Acheson is "calm and confident" that he has a good case, and plans to keep his presentation straight-forward and unemotional.

The Secretary of State is expected to read a short prepared statement at the start of his testimony. He will be accompanied by state department legal adviser Adrian Fisher.

REPORTS FROM THE ISRAELI-SYRIAN FRONTIER say Syrian fighter pilots have intercepted and shot down an Israeli plane flying over Syrian territory. The Israeli plane is said to have been sighted over the town of Deraa about forty miles southeast of the sea of Galilee.

In Tel Aviv, an Israeli foreign office spokesman says the UN chief of staff in Palestine has not ordered Israel to suspend all drainage operations in the demilitarized zone on the Syrian-Israeli border. A military spokesman says bulldozers and other equipment are carrying on normally in the disputed zone.

Closed Period Plans

Students Go To Parks, Lakes For Relaxation After Exams

By MARY CUNNIEN
Even though closed period officially began Monday, this does not mean that the student's social life will be replaced completely by studying for final exams.
Picnic grounds in and near Madison will be crowded with students for the next week. A majority of picnics will include the usual baseball games and swimming.
Favorite sites for picnics will be Lake Monona, Hoyt park, Tenney park, Burroughs, and also popular Lake Mendota.

Appointed Positions Filled in Haresfoot

Two new officers have been appointed to positions in the Haresfoot club, president Roger Axtell announced today. Jack Schlimovitz, senior from Sparta, has been re-appointed business manager and Eugene Cramer, junior of Waupun, will serve as production manager. Schlimovitz served as business manager for the 1951 show, "Good News" and was the assistant to that position in 1950. Cramer acted as stage manager for the show and is a member of Wisconsin Players. Axtell also announced that the executive board has allocated $500 for the annual show writing contest sponsored by Haresfoot for its 1952 production. The award will be presented to the author or authors of the best musical comedy submitted to Haresfoot by October 1st.

Fashions For Coolness

Feel Comfortable During Summer Activities

Whether this summer will be spent in school, at work or relaxing, the main thought in mind will be to look and feel cool on those sweltering summer days.

of the four lakes.
Naturally following this would be a beach coat. Terry cloth is a good absorbent after a swim. Some beach coats are made to match suits and then lined with this material. One cover-up is made like a sailor's middie of toweling, and another, pilfered from the boys, is made like a little boys' shirt in striped cotton.
Tee shirts and shorts may become your summer uniform. Tee shirts can be found in multi-colored stripes and in plain colors. They are made in the usual fashion or possibly with dolmen sleeves, shawl collar or sleeveless. To achieve the slim, tailored look wear navy blue or black shorts with straight lines.
Working cool is no easy thing to do, but the new sheer cotton and crisp pique dresses will help. Colors can make an effect on how you feel. The sundress in green or pale lavender, can make you feel 20 degrees cooler.
The good working dress is the ensemble of sun dress with cover-up jacket. The jacket can come off during lunch hour. On campus, the usual dress for classes is the sundress or sleeveless dress. The scooped out neckline is cooler too, than the high round collar type.
Then there are those summer evenings when a date means more dressy clothes, but not with the sacrifice of coolness. Slim, black

'The Spoilers' Comes to Union

John Wayne, Marlene Dietrich, and Randolph Scott will be the star performers in "The Spoilers," Movietime's offering this weekend in the Play Circle.

The movie, which is based upon an Alaskan adventure story written by Rex Beach in 1906, depicts Wayne as the owner of the gold mine and the successful wooer of Miss Dietrich; Scott as the villain who would like to be; and bad girl Dietrich as a saloon owner.

The melodrama is renowned for its long concluding brawl between the villain and the hero, which begins in Miss Dietrich's quarters on the second floor and travels downstairs to the bar. This version of the film classic is Hollywood's fourth since 1914.

CY HALADA and Carl Huber have been appointed editor and business manager, respectively, of the Wisconsin Country magazine for the coming semester. They were appointed by the magazine board of control and will replace Ray Carig and Tom Jamieson.

Other staff positions filled were: associate editors, Phil Tichenor and Sally Steele; Ag editor, Dave Cawley; Home Ec editor, Marilyn Mohr; Ag alumni editor, Marlene Arbetter; Home Ec alumni editor, Joan Holman; advertising manager, Ernie Briskey; circulation manager, Scott Hale; collections, Karl Ohm; subscriptions, Norb Schochtner; and promotions, Hyde Murray.

AWARDS FOR HIGH men in the university judging contests were presented at the Saddle and Sirloin picnic last Sunday. The rain dampened the people but not their spirits as they ate steak sandwiches and saw Pete Aschbacher presented with an electric razor as his award for being high upperclassman in the dairy judging contest.

Arden Alexander made a clean sweep as he won all the individual and high man awards for the lower classmen.

Dwaine Traeder proved he knew his meat when he emerged high upperclassman in the meats contest. Dewaine Hillman, a promising freshman, was the high for the lower classmen. Norm Folts nosed out LeRoy Hanson by one point to take the honors in the livestock contest.

ERNIE BRISKEY has been elected president of Delta Theta Sigma for next year, and will be assisted by Deep Harris Thacher, secretary. Martin Fredrick, assistant treasurer. Bob Sosnousse, Marshall Finner, pledge chairman; and steward, Bob Sumnicht. Bob Blake will be chief of fire.

THE BOYS OF BABCOCK had a party Thursday night as they held the annual stag picnic at Vilas park. The nearness of the lake plus the recent rain combined to make many of the freshmen come home somewhat damp.

A COUNTY AGENT, after addressing a group of poultry farmers in a small town, was prevailed upon by one lady to inspect her pen of

"But my dear lady," he exclaimed aghast, "if you wish to keep these white rocks pure, you must get that red rooster out of here." "Oh, I've taken care of that," she replied quickly, "by removing him every night."

From Three NSA Officers On Our Series of Articles

To the Cardinal:

The National Student association has existed in mystery and painful silence at the University of Wisconsin until your series of articles. Few students knew or cared to know the location of the national office, even in the guise of normal curiosity. Fewer, still, found time within the conflicting demands of daily activity to ask why or how it functioned or to be troubled by its life or death.

And your series of articles — whatever the nobleness of intent that surrounds them — have strengthened their belief or acceptance of NSA's insignificance.

You had an excellent opportunity to interpret NSA's problems and promise, to explain its deficiencies and its valuable connection within the lives of students at Wisconsin in clean, simple journalistic prose and missed it.

Instead you failed your responsibility and took, in cooperation with an irresponsible, disgruntled member of the national staff and his bitter journalistic companions, a reportorial tack far from the traditional objectiveness of the Daily Cardinal.

The National Student association you presented to the student and faculty community at Wisconsin was a cesspool of scandal. Every significant achievement was blotted out by half-truths, lack of information or plain self-righteous invective.

The association's work in human relations, at the task of increasing student responsibilities — its working practice of the educational community philosophy, its cooperative international program, its efforts to strengthen and improve student governments were passed over to play upon the more readable and lurid themes of graft, plush hotels and brandings of dissension without once examining or evaluating its cases.

This letter is written by three members of the national staff but its content and approach is seconded by a majority of those who worked for and are now working with the National Student association. It is an effort to set some of this and last year's activities in perspective. Its purpose is to separate the facts from the emotional environment of your articles.

● Last year the association suffered a disastrous blow when the high hopes of financial profit for the travel program materialized in the shape of a $20,000 deficit. Mis-management and lack of ad-

Official Says We're Wrong on Travel

To the Cardinal:

I have read with interest the first two articles in your series on the problems of the National Student association. It has long been my conviction that an awareness and interest in the association at the grass roots campus level is the only long range solution to the basic problem of a national student organization, the lack of campus participation.

However, the second article dealing with the travel end of NSA activity contains a number of major misstatements of fact which cannot but do a disservice both to the students at the university, and to the NSA itself.

Before going into the major misstatements, let me point out a few relatively minor errors which could quite easily give your readers the wrong impression:

Your paragraph on mis-management of last year's tours qualifies as serious over-simplification in that it implies that all blame for this regrettable state of affairs rests with the people running the NSA program last year. This is not accurate, since a large measure of responsibility rests (particularly as regards the specific case you mention of tours scheduled to start in Holland being sent first to England) with the national union abroad which handled coordination of the NSA program last year. The situation has been remedied this year by handling all coordination directly from this office.

You say "instead of the $20,000 profit promised the president, there was a $20,000 deficit". This is totally and grossly inaccurate. First, the president was never promised a $20,000 surplus. This sum was expected on the basis of estimated costs and income before the Svalbard difficulty arose. After that time, the staff by general consent agreed that no figure would be given out and that the money should not be counted upon until actual figures were available from the government, figures which all knew were not to be made available until October, 1950.

At the congress, however, the NEC demanded an estimate and in spite of being cautioned that this was not assured income, the figure was spread around the congress in this vein. Finally, I have in my possession the original copy of the report of the international vice-president to the NEC in which he points out that it is sheer folly and the height of irresponsibility to budget on the basis of expected income from a travel program which is by definition subject to all sorts of unforeseen developments which could easily cut into anticipated surplus.

I dislike quibbling about words but the "plush" Hotel Woodstock is far indeed from being plush. It is quite an ordinary medium-price hotel. You are quite just in pointing out that there was no effective control over expenditures once the Svalbard incident broke but this is certainly somewhat mitigated by the fact that all concerned were working around the clock and that the overwhelming bulk of the people working in New York were ex-NSAers who dropped all their activities (including paying jobs) to work as volunteers during the crisis period. You are however, unjust in calling the renting of a suite of rooms "extravagance". The suite was rented for two reasons either of which were justifiable.

● Because the NSA team needed a central location for their briefing sessions before leaving for Europe.

● Because for the week or so before the ship sailed, it was necessary to have a set location in New York to handle the multitude of technical details attendant upon

FROM KOREA ON ROTC PICKETING

To the Cardinal:

My buddies and I had a little time to spare so we were reading a Stars and Stripes and happened to see this enclosed picture. (Picketers at university's ROTC review).

Believe me, we sympathize with you. To think that America has come to this. Imagine, actually making all you students take a little military training.

Why, you dirty, no-good crumb should get down on your knees and thank God that's all that's being asked of you. Guys over here are getting their brains blown out for rats like yourselves.

Well, I haven't got enough time to write anymore to you slob. But believe me I wish I had. You can answer this if you have the guts by writing to: 306 Eng. Dp. Trk. Co.; APO 301, c/o P. M.; San Francisco, Calif.

By the way, we'd be only too happy to swap places with you.

MORE FROM KOREA

To the Cardinal:

A photograph of the "pacifist" picketing of the joint Army-Navy-Air force ROTC review appeared in the Korean issue of the "Stars and Stripes." M/Sgt. Myron E. Stewart, now in Korea, sent me a clipping. Excerpts from his letter follow:

"I am personally glad that they are able to 'picket' while they are being deferred, for that is indicative of their rights in a democracy. At times we here in Korea are slightly disillusioned at the home front shenanigans but do not allow that to interfere with our primary mission. I, for one, have only complete utter contempt for them. They should be drafted without delay and given a taste of the picketing here as dished out by the Chinese.

ANOTHER KOREAN REACTION

To the Cardinal:

"... Watching the wounded come in is a sobering experience. And they've been coming in quite steadily too, mostly 2nd division people.

"There was a big picture in Stars and Stripes of the anti-ROTC rally at Wisconsin. That went over big with the battle wounded here at the hospital ..."

RACIAL SNOBBERY A DIRECT INSULT

To the Cardinal:

It has been the farthest thing from my mind in the past to write a criticizing letter to the Cardinal but in this instance I feel it necessary to do so.

Mr. Robert J. Capener in his article "America Must Call a Halt to 'Racial Snobbery'" put in the intellectual bit of repertoire quotes, "A nation of beggars, called them. They were niggers, wogs, and gooks. We went on three-day drunks in Calcutta and Karachi, drank their gin, flooded the gutters with vomit, and reached manhood via their venereal diseases. We held them up to the American standard of culture and found them wanting. This was racial snobbery."

I spent some time in the C.B. and in the South West Pacific and find these remarks a direct insult. Perhaps the author is quoting his own experiences, or the tales of some of the 'boys'.

It seems to me that the Cardinal will receive a great number of letters from men who were in the service and who did not find it necessary to reach manhood in the manner suggested by Mr. Capener.

I certainly hope the Cardinal will never print such an article in the future.

THE CO AND HIS IDEALS

To the Cardinal:

Somewhat I have never felt that the conscientious objector would see his fellow men go into a war without conflicting thoughts and feelings of regret that the situation had come to such where it was felt necessary to engage in fighting. We must not forget that a conscientious objector is not simply a word but stands for a human being who has grown to hold such values of peace above that of war.

He may be one who feels the depression and disappointments as much as anyone does, and may also be one who bears the brunt of misunderstanding. I think, above all, if we would investigate carefully what and why he says, feels, and does, perhaps then our own views and understanding would be broadened.

Cannot nations and countries look at themselves somewhat objectively, and say, if it is applicable: we are young—but here lie some of our mistakes, let us avoid making them again. While in this process of growth let us stretch ourselves, taking a deep breath and try harder at making a go of things in a more mature and intelligent way.

mates. Their passage was paid from funds given by the Rockefeller foundation for the general conduct of the seminar. Two of them flew both ways and one flew back from Europe, only two going on the NSA ship and one returning. The NSA travel office was reimbursed for their passage.

Your final statement is that "one of the main issues ('of the factional fighting within the organization') is control of the travel department, and that 'this issue is expected to be hotly debated at the next NSA congress'". This last came as a more than light surprise to all of us in the travel department since we have on file letters from the president of the association, three members of the national staff and a number of members of the national executive committee expressing their satisfaction with the conduct of the program this year and their conviction that it will go a long way towards off-setting last year's mishaps and restoring the good name of the association in the travel field.

One final point concerning your article is that it is essentially negative. You have attempted to point out failures in last year's program without (as I feel should have been the case) pointing out that last year's congress took certain actions designed to improve upon the operation of the travel program and that it seems to be generally considered that these actions have been successful. The changes made, are, in brief:

- The congress set up a travel department, under a technical director who is to serve for a number of years in order to assure competence and continuity.

- It delineated certain areas of autonomy in action, which areas have since been further refined by NEC and staff action.

This authority is, of course, subject to certain supervisory powers of the staff in matters of finance and making contracts.

In view of the fact that all members of the national staff have known for some time that applications were being accepted by this office for orientation staff, and accepted or rejected on the basis of their technical qualifications, and that this procedure is being followed by at least majority consent of the staff, I am surprised to see you state "but again this year, free rides given on the NSA ship are not subject to check by the NSA national officers" in a context which is such as to suggest that this is being done illicitly or illegally.

My reason for raising this final series of points is the basic reason for this letter. Your action, in outlining the faults of last year's program and, in the concluding paragraphs of your article intimating that these faults have carried over to this year, without in any way indicating the basic structural changes made by the 1950 congress or the fact that the travel department is one of the few areas of the association's program which has not, to date, been affected in the slightest by "factional fighting within the organization", are such as to shake the confidence of those of your students who are signed up for the 1951 NSA travel program.

ROTC Volunteers For Defense Duty

The Madison area will have a specially-trained corps of 2,800 university men to meet any emergency requiring a well-organized civil defense team, the University Civil Defense committee announced.

Reserve Officers Training corps (ROTC) units of the army, navy, and air force have volunteered their manpower for emergency service. The new arrangements were announced by Prof. Lloyd Rader, chairman of the faculty Civil Defense committee, and Tore Tjersland, graduate student who heads the student Civil Defense committee.

Plans are being coordinated with the student leaders of the three ROTC units, Cadet Col. Jack Reynolds, Air Cadet Lt. Col. John E. Parkinson, and Midshipman Lt. Com. Charles Fimian.

The student officers point out that their units could be extremely useful in an emergency. Military police could aid local police in directing traffic and patrolling neighborhoods. Military engineering and transport cadets could aid in their fields. The signal corps could set up supplementary communications. Medical corpsmen could give first aid.

This would be, to say the least, most unfortunate since the program, organizationally and administratively, is as different this year from last as black is from white.

The student armed services trainees would be called upon for emergency duties on a voluntary basis, the committee said, and the advanced corps would be asked for volunteers first.

Committee OKs Music Hall As Defense Center

Headquarters for the university student civil defense committee leaders and workers for use in case of any war emergency disaster in the Wisconsin area were approved today by the state university's faculty civil defense committee.

On recommendation of its campus space allocations subcommittee, the faculty group approved ground floor offices in Music hall as war emergency headquarters for the university's student civil defense committee, and second and third floor offices in the Armory building for headquarters for the army, navy, and air force Reserve Officers Training Corps (ROTC) units of the university which have pledged volunteer aid in case of any local war emergency.

The faculty committee has also decided that the stock pavilion building would be used as registration center for any war emergency evacuees who might be housed on the campus in case of atom bombing of any neighboring heavily populated industrial area and has so far allocated a dozen building facilities on the campus for use in feeding evacuees.

The faculty committee has also created a subcommittee which is making a complete survey of every building on the campus to deterequated financial control within the travel office and between NSA and the European unions were believed to have accounted for the loss. At no time has any individual connected with last year's travel operations been charged or proven to have committed graft.

• Whatever the failings and malpractices of previous national staffs — and they are not as horribly definite or extensive as portrayed — it should be pointed out that the present staff or a portion of staff has operated within the limits of its budgets and at no time have the expenses of the association exceeded its income. It has, in addition, concluded agreements with our creditor unions that guarantee, to their satisfaction, the payment of our debts.

• In a period of higher costs and greater needs NSA was forced to operate on the lowest budget in its history and of necessity its efficiency and effectiveness has been considerably reduced. But it has not been impotent on this campus or anywhere else in the country.

NSA is still a growing and improving experiment—an experiment whose scope sometimes extends beyond the competence, the imagination, and the abilities of those who hold positions of responsibility. Each member of this staff and every previous staff has felt the gnawing guilt of a wrong decision, frustration, and the bad pain which comes when expectations and abilities fail.

We can speak for all of these staff members, however, when we say that what has been developed out of earlier foresight and vision and what we have achieved with our limited time and energy does not deserve the perversion fact and the sensationalism that clothed your articles.

The articles condemn us for not realizing a difficult ideal quickly enough. They place in the minds of your readers a dark cloud of misinformation and acid bias which does not help anyone in solving the constant stream of problems which confront the association.

FOR THE RECORD

By HERB ROZOFF,
Sports Editor

Little To Give Up Big 10 Job

Kenneth Little, Wisconsin's faculty representative to the Big Ten since 1947, has decided to give up that job.

Since the beginning of the year, the press of his position as secretary of the selective service board, which is an advisory group on college drafting, has taken up much of Little's time. Beside this extra-curricular duty, he is also university registrar.

A successor to the all-important conference committee will probably be picked from the present athletic board. Just when the job will be filled, is not known. The board of regents will probably take it up at their next meeting.

Not only will Wisconsin be losing the services of one of its finest "ambassadors of good will", but the Big Ten as a whole will lose a fine member.

When the highly controversial Rose Bowl question came up, Little explained to the faculty meeting the pros and cons of the question. Although I did not attend that meeting, it is said that the report given was a very fair appraisal of the situation.

Little then went to Evanston, Ill., with his instructions and carried them out to the letter. He voted against every proposal concerning the bowl, per instructions.

It is hoped the regents will consider the filling of this position as an important question. They will have a hard time finding a man of Little's caliber to fill this position, for not only is it a question of naming a man who knows the athletic set-up in the conference, but finding someone who will be as distinct a credit to the university as Little has been.

If you heard the Charles-Maxim title fight Wednesday night, you may have recognized the name of the referee—Frank Gilmer. And if you were at the last home match here this year, with Minnesota, you will remember Gilmer. The Badgers won that one, trimming the Gopher boxers, 6-2.

This is so long for the Cardinal sports staff today. If you plan to stick around for a summer session, the Cardinal sportswriters will attempt to give you a complete picture of campus and national sports.

33 Crews Entered In Marietta

Badgers 'Top Contenders': Sonju

By DON ROSE

Two weeks from tomorrow, Wisconsin and eleven other top rowing schools will be fighting for the "Varsity Challenge Cup" and the national eight-oared rowing title at Marietta, Ohio.

This year's regatta, with 33 crews entered in the varsity, junior varsity and freshmen races should be the biggest ever. Favored to repeat its clean sweep of the Ohio river last year is the University of Washington, who has undefeated crews this year.

Washington freshmen have won the classic every year since the war, and has been undefeated for several years.

Top contenders in the varsity race are: Washington, California, Wisconsin, Navy, Stanford, and Princeton.

Other schools entered are: Cornell, Columbia, Boston University, M.I.T., Pennsylvania and Marietta.

After last week's fine varsity showing at California, Coach Norm Sonju thinks his crew should be one of the top contenders at Marietta, especially when the "slow starting" Badgers are just now rowing to fighting peak.

Must Sweep 2 Games To Win Third in Big 10

By STAN KRYSA

The Wisconsin varsity baseball team, with its sights set for third place in the Big Ten standings, meets Purdue tonight at Breese Stevens field in the first of a two game series that winds up the 1951 season for the Badgers.

Ronnie Unke, mainstay of the Card pitching staff, will be on the mound for Wisconsin. Unke will be after his fourth straight conference victory and will be out to finish the season with an overall 7-2 record.

The Badgers, with a 5-4 conference record, could grab third place with a pair of wins over the Boilermakers. Indiana, which has completed its conference schedule, has a 6-4 record.

Two wins would give Wisconsin a 7-4 record, and would place the Cards one-half game ahead of Indiana. Purdue is holding down the cellar spot with a 1-6 record. Their only victory came against Northwestern.

In the only other conference series, Ohio State, with an 8-2 record, needs only one win against Michigan State to capture the Big Ten title.

In Purdue, Wisconsin will be facing a mild hitting crew that is ninth in team hitting. The Boilermakers are hitting .230 as a team.

In seven games, Purdue has 55 hits for a total of 75 bases, including five doubles, six triples and one home run. The Badgers, in 10 games have 85 hits, 16 doubles, four triples and two homers for a total of 115 bases. The Badgers lead the conference in doubles.

Purdue's team fielding average is also below the Badgers. Purdue ranks ninth with its mark of .920 while Wisconsin with a mark of .933 is seventh.

Though the Boilermakers as a team are hitting below Wisconsin, three of Purdue's regulars own higher batting averages than the highest batting Badger. Catcher Tom Cooper leads Wisconsin with a mark of .290.

Phil Mateja, Bob Rasmussen and Norm Banas are all hitting higher than Cooper. Mateja, Boilermaker shortstop with 11 hits in 30 trips, is hitting .367 and is fifth in batting in the Big Ten. Rasmussen and Banas are hitting .296 each.

The two pitchers who will probably face the Badgers have won only one conference game between them. George Crain has a 1-2 mark while Eldon Nelson has no victories in three starts.

So They Tell Me

By BUD LEA

TURN BACKWARD, TURN BACKWARD . . . . . When Voltaire was playing halflack for the Left Bank Lions, a Parisian scribe on the occasion of the last game of the year said:

"In re Nagle," which literally translated means: "He oughta' punt." Yep, old friends, this is the time to punt. So with tears in his eyes (oh man) we drop back a few yards and hope we get to the line until September finds us back on the 50.

IT HAPPENED AT WISCONSIN . . . . . What used to be a normal of the Western conference is now considered a title c . . . in the collegiate ranks. Yes, the Badgers, who have been picked by the south sayers as also runs as far as the Big Ten is concerned, have had a few predictions into tailspins ever since a guy named Ivy Williamson took over the head coaching job at Wisconsin.

Williamson's inaugural team in 1949 won five games, lost three, and tied one, finishing fourth in the Big Ten. Last fall his team won six and lost three, the conference victory total since the championship year of 1912. That's a two-year record of 11 wins, six losses, and one tie against a truly tough schedule.

BEEF TRUST . . . . . When Bill Albright, Ken Huxhold, John Simcik, and Charley Yderstad graduate, 840 pounds of bone and sinew—enough to make Armor & Co. jealous—will be slashed from the Badger line. These guys were good, darn good. Coach Williamson will also have to fill the gaping holes left by ends Tilden Meyers and Ken Sachjen, and backs Bob Petruska and Bob Radcliffe who had a big hand in the Badger's 1951 play. Boys, we're glad you came and played with Wisconsin and not against us.

Congratulations men, you'll be remembered. We'd also like to doff our fedora to Coach Ivy Williamson and his able assistants. Come to think of it, where is there a better staff

. . . . . FADING . . . . . We'd like to thank you, patient reader for bearing with us each week. The "pillar" wasn't a peachereeno every time, but we murmur a tear-filled "thanx" for your trouble anyway. Come September, we hope to grind out the news and views of Badgerland sports in the best manner possible. If we don't, you'll understand. Some days you just can't make a penny.

Net Squad Ends Season

Deloye Voted Tennis Captain

By BILL HENTZEN

The Wisconsin tennis team voted Jim Deloye, this year's captain, to lead the squad again next year.

Deloye, in the No. 1 singles spot this season, met stiff competition and dropped all his matches against Big Ten opponents. He had a 1-2 record in non-conference play and earned 1/2 point in the conference meet.

Ken Ohm, the No. 2 singles man, won two of seven starts in the Big Ten and had a season record of four wins and six losses. The No. 1 doubles combination of Deloye and Ohm lost two while winning one non-conference match. They lost all of their Big Ten matches.

Don Negendank, the No. 3 man, won two singles matches in non-conference play and lost all in Big Ten competition.

Bill Rudelius won two and lost five in his No. 4 singles slot in Western conference play and won two and lost one in non-conference play.

No. 5 singles man, Bob Reagan, had a 6-2 record against Big Ten players and won all his matches against other schools. He made 1 1/2 points in the conference meet.

Bill Grunow, in No. 6 singles won two and lost six in conference play and won all of his non-conference matches. He was beaten in the No. 6 singles finals in three sets and was high man for the Badgers at the conference meet with 2 1/2 points.

Betas Capture 1st Badger Bowl, Mack Wins Supremacy Cup

By BUD LEA
Assistant Sports Editor

Beta Theta Pi won the Badger Bowl and Mack Court won the Supremacy Cup it was announced yesterday by the intramural department.

The Betas, winning their first Bowl crown, ended a four-year seizure by Delta Upsilon. For the Mack Court house, it was also a first time award. Bauman and Botkin tied for the honors last year.

Both the Greek street and boys' town champs won their respective crowns going away. The Beta's nearest competitor was Alpha Delta Phi, 106 points behind, and Mack Court's nearest rival was LaFollette and Vilas, 60 points away.

Neither team was too successful in spring sports having lost early in first round games of the softball tournament. The Betas, though, came through in the golf playoffs.

Wisconsin's track team, headed by newly-elected captain Leroy Collins, was honored at a banquet last night.

The dinner, sponsored by the Madison Exchange club, was held at the Capital hotel.

Collins and this year's captain, Ted Bleckwenn, will be Wisconsin's representatives at the Big Ten Pacific coast track meet next month.

They were selected to represent Wisconsin after the Big Ten track and field meet at Evanston, Ill.

Pharmacy Student Fails Armed Thief

A sophomore pharmacy student refused to open the cash register for a demanding gunman Wednesday night, and foiled the attempted robbery of a Rennebohm Drug co. store at 2526 Monroe st.

Robert Hebl, Portage, works as cashier part time at night in the Rennebohm store. The bandit approached the counter and bought two cigars, then snatched the box away from Hebl. He jumped behind the counter, pointed the gun at Hebl, and said "Don't move," according to Hebl. When he ordered Hebl to open the cash register, Hebl refused and called the manager, George Heidt, from the rear of the store.

The nineteen-year-old student said the danger of what he was doing did not occur to him until afterward. "I just hope nothing like that ever happens to me again. If it did I would probably open the cash register and give the man the money."

All of that helps to make the lives of the girls very happy and full."

The house mother then spoke of the university saying, "It's a wonderful place in every way. The opportunities here for the development of young people are as great as you find anywhere. I mean the young people who really want to develop. So much depends on the student."

Miss Campbell taught and was assistant principal in a six year high school in Lebanon before coming to Wisconsin.

Asked the effect of the large size of the dormitory she said, "It does militate against knowing all the girls as I should. But that is compensated for by the rest of the staff. Opportunities for advice and counselling from our house fellows and others take the place of a house mother."
