GOODNIGHT SAYS SCHEIN DID NOT INTERVENE IN CASE

Claims of Madison Newspaper Refuted; Muller Will Get Degree

Walter J. Muller '27, one of the members of last week's nocturnal escapades in which residents of one fraternity house removed oriental rugs, porch fixtures, floor lamps, and other furnishings from the College Women's club and the Alpha Xi Delta sorority house, has been granted a reprieve from the verdict of suspension passed upon him and his companions by Dean Goodnight to the extent that he will be able to complete his university work by correspondence.

Muller requires only two credits in the university to receive a degree. The four other students who were suspended from the Summer Session because of their prank remain expelled, according to a ruling from the committee on appeals. They came here from Eastern schools, all it is understood, having attended the Sheffield school at Yale.

"No Intervention"

Contrary to reports appearing in the Madison newspapers, Dean Goodnight stated yesterday that the committee on appeals did not make a change in the original action of suspension because of the intervention of Judge S. B. Schein, but that it was made without reference to his or any other's statements.

Judge Schein, of the superior court, before whom the civil case was tried last week, is quoted by Madison newspapers as saying that it was his contention that expulsion was too severe a punishment for the offenses of which the students were guilty. When questioned yesterday afternoon, he said that he had conversed with Dean Goodnight in the courtroom on last Tuesday morning.

"No Letter Received"

This conversation, stated Dean Goodnight yesterday, did not treat upon the cases of suspension. It was understood that Judge Schein and one or two other Madisonians were going to draft a letter in recommendation against suspension, but up to yesterday afternoon Dean Goodnight said no such letter had been received at his office.

"FAIRHOPE IDEA" IS EXPOUNDED HERE

Mrs. Marietta Johnson, Founder of Novel Plan in Education Lectures

Mrs. Marietta Johnson, founder of the "Fairhope Idea" in education is giving a series of lectures this week on the nature and needs of the child. The lectures are at 3:30 in the Biology building auditorium.

Mrs. Johnson's lecture yesterday treated of the nature of the child and the child's demands. In order to understand the needs and demands of the child, Mrs. Johnson believes one must evaluate the child's reactions, a difficult process.

The lecture on Thursday will be on "What Constitutes the Flourishing Child."

Mrs. Johnson believes that there should be internal rather than external standards in education; that the school should meet certain demands rather than have the child meet any external standards superimposed by the adult.

On Friday, Mrs. Johnson will conclude her lecture series with a talk "What Can We Do?"

In her own school at Fairhope, Ala. Mrs. Johnson has for 20 years put into practice fundamental ideas in meeting the needs of the child in his normal growth. Her idea is that of meeting the needs of the growing organism of the child.

'Dulcy' Goes on Road - to Camp; Returns Tonite

A performance of "Dulcy," Kaufman and Connelly's farce, which is to be presented Thursday and Friday nights in the Bascom Theatre by the University Theatre company, was given for the boys at Camp Indianola last Tuesday evening. The players made use of the enlarged stage and newly installed lighting equipment which has been put in at the camp under the direction of Richard Church.

The weather was not all that could be desired, but in spite of the fact that the rain on the roof during the first act did not help the acoustics and that the lightning knocked out the lights six times during that same act, the play, once started, ran smoothly. By the time the second act started, the storm had ceased and the last two acts went off without interruption.

The performance was a complimentary one given for the boys of the camp and those parents who were visiting there. Two members of the cast, James Van Wagenen and Richard Church, are officers at Camp Indianola. Both are actors of experience in the university and are members of the Wisconsin University Players. Van Wagenen has appeared in a prom play two years ago "The Rescuing Angel," and more recently in the Senior play, Church has played in "Dear Brutus," "Mary Rose," "Mater" and several one-acts during the last two years.

The same cast, including Mildred Engler, will be in the performances to-night and tomorrow night at the Bascom Theatre. Seats are still available, and may be reserved by calling Badger 1717.

THIRD GROUP OF S. S. PHOTOPlays GIVE PIONEER LIFE

"The Pilgrims" and "The Eve of the Revolution" Continue Yale Historical Series

The third series of the Yale Press Series of American photoplays presented in Music hall last evening was well attended. The films presented, "The Pilgrims," and "The Eve of the Revolution" revealed in a striking manner the ideal of freedom in the minds of the American people during both of the periods represented.

"The Pilgrims," a three reel film, began with the experiences of the Separatists at Scrooby, England, and their migration to Holland during 1607-8. Then followed a portrayal of their departure to America twelve years later, the voyage of the Mayflower, their landing on Plymouth Rock, and their great sufferings during the first winter, during their struggle for freedom in religious thought and expression.

Gives War Scenes

"The Eve of the Revolution" depicted the most significant incidents of the decade 1765-1775 and through these interpreted the state of mind of the people as the movement for independence gained impetus. The scenes recreating the "Boston Massacre, the ride of Paul Revere and the sharp military clashes at Lexington Green and Concord Bridge, and the retreat of the British were especially vivid.

Shown Every Wednesday

These films are scheduled for each Wednesday during the summer session. Future programs will include the following:

July 20, "The Puritans," "The Declaration of Independence," and "Yorktown;" July 27, "The Frontier Woman," "Alexander Hamilton," and "Dixie."

'WESTWARD HO' LED TO BADGER STATE —DR. KELLOGG

Complex of Champlain Brought French Discovery and Settlement of Wisconsin

"It was the 'westward ho' complex of Champlain that brought about the discovery and settlement of Wisconsin," declared Dr. Louise P. Kellogg in a lecture Tuesday afternoon on the French Regime in Wisconsin.

Champlain and other French explorers were sure that there existed a water route to the Pacific through the northwest and most of their discoveries and settlements of this country were secondary to their aim of finding this pathway to the Pacific.

Dr. Kellogg sketched very interestingly the historical incidents relative to the discovery of the Wisconsin territory. May, 1634 marks the date of the appearance of the first French explorer in Wisconsin. He came at the behest of Champlain and through his Indians came to the belief that there was a group of nobles on the other side of Lake Michigan who were related to the orientals.

So, with this belief thoroughly in mind, the young explorer fitted himself out with a set of ceremonial robes and when he arrived in Wisconsin put them on in order that he could properly meet these "people of the sea." When the Indians saw him, they were amazed at the gorgeousness of his robes and thought him a god.

Forty years after this incident, the French discovered the Mississippi, and in 1676 took formal possession of the Wisconsin territory in the name of the French king.

The French were not great settlers, according to Dr. Kellogg. Their idea was to become rich and consequently they exploited the Indians to their own advantage.

Bill Provides for Engineering and Sport Facilities

The biennial budget of the university, amounting to $11,005,001 and including appropriations for the construction of a new mechanical engineering building and a field house, was approved and recommended to the legislature by the joint finance committee following its final session last Tuesday.

The bills, which also include appropriations for normal schools and penal institutions, were reported out of the committee following many weeks of deliberation and after many changes had been made.

Apposed to Library

One of the surprises in the committee's actions is the recommendation for indefinite postponement of Senator John Cashman's measure appropriating $950,000 toward the erection of a La Follette Memorial library. This money would have been used with $550,000 appropriated for a library by the 1925 legislature.

The reason for the recommendation is that the proposed structure would necessitate the purchasing of four city blocks in the university club, many sorority and fraternity homes, and a number of apartment houses. It was pointed out by committeemen that if a library is to be built on this site that it would mean the condemning and purchasing of land at a sum which would run into millions and would necessarily require much study.

Two Main Projects

Building appropriations included in the university's budget amount to $1,933,785, and care for only two main projects, the field house and the new mechanical engineering building. The engineering building will cost $577,000, and the athletic field house will be built for the sum of $600,000. The state will contribute $300,000 toward this house, according to terms of the bill, and the university will pay the balance out of football game receipts.

The distribution of the university appropriation follows:

	1927-28	1928-29
Operation	$358,008	360,008
Maintenance ...	175,500	176,600
Capital	1,177,670	756,175

Total

The appropriations for the university by the 1925 legislature follows:

	1925-26	1926-27
Operation ..	$4,103,500.04	$3,599,930
Maintenance	152,250.00	152,250
Capital	652,870.00	761,670

Total ...$4,908,620.04 $4,513,800

Prof. Guy Harold Speaks on State's Geologic History

To dispense with 100 million years of Geologic history in one hour was the task of Prof. Guy Harold in his lecture "The Physical Foundations of Wisconsin" given yesterday afternoon at 2:30 in 217 Science hall. The lecture was in a way preliminary to one to be given next week on "Human Geography in Wisconsin."

Some of the very oldest rocks in the world occur in northern Wisconsin and fragments of these old granites have been carried as far as Madison by the glacier. The earliest idea we have of Wisconsin is one of an extremely rough and mountainous land with many active volcanoes.

These "pre-Cambrian" mountains were of a magnitude probably as great as the present Rockies, but extended in an east to west direction rather than in the ordinary north to south manner. The forces of erosion finally leveled this mountainous country to a flat plain with only stumps of its former thickness occurring from place to place. Such a stump is the quartzite ridge at Devil's lake.

CHAIRMEN TO BE ANNOUNCED SOON, ENTRY FEE LOWER

Lakeshore Event is Main All-University Activity of Summer Session

Saturday, July 30, is the date which has been set for the annual Summer Session water carnival sponsored by the Daily Cardinal. This date has been selected so that the carnival will be one of the final events of the six week's session.

The process of selecting a general chairman, an assistant general chairman, and various committee heads is under way. Announcement of these selections will be made soon. It is important that the administrative organization of the carnival be smooth working in order to insure a successful meet.

Fee Reduced

When the chairmen have been selected, they will choose their assistants and proceed with their branch of carnival activities under the supervision of the general chairman. These activities will be the printing of programs, securing of awards, arranging for spectators' accommodations, etc.

The entry fee last year was 50 cents, but because of the large number of entries expected this summer, the Daily Cardinal has reduced the fee to 25 cents. The receipts from all fees are used for the purchase of loving cups and other awards.

To Display Cups

The cups and prizes to be given to winners of various contests of the meet will be placed on display at some future time in a prominent store window on State street. As in the past, the silver cups will be handsome affairs worth striving for.

As soon as the carnival committees begin to function, a schedule of events will be worked out and published. At this time, however, it is certain that the program will include swimming races, diving contests, canoe and sail boat races, canoe tilting contests, and novelty events. An especial effort will be made to include such a variety that

DEANS DISCUSS H. S. DIFFICULTIES

Problems Considered as Key Bear on Preparations for College Life

That high school students have too many diversified interests which distract attention from studying was developed yesterday at the regular weekly meeting of women's deans, held under the direction of Dean Louise Nordin. The topic considered at yesterday's round-table discussion was "Getting Ready for College."

"It is characteristic of Wichita girls of high school age to stay out until after midnight," declared one of the participants in the discussion, a high school instructor from Kansas. "In fact, they pride themselves on getting less than eight hours of sleep."

In seeking a cause for such conditions, she explained that very often the boy's or girl's parents were to blame for their dissipation. "Mother often goes to a bridge game and has to have her son or daughter drive her home at hours when high school students should be in bed," she stated.

"The development in high school should be as a personality," Dean Nordin said on the subject of one student's relations to another. "The girl student should develop her personality in order that she may adjust herself to her different girl and boy friends, parents, and teachers by the events she enters into."

Senate Kills Bill Axing Market Dept.

Schumann Measure is Defeated by 15 to 13

A BILL abolishing the department of markets, and transferring the work of this department to the department of agriculture, was killed by the state senate Tuesday night, 15 to 13.

The measure was introduced by Sen. John C. Schumann, Watertown, and would also have abolished the land settlement board, and the livestock sanitary board.

The bill had previously been advanced to engrossment by a 17 to 16 vote, and was up for passage.

Sen. Schumann's measure would have transferred the enforcement of the unfair trade practices act to the attorney general's department. This act is now enforced by the department of markets.

The fight against the bill was led by Sen. James Barker, Antigo, who stated that the "department of markets is the only farm organization we have in this state." Sen. John C. Schumann, led the fight for his own measure.

The Roll Call

The roll call follows:

For the bill—Senators Blanchard, Caldwell, Carroll, Cashman, Casperson, Goodland, Hutchison, Johnson, Keppel, Mueller, Schumann, Severson, H. H. Smith.

Against the bill—Senators Barker, Boldt, Chase, Daggett, Englund, Lange, Markham, Morris, Polakowski, Roethe, Ruffing, Sautloff, W. L. Smith, Teasdale, White.

Absent—Senators Gettelman, Hull, Hunt, Mehigan, Titus.

"Let us be fair with the department of markets," Sen. Barker pleaded, in speaking against Sen. Schumann's bill. "The reason it doesn't operate is because we don't let it operate."

Says Ag College is Dead.

"We can't depend on the college of agriculture or the department of agriculture to do anything for the farmer. The college of agriculture died long ago. It is in an old rut and will never get out of it. You can't get any new thoughts into their heads. They know just one thing and that's production. They know nothing about distribution. The department of markets does, and they can really help the farmer. The farmer doesn't need any sympathy. Let's let him alone and not always talk about helping the 'poor farmer.'"

"This is a consolidation bill that means something," said Sen. Schumann. "Here is a chance to put our talk into effect. The department of agriculture and the department of markets overlap and they should be consolidated into one."

Governor Will Act on Bus Bill Soon

The bus bill, which would put all bus and transit lines in the state under control of the railroad commission, went to Gov. Fred R. Zimmerman, Tuesday, having passed both houses of the legislature. The governor is considering it now, and will either sign or veto it within a few days.

Drastic State Education Bill is Advanced

Assembly Engrosses Reorganization
Measure

An interim committee bill, remodeled by the committee on education and calling for a complete reorganization of the state's educational administrative system, was ordered engrossed by the assembly today.

Under its provisions, the educational affairs of the state would be conducted by a state board of education composed of ten members. The group would practically replace the state superintendent of public instruction, the latter becoming an ex-officio member of the board.

The bill provides for the abolishment of the University board of regent, the board of normal school regents, the vocational education board and the Wisconsin Mining school board. A new board would be created to carry out the functions of the old boards.

The university board would be composed of the state superintendent of public instruction, the president of the university and five other members to be appointed by the new board of education. The board would be elected by the people for terms of varying length.

Vote on engrossment was 82 o 6. The bill was originally introduced by Assemblyman Lawson for the interim committee but the substitute amendment provided for the ten-man board.

Indiana Car Licenses Will be Smaller

INDIANAPOLIS—Smaller plates with more distinct numerals are being ordered for 1928 Indiana automobile owners. The new plate will be a half-inch wider and four inches shorter, and the color scheme will be white on maroon.

T. B. Probe Fund Measure Beaten

The state senate Tuesday night killed a bill appropriating $10,000 to the University of Wisconsin for research relative to bovine mastitis and tubercular animals. The bill had previously been advanced by a vote of 20 to 1 and was up for passage.

The senate passed the biennial appropriation for Stout Institute. The appropriation amounts to approximately $175,000 annually. The senate also concurred in an assembly bill calling for a $15,000 emergency appropriation to the Wisconsin real estate brokers' board.

"Minn-Wis-Sippi" New Name of River Valley

LA CROSSE—(P)—"Minn-Wis-Sippi region" was the name, and "Hiawatha's Playground," the slogan selected and approved by representatives of 15 towns and cities meeting here today to form a permanent association to exploit the Mississippi valley as a route for tourists and to secure a hard surfaced road through which western Wisconsin may emerge from the eternal "mud belt."

The name was suggested by Lawrence Longway of Wabasha, Minn., who will receive the cash prize offered in the slogan contest in which more than 10,000 names were submitted. Miss Nina Smart, Winona, submitted the slogan.

Charles L. Loring, Red Wing, Minn., was elected temporary president of the association, and R. E. Seaton, Winona, was named temporary secretary.

Annuls Marriage to William Royston

The marriage of Adele and William Royston was annulled by Circuit Judge A. C. Hoppmann in a decision filed Monday.

The woman admitted she had married Royston in Rockford, Ill., Dec. 2, 1925, less than a year after she had been divorced from her first husband in Sauk county circuit court. She declared she was of the opinion that, although she could not remarry in Wisconsin for a year after the granting of the decree, that rule did not hold in Illinois. When she learned that the rule held in Illinois, she applied for a decree annulling the marriage.

WOMEN'S EVENTS SCHEDULED FOR WATER CARNIVAL

Aquatic Meet July 30 to Include Features and Novelty Contests

novices as well as experts will have the opportunity to win prizes.

Besides the regular competitive events, it is planned to arrange special features. Among these will be exhibitions of fancy diving and aquaplaning. The cooperation of the athletic department will be sought in providing adequate provisions for the spectators of the carnival.

To Choose Entry Chairman
The time and place where entries will be received have not yet been fixed, but subsequent to the choosing of an entry chairman to handle these details, complete information will be published.

In past summers the water carnival, under the auspices of the Daily Cardinal, has always attracted a large number of summer students both as participants and spectators. Especially with the addition of feature events for women last year did interest in the gala aquatic meet increase.

Many Women Events
The carnival July 30 will include many women's events. There will be swimming races, relays, and diving contests, as well as canoe tilting with brooms, a feature that was popular last year.

In addition to individual contests there will be interfraternity and inter-sorority novelty races, relays, and other events. Awards will go to the winning groups.

Mutchler's 76 Is Season's Best at Black Hawk Links

While the British open with all its color is being contested over the historic St. Andrews course in Scotland, another golfing feat that must receive honorable mention took place at the Black Hawk course yesterday afternoon when Russell Mutchler, a member of the Wisconsin basketball squad, turned in a card of 76 for the 18 holes, setting a new mark for the amateurs this season at Black Hawk.

Mutchler's play was remarkable, his score being made after four dubbed tee shots, which cost him a stroke on each of the four holes. Mutchler is a comparative newcomer to the Scotch game, although he has devoted a considerable share of his time this summer to the game. Mutchler was playing in a threesome with Bob Duncan and W. Hobbins.

Marquette Team Wins and Loses

The Marquette junior baseball team won its game with Lowell last week on a forfeit and lost to East Side juniors 3-2. The Marquette midgets lost to the Tenney midgets 3-2.

Tenney and East Side flyweight teams each defeated the Marquette A team.

In the first round of the washer tournament at Marquette, the winners who of second preliminary contests Tuesday are: Gerald Storkson, Charles Frothingham, Harry Swanson, Arnie Larson, Vaylord Newberry, Lloyd Larson, Claire Hattberg, Reggie Strosheim, George Golikovich, Bill Brusso, Lloyd Moe.

Motorboat Too Slow to Keep Out of Court

Joe Kovacs, whose motorboat lost in a race with Sergt. Clarence Bakken's motorcycle Monday morning, was dismissed from superior court today upon payment of costs, from a charge of operating a motorboat without an underwater exhaust.

"You get that motor fixed. If you come in here again, it will cost you more than the boat is worth," was Superior Judge S. B. Schein's warning to Kovacs.

Golfer Drives Ball Into His Own Eye

GOSHEN, Ind.—As a result of being struck in the eye with his own golf ball, Dean L. Barnhart, newspaper publisher, may lose its sight. The ball struck a tree, bounded back and hit him.

Sport Notes

The annual water carnival got off to a good start on paper at least and looking at the slate of those who are to promote that summer feature I think that the event won't turn out to be such a "wet" affair as its name suggests. We are all for bigger and better carnivals and predict that this year's should equal the success of other years. The carnival of '26 was a real sporting event and showed Wisconsin to advantage with its wonderful facilities for water sports.

Many new features as well as the old ones will be on the program and anyone that has seen water at all should find at least one event in the bunch which he or she can enter. This carnival, so the chairman wants it understood, is not an exhibition of the stellar fishes in the university but a jolly old wet get together for all summer session folks. The entry fee is to be small it is rumored which makes it all "the more fairer."

This column with the editors of the "Deet" is all in favor of an added feature namely, a contest for bathing beauties to select Miss Varsity. The sporting editor hereby goes on record as willing to serve as a judge because wearing a big red ribbon would look nice and important, and for no other reason. We could go the Parkway one one better and probably get lot better result than their attempt.

Such a contest would have its advantages and drawbacks. The only thing we can think of would be the scarcity of judges in and about Madison. Joe Steinauer might be prevailed upon to do the honors but one can't always tell.

See by the latest bulletin from the ticket office where one will have to present his Union card to get preferences in the rush for football ducats. The non-union party will probably go on a strike as a protest and the matter will ultimately be considered by the Legislature of the state, and will end up by getting no place. Its the thing to do, then, join the Union or sit in section A or behind the goal posts.

The tennis tournament moves along with 28 entries. It won't be long now before play will start and we can find out who can make the most of his racket. Some of the late birds are going to wake up the last minute and find themselves in the same predicament that many of them... f... ah... yall that many did last year. The tournament will get nicely started and 10 or more will realize that a tennis match is on and protest that the time for entries was too short. Deadline is noon today. A word to the wise.

Garrick Players Please in Their Farewell Comedy

In their last play of the season Al Jackson's Garrick players have done a commendable piece of work. The play, "Up in Mabel's Room" by Vilson Collinson and Otto Harbach, is a hilarious comedy which keeps the audience in spasms from beginning to end. Al Jackson himself is well cast as an obliging servant, Jack Paige is excellent as a talkative husband, and it is Paul Norris as a man in trouble who is the leader of the male roles. Agatha Karlen plays Mabel, or is it Mabel? The program allows either. She plays it well and her characterization is a fitting close for her excellent work this season.

We are sorry to see Al Jackson and his troupe go, but we want to take this opportunity to thank him for the good plays and excellent productions that he has presented to Madison public. Al, we wish you and your players the pleasantest of summers and a speedy return to Madison.

We recommend "Up in Mabel's Room" unconditionally; it is a fast farce well done.

The car ran off the tracks shortly before 11 o'clock and was not back on until after midnight.

TRIPP HALL NINE TAKE WIN FROM LANGDON STREETS

Victors of Last Two Games
Play This Afternoon at 4:30

Tripp Hall was victor over the Langdon Street nine last Tuesday in a tightly contested game which ended in a score of 8-7. This was the second of the series of games which Coach Lowman is sponsoring for the summer session students.

The game this afternoon will feature the winners of the last two games, the Coaching Class nine meeting the Tripp Hall team at four-thirty on the lower campus. Next Tuesday afternoon the losers of the two games played will decide which is the better when the All-State aggregation runs into competition against the Langdon Streets.

Coaching Class Strong
Though no bets will be laid on the outcome of any of the next two games, Coach Lowman is laying plenty of stock in his bunch of coaches to beat any of the other three teams. Tripp Hall with Pat McAndrews as captain is slated to give Lowman's batters a run for their money.

Lowman is not particularly interested in which team wins for the result will mean nothing, but the purpose of the games is to give the students a chance to limber up and provide fun. Part of the Coaching Class held its daily lecture on the lower campus yesterday and got in some points on pitching and fielding.

Personnel of Teams
The members of the Langdon Street are: Schrenk, Nieman, Amborne, Simmons, Sykes, Ruelhman, Thostenson, Walters, and Sonnetfrank.

McAndrews' Tripp Hall nine is supported by Daly, Wald, Cavosie, Parsons, Aranoff, Cole, Lange and Long.

SENATE SWELTERS BUT VOTES, 21 TO 7, TO RETAIN COATS

Senators must continue to wear their coats, no matter how warm the weather is.

So the state senate decreed Tuesday afternoon when the upper house killed by a vote of 21 to 7 a senate resolution by Sen. Bernhard Gettelman, Milwaukee, providing that senators be permitted to remove their coats during the extremely warm weather.

There is no rule of the senate which prohibits members from removing their coats during senate sessions, but this precedent has been followed for a number of years. Sen. Gettelman's resolution would have done away with this precedent. The resolution came as a result of the hot weather which has prevailed recently.

Union Members to Get Preference in Football Tickets

Announcement was made here today by Wisconsin football ticket officials that paid-up members in the Wisconsin Alumni Association and life members of the Wisconsin Union are to receive preference when the reservations for the Badgers' home games are allotted this fall.

A special application blank will be mailed next month to all Alumni under this classification. All orders received on these blanks will be filed ahead of the regular alumni orders, and filled with the choice seats in the alumni section at Camp Randall Stadium.

Alumni Office Aids

John Bergstresser, Alumni Records Office, is now working with Ticket Director George Levis in perfecting this new preference system. Bergstresser is making an effort to secure correct addresses of all alumni so they may take advantage of the new grid ticket plan. He has asked that those who did not receive invitations to the recent commencement exercises notify him at once of their correct address.

LECTURE ON LIQUID AIR IS INTERESTING

Tin that breaks like glass—rubber that shatters into bits—mercury frozen so hard it might be used as the head of a hammer—all these things and more Prof. C. E. Mendenhall demonstrated Wednesday afternoon in a lecture on liquid air and low temperatures.

"Starting with an initial temperature of minus 195 degrees centigrade, liquid air gradually heats up to a temperature of minus 183 degrees centigrade," Prof. Mendenhall explained in describing the low temperature of liquid air. He also demonstrated how the qualities of various substances change under low temperature.

The magnetic qualities of liquid air were rather spectacularly demonstrated with the use of a large electro-magnet across the poles of which was built a bridge of air. Lead, which usually has very little elasticity, was made quite as elastic as a coil of spring steel.

Among other interesting experiments was a demonstration of making fire from ice with the aid of sodium cooled with liquid air.

Approximately 150 summer students attended the lecture.

LITTLE COMPLETING COURSE AT LA CROSSE

George Little, Wisconsin's Director of Athletics, is now completing his two weeks' football course at the La Crosse Normal School for Coaches. Mr. Little is presenting his grid material at La Crosse for the second year, and was preceded at the Normal by Tom Jones and Tom Lieb of the Badger staff, who conducted the classes in track and field work.

DEADLINE TODAY FOR ENTRIES IN TENNIS MATCHES

List of Players Swells to 28;
Brackets Formed This Afternoon

Entries in the All-University Tennis tournament are rapidly coming in according to John Payne, chairman of the event. Since the last issue the number of entrants has increased from nineteen to twenty-eight.

That the tournament was a success last year is evident from the number of entrants last summer. Though the play got off to a slow start, it was not long after the deadline for entry had been reached that many other players decided they had missed up on a good thing and clamored for permission to register late.

Creates Second Division

The demand grew so great and the tournament having already started, that it was deemed advisable to form another division for which trophies had to be arranged. Payne takes this example to warn all aspirants to the summer session tennis championship to get their entries in today as the deadline is set for noon today.

There being but little demand for double matches, it was decided to run only the singles brackets. Who will play who is to be decided this afternoon after the entry list has been definitely closed. Those playing on Friday afternoon will be notified and notices of the other brackets will appear in the Saturday issue of the Cardinal.

Trophies Purchased

The trophies for the tournament have already been secured by Payne and have been sent to the jeweler for engraving and will be on display in a few days. Payne is especially anxious that the matter of late registrations will no come up again this year and states that he will be in Geo. Berg's office in the Trophy room in the men's gym until 12 noon today to receive those entries not yet in.

The fee being cut by one-half over that of last year's it was hoped the student body would respond with more entries. The office of tennis permits has handled record crowds on the courts this past week, play mostly done in the afternoon. The only restrictions for play are the fee of 25 cents and registration as an student in the summer session.

Players Already Signed

The men who have signed with Payne are, P. Matthews, B. Strickland, J. Hyrborg, A. Jones, J. Stein, A. Koscielski, B. Schautz, O. Schneyer, C. Poogs, C. Atkinson, O. Johnson, M. Dennison, P. Murphy, J. Breitenbucher, D. Zoerb, C. Parent.

H. Koehler, C. Lovewell, S. Locman, C. Rosenbaum, F. McKee, D. Flambeau, L. Easam, F. Humphreys, E. Selleck, D. Longacre, K. Macferran, S. Guzman, B. Steiner.

How Do You Like Your Cardinal?

When the Daily Cardinal appears on the campus next fall it will be "all dolled up" in a new suit of clothes and will be published in the Cardinal's own printing plant to be installed in the basement of the university Y. M. C. A. It has already been decided to continue the use of the body type known as Ionic number 5, but the question of the size of the paper is as yet unsettled.

Should or should not the Daily Cardinal continue to be issued in its present five column form? There are those who say it should. They contend that this form is decidedly more convenient than the larger proposed eight column sheet. They also contend that Wisconsin students have become accustomed to the present size and would object to a change. Besides, this tabloid form, it is said, is really more fitted to a strictly college paper than the larger sheet.

Those who advocate a change to the eight column paper argue that it would give the Cardinal added prestige, for it is at present the only Big Ten paper which is not full size. They also claim it would meet the approval of advertisers who are accustomed to planning their advertisements for regular size newspapers.

It is the desire of the editor of the Cardinal to know the consensus of student opinion on this subject; for, after all, the "deed" is the official publication of the students of the university. Any communications on this subject will be appreciated and read with interest.

In examining other college papers, papers that use the full seven or eight column page, the editor has found that most of them are dependent upon a wire service for their news. It frequently happens that seven out of eight columns across the top of the front page are devoted to national and international news gathered by the Associated Press, or United Press. There is only one column of true college news in these so called college dailies.

They really are, of course, regular town papers carrying a certain amount of university news. They are subscribed to and read by a large percentage of residents of their various towns who are in no way connected with or particularly interested in the university. The editors of these papers are proud of their town circulation and proud of their ventures into this phase of journalism. In fact, they do not consider the Daily Cardinal a real newspaper.

The Daily Cardinal, however, has always prided itself upon the fact that it is a strictly college daily published by and for the students of Wisconsin. The Cardinal has always confined itself strictly to university news, except for sundry items or special columns of comment. From time to time it has seen fit to run accounts of or editorial comment on events of national importance; but in the main this field has been left to those who are best fitted for it—the regular Madison afternoon papers.

Next year, the Daily Cardinal is going to have an improved news gathering organization which will get all the campus news every day. It is the aim of the editors to continue to make the Cardinal a true college paper printing only campus news or other items of particular interest to the student body. The Cardinal is not going to install one of the expensive wire services which fill the columns of its contemporaries in the Big Ten with news of armament, strikes, foreign wars, air journeys, floods, fire, and pestilence, and greatly overshadow the original purpose and true business of the college daily. It is these considerations that make the present editor favor very strongly the continuance of the convenient five column form.

But we are anxious to hear student opinion on the matter. Why not let us know your reactions to the proposed change by writing to the Readers' Say So column?

As the Bystander Sees It

Now that the case of dismissal involving seven summer session students seems to have been decided in its final form, two facts in connection with it are apparent to the innocent bystander. One is that the university authorities evidently realized the harshness of their ways after the first wave of official anger had subsided. The other is the manner of handling the news by the news by the two Madison evening papers.

Considering the first, it is difficult to refrain from saying "I told you so." But it is refreshing to note that a dean is willing to admit when he is wrong and take steps to correct his error. That the original punishment, complete and absolute dismissal from the university, was much too severe is especially felt by those who are familiar with or have heard tales of the "good old days" at Wisconsin.

These were the days when large scale beer drinks were almost a varsity sport. These were the days when a mob of students, enlivened by pre-Volstead drink, would literally clean out various places where they gathered. Furniture and fixtures were smashed to kindling on these occasions. But such affairs were regarded simply as the natural outlet of college spirit. Today, however, a relatively harmless prank results not only in a $25 fine, but dismissal. At any rate, it almost did.

The present punishment is somewhat less severe; but how much better would it not have been for the dean to take a reasonable stand in the first place. How it weakens his position when he first lays down a drastic sentence and then takes it back.

As for the other fact, it is interesting to observe the idiosyncrasies of Madison journalism as judged by the following:

Some time ago many men students subjected themselves to stringent official action because of questionable relations with a certain co-ed. The Wisconsin State Journal said little or nothing. Its contemporary, the Capital Times, carried the news. In explanation, the Journal stated editorially that it considered it to the best interests of the university to place a soft pedal on the "scandal." It informed its readers that it had acted as it had after due deliberation, and it slapped itself vigorously on the back.

From other sources we learn that the Times got the story first. Hence, the attitude of the Journal. We can't vouch for this, but in connection with the recent event, the Journal published a flippant story telling of dismissal following nocturnal adventure. The Times held back this time to await the action of its contemporary; then ran a story in a later edition.

It is unnecessary to point out obvious conclusions. But it is worth-while to ask why the Journal did not follow out its professed big hearted, public spirited policy by holding back on a story which involved the summary dismissal of seven students? Now you ask one.

Incidentally, the Madison papers have made quite a point of the fact that Judge Schein supposedly interceded for the unfortunate seven furniture "thieves." Dean Goodnight does not seem to think he did. Are the papers manufacturing news or is the judge seeking publicity? Now you ask another.

Higher Priced Education

To make it easy to pay for a college education has been, for some time, the ideal of our modern institutions of higher education, but the saturation point of benevolence seems to have been reached. From many sides, we hear complaints that would tend to raise the price of a college education, complaints coming from the underpaid professor as well as from the taxpayer.

The raising of the price of a higher education must naturally come from the raising of student fees. Yet there is little question that this advance in fees would seem unfair and unjust to the students who plan to enter the teaching, ecclesiastical, or other under-paid professions.

A recommendation, which, if put into effect, might clear the air considerably, is advanced by John D. Rockefeller, Jr. He would ease up the burden of the endowment system by making students pay more for what they get, while limiting gratuities to those students who pursue a college education for the purpose of entering one of the ill-paid professions.

He remarked at a recent Brown commencement dinner, "The college education of yesteryear was practically free, because of an assumption that students benefitting therefrom would enter a profession in which the returns to them would be small but the gain to the public would be large." Today, so he thinks, students attend college "for a good time, for social considerations, or to fit themselves to earn money."

Mr. Rockefeller then suggested increased tuition fees, with provisions of scholarships, student aid, and student loan funds on a large scale for those worthy students whose parents might be unable to sustain the cost of their children's education.

3. "Noo Orleans" at the Theta Chi house. Hey, hey!
4. ONE physical ed student at the POP house.

HOW TO LIVE THOUGH ROOMING AT THE BACHELOR APARTMENTS

The Chi Psis have a theory that it is better to live in a tent than in a house. Obviously it is better to have canvas fall on you than to have fellows roll pianos and double-decke bunks down the stairs on you. All that one need do then to evade the slings and arrows of exuberant fellow-roomers is to borrow one large bathing suit from one of the larger element that nest the Y. M. pier, prop it up with old clothes trees and furniture from the Chi Psi house, and pitch it near Vilas Park. Either do this or sleep in-tense at the Bachelor Apartments.

HOLD 'EM MINNESOTA

Less than one-half of one per cent of this year's college graduates drink to excess and less than 5 per cent drink occasionally, according to a finding of the Anti-Saloon League published in the Literary Digest of this week. Reading further ye find that drinking has increased at Wisconsin and decreased at Colgate. Looks bad for ZERK! Then, too, the drinking, or so they say, has decreased at Minnesota and increased at Madison. They would do a mean trick by transferring, wouldn't they?

And by the way, is this blind date you are getting me a Badger or a Fair-child?

A story in the Journal recently said, "Two intoxicated men were rescued from drowning late Thursday afternoon by 'Cap' Tom Isabell, head of the university life-saving corps."

Sounds sort of fishy to us. But pity poor Joe. Just think of the names he has to spell each day, including the Scandinavian.

Since there are no marathon flagpole perching gluttons in Madison, what is it that makes the Chi O's hold their heads so high?

Lindbergh won't be here until next month, and besides, he doesn't care for women. He has never worked in a hospital, in fact.

Cardinal office has a request from the State Legislature to reveal identity of ZERK. Two perfectly good silver-plated class cutters will be awarded the first person to walk up to him and offer him ten dollars!

Senate Buries by 17 to 13 Move on High Court Power

The state senate Tuesday killed a joint resolution providing for an amendment to the constitution which would require a two-thirds majority of the state supreme court to declare an act of the legislature unconstitutional, and which would give the supreme court alone the power to declare laws unconstitutional. At present circuit judges also have this power.

The amendment had been passed by the 1925 legislature, and if it had passed this session, would have been submitted to a vote of the people at the general election in November, 1923. The measure was killed by a vote of 17 to 13.

The roll call on the resolution providing for this amendment follows:

Book Notes

By F. L. U.

THE SON OF THE GRAND EUNUCH, by Charles Pettit. Bond & Liv-eright. $3.

The wanderings of the stupid Li Pi Tchou, son of the Grand Eunuch, who prefers existence with his unworthy wife to the august position of his sire, are herein detailed with the utmost naivete and charm. The book is astonishingly effective in that it foists upon the questioning Occidental its very Chinese philosophy, and makes him smile at decapitation, rape, and corruption with as much equanimity as does Li Pi Siao, the epicurean old Grand Eunuch himself.

This personage is said to have been an actual historical character, existing before the revolution of 1912 and playing a certain part in the Boxer Rebellion. But Mr. Pettit is not concerned with history.

It is Li Pi Siao's dearest dream that a dynasty of Grand Eunuchs be formed, with himself as progenitor. It was a common custom for one of his clan to be married and have his offspring before subjected to the surgeon's knife, thus assuring a line of descendants to do him the proper ancestor worship. But the Grand Eunuch's simple son seems to prefer the charms of his lovely wife, Chiti, to the position of his father, and is therefore banished from the Celestial City. His wanderings with the lovely Chiti are very irksome, as he is halted and robbed variously by a Tartar chief and a brigand leader. Chiti easily succumbs to their advances to save her husband, of course. Finally the couple are taken to a monastery, where Chiti attains a very pleasant position due to the good will of the Grand Prior. Poor Li Pi Tchou, after various vicissitudes, is threatened with being slowly baked alive in order that his soul might be saved and, incidentally, that the monastery be made the higher by the contributions of the awed and admiring spectators. But the Grand Eunuch hears and stops the execution; and upon his promises to obey his sire, the son is reinstated, and later elevated to the position of First Chamberlain to the Emperor and Custodian of the Concubines' Fans, next in rank to his father.

The feasts of Li Pi Siao's clan, which substitutes gormandizing for the pleasures of love, the luxury and ceremonial forms of the now defunct Court of Heaven and the inevitable triumph of the parent over the son, are all decided in a spicy manner by Mr. Pettit. His simplicity of style amounts to sophistication and makes the book very pleasant light reading.

THE WILL O' THE WISP, Escanaba, Michigan

This publication should be of more interest than ever to Wisconsin students next fall, as both of the editors will be in attendance at the University.

A change of policy has been effected; contributors have been given much more range of the columns than before. The tone in general is rather good, and for one or two reasons this little green-covered issue is to be praised highly.

That most often misunderstood and bruised subject, religion, has been the occasion for a very entertaining exchange of letters by the editors. One is the cynical type, tinged with a sometimes unfortunate youthful pessimism; the other has a sincere faith tempered by a critical eye. They are interesting, as anything of the sort must be.

"REALISM," by S. C. McMahon, is a short story that carries conviction, notwithstanding certain crudities in style. "SKITTLES," the ironic and clever column by Hal Rammel, is especially entertaining this issue. For instance: "A Bore is a fiend in human form who insists that I listen to him when I want him to sit quietly and listen to me."

Certain of J. G. Back's "Sketches from Northern Michigan" possess vividness and reality, especially "The Funeral" a short study in the Anderson manner.

Several poems are included: the best of which are "Post-Office," a fine piece of panoramic description, and "I Forgotten."

Despite a certain self-consciousness, which they seem to be conquering as time goes on, the editors are acquiring a style of some distinction; and if they cease taking themselves and life with such oppressing seriousness in the future, the Will O' The Wisp should improve by leaps and bounds. It is well worth reading not only for its value as an experiment, but, the format being good and the variety of contents acceptable, for its own intrinsic ability to charm away the tedium of Economics 21.

For the resolution—Senators Caldwell, Cashman, Chase, Englund, Johnson, Keppel, Polakowski, Ruffing, Saut-hoff, Schumann, Severson, Teasdale, Titus.

Paired—Sen. Hunt for the resolution; Sen. Michigan against the resolution.
Absent—Sen. Gettelman.

Apartment is Threatened by Basement Fire

Hawthorne Court Blaze Fills Building With Smoke

A basement fire, that threatened the apartment house at 440 Hawthorne ct., was extinguished late Tuesday afternoon by firemen from stations Nos. 1, 2, and 4.

The fire started around a fuse box. The basement was filled with broken up boxes and kindling wood, which caught fire and burned almost an hour, despite efforts of the fire-fighting force to put it out.

But little real damage was done. The fire failed to spread outside of one room in the basement. The house was filled with smoke.

The building, which is a frame structure, was formerly located on State st., and is owned by Max Woldenberg, Chicago merchant. It is managed by Malcolm Woldenberg, local man.

Finds Cellar Smoke.

The fire was discovered by Mrs. Walter Scharff, who occupies an apartment on the first floor. She noticed the smoke filling her rooms, and called the attention of Mrs. Julius Kelly, who lives in the apartment above. Mrs. Kelly entered the basement, to be met by a cloud of smoke that almost overwhelmed her.

The call to the fire station was put in immediately, while the families in the apartment started moving their valuables from the house.

Residents of the house are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Scharff, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Vetter, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Kelly and Mrs. Jennie C. Brewster.

SPANISH CLUB GIVES INTERESTING PROGRAM

The third weekly Spanish club meeting was held last evening at the Casa Cervantes, 224 N. Murray street.

A program of talks by men who have travelled in Spanish speaking countries was given Mr. R. A. Jargo, who has spent a considerable length of time in the Antilles, gave a detailed account of the historical cities and buildings to be found on these islands.

A clever review was given by Mr. Perez of the impressions of the American student in the speakers native country, Mexico. Mr. O. Ottman told of the customs and traditions which he encountered during his extensive visits in Porto Rico.

Miss Signe Johnson, accompanied on the piano by Miss Olga Rios, read a musical poem. As an encore Miss Johnson sang "A Bit of Love."

CLASSMATES WILL RECEIVE LINDBERGH

The spirit of Madison's youth will welcome the "Spirit of St. Louis" when it is flown to this city by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh on or about Aug. 22, according to tentative plans drafted at a meeting of members of the executive committee in the office of Mayor A. G. Schmedeman last night.

The committee members were determined on one feature of the welcome to be accorded Col. Lindbergh. This was the turning over of the entire program to the young men of the city many of whom were classmates and knew Lindbergh when he attended the University of Wisconsin.

The executive committee appointed by Mayor Schmedeman has as officers Mayor Schmedeman, chairman; Gordon E. Nelson, secretary, and as members Hon. Alvin Reis, Timothy Brown, M. Kalhagen, Ald. Spencer A. Lucas, Col. J. W. Jackson, Col. J. F. Barnes, Floyd C. Rath, Theodore G. Lewis, George Little, D. H. Davis, Frank Kessenich, Jr., and Prof. C. I. Corp.

This committee will immediately select a larger reception committee of approximately 100 members composed almost entirely of Madison young men who are representative of the city. Another meeting of the executive committee may be called early next week to continue arrangements for the large reception.

Talks City Landing Field.

The committee has also tentatively discussed the possibility of securing a suitable landing field as near the center of the city as possible where it will be accessible to all residents of the city. The regular landing field is two miles from the city and it is the opinion of the committee that the landing should be made within the city limits.

PHARMACEUTICAL GARDEN

A delightful destination for hikers and "joy-riders" is the university pharmaceutical garden, which is now open to visitors. The poppies are in full bloom, a glorious field of red and white and pink flowers.

This alone is worth a trip to the garden; there are however, many drug plants also in bloom, some of which are rare imported varieties. Tall purple Digitalis, Valerian, Galega, Monarda, and the Delmatian insect flower are some of the favorite specimens.

There are also several varieties of mint, such as spearmint, American and Japanese peppermint, catnip, German pennyroyal, catnip and sage that are grown and are now well developed.

Follow the Lake Drive past the Willows—the Garden is just beyond the first turn to the right after leaving the Lake Drive.

Twisted strands of pearls for the neck, twisted strands at each wrist and a ring with two pearls set together fashion a new jewelry ensemble.

A smart Frenchwoman has started the style of wearing a shaggy flower of self material at the base of the deep V neckline, like a brooch.

Quilted crepe de chine bags in pastel shades are smart for summer when mounted on leather frames with leather handles the shade of Milady's shoes.

Side godets, circular tunics and drapes are affecting longer front and back hemlines with a rising neckline which gives a swaying hemline effect.

A green georgette dress is fashioned with a triple-tiered skirt and a double jabot which flows from each shoulder into the top skirt tier.

Union Building Faces Period Without Income

Legislature Holds Fate of Project in Budget Bill

Unless the Wisconsin legislature acts favorably on bills incorporated in the general university budget bill designed to finance equipment of the new Memorial Union building, it is likely that the building will stand empty after it is completed.

The proposed bills would give the Union committee power to sell bonds to buy equipment, these bonds to be retired by profits on the building, which would come from the refectory and rents of campus organizations.

Difficulty has been met in collecting outstanding pledges of Madison residents and of students.

Union officials are much concerned over the prospect of investing a large sum in a building which may not be used because of lack of funds to furnish it. Loss on the investment would run to thousands of dollars a year.

Before any planning for furnishing can be done, it will be necessary to pay off the remainder of a note due the First National bank.

The 9th Soldiers' Home Fire for "Bug"

SAWTELLE, Calif. (AP)—Investigation of the ninth of a series of fires in the Soldiers' Home here which Tuesday burned a part of a barracks was started today by Col. John Hadley, governor of the institution, on the theory that it was of incendiary origin.

Only one man was in the building at the time the fire was discovered. He escaped. The building, of frame construction, three stories high, stands a few yards from the ruins of the large mess hall burned last March with a loss estimated at $125,000. The appraised value of the barracks is 23,000.

Badger Prison Guard 8-Hour Day Bill Axed

Plan to End 12-Hour Shift is Killed, 19 to 8

The state senate Tuesday afternoon indefinitely postponed by a 19 to 8 vote, a bill by Sen. Bernhard Gettelman, Milwaukee, providing for an eight-hour day for the guards at the Wisconsin state prison at Waupun and at other penal institutions of the state.

The guards are now working about twelve hours a day, there being only two shifts. The Gettelman bill would have changed this to three shifts for every 24 hours.

The roll call follows: For the bill—Senators Chase, John son, Markham, Polakowski, Ruffing Sauthoff, Schumann, Severson.

Against the bill—Senators Barker, Blanchard, Boldt, Caldwell, Carroll, Cashman, Casperson, Daggett, Englund, Goodland, Hull, Hutchison, Keppel, Lange, Morris, Mueller, Roethe, Teasdale, White.

Absent—Senators Gettelman, Hunt, Mehigan, H. H. Smith, W. L. Smith Titus.

4 Ambulance Chasing Bills Win in Senate

Two Other Measures For Legal Cleanup Are Killed

Four bills designed to check abuses in the legal profession were passed by the state senate Tuesday, and two others were killed. The measures are the outgrowth of the ambulance chasing investigations in Milwaukee, which brought out various unethical practices.

The bills would provide for disbarment, six months imprisonment and a $500 fine for attorneys guilty of ambulance chasing and splitting of fees with any persons not a practicing attorney.

The fight for the measures was made by Sen. Harry Sauthoff, Madison. Senators George W. Blanchard, Edgerton, and Walter Polakowski, Milwaukee, argue against the measures.

The bills passed would regulate the soliciting, investigating and adjustment of personal injury or death claims, and premature settlement. The bills killed would have provided for ready access to the names of witnesses in courts of record, and would have provided for judicial review of property damage settlements.

Sen. Sauthoff stated that the bills had been most carefully drawn up as a result of the unethical practices indulged in by members of the Milwaukee bar.

Sen. Blanchard contended the bills "would simply add more stuff to the statutes." "They go too far," he claimed. "They are unreasonable and unworkable."

Promise Storm Like Monday's for City Today

Madison is in the midst of a thunderstorm area today, which may bring another storm with the violence of that of Monday afternoon, according to weather bureau forecasts this morning. Rain is promised before the day is over, and should a wind arise, it will undoubtedly be a tornado-like demonstration.

An overclouded sky early Tuesday night promised a recurrence of Monday's demonstration, but brought only a light rainfall. The wind was sufficient to raise the waves on Lake Mendota and to send "Cap" Isabel out with his life-saving boat, to warn canoeists and motorists off the lake.

The city was threatened by thunderstorms throughout the day, but none developed. The storm of Tuesday was borne by northwest and west central parts of the state.

Wisconsin Rapids had rain and lightning from 7 to 7:30, and again from 9:30 to 10:30. Portage, Mauston, Barron and Menominee also reported storms.

The highest temperature in Madison yesterday, was 85 degrees at 4 p. m. according to the weather bureau.
