TRACY SPEAKS TONIGHT IN BIG N.O.L. CONTEST

Literary Societies to Lead in Welcome on His Return

The Northern Oratorical League contest which brings together representatives of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Illinois, Iowa, Northwestern, and Michigan will be held tonight at Iowa City. Sterling Tracy '22, accompanied by Prof. J. M. O'Neil of the department of speech, left Tuesday night to represent Wisconsin with an oration entitled "America and Britain in the New World."

The oration which Tracy will give in tonight's contest is the product of two years work and two months of concentrated effort to perfect both the delivery and the oration itself. At a dinner given in his honor at the city Y. M. C. A. by members of Delta Sigma Rho Tuesday night, Tracy said that he was prepared to do his best to bring first place to Wisconsin for the first time in eight years of competition.

Even Chance to Win

Interest in the contest this year has been running unusually high because it is conceded that Wisconsin has an even chance to win first place. Regardless of the outcome of the contest Tracy will be given a royal reception when he returns from Iowa City Friday. Members of all literary societies and other students interested will meet him at the station with the band.

Tracy will then be escorted to Music hall where the student body will be given its first opportunity to hear him deliver his oration. Alvin C. Reis '13 will preside at the meeting at Music hall. Definite word as to the time of Tracy's arrival will be carried in tomorrow's Cardinal.

Competition Keen

Competition in the contest this year will be unusually keen. The

PLACARDS TO SHOW LIVES SAVED DAILY IN CHINESE RELIEF

A score of placards have been set up near the Chinese relief booths on the hill. These will announce, each morning, the number of Chinese lives which were saved by the students during the previous day.

Contrary to the general belief, the foodstuffs for these starving people do not have to be rushed from this country. There is food in other parts of China and money is needed to buy the food grains, which are hauled and distributed without charge.

Chinese lives saved yesterday by students numbered 45; total, 183. Lives saved by faculty, 194.

There is a noticeable tendency for the students instead of leaving their money in the pars at the cafeterias, to take it to the booths in order to obtain the interesting souvenir cards which have been made by Chinese students at the university.

Many of the younger members of the faculty are feeling grieved because their contributions do not help to replace headboards with flags. "The committee considered the matter carefully and feared to let the faculty in on this cemetery lest the professors should consider the appeal more poignant than is necessary to secure faculty interest," said Prof. E. A. Ross.

Bryan is Guest of University; Arrives at Noon

William Jennings Bryan, the eloquent Nebraskan, will be the guest of the university today.

The Commoner will arrive in the city this noon over the Northwestern road. He will be met at the station by members of the Forensic board, together with a large delegation of students, who will escort him on a tour of the campus.

This afternoon he will make a brief address to a joint meeting of the Beloit and Wisconsin chapters of Delta Sigma Rho, national honorary debating fraternity, at the Beta Theta Pi house. Preceding his lecture in the gymnasium tonight he will be guest of honor at a dinner to be given by the Middle Temple, soon to be installed as a chapter of Delta Chi fraternity. Mr. Bryan is an honorary member of the Delta Chi chapter at Georgetown university.

At the lecture tonight Charles D. Assovsky '21, president of Forensic board, will introduce Governor John J. Blaine, who will then present Mr. Bryan. Colonel Bryan's lecture on "Brother or Brute" is reputed to be the best he has ever delivered from the lyceum platform.

CINDER STARS GET IN SHAPE FOR MAROONS

Conference Season Starts With
Meet at Chicago
Saturday

With the first Conference outdoor track meet against the Maroons, scheduled to be held at Chicago on Saturday, May 7, the Wisconsin track squad went through a hard preparatory workout yesterday.

Coach Thomas E. Jones sent his runners and hurdlers through a series of time trials, and records were kept of the marks set by field men. Every Badger track and field man is in excellent condition for the beginning of the Big Ten outdoor season. Barring a weakness in the sprints, Wisconsin will present a well-balanced squad in the Conference race.

Stars Show Up Well

Albert J. Knollin '22, joint holder with Carl Johnson, Michigan, of the high hurdles record, is going over the sticks in championship fashion. Dale Merrick '22 and Lloyd L. Wilder '21, fresh from their victories in the pole vault at the Penn relays, can be counted on to score many points for Wisconsin in this event.

The Badgers are also strong in the long distance runs. Mark H. Wall '22, Clarence W. Wille '22, and Wellington Brothers '21 will run the mile at Chicago, and George H. Finkle '23, Harry C. Dennis '21, G. Wade '23 are expected to finish ahead of the weaker Chicago long distance runners.

Chicago Strength Unknown

Chicago, the Badger's first opponent, has a team of unknown strength. The Maroons failed to show championship class in the indoor conference meet at Evanston, scoring practically their total count by taking a third place in the mile relay.

Bartke and Hall in the middle distances are two of the fastest Maroon speeders. Joe Harris is the third man of a strong middle distance trio. McWilliams, who works in the weight events, is the only other Maroon athlete who has consistently displayed winning form. Coach Jones will lighten the workouts for his charges during the remainder of the week, permitting the Badger runners to taper off into the condition necessary for a strenuous conference schedule.

SENATE TAKES SAFETY ACTION

Stands Pat on Referendum
Measures Passed
Friday

Definite action to improve life-saving facilities on Lake Mendota was taken by the Student Senate last evening at its regular meeting when it passed the recommendations of the Senate investigating committee given below and ordered a letter sent to Dean S. H. Goodnight asking immediate faculty action on the recommendations.

One clause of the recommendations is already in force, and the Senate expects all students to adhere to its provisions. The clause follows:

"That it be known that Captain Isabel has the power to prohibit boating on the lake at any time according to his own judgment; that he has the authority to call in all boats from the lake whenever he believes boating dangerous, by raising the red flag or using the red light on the watchtower, and by the use of the siren at the power house."

Stands Pat on Amendments

A discussion of the referendum vote taken last Friday revealed that the Senate would stand on the passage of the two amendments, and that no further action will be taken unless the Council of 40 does not make the necessary changes in its membership as suggested at the mass meeting held last Tuesday. A motion made by Senator Birney Miller '22 that the Senate call for

BAT WIELDERS SWAMP RIPON IN SLUG FEST

13 Hits Give Badgers Big
End of 15 to 5
Score

LESLIE R. GAGE

In the most top-heavy game of the 1921 season the Badger nine defeated Coach Harold Olsen's Ripon club at Camp Randall yesterday afternoon by the count of 15 to 5. The game was clearly a slugfest from the opening session, and the Wisconsin batsmen found little difficulty in solving the delivery of Sneider, the visitor's pitcher. Both Hoffman and Frank Williams, who were used by Coach Lowman in the course of the afternoon, were seldom in danger.

As the score readily indicates, the game was slow from the start. There was no incentive for the Wisconsin players to exert themselves to the utmost. The Badgers had a good afternoon in the field and at bat. Sneider was touched for 13 safe drives in the eighth innings that he worked, and a number of them went for extra bases. Six errors on the part of the Ripon fielders aided the Badger scoring.

Hoffman Unsteady

Hoffman, who was sent in to start the encounter, was unable to settle down immediately, and before he could control his delivery the Ripon hitters had crossed the plate twice. However this early rally was aided by Hoffman's issuing two bases on balls. After that round he settled and fanned the side in the second session. In the six innings that he hurled, "Hoff" sent seven men down via the strikeout route.

"Bill" Williams went in for the last three innings, and kept the Olseneite hitters well in hand. Two runs were counted in these final frames, but two triples were responsible for that scoring. Sneider, on the other hand, was unable to fool the Badgers in the pinches.

Hardell Gets Homer

Ardell, hitting for Lyman in the sixth inning, knocked a home run into deep left field. The hit looked like a double, but Graff was unable to stop the ball, and the substitute touched all the bags. Jack Williams again came in for his share of honors at the bat, registering a pair of two-base hits out of four attempts at the plate. "Rollie" Williams, Snow, and Ceaser also connected for two safe hits apiece, one of Ceaser's going for three bases.

"Eddie" Farrington had a great day at short starting a speedy double play and making a spectacular one-hand stop of Jerdee's liner over second in the fifth inning.

SNAPPY JOKES FOR SENIOR NUMBER IS PLEA OF OCTOPUS

In order to make the Senior number of the Octopus one that the seniors will always remember, the editors ask that contributions, which must be in by Friday, May 6, be specially snappy.

A special call to clever girls has been issued, to make their representation on the Octopus more fitting to their numbers in the university. This is to be the last issue this year, and up to this time few women have contributed.

Signatures are not required, but the editors prefer to know by whom the jokes have been contributed, in order that credit may be given the author.

Now that Aprile with his shoures soute is dispensed with we may expect good weather and get about a bit in the open. This eight hours of study a day may be all right, but four hours ought to be enough for any man.

In two weeks the Badger will again be out. The satire section therein will probably monopolize the scandal for a few days and eclipse this col. unless the contribs. roll in a little faster. There's no law against exchanging ideas what-somever.

Anyone desiring to get even with Don Marvin after his section is made public may do so here by paying the Duke two dollars and costs.

BAT WIELDERS SWAMP RIPON IN SLUG FEST

Jack Williams' first double came with the bases full and sent three runners home.

Wisconsin gave Hoffman a substantial lead in the first round when they counted four times. "Rollie" Williams dropped a single into right field and proceeded to steal both second and third. Lyman was walked, and took second. Farrington struck out, but Clement was forced to throw to first after dropping the third strike. Elliott walked, and then Jack Williams drove his double into center field, scoring all three men.

Williams went to third on the drive when the center fielder jugged the ball. Barry was safe at first and J. Williams at home on an infield hit, which the visiting infield played to the plate. Barry stole second, but the next two men were out.

Two runs were annexed in the fourth session, as a result of Jack Williams' double, a passed ball and two Ripon errors. The same number crossed the plate in the following inning when Snow singled, Ceaser tripled and Jerdee muffed one at third.

There was a grand rally in the sixth frame, and five runs resulted. With one man out, Davey singled into right field and went to third when O'Leary dropped Ruediger's short fly. Snow fouled out, and with two gone Frank Williams sent a long single into right that counted both runners. Ceaser singled into the same field, and then "Bob" Hardell drove his low hit into left field that cleared the bases.

In the seventh Elliott led off with a single, and later scored on an error, after having stolen two bases. A walk, a stolen base and an error counted Davey.

THE S. G. A. CONVENTION

WISCONSIN today formally welcomes the delegates who have come here to attend the eighth annual convention of the Middle Western Intercollegiate Association of Women Self-Government, which will be held at Lathrop hall this weekend. Representatives of the leading women's colleges and co-educational institutions of the Mississippi Valley have come here to confer and to exchange ideas on common problems that come to the surface from time to time in the experience of those who have won the places of leadership in undergraduate life.

The University of Wisconsin has been a pioneer in the development of the scheme of women's self-government associations that have been adopted in modified form at many of the foremost women's colleges in the United States. Under the able guidance of a distinguished leader, Dean Lois K. Mathews, the system of government for women at Wisconsin gained national recognition. From time to time, as a result of the interchange of ideas at such conferences as is being held here at this time, the system has been modified and adapted to meet the new problems that arise constantly.

One of the commendable features of the conference is the fact that all university men and women, faculty and students, are invited to attend the sessions of convention. Here all who are interested in the problem of student self-government, vocational work for women, the "point system," the "Big Sister" movement, the co-operative house question, and the tangle that results in the overlapping of student organizations and their functions, may hear them discussed.

To the delegates and visitors at the conference, Wisconsin bids a cordial welcome!

NAPOLEON

NAPOLEON died one hundred years ago today, a prisoner of civilization on the forsaken island of St. Helena. This colossal genius of ruthlessness has exerted a tremendous influence not only on his own age, but even on our time. His shadow still hovers like a menacing spirit over the motives and acts of mankind.

Perhaps history showers undue blame on the "Little Corporal." Perhaps that he shortened the stature of Frenchmen by a number of inches, and vitiated the power of his country, that he flung his troops into danger without counting the cost in lives, that he dragged his submissive soldiery from Paris to Moscow to sate his greed for domination, should not so much be heaped upon his shoulders as upon the period which produced him. But whether he made history or history made him, he still epitomizes the spirit of utter disregard for humanity.

The sordidness of Napoleonic misanthropy still flourishes in the business, professional, and social world. It is embodied in the principle that concerns itself only with the end and not with the means; and the end is always self-aggrandizement and self-glorification.

Despite a costly war for ideas, the world still glories in the petty squabbles of the status quo ante. New Napoleons are arisen. The question inevitably comes to the fore: What part will university men play in grappling with Napoleonism in American life? Will they bend their heads and bow their knees in acquiescence? Will they follow in the groove wrought by the flock of crafty super-egoists? Or will they uphold their better selves and openly declare themselves for justice and fair play?

The future of America and of the world depends in a large measure on the guidance which the university man can offer to the mass of men who are struggling to leave behind an unjust past for a better future.

CRITICIZES SENATE

Editor of the Cardinal:

Much has been said lately of the questions that were voted upon at the recent election, but nothing has been said as to the manner in which the election was carried out. A few facts have come to my notice which I should like to present to the student body for consideration.

Two things have characterized this last election as being one of the most inefficient and haphazard of student elections. First in the manner in which it was conducted. Voters were allowed to take their own ballots from the tables, with nothing to prevent them from taking any or all of the ballots or any number of them. Electioneering within the building was not stopped. I have in mind a case where a supporter of the candidate took a voter aside and told him how to mark his ballot. This same supporter took ballots from the election table and used them to show other voters how to mark their ballots, until he was finally asked to leave the building although not until he had continued this practice for some little time. No doubt there were many more such instances. When this matter was brought to the attention of one senator he "passed the buck" to the elections committee saying that it was due to their inefficiency and that if the matter were pressed the Senate would probably take it up. He admitted that the elections committee was very inefficient and that only two members of the committee had been in town on the day of elections. One member of the committee left school two weeks before the elections, but nothing was done to put another in his place.

The question naturally arises: Why is the Senate in existence? Do they realize that they are the governing body of this university? It seems not. They have been elected by the student body to be the governing head. As such we expect something from them. Why have such an organization if they merely sit and twiddle their thumbs while an important election is going on in a manner unworthy of the lowest type of ward politics? Why have such an organization if they do not take enough interest in the election to see that the elections committee has its full strength? Much has been said about this august body sitting until late into the night discussing student affairs. These discussions are evidently not of great consequence if they will take precedence and allow an election to slide through the way this one did. If a senator will not take enough interest in student affairs to bring a direct violation of election rules up before the Senate without the matter being pressed, why have a senate?

The second matter which characterized this election as slipshod was the lack of information as to the questions to be brought up in the referendum. Regardless of the merits of the questions, they should have been presented to the student body for a sufficient length of time and in such a manner as to allow the students to formulate an opinion on the matter. It was brought out in the mass meeting on Tuesday that the Council of 40 never voted as a body as to whether or not it cared to be represented on the Senate. The matter was presented to the president of the Council by the Senate during the early part of the week of election and was then passed by the executive committee of the Council without the knowledge of the rest of the Council. Yet the Senate characterized the referendum as being entirely in accord with the will of the Council.

Is the Student Senate really worth while? Is it performing enough of its duties to justify its existence? Do the senators personally feel any responsibility as the leaders of student life? Although I am strongly in favor of student self-government I feel justified in saying that the above questions can all be answered in the negative in this case.

ON THE AMENDMENTS

Editor of the Cardinal:

Tuesday at the mass meeting in the auditorium of the Engineering building we were given our first chance to hear both sides of the question just raised as to the benefit to be derived from the two amendments to the constitution of the Student Senate.

Senators Coxon and Tracy admitted the mistake of the Senate in considering it necessary that these two amendments be put through on such short notice. Both men regretted that the amendments were brought up as they were, yet we are asked to accept this mistake of the Senate.

As for the first amendment: The president of each board could easily be sent to the senate as that board's representative, if the Senate so asked and the board considered him best fitted to represent it. The editor of the Badger already represents the Badger board. The only part of this amendment, therefore, is that at all necessary, even to accomplish what the Senate desires, is that part which would make the managing editor of the Cardinal a member of the Student Senate.

The apparent purpose of the Senate is to have the managing editor of the Cardinal at their meetings so that the Senate will get "publicity, and the right kind of publicity." Can any one doubt that one man associated with 16 others can do other than come to their point of view? The managing editor is in position to mould student opinion. And he is in position to interpret student opinion. Are we getting an unprejudiced report of the actions of the Senate if the managing editor is a member of that body, and subject to pressure? When we wish to know what the Senate has done, we do not want to feel that the news we get has been "doped." If the Senate wishes the Cardinal to give it more publicity than it is now getting, why does it not ask the managing editor for more space?

The sentiment of Tuesday's meeting clearly showed as being strenuously opposed to giving the Council of 40 a membership in the Student Senate. As was pointed out, the Senate is desirous of having the Council of 40 act as its executive body, and, therefore, should have the president of the council in its membership to insure co-operation between the two bodies. Yet, according to a statement of the president of the Senate, the Council of 40 is controlled by its executive council of 10 men. Of these 10 men six are already members of the Senate. What more could be asked?

The Senate already has the controlling influence in the Council of 40. Surely it is best to leave things as they were before this amendment was brought up and have the Senate remain a body elected directly by the students.

Already petitions are being circulated for another vote. When the students know they are voting for, will the same be the same as it was last Friday?

CO-EDS TO TEACH IN SUMMER CAMPS

Many enterprising co-eds are planning to escape from social entanglements and to seek rest and pleasure in summer camps. Miss Esther Cochrane, a former graduate of Wisconsin, is mistress of Sandstone camp on Green lake, Wisconsin, and five undergraduates expect to assist her this season.

Charlotte G. MacEwan '21 will teach Miss H'Doubler's dancing and folk dancing; Elizabeth M. Waterman '21, dancing and swimming; Dixie Davis '23, dancing and swimming; Reinette E. Douglas '23, dramatics, and Vera Carlyle '23, archery and tennis.

Mabel Winter will have charge of swimming and Frances Ellen Tucker '21 of dramatics at Camp Meenagh, Wisconsin. Elinore Greene and Gertrude Noetzel, who were at Wisconsin last year, will teach dancing and swimming there also.

Besides these campers, some co-eds are settling down to the more prosaic work of teaching summer school. Marcia Hinkens '21 will take her place here as swimming instructor and Lillian L. Stupp will assist in Miss H'Doubler's dancing. Gertrude M. Baker '22 is to teach physical training at summer school at the University of Minnesota.

At The Theatres

AT THE STRAND

Maurice Tourneur's latest production, "Deep Waters," is now being shown at the Strand theater. The story was adapted from F. Hopkinson Smith's popular novel, "Caleb West, Master Diver," and the scenes are laid on the New England coast.

Caleb West, a man past his prime, and his girl-wife, Betty, are the central figures in the story. Betty becomes attracted to a youth named Bill Lacey, and though she does not love him, they run away together. Later, the ship upon which Lacey is traveling is wrecked and Caleb West brings the body of the young man to the surface. In a dramatic scene the loyalty of Betty to her husband asserts itself and a touching reconciliation takes place between the two.

"Deep Waters" introduces in the leading feminine role Mr. Tourneur's latest "find," Barbara Bedford.

Buster Keaton in "The Haunted House" will also be shown.

AT THE ORPHEUM

Will Stanton, the well known musical comedy comedian, late feature with the success, "Maid in America," one of Shubert Brothers' biggest productions is now appearing in vaudeville assisted by Rosalind May and Co., including Burt Reeves and Jean Perry and will headline the new Orpheum vaudeville program, opening tonight and remaining for the balance of the week, including the three performances on Sunday. Mr. Stanton's vaudeville offering is called "Now and Then," and affords this clever comedian ample opportunity to display this talent. Sharing headline honors with Mr. Stanton will be seen Johnson, Baker and Johnson, in their laugh-producing act entitled "Practice." Other features on this bill will be Lucien Lucca, a singer that is different; Mathews and Blakeney in the comedy with a pull, called "Strings." Van and Cantwell, two boys from Songland, will oblige and James and Etta Mitchell, fun in the air together with the latest Pathé News reel completes the program. There will be matinees Saturday and Sunday, with the regular two performances nightly.

AT THE FULLER

D. W. Griffith's supreme effort, "Way Down East," opened to a very enthusiastic audience at the Fuller last night where it will be shown for three more days with matinees at 2:30 and evening shows starting at 8:15. The last performance being given Saturday night. The famous play has been clearly amplified into a screen pastoral as only the master mind of Griffith can do. His innovations are no doubt wonderful for at the end of the first presentation his work was greeted with great applause. In "Way Down East" it is quite evident that the wizard of the film has another Birth of a Nation and Lillian Gish and Richard Barthelmess are shown at their best. Mr. Griffith's special orchestra of symphony players is a treat in itself. There is no question but that "Way Down East" surpasses anything attempted heretofore by this world's famed producer.

Measure Passed

a referendum on a repeal of the two amendments to be held before May 30 was defeated.

The complete text of the recommendations made by the Senate investigating committee headed by Milton Borman '21 and the letter which will be sent to Dean Goodnight follows:

The Student Senate, after investigation of the possibilities of improving the life-saving facilities on Lake Mendota, makes the following recommendations:

1. That there be hired a full-time assistant to Captain Isabel at the life-saving station, who would be able:

(a) To take the place of Captain Isabel at the boathouse when he is out on the lake with the crews between the hours of 4 and 6 p. m.;

(b) In case of stormy weather to act as a look-out up in the watch-tower with field glasses and direct the movements of the Cardinal on the lake in the necessity of rescue work;

(c) To be of general assistance around the boat house, and thus avoid the necessity of hiring extra help.

2. That a system of sealed-telephone boxes be established at different points along the shore around the lake to be used only to notify the life-saving station of accidents on the lake; that there be rigid enforcement of the city ordinance which provides a heavy penalty for the abuse of such apparatus; that to keep these boxes in a working condition, they be inspected at frequent regular intervals.

3. That the physical education department of the university include in its curriculum instruction in handling a boat and methods of life saving.

4. That it be known that Captain Isabel has the power to prohibit boating on the lake at any time according to his own judgment; that he has the authority to call in all boats from the lake whenever he believes boating dangerous, by raising the red flag or using the red light on the watch-tower, and by use of the siren signal at the power house.
