OFFER PRIZES TO HOBOS WHO GREET GRADS

Disreputable Groups to Parade State Street at Homecoming

Silver loving cups and values in trade ranging from $15 down will be awarded to the most disreputable groups and individuals in the second annual hobo parade to be held on the morning of October 22, Homecoming day.

Prizes will be given to the fattest and thinnest hobos, the one having the longest natural beard, the best hobo band, and the largest group to enter the parade, according to Frank Hyer '22, chairman. Fraternities and groups composed of non-fraternity men are urged by the committee to begin making plans for the parade, immediately, as it has been announced as one of the big Homecoming features.

Started Last Year

The first hobo parade in the history of the university, which was held last fall on the morning of the Illinois game, attracted widespread interest, especially among the alumni.

Although it was a new feature of Homecoming programs, the parade was very successful and for this reason the committee in charge of this year's arrangements has decided to stage a second appearance of vagabonds.

Everybody Eligible

"Everyone is eligible to compete but with the understanding that they will not represent any of the well-known hobos to be seen in the neighborhood of the university," say members of the committee. "With this exception, disguises of any nature are permissible." A hobo band will be on hand in the morning to lead the loafers along State street and also to help in the entertainment of the returning alumni.

CONVO CALLED FOR COMMERCE FROSH

To acquaint new Commerce students with the Commerce course, its organization, and its aims, a convocation of all freshmen and new transfers in the Commerce course will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 in 113 Sterling hall.

Prof. F. H. Lowell, who has the convocation arrangements in charge, will introduce Prof. W. A. Scott, director of the Course in Commerce, and Prof. S. W. Gilman, who will welcome the students and outline the purposes of the course. Reginald Garstang '22 will speak in behalf of the Men's Commerce club, and Elizabeth Thwing '22 will tell of the woman's part in the Commerce school.

Attendance at the convocation is compulsory. Each student whose program does not allow him to be present at 4:30 is to hand in his name together with the name of his advisor at the main Commerce office, 406 Sterling hall, before Wednesday noon.

Anxious Sisters Nose Windows As Frosh Arrive

"Oh you sweet thing, I'm just tickled to pieces to see you! Why Alice, I'm so glad to have you here oh you dear!"

Whereupon a complete sorority chapter rushed upon the necks of two perfectly amazed and bewildered yet thoroughly delighted prospective "campus knockouts."

At 5 yesterday afternoon, nearly 200 excited maidens scurried through the court and other streets bearing the honor of some sorority house, and hesitatingly approached the closed door of their prospective sheltering places. But here ended their indecision for they even found their very words cut off by the effusive greetings of the delighted "recent rushers" as they viewed the results of the past few days.

Groups of girls huddled in vestibules and pressed their noses against the windows in anxious expectation while the remainder of the chapter showed their delight over the early arrivals who by this time had shakily scribbled their names in the official pledge book and found themselves wearing pledge pins.

"Twas a great rushing season, and open house will prove it," say the sisters.

OCTOBER 21 SET AS DEADLINE FOR OFFICE SEEKERS

Senate Announces Positions to Be Filled in Fall Election

As the buzz of political gossip and rumor increases over the campus the announcement comes from the Student Senate that all aspirants to office must file their petitions by 5 p. m. on Friday, Oct. 21, and the fall election on November 4 is brought a little nearer.

Candidates for class offices, senior, junior, sophomore, and freshman, junior prom chairman, and Student Senate membership will be voted on by the qualified electors on November 4. The Senate membership consists of one graduate student, five seniors, three juniors, two sophomores and the president of the freshman class. All offices are to be filled at the coming election.

The petitions of class office candidates must bear not less than 25 names of qualified men and women voters, and those of Senate office seekers not less than 25 male voters of the candidate's respective class. The petitions are to be given to the Dean of Men in South hall.

It costs to be a candidate. Those who would be class presidents pay $5; vice-presidents, secretaries, treasurers and sergeants-at-arms pay $2.50; and candidates for prom chairman are charged $7; Student Senate nominees also pay $2.50. The fees are turned in with the petitions and are used to defray the expenses of conducting the election.

PURDUE PRACTICES FOR CHICAGO; DRAMATICS ORGANIZED FOR YEAR

(By W. C. Radio News Service) LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 3.—The Varsity was given a long scrimmage with freshmen today in preparation for the Chicago game. The Harlequin club, the Purdue dramatic club, has organized for the year and will have a new play selected and in preparation by Christmas.

UNION BOARD TO GIVE SERIES OF STUDENT DANCES

Parties Held Each Week-end in Lathrop Parlors—Start Next Saturday

Opening the social season with its first dance at Lathrop parlors next Saturday night, Oct. 8, the Union board announces a series of student dances which will be held weekly during the winter season, on Friday or Saturday nights.

In inaugurating these social affairs, the Union board is following the precedent established in other conference and eastern universities, where such parties are recognized as the proper affair for week-end dates. Thompson's orchestras have been engaged for the entire season, and such musicians as "Gene" Juster, "Cece" Brodt, "Bill" Sumner, the Casserly brothers, and Earl Chudnow will be heard in Lathrop parlors each week-end.

"We feel that in opening the Union board dances that we are offering the student the finest party in the city for his week-end date," said Leslie R. Gage '23, who is in charge of the parties.

"Lathrop parlors offer the best floor, the easiest lounging rooms, and good refreshments. Entertainment of a high order will be given from time to time. We hope to make these dances of a high quality, and that the students will recognize them as the social affairs of each week-end."

Refreshments will be obtainable in the building at all times during the dancing. Tickets are priced at $1, and will be sold only at the door. Much enthusiasm regarding the parties is evidenced, and indicates that a superior crowd will attend the opening dance of the season.

ORPH WILL SHOW PATHE FILM OF VARSITY WELCOME

Moving pictures of the Varsity Welcome will be shown at the Orpheum theatre next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, according to a letter received by M. E. Diemer of the university photographic laboratory from Pathe's Weekly.

The Pathe company congratulated Dr. Diemer upon the effective manner in which the pictures were taken.

Matthews Urges Bible Reading

That a great deal of the outcome of the future depends upon the choice a man makes during his college years was the point emphasized by Doctor Shailer Matthews, dean of the College of Religious Education of the University of Chicago, in his talk at the "Y" parlors, Sunday morning.

It is then that one must decide whether he is to be just an acquisitive person, getting all the money, all the honor and all the praise he can, or whether he is going to give something to the world, he affirmed.

"Accidents don't happen in life," said Dr. Matthews. "What you really have is an awful crisis of events. We are living awfully fast these days, and the question is whether it is due to a fever or to adolescence, whether a tragedy or the beginning of a new era."

Dr. Matthews urged a systematic study of the Bible, saying that it gives the true sense of the worth of the individual and of democracy. He said that the outlook of the Bible is very optimistic.

TICKET RATES FOR FOOTBALL ARE BOOSTED

Student Rate Extended to Faculty and All Employees

Football ticket rates were boosted to $2, $2.50, and $3 by vote of the faculty yesterday afternoon. At the same time the 50 cent student rate was extended to all faculty members and employees of the university.

The reason for the price increase, according to Dean S. H. Goodnight, who introduced the resolution, is that Wisconsin rates have been lower than those of any other school in the Conference making it impossible for Wisconsin to allow visiting teams as much for expenses as other universities allow.

This disparity in expense allowances, according to Dean Goodnight, caused one university to refuse to play Wisconsin.

The $2 seats, according to the plan, will be those at the ends of the field, those at the center drawing the $3 price.

The resolution extending the student rate to university employees and members of the faculty was introduced by Professor J. F. A. Pyre, president of the Athletic council.

ROSS WILL SPEAK AT SOCIAL SCIENCE REUNION THURSDAY

Prof. Edward A. Ross will deliver an address on the "Future of Population" before the members of the Social Science club and its friends at its reunion meeting on Thursday, Oct. 6 at 6:30 in the Y. M. C. A. parlors. Prof. William E. Leonard will read numbers of his newest poems.

There will be a supper costing 65 or 70 cents. Reservations can be made through Samuel Sigman, 703 State street.

SCRIBES MEET AT SUPPER TONIGHT

Press club will have its first meeting of the year tonight at Lathrop hall. Members will form in line at the cafeteria at 5:15, and meet in the S. G. A. room as formerly.

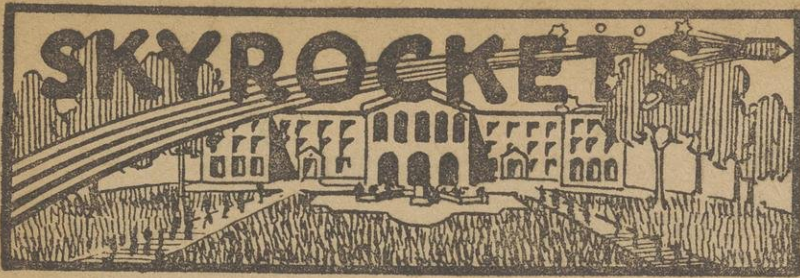

Business of interest to every member will be brought up at the meeting, and plans for an active year ahead will be outlined by Rodney Welsh '22, president of the club. A large attendance tonight will insure a good beginning for the year's work.

MILDRED RIECK '23, VOCATIONAL HEAD OF S. G. A. COUNCIL

The S. G. A. board, in a meeting held last week, appointed Mildred Rieck '23 as vocational chairman for the coming year. This position means, also, membership on the S. G. A. council.

Present plans for vocational conference include two distinct groups of meetings, one about the third week in January, for freshmen and sophomores, and one in April for juniors and seniors.

WE got to wondering today about how many kisses were wasted last night when the sororities welcomed the new pledges, and this is how we come to our conclusion. Say the chapters have an average of 25 girls. Say that each chapter had to welcome an average of 10 freshmen. Providing that each girl kissed each pledge that means 250 long, juicy smacks per chapter. Then we must not forget that there are about 18 different chapters. Eighteen times 250 gives us the astounding sum of 4,500 clinches. Oh, my dear, it takes our breath away just to think of it.

AND say, boys, can you imagine walking into the D. G. house and have those 25 girls rush up and just clamor for the next kiss? Um-m-m.

WE overheard a group of Thetas talking last evening and it went something like this: "So that little nut So-and-So went Alpha Phi. She certainly must be crazy. Well, we ought to be glad we didn't get her, if she hasn't any more sense than that."

THE Pi Phi's had open house Sunday afternoon. That is, the door was open most of the time. Walt Shulke, the man about the Pi Phi house, was busily engaged in entertaining two young sons of a Pi Phi alumna, besides providing his usual amusement for Adine, and he and Jimmie Wood romped merrily through the halls in chase of the little boys. We don't know how the children enjoyed it, but we do know that they left protesting violently that they did not want to be kissed, and that they were going to be Deltas when they grew up. We refused to rush until the boys had registered.

WE print below a letter from an admirer of our verse editor, Oscar Wildest. We hope that he will enjoy seeing his love letter in print.

"Good morning, dear Oscar,
My soul mate so true;
I love you, I love you,
I love you, I do.
"Dearest Oscar Wildest, those were my first thoughts when I awoke this morning. I'm crazy about you and though you don't conduct a Love Lorn bureau I thought that maybe you would write to me once in a while and answer a few of my questions.

"I would like to know if 'rushin' here at Wisconsin means 'Bolshevik'? My father won't let me be a Socialist and I'd like to know just where I stand and (2) if Horace Wetmore is just learning to ride that horse or does he know how? They say that he is a great man and I think that he is handsome, is he? (3) Is that long legged animal of the Sig Chis a quadreped or something else? (4) And is there any danger that the zoology class will have to dissect the Phi Kap badger in search of lost rings? (5) Do you think it wrong for a girl to pull her eyebrows?

"And now, dear Oscar, please answer. I can't write more; for I have to go to church and pray for your soul. You need it, dear boy. Your Freshman admiress,
I HAVA PIGTAIL."

WE will prevail upon Oscar for your sake, Hava, and possibly he will answer you in Wednesday's col. But he is very bashful, so don't be disappointed if you never hear from him.

THE CREAM OFF THE JEST
"Give me coffee without cream, sir."
"That I cannot, my dear man, You must take your's without milk, sir—There's no cream left in the can."

THE Alpha Deltas must be going to break up house keeping and start all over again. They have allowed the wild waves of the last few days, slowly but surely, wash their pier into the watery depths, and on top of that have run one of their flivvers over the bank and into the lake. Even if it couldn't run you would think that they would have left it in front of the house just for the looks.

"I'm not so strong for this higher education," said the Frosh, as he climbed to 402 Bascom hall.

President DeWit appointed an entertainment committee consisting of A. F. Asceno '22, Philippine islands, S. S. Aysar, India, Bjorn Bjornson, Iceland, and Prof. W. E. Leonard. An athletic committee consisting of C. M. Van der Riet '23, Sonya Forthal '23, and Carl Swenson '24, were also selected.

A social meeting will be held in the concert room of Lathrop hall, October 14, for all foreign students and anyone else who is interested.

THREE GRADUATES DO RESEARCH ON FOREST PRODUCTS

Three university graduate students are having the opportunity of doing their thesis research work in the Forest Products laboratory this year. Mrs. Anella Wieben is studying the relative adsorption of wood for different liquids as the material for her thesis, while A. W. Froelke is studying the hydrolysis of wood to form sugar. S. Subramanya Aiyar, another graduate student, is making a study of wood distillation.

Besides these three students who are doing the work for credit in the university, there are but four students who receive compensation for their work at the laboratory. During the war, the Forest Products laboratory had a large student pay roll, but since it has re-adjusted itself to a peace schedule, student employees are in the minority. At present there are no positions open at the laboratory.

CLUB HOUSE FUND LOANED TO NEEDY FOREIGN STUDENTS

International Club Devotes
Capital to Assisting
Worthy

The International club house fund, found inadequate for purposes intended, was converted into a loan fund for needy foreign students at the first business meeting held this week. The officers are: J. D. DeWit, president; Regmor Estrad '23, treasurer, and Frieda Meyer '22, secretary.

In view of the fact that the rate of exchange is low, many foreign students encounter financial difficulties during the first months. There are plenty of university loan funds, but in all cases the applicant is required to furnish security. A recommendation from two members of the club is the only necessary requirement.

Any member of the International club is eligible to apply for financial aid, but preference will be given to foreign students. The matter of deciding whether or not the need is great and the applicant worthy, is left to the discretion of Prof. Percy M. Dawson and Sonya Forthal '23.

Miss R. M. Kelsey and Carlos X. Burgos '22, Philippine islands, were elected on the board of directors to take the places of Mrs. W. Ellery Leonard, who tendered her resignation, and Mesuo Kato '22, Japan, who is not in school.

Coach Meanwell Starts Basket Practice

RICHARDS PUTS LINE THROUGH HARD WORKOUT

Believes Weakness Is In Failure to Follow Up Charges

To instill a more aggressive spirit in his linemen, Coach John R. Richards devoted a great deal of yesterday's practice session to sending candidates for the forward wall through their paces and watching them closely for weak points. The backs were sent to a corner of the field with instructions to take the ball "and hold on to it."

After the 28 to 0 Badger victory over Lawrence last Saturday, the big coach has been enabled to get a better line on his Varsity material. While the team showed up well as a whole, there were some glaring faults which will have to be corrected before Wisconsin takes the field for its first Big Ten conference game.

Works Line

What Richards believes is the weakness of his linemen is that they charge, but fail to follow through after they hit their opponents. In a short scrimmage between two lines only, he strove to correct this shortcoming, driving the men past their opponent's scrimmage line after they had succeeded in getting through. "Fight all the way through," was his admonition to Varsity linemen.

That the backfield men need practice in handling the ball was evident after the Lawrence contest. Fumbles, three of them costing probable scores, were made at least six times by Wisconsin backfield men. Several Lawrence tacklers dislodged the sphere from the arms of Badger backs by hard tackling, but the ball was dry, and should have been held, it seems.

Offense Fast

The Wisconsin offense lived up to forecasts which had presaged a fast, powerful attack. Captain Sundt made the gains counted upon each time he was given the oval. "Rowdy" Elliott, individual star of the contest, tore through and around ends with ease. Gibson ran back punts with the agility of an "Al" Davey, Williams dodged and pivoted in his old-time fashion, and "Steve" Gould advanced the ball consistently.

In the forward passing game, only two of eight heaves connected. It was here that the uncanny accuracy of "Shorty" Barr was missed. The Badger backs succeeded in getting the ball off each time, but only a pair of throws were successful.

Northwestern Next

With two more weeks of practice and one preliminary game before Wisconsin opens the conference season at Northwestern on October 15, the Badgers will probably be in tip-top shape, thoroughly able to complete their formations without a slip, and displaying a driving offense with an impregnable defense.

In their second preliminary of the season, the Badgers are slated to meet South Dakota State college at Madison next Saturday. The collegians defeated Aberdeen normal by a 40 to 0 score last Saturday afternoon. In addition to Wisconsin, some of their big games are with Creighton university at Omaha, Valparaiso university at Gary,

STEINAUER GIVES SWIMMING TESTS

Regular Practice to Begin Soon —Good Material Shows Up

Coach Joe Steinauer, swimming mentor, is having his hands full this week holding the swimming tests for underclassmen; and he expects to complete this work by the end of this week, when regular practice will commence in the gymnasium tank.

So far, the tests have brought out several likely squad candidates and Coach Steinauer expects to have two large squads of freshman swimming hopefuls out after the final picking on Thursday evening.

The candidates for positions on the freshman squads will report Thursday night at the tank for the swims that will decide the personnel of the two teams. One squad will meet on Tuesday evenings of each week for practice and the other on Thursday nights. Both will be under the direction of Coach Steinauer.

The first official Varsity practice will take place next Monday at the tank and Coach Steinauer expects to have an array of talent turn out for water basketball and swimming. As yet it is hard to predict just what the prospects of the Varsity are.

The main interest will lie in what the incoming class will give to the university next year and the freshmen will get every chance to show what they can do against stiff competition. In the meantime men are working out informally every day in the tank and are rounding into fair form for the tryouts Thursday evening.

Grid Coaches to Make Changes After Saturday

With football coaches profiting by the mistakes their teams made in the battles last Saturday, many lineup shifts and changes in play can be looked for before eastern and western teams swing into the heavy part of their schedule.

The showing of Northwestern against Chicago which defeated the Purple eleven 41 to 0, was a disappointment to Northwestern fans and to Coach Elmer McDevitt. The Methodists forgot all they had ever learned about the fundamentals of the game, and when the Maroon offense started its heavy driving, Northwestern linemen were unable to fathom the attack.

The Purple seem destined for a poor season after defeats by Beloit college and Chicago. They meet Minnesota at Minneapolis next Saturday and Wisconsin at Evanston on October 15. Coach McDevitt will make a strenuous attempt to pull his men together, make a few changes to bolster up the weak points, and place an eleven on the field which will show fight to the Gophers and Badgers.

Purdue Defeated

Fumbles by the Purdue backs caused that team to go down to defeat before the Wabash college "Little Giants." Each miscue by the Boilermakers' backs put Wabash in a position to bring the ball near enough to the goal line to score. "Lone Star" Dietz, in his first year as mentor at the Lafayette institution, must accomplish a lot of work with his team if the team is to gain a victory over the powerful Chicago eleven at Chicago next Saturday.

Michigan proved that it will be a strong contender for conference honors by taking Mount Union into camp 44 to 0. The Wolverines developed an irresistible attack, with

TAYLOR AND CAESAR ARE ONLY REGULARS; TEAM TO BE LIGHT

Presenting-- JAMES WOODS

Among the men whom Coach Richards can always depend upon to give forth every possible effort is James P. Woods. Besides playing football, Woods is an all-around athlete with ability as a baseball and basketball player.

He received his preparatory training at Oberlin college, where he was a member of the football, baseball, basketball, and track teams. Last year was his first year in Big Ten conference competition, and he performed in a most consistent manner during the entire season. He played at the fullback position, and took part in practically every game of the season. He was also a member of the 1921 track squad.

During the third night of scrimmage, Woods tore the ligaments in his knee, and this injury has kept him out of the game thus far this year. He will, however, report for practice some time this week, and will be in shape by the time the big games are to be played. It is probable that he will be played at a backfield position, possibly acting as understudy to "Rollie" Williams.

Woods is one of the few athletes who has attained scholastic, as well as athletic, achievements. He is a member of Pi Tau Sigma, honorary scholastic engineering fraternity.

Preliminary Schedule to Begin Early in December

The 1921-22 basketball season began yesterday afternoon when 18 men reported to Coach Walter E. Meanwell for the first practice of the year. Only two regulars of last year, ex-captain "Cop" Taylor and "Duke" Ceaser, were among those who reported.

While a number of things, such as ineligibility and injuries, make any predictions regarding the success of this year's team almost impossible, the material appeared to be much more promising than did that which reported for practice a year ago at this time. This fact is in itself encouraging, as the Badgers were tied for the conference championship when the 1921 season came to a close.

In addition to the two regulars mentioned above, Frawley and Gage, who were on the squad last season, are aspiring for regular berths this year. Johnson, Gibson, Bareis, and Foy look the most promising of the eligible men who are out. They are all members of last year's freshman squad, which was the best ever seen at this university.

Team to be Light

It looks as though the team would be moderately light, but this is an asset, rather than a detriment, to the Meanwell style of game. Last year's team was probably the lightest in the conference, but its play seemed most effective against heavy teams.

It is important that all men who wish to try out for positions on the team report to Coach Meanwell as soon as possible. The reason for the Badgers' defeat by Northwestern last year, which prevented them from being the undisputed champions of the conference, was the fact that several of the men did not report for practice until late in the season, and did not have the new style of play well in hand when the season began.

Preliminary Schedule

The preliminary schedule will commence some time during the early part of December. Games are being arranged with the Michigan "Aggies," Knox college, champions of Illinois, Pat Page's Butler college team, La Crosse, and Marquette university. If the Yale team takes its contemplated western trip, no effort will be spared to arrange a game with them.

The first freshman practice of the year will be held on Monday evening, Oct. 17. After this initial practice, the yearlings will practice in the afternoon, so as to give them plenty of chance to study in the evening.

The majority of the basketball stars that have been developed by Doctor Meanwell have been former members of his freshman teams. Much of the Badger mentor's success in basketball coaching may be attributed to his policy of developing his first year teams, as the men have three years in which to learn his style of play.

LIQUID VENEER, PERHAPS

HERE is something young and impulsive about the way some students crowd the lectures of the fine men who, they say, have personality; how the same students fill their churches, and dog them to their favorite eating places. It is rather sad, too.

They are all looking for something that they themselves do not possess—comfort, power, or a vast and impressive hoard of useful information, and, consciously or not, most of them are busy furthering those ends, in the long run. But why do we follow these men? Have they and their individual way of doing things anything to do with what we want?

A certain man changed his major because he was very fond of a certain professor with a gentle magnetism in his ways. He wanted that man for his adviser. He wanted as many courses under him as he could be persuaded to give. Subconsciously, he felt that this professor more than other could help him to what he most desired. He must have felt that, because he was naturally acting for his own good. If, however, it was only pleasure in the professor's company which prompted his change, that would be a charming thing in itself, but rather foolish, in view of the sacrifice of richer things which his choice probably entailed.

Of course, we hardly ever know the really urgent reasons for most of our decisions because there are so many half-tones in them. We are not usually clear headed. We have a shy aversion to pulling up our slipping impulses by their tails and looking them over reasonably face to face.

Certainly personality, whatever it may be, is indispensable in the competitive marking of ideas which students, preachers and instructors are subject to. Enrollment in classes shows that professors cannot get a lively audience without it. Most of us are too eager for excitement, too emotional in our decisions, to choose to listen to a man who can give us nothing but what he is billed to produce. Of course his personal charm is irrelevant to the matter he has to offer, but the value of his subject is not enough in itself to make us listen.

THAT VAUNTED FEMININE MYSTERIOUSNESS

SOMEWHERE in the Yale Review, Rose Macauley of "Potterism" quaintly declared that while women are interesting and always get articles written about their strange ways, men are quite simple, open, and devoid of the type of piquancy of which feature articles are made.

As a novelist, she ought to know better than that. As a woman, it can hardly be expected of her; for, in default of the petty cloth veils that oriental maidens wear, our women seem to need a scarf of mystery to protect them.

Of course, we all see through it. And we know, too, what remarkable habits men have, and what still idealism, and what funny ways of covering these things up, much funnier than anything a woman ever tried. Things would be easier if we were not all by tradition and habit so timid, and could come out and be sports about ourselves.

THE COLLEGE SPIRIT

WHEN there is doubt, it is a relief sometimes to hear the voice of our old masters. On the question of "college spirit," President David Starr Jordan, now chancellor of Leland Stanford university, once made some significant remarks which we quote in part:

"The comradeship of free souls—this is the meanings of true college spirit. Freedom of the soul means freedom of the mind, freedom of the brain. It is said in the litany that His 'service is perfect freedom.' Ignorance holds men in bondage; so do selfishness, stupidity, and vice. The service of God and man is found in casting off these things. In freedom we find abundance of life. The scholar should be a man in the full life of the world. 'The color of life is red,' and the scholar of today is no longer a dim-eyed monk with a grammarian's cough. He is a worker in the rush of the century—a lover of nature and an artist in building the lives of men."

Speaking of rushing rules, read these from the University of Kansas: No sorority girl may wear her sorority badge; no cars may be used and no entertainments held outside of the fraternity houses; sorority girls cannot meet trains as the big sisters of the Y. W. C. A. do so; all rushees must go to a sorority party unaccompanied by a sorority woman. These rules indicate their purpose, that of making fraternity rushing as inconspicuous as possible for the disinterested bystander. It is said that airplanes were used last year by the sororities to impress rushees.

"We are born sleeping, and few of us ever awake, unless it be upon some hideous midnight when death startles us, and we learn in grief alone what bit of Olympian fire our humid forms enwrapped. But we could open our eyes to joy also. The poet cries 'Awake!' and sings the songs of the morning."—Max Eastman, "The Enjoyment of Poetry."

Vecsey Famed in Europe Though New to America

Famed throughout Europe for his violin talent, Ferenc Vecsey, the second of the international artists in the Union board concert series, is just becoming known to music lovers of America.

Mr. Vecsey's tour of this country was planned to extend from November 1 to the end of January, but due to the demand for his appearances in different sections of the United States, his tour has recently been prolonged to the end of February.

Vecsey will open his American tour in a recital at Carnegie hall, New York on Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 1; and after three appearances with the Boston Symphony orchestra and a recital at Chicago, he will be heard as the second number of the series of concerts to be given in Madison at the university gymnasium.

When Mr. Vecsey arrives in this country on the steamer George Washington on October 27, it is expected that Mme. Margit de Vecsey, his mother, and his accompanist, Dr. Walter Meyer-Radon, will accompany him.

Born in Budapest

Ferenc Vecsey was born on March 23, 1893, in Budapest. His parents were musical amateurs and as a small child he was enthralled by the violin playing of his father, who was an excellent violinist and who began to teach his son when he was six years old.

Professor Hubay, who was a frequent visitor at the Vecsey home, recognized the phenomenal talent of the child and when he was eight years old took him as a private pupil. A year later he became a pupil of the Royal Hungarian Academy at Budapest. When he entered he played with a mastery that caused general astonishment.

Studied with Joachim

In 1903 he went to Berlin, where Josef Joachim became greatly interested in him. Up to this time Joachim had no use for juvenile prodigies. Before hearing him he refused to accept him as a pupil; but after he had heard him play he said, "I am 72 years of age and yet never in my life have I believed such a wonder possible."

During the months that followed the 10 year old artist acquired from Joachim the fruits of his long artistic career—for Joachim saw in this youthful violinist the continuation of his own musical life and works.

Vecsey's first public appearance was made in Berlin in the year he first met Joachim. At this appearance he created a tremendous sensation, a sensation which was without precedent and which, according to his admirers, was never been surpassed in that city. In Berlin concert followed concert and the largest halls were too small to contain the throngs of people who came to hear the little artist.

Much in Demand

Concert associations of all countries competed for his services and at fabulous prices he was engaged to appear in other countries. During these tours he appeared only three times a week, and it is said he was never allowed to travel at night. Like other boys he loved to play whenever any opportunity offered.

Tours of England, North America, South America, Russia, Holland, Scandinavia and Austria followed each other, and everywhere he received ovations. Kings had the wonder-boy come to their courts and showered him with presents. The queen of England took sincere interest in him.

The year passed and the child became a full grown man. Imperceptibly he made the transition to ripe maturity and continued to stand before the world as a genius on the violin.

WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

Thomas Meighan answers questions in "The City of Silent Men." Should an innocent man who has been sent to prison on circumstantial evidence seek escape or should he resign himself to fate and serve the term? That is the question which confronts Thomas Meighan, Paramount star, in his latest picture, "The City of Silent Men," which will be shown at the Majestic Theatre today.

Jim Montgomery might have chosen the latter alternative, had it not been for the fact that his mother was dying from grief. He makes his escape, but arrives home just in time to see his mother's funeral cortege leaving the home. He goes west, and in a new land, builds his life anew. He is traced by a detective, and he knows that he can be identified by his finger prints. How does he win his freedom? The answer is one of the strongest and most sensational climaxes ever viewed on the screen. Lois Wilson is the leading woman, and Kate Bruce, Paul Everton, George Mac Quarrie and Guy Oliver round out the cast.

STRAND CALENDAR

Sunday, Monday, Tuesday—Monte Blue in "The Kentuckians," Screen Snapshots, Comedy Cartoon.

Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday—Maurice Tourneur's "The Foolish Patrons," Snub Pollard comedy "At the Ringside."

Monte Blue in "The Kentuckians" will be shown at the Strand theatre for three days starting Sunday. He enacts the role of Bone Staggies to the legislature with the ambition of winning emancipation for his fellowmen.

No sooner does he attend a session of the Legislature than he has a clash with Randolph Marshall, a Kentucky aristocrat, who vows that the only way to get order into the mountainous regions is to disrupt the mountaineers' country. A feud in the mountains causes Stallard to flee to his people and he demonstrates successfully that he can rule them. When he returns to Frankfort, planning to ask the hand of the Governor's daughter in marriage, he is brought to a sudden realization of the difference between the mountaineers and the Blue Grass people and refrains from any such step and the picture closes with the assumption that Farshall wins the girl.

As a special added feature there will be shown pictures taken in connection with the Johnson pardon hearing. There will also be shown a Literary Digest's Topics of the Day and Screen Snapshots.

AT THE GRAND

Young folks with martial differences might defer wisely their appeal to the courts until they visit the Grand and see Constance Talmadge, who offers a new solution to the time honored problem of mutual misunderstanding in "Wedding Bells," an adaptation of Salisbury Field's stage farce of the same name.

The photoplay is indeed a merry-go-round of wedding bells with chimes hitting on 12 cylinders and playing a fast tune. Harrison Ford is included in the very capable supporting cast.

Steketee and Usher leading the team. Usher's line-plunging and the long end runs of Steketee rolled up a score in the first half large enough to enable Coach Yost to replace regulars with an entire second team in the third period.

Yost Picks Team

Yost has finally selected the eleven men on whom Michigan followers will rely for a winning team this season. Don Wiemann, brother of the famous Tad, and Cappon will hold down the tackle positions. Cappon was originally an end. Bernard Kirk, former Notre Dame football star, and Paul Goebel received the flank assignments. The Michigan team is the lightest in 10 years, but speed and aggressiveness are expected to more than overcome the handicap of beef.

Ohio State put up a rather good exhibition while it beat Ohio Wesleyan by a 28 to 0 score at Columbus. Coach Wilce instituted a last minute shakeup which put Captain Myers, an end, at fullback, and Hoffman, tackle, and Trott, guard, at the wings. The Buckeyes were able to score one touchdown each quarter against their opponents.

Hooziers in Win

To show the football world that it is in trim for the contest with Harvard nex Saturday at Cambridge, the Indiana team trounced Kalamazoo college 29 to 0. The Hooziers relied entirely on straight football. Bupnette, Burke, Maynard, and Captain John Kyle form a backfield which will be hard to beat.

While Indiana was trampling on Kalamazoo, Harvard barely squeezed out a victory over little Holy Cross. Not until the third quarter did the Crimson eleven show any signs of offensive life. Then Harvard carried the ball down the field to the 35 yard line. "Charlie" Buell, quarterback, duplicated his 1920 feat by lifting the ball over the crossbar for Harvard's winning points. Buell turned back the collegians by a similar kick last year, and won a 3 to 0 game.

Yale found a tartar in Vermont. The Blue team failed to score during the first half, and a freak catch of a forward pass gave it the impetus to begin counting in the last two periods. The New Haven team showed few flashes of brilliant football.

Pitt Beaten

University of Pittsburgh was beaten in a surprise contest by Lafayette college. The final score was 6 to 0. Lafayette recovered a Pitt fumble on the 24 yard line, and line plunges carried the ball to the seven yard line, from which point, Brunner carried it over for the winning points.

Minnesota showed strong possibilities by winning from North Dakota 19 to 0. Oss and Martineau did the dirty work for the Gophers, and they were unstoppable. Oss will make a strong bid for individual honors against this year. Notre Dame, which bids fair to repeat their western championship of last year, won from DePauw by a 57 to 10 score. The Indiana eleven has a quartet of backs which is ripping up everything in sight. Last week Kalamazoo college took a 56 to 0 beating at the hands of Notre Dame. Knute Rocken's outfit stacks up against Aubrey Devine and his Iowa terrors next Saturday. Iowa took the treasure of Knox 52 to 14.

Little Centre college with its "Bo" McMillan, "Red" Weaver, and Montgomery scored two touchdowns to beat Clemson, 14 to 0, last Saturday. Weaver continued his unbroken string of consecutive goals after touchdown.

Adding Style to Quality

STYLE is to quality what a polish is to fine wood. A cheap coat of varnish will put a bright temporary gloss on good old mahogany, but it takes thorough workmanship to put on that lasting polish which brings out its fullest glories. So does perfect tailoring bring out the richness of fabrics and style in clothes. It is their perfection of tailoring, fit and finish that gives to Stratford Clothes their unequalled style.

It pays to buy the best.

COHN RISSMAN & COMPANY
CHICAGO

The new Stratford styles for Fall and Winter again definitely attest to the fact that Stratford designers are anticipating America's style trend. Stratford Clothes are also distinguished by several vitally important and exclusive tailoring features. Sack coats are made with the exclusive fabric trim—no body linings to wear out. They have two-way pockets. All coat seams are silk-satin piped. All trousers are made with double crotches and double pocket stays.
