FEW CANDIDATES FILE PETITIONS IN STUDENT RACE

ELECTION BOARD URGES MORE INTEREST IN COMING CONTEST FOR VARIOUS OFFICES

Up to the present time only a few election petitions have been received by the elections committee in the office of the Dean of Men. Wide-awake Wisconsin men should seriously consider the following positions and pick out those for themselves by means of which they may best serve the university election officials said yesterday.

Five men are to be elected for the Student Senate, three seniors, two juniors for two year terms, and two sophomores, one for a two year term and one for a one year term.

For Cardinal Board

For Cardinal Board of Control, three members are to be elected. Eligibility consists of one year's enrollment at this university as an undergraduate. For the Forensic board one junior and two seniors are to be elected by their classes, men and women voting.

Union Board vacancies will be filled with four qualified sophomores and three qualified juniors. Qualification consists of 25 hours of work for the board for all sophomores and 10 hours of work for all junior candidates. Non-recommended candidates must also get the signatures of 25 qualified male voters.

Elect to Athletic Board

The following positions on the Athletic Board are to be filled: president and vice president, both "W" men, and one representative from each of the major sports, football, basketball, baseball, track, cross-country, and crew. One minor sport representative and two non-W sophomores are also to be elected for two-year terms.

Petitions accompanied by a fee of $3 must be in Dean Godnight's office in South Hall not later than 5 o'clock Monday.

PLANS MADE FOR CAPS AND GOWNS

Seniors May Rent Apparel From Co-op for Commencement in June

An announcement which omens the end of a four-year university career for the present senior class was made yesterday afternoon by Barbara Bacon that arrangements have been made for caps and gowns for commencement.

The University Co-Op, as it has done for the past few years, through E. J. Grady, manager and Miss Bacon, chairman of the committee on caps and gowns, has completed negotiations with a large Chicago concern whereby gowns of good quality may be rented by the graduating seniors at a nominal fee. Reservations may be made at Co-op now.

The rates are as follows:

Women students who want bachelor caps and gowns for the Senior Swing Out and the four weeks following, including commencement week, will be charged $5.00. The charge for commencement week only will be $2.50; Masters of Arts, Science, Philosophy for one week, $5.50; cap, gowns, hoods for the degree of doctor, $6.00.

The committee working with Miss Bacon is Elizabeth Adams, Malcom Beardmore, Gertrude Smith, Rosella Franseen and Russell Winnie.

Day By Day With The News

By C. O. S.

The United States weather bureau has issued warnings of floods in the river regions of Oklahoma, Illinois, and Kansas. More than a week's steady rain has caused the river to rise over the levees.

Eugene Chen, nationalist foreign minister at Hankow has replied to the notes of America, Britain, Japan, France, and Italy protesting the alleged riots at Nanking and asking reparations. He proposes that an international commission be set up to investigate the happenings at Nanking. This commission would also consider revision of unequal treaties. Chen replied with five different notes. In his note to the United States he promised that payment would be made for damage done to the American consulate but withheld apology until an international investigating commission is set up.

The Ford-Sapiro million dollar libel suit has been adjourned until Monday morning. At that time, Senator James A. Reed will continue his cross-examination of the plaintiff Aaron Sapiro.

"Nations with European culture must in the future prohibit practically all immigration from Asiatic nations," declared Prof. E. A. Ross of the department of sociology at an address yesterday at the University of Chicago.

A Canal In Nicaragua

From Washington comes rather secretive mumblings concerning the need of a canal in Nicaragua to divert part of the traffic from the Panama canal. It is difficult to see, however, how the need for a Nicaraguan canal would justify support of the Diaz government considering that the Liberals have previously expressed sympathy towards a new canal.

It sounds like some more of the side talk that has come out of the state department ever since the Nicaraguan policy was entered into. Do you remember how the Secretary of State denied censorship over news to and from Nicaragua? When such a thing was proven, he admitted it.

Do you remember how Secretary Kellogg denied that the United States had seized guns from the Liberals and then how afterwards this was proven with the later development that the United States had given thousand of rounds of ammunition and rifles to the Diaz forces?

United States policy in Nicaragua is plainly evident. Nevertheless secret diplomacy continues and once in a while the state department makes a gesture towards explaining things only to retract afterwards.

Berkley Children Pick Their Heroes

Over 3,000 children of Berkley, California, schools were recently queried concerning their heroes. The results showed that the children were quite cosmopolitan in picking their choices. Babe Ruth scored over Alexander the Great, Mussolini, Moses, Louisa May Alcott, Sherlock Holmes, Mohammed, Buffalo Bill, Nicolai Lenin, President Coolidge, and August Vollmer, Berkley's police chief, trailed behind.

Selecting Al Smith's Running Mate

Easterners are so positive that Al Smith will be the Democratic nominee for President that they are already speculating on his possible running mate. The names mentioned include Gov. Dan Moody, Texas; Joseph Daniels of North Carolina, secretary of the navy during Woodrow Wilson's presidency; and representative Cordell Hull of Tennessee, former chairman of the Democratic national committee.

It will be noticed that all of the suggested men hail from the South. Recently the Baltimore Sun conducted a poll of southern editors which indicated a surprising sentiment in favor of Smith.

Governor Smith's answer to some recent critics will be published in May number of the Atlantic Monthly.

Settlement of Union Strike Hinges on Arrival of Pfeffer

University or Union Office Not Involved in Labor Dis- agreement

Upon the arrival in Madison early next week of J. Pfeffer of the Pfeffer construction company hinges the clearing up of the current skilled labor strike on the Memorial Union building it was learned yesterday.

The disagreement is purely an employer-employee controversy, not involving in any way either the university or the office of the Memorial Union and hence must be settled by the representatives of the laborers and the construction company.

Pfeffer Here Before

Mr. Pfeffer was in Madison last week before the trouble came to a head but was unable, because of another appointment, to meet with local officials for longer than a few hours. He left Madison with the intention of returning next week.

The strike was called at noon or Thursday when approximately 40 workers including carpenters, steam fitters, and bricklayers laid down their tools at the order of the field office of the construction company Thursday afternoon and all day yesterday.

No Union Objection

Some work on the building was done yesterday morning by unskilled laborers without any objection on the part of the union men watching the building.

The strike was precipitated when four non-union carpenters were hired Thursday morning, and the cause for disagreement now is the Pfeffer construction company's right to hire non-union labor. The company is an open shop concern.

When the contract was granted, according to John P. Butler, building trades representative, the company secured the right to bring with it from Duluth its key employees to superintend the work.

Dates Back a Month

"That was all right with us," picnickers explained yesterday, "because they didn't handle any tools."

The true controversy dates back more than a month, according to Mr. Butler. At that time he stated today, it was agreed between officials of the company and the Madison building trades that only union

Poster Contest for Mothers' Weekend Announced

Embryonic artists attending the university have a chance to replenish empty pocketbooks, for a contest for Mothers' Weekend posters was announced yesterday. For the first place, $10 will be given, $5 for second place, and $3 for third place.

The posters must include the dates for Mothers' Weekend, May 27, 28, 29; the legend "Invite Your Mother Now" and a theme about the presence of your mother at the university and her observation of your activities.

All posters must be turned in to 229 Industrial Arts building by May 7. The judges for the contest will be Prof. W. H. Varnum and Miss C. Williams of the arts department and Alexander Gottlieb '28, publicity chairman for Mothers' Weekend.

Pitcher Not Certain

Late last night Coach Guy S. Lowman had not yet selected the pitcher to start today's game. Common opinion has it that Theodore Thelander '29 or Ray Ellerman '29 will be the choice. But Coach Lowman may pick either Stanley Clauzen '29, Einar Jacobsen '28, or George Stoll '27 to furnish the Bradley lads with their share of out-drops and smoke balls.

The game today will be Wisconsin's last engagement before Iowa comes here to open the conference season on Saturday, April 23.

Veteran Roster

According to the lineup which appeared to be most effective in the south, the infield will probably include Michael Murphy '28, first base; Ambrose Massey '28, second base; John Decker '28, and Eugene Rose '29, third base. In the outfield Edward Donagan '28, Lloyd Larson '27, and Earl Burbidge '28, will chase down whatever balls the Bradley batters can boost past the infield.

"Mike" Murphy, at first base, is a veteran of a year's standing who earned his place on the team as a sophomore. By reason of his long reach, his excellent receiving of bad throws, and his tendency to fence-breaking in the pinches, Mike is looked upon as a powerful factor

BLIFFERT OFFERS CHEER CONTEST

Open to All Students; Committee Will Award Coupon Books to Winners

Wesley Bliffert '29, varsity cheerleader, has announced the opening of the varsity cheer contest. This contest has been planned for the purpose of providing a group of new and original yells for the fans at the stadium when the gridiron season opens next fall. The contest is open to anyone; the only requirement governing the contest pertains to the nature and quality of the cheers. They must, of course be of university caliber, not too long, and of a spirited swinging refrain.

The plans have been completed for the contest, and have the hearty endorsement of the athletic department. Three of the cheers will be chosen from the entire number contributed, and through the courtesy of the ticket sales department the composer of each of the selected cheers will be awarded a coupon book. As was announced in a previous issue the new books will include a ticket to the Chicago game as well as those which have previously appeared in the book.

The cheers must be mailed to Bliffert at 524 N. Henry not later than May 10. The committee chosen to select the winners consists of the following members: Jefferson Burrus '27, Franklin Orth '28, Edwin Crofoot '28, Walter Muller '27, and Wesley Bliffert.

TENT PLATFORMS FULLY RESERVED

Additional Conveniences for Summer Colony Are Made Available This Year

Two months in advance of the opening of the summer session of the university, all tent platforms in the university tent colony for families have been reserved, Dean S. H. Goodnight announced yesterday. A few more platforms may be added to the 38 now on the colony site, but no more than 50—if that many—will be available.

An additional deep well and another lake pier will be added this year to the camp conveniences.

The colony was established in 1912 on the shore of Lake Mendota about two miles from the campus. Its sole purpose is to provide families with an opportunity to live cheaply while one or more members attend the summer session.

During the summer session of 1926 it housed 150 people, of whom 40 were children. The men organized a self-government association, the women held weekly meetings, and an adult instructed 20 children daily in scouting. A. F. Gallistel, superintendent of buildings and grounds at the university, resides with his family in the colony during the summer and is the administrative officer in charge.

The university provides a screened study hall, two deep wells, two piers, board tent platform, garbage pits and comfort stations. Campers furnish all other equipment.

Sponges may be cut up again and again, like potatoes, and will grow when planted in the water. Although the sponge is a animal, it is one of the lowest forms, and can grow again and again with all but a few cells destroyed.

"Circle of Knowledge work is unique. In no other type of work do you obtain such a broad view of life. The world is not so big after all. The same outlook on life, the same regard for education prevails in so many different homes and everybody likes Circle of Knowledge."

David Belasco, the Dean of the American Theatre

writes:

"The voice is to the actor what the chisel is to the sculptor. He must beware of dulling its qualities. Naturally I am vitally concerned about the voices of my players, so I always advise the one cigarette that I discovered many years ago that does not impair control of the subtlest vocal shadings or cause huskiness or harshness. I mean the 'Lucky Strike.' It is the player's best friend."

You, too, will find that Lucky Strikes are mild and mellow—the finest cigarettes you ever smoked, made of the finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process—"It's toasted"—no harshness, not a bit of bite.

Tripp, Adams Ball Teams Dedicate New Field Today

Intramural Field to be Opened to Students; Furnishes
New Facilities

A picked baseball team from Adams hall will meet a similar nine from Tripp hall on Intramural field at 1 o'clock this afternoon as the main feature of the dedicatory exercises to be held at that time.

The new field, ten acres in area, will be thrown open for intramural athletics today and will provide two baseball diamonds and four diamond ball fields for the immediate use of students. The diamond ball fields are somewhat smaller than a regular sized diamond and are used for playing baseball under indoor rules.

The Tripp-Adams contest will be the first of a series to decide the dormitory championship of the university. The dedication services will be quite simple and are meant rather to provide a suitable opening for Intramural field, the first worth while addition that has been made to the university athletic plant in the past decade.

Director of Athletics George E. Little and members of the agricultural department were occupied in rolling and marking the fields yesterday, and they are now in fair condition, though they will necessarily require some usage before they settle down to a smooth even surface.

THREE BADGERS SWIM IN IOWA MEET TODAY

Wisconsin has three men at Iowa City today to compete in the National Intercollegiate Swimming championships to be held in the new tank of the University of Iowa Field House. The Badgers chosen by Coach Joe Steinauer to perform in the National Meet are Winston Kratz, breast-stroker; Richard Ratcliff and Earl Hatelberg, divers.

Kratz, winner of the 200 yard breast stroke event in the Big Ten meet recently, is favored to win over his feared western rival, Carter of Iowa. The Cardinal swimmer clipped three seconds from the Conference record in winning his event at Urbana last month. He entered the N. A. A. U. Championships in Chicago a week ago, and in competition with the greatest breast-stroke performers in the United States he rated a fifth position, losing to Water Spence, the champ, by about six feet in the prelims.

Capt. Ratcliff and Hatelberg have both distinguished themselves as divers this season, the former winning his event in nearly all of the dual meets. Hatelberg surprised the fans by placing in the Conference at Urbana.

Dempseys Will be Scarce in Future Gymnast Predicts

DES MOINES, Ia.—(P)—Men of the future will have spindly legs, pot bellies, narrow chests and toothless and chinless mouths, while future women will be slender hipped but unable to bear children, in the opinion of J. E. Rogers of New York, field director of the National Physical education service, who Thursday night addressed the national physical education conference here.

Speed of modern life, abolition of walking and other activity, and diet fads are responsible for a tendency in this direction, declared Mr. Rogers.

Disagreeing with Miss Mary Weir, president of the women's division of the National Amateur Athletic Federation, which is meeting here with the education association, Miss Dorothea Nelson, of Minneapolis, declared competitive athletics for women are not harmful.

The Athletic Federation had adopted a platform condemning champions, and declaring that public exhibitions are harmful to women.

TRAINING TABLE TIPS

THE FIRST GAME

THEY WORK AND WORK

KRATZ-CARTER AGAIN

Today, gentle reader, it is your privilege and duty to witness the Wisconsin baseball team going through the required motions for giving Bradley Tech a suitable reception.

After the way Wisconsin burned up the south, all the fans who have had to satisfy their baseball instincts thus far by reading accounts of big league openings, will probably turn out numerously to look over this promising young team.

Bradley has a pretty good reputation for baseball playing in the Little Nineteen conference, and will, according to all journalistic guesses, provide a snappy nine innings of competition for the Badgers today. And considering that Iowa will hit camp next Saturday for the first conference game, this will be valuable in getting Wisconsin ready for the heavy line.

One of the most interesting things about this afternoon's contest will be the assortment of sophomore curves that will be on display if Coach Lowman sends Thelander or Ellerman into the box. Either of these youths is capable of puzzling a fair proportion of the enemy batsmen, and at least one of them should have a chance to show his stuff in the opener.

If you think these spring football men aren't working, you have three more mental exercises to do. Coach Thistlethwaite has started the boys on life-size scrimmage already and they are scheduled to understand the great American game pretty thoroughly before they get through with off-season practice.

Nobody asked but developing a football team for Wisconsin next fall is about the toughest thing Glenn Thistlethwaite has taken up since he moved from Oak Park to become coach at Northwestern. Just as George Little had to build on green foundations in his first year here, Coach Thistlethwaite will have to do the same. Although quite a few veterans have reported for practice, many more have not, a fact which is handicapping rather severely Coach Thistlethwaite's program of training.

The track men, always hard workers, are toiling especially hard these days with the immediate object of showing the Kansas and Ohio relays how it is really done. Track training is about the most strenuous stuff you can imagine, even if your imagination is good, and all these boys, to the last man, are working their heads off for a chance to represent Wisconsin in one or the other of next week's relays.

"Chuck" McGinnis, always a popular subject for newspapermen, is held up as a model trackman by an article in The Big Ten Weekly. The writer of the article, who as far as we can determine is not a Wisconsin man, calls Chuck "one of the greatest all-around stars ever seen in the conference." That leaves us without much to say except that we're glad somebody else appreciates this sky-hootin' Badger as much as we do.

And don't forget that Winston Kratz is putting in a bid for the national collegiate breast stroke title at Iowa today. He is at a disadvantage, too, in meeting his ancient rival, Merlin Carter, in Carter's home

THETA DELTA CHI WINS ONLY CLEAR DIAMOND VICTORY

Sigma Chi, Alpha Delta Phi Tie; Alpha Kappa Lambda-Phi Gam Game Called

The Theta Deltas won the only decided game in the Greek baseball games yesterday afternoon by swamping Phi Beta Pi 9 to 1. The Sig Chis battled the Alpha Deltas to a 2-2 deadlock, and the Alpha Kappa Lambda-Phi Gam game was called in the third inning on account of darkness with the Phi Gams leading 9 to 3.

The Theta Deltas lost no time in smashing the offerings of the Beta Pi hurlers, marking up their nine runs in the first inning. Bob Kassiska knocked a home run with two men on. Zimmer had little difficulty in holding Phi Beta Pi to one hit. The batteries were Zimmer and Sykes for Theta Delta Chi, and Jenson, Wilson and Walsh for Phi Beta Pi.

Sig Chis Tie

The Sig Chi-Alpha Delt game developed into a tight pitching battle between Hank Brooks and Momsen. Brooks allowing but one hit, while Momsen held the Sig Chi slingers to two hits. The Alpha Deltas maintained their two run lead until the last inning when the Sig Chis tied the count. Continuation of play was impossible on account of darkness. Lynaugh caught for Sigma Chi and Fish handled the receiving tank. Wonder what'll happen this time to keep these two from meeting. They've been scheduled together twice before and still haven't been caught in the same tank once this year.

New High Jump Standards for Kansas Relays

LAWRENCE, Kans.—High jumpers at the Kansas Relay, April 23, will jump over standards and bar of the new type adopted this season by the National A. A. U. which permit the bar to fall off either way instead of only one way as in the old type of standards. The new type of standards prevent a jumper holding on the bar with his shoulder or elbow after he has cleared it as was done by many of the excellent high jumpers of the past few years.

The Kansas Relays high jump record is 6 feet 5-8 inches made by Tom Poor of the University of Kansas in 1925, the year after he competed on the United States Olympic team.

Favorites in the high jump this season will include Shepherd of Texas University, who won the Kansas Relays high jump at 6 feet 4 inches last year, and McGinnis of Wisconsin, great all around athlete of the Badgers. Brunk of Drake is one of the leading high jumpers of the Missouri Valley Conference who will be on hand to try the leap over the new standards.

The pole vault standards will be the old type for the Kansas Relays this year. The pole vault event has always been a classy one at the Kansas carnival and the coming of White of Illinois this year, end for the Alpha Deltas.

On account of darkness, Umpire Jones called the Phi Gam-AKL game in the last of the third inning with one down for the AKL's. The Phi Gams got off to a flying start in the first inning by scoring six runs. Eddie Cole and Swansen made home runs in the third inning. This game will probably be played over, as three and one-half innings are necessary to constitute a game. The batteries were: Phi Gamma Delta-Fitzgerald and Burden, Alpha Kappa Lambda-Rusch and Dymond.

both in the defense and in the batting order. The fact that he has to wear glasses has never handicapped him in the least in playing ball.

"Am" Massey, newly developed second baseman, has shown enough fielding speed and hitting power during the southern trip and in recent practice to make him a worthy successor to Harry Ellerman, who held down second base last year.

At short stop, Johnny Decker, a perfect duplicate of "Rabbit" Maranville, will return to the place he was compelled to relinquish last year when he broke his ankle. Decker swings a heavy bat and is regarded as one of the fastest men on the team.

Completing the inner defense is Gene Rose, who has already won his conference spurs in football. His work at third base so far has been good enough to assure him of a permanent place on the team if he continues as he has been. Rose is a dangerous hitter and an airtight fielder.

Earl Burbridge, accounted the most consistent hitter on the team, leads the outfield line-up. He was given credit for winning a number of games last year, and became somewhat of a home-run hero in his wilder moments at the plate. This year, Earl was the first to make a circuit clout on the southern trip.

In centerfield, "Squeaks" Larson, last year's captain adds a strong arm and a keen eye to the general atmosphere of power. Squeaks covers an unbelievable amount of territory in the outer garden and is seldom fooled by any but the most deceptive pitching.

Thank You, George

Today, at 1 o'clock, there begins a new era in Wisconsin athletics. It does not include intercollegiate contests, nor does it especially concern the turning out of winning teams—it is the beginning of the comprehensive intramural program that George Little, director of athletics, has advocated strongly since his arrival here.

George has taken the right idea toward athletics, to our notion. Intercollegiate athletics, win or lose, are a great builder of school spirit, but they are of necessity limited to those students who are really athletically capable. Thirty men for football; fifteen for basketball, ten for tennis, et cetera. Several thousand men in the university can have no part in an intercollegiate program outside of cheering for the Cardinal teams.

But intramurals, according to George's plan, will provide athletics for every man at Wisconsin. If they do not do so this year, the first year of the new era, they will do so in a few years. Of necessity the work must progress slowly.

The opening of the new 10-acre athletic field for intramurals only is a happy step toward the realization of George's idea of athletics for every man at Wisconsin. New baseball and diamond ball fields will be opened today; sixteen new tennis courts, the courts we have been asking for, will be opened soon. Actual benefits of the intramural program have become a reality.

To George Little, due credit. On our part and on the part of the students of the University of Wisconsin, we thank you, George.

Crazy?

In a recent article on "Youthful Suicides," Will Durant, author of "The Story of Philosophy," said in part that students who commit suicide do so for one of two reasons—they are crazy or disappointed in love. It is, of course, impossible to determine how many of Wisconsin's 8,000 students are having troubles of the heart; but a casual observer would be very much tempted to advance the idea that the majority are crazy.

Naturally, in this connection the "crazy" is not meant to imply serious mental disorder of the type which results in men being placed behind bars, but consider the following facts:

Presumably students come here for an education; yet how many know what they are after, what they consider an education?

Think of the almost unlimited energy that is expended on dates, athletics, outside activities (incidentally, with the coming of spring the outside activity will undoubtedly increase.)

Watch a group of "collie" boys tearing around town in a flitter having a hilarious time, endangering the life and limb of innocent bystanders. Crazy or not?

Consider the many hours that are wasted by students in bull sessions, poker games, hell weeks, poor vaudeville, roadhouse, pure loafing, and what not. Think of the many lectures by prominent men that are attended by interested town folk and faculty while the "eager knowledge seeking students" are off somewhere "killing time."

Then there is this idea. Students, a large number of them, don't seem to know how to use their leisure time to their best advantage. Yet they cry for more liberty, for more student self-government, for less faculty supervision and restriction. It is to laugh.

However, this is all supposed to be simply the irrepressible spirit of youth. It is supposed to be an outburst of sheer lightheartedness which will soon cool off and settle into staid common sense.

Stop to think of what a student could really get at Wisconsin if he went at it the right way. Consider the possibilities of securing a cultural equipment, a real education which would make the graduate by far the leading spirit in his community. Then stop to think again, and consider the number who actually do put their best efforts into college with the idea of obtaining the best background the college has to offer. No, their number is not legion; it is pitifully small.

Are men and women who waste such opportunities, who just laugh them off, perhaps never even fail to realize their presence, crazy or not?

It is to be hoped, and devoutly so, that a time will come when the nature of the courses, the methods of teaching, or the general makeup of the incoming student will fill him with a true appreciation of the possibilities of a real education, with a hearty desire to make use of those possibilities. Such a condition might be called millennium; then again it might be an institution of higher learning.

Mass Production in Colleges

We once had an idea.

Perhaps most of our friends won't admit the truth of this five-word assertion, but we are willing to swear to it. Strange as it may sound, it isn't a lie.

But we will admit that we had this idea before coming here. After spending a number of months at this font of learning, as somebody perhaps once called it, we have lost this idea. And now we are seeking, but contrary to the biblical quotation, we are not finding. Strange.

Modern universities are factories easily comparable to the Ford plants. We once worked for Henry Ford, and day in and day out we gave a twist to bolt number 39 as it is passed by us. After about a week in one of his establishments we left.

Once in a while as we hasten on our way to a class room we have the same feeling we had while working for Henry. After a man works about a year in one of Henry's plants the last shred of individualism has been crushed out of him. After four years in a modern American university, the same thing too often happens.

We, the students, are the bolts and the screws in this case. The members of the faculty are the laborers. We pass by, one by one. Each day the instructor or professor gives us a little twist or turn. As the years go by we become standardized and thus easier to handle. While we were freshmen we often had ideas. Sometimes these ideas were not conventional or orthodox, and we gave the faculty the same degree of trouble which a bolt, not perfectly made, gave us when we tried to give it a twist as it passed by.

Most modern American university graduates are standardized. Most of them can be classified and put safely away in a niche in life, where they will remain unquestioning.

We once suffered under the illusion that universities were meant for the development of individualism. Perhaps in the old days they were, but modern factory methods of production of college graduates has put an end to this. Today most college graduates can be classed as "safe."

Standardization may make better Babbitts and Rotarians and Chamber of Commerce boosters—but at the same time is not an occasional artist or writer sacrificed on the altar of standardization? And after all are they not worth more than all of the Babbitts and Rotarians?

The workers on the Union must have learned there wouldn't be any furniture there for them to sit down on; hence the strike.

We have failed to find any news of the Prince of Wales in the papers last week. As we often claimed, his value as an item of news interest seems to be falling off.

Down at Illinois they just had a great roller-skating derby. Open season for pedestrians at Wisconsin will be announced soon, no doubt.

Did someone say 'one more auto casualty'?

Well it doesn't seem as though the reports are complete as yet, does it?

In another week, autos will be passe, my friend. Especially with canoes renting at 40 cents per.

Freddie wants to know why they don't charge by the mile for canoe rental.

But Freddie is only a second semester Frosh; and he has plenty of time to learn.

SO GEORGE LITTLE WAS RIDING THE TRACTORS THIS VACATION. AND YOU ASK IF HE WAS SPREADING SOMETHING? YES—PROPAGANDA.

Yes, Cap Isabel explained the canoeing rules in the Rouge yesterday. But do not be surprised if you have a few additional ones thrown at you unexpectedly . . . or perhaps a paddle.

We might as well correct that report. Sixteen workmen and five carpenters walked off the Union job yesterday. And all because Port didn't have his Union card with him.

And no matter how lightly a derby is stepped on, it is always felt.

Poor Joe, he couldn't come because he had a rheumatic condition.

"That so, who gave the course?"

George Little did not show good judgment in holding his dedication this afternoon.

Too many taking the con exams this afternoon, George.

News reports tell us that the following sign appeared on a Scotch golf course: "Members will please refrain from picking up lost balls until they have stopped rolling."

We suggest the following as a motto for Langdon St. travellers: "Let No Man Put Usunder."

A GOOD KICK
Editor, The Daily Cardinal:
This is where I kick.

At this time of the year when some of us can see the bottom of our pile of shekels with half a look, then, under these adverse financial conditions, we are required to take of our limited means fully half of our allowance, to replace books that have been lost, strayed or stolen from the library. That is where I kick.

It hardly fair of us to beg out of our work on the pretense that, books once in the library, are there no more. That is no fault of the faculty; but it is very much our misfortune as students. Therefore, due notice is hereby given—if I know of any student taking books that I may need, I shall report the same to the librarian and I shall be Johnnny on the spot to give evidence of the same.

This call-for volunteers is the real issue right now. Every student who has been stung like I have been, please join me in the grand scheme of making it everlasting hot for those stealers who steal books, the ones that we need.

ONE MORE ON BIRTH CONTROL
Editor, Daily Cardinal:

Both the advocates and opponents of birth control have shown themselves somewhat fatuous in their recent controversy upon that subject. The religious implications are of course useless of further discussion. SENIOR'S RECITAL PLEASES HEARERS

Alice Johns Includes Five Great Composers on Her Graduate Program

Five great composers, Beethoven, Mozart, Debussy, Liszt, and Chopin were Thursday evening given their just due in a thoroughly capable and masterful manner by Alice L. Johns, senior in piano in the School of Music, who gave her graduate recital in Music hall. She was assisted by Miss Edith McCollister, soprano.

Miss Johns execution of the opening number, Beethoven's Sonta, opus 81a, was at first a bit uncertain, but soon took on a warmth that was kept for the remainder of the entire program.

Debussy "La Cathedrale englouie" met with a fine reception, as did the Liszt Concert Etude. It was in the latter number that Miss Johns was at her best. Exacting pedal work and contrapuntal difficulties were both excellently handled with a keen perception and a splendid vitality.

An Etude and the Ballade, opus 52 closed Miss John's program. The Chopin Ballade is a strong contrast to the Beethoven Sonta. Both are veritable floods of human emotions, but Chopin is far more lyrical. Miss John's interpretation of this was splendid, the opening narrative being gradually usurped by a rather moody and melancholic pondering.

Student Auto Ban

Results in Skate
Craze at Illinois

The ban on student automobiles and the arrival of spring have combined to produce a craze for roller-skating at the University of Illinois. The Urbana campus is free from the roaring rollers by faculty rule, but at Millikin university the students skate even to class.

At Illinois, five blocks of a level street is roped off every afternoon at 4 o'clock, and the skaters have their own good fun. Long lines of men and women weave up and down the drive. Actives seek their pledges so that they may unload their books on them and continue their skating unhampered.

In a report of accidents, the names of married women were found in the list. This indicated that the fad is not confined to the student body, and seems to prove also that men and co-eds are better balanced on the rollers.

ROCKFORD — A marriage license was issued here to Palmer Evenstad, 29, and Florence Taylor, 23, both of Darlington.

fact saves the republic from immediate depopulation.

An excellent field of research for some interested young sociologist would be a thorough checking of the facts of the preceding paragraph. This may be done by approaching doctors on the subject. A few doctors at least will be found who deliberately give birth control information to the parents of overgrown families for the deliberate purpose of preventing poverty according to the proposals of sociologists, only to have the laziness of the parents thwart their plans.

It seems too plain to be denied that among the people who are intelligent and cautious enough to use contraceptives there will be an increase in immorality. The removal of the fear of consequences means much to intelligent people, whose foresight would ordinarily restrain them from illegal indulgence. Among the classes without much foresight, and who breed heedlessly in the ease of procuring contraceptives would matter little.

If a prolific race is produced by those of it who attain distinction is a good, then birth control is an unmitigated social evil, for it will inevitably shut off the blood stream of the professional, intelligent, and ambitious classes even more than is brought about by the postponement of marriage usual among these so-called desirables.

TITLE OF DORM FESTIVAL CHOSEN

"Triad Jubilee" is Name Selected; Event May be Held Annually

"The Triad Jubilee" was last night selected by committee chairmen as the name for the spring celebration and carnival to be held on the grounds of the men's dormitories on May 14. The title was

Although birth control is a blundering and clumsy instrument, it is plainly a potent weapon in the cause of human freedom. The individual is made more free to live his life more happily and more agreeably by the possibility of avoiding births. Considered as such contraception is of great value.

What, then, shall be the ethical standing of contraceptive practices? That is, notwithstanding these social considerations, solely for the individual to decide. If a person wishes to give his life to Service to the Race, that is for his own decision, and if he wishes to enjoy life to the full without children, that is also for him to choose. Sex is an intensely personal and a very delicate affair, in which the dictates of society must have small claim if the individual is to have any degree of contentment. If society thus suffers, then suffer it must.

chosen from among those submitted in a contest, and was selected for its elastic quality, which permits it to cover any new features deemed worthy of addition to the present program.

Chairmen also considered the enduring character of the name they picked, for it is the intention of the Men's Dormitory Association to make the Triad Jubilee an annual event if the success of the first one warrants it. The word "Triad" is a combination of the two first syllables of the quadrangle names, Tripp and Adams.

Various committee heads are already at work arranging the details of the all-day celebration. Invitations to the parents of dormitory residents will soon be in the mail, and a general invitation to university residents will be circulated through the press of the state. The purpose of the Triad Jubilee is to familiarize the people of the state with the dormitory idea.

Plans are being formulated under the direction of J. Alden Behnke, general chairman, Michael Sullivan,

BIRGE ADDRESSES PHI SIGMA GROUP

Former President Speaks at Honorary Fraternity's Initiation

Eighty-five members of Phi Sigma, honorary biological society, eagerly listened to Dr. A. E. Birge's address given at the fraternity's initiation banquet at 6:30 p. m. Thursday at the University club. With his experiences gleaned from over 50 years of work in various branches of biology, Dr. Birge's advice was of benefit not only to the newly initiated members but also to those who had spent years in research.

Dr. Birge encouraged the development of research in colleges and enumerated two things the young research workers should keep in mind, to get in the habit of doing work thoroughly, and to understand and follow up new ideas. This will enable people to enjoy the happy life of their fellowship in science. Chosen because of their special interest and capacity for scientific work, the following new members were initiated: H. R. Angell, H. W. Beams, L. M. Blank, J. E. Dudley Jr., J. C. Harmon, A. F. Heck, H. M. Hefley, F. S. Henika, A. W. Larthrop, J. A. Lotz, H. Lowsma, A. R. Midgley.

N. P. Neal, W. Ogden, E. J. Renard, I. W. Rupel, J. Sinclair, T. Swarbrick, L. W. Taylor, R. W. Titus, W. L. Tressler, W. Vandervest, E. H. Walker, C. F. Wu.

After the initiation, the new officers were installed by Dr. E. M. Gilbert. Dr. Bernard Domogalla, president-elect gave a short address and outlined the work of the society for the year. Dr. H. V. Gibson acted as toastmaster and H. D. Chapman played several popular selections during the program.

STUDENTS VOLUNTEER TO AID IN UNION WORK

(Continued from Page One) men would be employed. Four non-union carpenters were brought here however. When the union officials questioned this they were informed the men intended to join the union.

Accordingly permits were issued to the men and they have been working since. They have not however joined the union explaining they did not want to pay the fee themselves.

Interpretation Impossible

The interpretation of the contract which the employers hold could not be ascertained yesterday since Mr. Pfeffer is not in the city and his superintendent has returned to Duluth for Easter.

Under Wisconsin law state contracts must be let to the lowest bidder without reservation because of the labor used by the bidders.
