ONLY $650 RAISED TO SEND THE BAND; TAGGING CONTINUES

Only $650 was cleared yesterday on the sale of tags to send the band to Minnesota. As $350 more must be secured in order to finance the trip to Minneapolis, the sale will continue today.

Girls who have tags are urged by the committee to get out on the hill again today and dispose of enough more tags to round out the quota. All those who failed to buy tags Wednesday are asked to get tagged today.

FIRST ISSUE OF COMMERCE MAG ON SALE TODAY

Features New Departments, Make-up and Art Work

The first issue of the Commerce magazine, which will appear on the campus today has been changed in size and appearance from the magazine of last year and has many new features in departments and makeup. It is intended to be the first of an entirely new type of Commerce magazine.

A special cover design and artistic heads for all departments are among the most striking changes in the magazine. The cover was drawn by Adrian Dornbusch and the headings are by Kenneth Fagg. The alumni section, conducted by Carl Farrell, remains as a department; and Harvey Meyer's "Round Table" is back again with the name changed to the "Conference Table."

new departments, a humor section and a campus local section, are being run by Humphrey Desmond and Reginald Garstang.

Variety of Articles

The first issue has several articles by business men of high standing. Among these is featured one on "Get With a Big Organization," by John G. Shedd, president of Marshall, Field and company; this article is reprinted from an old number of the American magazine by special permission of Mr. Shedd and the editor of the magazine.

Another article, by William R. Moss, a prominent Chicago lawyer, is on the value of a college education and is of interest to more than commerce students. Of special value to commercial journalists is the article by Julian Wetzel, editor of the Keystone Press of Indianapolis, one of the most successful house organs in the United States. A discussion of the aims and

KIEKHOFER WILL SPEAK TODAY ON ART OF STUDYING

Freshmen to Hear Advice on How to Work at Convocation

"The Art of Study" is the subject on which Prof. William H. Kiekhofer will speak to the freshman convocation at 3:30 this afternoon at Music Hall. Frances Dummer, a senior in the College of Letters and Science, will preside at the meeting.

Professor Kiekhofer has made a very extensive study of study methods and often takes up the subject in his regular lectures on economics. It was for this reason that the student-faculty committee on convocations chose him to speak at the meeting.

Although freshmen will not be excused from classes to attend the convocation, it has the hearty support of the faculty. Dean S. H. Goodnight and Dean F. W. Roe have both signified their approval.

The meeting is the result of a realization by upperclassmen of the difficulty freshmen have in learning college methods. Many freshmen fall in their college work for this reason, say faculty members.

Meetings will be held later in individual departments at which methods of studying specific subjects will be considered.

DISTANCE MEN LEAVE TONIGHT

Cross-country Team Meets Gophers Saturday at Minneapolis

The Badger cross-country squad is working out daily in preparation for the dual meet with Minnesota at Minneapolis next Saturday. The team will leave for the northern city at 9:30 tonight, accompanying the varsity football men who will stack up against the Gophers on the gridiron.

Coach G. T. Bresnahan has made a change in the personnel of the team which will start against Minnesota; and Dayton will run the distance, taking the place of Powell who will be held in reserve. The trotters who will start for Wisconsin are Capt. W. E. Brothers, H. C. Dennis, R. A. Noble, G. O. Wade, M. H. Wall, and W. L. Dayton. The men are all in tip-top condition with the exception of Wall, who is bothered with a bad foot, but this will not deter the speedy runner from competing. Wall took first place in the meet with the Maroons last Saturday.

The Minnesota team is composed of Captain Moon, Switzer, Winter, Hoverstad, Gaumnitz, and Leider, with Putnam and Bishop in reserve. Coach Frank, Minnesota cross-country mentor, is confident that his team will gain the victory over the Wisconsin pack, and plans are being made for a big student celebration in connection with the track

TEAM LEAVES TONIGHT FOR GOPHER GAME

All Injured Players Will be Back in the Game by Saturday

Strengthened by the return of those members of the squad injured in the Ohio State game, the Badgers will depart for Minneapolis tonight ready to oppose the Gophers Saturday with their strongest fighting front. Every man hurt at Columbus has recovered sufficiently to make the trip, and it is very probable that Coach Richards will send his old lineup in at the start. The team will leave for Minneapolis at 9:30 tonight.

Coach Richards sent his men through their last scrimmage of the week yesterday. The freshmen, using Minnesota shifts and formations, were continually thrown for losses by the Badger linemen. This afternoon a very light workout will be held. A final signal drill is to be conducted on the Gopher's grounds tomorrow afternoon.

On Tuesday Coach Richards took advantage of the holiday and called a double practice. The squad reported at Camp Randall in the morning for scrimmage and turned out again in the afternoon for several hours of drill.

Captain Weston and "Gus" Tebell, Richards' pair of extremity men, have not scrimmaged this week. However, both men have been running signals regularly and may start the game Saturday. Weston's knee is well on the way to recovery and bothers him very little in signal drill. Tebell, whose shoulder was dislocated in the Buckeye game, will be forced to wear a harness; but with this protection he expects to break into the Gopher contest.

In the absence of his regular ends, Richards has been working Harry Barnes and Eggebrecht.

MOVIE PLOT CONTEST TO CLOSE SATURDAY

All plots to be entered in the Varsity movie scenario contest must be handed in to the production staff at the office in the Union building before Saturday noon. The office hours of the production manager are from 2 to 4 p. m.

The plots are to be judged by the heads of the several student dramatic organizations, and the winner of the $25 prize will be announced next week.

Several fairly good plots have already been handed in, but there is still an excellent opportunity for a good story to win the prize.

THOSE who live on Henry street, have no more use for the Alpha Deltis. That gang made a spurious attempt at creating a little excitement by means of a fire about 11 on election night. It was a failure. With the possible exception of the Alpha Chis, no bunch has been successful in fires since Psi U went out of the business.

AMONG the private papers of one Twenty Four Out (of luck) we found the following flowing bit of poetry. This is quite representative; so we will not publish the rest.

They told me not to worry

I didn't even worry
And I flunked that damn exam.

ON WISCONSIN

THE band can help Wisconsin beat Minnesota. Its presence at a game is not only a stimulus to the players but a real boost for the university.

The "Send the Band to Minnesota" campaign is being continued today because of the indifference of a large number of students who should be enthusiastic boosters for their team and their school.

The team wants the band; that should be reason enough for every real Wisconsin man and woman to get behind the campaign and put it across. Instead of making the taggers look for you go out and find one yourself. The band has been giving us On Wisconsin; why not a little On Wisconsin for the band?

FRESHMEN OUT

'24 OUT! Every freshman at Music hall this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock for the freshman convocation!

The convocation this afternoon is an affair that no freshman can afford to miss. It will meet a most important need in the life of every first year student.

The meeting has been called in response to the demands of numerous students for a means of helping freshmen to get the proper start in the university. Most freshmen have difficulty in adapting themselves to university conditions and in organizing their time and studies. After high school days, where the teacher planned the student's work, life in the university is pretty rough sledding. It is to assist the freshmen in obtaining a definite and effective study plan that the convocation is called. The supreme aim of the meeting is to help the freshman make the most of his energy—"to get the maximum good with the least amount of work."

While helping the freshmen gain the maximum returns from their efforts is the primary purpose of the convocation, there is yet another motive—to inform the freshmen of the purposes and ideals of a college education. A true inspiration for better work will come from a clear conception of the aims of a college course.

Professor Kiekhoffer has been secured to deliver the address at the convocation. To most upperclassmen, Professor Kiekhoffer is well known. Suffice to say that he is one of the most forceful and inspiring talkers in the university. His ideas are helpful and logical, and they get across. The convocation tomorrow is an opportunity to hear an excellent speech by an excellent speaker.

After the meeting tomorrow, the heads of the various departments will confer on the best means of helping the freshmen in the particular courses. More detailed plans will be made in the near future to further the co-operation of the students and the faculty.

Co-operation between the students and the faculty for the student's betterment is the opportunity offered in today's convocation. No freshman can afford to miss it.

If the freshman finds his work hard, if university life is different from what he is used to, if he is not getting the maximum returns from his efforts, Professor Kiekhoffer can help him solve his problem. No freshman should work blindly or aimlessly when he has this opportunity for help. A definite and effective study plan inspired by the proper motives can be had by any freshman who comes to today's convocation.

Without fail, every freshman should hear Professor Kiekhoffer at Music hall at 3:30. The meeting will last but one hour. Every freshman out.

THE COMMERCE MAGAZINE

CERTAIN activities that are helping to build up the university's reputation in all parts of the state and nation are well known and supported by the student body. Such organizations as the Badger, our athletic teams, and our forensic teams are generally conceded to add to Wisconsin's prestige, and, as a result, receive the praise and support of the entire university.

There are other activities less well known than those just mentioned, but which play an important role in making the university known and respected. The Commerce Magazine, which will soon be in the hands of the students, is such an activity.

Subscriptions to this magazine have come from chambers of commerce and business organizations in all parts of the state and the nation. These organizations have been only too glad to lend their support to a publication which deals with commercial problems in a manner not too technical for the average reader—to a business magazine which furnishes articles of general interest by such men as Professor Scott; J. G. Shedd, president of Marshall Field and company; William R. Moss, one of Chicago's most prominent attorneys; and Julian Wetzel, editor of the Keystone Press. These men, all of whom have articles in the current issue of the Commerce magazine, deal with problems vital to everyone in touch with the commercial world. These articles show that Wisconsin is awake to the ever-growing demands of commerce and industry. By the Commerce magazine, Wisconsin's message is borne to business in all parts of the country.

One of the chief reasons for the Commerce magazine's success is that the articles have a usefulness and appeal to every thinker. The articles are written in a clear, understandable fashion and are free from the technical elements that would appeal to business experts alone.

Most college students and graduates have taken at least the course in elementary economics or have acquired a similar knowledge indirectly. To such people, the Commerce magazine is interesting and useful, because it shows economic theory and economic psychology applied in a practical way. To the lawyers, the engineers, and the doctors, the magazine is of interest and use because the most successful professional man is one who has "business brains" along with his technical knowledge—who can organize and handle men and finances.

When the Commerce magazine comes on the campus, look it over. Whatever one's particular line, the articles are pertinent and interesting. They appeal to everyone who is interested in the great American game of making a living. They are bearing Wisconsin's message and suggestions to the world.

CO-ED DEBATERS ARE TO ATTEND FORENSIC DINNER

The forensic dinner to be held at the Badger room of the Belmont hotel at 6 o'clock November 10, will eclipse all previous attempts at gatherings of platform artists, primarily because university women interested in debating and oratory have been invited to attend. The forensic board, through the representatives of the women's literary societies, is now working out a plan whereby the majority of the members of Pythia and Castalia will be on hand at the dinner.

That women are henceforth to play a prominent part in debate and oratory was demonstrated at the Northern Oratorical League contest held at Music hall last spring. Gladys Borchers, the Badger entry, and the only women in the contest, competed against Illinois, Minnesota, Iowa, Northwestern, and Michigan, and won second place in the contest which ranks as the classic oratorical event of collegiate America.

The forensic dinner has been planned by the forensic board and Delta Sigma Rho, national honorary forensic fraternity, as a send-to Ronald I. Drake, graduate of the College of Engineering in 1920, was announced recently.

ALUMNI HOLD BIG BANQUET IN NEW YORK

Founder of Daily Cardinal Was Among Those Present

One hundred members of the University of Wisconsin Alumni association in New York city dined together at the Masonic Temple, October 29. President Gerhard Dahl presided.

Among those present was the founder of The Daily Cardinal, W. W. Young, class of '92. Mr. Young was formerly of Munro. He has resided in New York many years and is the manager of the National Editorial Service, publicity director of the Boy Scouts of America, and president of two motion picture corporations, one of which produced "Alice in Wonderland," which has been shown several times in Madison.

Other guests were F. J. Judell, '17, who conducts "When Black is Read," in all the programs of the legitimate theaters in New York; Dr. Harold E. Phillips, '17, Rush Medican, '19, now Assistant Surgeon U. S. Public Health Service Port of New York; Lucile S. Liebermann, '20, of the New York public library; Kate-Pier Roemer ex '17, just back from a vaudeville tour in New England; and Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Higson, both of '17. Mr. Higson is of the firm of Rushmore, Bisbee and Stern, 61 Broadway.

Prof. E. A. Ross spoke briefly on existing economic and social conditions. He urged that the educated acquire a habit of thinking impersonally and largely and in no spirit or limit of class. W. D. Richardson gave an account of the Wisconsin-Ohio State football game.

A resolution was unanimously adopted that is to be recommended to the athletic department that football coaches be engaged for the full academic year.

plans of the Course in Commerce, by Prof. W. A. Scott, director of the course, is featured.

Loyd Strope, this year's editor, says that the high quality of the first articles will be upheld in the future issues. "The staff this year is working hard to make the Commerce mag the best of the college papers on the campus. We have already secured a line of articles of the finest type for several issues in advance, and innovations will continue to make the "mag" this year better and better with each succeeding issue. The Commerce magazine will be the instrument for advertising and fostering the biggest year that Commerce has ever had."

STUDENTS COMPOSE NEW DANCE NUMBER

Among the dance hits that are in favor with Thompson's and Body's orchestras this season is "My Baby Vamp."

Piano players who have purchased this piece at Hook Brothers' music store may have noticed the names Linc Quarberg and Al Bert as composer of the music and writer of the words respectively. Quarberg, former editor of the Badger, is now a senior in the College of Letters and Science; while Bert is a student at Michigan. This is Quarberg's first attempt as a composer, but his success is shown by the fact that Bert Lewis, the famous vaudeville star, is making a hit with the song on the Chicago stage.

ATHLETIC PLANS IN BIG PROGRAM FOR HOMECOMING

Booklet Will Contain "Dope" and Pictures of Athletes

"An idea of the future athletic year and an idea of the scope of athletics at Wisconsin are two things the Homecoming programs will give the reader this year," declared Carl Seifert, editor of the programs, yesterday.

Carrying out this idea, the committee has planned the following special features in addition to the regular program of events of Homecoming: "Official "dope" from the coaches as to the prospects for the coming season in track, baseball, crew and basketball; summary of coming athletic events for the season of 1920-21; pictures of Richards, Weston, Zuppke, Depler, Illinois captain, and sketches of the football careers of these men; a history of football games between Wisconsin and Illinois; a two page picture of the Wisconsin squad; pictures of captains and coaches in other major sports; a complete program of the Engineers' minstrels with cartoons and character sketches and a humorous writeup about the minstrels; Wisconsin yells and songs.

The committees who are working on the programs are: Carl Seifert, editor; William Sale, G. Lowell Geiger, and Darrell Dunn, assistants; Donald Bailey, business manager, Philip G. Bredesen, advertising manager. Merrit Giles, Winifred Ellis, Nyria Gile, Miriam Doan, Larry Hastings, Charles Fox, Louise Rechman, advertising assistants.

AT THE GRAND

Engene O'Brien plays the role of a candidate for political office in his new picture, "The Figurehead," by John Lynch, which will be shown at the Grand theater for three days beginning today. He is chosen by secretly allied political bosses because, as a nice young silk-stocking aristocrat who is more interested in golf and yachting than anything else, he will be an easy candidate to defeat. The young "Willie," however, inspired by love, develops into a campaigner who fairly "lifts the roof off," and gives the intriguing bosses some sleepless nights. After vainly trying various subterfuges to get him to withdraw, they attempt a "frame-up" and publish a manufactured scandal calculated to eliminate him from the contest. Instead it arouses his fighting Irish, and he performs a few stunts that takes the wind out of the bosses and puts the completion to five fascinating reels of romance mingled with brutal social drama.

GUILTY FROSH TO WEAR CAPS

Senate Punishes Tradition Breakers—Borman is New President

Three freshmen were sentenced last night by the student senate to wear their green caps until November 15, as a punishment for violating university traditions. They were Proctor Wright, Edward Lachman, and Horace Wetmore.

Two other freshman, Mark Kessenich and Harold Wanzer, also accused of violating traditions, were acquitted, Kessenich because he had spent 15 months overseas and Wanzer because of lack of evidence. Delinquency in wearing green caps was the charge in all cases.

The fact that this was the first meeting of the new senate made it an important one, as a number of men were elected at the meeting to important positions, and a number of important committees were chosen.

Milton Borman was elected president of the senate and David Lacy, secretary. The executive committee elected was Henry Dennis, chairman pro tem, and Sterling Tracy.

The following men were elected to committees: Organization, Howard Brant, Henry Dennis and Birney Miller; joint government, Philip H. Falk, Thomas McCandless, and Joseph Hook; elections, Joseph Bollender, Howard Brant, George Stolley, Foster Strong, and Thomas Coxon; judiciary, Foster Strong, John Bigler, and Melbourne Bergerman.

David Lacy was elected chairman of the Varsity Jamboree which will be held November 27.

FAMOUS AUTHOR SPEAKS TONIGHT AT MUSIC HALL

"Pilgrim, Puritan and Patriot," is the subject of an address to be given tonight in Music hall by Dr. Charles Zueblin, famous sociologist and author. The topic is one which has occupied him in research and study for many years.

Zueblin is a remarkably thorough and intense public speaker," said Prof. R. T. Ely, head of the economics department, yesterday. "His message is of great timely significance, and few can afford to let him go unheard. His book on Municipal Progress, which is published in my social science series, is, I believe, the best that has been written on the subject."

Zueblin has been contributing to the International Journal of Ethics, the Independent magazine and the Dial. He was for some time professor of sociology at the University of Chicago, and president of the American League for Civic Improvement.

Prof. M. C. Otto will introduce Dr. Zueblin. The lecture will be conducted under the auspices of the Social Science club.

DISTANCE RUNNERS TO LEAVE TONIGHT

meet and football game in the afternoon.

The starters will take off at 11 o'clock Saturday morning, and the race will finish when students are passing from their fourth hour class. The distance is to be five miles over a cement course, which will prove a handicap to the Badger runners who have been practicing on a gravel road. The men plan to work out in Minneapolis in order to get used to the strange course, and this should overcome any worries of the runners as to their ability to get over the hard road.

Wisconsin is conceded an excellent chance of winning over the Minnesota pack because of the overwhelming victory gained over the Chicago trotters.

"The meet will be much closer than the one with Chicago," Coach Bresnahan stated Wednesday night, "but if the men show as much improvement this week as they did the week before the Chicago run, our chances of winning are excellent."
