VARSITY, FROSH SINGERS COMBINE IN CONCERT SONGS

Chorus of 60 to Present Special Number in Concerts Tomorrow and Saturday

The Men's concert Glee club and the Freshman Glee club will combine to sing three of Wisconsin's dearest songs as one of the numbers in the annual home concert to be sung tomorrow and Saturday nights in Music hall.

Combining under the direction of Prof. E. Earl Swinney, the two concert organizations will form a male chorus of 60 select voices and will sing "Varsity Toast," and "On Wisconsin," and "The Bells of St. Mary's" will be rendered as the last number on the program.

Paul Jones to Accompany

This special number has been so arranged as to permit Paul G. Jones '27, accompanist of the Concert club, to play the new Music hall pipe organ in accompaniment to the massed chorus.

Seldom is a freshman organization called upon to appear in public performance, whether it be a football game or a public debate. Their service to the University, generally confined to work behind doors closed to the public, consists in strengthening the veteran organization.

Dan Vornholt Leader

The Freshman Glee club, under the training of Dan E. Vornholt, tenor soloist in the Concert club this year has developed into a choral group of unusual power and vigor. An exceptional number of the yearling men have, in the last few months of intensive training, acquired exceptional voices for glee club singing, and will lend a great volume of tone to the championship parent club.

The establishment of this auxiliary club was conceived two years ago as a means of training men for the Men's Glee club which tours the Middle West annually on its spring concert tours and will this summer tour Europe. Practically the same songs are taught the yearling men, and all efforts are bent toward

MILITARY HEADS SECURE CAPITOL

State House Obtained for Coming Ball; Queen's Identity a Secret

Yes! The state capitol has been procured for the Military ball which is to be held Friday, April 1. This information was gained yesterday when it was learned that both houses of the state legislature unanimously passed the bill permitting the R. O. T. C. corps the use of the state house. Incidentally, this probably will be the last university function to be held in the capitol building, for the assembly room of the new union is planned to house future events of its type.

Arrangements for the ball are well under way, tickets will soon be on sale, but—Chief of Staff Calvin A. Koehring '27 has not yet announced the lady of his choice. One might infer that Captain Koehring is patiently awaiting the arrival of an opportune moment, or else he has not yet aroused the nerve to confide his secret to the Daily Cardinal. He has promised, however that an announcement of the Fifteenth Annual Military ball queen will be made late next week. In the meantime, but 22 days remain before the date of the ball, and inasmuch as the affair falls on April Fool's day, one is advised not to take any chances.

Day By Day With The News

By W. C. P.

The United States has again been asked to respond to the needs of a country in distress. With 2,275 persons killed, 300 injured, and more than 50,000 in misery as a result of the disastrous Japanese earthquake, President Coolidge has called upon the American Red Cross to send immediate aid to the afflicted country.

Statistics taken recently show that Japan has been subject to more earthquakes than any other country in the world. In the past 100 years, 170,000 people have lost their lives as a result of earthquakes.

Newspapers Shun Crime News

Charles E. Dennis, editor of the Chicago Daily News, stated yesterday in a conference on crime that well edited newspapers have no love for criminal news, and he further said that reports stating that other interesting matter is rejected for crime news are unfounded. Every possible means is used to obtain news of all sorts, but, as Mr. Dennis says: "Crime news obtrudes itself, while news of meritorious actions, as a rule, is surprisingly difficult to obtain." It must be, considering the little we see published.

Lenroot Invites Coolidge to Wisconsin

Former Senator Irvine L. Lenroot has outlined the advantages of Wisconsin as a probable vacation ground for President Coolidge since the president has determined to establish the summer White House somewhere west of the Alleghenies. Mr. Coolidge's decision to spend his vacation in this region has been made for some time, and an agent will go west soon to choose a site. This may be a wise political move, inasmuch as the middle west will be a hotbed of politics this summer with the Lowden and Dawes booms in the offering.

U. S. Destroyer Aids Fleets

The latest reports from Shanghai disclose that women and children were assisted in leaving Wuhu, a large city in Anhui province, by a United States destroyer. Chinese mobs had attacked the customs house of the city and more riots were seething. No injuries or casualties resulted from the disturbance, although press reports said that anti-riots methods were only "lukewarm." Indications were that all foreigners would soon evacuate Wuhu.

DEBATERS ENGAGE NORTHWESTERN IN MEET AT HOME

Alternate Debate Team to Argue in Music Hall at 8 O'Clock Tonight

Carl Ludwig, Law 3, Francis Hyne, Law 3, and Morris Weinberg, '29 members of the university debating team will present their arguments against those of the invading Northwestern University speakers at 8 o'clock tonight in Music hall.

The local trio will uphold the affirmative views of the question: "Resolved, that the United States government should refuse military protection to property which is owned by its citizens on foreign soil."

The debate is considered the outstanding one on this year's Forensic board program, since it deals with a question of international current interest which has been before the public of many nations for months.

Prof. Baird to Judge

Prof. John Barnes, of the Speech department, will be chairman, and Prof. A. Craig Baird, of the University of Iowa will witness the debate as critic-judge. The outcome of the argument will rest in the hands of the visiting professor, since he is to be the only judge.

While Music hall is filled with questions, oratorical exclamations, rebuttals and heated declamations, Minneapolis will be judging a bit of Wisconsin thinking, as three other men, Walter Wilke, '23, Isadore Alk. Law 3 and Robert Sher Law 3, will be presenting the negative side of the argument against the University of Minnesota representatives.

Informal Meeting Follows

When Station W. H. A. announces the final outcome of the discussion the two rival teams, who competed here, together with members of the Forensic board and of the Speech department, will gather at the University club for an informal meeting to forget the temporary enmity which might have arisen from the discussion.

Camp Nature Work Subject of Talk by Dr. Ruth Addoms

Dr. Ruth Addoms of the Botany department in addressing the girls of the camp leadership course yesterday afternoon gave them the benefit of many years of experience as nature study counsellor at a girls' camp in southwestern Maine. She discussed nature work in camp, and stated that the object of this study in a camp is to interest people in how animals live, how plants live and how things about us change. This cannot be accomplished by merely offering a course in nature study. The campers resent anything of that sort. It must be brought in incidentally by teaching people to observe, and to love the outdoors for its own sake.

Her own experiences in camp life served as a basis for her talk. She told of one very interesting way of acquainting campers with nature. This was the establishment of camp museum. Here all the interesting specimens which were found at camp were kept. Interest was naturally stimulated in this way.

EUTHENICS CLUB HOLDS OPEN MEETING TONIGHT

The Euthenics club is holding an open meeting at 8 o'clock to night in Lathrop parlors. The business meeting of the club will take place at 7 o'clock, at which time new officers will be installed. Prof. W. A. Sumner of the college of agriculture, will be the main speaker at the open meeting.

Dr. Dawson Tells Favorite Stories in Afternoon Talk

Dr. P. M. Dawson's favorite stories, as related in Lathrop parlors yesterday afternoon, proved to be an entrancing diversity of picturesque tales, gleaned from Indian, Hindu, Russian, and Hebrew literature.

The sources of the legends were the Talmud the book of Hebraic traditions and legends, Algonquin Legends of New England, and Cradle Tales of Hinduism. One of the stories, The Three Hermits, was written by Tolstoi. The last one related by Dr. Dawson was a Persian tale written by himself.

All the stories were notable for the current of philosophy underlying the enchanting outer guise.

ELECTION OF NEW WOMEN'S OFFICERS SCHEDULED TODAY

Balloting for Organization Heads Takes Place in Lathrop Hall

Today is the day when all women of the university will vote for the officers of their respective organizations for the ensuing year.

Polling will take place at separate tables for each group in Lathrop hall from 9 to 5 o'clock. Two women acting as clerks will preside at each table; one to distribute and collect ballots, the other to check up on the eligibility of the voter. Only members of Y. W. C. A. can vote for the Y. W. C. A. ticket, members of W. A. A. vote for their officers, while all university women vote for the W. S. G. A. ticket.

"Each girl should feel a personal responsibility in casting her vote," says Elizabeth George '27, chairman of elections, "for the new officers, which will lead women's activities for the coming year, are to be truly representative of Wisconsin women and not the result of one or another small group."

Assisting Elizabeth George on the election's committee are Jean Strachan '28 Gaynold Carroll '29, and Marian Walker '29.

Following are the tickets:

UNION BOARD TO PRESENT SINGER

Mme. Sigrid Onegin, Contralto, to Appear in Concert Next Monday

In Mme. Sigrid Onegin of the Metropolitan Opera company, who sings here at 8:30 o'clock next Monday evening at the University Stock pavilion under the auspices of Union Board, university students will hear the singer who has made the most sensational successes in the recent history of the American concert stage. This eminent Swedish contralto came to this country in the fall of 1922 to join the Metropolitan forces. She was well known to those who had followed musical events abroad, but to American audiences she was just a new name. Her concert debut in New York, however, convinced the public of her merits.

So great were Madame Onegin's successes in concert and in opera that she has received numerous offers for recital appearances throughout the country. In her first season she sang almost forty times. In her second season she doubled this figure. Today she is one of the most popular artists in the country and is unable to accept all the engagements proffered her.

The sale of tickets for the Onegin concert has opened at Hook Bros. music store.

HAGEN TO SPEAK ON DUERER'S ART

Prof. of Art History Will Give
Illustrated Lecture
Tonight

"The painting and engraving in the period of Albrecht Durer" was the topic presented by Prof. Oscar F. Hagen in a lecture in the Biology auditorium last Tuesday night. "In the preceding age of Durer," Prof. Hagen explained, "there was neither a common goal nor a purposeful co-operation, and German borders. It was through Durer—through the genius, effort and clearheadedness of a single man—that German art was unified and accorded beyond its own borders."

Prof. Hagen pointed out that it was through the greatness of the master painter born in Nuremberg, that creations of life "Apocalypse," "Life of Mary," and small and large woodcuts of the "Passion," have been given to the world.

This is the first of a special series of art lectures open to the public to be given every week in the Biology auditorium. The next lecture will take place on March 15, when Prof. Hagen will talk on El Greco and Velazquez. On March 22 his subject will be Francisco Goya, and the last lecture, on March 28, will be on "The Great Book Illustrations of the 19th Century."

AWARD 65 TEACHERS' CARDS SINCE JUNE

Sixty-five university graduates, having fulfilled the university education requirements, have applied and received teachers certificates since last June. These certificates are awarded to all university graduates fulfilling the educational requirements, and they entitle the possessor to teach in the state of Wisconsin.

New Job Suggested for Borden

The plan of the state legislature to create a new job for James B. Borden has resulted in a temporary truce which may end the strike of the joint finance committee. The idea solicited is to give Mr. Borden a position as director of the legislative budget. As a result he has been asked to attend a meeting of the finance committee in regard to the action. If Mr. Borden does not approve of this means of settling the disputes, the struggle may begin all over again.

Lee or Meinecke, Which?

"Swapping" of street names seems to have become a habit with Milwaukee aldermen. After recently changing Meinecke ave. to Lee st., they discovered that the action conflicted with a city deed made 40 years ago which was to perpetuate the name "Meinecke." At the last council meeting, the decision was reversed, and now Lee st. becomes Meinecke ave., with the proviso that the next Milwaukee street to be named shall become Lee. Some day they may settle their renaming problem. * * *

A $78,000 Gold Pile

The recent gold rush at Weepah, Nevada, has taken on all the aspects of a western epic. It was revealed yesterday that two 19 year old youths had made a rich strike in true "last chance" fashion. After having eaten their last rations of food, they suddenly stumbled upon a pile of dirt worth $78,000. And it was only after they had given up the pile as worthless that they discovered its value and filled two sacks with rich ore. * * *

Athletics is Best Vice Chaser, Says Badger Director

"If every man and woman in the university were to play hard at some game every day, there would be less vice," said George Little, director of athletics, at the father-and-son banquet of Our Savior's Lutheran church Men's club Monday night.

Mr. Little also declared that one of the greatest lessons athletics teaches is the subordination of player's own personal desires. He praised athletics for building moral and physical qualities in the youth of today.

Purnell Goes to St. Louis to Make Haresfoot Plans

Bill Purnell, grad, director of the Haresfoot club, left for St. Louis last evening to arrange for the showing of "Meet The Prince!" in that city.

The $600,000 fire in the Odeon theater, in which the club was booked to play, necessitated the securing of the American, the next largest theater in the city.

The Junior League of St. Louis is handling the local ends for the club, while Washington University and other organizations are lending their support to Haresfoot's first appearance there.

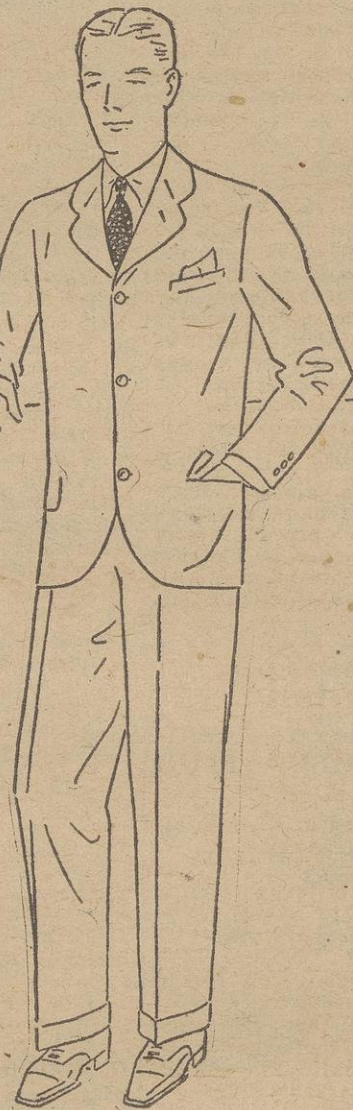

Purnell is expected to return to Madison Saturday.

TRAINING TABLE TIPS

THE CONFERENCE MEETS
GREEK BASKETBALL
STILL HOPEFUL

This weekend will clear up a lot of things that have been bothering sport fans for some time. It will clear up, for instance, the problem of whether Wisconsin can beat Iowa on her home floor, and it will also clear up the indoor track muddle.

Dopesters persist in favoring Wisconsin as one of the strongest entries in the conference indoor meet. The known strength of McGinnis, Erickson, and Zola combined with the point-grabbing possibilities of such men as Stowe, Dougan, and Beuchner, is worrying most of the other schools. It is not hard to figure Wisconsin's counting at least 28 points, and 28 points, given a fair distribution of the spoils, will usually place a team high in the Big Ten meet.

Though McGinnis is likely to encounter his master in all three of his specialties, the master in each case will be a different individual, and Chuck has an excellent chance to become high point man of the meet. Anton Burg, crack Chicago high jumper, probably will outdo him in this event. Burg looked upon as one of the greatest jumpers since the days of Dewey Alberts, ought to crash the Big Ten altitude record.

The monthly rumor of Dr. Meanwell's resignation has run its flight, and denials are now in order all around. The idea of Doc's going to Minnesota was so imbecilic on the face of it, that even a sport writer wouldn't believe it without a waste basketful of contracts to back it up.

As we intimated before, the Greeks are quite worked up about their intramural basketball championship. The Betas pulled a sizzling game out of the fire when Stupeckie, center, scored a basket in the last three seconds of play to beat the Theta Chis, 12-11, yesterday noon. Stupeckie, by the way is one of Gene Rose's old team-mates at Racine High. Paul and Biez, Theta Chi, played excellent games each scoring three field goals.

Chi Psi again skinned through in their second tournament game against the Sig Chis, winning 17-16 in an overtime period. That's all right boys, but all these teams may not wait for you till the last minute.

Only two games remain on the Western conference basketball schedule and neither of them will have much bearing on the final standings. Wisconsin may work into a tie for second place by defeating Iowa Friday night, while Purdue will land in the same position if she defeats Chicago in the last game Saturday. The Boilermaker victory is fairly predictable, but who cares to risk his neck on this Badger-Hawkeye fracas.

The gymnasts, after dropping two straight meets to Chicago and Iowa, still feel that they have a chance in the conference meet at Chicago Saturday. Hinderliter has improved remarkably during the season, while Neller has been plenty good from the start. They should come through in one or two events anyway.

Both Teams Win by One Point
Margins; Theta Chis,
Sig Chis Lose

Thrilling, hard fought games were on the program Wednesday noon at the Gymnasium when the Chi Psis nosed out the Sig Chis 12-11 in an extra period, and the Betas just barely averted defeat by the Theta Chis with Stupeck's pot shot in the last three seconds of play to make the score 17-16.

At the half Chi Psi led 7-4, but stellar work by Pat Lynaugh in the second session soon evened the count at 8-all at the end of the half. In the overtime period Chi Psi secured two baskets while holding Sigma Chi to one basket and a free throw.

Beta Theta Pi started out with a rush and soon had a commanding lead over Theta Chi. In the second half the Betas appeared to be disorganized and the Theta Chis began to hit the basket with regularity. With two minutes to play, Theta Chi was leading 16-15, but Stupeck's basket speled victory for Betas, just before the game ended. The Betas will meet the Chi Psis in the semi-finals today at 5:30.

L. Behr Retains Scoring Lead of Wisconsin Five

Although Louie Behr, Wisconsin forward, has been in a noticeable scoring slump for the past three weeks, he continues to lead Badger scoring by the safe margin of 32 points. He has made 114 points on 41 field goals and 32 free throws during the season.

Charlie Andrews remains in second place on the squad with 82, while Miller, who was formerly close to a the bottom of the list, moved up to sixth place after his fiery burst of basket-making against Illinois. Miller has scored 32 points and is only five behind Barnum, who has 37 to his credit.

Hank Kowalczyk retains his supremacy in getting fouls called on him, having 25 marked against him now. He is closely pressed by Barnum who has 25. Both Kowalczyk and Barnum, however, play clean guarding games and they never commit intentional fouls.

Strong Academy Teams Entered in Tourney Here

Academy basketball teams of the highest order will vie for honors here next week when youthful cage squads from various centers in the mid-west compete in the second annual academy championship basketball tournament sponsored by the athletic department of the University of Wisconsin on March 17, 18, and 19 in the varsity gymnasium.

Nine institutions have already submitted their entries to George Berg, chairman of arrangements, and it is highly probable that other schools will join the ranks of competitors before the week is up. Morgan Park Military academy of Chicago is one of the outstanding entries on the list. Fourteen victories and a single loss constitute the record of the Chicago institution this year. Morgan Park sustained its solitary defeat from St. Alban's by a one point margin 21 to 20. Scoring 447 points to their opponents' 273, the Morgan Park quintet has averaged better than 29 counters a game.

Wayland Academy of Beaver Dam, Wis., also looms as a strong contender for the academy crown. This year the Wayland basketballers have realized ten victories and three losses, and in two of the trio of games which they lost the Waylanders lead up to the closing minute of play. The Carroll freshmen were the only ones successful in whipping the Beaver Dam Academy quintet on their own floor.

"The academy championship basketball tournament will be a common meeting ground for academy competition, which no one else has been able to provide," said Berg, chairman of arrangements.

Speaking of the character of the teams entered Mr. Berg said: "Culver has not been defeated this year. Culver defeated Howe School, 61 to 21. A team like St. Albans has the strongest representation in years. They defeated Morgan Park in the only game that Morgan Park has lost."

H. MATTHUSEN GETS FROSH CAPTAINCY

Harold Matthusen, Chicago, was elected captain of the freshman basketball team after practice last night. He has been one of the most promising forwards on the frosh squad, and though, small, possesses a sharp eye for the basket. Matthusen follows in the steps of Elmer Tenhopen, varsity center, who captained the frosh team last year.

ILLINOIS ALUMNUS LIKES OUR SPIRIT

"I want to congratulate the University of Wisconsin on the splendid spirit shown by the ban last Saturday night when it played 'Illinois Loyalty' twice during the game," writes J. Harwood Evans of Janesville who graduated from Illinois in '23 in a letter to the editor of the Daily Cardinal. Mr. Evans adds, "I think it was a mighty fine stunt, and I'm going to write the 'Daily Illini' and tell them so, too"

BOXING TOURNAMENT TO START MONDAY

Early Rounds to Determine Entrants in All-University Bouts

As a preliminary to the annual all-university boxing tournament, interclass bouts will be started next Monday, it was announced by Coach Ralph Storck yesterday. The all-university tourney will take place on the last day of the state high school basketball tournament here.

Because most of last year's champions are out of school, competition in all classes should be quite keen. The only two champs remaining in school this year are Morse at 115 pounds, and Williams at 130 pounds. So good has this year's material been showing up, that Coach Storck has venture to state that as a whole, the probable winners are of a better class than those of last year.

The tournament will be conducted according to regulation rules, with Coach Storck acting as referee, and three competent judges to award the decision. The bouts will consist of three two minute rounds, with one minute between each round. Regular seconds will be furnished to all contestants, and medical aid if necessary, will be close at hand.

The sport of the tournament, in addition to the various prizes offered, is serving as a drawing power among university students and many have all ready announced their intentions of entering and are now in training. Coach Storck has run into a new and unexpected difficulty with the appearance of "Dynie" Mansfield of football fame, as a candidate for heavyweight honors. Mansfield carries a wicked sock in either hand, and an opponent to oppose him has not been found. Anyone wishing to apply as an opponent, will find a cheerful welcome from Mansfield and Coach Storck.

Among the men showing up well in class competition, and who should show well in the inter-class tournament are, Goodsitt, Currier, Tasche, and Schuck.

Hawkeyes to See Action This Week

IOWA CITY, Ia. — Championships, both team and individual, will be sought by University of Iowa athletes in track, gymnastics and fencing this weekend. Wrestlers will go after personal titles, only, swimmers meet Wisconsin in a dual meet and the basketball team ends its season with the Wisconsin battle.

Attention is centering upon the track team which travels to Evanston to defend the indoor Big Ten championship wrestled from the nine other teams last year. Among the chief hopes for points are Captain Byles, pole vault; Cuhel, hurdles and quarter miler; Allison, hurdles; Elliott, mile run; unn, two mile run; Nelson and Forwald, shot put; Thomas and Mann, high jump Baird and Phelps, quarter mile, and mile relay team. The Hawkeyes scored 24 1-3 points last year topping Michigan's 20 when the mile relay team won their event.

Hopes for a title dispelled, the Iowa basketball team meets Wisconsin Friday at Iowa City. The Hawkeye aim now is to finish in the first division of the standing. Swimmers travel to Madison for the Badger dual after losing five meets.

TRACKMEN ENTER BIG TEN MEET AT EVANSTON FRIDAY

Badgers Appear as Strong Contenders for Indoor Championship

A good work down this afternoon and Wisconsin's track team will be prepared for tomorrow's big indoor conference track meet at Evanston. Men who will run in the preliminaries will leave Madison tomorrow morning while the final section that will run in the general events on Saturday will leave Friday noon.

The team which Coach Jones will take with him to Northwestern is built mainly around the work of Capt. McGinnis, who has been high point man in every meet that the Cardinal team has participated in this year. The brilliant showing made by several other stars of the Wisconsin track squad in the Notre Dame meet has also placed the hopes of the Badgers high in conference championships.

Erickson Good

Capt. McGinnis has a splendid chance to win all the events that he is entered, the 60 yard hurdles, the high jump, and the Pole vault. His chances shine especially bright in the hurdles, but in the two latter events, he will run against some stiff opposition in the other Big Ten teams.

In the other events the Badger chances are also very excellent. In the half mile, Ray Erickson, a star Cardinal track man, should come in among the first of the conference half milers. In the Notre Dame meet he ran the distance in 2:06, 6-10 of a second slower than the record for the indoor track.

Strong Relay Team

The Badger mile relay team, is also in good condition to place at Evanston. The team, composed of Chamberlain, Kozal, Stowe, and Dougan, made a fast run against Notre Dame, winning with a time of 3:36 5-10.

In the mile and two mile runs the Badgers are depending upon upon the stellar work of the stars in these events. Petaja, who ran second in the Notre Dame meet, is the most promising man in the mile.

In the two mile race, John Zola and his brother, Stanley have the best chances of obtaining points for Wisconsin. Both placed in the dual meet with Notre Dame, John Zola taking first with a time of 10:24.

In the remaining events, Coach Jones, is running all the Badger entries through hard workouts, that these events will give support to the ones in which the Badger chances seem to be more favorable at present. In the meet with the Irish squad, a new high jumper was uncovered in Norman Buechner, who won the event for Wisconsin after Captain McGinnis had withdrawn. Buechner has been training hard and looks like a point winner for Wisconsin at Northwestern.

PURDUE TO FINISH SEASON AT CHICAGO

LAFAYETTE, Ind. — Fatigued by a long weekend trip, during which time it vanquished Minnesota and Northwestern within three days, the Purdue basketball squad rested yesterday and today, but tomorrow and Friday will devote to preparing for the final contest of the 1927 Western conference basketball season, with Chicago, in Memorial gymnasium next Saturday night. Considering the crippled condition of the Boilermaker five when it left Lafayette last Friday, its feat of victories over the Purple Gophers is not an inconsiderable one, and basketball fans here are singing the praises of Coach Lambert's quintet.

Wheeler and Cummins shared in the last minute offensive dash which conquered Minnesota, while Cummins and Hodges were party to a basket barrage which sunk Northwestern to a last place tie with the Gophers on last Monday. Wilcox, the peppery floor guard of the Purdue five, watched both contests on the trip from the bench owing to his leg injury, which has not healed properly. There are hopes that he will be in shape for the Maroons, however.

Tonight We Go to Music Hall

This evening six of the university's debaters will take part in a triangular debate with representatives of the Universities of Minnesota and Northwestern. Three men, comprising Wisconsin's negative team left last night to engage the northmen. The three men making up the affirmative team will argue with the visiting representatives of Northwestern University at approximately the same time.

A varsity debater in this day and age is truly an unsung hero, and is deserving of any praise which might come to him. They must needs spend hours, days and weeks in preparation for their opponents; they must practice the art of public speaking, of delivering their points in a clean forceful method; they must anticipate all possible angles from which their opponents might attack and be able to frustrate the attempts. In short, they must know the issues of the subject for debate thoroughly. Sad to say, the spectacle which an inter-collegiate debate affords today in a college community is not sufficiently stimulating to the senses of the average student to draw a crowd. Lighter pastimes seem to abound and are chosen in preference, sad to say.

But the subject prepared for the debate in Music hall this evening is quite different than the usual run of cut and dried debating circle subjects. It is not the hackneyed subject of woman suffrage, nor is it the worn issue of whether or no an institution of higher public learning should accept the proffered funds of the benevolent millionaires.

No, it is a question throbbing with the vitality of international relations which is to be argued out tonight: "Resolved, that the United States government should refuse military protection to property which is owned by its citizens and is located on foreign soil." This question is challenging the moral conscience of the American nation today. Can the United States rightly utilize its great potential strength and influence to protect the holdings of citizens who venture to place their funds at work in foreign public utilities and resources? The Daily Cardinal believes not; it frowns on the America first doctrine of over-stressed nationalism which has held the nation in its grip since the days of Theodore Roosevelt.

The Scripps-Howard newspaper conducted a poll in representative cities of the country, when the jingoistic policy took an alarming color, and was met with the protection is continued it may lead to serious international difficulties. We are anxious to hear what the opposing speakers will have to offer on the subject. We will be in Music hall tonight.

They Decided in Our Favor

Seldom does one, going the daily rounds of study and business here, have his attention called to a sacrifice performed in the interests of the many.

The Men's Glee club corporation, the governing board of the concert unit, were confronted with a problem. The annual Mid-West Intercollegiate sing, won by the Wisconsin club three times of the four in which it participated, was scheduled in between the home concerts and the annual spring tour. The club realized that they would be unable to do all and do them justice. To prepare for the contest would have meant that the home concerts would have suffered.

They decided in the best interests of the student body; the board felt that the university was entitled to the best of their efforts. The Chicago contest was dropped in spite of the prospect of a certain win and certain glory, and the time was devoted to polishing off the program to be sung tomorrow and Saturday nights. We respect them for their action.

A Political Dry

As the elections of 1928 become less and less an event of the dim future and loom up as near-realities, a certain group in national politics known as the political drys becomes firmly outlined as a distinctly plural group.

From President Coolidge's record we are confirmed that he is an excellent political dry. Drinking has decreased since prohibition, but other evils, taken collectively are more to be alarmed at, and they have increased. Among these are bootlegging, the corruption of officials, the spoils system of politics, and they prove that a rottenness exists in the law administration. From whatever angle the question is approached the trouble traces directly to the White House. The blame for the ineffective enforcement lays finally there. The president is not interested in the enforcement of prohibition and as a result the enforcement is formal, flaccid and ineffective.

He is at heart a dry, dry in his beliefs, dry in his habits, and ready to stand as a dry in his political convictions, but he senses the dynamite which lies beneath the issue, and means to touch it as little as is possible; he is looking, together with his party, toward the 1928 elections, and he cannot take the chance of alienating a wet vote. We feel that Coolidge would sooner alienate the dry element of America than the wet; his political strength would suffer less. The president seems to realize where public opinion lies in this regard.

The Men's Concert Glee club presents its annual home concert in Music hall tomorrow and Saturday night. Its conductor has arranged a special number to be rendered in conjunction with the freshman group. This home organization will prove an attraction on the European continent this summer. Have you your ticket?

Readers' Say-So

To the Editor of the Daily Cardinal:

Following the presentation of the sweet branch of razberries to the faculty of our esteemed Alma Mater because of their seeming indifference to the Experimental college, the writer is prompted to offer a few words of explanation. This is not intended as a defence of the faculty; the writer feels that they need none in this connection, though he is willing to concede they are not above criticism in other aspects.

Will the Experimental college be such a rosy-hued unqualified success that the faculty is warranted in throwing fits of ecstasies about it? Or will it be, as the name implies, an experiment, the value of which remains to be proved? Obviously, the latter is true. This fact alone warrants reserve on the part of faculty members.

But this factor is far from being the most important element involved. The crux of the matter is that no definite comprehensive statement relative to the curriculum of the Experimental college has yet been made to the faculty. The writer, himself a student, learned the latter point from a professor for whom he has considerable respect, one who is not prone to blab-blah the praises of an undertaking until he feels it is thoroughly sound.

The tone of your editorial seems to take for granted that the proposed college will be sound in every way. The writer, a former student of educational administration, had occasion recently to investigate the intended project, and to seek the opinion of it from one of the country's outstanding educational psychologists.

The latter personage was "not so hot" about the idea, though he is recognized as being a liberal in things educational. His major criticism was that unless students are closely supervised in their work (the brighter students excepted), they will either take

URGES A CLEANUP

To The Editor, Daily Cardinal:
Lately there has been a great deal of bickering over the question of religion at this university. I think that this is very encouraging, for it shows that the students have some original ideas on the subject and refuse to swallow all the myths connected with religion and its chief exponent—the Bible. When I came to college I was surprised and disgusted to see the great power wielded by the churches in the university circles. I had expected college students to be deep thinkers; people who would not accept a creed just because their fathers had accepted it; people who would not be enticed into joining a certain church because of the many parties the church gave.

But before long I was sadly disillusioned. I saw how the long efficient arm of the church machine reached out on the Freshman before he had a chance to know what college was all about. I saw how it enticed him into its bigoted folds by bribes of "weenie roasts," cheap Sunday night dinners, and parties—though some students did go of their own accord because they thought it was much easier to have the ministers do their thinking than to think for themselves. It is deplorable to see how great a number of the students have accepted the old fashioned, narrow, and bigoted religions of their forefathers instead of awakening from their stagnation and having thoughts of their own on the subject.

I know there are many who will rise up in wrath when they read this and cry that they have not accepted the creed of their fathers blindly, but have taken it because (Continued on page five) advantage of the greater freedom allowed and go in for one perpetual roundelay of pleasure, or will flounder about helplessly. His judgment was based upon a somewhat similar experiment of which he had personal knowledge.

In other words, much as we should like to believe otherwise, the world is made up of a bunch of "kiddies" who know not how to rise to responsibility when they are entrusted with it. say, "the world," for, while a university doubtless attracts to it many gifted intellects it finds in itself, as does the world about us, also, many of no exceptional ability who constantly must be carefully guided. As one writer puts it the world is made up of three classes of people: those who never do what they are told; those who do only what they are told; and those who do not need to be told. If the faculty really gave us the facts, we doubtless would be appalled at the many in our midst who do only what they are told, and who are capable of doing little more. Mental tests (with due regard for the fact that many of them are unreliable—strikingly indicates this situation.

The writer will welcome the day when faculty members will cease to be less research worms and more warmly sympathetic and understanding human beings. Those who truly attempt to understand the educational situation, however, will realize that our instructors are to some extent the victims of a vicious regime in which in the past a higher premium has been placed upon research than upon honest-to-goodness teaching. Those of us who would rant and spew at them would well realize too that our parents helped to perpetuate this system by failing to adequately recompense the talented instructors we possess. All speed to the day when the real teacher will come into his own and we can relegate the research worker to the laboratory where he would find his true happiness. Only with such fearless leadership as President Frank is exhibiting in planning to give the Experimental College a tryout will this happy situation result.

Meanwhile, let us not be too harsh on our faculty members, many of whom are "bigger" men and women than most of us can ever hope to be. The Experimental College yet has to merit unqualified praise.

Readers' Say So

(Continued from page four) they felt it to be the best. But I defy them to prove it. If their parents had been broad and liberal minded people and had not forced the child into their particular creed the child would have grown up to have more comprehensive ideas of religion, or as it would more logically have happened to discard all conventional forms of religion for Agnosticism. You Methodists, you Catholics, you Jews, you Baptists, and all you various religious denominations, would you be Methodists, Catholics, Jews, or Baptists if your fathers had not been? You have blindly accepted those ancient doctrines that are opposed to scientific principles and that are full of prejudiced ideas and narrow-minded bigotry.

However, there may be a few students—a very few—who have become Methodists, Catholics, Jews, Baptists, Presbyterians or anything else, even though their families were not of that religion. I admire this class of students, for they are really sincere, but I cannot help feeling that they have been duped into a bad bargain. If they had looked closely they would have found that all these creeds are false according to all the basic laws of science and common sense. Realizing the inadequacy of these creeds they could have turned more profitably to agnosticism or, better yet, could have followed in the footsteps of that great naturalist, Luther Burbank, and become atheists.

I think that this university needs a thorough religious cleanup. To bring this about I suggest the ousting of all the "foundations" with their professional religious salesmen. If the student want to cling to their various creeds let them have their own meetings. Such meetings would stimulate an individual desire for and knowledge of religion instead of having it poured down their throats by those who make religion their business. It is only through knowledge of these creeds that a student can arrive at their fallacies and build up in their stead a more logical, a more reasonable and a broader point of view.

Some enterprising student at Leland Stanford was determined to have "it" in one way or another. So when a large poster of Clara Bow was put up in one of the theaters to advertise the coming of "It" he carefully removed the picture from the frame and took it home with him. The manager of the theater thinks that a scrupulous conscience must have kept him from taking the frame.

HUGH WALPOLE TO SPEAK HERE

Distinguished English Novelist to Contrast Present-day and Victorian Novels

Hugh Walpole, distinguished English novelist and critic, who is in America on another lecture tour, will speak in Madison at 8 o'clock Friday, March 11, at the Christ Presbyterian church. Mr. Walpole, who is the author of "The Cathedral," "The Green Mirror," "The Duchess of Wrexhe," and "The Wooden Horse," has not only written some of the most exquisite novels in the English language, but is also considered to be the foremost literary critic of the present day. He has an interesting and original message, and everyone who meets Mr. Walpole is impressed by his confirmed optimism.

International Club Opens Campaign for Membership

"The International club of the university of Wisconsin, wishing to increase its usefulness, solicits the cooperation of all who subscribe to its ideal, 'Above all Nations is Humanity.'" Such is the content of a bulletin issued by the club yesterday.

"This is membership week for us," explained President Sakamaki, '27 and we cordially welcome into membership all who would join with us in promoting a spirit of world fraternity among the peoples of the world represented on the campus of Madison."

From casual comments of American students, it appears that the meetings of the International club are altogether different from anything else on the campus. In them one learns more about the cosmopolitan peoples of the world and foreign students find it equally interesting and profitable to meet the people from the world over, say its members.

A record crowd is anticipated at the opening party of the club tomorrow night at the Delta Zeta sorority house, 142 Langdon street.

Conservation Bills Passed by Assembly

Way Opened For Counties To Reforest Lands Of State

Five minor bills, four of them relating to conservation and the fifth to promissory notes, were passed by the assembly this morning.

Chief among them was Assemblyman John Fronek's bill providing that counties may undertake reforestation and make appropriations along this line.

Assemblyman Paul Fuhrman's measure adding Shawano county to the list of counties in which there will be no open season for deer in 1928 also was adopted.

Assemblyman Archie McDowell's measure establishing closed season for rough fish was passed without argument.

Ice fishing is prohibited in certain northern lakes under provisions of Assemblyman J. D. Grady's bill.

"Snowshoe Al" ("Bitterroot Bill") otherwise George Carroll, and Richard Henry Little, conductor of the Chicago Tribune "Line O' Type" will be speakers at the third Matrix Table of the Illinois chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, Honorary journalistic fraternity for women.

John Rockefeller Prentice, grandson of the oil magnate, was one of the seventeen juniors to be elected to the Yale chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic fraternity. Mr. Prentice has voluntarily earned his way through school by working the switchboard of a hospital. Incidentally he strayed out of school a year to catch up on his finances.

They Speak in Superlatives

Mme. Sigrid Onegin

FEW singers have had such fulsome adulation from critics in all parts of the country as Mme. Sigrid Onegin, the Swedish contralto of the Metropolitan Opera Company, who sings here on March 14 at University Stock Pavilion under auspices of the Wisconsin Union.

A glance through the singer's scrap-book reveals superlatives from every city in which she has sung. In New York, for instance, "superb" appeared in almost every review accorded to her. In Chicago she was called "unbelievable." In Boston it was said that "people would doubtless flock to her concerts if she did nothing but sing scales and arpeggios."

In Philadelphia she was acclaimed as "perhaps the finest contralto Philadelphia has heard." In Brooklyn the verdict was that "Onegin's is one of the most glorious and ample contralto voices heard here years."

Union Bus Station Plans Here Held Up

Plans for construction of a union bus station on vacant land on the south side of the 300 block W. Main st. have been temporarily abandoned, it was announced today by Harry G. Smith, local real estate dealer.

Failure to secure the required number of signers favoring the building was believed to be the cause for the action, although Mr. Smith declined to say definitely. According to the zoning law 75 per cent of the owners of property within 200 feet of the property to be used must sign a petition favoring construction before it will be permitted.

Three properties were being considered by the promoters. They were the P. H. Carey, Davidson, and Kownig lots in the center of the block. Mr. Smith announced that the company has not determined on any other location.

FACULTY MEMBERS TO OFFER RECITAL

Mylene Johnson and Irene Eastman Will Give Ensemble Program Tuesday

A recital unique in choice of program as well as arrangement of instruments will be presented by Miss Mylene Johnson, pianist and Miss Irene Eastman, organist members of the School of Music faculty Tuesday March 15, at Music hall. Miss Louise Lockwood will be the assisting artist.

Ensemble music for a combination of organ and piano will take the place of the customary solo groups.

The program has been built to obtain the most from the diverse parts of the organ. Orchestral effects will be produced for instance in the D minor symphony by Guil-mant.

Two pianos will aid the organ in the musical oddity "Carnival of Animals," by Saint Saens. Animal noises, of elephants kangaroos, cocks, and hens will be simulated. The work was written originally for two pianos, flute, clarinet, xylophone, harmonica and strings. The orchestral parts were arranged for the organ by Miss Johnson.

The recital of ensemble music is the first of its kind to be presented in Madison.

Prof. Ogg Writes on Balkan Attitude Toward Fascism

The varying attitudes of the several Balkan states upon the question of Italian control on the peninsula is the subject of the article written by Prof. Ogg, head of the political science department appearing in the March issue of the Current History magazine.

"Italian Penetration of the Balkans" as the article is headed, is a discussion of the succession of steps taken by Italy in the Balkans since the World War and the movements undertaken by the different states concerned.

The strategic position of Bulgaria, the active offensive of Yugoslavia and the futile appeal of Albania to the League of Nations for protection are some of the timely and interesting things discussed by Prof. Ogg in his article.

New public baths to be built at Bethnal Green, one of London's poorest districts, will contain electric baths and an electric laundry.

Headline says "Germ's home life laboratory and not a divorce court bared." But it was a story from some at all.

At present she is sponsoring a bill in the legislature urging the state-wide adoption of the permanent registration plan.

To Open Bascom Addition Reading Quarters Monday

In response to a long-felt need, the new Bascom hall library and reading room, located on the ground floor of the new Bascom addition, will open its doors to the student body Monday, if present plans are carried out, as scheduled, according to D. A. Wolf, library assistant and chief of the Bascom hall reading room.

The new quarters will have a triple purpose, in the opinion of G. A. Chandler, assistant secretary of the faculty. In addition to serving as a library the room will be used for registration purposes and for housing many students, who for lack of space do much of their last-minute pre-class studying in the hallways and on the stairs.

Sometime this week there will be a removal of approximately 1000 books from the university library to the new quarters. This number will be increased as need for them increases.
