HALF MILLION PLEDGED FOR NEW MEMORIAL

Plans for Unit Construction Will Quicken Chances of Erection

New plans by which Wisconsin's Union Memorial building may be constructed by units rather than as a complete structure, together with the fact that nearly a half million dollars is already on hand will make possible the erection and completion of the structure within a few years.

The original plans for the building have been changed and the new plans are being drawn up by the state architect. These will provide for the building of the Union in units, the probable order of which will be the commons, first, to provide eating facilities for several thousand students.

The other units will follow in the order of Memorial unit, offices and meeting rooms, and the theater.

An intensive drive for subscriptions will be opened immediately on the opening of school in the fall. The incoming freshman class and the sophomores have not as yet been approached.

According to Dean S. H. Goodnight, in the neighborhood of half a million dollars has already been subscribed, and it is practically certain that by September the site will have been secured and a half million dollars will be available for building.

The site proposed for the structure is that occupied by the present Union building and the Infirmary near the Y. M. C. A. The building will serve as a center for student life and provide a commons for a large number of students. It will include a memorial and trophy room; reading and social rooms; commons consisting of dining rooms, large and small; rooms for Union board, Senate, Court, debating societies, spaces for dancing, offices for various student organizations, billiard and bowling rooms; alumni headquarters and faculty rooms; and a theater.

SCHEDULE FOR NEW YEAR WILL BE MADE

All University organizations have been requested to send in their preferences as to dates for events the ensuing year. Dean S. H. Goodnight has arranged for a meeting next week at which time next year's schedule will be made out. The dates for all events will be placed at the most convenient time and all preferences given due consideration.

Union Vodvil was not run last year because the date was set for the second semester when it could not be conveniently given, so this year it will be staged the first semester. It is planned for Union Vodvil to show in alternate years with the Engineers' Minstrels.

LINDEN PREACHING AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Evangelist John M. Linden, a former first assistant to "Billy" Sunday, is preaching on Sundays during July at the First Baptist church, corner N. Carroll and W. Dayton streets and the church extends a cordial invitation to the summer students to hear him. His next Sunday subjects of his sermons are announced in an advertisement in this issue.

Ahoy, Lasses! Cardinal Bathing Suit Contest To Be Held Soon

"And maybe the winners of the contest will come under the observation of Mack Sennett and then get in the movies and everything."

Yes, girls, this is our method of approaching the prize contest to be held soon, when the Cardinal judges will choose from the fair beach beauties the one with the most striking bathing suit and likewise the best swimmer.

It will indeed be a task that would jolly well worry Paris himself, but The Cardinal believes that it has to be done, and so three competent judges (we dare not announce their names at present for fear of bribery) will decide.

So if you wear a plain old suit but really can swim, there's a chance, and if you are one of the crop of beach beauties and have a costume that young men look at several times, there's also a chance for you.

Watch for the date and time and place. Keep in the swim. Remember that the swimmers will live forever in the summer school hall of fame. It's coming—soon!

BADGER ON SALE— RUSH FOR 1922 PUBLICATION ON

Summer Students Given Chance to Obtain Book at Low Cost

The 1922 Badgers have again been put on sale in order to give the summer students a chance to obtain a copy of the annual. The books are selling at the low price of four dollars, and as only about 250 copies are now available those desiring one should place their order early. These are unclaimed volumes on which a dollar deposit had been paid.

The Badger is a 750 page affair and is beautifully illustrated. The price per copy of publishing the book was $7.00, being the most expensive and elaborate annual ever gotten out at the university.

Teachers will find the book of great value as a guide to getting out their own high school or college annual, as well as a constant reminder of the university and all it has to offer. Probably the most striking feature of the publication is its illustrations in color and photographs of the scenic places of the campus and the city.

The Badger is on sale at the Cop, Morgan's the University pharmacy, Menges' drug stores on the square and at Park street and University avenue and will also be sold on the campus next week during the mornings. Orders may be placed at the campus sales stand for later delivery of the book. Summer students are urged not to leave the university without a copy of The Badger, "The biggest four dollars' worth" that money can buy!

ILLINOIS STUDENTS HOLD PICNIC SPREE

Over fifty students from Illinois attended a picnic at Vilas park Wednesday evening. Following a picnic supper, games were indulged in, and one of the favorite sports proved to be "sightseeing in the zoo". A state club was organized and several social outings will be held to which all Illinois students are invited. On Tuesday July 12 a boat trip will be held starting at 7 p. m. and on Thursday July 21 a steak fry at Merrill Springs is the attraction.

SOLDAN WILL TALK AT VESPER SERVICE

Union vespers will be held at the open air theater at 7 p. m. on Sunday. Rev. A. J. Soldan of the Lutheran Memorial will deliver the address. The Presbyterian orchestra will play for the service and Prof. E. B. Gordon will lead singing.

FOREIGN LANDS WILL FEATURE SECOND MIXER

International Night is Program for Social Gathering at Lathrop Hall

Tonight, the mixer will not be a strictly "Made in America" program, for foreign students, attired in native costume will receive at the second informal summer session social gathering to be held in Lathrop hall. This is International night.

Vocal solos by a Sioux Indian and real Hawaiian music by several native Hawaiians will form part of the program. Prof. P. W. Dykema will direct the community singing while the games are to be supervised by Prof. J. C. Elsom.

One feature of the "get-acquainted" part of the program will be the gatherings in group of those people whose birthday months are the same. Prof. E. B. Gordon, who is in charge, assures a reg'lar good time for all.

FIRST GAME IN SUMMER SERIES PLAYED TONIGHT

The first of the series of baseball games planned for the summer session will be played tonight at 6 o'clock on the lower campus. Coach Guy S. Lowman's summer session regulars will meet a combination team of Lake st. fraternity men. The game was scheduled for Thursday evening but was postponed on account of a muddy field.

Other teams in the league are being organized under the direction of Coach Lowman. Teams from Dixie and the Rocky mountain district besides several state teams will be entered. A six team league is assured.

Men who would like to play should hand their names to Coach Lowman.

CERCLE FRANCAIS HEARS ZDANOWICZ

The Cercle Francais, at its second meeting of the summer in Lathrop hall Thursday evening, enjoyed a musical program and a talk by Prof. C. D. Zdanowicz, of the department of romance languages. He related his experiences as a Y. M. C. A. worker in France. Professor Zdanowicz described the Y. M. C. A. huts, and the city of Metz, and spoke of the relations of Alsace-Lorraine to France since the war.

A vocal solo by Marion Mosel ("Je Veux Vivre," by Gounod), a whistling solo by Reba Hayden ("Il Bacio," by Ardit), and French songs, led by Miss Marguerite Treille, of the French house, completed the evening's program.

FOUR PLAYS ON NEW PROGRAM; STATES PICNIC

Third Week Adds New Events in Way of Lectures and Meets

Four plays by the Clifford Devereux troupe opening with Lytton's "Richelieu" Thursday night, will top the program for this week. The other plays will be Ibsen's "Hendrich Hudson" Friday night; "Daniel Bruce" by Gilberts Saturday afternoon; and Maeterlinck's "Monna Vanna" Saturday evening.

Several of the newly organized state groups will hold picnics during the week.

TESTS OF TOBACCO EFFECTS ON MIND NOW NEARING COMPLETION

Results of Two Years Experimentation by O'Shea and Hull of Education Department Will Soon be Made Known; Many Devices Are Perfected; Hundreds Aid in Work

Two years ago Professor M. V. O'Shea, of the Department of Education, began an investigation to determine the effect of tobacco upon the mind. Some phases of the work are already completed, but the work that is going on in the psychological laboratory will continue throughout this summer.

The work in the laboratory was begun two years ago under the immediate charge of Dr. Hull, and it has continued practically without intermission up to the present time. Special devices have been perfected so as to detect very minute changes in mental activity. Especially has Dr. Hull devised a way of overcoming the influence of suggestion, so that the effect of tobacco without any other influence can be measured.

Each subject who is put through the test is studied for 20 days without any intermission, for three hours a day. Persons who are smokers, as well as those who do not smoke, have been subjected to experiments. Only men have been used in the study. A few months ago newspaper reporters started a story to the effect that women were being paid by Professor O'Shea to smoke and chew so as to study the effect upon their minds, but Professor O'Shea says no woman has ever been asked to undergo the experiments.

A number of lines of investigation have been carried on parallel with the work in the laboratory. Nearly one thousand principals of high schools have co-operated in the study of their pupils in order to determine whether the smokers were inferior or superior in scholarship to the non-smokers. A large amount of valuable information has been secured as a result of this inquiry.

Supplementing the observations of high-school principals, the records of a large number of high-school pupils have been traced from the time they were in the third grade up to the point they have at present reached in their high-school work. The records of smokers and non-smokers have been compared. It was learned at what point in their school career smokers began smoking, and it was noted what happened to their intellectual work after they began smoking, as compared to the records of non-smokers. All factors such as dancing, movies, billiard halls, and the like, that could influence the scholarship of high-school pupils, have been studied in connection with tobacco; and by the use of appropriate statistical methods, it has been possible to differentiate tobacco from other factors and measure its influence. Twenty cities throughout the country have co-operated in this difficult task.

Supplementary to the other lines of investigation, Professor O'Shea wrote 500 of the most distinguished men in American life—25 of the leading men in each profession, industry, or occupation. Each person was asked to state what experience he had had with tobacco, either in his own use of it or in its use by employees or associates. Practically all of the persons who were addressed responded, and many of them at great length, giving information with respect to the various points which they were asked to give testimony on. The data derived from this line of investigation alone would make a readable volume. Professor O'Shea is having the co-operation of some persons in England and in France, who are investigating the situation in those countries with respect to the use of tobacco by men and women of distinction. In America, women who are prominent in literary and artistic work were asked to testify regarding their use of tobacco, and all of them without exception wrote freely regarding the questions asked them.

The report covering the various lines of investigation is now being prepared and it is expected that it will be completed during the fall. With the completion of the laboratory work this summer, the data will all be in hand. Professor O'Shea has refused to make any statement regarding the results of any phase of the investigation. He says that it would be premature to say anything about the investigation until the report is completed and placed in the hands of the American Committee for the Study of the Tobacco Problem, which committee furnished the funds to cover the actual expenses of the investigation.

STUDENT HOUSE OF PRESBYTERIANS IS BUSY PLACE

The Presbyterian Student House, 731 State st., is proving exceedingly popular with the Summer School students. It is in use every day as a convenient place to rest and meet friends. Several larger groups have used the utensils provided by the house for their picnics, and the chapel services held at the house Sunday mornings are very well attended. This Student House is always open and students are free to use it at any time.

There will be a lawn party and mixer for the Presbyterian students and their friends at the Student house, Saturday evening, from 7:30 to 10:30. The Student orchestra will furnish music, songs will be sung, various games played and ice cream and wafers served. A cordial invitation is extended all.

State Fire Marshal Probes Edgerton Blaze

Representatives of the state fire marshal's office are investigating the $260,000 fire which destroyed the new assembly unit of the Edgerton Highway Trailer Co., on Monday. The probe was requested by James Mehall, president of the company, to determine the cause of the fire. The ruins are being left in their present condition pending completion of the investigation. A report is expected by Saturday.

FACULTY AND EMPLOYEES TO HOLD PICNIC

A picnic will be given Saturday, July 9, at Camp Randall by the university faculty and employees, as a farewell to Business Manager H. J. Thorkelson who begins his duties with the General Educational Board of New York City July 15. In his new work, those institutions which receive aid from the Educational Board will be inspected and aid given in such problems as those of the budget, administration and organization.

In case of rain the schedule of events planned will be carried out in the stock pavilion. Races of all kinds, tug-of-war, a baseball game, pie eating and nail driving contests and singing led by Prof. P. W. Dykema will constitute the afternoon entertainment till mess call sounds at 6 o'clock. A regular picnic lunch will be served, but everyone who attends must have their own cups and and continues until 10:30, the music being furnished by the New Crescent orchestra. At 8:30, the holder of the lucky number will receive the one-hundred dollar Victrola to be given away. A prize of three dollars will be given the oldest couple on the grounds and a similar prize to the largest family.

The committee has made all possible arrangements to make the affair one worth coming to and all members of the association are invited to come and bring friends.

Mrs. William Mueller and Miss Ruth Mueller, Gilson st., have returned from a visit in Sun Prairie.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES

THE DAYS of witchcraft and superstition have presumably passed into history and it would appear that all belief in signs of any kind has gone with them.

Of course one is usually very particular of the use of ones presents, especially birthday gifts, but we have always assumed that the eyes were supposed to be used for things other than decorative purposes. But may be we are mistaken. Perhaps the eyes have gone the same route as feminine ears—to be used only in cases of emergency. We would suggest, however, that the optics be cast upon the walls of Bascom hall the next time you go to class.

At the top and foot of each staircase there are directions for the movement of traffic to and from classes, and a careful observance of these rules will eliminate the unnecessary congestion in the doorways, halls and on the stairs. The first two weeks are over and yet there are students who insist on entering the building by way of the exits, leaving by way of the entrances and elbowing their way up and down the stairs, meeting students coming from the opposite direction with a complacent smile of self-satisfaction suffusing their faces.

What a wonderful place for Irvin Cobb and Mrs. Rinehart to have gotten material for their stories "Well, You Know How Women Are" and "Isn't That Just Like a Man"!

THE TWAIN WILL MEET

IN a commendable effort to assure a real success of this evening's mixer, the committee on arrangements has developed some distinctly novel stunts.

Tonight is International night. Foreign students will appear in their native costume. The bizarre trappings of the Sioux Indians will be contrasted with the more sombre colorings of the Orientals. East and West shall meet in spirit, song and story, literally as well as figuratively speaking. The Swan song of the Indian and the "Poor Butterfly" of the Japanese will be followed by Hawaiian music played by native Hawaiians.

International Night should be well attended.

The program for this evening will be entertaining and educational. More than that, it will be interesting. And it promises to be a real mixer.

WHEN DO MIXERS MIX?

THE mixer held on the upper campus last Friday evening was not an unmitigated success. Whether it more closely resembled a farce or a tragedy would be hard to determine. It contained elements of both.

If the aim of all good mixers is for the participants to mix, then the purpose of this one was sadly defeated. An over-generous Providence decreed that there should be present in the neighborhood of three women to one man, or rather that three women should be in the neighborhood of one man. This disparity in numbers gave real cause for alarm to both the majority and minority.

Arrangement for entertainment was totally inadequate. Those in charge of entertainment evidently believed that the truest hospitality and welcome consisted in encouraging the guests to entertain themselves, unhindered and unaided.

The unfortunate result was that the summer session students, unfamiliar with the campus and the Wisconsin variety of mixer, wandered around from group to group trying to find someone they knew or would like to know. No banners, pennants, or designs of any nature marked the gathering places for the various states.

The crowd was scattered well over the upper campus, it was impossible for any one director to assemble them or to make himself heard. For those desiring to dance there was no provision. Methods for getting the students together in a genuine mixing stunt were noticeably absent.

It remained for the students to take the initiative and waive all manner of introduction—formal or general. Proof that some were not successful in overcoming their inherent modesty of spirit could be observed in the segregation of men in one group, women in another. As a mixer it left much to be desired. We look for a change in the manner of conducting the Friday night socials.

Observation and Comment

By MacCARROL PATTISON

Now that the first few busy days are over in the institutions that are running Summer Sessions, the evidence of what has kept them so busy is beginning to appear. It is simply the old story of the "lure of knowledge". Record enrollments are quite a little like

OUR ROLL bumper crops, when they come they arrive with a vengeance. Every university and college is boasting of its enrollment, and with them Wisconsin makes its bid for consideration with its more than 4,500 students. From our local contemporary The State Journal we quote the following editorial under the title "Something to be Proud of!"

"University big affair even in summer" headlines the Chicago Tribune, making much over the fact that the University of Illinois has 1,894 students in its summer school. It is a good showing, sure enough, but it pales somewhat beside the Wisconsin university's record. There are 4,500 students at Madison in the summer school, and they have come from all over the United States to take their work! Many of them are graduates of other schools; many are themselves teachers come to broaden and deepen their acquirements. Although Wisconsin outside of the university in general does not realize it, our state center of learning is perhaps the most distinguished single factor in the state's splendid reputation. We have spent money freely upon the university—freely compared with other states rather than in the absolute sense—but it has brought great returns. Probably Wisconsin can fairly claim possession of the most important state university in the country, and one that can hold up its head in the company of the oldest and most famous schools here or in Europe. It is an achievement of tremendous consequence for a commonwealth whose history began a good deal less than a century ago, and whose university is younger by many years, that it should summon thousands to its gates from all over this land and even from abroad; that it should be preferred above others as the source of the intensive education implied in post-graduate work. That it shall maintain this leadership, the fruit of great effort and sacrifice and vision of pioneer educators of the state, should be one of the most intimate concerns of every citizen of Wisconsin."

The departure of Frederick E. Wolf for Europe as a member of a committee whose purpose it is to study the conditions existing among both students and faculty members in foreign institutions, is a direct recognition not only of the abilities of the University of Wisconsin but of the progress and standing the local association has in the college world. Wisconsin will be represented along with Yale, Illinois and California, and the story of her activities and prestige will be told to many a student in that great region of unrest in central Europe. The realization of the deficient state in that region by so large a body as the World Christian Federation, which appealed to the International Committee of the Y. M. C. A. to aid adjusting it, marks Wisconsin's part in the investigation as a signal honor.

"Tobacco growers of the state will be guests of the university tomorrow," says a recent news item, and now as we write this we observe a piece of copy on the editorial spindle which recounts Professor O'Shea's still undisclosed tests with brains and tobacco. The ever helpful college, say we.

Things are looking up for the university these days. After many months of waiting in quite the same position as the folks looking for the heritage from uncle, the long-anticipated has arrived. We can now take the nails out of our pockets and jangle a little real wealth.

Can any one suggest an original salutation for these hot days?

BULLETIN BOARD

The Bulletin Board is run as a regular department of the summer session Cardinal. It is open for use by all organizations to announce their activities. Material should be left at the Union building office not later than 3:00 p. m. on the date of issue. Phone messages cannot be guaranteed.

BAPTIST STUDENTS

All the Baptist students are asked to meet at the historical library Saturday July 9, at 3:30 p. m. The group will then go on a short hike to some cool spot along the lake drive. A general social time will follow. Supper will be served at the cost of 25 cents. Let us make this a real affair. Please phone the Baptist student secretary, J. B. Gleason by Friday afternoon, at B. 4226.

MICHIGAN STUDENTS

Due to the various trips that are to be taken on Saturday, the committee has set the date of our picnic for Friday, July 15. There will be two boats leaving the Park street pier for Bernards park at 4:30 and 5:15. A nominal fee will be charged at the picnic grounds. Special for the ladies only—you may bring a man if you wish. Sign up before Wednesday, July 13, at bulletin boards at Bascom hall, foot of the hill or in the lobby of the Y. M. C. A.

INDIANA STUDENTS

All Indiana students are urged to attend the meeting of the state organization Friday, July 8, 7:00 to 8:00 p. m., on the campus between Lathrop hall and the Law building. In case of rain meet in Music hall auditorium. All Indiana people come and get better acquainted.

GUN AND BLADE

Meeting of Gun and Blade Thursday evening, July 7, at 7:15 o'clock in the Union building.

Milk Movie Shown

By University Bureau

A Big Idea, meaning the wider use of milk as a food, was the feature of the first showing of educational movies at the university last night under the bureau of visual instruction. Prof. S. M. Babcock, father of "the big idea," was shown in the pictures and was applauded by the large audience. The university movies will be shown every Wednesday night in Main hall during the summer session.

Volunteers' Picnic to Take Place July 14

The Volunteers of America annual outing for 4,000 Madison children will be held July 14 instead of July 17 as was announced. All children who have not yet received their tickets are asked to get them immediately.

GOVERNMENT HAS GROWN PIECE-MEAL BETWEEN NATONS —POTTER

Development of International Law is Traced in League of Nations Talk

"International government has developed piece-meal," said Prof. P. B. Potter, of the Political Science department, in the first of his series of lectures on "The League of Nations" Thursday afternoon.

"The crisis of 1914 found us with no world-governing machine, although we had pieces of such machinery all around the shop."

Professor Potter illustrated, graphically, the rapid increase in the growth of international organization within the last 25 years.

"Interstate law is not a new thing. It began by personal diplomatic relations between states. These relations were recorded and known as treaties. From such treaties 10,000 of which exist today, were formulated our international laws.

The Court of Arbitration was the first international governing organ, and it served only to settle disputes, not to prevent them. Perhaps the most useful, and the least known, international organizations have been the Administrative bureaus, which control transportation, wireless and telegraph communication, prevents spread of disease across frontiers."

Another step toward world government, Professor Potter pointed out, was the International conference system, whereby any nation having a grievance might invite the consultation of representatives from other nations.

All these were methods of settling disputes. The need of some method of preventing disagreement that would lead to war, brought, as its remedy, the League of Nations, in 1918-19.

Next week Professor Potter will speak on "Functioning of the League of Nations."

Born at Vilas Zoo

Two white fallow sacred deer, whose ancestors roamed on the east coast of the Black sea, and several black crested night herons were born recently at the Henry Vilas zoo.

In some parts of the world, the natives will not kill deer and it is this particular species that the eastern natives worship. Since their arrival at the zoo, the family has increased to five.

NAME NURSING BODY MEMBERS

Seven Appointed by State Health Board to New Committee

The state board of health announced Friday the appointment of seven members of the committee on nursing education, created by laws of 1921, reorganizing the act relating to the registration of nurses. According to these provisions, the executive officer of the state board of health, a representative of the public health nursing bureau, and the state director of nursing education (to be appointed), are members of this committee, and the others consist of a number of representatives of organizations interested in raising nursing standards.

The appointments follow:

For Wisconsin State Nurses' association—Miss Amalia Olson, Luther hospital, Eau Claire, and Miss Agnes Reid, Bradley Memorial hospital, Madison.

For Wisconsin State League of Nursing Education—Miss Shirley Titus, superintendent of nurses, Columbia hospital, Milwaukee, and Mrs. Adelaide Northam, superintendent of nurses, Milwaukee county hospital, Wauwatosa.

For Wisconsin Hospital association—H. K. business manager, Madison general hospital.

For Catholic Hospital association—Dr. Joseph Lettenberger, Milwaukee.

For State Medical society—Dr. Oscar Lotz, Milwaukee.

The members will serve without compensation.

The duties of this committee are to supervise standards for all schools of nurses; to provide for and require the examination and registration of nurses; to make a study of nursing education and generally to initiate rules tending to improve nursing education; to make rules for the administration of this law, and to place schools of nursing on the accredited list.

On or before Sept. 1 this committee will nominate, for appointment by the state board of health, a state director of nursing education and a board of examiners for nurses.

The committee will meet in Madison, Tuesday, July 19, to organize, in offices of the state board of health.

The National Child Welfare council will soon select some city in the U. S. between 20,000 and 30,000 population in which to conduct a child health demonstration, covering several years, upon which $200,000 will be expended. The aim is to establish an ideal child health service in this city and adjacent county. Eau Claire is an active bidder and her advantages have been investigated by a representative of the council. Dr. Richard A. Bolt, New York, chairman of the National Child Health council, and general director of the American Child Hygiene association, attended the National Conference of Social Work at Milwaukee in June and familiarized himself with Wisconsin as a field for advanced forms of social effort. Dr. C. A. Harper, state health officer, conferred with Dr. Bolt relative to the choice of Eau Claire for this demonstration, which will attract national attention.

At The Theaters

AT THE STRAND

"Snowblind", a story of the Canadian Northwest, featuring Pauline Starke, is now being shown at the Strand Theatre. Beautiful Pauline Starke was never more lovely than in her present role of a girl blinded by the snow who is taken to the home of a fugitive from the law and falls in love with him as he boasts to her of his great deeds. Gradually, as her sight returns, she realizes his wickedness and seeks the protection of the fugitive's brother. It would be unfair to tell how this triangle works out, for part of its enjoyment lies in the surprise that nature herself has stored up for the three persons involved.

There is also being shown a one reel comedy "Meet My Husband" and a Pathe Review.

Would-be Star Gazers Must

by Before Peeping Through 'scope.

Star gazers galore climbed, like the famous king, up the hill and then down again Wednesday night. For the weather man did not seem to recall that it was the first night of the summer session that the observatory was open to the public, and from across Lake Mendota came scudding clouds and blotted out all the twinkling worlds that we wanted to see closer.

Even after hope seemed gone, the lovers of astronomy remained on the hill and chatted. Many questions were forth coming.

"Can I find Betelgeuse with the big glasses?"

"Do I have to take off my glasses to look at the stars?"

"What is the diameter of the telescope?"

"How can I tell a planet from just an ordinary star?"

Two weeks from Wednesday—on July 20 to be exact, the observatory will again be open in the evening. In the meanwhile students are at liberty to come up during the day and inspect the big sky searcher.

BLAINE HAS PITY ON FARMER BOY; VETOES FISH BILL

Governor Will Allow Lads to Fish "After Cows Are Milked"

To allow the "farmer boy to go fishing after the cows are milked," Gov. Blaine Friday vetoed an assembly bill restricting the use of dip nets in certain inland waters. "This bill not only deprives the farmer boy of this opportunity, but it also deprives a large number of people who use such fish for food from obtaining the fish," the governor says in his message accompanying the veto.

Under provisions of the measure which was a duplicate of a bill passed early in the session and later amended, use of dip nets would be prohibited in certain streams from an hour after sunset to sunrise.

"The bill affects certain waters which contain scarcely any game fish, and which waters contain largely what are known as suckers, Governor Blaine declares. These suckers run at night, and generally later than one hour after sunset."

GUN AND BLADE TAKES STAND ON ANTI-BONUS ACT

Send Telegrams to Senators Condemning Chamber of Commerce Attitude

At a meeting of the Gun and Blade club last night, several resolutions were adopted and telegram sent to various Senators and Congressmen expressing the attitude of the disabled men on the subjects of the adjusted compensation and Sweet bills.

A resolution, a copy of which was telegraphed to Senator McCumber who is behind the Compensation bill, condemning the national Chamber of Commerce was adopted. The resolution says that the business organization is scattering booklets entitled "National Obligations to Veterans" for the purpose of killing the adjusted Compensation Bill, popularly known as the bonus bill. Copies of this resolution will also be sent to the Wisconsin Senators and Congressmen and others.

Telegram sent to Smoot

A telegram was mailed to Senator Smoot informing him of the club's action on the Sweet Bill. Smoot is chairman of the sub-committee which is considering the Sweet Bill, a measure to consolidate the branches of the compensation and vocational departments for the relief of disabled veterans. Another telegram was sent, after the adopting of a resolution favoring a senate bill which provides for the retirement of emergency officers who were disabled as well as regular army officers.

The club has a ball team and have already received an informal challenge from a similar organization at the University of Michigan.

It is expected that suits will be bought. A game with Delta Sigma Phi will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 P. M. on the lower campus.

RELIEF

Welcome Witness Will Withhold Withering Wiltedness of 'Wery' Warm Weather—for a Day Anyhow.

The rain came, after all. Just when it seemed impossible to stand it any longer, and when even the Profs. had discarded their sack coats and the dainty co-ed took half an hour to climb the hill, and the b. v. d. advertisement man had to remove his arrow collar—the rain came!

With an electrical display that would have pleased Ben Franklin, the storm burst. The lakes were all whitecaps. The gutters turned from replicas of the Snake River in August to veritable Pueblo flood plains. Marooned voyagers crowded under awnings and the Chinese laundrymen put out their dishpans.

After the rain had passed a breeze came up from some where and today is as balmy as San Diego in March. In consequence the assignments have increased. And the lake is not quite as popular. But, oh boy, what a relief!

Albert E. Austin is seriously ill at his home 808 North Pinckney street. Mr. Austin was stricken with heart trouble about one week ago. He is a member of the auto firm of the Jacobson-Austin Co.

A lawn party and musical evening is the next social feature on the club's calendar and it was decided to hold this affair on Saturday night July 23. An orchestra will be on hand, the lawn decorated by Japanese lanterns and music, dancing and refreshments will be features. A double quartet is being organized and will doubtless disturb the Mendota boaters on that night.

The woman's auxiliary of the club also met at the same time and made plans to boost the big social gathering. Members of the club are urged to attend this affair and bring their wives, sisters or lady friends along.

Following the business meeting the Auxiliary served a luncheon of ice cream and cake.

No Silverware Reported Missing but Food Seekers Got Strange Mixtures.

And the coffee soaked the doughnut under cover of the darkness that prevailed at the cafeteria yesterday noon when the lights went out inside and out due to the heavy black clouds that overspread the erstwhile glaring sky. Ghostly lines filed waveringly down the tunnel-like hall of Lathrop in search of they knew not what. A few candles glimmered uncertainly guiding the general direction of the blindly hundry crowd.

"O-oh," a long drawn out wail. The lights went on, and as always happens in that sort of a situation, some were embarrassed—the few who were out of line—stealing a base in the dark—is an exciting game, they say. You never know if you are going to make a home run. "I asked for beans and they gave me meat complained the vegetarian. "And I for lamb and they gave me pork", sighed a fat man with decided traces of Hebrais ancestry in his gestures and countenance.

The cashier smiled a world weary smile—he was rather tired making penny change. It's too bad the lights don't go out oftener," he said, "and maybe we'd all get what we really want and are afraid to ask for in the light of day.
