SOCIAL GROUPS TO BALLOT ON PARTY ABUSES

Dean Goodnight Investigates
Charges Made by Regents and Visitors—List of Questions

Because of charges of "excessive and unwise social activities of certain students," Prof. Scott H. Goodnight, dean of men, has sent a ballot to all fraternities and sororities, asking them to vote on suggestions for improvement made by the faculty committee on student life and interests.

The charges of excess on the part of some students were made by the Board of Visitors and by Regents of the university. An extract from the report of the Board of Visitors on the situation follows:

The Board's Report

"While we deplore the excessive amount of time, energy, and money spent in this way, we realize that there are too many social activities for the few students and not enough for the many. If some way can be found whereby excessive and expensive social activities for the few may be curtailed and simplified, and opportunity for wholesome social intercourse provided for the many, it would be a most desirable accomplishment."

Seven Questions Are Asked

A list of chief abuses was drawn by the faculty committee, and possible solutions for curtailment of these abuses worked out. It is upon these solutions that the fraternities are to vote. The seven questions which are raised are:

Do you approve of concerted action to bring about a reduction of dance orchestra prices?

Will your organization enter upon an agreement with others to affect this end?

Are you willing to abandon the practice of importing orchestras for private parties?

Are you willing to abandon Saturday matinee dances during the semester?

Are you willing to abandon 1 o'clock parties during the semester?

Are you willing to see all

Award Soph Honors To 8 Agric Juniors

Eight juniors in the College of Agriculture have been awarded sophomore honors for high scholastic rank during their first two years in the university. Three of these are women in home economics and five are men in agriculture.

They are: Kathleen Dietrich, Mildred Downie, Sarah Wismer, Allan D. Dickson, Conrad Elvehjem, Harris B. Parmelee, Carl R. Rogers, and Hugh R. Stiles.

Men in agriculture must earn two and one-half grade points for each credit to be awarded sophomore honors. The standard in home economics is the same as in the College of Letters and Science, 135 grade points.

FEB. 11 IS DATE SET FOR ANNUAL WINTER CARNIVAL

Special Races Are Planned For Second Ice Event—List of Workers

With the arrival of cold weather plans for the second annual ice carnival, to be held on Saturday afternoon and evening, Feb. 11, are being made, according to Henry Katz '22, chairman.

Races ranging from one-fourth to two miles in length, 100- and 200-yard dashes, and inter-fraternity, inter-sorority, and rooming house relays will form a large part of the program. An entry fee of 25 cents will be charged for all men's races under one mile.

Special races of 100 yards, quarter mile, and one mile are being scheduled for university women. Women entering these races will not be charged an entry fee.

The course for the relays will be one mile in length, and each team entering the races will be composed of four men. Prizes will be awarded to the winners of these as well as of other races.

"Ice boating, skiing, tobogganing, and a hockey game will also be features of the program," said Katz yesterday. "No ice boat races will take place, however."

Other members of the ice carnival committee are Fred Nolte '23, assistant chairman; Fred Goetz '23, night carnival; Margaret Daly '22, women's events; Gilbert Hoffman '24, entries; Clarence Wille '22, clerk of course; A. F. Youngberg '22, prizes; Carl J. Englehardt '22, finance; Al Willett '22, tickets.

Best Campus Vodvil Talent is Offered at Pre-Prom Dance

Three special feature acts including some of the best vodvil talent on the campus have been prepared for the Pre-Prom dance to be held Friday night, Jan. 13, in Lathrop hall, according to Mord Bogie '23, production manager.

"This party will be the dance of all Pre-Prom dances," said "Doc" Dorward '23, chairman of the committee in charge. "Special permission has been granted for this affair and it is the only all-university function before examinations."

The Pre-Prom dance is an occasion for all students and is not intended for Prom couples alone, according to those in charge. It is one of the special all-university affairs of the year. Thompson's first eight-piece orchestra will furnish the music. Tickets are on sale at the University pharmacy, Runnels' barber shop, and Morgan's.

"The acts we have for the intermission are the best offered on the varsity stage this year," said Bogie, who planned the entertainment.

"Katie" McCall plays the piano for a series of her own melodies in one act, and Mary Wendagel '24, will appear with "Doc" Dorward in a skit called "Snuggle Up." "Duke" Dorsey will be at the piano.

Dave Mahoney '22, and Jess Cohen '24, appear in the third act. Cohen will introduce some original numbers on the piano, and Mahoney has a new line of entertainment ready.

Agric Frolic Held Tonight in Lathrop

The Agric-Home Ec frolic will start promptly at 8:30 o'clock in Lathrop hall gymnasium this evening. Nothing has been left undone to insure every one a good time, according to H. E. Jamison '23, chairman.

Refreshments, special features, a good floor, and good music are among the attractions that will insure a good time. The arrangements committee urges all Agrics and Home Ecs to attend the last mixer before the final exams.

'23 BADGER DAY TO BE HELD ON MONDAY, MAY 1

Deadline For Material Will be in March—Two-thirds of Copy is in

"Monday, May 1, will be Badger day," according to Horace B. Powell '23, editor of the 1923 Badger.

The deadline for copy will be set for some time in March. Already two-thirds of the copy has been forwarded to the Bureau of Engraving, thus proving that work on the book is progressing rapidly.

The girls to be chosen for the representative women's section will be selected from a number of photographs by Neysa McMein. The photography of the girls selected by the committee in charge will begin immediately.

Miss McMein's services are highly valued, especially in view of the fact that she received a request from the University of Illinois to favor them in the same manner, but, because of her former promise to Wisconsin, it was necessary to refuse.

The 1923 Badger will have duotone campus scenes reproduced throughout the book. Proofs for this work have already been returned to the office.

The Spirit of Wisconsin, as manifest years ago, is shown by the letters and write-ups sent in by old grads who have distinguished themselves in the work of the world. A special section will be devoted to Wisconsin's prominent alumni.

Many color plates from New York, which have been obtained either by the office or through influential friends, are received daily by the Badger staff.

Schedule of Final Exams Out Tuesday

The schedule of final examinations for the first semester will be announced the early part of next week, according to an announcement from the registrar's office. It is expected that the schedules will be available for distribution by Tuesday.

Prof. Paxton Will Speak at Vespers

Prof. F. L. Paxton, of the history department, will speak at the Y. W. C. A. vespers services tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 in Lathrop parlors.

DEBATERS WIN OVER MISSOURI IN DUAL CLASH

Badger Affirmative Team is Awarded Decision in Home
Contest—Prof. G. N.
Merry Judges

Wisconsin's affirmative team won the Wisconsin-Missouri debate which was held last night in Music hall. Prof. G. N. Merry, head of the department of speech at the University of Iowa, acted as judge. The question which was debated was: "Resolved, that the Kansas Industrial Court Plan for adjusting industrial disputes should be adopted throughout the United States."

Members of the winning team are Carl Rogers '23, Albert Brown '23, and Carroll Heft '23. Those who debated for Missouri were Louis Potter, John Caskey, and Florence Meisner. Prof. A. P. Haake was chairman for the evening.

Debate Had Many Features

The debate this year, which was the first of the season, had many features new to Wisconsin. This is the first time that a debate has been decided here by one judge. Following his decision Professor Merry analyzed the debate and offered a constructive criticism.

"The debate was an exceedingly interesting one," said Professor Merry. "I had no doubt when the debate was over as to which way the decision lay, the winning affirmative seemed to offer many arguments which were disregarded by the Missouri team. The negative, however, made a decided point which the affirmative failed to quash effectively in its argument concerning the fact that the Kansas plan was not capable of universal application."

The Affirmative's Argument

The chief argument which the affirmative advanced was that public protection is the primary factor which should interest everyone, and that when strikes were held in which the necessities of life were being deprived from people some outside force must be used. They (Continued on Page 9)

Autos Caused 192 Deaths in Eleven Months in State

There were 192 deaths caused by automobiles in Wisconsin during the first 11 months of the past year, an increase of 53 over the total of 139 deaths for the whole year of 1920, according to figures by the state board of health. Automobile accidents are now among the chief causes of violent death and serious injury in the state. More rigid speed laws and increased penalties for recklessness, as well as licensing of drivers on the basis of qualifications to operate cars, have been suggested as means of decreasing the danger.

October was the month with the greatest loss of life due to automobiles when 20 persons were killed. December figures are expected to bring the total over 200.

NEWS OF CONFERENCE SPORTS

NON-“W” MEN VIE TODAY IN CINDER MEET

Annual All-around Tilt Indoors Promises to Be Interesting

The non-varsity all-around track meet scheduled for this afternoon at 2 P. M. in the gymnasium annex promises to be one of the most interesting events of the intra-mural indoor season. From the array of stars entered in the various events, competition for the five ribbons offered as prizes to the high point winners will be keen and well worth watching.

Some of the men entered who will clip off a fast 40 yard dash this afternoon are Salentine, Mainland, Bergstresser, Muzzy, Roberts, Blewett, and Newell. Most of these men have run in former meets of the season, and the distance will probably be done in close to record time today.

Hurdlers Are Strong

In both the low and high hurdles, many men of considerable ability have signed to compete. Salentine, Tuhtar, Mainland, Roberts, Stebbins, and Newell, will skim the sticks in an attempt to win.

With I. Wade, Blewett, Stebbins, entered in the 440 yard dash, a speedy fight is assured in that event. In the half mile run, Hermann, Thiessenhausen, Fabera, Chase, Stewart, I. Wade, and Hilberts will offer one of the best races of the meet. The mile event will be a stiff argument between Thiessenhusen, Hilberts, Fabera, Chase and Hermann, all across country men. Thiessenhusen is also a favorite in the two-mile affair.

May Tie Jump Record

In the field events much good work is promised from the high calibre array of entrants in each department. In the high jump Tuhtar, Salentine, Don Jones, and Roberts will contend for honors, with Tuhtar the favorite thus far. Roberts in the broad jump will probably tie the indoor record. Salentine, Chase, and Muzzy will also contend in this event. In the shot put Strangel, Gude, Iwen, and Holt will toss the leaden sphere, and Don Jones, Widdler, and Tomlinson will aviate in the pole vault with their usual good form.

Name Officials

Officials appointed for the meet by Coach Meade Burke are: Referee and starter—Meade Burke. Clerk of course—Burton White. Assistant clerk of course—Joseph Delfosse. Clerk of track—Budge Mead. Clerk of field—Enos Jones. Judges of finish—Prof. Warner, Prof. Taylor, Prof. Miller, Dr. Elsom. Timers—Robert Duncan, Frank Knickerson, G. T. Nightengale. Scorer—Chas. Jensch. Announcer—A. V. Stegeman. Caller—J. Murphy. Judges of weight events—Guy Sundt, Hans Gude, J. Holzberg, A. Jarvis. Judges of jumps—Les McClure, Pete Platten, Joe Holbrook, P. Niederman. Inspectors—Mark Wall, George Finkle, Carl Rossmiessell.

Ice Boat Brings New Puck Coach to Work

A daily ice boat journey across Lake Mendota will enable Dr. A. K. Viner to supervise the practices of the Varsity hockey squad and fulfill his new duties as coach of the team.

He is stationed at the Mendota hospital and will make the trip in a boat furnished by the athletic department. Love of the sport has caused Viner, who was a star hockey player on the Toronto university team, to devote some time each day to coaching.

He instructed the team in offensive and defensive plays at a chalk talk held last night. Bank shots, requisites for a star goal-tender, and other points of the game were

SIX CONFERENCE FIVES SWING INTO ACTION TONIGHT

Minnesota Meets Northwestern and Chicago and Ohio Clash

With the opening of the Big Ten basketball season, six teams will swing into action tonight. Wisconsin travels to Iowa City for a game with the Hawkeyes. Northwestern meets Dr. Cooke's Gophers at Minneapolis, and Ohio State stacks up against Nels Norgren's Chicago team of basketeers. On Monday night, Wisconsin and Northwestern clash at Evanston, while Michigan pries off the lid by taking on Ohio.

Minnesota will probably present its weakest team in years. The Gophers were badly defeated by Kansas, and the morale of the team has been broken down by continual protests against the methods of Coach Cooke. The Gopher mentor was dismissed with other members of the Minnesota coaching staff, but he was later retained to guide the basketball team's fortunes through the 1922 conference season. Two good tossers, McClinton and Doyle, were recently declared eligible and will bolster up the squad as soon as they work into his system. Capt. Kearney is a veteran of much experience. He was one of the stars last year and played a good game against Wisconsin.

Northwestern is Strong

Northwestern boasts of its strongest squad in recent years. The Purple wallop Yale in an easy game and defeated the Camp Denning, Ga., five by a big score. Coach Dana M. Evans, former Beloit mentor, has whipped a fine combination together. Only one man has been lost from last year's combination. Among the comebacks in the Purple camp this season are Vincent Franzen, "Chuck" Palmer, "Jimmy" Patterson, Holmes, McKenzie, and Saunders. Calhoun, Sharer, Stegeman, and Houghton, from last year's freshman five, have added strength to the lineup of veterans.

Ohio State and Chicago will furnish another interesting scrap. Reports indicate that the Buckeyes are out for a basketball championship to replace the lost football title. Blair was lost to the squad because of an injury in the Yale game, but the rest of the team is in tip-top condition for its opening clash of the year. Ohio took a fall out of Yale along with several other teams and the pre-season showing points to a good team for the Bucks.

Maroons Only Mediocre

The Maroons have made a mediocre showing thus far. They lost games to an American Legion post in Chicago, Lewis institute, and other unknowns. In a game with Camp Denning last Thursday, they came off victors by a 36 to 12 score.

"Fritz" Crisler is the severest loss that Chicago has suffered. Birkhoff and Vollmer are two other graduates. Capt. "Bob" Halladay, McGuire, "Bob" Stahr are holdovers from last season who will be reinforced by Bryan, Hurlbut, Lewis, and Milton Romney. Romney has played a whirlwind game in prelim contests and if he maintains (Continued on page 10.)

explained by the new mentor to a squad of 15 candidates.

If enough players from the four colleges can be assembled, two inter-college hockey games will be played on the Varsity rink this afternoon. Commerce puck chasers and Engineers will probably clash, while an L. and S. septet will take on the Aggies.

More men have been asked to report to Coach Viner before next Tuesday. After that day, no candidates will be accepted, and a squad of 12 men will be chosen from the men who have reported regularly.

12 Men Report For Baseball Practice

Twelve ball tossers and catchers reported to Coach Guy S. Lowman for the first practice of the year yesterday afternoon. On account of the southern trip in April, and several preliminary games before that, practice has been started especially early this season. The batteries will work every day in the annex from 2 to 4:15, and the remainder of the baseball squad will start practice after the beginning of the second semester.

Captain Paddock is sick at present, but is expected to be out for practice next week. Five pitchers from last year are working out at present, Christianson, Raadke, Hoffman, Ritchie, and L. Smith. There are also three new moundsmen out, Mills, a southpaw, Bossard, and Amborn.

Varsity Wrestlers Begin Training For Conference Meets

With several of the Conference teams beginning their schedules Saturday, Wisconsin's Varsity wrestling team continues to train for their matches this winter, which now are but a week or so away. Many of the men have still several pounds to take off, and workouts of the most strenuous nature are being given.

Illinois and Northwestern open the season today at Urbana, and following this all of the Big Ten teams swing into action. Lawrence college will in all probability be the first opponent for Hitchcock's squad, although the Suckers may be brought to Madison for the first clash. On February 11 Northwestern will come to Madison for the first home meet.

The big squad is still coming out regularly, and the first elimination bouts for Varsity positions will begin Monday afternoon. With as many as four or five good men in each class, in some cases, these matches will be watched with interest. The 158 class is especially well represented with Templin, last year's varisty, Heuer, Gregor, and Stockstadt bidding for the berth on the 1922 Varsity.

The heavyweight class is somewhat lacking in material, McMurray of last year's team having failed to report very much so far. Bieberstein, giant football lineman, who wrestled on the Wisconsin freshman team two years ago, and last year was at Ames, is trying for the position and shows up well. In the light-heavy class, since the loss of both Holmes and Barry was made known, several new men have reported, with Young, a junior, and Kiessling, another football guard, also a junior, appearing to have the edge.

The lighter classes have an abundance of material. Captain "Cy" Peterman seems to have few opponents for the welterweight job, although one or two men are reporting at that weight in case of injury to the team leader. Cattau is a good fast man but is light for the weight and could almost make 135. Hembre is another likely looking welterweight.

The 135-pound class will find much competition for the Varsity place. Farrant, a sophomore, is going in great style of late, and appears to have an edge. Other men who will push him are Cattau, Schenk, Schmeling, and the ineligible Klass, who may be able to boost his scholastic rating to qualify for Varsity competition.

The 125-pound class has three Varsity men who had experience last year in the conference matches. Hess, Haddorff, and Woelfer are all good fast men, but the former is unable to report regularly the first semester. Haddorff was injured but will be in shape for the season. The bantams are staging a merry battle for that division, with Pradeaux, Doehler, Allison, and Livingston about equal so far.

BADGER QUINT OPEN BIG TEN SESSION TODAY

Meanwell's Men Meet Hawkeyes at Iowa City

The Badgers departed yesterday afternoon for Iowa City to open the Conference schedule against the Hawkeyes tonight. The entire squad is in the best of shape after a week of hard practices, including the game won from Nebraska.

On the eve of the initial battle, Wisconsin's chances for a victory in the first game do not appear any too bright. Doctor Meanwell's team could stand another month of practice before entering the Conference race, and, in addition, are playing off their own floor. On top of all this, the Hawkeyes are a veteran team who rarely suffer defeat on the home floor.

May Shift Lineup

It is probable that Coach Meanwell will shift his lineup about somewhat during the progress of the game, as has been the custom in the preliminaries. Gibson is slated to start at center, with Williams and Tebell doing the guarding. Gage has been broken in for both the guard and forward positions, and he has developed to such an extent that he can be used without weakening the play. Irish can be used in all three positions, but he has not been out long enough to know his exact place in the combination and consequently does not fit into the play smoothly.

If the Badgers annex a victory tonight, fans will have much cause for rejoicing, as it would practically insure a win over Northwestern on Monday evening. And it would then be a difficult matter to dislodge Wisconsin from the 1,000 per cent column.

Maroons Meet Buckeyes

A second game of interest which will take place tonight is that between Ohio State and Chicago on the latter's floor. Neither team is reckoned among the probable champions, but both have made better starts than were expected. Chicago's revamped team is composed of men of equal ability, and teamwork is to be their long suit this season. Captain McGuire, Halladay, and the newly discovered Romney have been playing good ball, and a long preliminary schedule has thoroughly prepared the Maroons for the Conference opening.

Coach Trautman is promising big things from the Buckeyes this year. He states that the inter-sectional football game a year ago robbed him of his material until it was too late to make a good showing, but adds that they intend to atone for it this year. It must be granted that his team has shown up well in the preliminary contests, especially in the game which it won from Yale last week.

Badgers Prepared for Purple

Wisconsin will be better prepared to meet Northwestern on Monday than they are for tonight's game. The men are more familiar with the Purple floor and style of play, and in addition will have already experienced a Conference game. Coach Evans, however, has a team of veterans who have made brilliant showings in the games played thus far. They have declared themselves to be out to put Northwestern on the basketball map, and they may do the impossible, as they did last year when they beat the Badgers in the opening Conference game.

Ohio State also plays again on Monday night. They meet the Wolverines at Ann Arbor, in a game that is almost sure to result disastrously for them.

Former U. W. Professor, Held For Assault, Says That He Is Victim of Absentmindedness

Ralph Culver Bennett, Held in New York, Says He Rang Wrong Door Bell and Got Into Mixup

(By the Associated Press)
NEW YORK—Ralph Culver Bennett, former University of Wisconsin professor, doctor of laws, bachelor of arts and president of the Metropolitan College of Law at Dover, Del., qualified as a full-fledged absentminded professor when he was arraigned in Washington Heights police court today on a charge of assault preferred by Prof. W. H. Carpenter of Columbia University.

Admitting he had struck Prof. Carpenter in the eye on the morning of Dec. 19, Bennett explained it was all the result of his being absent in thought.

He said he had gone to Prof. Carpenter's home mistaking it for his own New York residence and rang the bell. Prof. Carpenter appeared, he said and struck his hand from the bell which he had neglected to stop ringing. Suddenly aroused, he said, he struck the professor.

Prof. Carpenter declared he had merely "brushed" Dr. Bennett's hand from the bell after demanding vainly that the doctor stop ringing.

Magistrate Sweetze placed Dr. Bennett in $100 bail for a hearing next Thursday on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Dr. Bennett formerly was professor at Webster college of law, Chicago, and before that was an assistant attorney in Chicago. He also held a professorial chair at the University of Wisconsin.

Move For City Hall Is Opened

Council to Get Resolution; Also Ask New Auditorium

COMMITTEE ASKED

Ald. Proctor To Father Measure; Vital Need Is Seen

A resolution, asking Mayor I. M. Kittleson to appoint a committee to investigate the feasibility of building a new city hall and auditorium costing upwards of $500,000, will be introduced at the common council next Friday night by Ald. Roy H. Proctor of the Fifth ward. The committee would consist of from five to seven persons, comprised of council representation and members from the city at large. The decision to introduce the resolution came after a conference between Ald. Proctor and the mayor today. There are three motives prompting the introduction of the measure at this time.

1—That the city needs a city hall and auditorium.

2—That it is the opinion of prominent building contractors that the city will never be able to build as cheaply as in 1922.

3—That it would be a chance for the city to do its share in providing employment for many who are out of work.

The question was mentioned at the meeting of the mayor's unemployment committee Thursday night. It was said that the city could be of no greater help to the laboring classes than to start its building now.

The committee will be instructed to investigate the advisability of the project, and if found advisable, to recommend means for raising the money necessary. It is generally believed that a bond issue would be the proper procedure. It is the intention to put this up to the people at the Spring election, if it is advised by the committee and sanctioned by the council.

The new building, a combination of city hall and a municipal auditorium, would cost about $500,000, it is estimated. Several sites have been suggested. One, which has had most favorable comment, is the rear of the block on E. Washington ave, extending from the avenue to E. Mifflin st., and from the alley behind the old First National bank

Clerk Harry C. Buser, today asks that the city refund the money. It will be referred to the city council which meets Jan. 13. In part the letter says:

"I got the horse, hitched him in with another and started home. When I got at a point about three-fourths of a mile from the city limits on the Oregon road, the horse gave a whinny.

"I told the man with me that I thought something was wrong with the horse and that he was going to die on us. So we drove them about seven or eight rods farther in order to get the wagon out of the road, and then unhitched them to drive them along without the load.

"When we had gone about 25 rods, the horse stopped, turned his head toward the other horse, lunched, fell, and died without a struggle." building to Webster st. This is one half of a block, and only a few blocks off the square. Survey on Jobless Is Launched

City Unemployment Body Meets to Lay Plans for Work

WILCOX IS CHAIRMAN

Various Projects Discussed To Get Statistics On Men Out of Work

A survey of unemployment in Madison to determine the number of men out of work, who and where they are, and what they were doing prior to their present status, will be launched today by members of the unemployment probing committee recently named by Mayor I. M. Kittleson. The committee met with the mayor last night for organization and discussion of plans.

F. M. Wilcox of the industrial commission was elected chairman and John F. Brahaney, secretary. Mr. Brahaney and S. G. Scanlan will interview heads of Madison industries today. A report will be made at another meeting next Monday night at the city hall. The two men will make it a point to find out how many men were employed by each factory in October, 1920, under normal labor conditions, and will contrast that report with the number on the payrolls of the industries here today. It is believed by the committee that this method will secure fully 75 per cent of the men out of work.

Various plans for getting this information were discussed during the meeting. One was to set aside a day for registration at the city election booths, putting a number of unemployed to work taking registration. Another was to print a blank in the daily newspapers asking the unemployed to fill it out and mail it to the committee. Still another was to ask the unemployed to register at the Madison Employment bureau. None of these plans seemed entirely satisfactory.

John P. Butler of the Madison Federation of Labor, Miss Jeanette Davis of the Public Welfare association, Ald. Roy H. Proctor of the city council, are the other members of the committee.

New Lunch Room to Open On State Street

A new lunch room, the Coney Island, will be opened in about two weeks at 312 State st. in the shop formerly occupied by Frank J. Owens, tailor, who has moved his establishment into a store on the second floor of the old Hausmann brewery, 329 State st., just across the way.

The old tailor shop is being remodelled by its proprietor Ben Greenberg, a jewelery, located at 310 State st. Alterations will cost about $500.

The new restaurant is one of a chain of more than a dozen. It will be managed by William Lots, a Greek, a member of the firm owning the Coney Island lunchrooms.

Overholser to Attend Scout Conference

R. A. Overholser, scout executive, will attend a scout conference to be held at Chicago Jan. 18. Mr. Overholser is national chairman of the commission on scouting in college communities, which will make its report at the second biennial international scout conference to be held at Singal Mountain, near Chattanooga, Tenn., next November.

The price for the two stores was $40,000. Behrend's grocery has been given a lease of one year. Plans have been made for the remodeling of the shop in the basement of the store.

STUDENT HEALTH

THE action of the dean of men in suspending all dances during the pre-prom period may have seemed somewhat harsh to the tea-socially inclined.

That this suspension rule is an excellent one cannot be doubted when the situation is analyzed. Even with only a normal curriculum, tailoring a minimum of study, the disastrous effects of week-ends are only too evident.

The time lost from study is but a small item to be considered. Doctor Van Valzah of the university clinic makes the interesting statement that after each week-end of social activities there is an increase in the number of sicknesses and excuses from university courses. During a five-year period there have been but two exceptions to the rule that illness cases increase after the social week-end.

Especially during the winter months is this tendency prevalent. Doubtless fatigue and over-exertion may account for some of the cases, but sickness of a contagious nature is easily passed on in a crowd. Colds and respiratory troubles are easily caught in a crowded room or when resistance has been lowered through exertion and excitement.

It takes no vivid imagination to picture what might easily be the result were many parties to be given during the exams or immediately before exams. It might mean that many would be unable to take the semester examinations in their courses.

Dr. Van Valzah is well pleased with the present condition of student health. There are at present no cases of contagious disease, which is remarkable considering the fact that a post-holiday season generally results in contagious diseases brought in from other cities. The university clinic believes that students, as a class, are being quite careful this year in their health and sanitation requirements. But a word of caution—maintain this care especially during the next month should not lightly be overlooked.

A PLACE FOR FORENSICS

TO the usual interest that forensic supporters had in last evening's debate there was added augmented factor. For, in a sense at least, Wisconsin met Wisconsin in the debate, as the Missouri team was coached by a last year's graduate of Wisconsin—I. Arnold Perstein.

That this former Badger debater has lost none of his remarkable force and argumentative power and cool, well-conceived logic was clearly demonstrated in the showing made by the team which he coached.

It argues well for forensics at Wisconsin when it can turn out such coaches. It argues well for Wisconsin forensics when it sends out teams as capable and well prepared as those taking part last evening.

If forensics at Wisconsin have not been given of late the wide student support that they deserve, it is not long since debates between the colleges and between the societies had a universal appeal. That this same interest is not now evidenced is due in no small measure to the expansion of the university and to the consequent addition of other and varied interests and activities.

The university calendar is too full to permit an average student to enjoy more than a few of the many worth while extra-curricular activities. The result is that only those which have the widest appeal enjoy the strongest support.

It would appear, however, that forensics, if not engaged in as an activity, could at least be welcomed as a diversion. Listening to forceful speakers on strong issues, one can acquire a well-rounded view of the subject and still enjoy the process. More information on any subject presented can be secured in less time and with less endeavor for the listener than in any other way.

PREPAREDNESS

It is noticeable in college life that, at any of the meetings, no matter how well attended, there are few persons present who are prepared to add anything to the discussion. This is true of gatherings of all kinds, students' society meetings, sectional clubs, athletic meetings, or clubs connected with college courses.

This being the case, and admittedly an important state of affairs, it would be worth while to examine the causes, with a view to improving it. Does the solution for improvement lie in a different attitude on the part of the men attending the activities, greater forethought, more initiative; or is it the fault of those who are in charge of such affairs? There are no doubt other minor causes, the backwardness of some men, perhaps shyness, or nervousness, or lack of confidence, but it is safe to say that the most important reason is lack of preparedness.

This is not only the case at college functions, it is common in all walks of life. It is told of a great English statesman, who was also a director of several large companies, that he always tried to be the best informed man at any directors' meeting. He was chosen director of so many companies, no doubt, because he was always prepared for discussion, and could be depended on to know more than other people.

Surely if this attitude were adopted by more men in college, we would have more useful organizations and a higher standard in all spheres of college life.

Preparedness for us, then, essentially consists in greater forethought, activity, and general interest, and more initiative. With these ends in view, let us try to take a more active part in our various college interests. Try a little more preparedness for the next meeting. —McGill Daily.

Local Theaters to Have Unusual Bills For Big Celebration

Madison's five down-town theaters have spared neither time nor money in selecting their programs for Go-to-Theater-Week, which starts with the performances tomorrow and continues up to and including Sunday, Jan. 15. The following list of attractions will reveal to local amusement seekers shows which are today the pick of the field, both as to entertaining and drawing powers. The Orpheum, Madison's only theater devoted to the ever popular form of vaudeville, will offer on Sunday a six act bill, headed by "A Modern Cocktail," Margaret Ford, Tilyou and Rogers, Russ Leddy and company in "Surgeon Louder U. S. A.", Bob Jones, Sawyer and Eddie. A new program featuring Thomas A. Wise and company in "Memories," comes for three days starting Monday night, and on Thursday the bill will change, featured by Melo Danse, a whiff of the Follies and other favorite acts. The Strand, for the first three days of the week, starting tomorrow will present Wanda Hawley in "Her Sturdy Oak," and a new Larry Semon comedy "The Saw Mill." The Strand's program will change on Wednesday, when Alice Calhoun will be seen in "The Little Minister." At Fisher's Majestic, Douglas Fairbanks in his latest release "The Three Musketeers" will be the attraction for the week, and the Grand will offer "Telable David" for a like run. Goldwyn's sensation picture "Theodora" will be used to draw the crowds into the Parkway theater during the week. The performances in the five different theaters have been so scheduled, that it will be possible for patrons to take in each and every attraction during the week.

Bulletin Boards In Bascom Hall Are Rearranged

The bulletin boards in the rotunda of Bascom hall have recently been placed under a new arrangement intended to increase their usefulness to the student body.

One board has been reserved for classified announcements and is subdivided into columns for Lost, Found, For Sale, etc., similar to the classified columns of a newspaper.

Another board is reserved for official notices, with a special section for Civil Service announcements, many of which should be of great interest to students who have almost completed their work at the university.

The other two boards remain, as before, for general announcements. All notices for these boards and also for all of the university bulletin boards should be dated. Notices for the "Classified" board should be on paper not larger than 5 by 8 inches.

Mercury Drops 16 Degrees in 24 Hours

A drop of 16 degrees during the last 24 hours brought Madison the coldest day of the winter today. The thermometer registered 6 degree below zero at 7 o'clock this morning.

The lowest temperature recorded in Madison since the weather bureau was established here was 24 below zero in 1912.

Continued cold, with generally fair weather is predicted for tonight and Saturday, while rising temperatures will probably come late Saturday.

An order from the federal trade commission at Washington, D. C., prohibiting the Gino Chemical Co. of Missouri from using trademarks, labels or advertising literature similar to those used by the General Laboratories Co. here, manufacturers of chemicals and B-K disinfectants has been obtained by the Madison concern.

An appeal was made to the commission more than a year ago by A. O. Fox, president of the Madison company, to restrain the Gino Co. from copying labels and trademarks the local company had registered and copyrighted.

Debate Team Wins Clash With Missouri

maintained that the Kansas court plan provided this protection.

"The Kansas Industrial courts have the absolute power to adjudicate any dispute in which the public welfare is jeopardized. The cases which have already come up show that capital, labor, and the public are all equally served by this system," argued the affirmative. "We have taken away from labor their right to strike and have substituted the more advanced idea of a state."

Set a Precedent

One of the members of the visiting team was a woman, which was another precedent for Wisconsin intercollegiate debates. Miss Florence Meisner presented the negative's strongest argument: that although the plan might work in Kansas it could not be universalized to fit such states as Pennsylvania and New York.

"The state of Kansas," she said, "is primarily an agricultural state. In all of its history no real outstanding man has come out of Kansas. It is not possible to suppose that a plan which would work in Kansas with its few industrial activities would work equally as well in Pennsylvania, for instance, where capital and the steel trust controls everything, even the courts and the press. How could justice be dealt out to labor in a court controlled by capital?"

Missouri Won at Columbia

The negative argued that they did not uphold the divine right of the strike, and that the new plan did not offer any remedy.

Missouri's defeat was somewhat softened when it was announced that the Missouri team debating yesterday morning against Washington University at Columbia was victorious. The results from Wisconsin's negative team debating against Washington University at St. Louis had not reached Madison up to a late hour last night.

Groups Will Vote On Social Abuses

activities prohibited during the two preceding final examinations?

Music Charges Are Too High

The first of the chief abuses which the committee finds is "exorbitant prices paid for dancing orchestras. Local prices are said to range from $40 to $90 for a five-piece orchestra for an evening. This is a purely fictitious valuation which has been gradually worked up since the war.

"Refusal on the part of organizations hiring orchestras to pay more than a reasonable price, say $5 or $6 per man for an informal and $7 or $8 per man for a formal, would unquestionably result in a drop to these prices."

Advocates 12-o'clock Formal

"Comment is superfluous with regard to importing orchestras for private parties," the committee report reads. It also believes that one organization giving both a Friday night and a Saturday night party the same week entails an expenditure of time, money, and energy on the part of the members which clearly classifies the practice as an excess:

Formals lasting only till 12 o'clock are advocated. By the present rules, each organization is permitted to hold one 1 o'clock party each year, on a Friday night. If formals were to begin at 8 and end at 12 o'clock, the number of hours of dancing would remain the same. Dinner dances should also end at 12, according to the committee report.

Would Increase Dancing

The object of the practice of prohibiting all activities for two weeks preceding final examinations is to provide two full weeks free from distractions for preparation for the examinations. Dean Goodnight believes this time is sorely needed.

These measures, if adopted, would probably increase, rather than decrease, the total amount of dancing at the university, the report concludes. They would tend toward checking excesses and toward bringing music prices and hall rents within the reach of a much wider circle of students.

Wolverines Clash with Ohio
Michigan meets Ohio after the Buckeyes have been tired from their game with Chicago. Karpus and probably "Duke" Dunne have been lost to the Wolverines. Although basketball has only recently been taken up as a major sport at the Michigan institution, the men learned the game rapidly enough to tie for the Big Ten championship last year. The squad has been augmented by the addition of heavy football men who will make a strong team and one which will be dangerous at all times.

George Cutshaw.

George Cutshaw, veteran second baseman of the Phillies and later the Pirates, has been purchased outright by the Detroit club. Cutshaw is past his prime as an infielder, but he can still play a consistent, brainy game. He is counted on to steady Cobb's young infield. With Blue at first, Bobby Jones at third and a youngster undoubtedly on short, Cutshaw's cool head will do much to strengthen the inner defense of Cobb's rebuilt team.

City's Quota Not Yet Filled; State Will Send Many

Entries for the state bowling tournament are now coming in fast.

"Either the business men who are entering booster teams have been so carefully choosing the bowlers who are to make up their teams that it has taken them until now to complete their entry, or else the importance to Madison of the tournament of Wisconsin bowlers has grown to such a point where they see the entry of several teams is almost a civic duty," said a prominent member of the Association of Commerce today.

The quota of 400 teams has not yet been filled, it was learned from F. G. Oetking, the president of the local bowling association, but each day sees more entries turned in. The last few days will bring in a rush of entries to be listed with the state, according to Secretary William Fenske at Milwaukee before the entry closes on Jan. 15, he says. To make the work of completing the entries and securing men to fill in on the booster teams Mr. Oetking requests that those having entries to turn in do not delay it but mail them or leave them with him soon.

A report from the state secretary says that the number of entries being made with him from all over the state are far beyond his expectations and that practically all the week end dates which are considered the desirable ones have already been taken.

Milwaukee is coming to Madison on a special train with over 200 teams. Green Bay expects to increase its present entry of 50 teams to 75 to see to it that Janesville Boosters do no walk off with the state tournament in 1923. With these 75 teams Green Bay will bring a brass band and provide music for the capital city during its dates on the drives.

Madison merchants are requested to co-operate with the entertainment committee of the association by planning for a window display during the tournament. The committee wishes to show off the town to its best advantage during the time that the 4,000 guests, who will come to bowl in our city from Jan. 26 to Feb. 25, are here. Bowling balls and pins will be loaned to merchants if requested and any aid will be given to those who will help make the visiting bowlers know we are glad to have them here.

It has been suggested that an attractive card be distributed to those firms and business houses that have contributed with teams or otherwise aided in making the state tournament.

Movie Owners Meet to Act On Wage Demand

CHICAGO—Officials of the Motion Picture Operators' union and members of the Allied Amusement association, owners of the large moving picture theaters of the city, were to meet today for decision on demand by the operators for a 15 per cent wage increase. Owners said they would close their houses Jan. 11, in event the operators refuse to withdraw their demand for higher wages.
