BRITISH LABORITE COMMENTS UPON POWER OF PARTY

Discusses Lack of Sympathy
Between Country and City
Folk in this Country

"Within the next ten years the British Labor party will be back in power," declared Paul Blanchard, field secretary of the League for Industrial Democracy, in speaking on "British Labor in Power" at Music hall last night.

"Our theory of government in America is that the strong, silent business man can control labor, while in England the strength of trade unionism leads to the bringing in of labor leaders of a distinctive type.

No Comparison in England.

"In England no comparison is drawn in the potential sympathy between the upper class and the labor party. The farm laborers have the same attitude toward life as the city proletariat, and the only difference between the two classes is intellectual. The fundamental principal is that the British labor party is not concentrating on the monarchy, but rather on economic progress.

"All the dissenting groups get behind the Labor party in England and add to its strength," asserted Mr. Blanchard in contrasting the dissatisfied parties with our half dozen organizations which are opposed to the present form of government and who attempt to gain control by placing independent candidates in the field for the presidency and in that way weaken their cause instead of adding power.

Labor May Rise to Power.

"The laborer here is too tired to learn the complexities of the labor movement when he comes home at night, but the worker who is now digging coal and laying rails will resent the attitude of the city proletariat and eventually rise to power."

After rebuking our public schools for teaching that the "social ladder is the way to success," Mr. Blanchard said in conclusion that the rise of the Labor party could only be brought about by revolution, not by revolution as we understand it, however, but rather as ex-President Wilson defined it as being "evolution on the jump."

W. A. A. Cottage at Eagle Heights Nearly Completed

The W. A. A. cottage at Eagle Heights will be near completion at the beginning of the Christmas vacation, according to H. C. Huart, architect.

In a report made to Esther Field '25, president of the cottage corporation, he stated, "The exterior is practically finished. The windows have been placed, and the interior lining of the building is under way. As soon as this is completed, the interior trim will be applied.

"The brickwork of the fireplace has been carried on to the second floor, but has been stopped at this point on account of the cold, which would not give a very satisfactory job. As soon as the doors are here and in place and the cold can be kept out of the building the brickwork will be resumed," he concluded.

DRAMATIC MAGAZINE GOES ON SALE TODAY

Copies of The Players' Magazine will be on sale at the University pharmacy starting this morning, according to an announcement from William Tannewitz, editor of the publication, yesterday. It was previously announced that the magazine would be sold on the hill last Tuesday morning, but the Student senate interfered on the grounds that only undergraduate publications may be sold on the campus.

The Big Question--Will Prom Be Held In Capitol?

Legislature Holds Power to Grant Use of Building; Conduct of 1925 Event Expected to Effect Favorable Decision on Part of Law Body

To be or not to be in the capitol? What? Prom, of course! Will the records of past proms warrant the passing by the legislature of a bill granting to the prom of 1926 the use of the great halls and the legislative rooms of the state house?

This is the problem which every year is handed to the prom chairman simultaneously with the announcement of his election.

While there is not much opposition expected to arise in the legislature this year, according to a member of the governor's staff, still there is always the chance that some unforeseen incident at the university might stir legislative wrath to the end that prom officials would have to go begging for a place in which to hold the prom.

Past history reveals the fact that every two years when the legislature is in session, it has been the custom to refer the prom-in-the-capitol dispute to them for their approval. In the alternate years the governor, acting in conjunction with the superintendent of public property, has granted permission to the junior class to hold its dance in the building.

After the 1925 prom led by Cliff Nolte letters were received from the two legislative bodies complimenting the chairmen of the various committees on the orderly manner in which prom was conducted.

It is thought, according to Cliff Huff, present prom chairman, that the favorable attitude of the legislature toward the prom as expressed in these letters now on file in the dean's office, will mean that no more difficulty will be encountered in securing permission for the use of the capitol.

There will be a meeting of all prom committee chairmen and workers at 12:45 o'clock this noon in 165 Bascom hall.

Seven More Take Chance; Discipline Committee Acts

Because she wrote a critical theme and in it used library material as her own a junior woman transfer was penalized five credits and semester probation by the disciplinary committee which met Wednesday night at South hall. A freshman woman and a junior woman who helped each other in an English quiz were reprimanded.

For copying another man's problem in a surveying course three sophomore civil engineers were fined three credits and placed on probation for a semester.

Before he was off probation for a cribbing offense last spring, an agricultural student appeared again before the committee for falsifying processes in order to reach a certain solution in a chemistry problem. He is leaving the university by request.

"The Cellarette" Opening Tea Room, Has Bohemian Air

A bit of Greenwich Village will arise in our midst when a novel tea room, "The Cellarette" opens today at 527 State street. The interior which is reached by a rear entrance, is unique in design.

Original sketches by campus artists decorate part of the wall, leaving empty spaces for the signatures and drawings of patrons. Candlelight will be used exclusively. The old-fashioned stove, long bare tables, and church pews which serve as seats, lend a somber tone to the place. Provisions have been made for Mah Jongg, bridge, and chess. A guitar, victrola, and current magazines will be available.

The proprietresses, Miss Felice Lally and Miss Dorothy Fritter, are former University of Michigan students.

PROGRAM STAGED BY NEW PLAYERS

Initiates to Wisconsin Actors
Present Original Sketches
Before Club

"Reminiscences of Ye Collieth—Days," by I. Ottabeshott, was the feature of the original program given by the initiates of Wisconsin Players last night in Lathrop Concert room.

Each initiate presented a satire on university life. The setting was the cover of a 1926 Badger, which opened to allow each to enter. Each scene humorously portrayed some familiar scene of college life.

Carl "Wrestle" Fish appeared in his traditional green vest, to welcome the freshmen. Satires on "Freshmen," "Sorority Girls," "Phi Betes," and "Ye Aul Tyme Cheerleader," were presented.

The new members are Maxine Walker '26, Max Weaver '27, Mary Bishop '27, Ruth Deickhoff '26, Russell Winnie '27, Harold Konnack '27, James Van Wegenen '26, Marian Spater '27, Lois Bacon '26, Wells Sherman '25, Lorraine Cheeseman '26, Vaughan Winchell '25, Ewart Mercia '27, Louise Durham '25, Eugene Kane '26, Richard Church '27, Frederick Buerki '27, Blanche Buhlig '27, James McGuire '27, Margaret McGovern '26, and Ethel Druse '26.

Clever Take-offs to Feature Coming Issue of Octopus

The next issue of the Octopus magazine will appear Wednesday, December 10. Octy's Crossword puzzle section, a clever takeoff on the present crossword puzzle page, is one of the features. It is the work of John W. Powell '26. A mystery play entitled "A Cat, Two Bats, and a Canary," is the contribution of Don Trenary '27.

There are four full pages of drawings, illustrating titles of popular songs, such as "June Night," "A New Kind of Man," "California, Here I Come," by Richard Brayton '28 and Don Albert '28; an Octograde section by Hank Lathers '26, illustrating moments of action about the campus; and drawings by Leland D. Lamb, following the style of Charles Mitchell, who draws in the Saturday Evening Post.

The cover is a flashy four-color creation of the artist, Sals Bostwick. Other contributors are Gretchen Gilbert '25 and Jeff Graer '28.

INSTALL NEW HEADS AT STUDENT CHURCH

Officers for the remainder of the year for the Presbyterian student church will be installed at the regular church services Sunday morning at 731 State street. There will be in all ten different acts, embracing songs, witty talk, plays and a revue.

VARSITY CAGE SQUAD SHOWS BETTER FORM IN SECOND TRIAL TEST

Close Guarding of First Squad Prevents Greens From Threatening Basket

Showing a complete reversal of form the varsity basketball team yesterday afternoon decisively defeated the freshmen cagers by the score of 39-19. The Meanwell men played far better than they did in Tuesday's game. Their passes were more accurate, and their shooting was much better. The varsity guarding was swift and hard, and the frosh were unable to get many tries from under the basket.

The varsity took the lead at the start of the game and held it with little trouble. At no time during the contest did the first year men threaten, for he close guarding of the first squad prevented much scoring. The offense of the freshmen netted them only eight field goals, their other three points being free throws. They did not use the short passing game as much as in the first game, but resorted to long heaves. These were easily intercepted by the Cardinal guards, and few of these passes reached the intended receiver. The guarding of Dew and Hotchkiss, the frosh defense men, was good, but the swift and certain offense of the varsity swept them off their feet.

Guards Play Hard

The guarding of Diebold, Barv and Wackman was so relentless and accurate that few were the times that the yearlings tried for goals. The guards played real basketball, always up in the air for the rebounds, quick in their passing, and several times going down the floor and sinking a shot. Spooner had his eye for the baskets, sinking goals from any position on the floor. His shots from the center of the court seldom touched the bounding board, while he also displayed uncanny skill in shooting from under the basket.

The work of both Varney and Brooks at center was much better. Varney was especially effective, for his guarding as well as offensive play showed a decided improvement. Merkle, Harget and Martell were tried at the other forward position. Harget seemed the best of the three, for his guarding and passing is improved. The most noticeable development of the team was in its offense, and if this progress continues they will present a real scoring machine in the opening game.

Although the team has progressed since its last game, it still lacks the finish of a conference team. Its front line is weak. Its guarding is still defective, often they fail to break up the attack before it reaches the guards. Often the forwards are sucked out and a side of the floor left open.

Meanwell Faces Problem

The real problem that faces Meanwell is to teach the men how to work the ball down under the basket. This was done a few times, but more often it failed. When they reached the second line of defense the ball often changed hands, and the varsity was forced back on the defense.

If a center can be developed to work with Spooner, and another forward who can work hand in hand with these two, the Badger team ought to have a real scoring combination. Varney ought to develop into a good center, for his floor work is good, and his guarding will improve with playing experience. As to who will fill the other forward position is the question. Harget shows promise. Merkle is good and a constant scrapper, but he is not fully capable of conference play. Martell is a good shot but he failed to drop back on the defense, and men often get around him.

In general the team has shown decided improvement in nearly all phases of the game, and although the quintet may not be equal to that of last year, it has promise.

VARSITY TANKERS WIN TRIAL MEET

Relay Regulars Cop Take-off Event; Frosh Plunger is Best

The swimming squad nosed out the freshmen by a few points in last night's practice meet. The meet was one of a series which Coach Joe Steinauer is holding to get his tankmen in shape for the coming season.

The varsity relay team composed of Alexander Johnson Frazier and Porter won over the frosh speedsters with time of 1:23. The frosh quartet was composed of Stuart, Post, Einfeldt and Drake.

Haggerty beat Hattlege in the freshman dives, while Freylinger of the varsity and Hunkel of the frosh finished with equal time in the breast stroke. Welch, frosh plunger, finished best in the plunge. Frazier took the 40 yard dash, while Ferris finished first in the 220 yard swim, with Thompson and Case close behind.

Pederson finished first for the frosh in the 100 yard swim, with Holmes, varsity, second, and Woodsome, frosh, third.

OHIO HAS QUINTET OF ALL-VETERANS

Coach Vaughan Drives Wabash Little Giants For Badger Cage Battle

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 5.—With an all-veteran cage squad back, it looks like Ohio's year to win the conference title. Cunningham, all conference center, and Miner, all conference forward, both will be back at their old positions. These two men were high scorers for the conference last year. Coach Olson is already polishing the rough spots off the team, and the spirit at Ohio State is to go through the season with a clean slate.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., Dec. 4.—Coach Pete Vaughn is busy driving the Wabash Little Giants in preparation for their battle against the Wisconsin Badger.

With Devall, Robinson, Ferguson, Pain, Yeager, Painter, Coffels, Kistler, Edwards, and Roberston back from last year's freshman squad prospects look very bright for a powerful team. The squad is fast rounding into shape, and expects to give the Badgers a real run for the long end of the score.

ASCHER TO CAPTAIN 1925 GOPHER GRIDDERS

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Dec. 4.—Herman Ascher of Minneapolis, halfback on the Minnesota football team, was elected captain of the 1925 Gopher eleven at the annual "M" banquet here Wednesday.

Ascher was one of the most reliable performers on the Gopher backfield this season and his remarkable punting in several games brought him great praise. He will complete his football career next fall. Besides his gridiron prowess, he is a stellar baseball player. He was also a reserve on the basketball quintet last year.

IOWA CITY, Ia., Dec. 4.—Harold W. Griffen of Sioux City, center on the University of Iowa eleven, was elected captain of the Hawkeye team for 1925 Wednesday at the annual football banquet. Griffen weighs 235 pounds and has played in every conference game for the last two years.

WINTER SPORTS CLUB LAYS PLANS

New Officers to Be Elected at Meeting Next Tuesday Night

Frequent flurries of snow and cold, snappy weather, indicating the advent of winter, have caused the Winter Sports club to commence elaborate plans for a program of winter sports to be held this year.

New officers for the year will be elected and definite plans will be formulated at a meeting of the club at 7:15 o'clock Tuesday evening in the trophy room of the men's gymnasium. All members of the club who are in school are to be there, and any other students who are interested in winter sports are invited to attend. Among the main events to be sponsored by the club this year will be the annual ice carnival, the interclass and interfraternity races, and a state intercollegiate meet. "The most successful season in the history of the club is anticipated this year," states Arthur E. Timm '25, who has been actively associated with the club for the last three years.

STUDENTS WANT MAROON CONTEST
PLAYED AT CHICAGO, COUNT SHOWS

By E. G.

Contrary to the popular supposition, the majority of students do not wish to see future football games between Chicago and Wisconsin played at Madison.

This surprising fact became apparent through opinions obtained in a series of interviews by the Daily Cardinal and conducted by choosing at random 50 persons. Although this consensus is not wide, it shows in a way the general trend of student opinion.

The figures obtained from this canvass can be listed under three classes. First, those wishing a continuance of the contract used during the past five years. Almost 70 per cent of those questioned are in favor of this system. Under the second head, those wishing an alternating schedule between the two schools, about 20 per cent favored, while the remaining 10 per cent favored a five year contract to play at Camp Randall.

The reasons given for the answers were varied, but it is the claim of the majority that Chicago is the logical place for the one trip that so many students can afford to make. Railroad service, rooming accommodations and the general atmosphere of welcome about Chicago are the reasons for the games being held there. Other students claim that by playing alternately at the two places would be fair to both those who wish to make a trip, and those who cannot afford it. Others, however, believe that Chicago should sign the same contract with Wisconsin that the Badgers signed.

So It Seems

Well, the coaches are off for the Windy City to begin the annual scramble for football games. Grid contests are becoming so highly competitive that there are big demands made on each school. Traditional games must be played. Students and alumni clamor for inter-sectional games. There must be prelims. And then there's Notre Dame.

Then it's "try and juggle the others" around so a well-balanced schedule is decided upon. Michigan wants to play Chicago in the worst way.

We hope the sport critics are through telling us what's wrong at Wisconsin and start building up some of this true Wisconsin spirit we've been hearing so much about. We feel that Tom Jones will get us a real schedule for the gridiron next fall. He did last year and he will repeat. It looks as though Michigan will provide the homecoming attraction.

In accordance with the Daily Cardinal's constructive policy for Wisconsin athletics, the sport department is compiling tangible information on two of the university's greatest needs—an athletic news bureau and a field house.

Illinois, Michigan and Ohio have real news bureaus. Not only that, Illinois has a press box and press box hospitality that make friends of every newspaper man who covers a game at Urbana.

The big thing now is basketball. Coach Meanwell is holding open practices two or three nights a week. Students and townspeople should come out and watch the progress of the squad. They've started off slowly, but watch the progress.

The playing last Tuesday was wretched. Last night many improvements in play could be seen. And don't forget that Levis has a real frosh squad this year, with several all-state men who have more speed than the varsity. There's real playing out on the floor in these practice games.

It looks as though Spooner will be a big man for the Cardinal this year. He puts 'em in from all angles and figures in Meanwell's team work admirably.

While honeymooning in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Illinois, Bronson cashed checks as he went along. He is said to have paid for the marriage license with a worthless check.

May Be Completed in Meeting Today

Although the athletic department has made no statement relative to its football schedule for the next year, asserting that all details would be arranged at the coaches' meeting in Chicago, December 5 and 6, the University of Chicago has made known the fact that Wisconsin will again play at Chicago next year, stating that arrangements had been completed fully a month ago. Chicago also announced that it had scheduled game with Dartmouth for next year.

Coach Jack Wilce of Ohio State, Wisconsin alumnus, declared in Milwaukee Wednesday that Ohio had been informally invited to consider a place on the Wisconsin schedule, but "that as a matter of principle Ohio would not play at Wisconsin." He denied that he had been asked to consider the directorship at Wisconsin, but did not state definitely whether or not he would refuse the proposition if it were tendered him. He further stated that he knew of but one man who would be the ideal man for the dictatorship, but refused to divulge his name.

Cornell Game Certain
The athletic department issued a denial to the report that Coach Fred Dawson of Nebraska was coming to Madison to talk over the likelihood of his succession to the director's job. Dawson himself later stated that he was "perfectly satisfied at Nebraska."

Reports from eastern sport circles declare that the Cornell-Wisconsin game has been definitely agreed upon, and the game will take place at Madison next year, with Wisconsin visiting Cornell the following season.

Loses Leg When
Shot By Employer

RACINE, Wis.—Frank Bezdek, 18, had his left leg amputated at a hospital as the result of a hunting accident which occurred while he was accompanying his employer, Stanley Just, in quest of small game. Just was loading his shot gun when one of the shells exploded, sending the full charge into Bezdek's thigh.

Alcohol Blazes As
Autoist Lights Match

GREEN BAY—Another "don't" was added to the list for motorists this morning when Bernard Van Oss was brought to a local hospital suffering with superficial burns about the face. Van Oss attempted to see how much water was in his radiator last night and used a match to assist him. The alcohol fumes which issued from the "spout" ignited and the burns resulted. The injury is not serious, but painful.

TRACKSTERS WIND UP TRAINING FOR
FROSH-SOPH TILTSpirit of Underclass Men Will Substitute For Record
Breaking Feats

Members of the two underclass track squads will wind up their week of training in preparation for the frosh-soph meet tomorrow afternoon.

This meet is being held so early in the season that fast time will not be made on account of a lack of strenuous training, but the absence of record breaking feats will be made up for by the spirit that will be displayed by the men in trying to outdo each other for the honor of their class.

Frosh Won Last Meet.

Last year the freshmen won the meet by the narrow margin of three points in a hotly contested meet, tying for first honors in this respect with the Iowa-Wisconsin dual meet of last February.

Just what the outcome of the meet will be is unknown as neither team has had to make any entrants. The sophomores will have a decided advantage in the sprints and shorter runs with such men as Burdick, Francis, Annis, Voight and Frackelton in these events. Also if big Schwarze enters the weights, it means more points for the sophs.

Frosh Strong on Mile.

Unless some of the sophomore members of the harrier squad enter the meet, the frosh will run away with the mile and two mile grinds. McKee, Reeves, Klevay, Paine, Chapman and Johannes will sew up this part of the meet for the yearlings.

Neither class will have any strong entries in the hurdles and pole vault. Places in these events will be open to the class entering the most men. If Charles McGinnis, captain of last year's yearling track team, enters the meet, he will take a first place in the high jump for the sophs. He has gone over six feet consistently in the past and should have little trouble in clearing the bar at nearly that height tomorrow. Osterberg and O'Neil are two other second year tracksters who will add a few points in the broad jump.

The conference of Big Ten coaches will be held in Chicago this weekend, and Wisconsin's fate for next fall hangs in the balance.

A vast amount of reading material would be made available for the public if all the books illegally removed from the library were returned to their proper shelves.

VODVIL, VODVIL

Last year at this time there was much interest expressed around the campus concerning the Union Vodvil, which was the first presentation of that production in two years.

Then Union Board put the show in the hands of a single outside coach, with full direction of the performance, and last year's vodvil was acclaimed as the best ever held.

Tonight and tomorrow the hundreds who will enjoy seeing the performers trip the light fantastic and otherwise go through their paces should realize that it is not the easiest thing in the world to stage such a show, and that its success, although it is based on fun and frolic, entails all kinds of hard work, careful planning, and good judgment.

Last year the Vodvil proved its worth, and at the same time proved that student entertainments can be clean, funny and artistic. Such endeavors merit encouragement, for they are a credit to the student body.

CALLING THE PROFESSORS

In many of the various courses offered in the university curriculum there are changes made from year to year in the amount of the work covered, the topics chiefly stressed, and the methods of conducting the course.

Except in an objective way the students taking these courses have almost nothing to do with the altering and evening process that goes on from one semester to the next. Of course it is the exceptional student who knows what is good for him, so that it is natural enough that the determination of what his courses should be like should be entirely in the hands of the faculty.

On the part of some professors there is a very evident desire manifested to keep in touch with students, to find out how they are progressing in their work, and how they are enjoying it. Others seem to repeat all reproach and to expect the student to digest everything just as it is fed to him, without any questions asked.

It is always beneficial to talk things over with people. A clear understanding is a prerequisite to all team work and cooperation.

BALMS FOR MOODINESS

Now and again there comes in the life of a busy student a siege of melancholy and depression, a brief period when discouragement and failure seem to make the heavens overcast, a longing for something that is perfect and excellent to offset the mistakes and flaws that mar everyday life.

In such a time some people turn to revelry or strong drink as a panacea for their troubles. Others are more sedate and try to get relief by pouring all their burdens on the shoulders of their friends.

How fortunate it is that in the midst of the rush of university life there are places where quiet reigns and nature is in all her glory. Without them, the only loneliness would be that of the crowd, which in itself is gloomy and depressing.

THIS SPACE RESERVED FOR SKYROCKETS' HEAD

OH, ME. OH, My. What can we do when we have no head? And so far we have no reports of the old one, and no offers for a new one.

Dear Rockets: My boy friend refuses to take me to UNION Vodvil because he says he is in favor of the open shop.

"Are you sure these are Sausage Socks, Pete?" "Sure, they are Belowknee, you can see that yourself."

While looking through the new student directory for a date, Czarina found that there were only three Brewers in school, and came to the conclusion that they must be doing their work on the sly.

We saw an add. In the paper. The other day About a place. Where you could buy. A fur coat. For 40 bucks. And we guess. That others saw. It too. From all the. DOGGY looking men. We saw on the hill. The next day.

KID BIFF SAYS: "As soon as the lake freezes over there will be lots of people who will find that the ice is hard, when you come right down to it."

We wish to add, that tonight is the night of nights. When you see the Drunken Sisters in Union Vod, don't be deceived, Topsy is not really black, and if you don't believe it, keep your eyes on Bill Purcell's face and see if you don't see some traces of black face paint.

Lotta Crust says that by merely switching around a few letters, you can make ENOUGH into NOT ENOUGH, and the thing that is not enough is ONE HUG. So we say, when aren't you busy, Lotta;

Roomie: "I can't really understand—I went to bed last night right side up, and woke up this morning with my head at the foot." Me Myself: "That's easy, you're so fast you travel in your sleep."

Mr. Cason has a habit in English lecture of asking his students for the correct time, and BeeTee wonders if you could say that his students are taking a timely subject.

With Wannie Kohler as one of the assistant Prom chairmen, we are just forced to remember last year's Grand March, and can it be that his partner will be another A. O. Pi this year?

EXTRA! EXTRA! BIG UNION VODVIL EXPOSAL BARES FACT THAT PAUL FAUST IS THE MAN TO THANK FOR THE SUCCESS OF THE SHOW. AND WHAT'S MORE PAUL IS PERFECTLY WILLING TO ADMIT HIS GREATNESS (now more than ever), EVEN SO WILLING TO ADMIT IT THAT HE PUT A NOTE TO THAT EFFECT IN THE PROGRAM HIMSELF. IT'S A WONDER THAT BOY DOESN'T BREAK HIS ARM INSTEAD OF AN ANKLE. WHAT A SHOW IT WOULD BE WITH A FEW MORE FAUSTS!

Dumb: "Jack tried to kiss me last night." Dora: "What on earth did you do?" Dumb: "Oh, I was up in arms in a second."

And now we want to know this, HAVE YOU SEEN IT? The greatest atrocity of the campus, and we demand that it be suppressed. No, not Austin Cooper himself, but that coat, that flaming youth green, black stripes, and generally noisy. We've seen the same in RED, yes, in the blue Buick, but we just can't bring ourselves to criticize. It's up to the public. DO BUSINESS.

"Where are you from, old fel?" "England." "You speak good English for a foreigner, old fel."

"Those are the nuts," said the boy, as he gazed across the lake at Mendota.

C. Huff: "Do you always have coffee for breakfast?" B. M.: "Sure, don't you like it then?" Huffy: "Sure, but it keeps me awake all morning."

And speaking of that notable personage, we wish that he would make up his mind. He certainly has us in a quandry, for we have seen him at the Kappa house, the Delta Gamma house and the Delta Zeta house. We also have learned that the Delta Gammas are having the fireplace completely remodeled.

HEARD IN CHILI AL'S. Cashier: "What did you have, soup or chili?" Stud: "It tasted like hell." Cashier: "Must have been chili, our soup tastes like dish water."

And so when you go to see Union Vod tonight, remember that every wise crack that is pulled was stolen from the Rockets.

Ever and always tearing down the temples of wit, SAMPSON.

The Readers' Say-So

ALUMNI REACTION. Editor, the Daily Cardinal: After reading for several days the sport columns of both the daily papers anent the so-called "Athletic Situation at Wisconsin," and with your invitation for discussion in the Daily Cardinal before me, I am impelled to express certain reactions to such articles.

It is unfortunate that a situation in this one department of the university needing especial attention at this time, cannot be discussed (as in the Journal of Sunday) without taking an unsportsmanlike "shot" at the head of the institution who has served that institution many long years.

Also one is lead to express admiration for the well-organized campaign of advertising for the candidate to whom both sport writers give preference, and a degree of surprise that such unanimity of opinion should exist. There are those in the student body, alumni body, and citizen body who would be unutterably disappointed should the governing body of the university allow such a campaign of browbeating to succeed in its purpose.

I am, respectfully yours, C. J., Ex-'18. BADGER AD STAFF. There will be an important meeting of the Badger advertising staff at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon in the Badger office. All staff members should be present.

Bulletin Board

This column is for the use of all organizations and university staff members who wish to reach large groups readily. No charge is made for notices. Notices may be brought to the editorial office in the Union building, 752 Langdon street, or phoned to Badger 250 before 5 o'clock of the day preceding publication.

Military Training Has Practical Life Value, Says Major

That citizenship, leadership, and team play, together with the fundamentals of military discipline are the salient points in all military training was the statement made by Maj. O. L. Brunzell, professor of military science and tactics, in an interview concerning whether or not the courses in military training offered to the young men of today were of much practical value aside from teaching preparedness in time of war.

"Those of us who are not 'in the know' would be surprised to see the rapid progress made by the young men attending the citizens' military training camps for a month of outdoor training. They are taught how to take care of themselves on all occasions," he said.

More than 1,200 students are enrolled in the military training courses here, only a few less than were enrolled when drill was compulsory.

According to the major, the military training that the young men get today leads not to military preparedness exclusively, but to preparedness for business, professions, and all walks of life.

Awards Mailed Winners Of C.I.P.A. Competition

Over Five Hundred High School Publications From the United States at Large Are Entered in Contest Recently Held Here

Certificates are being mailed this week to the winning school newspapers, magazines, and annuals as a result of the contests held in connection with the Central interscholastic association convention meeting here last week.

An "All-American" group selected from publications of first class rating was submitted to a separate group of judges who were to choose the winners of the all-American contest. The newspaper prize was awarded to the "Southerner" of Minneapolis South Side high school. The "Quest" of Central high school of Minneapolis won the honor in the magazine division and the "Quiverian" of Kansas City, Kansas, in the annual class.

Two hundred fifty-four high school newspapers, 55 magazines, and 203 annuals were entered in the contest. According to the form of contest used for the second time this year the judges gave honor ratings to the best publications entered, awarding them first class, second class or third class rating but not selecting the best within the ratings.

A cup was awarded to the Washington high school of Milwaukee for the largest number of delegates present and another cup to the "Stadium World" of Tacoma, Washington, for having travelled the farthest to the convention.

REGENTS ACT ON DORMITORY PLANS

Need For Buildings Brings New Method of Financing Project

The need for men's dormitories has become so great that authority to attempt a different method of financing has been obtained and a general study of dormitory projects is being carried on by the regents of the university and their appointed committees.

The plan is to have seven buildings, each of a considerable size, with a capacity between 250 and 300 men. Each building is to have a lake frontage. The location of these buildings is to be on the shore of Lake Mendota about 800 feet west of Bascom hall. The construction will begin at the east end and continue westward as the necessary money is available.

The buildings will be of simple construction. The plan of a corridor with rooms on each side will be most likely to be used. Because of the low cost this plan seems to be the most practical at the present time. It is probable that the plan of three rooms for two men with the central room a common study for both will be the plan adopted.

Literary Society

PYTHIA.

New members of Pythia literary society will give a burlesque of circus sideshow life for the enjoyment of the older members tonight. The Tall Lady, the Fat Woman and the Snake Charmer will all hold forth in private booths.

The artists of the club will perform in a separate side show. They will draw caricatures of the audience and handsome Futurist paintings.

The performers in this circus are Florence Berry '27, Edith Harris '25, Irene Whitehead '25, Alice Prengel '25, Jean Colby '26, Beatrice Wadleigh '25, Ruth Ligon '28, Marguerite Lehmann '27, Aline Ziebell '27, Beatrice Brauer '26, Doris Engel '25, Gertrude Meyne '27, Isabel French '25, and Alice Scheurman '26.

ATHENAE.

"The History of the Joint Debate," a talk by Glen H. Bell L2, will be the feature on the program of Athenae literary society. The debate will be on the question of the abolition of the Ku Klux Klan. The affirmative will be supported by Rubin Levin '26, and David Sygman '28. The negative team is composed of Walter H. Wilke '28 and Dexter I. Munson '27. The debate will be followed by a talk by Earl L. Morse '27.

HESPERIA.

Officers for the second quarter will be installed in Hesperia literary society which meets tonight in Bascom hall. They are James F. Lowe '25, president; Bauer F. Bullinger L2, vice president; Elmer J. Wenniger '26, secretary; Harry J.

Katowitz, censor; and George J. Fiedler '26, assistant censor.

The program consists of a debate on the proposition, "Resolved, that the Monroe Doctrine should be abandoned." The affirmative will be upheld by Arthur Hitt, Grad. The negative will be debated by Edward J. Sobey '26. Talks will be given by Alvin H. Huth '27, and Bauer Bullinger. Huth will give a review of the life of Anatole France.

PHILOMATHIA.

Philomathia will continue to feature its two man debates. Lloyd H. Rooney '27 and Robert H. Paddock '26 will debate the proposition, "Resolved, that the use of the injunction in labor disputes be prohibited." A talk on "Will Coolidge Bring Prosperity," will be given by Frank H. Grover L1, Maurice P. Benfer '26, will discuss "Psychological Tests for College Entrance."

CASTALIA

Castalia will hold tryouts for the Pythia-Castalia debate at 7 o'clock in Lathrop hall. Pythias' tryouts for the same debate will occur a week from today. The annual debate between the two clubs will not occur until March.

Weather Men Say They Can't Predict Too Far in Advance

WASHINGTON—Uncle Sam has no intentions of going in for long-distance weather forecasting.

He does not believe it can be done.

So say Weather Bureau officials, replying to scores of letters pointing out ways wherein they might reveal the course of the elements months hence.

"We predict the weather two days in advance," says the prognosticators, "and we issue weekly forecasts."

"On special occasions, such as holidays and big sporting events, we may go so far as to hazard a guess more than a week ahead of time. But right there we stop."

And Professor W. J. Humphreys, the bureau's meteorological physicist, explains that "to predict anything, you first have to know its causes."

Air Currents Chief Causes

"The further back you can determine these causes," he declares, "the longer range prediction you can make."

"Various weather conditions result, in general, by air currents. These are brought about by high and low atmospheric pressure areas—air rushing from the high toward the low. When we locate the pressure areas, then, we can form some idea of what the air currents will be.

"But what causes the various pressure areas?"

"A supposition is that they are caused by hot and cold spots on the earth's surface. A hot spot heats the air above it, causes it to expand, and the pressure is lowered. A cold spot works just the opposite."

"Then we get to the causes of the hot and cold spots, and that's where we come to a halt. We don't know—so that's as far as our predictions can go."

Herbert Janvrin Browne, independent Washington meteorologist, has another theory.

"The sun is the source of the earth's heat," he says. "Therefore the hot spots on the earth's surface must be caused by the sun. Ground is a poor conductor of heat, so the only spots that count are those in the water."

"In other words, the ocean is the sun's heat reservoir. Portions of it are heated, and this heat is transferred by the ocean currents."

"If we chart these currents, then, we will know where the various low atmospheric pressure areas are going to appear. And charting the cold currents will show us where the high pressure areas will be. Accurate long range weather forecasting will result."

But the Weather Bureau officials are skeptical.

MUSCLE SHOALS IMPORTANT ISSUE

Underwood Plan Gets Support of Coolidge; Democrats May Give Support

WASHINGTON—The Underwood plan for the operation of Muscle Shoals has taken a forefront position today among the various proposals for a solution of the long pending problem.

After it became known yesterday that Sen. Underwood, Dem., Ala., had conferred upon various occasions with President Coolidge during the process of preparing the bill, administration leaders went to the White House to learn the president's attitude on the measure.

They were said to have been informed that the chief executive would await a report from his departmental advisers before expressing an opinion.

In the absence of word from the White House, agreement was reached to postpone consideration of the question until today, when it is expected the president will make known his position.

Republicans generally feel disposed to support the president's idea as to the best plan for settling the Muscle Shoals issue, which has been buffeted about in congress for three years. Sen. Underwood expects to receive considerable support from the Democratic side and if the bulk of the two parties unite behind his bill its passage is assured.

Sen. Norris, Rep., Neb., has announced that he will not support the Underwood bill regardless of the president's attitude. He is prepared to fight for the passage of his own measure as reported by the senate agricultural committee.

Arcade Building Costing $30,000 to Be Built Soon

Construction of five dwellings and a four store arcade building are contemplated for the city during the winter, according to permits issued Thursday at the city hall. The total estimated cost of the new buildings is placed at $42,500.

The largest permit was that issued to the Fairchild Investment Co., for a one story four store arcade building to be erected at 114 N. Fairchild st., at an approximate cost of $30,000. Stanley C. Hanks and Rred Rentschler are incorporators of the company.

Five one-family dwellings to be erected in Fahenbrook ct., by E. Z. Gallagher at $2,500 each.

The regular monthly meeting of the board of water commissioners will be held in the water department offices Friday night. Monthly bills will be audited.

Favor Deer Hunt Season Closing

RHINELANDER, Wis.—Meetings of fish and game organizations were to be held Wednesday in Rhinelander, Antigo and Eagle River to consider the advisability of passing resolutions demanding that the state conservation commission close the season on deer for a period of years. It is the general opinion of sportsmen throughout upper Wisconsin that unless this action is taken, the deer soon will be exterminated. The Oneida county board has passed a resolution requesting a three year closed season.

COMMITTEE O. K.'S NEW 8-CENT FARE

Average 7-Cent Fare to Be Made Available For Steady Rider

An average 7-cent fare will probably be asked by the Madison Railway company when it files its application for an increase in rates with the railroad rate commission, according to discussion at the meeting of the special street railway committee held at the capitol Wednesday afternoon. Members of the committee favor the average as the solution of the company's and city's problems of transportation.

Should the company apply on the basis of a 7-cent average fare this would result in an 8-cent cash fare with 17 tokens for $1. The present rate is 6 cents for cash fares and nine tickets or tokens for 50 cents or 18 for $1. Under the suggested plan no tokens would be sold for any amount less than $1. The rate may be reduced still more with the adoption of a weekly pass system for the heavy rider. This pass would be good for one week the rider having the privilege of using the ticket as often as desired during the week. This system was not favored by several members of the committee.

The reduction in the number of tokens would result in an increase of one third of a cent to the constant rider. C. M. Larson of the railroad commission informed members of the committee. The 2-cent increase in cash fares is required to bring the average fare to 7-cents the rate of fare required to provide the necessary increase in revenues.

A 10-cent rate schedule was also considered by the committee with the present ticket rate but was not favored by the company officials and other members of the committee. It was contended that this increase would tend to reduce the number of passengers using the street cars. This rate would tend to discourage the riding habit in the city.

It is estimated that the proposed increase in fares, if allowed by the railroad rate commission, would permit an earning of about $73,000 based on the total number of passengers carried annually. About 7,000,000 persons use the cars every year. The minimum number of ticket riders was placed at 40 percent and the maximum at 60 percent which would give the company an earning of from $63,700 to $93,100 respectively. Approximately 10 percent of the passengers would avail themselves of the weekly pass system, according to Mr. Larson. This would reduce the amount of revenue expected.

The committee agreed that Atwood ave., from Division st., to Fair Oaks ave., should be paved and double tracked, as part of the improvement program for 1925. Other improvements will be to double-track and pave Breese terrace from University ave., to Regent st., and purchase such additional cars as the railroad rate commission may deem necessary. The increased fare revenue would be used to carry on this work. Part of the work on Breese terrace was done during the past summer.

Those present at the conference Wednesday afternoon were: Mayor I. M. Kittleson, Ald. Joseph H. Brown, Ald. W. L. Woodward, Leon A. Smith, superintendent of the city water department, E. E. Parker, city engineer; Dudley Montgomery, vice president of the Madison Railway Co.; John S. Allen, its consulting engineer; Warren Montgomery, treasurer; E. J. B. Schubring, company attorney; and C. M. Larson.

Castalia will hold a debate try-out at 7 o'clock Friday night in 101 Lathrop.

U. W. Radio Station Increases Power; Welcomes Visitors

That the University broadcasting station, WHA, is soon to be sending on a larger power basis is the affirmation of Burton F. Miller, chief operator.

"We have at present," said Mr. Miller, "a potential sending power of 750 watts, but we are using only 500 watts. We are now in class A as far as sending is concerned. This only permits the use of a maximum sending power of 500 watts. However, by Christmas we expect to obtain a new license which will allow us to broadcast as a station in class B. That will mean permission to use our full power."

The programs this year have been good, according to Daniel W. Kelley who is the announcer for the station. This is due to the support obtained from the school of music, and also to the new sound proof broadcasting studio which enables the speeches and music to go out with more clearness and distinctness.

It is now possible to visit the station while broadcasting is going on. Visitors will be received Monday, Wednesday, and Friday evenings while programs are being sent out, beginning at 6:45 o'clock and lasting for about one-half or three-quarters of an hour. The station is located in the basement of Sterling hall.

Visitors will also be received at 11 o'clock on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, when Prof. E. M. Terry, of the physics department, has his office hours. At this time, however, the apparatus will not be in action, but he will show the station to those who wish to see it then.

Board of Estimates

Slashes 1925 Budget

Slashing of the 1925 budget was started by the board of estimates at its meeting Wednesday night. Nightly meetings will be held for this purpose the remainder of this week and the early part of the next week until all superfluous funds have been either reduced or stricken out entirely depending upon the importance of the work to be carried out during the next year.

Members of the board declare that every effort will be made to keep the total to a minimum in an effort to secure the lowest possible tax rate without crippling any of the city department.

Golden Rule Sunday to Be Observed By Pastors

More than 75,000 preachers throughout the United States are invited to practice what they preach next Sunday, by personally observing Golden Rule Sunday for the Near East Relief, according to a statement made in connection with the quadrennial convention of the Federal Council of Churches in Atlanta, Ga.

Every clergyman in the United States, it was announced, already has been urged to preach a Golden Rule sermon on Sunday. He is asked, also, to observe the Golden Rule in his own home by eating a four-cent orphanage meal and making an offering for the care of refugee orphans in the Near East.

Novel Orchestra Tops Bill Offered By Orph This Week

By S. P.

Again the Orpheum offers a bill vaudeville. There were few slumps in the general tone of the acts, but the audience showed appreciation of the really sincere and spirited work done by the actors. The management will find that orchestras like the one this week will prove popular with the students.

Ruth Gordon and Bud Carlell
Western stuff of a well-known type. Good as first acts go.

Harry and Donabelle Patrick
The act is entitled, "Bits of Everything" and one of the best bits was the singing of "Just a Little Blue." She plays a violin, and he wears a straw hat, but even at that the act is good.

Homer Girls and Company
Two girls do hard work in brilliant costumes. The dancing is clever and difficult but not unusually beautiful. A blonde did a Russian dance which was one of the best things on the bill.

Margie Coats
She sang Hard Hearted Hannah, and she put her whole heart into the song. Her stage personality carried her act across to applause.

Jerry Mack and Company
This act was typical of the best in big-circuit vaudeville, and although not stuff, it was received with applause and appreciation.

Lloyd Ibachs Entertainers
This is the best novelty orchestra at the Orph this year. They play well, and in between they do some spirited dancing, some feature stuff, and some surprises. The sax player doubled on the clarinet at the same time, and he managed to get harmony in this rather unusual way. This act was very much in keeping with this new policy of the Orph, and it brought a very successful vaudeville program to a close.

Charm of Farrar in "Carmen" Turns Opera to Fantasy

"Carmen," as presented by the company which stars Geraldine Farrar at the Parkway theater last night, was a magnificent performance in every detail.

The personality, voice and acting of the star made a combination the effect of which has not been seen in Madison in a very long time.

"Carmen," despite the fact that technically it is a tragedy from beginning to end, is really a lot of fun, at least as it was given in its "fantasy" form last night. Gorgeous costuming which did not make the simple sets seem at all shabby, tuneful music and romance contrived to give a sumptuous opera.

Perhaps we are prejudiced in favor of ballet, but we are frank to admit that we would have enjoyed seeing more of the company's dancing and ballet. The four dancers, with the leads, were stars themselves and some of the composition of the ballets would have made Belascoe himself sit up and take notice.

And here we are thus far and haven't said a word about the singing. Did we go to see or hear? Well may you ask. But perhaps it would be just as well to say that the singing was the best part of it all and let it go at that.

Dokky Officials Lead Carnival Grand March

Members of El Capitol Temple, No. 254, Dramtic Order Knights of Khorassan, held a carnival dance at the Cameo room of the Beaver building Wednesday night as the first social function of the season. Officers of the lodge in full uniform led the grand march as one of the features of the carnival. They were Clinton Steinle, royal vizier; Howard J. Lowry, grand emir; Victor Kelley, sheik; Robert Nickles, Mahedi; Matthew Figi, secretary; Robert Acly, treasurer; Lewis Am-born, sahib; Walter Van Kuelen, satrap; William Edwards, saruk; W. Bowman, makonna; George Jacobs, imperial representative; Theodore Rohder, Charles Kohn, Fred Rogers and P. W. MacKenzie, royal princes.

The royal princes were presented with their yellow tassels during the evening ceremonies. Committee members in charge of the carnival were H. W. Meyer, John N. Julin and O. F. Leidel.

Mask and Wig

By CHATTY

What is known as the second biggest theatrical event of the campus is running on the boards at the Parkway this weekend. Last year Union Vodvil was a triumph. Trite word, that, used by so many reviewers. But it is the truth, anyway, trite or not.

This year all signs seem to indicate that it will be as big a triumph, which means, of course, that it will be an improvement over last year even. Anyway, we're looking forward with a great deal of pleasure to reviewing the show.

If it is as entertaining, artistic, and, in short, professional, as it was last year, it will be great stuff. All college theatricals are coming up a great deal from coast to coast, and Wisconsin is right up among the leaders.

And now to Hank. We had something to say to you in Monday's column, Hank, but there were so many adds on the page that the make-up man had had to "kill" the paragraphs addressed to you.

Anyway, we wish there were more like you, we wish that you would drop around and see us sometime at the Cardinal office, and we thank you a whole lot for your note. It was delightful. We may be masculine, but you can not gainsay the fact that you are very feminine. "Just like a man" you tell us; and we reply, "Just like a girl."

When we criticized the sets, and costumes of "No, No Nanette" we were thinking partly of our own Haresfoot sets and costumes and also of how New York, which really is the top of the theater in Amer-

Good Variety of Shows Will Be Seen at Theaters Next Week

By H. E. R.

A good variety of shows will be in vogue next week at the theaters. It will be a hard matter to pick out the one that should prove to be the favorite.

The Strand is opening the week with Glenn Hunter, Bessie Love, and Hobart Bosworth in "The Silent Watcher," another play in which Glenn is the goat. The plot is adapted from Mary Roberts Rinehart's "The Altar on the Hill."

The latter part of the week will feature "The Lover of Camille," a drama concerning the love of a great actor for the most beautiful woman in Paris. Monte Blue is the famous one and Marie Prevost is the beautiful woman.

"The Alaskan," starring Thomas Meighan, Estelle Taylor, John Sainpolis, and Frank Campeau, will be shown at the Parkway the first part of next week. The plot of the story can be attributed to James Oliver Curwood, and it contain plenty of excitement. The last half of the week will bring Priscilla Dean in a thriller from a different climate. The name of it is "A Cafe in Cairo."

At the Madison we will get a chance to see "The City That Never Sleeps" a drama that will be showing at the Wisconsin theater in Milwaukee at the same time. Virginia Lee Corbin, Ricardo Cortez, Kathryn Williams and Louise Dresser are the stars, and the plot concerns the relinquishing of a child by a mother who wants it to be given a better environment, and of the difficulty of the mother to make the girl recognize her in the future.

The Majestic players are shifting temperament again next week and will present another comedy, "The Love Test," which is now playing at the Central theater in Chicago. Mr. O'Shea, who enacted the part of the country sheriff in "The Mad Honeymoon" will have another similar part.

Edith Clasper, a dainty dancer, and Zelaya, who appears in "Philosophy-Wit-Humor" will be the readers at the "Orph" the first part of the week and Belle Montrose in "You'd Be Surprised" with Madame Celia de Nappell, the Mexican Galli Curci, will carry the same honors the last half.

The hairmen of all committees of the Madison Rotary club are to meet Friday noon at the Madison club, it was announced this noon at the club's regular meeting.

Madison Offering For Last Half of Week is Good Entertainment

"The Price She Paid,"
Featuring Alma Rubens,
Presented at the Madison.

By LEO JOHN.

Once more the story of the young and beautiful girl who marries a wealthy but elderly rounder to save a family reputation, and to keep the family chattels from the auction block. Once more the handsome young man in love with the girl, and the girl in love with him. Once more the inevitable straightening out of the tangle as a result of marvelous coincidences, and happiness for all concerned.

"The Price She Paid" is a very entertaining picture. It is steeped in luxury; there are beautiful homes, powerful motor cars, graceful private yachts. The characters are handsomely clad. The whole production exudes wealth, comfort, loveliness.

Miss Rubens does what she can with the plot. Really, she succeeds remarkably well. But even her efforts do not make up for some of the defects of the picture, such as the prominent part played by the long arm of chance.

All in all, the good qualities in the picture outweigh the bad. And since it is the only new movie in town for the last half of the week, it really should prove excellent entertainment.

MAY APPROPRIATE HUGE T. B. FUND

Board of Health Recommends
$650,000 Annually to Prevent Bovine Disease.

An appropriation of $650,000 each year for the next five years for tuberculosis eradication among cattle herds in Wisconsin will be recommended to the state legislature by the state board of public affairs, it was voted in executive session today during consideration of departmental budgets.

The action was taken on the agricultural department budget, on recommendation of J. D. Jones, Jr., state commissioner.

This is said to be the largest eradication program ever undertaken by the state. It will enable the anti-tuberculosis program to be carried into practically every county in the state, officials say. A similar appropriation will be obtained from the federal government, it is believed.

CHICAGO, Ill. — Wisconsin has been a leader among states in tuberculin test work among cattle herds, largely as result of the intensive rather than extensive program, J. D. Jones, Jr., Wisconsin commissioner of agriculture, declared before the U. S. Livestock Sanitary association here today.

Mr. Jones outlined a new policy which he said will be followed in Wisconsin in the future, under which greater attention will be devoted to non-area tested counties. He said this policy had been determined as more advisable than that of follow up work in area tested counties where cattle herds are already under supervision.

Bovine tuberculin test work has been accepted by Wisconsin cattle owners, as advisable, Commissioner Jones said, pointing out that petitions are now pending from thirteen counties of the state for test work, the herds of these counties including 605,313 head of cattle.

The memorial will be placed in Stanley Park, Vancouver, B. C., where President Harding made one of his last

The entry in the Prince of Wales in the shorthorn cattle division placed fourth.

Bank Head's Death Natural, Jury Finds

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. — William R. Fee, San Gabriel bank president, whose body was found several days ago in the San Bernardino mountains, 50 feet from a cabin occupied by Miss Mary Watkins, 26, who said she was a close friend of the banker, died a natural death, according to an agreement reached last night by authorities. The report was based on scientific conclusions rather than evidence submitted to a coroner's jury which found that Mr. Fee died from a blow inflicted by persons unknown.

COOLIDGE SAYS ISOLATION IS BAD

U. S. Cannot Live For Itself
Alone, He Says in Chicago
Speech

CHICAGO — President Coolidge told business men of Chicago today that neither business nor nations can live to themselves alone.

Speaking at a luncheon of the Chicago Commercial club, the chief executive appealed for inclusion of the spirit of mutual aid in the relationships between business and agriculture and in the dealings among nations.

"You people of commerce, you people of the city, are an integral part of the life of agriculture, of this life of the country," he said.

"We can no more assure permanent and stable peace without cooperation among the nations, than we can secure victory without allies among them," he asserted in urging application of the principal of mutual aid to international relationships.

CHICAGO — President Coolidge arrived in Chicago at 9 a. m. today to inspect and speak at the International Livestock Exposition and address a luncheon gathering of the Commercial Club of Chicago.

Delegations representing the two organizations acting as hosts to Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge and their party met them at the station, and escorted them to the Drake Hotel where the executive planned to hold several conferences prior to the Commercial Club luncheon scheduled for 12:45 p. m.

Crowds at the station gave President Coolidge a hearty welcome. The weather man had arranged a mixture of rain and snow squalls, which with fog and smoke blanketed the loop district as the presidential party was driven to the hotel.

The Women's Roosevelt Republican club, as official hostess, arranged a luncheon for Mrs. Coolidge.
