NINE JOBS GO BY DEFAULT IN BIG ELECTION

Many Keen Fights Promised for Several Board Positions

Nine positions were obtained by default when the nominations for board officers closed at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The Badger ticket, Thomas Coxon and Clarence Rasmussen, went through with no opposition. Sterling Tracy, '22, won the position of junior member on the Forensic board without any competition.

Athletic board furnished small competition for the positions requiring "W" men, six of them going by default. The board now stands with Stevens Gould, president; George Bunge, vice-president; Carson Lyman, baseball representative; "Mike" Knapp, basketball representative; Frank Weston, football representative, and Malcolm Mecartney, track representative. The other two "W" men positions will require elections, Wayne Ramsey and Wellington Brothers contesting for cross-country representative, and John Koch and Howard Stark running for the minor sports position.

With eight candidates competing for the two openings for non-"W" men, the contest promises to be one of the closest fought battles of the election. Those running are Clarence Wille, Albert Knollin, George Stolley, C. Seymour Nason, Earl Miller, Herbert Wible, and Hobart Kletzein.

Seven new candidates for Union board positions have raised the number of entries for the three open positions to 12. One of these must be an experienced man elected from appointments by the board. As yet

ANNOUNCE AWARDS FOR BIG JAMBOREE

Ingenuity will come into its own when the cleverest and most representative costumes at Jamboree, the costume ball which will be held in the armory, April 10, under the auspices of the student senate and S. G. A., will command premiums which will be on display at McKillop's Art store beginning Monday.

There will be a first and second award for groups of six or more individuals which carry out the best ideas. The prizes from which a choice can be made consist of a cup, candle-stick, reading lamp, and chromo plack.

The individual prize will be a choice of bookends or a picture frame.

OCTOPUS EDITORS TO PASS ON COPY

The Board of Editors of the Octopus will meet in the Union building Monday night at 7:45 to pass upon copy that has been submitted for the next issue. This will appear on the campus on the 21st of this month, immediately after the spring recess.

The title of the coming magazine is the "Wrong Number," and has a large list of contributors, the best known satirists and artists on the campus.

That the book is popular among the alumni and people not attending the university is attested by the number of foreign subscriptions that are coming into the office.

UNION VODVIL HUGE SUCCESS

Annual Production of Show Well Received on First Night

By the Amateur Critic

Last night at the Fuller, the annual university hippodrome presented by the Union board appealed to the multitude of customers at the most entertaining Vodvil of recent years.

In all, the acts appearing on the bill were well produced, and especially was the inherent humor of the student body evident in any act that attempted to humor.

The most convenient manner to review the long performance would be to take the acts as they appeared on the program.

"A." Red Hawkins et al. That is to say Red and the associate all-stars of Thompson's syncopaters really opened the show with their overture. It served to place the audience in a very pleasant and appreciative mood.

"B." An innovation in such productions as Vodvil was offered successfully to the patrons by the ambitious Theta Deltas in their moving picture thesis entitled "Campus Smiles." Most of the notables famous and infamous were seen.

"C." The famous Phi Deltas offered the contiguous operetta "League of Nations," featuring a new comedian in Earl Carpenter and an expert in burlesque mimicry in the person of Paul Clafin who interpreted the difficult role of "The Eighteenth Amendment."

At this point the acts were changed, and "F" was placed in the "D" position. Whereupon the olio was dropped and the grand piano placed. Thereupon Bill Goessling announced "I'm here," and Rose Glassner responded to the toast with "I'm here." Rose Glassner had some nice songs that bounced right over the footlights. Bill was nearly lost behind the monumental piano, but he put the act over in fine shape.

The announcement cards again resumed their normal order and the "E" position presented a condensed version of the histrionic ability of Edwin Booth, Red Domino, and Twelfth Night in a delightful little playlet entitled, "Suppressed Desires." The respective representatives, John Warren, Rachel Commons, and J. Elaine Ellis seemed to appreciate the humorous possibilities of their act and in doing so, they made the audience appreciate it with growing enthusiasm.

Following came the belated "D" act of Charles Morris and Gladys Thompson, in the self-explanatory

Dame Fashion Bosses Easter Day Parade Despite Weather

"To freeze or not to freeze—that is the question." And it's the question that is keeping all of the co-eds wrought up to fever pitch for the last few days. For aren't the new spring capes and suits and the frilliest of taffetas and the airiest of spring hats all ready and waiting for the annual Easter morning parade?

Of course, you needn't think for a minute that they won't appear. If the wind blows the city into Mendota and the snow piles up to the window sills the fashion show will be staged on schedule time and with full equipment. The weather may dictate what Old Lady Common Sense shall wear, but it can't do a thing with Madame Fashion—when she will, she will, and there's no getting around it. So Easter will be ushered in with all of the pomp of flowers and frills and lilies and bunnies and Easter eggs, just like the good old days. You just can't tell about the weather either—it may be so warm that it will be a positive pleasure to be fashionable and abreast of the times. Given two hours, the weatherman may be able to scare up a real June day.

GYM ARTISTS MEET CHICAGO IN FINAL FRAY

Wrestlers, Fencers and Boxers Hold Sway in Meet Today

Varsity wrestlers, acrobats, and fencers will meet Chicago in a dual wrestling and gymnastic meet, and the finals of the all-university boxing tournament will be fought this afternoon on the third floor of the gymnasium.

The competition will start at 2:30, and three events, wrestling or boxing, fencing, and acrobatic stunts, will be run off at the same time in order to finish the program in scheduled time. The price of admission is 50 cents or coupon 25.

The Badger grapplers are in top condition for the meet and a good showing is expected of them in spite of the fact that the Maroons are reputed as having a strong squad. It is not certain which of the two men listed in each weight Coach Joe Steinauer will use, but in all probability the personnel of the team will be different than the one which was defeated by Minnesota two weeks ago.

The gymnasts are looking forward to a hard scrap for first honors in their meet because of the record made by the Chicago acrobats four weeks ago in a dual meet with Illinois. Besides being somewhat weakened by the loss of two regulars, Hagen and Golley, the team is in a well groomed condition with a season's training to back them up.

Decide Fistic Champion

The boxing bouts will decide the champions of the university in the various weight classifications. As

TRADITIONS TOLD TO MEN OF 1923

Punishment ranging from lake duckings and enforced wearing of prison uniforms on the hill to suspension from the university were promised freshmen who consistently refuse to obey and regard the university traditions as outlined by the student senate, when eight upper-classmen spoke to the freshmen assembled in their drill section yesterday afternoon at 4:30.

The absolute necessity of obedience to the traditions, the great place of traditions in the university, and the fact that this spring must be absolutely orderly in respect to class conflicts were some of the points enlarged upon by the speakers. Especially did the men point out that the conduct of the lower classes would definitely decide the issue of student self-government at Wisconsin, and would do much to influence the faculty in its decision to let it remain.

This is the second series of informal talks that the senate has arranged for the lower classes, the last one being given to the sophomores last week, when the plans for hazing regulations were perfected and tested by the sophomores with the help of the senate.

The first year men gave every indication that they would abide by the traditions and would do their share towards an orderly spring. Men who spoke yesterday to the freshmen were: F. W. Duncan, Melvin Brorby, Milton Borman, H. A. Taylor, "Bud" Follett, R. L. Rewey, Clyde Emery, and Vincent O'Shea.

WE were in front of the gymnasium yesterday when the first cannon went off. Well, by the time they fired the second one we was well past the stock pavilion, and was well on our way to the cement house on the drive. We're slightly run down these near-spring days.

triple tie ended the women's inter-class basketball tournament in Lathrop gym Thursday night, when the freshmen walloped the hitherto victorious sophs, 22 to 15. The seniors beat the juniors 58 to 7, in a game that was a walk-away from the beginning, despite the grim defense of the juniors.

The freshman victory came as a decided shock to the sophomores, who had won the previous two games, defeating the seniors and the juniors. The sophomores were confident of winning the tournament.

A large crowd, in which there was even a goodly sprinkling of men, attended the finals of the tournament. Between halves entertaining class stunts were staged. The freshmen led off with a jazz band, the sophs gave a mock basketball game, played with balloons, and the juniors held a war-dance around the skeleton of the seniors.

As the seniors, sophomores, and freshmen have each defeated two teams, the present status is a triple tie. On account of midsemesters and the end of the season, to the disappointment of teams and fans, the tie is not to be played off.

The afternoon games scored as follows: Freshman squad team, 47; junior squad team, 7; sophomore second team, 22; freshman second team, 16.

only one candidate, Charles Moore, has been appointed in this way. For the position of inexperienced junior, nominated in the usual way, five petitions have been filled. Those running are Vernon Sell, William Florea, Milton Borman, William J. Pickard, and David Lacey.

The one sophomore position open on Union board has six candidates: Walter Schwinn, Dexter Brown, Robert H. Christy, Arthur Kinnan, Edward L. Hoyer, and Paul Clafin, and bids fair to be the most closely contested position of the election.

Another hard struggle will be that for sophomore representative on the Cardinal Board of Control. For the one opening, five candidates have appeared: Katherine Rosenberry, Frederick Beckman, Caryl Parkinson, Adnan Scolten, and Esther Haven. Three juniors, George Crownhart, John J. Pinney, and Clyde Gleason are running for the two junior openings.

Although Badger headliners won by default, four new entries put the board place on the list of contested positions. Five sophomores, Margaret Green, Consuela Burwell, Jerry Quam, Melbourne Bergeman, and Roy B. Hull are running for the two junior openings and two freshmen, Paul Gangelin and Robert C. Price for the one sophomore position.

The two senior positions on next year's Forensic board will furnish

THE SPIRIT OF EASTER

THE spirit of Easter will prevail Sunday morning when 21 groups of students will sing Easter messages to "shut-ins" and others in every section of Madison.

Wherever a white flag with a flower, or a ribbon bow in the center is hung out, the carollers covering the city in automobiles will stop and through the medium of joyous Easter songs attempt to convey a realization of the significance of Easter.

The singing of the carollers will convincingly bring a sense of the new, rebounding life that springtime and Easter always typify. The day's association with the idea of life triumph over death will be brought out in the message of the signers.

The spirit engendered by the resurrection of Christ can best be shown through good music, and the music students' efforts in this direction is to be highly appreciated by all.

The development of the spirit being within, the idealistic spirit, is often lost sight of in these days when materialistic gain is the motive for almost all action. The admirable support given to the Easter carollers' plans by the people of Madison signifies that many desire to do everything possible to spread the glad Easter spirit; that this spirit will be manifested this year as in no others.

On Eastern morn at 7:45 the different groups will assemble at the Lincoln statue on the Hill, and an appropriate community song service will be held. The delegation of students at these services should be a large one.

START EARLY

SPEAKING before the University club of Brooklyn, one of America's foremost financiers emphasized the need of teaching economics in secondary schools. His remarks to the effect that "the men of this country are not fitted to take on the financial business of this great nation," and also that "the coming generation must be trained to do this" are statements that will bear close inspection.

In the past there has been a feeling on the part of secondary schools that courses in economics which give the least semblance of being extensive should be confined to the university. The comparatively simple introductory course usually given is never stressed to the point of being made compulsory.

As a result only a small proportion of students in these secondary schools ever come to benefit by even an introductory course in the field of economics.

Little wonder then at the statement quoted above. The percentage of high school graduates entering the university is too small to merit boasting. Those who do come to the university cannot all take part in the socio-economic discussions that are more and more coming to play a vital part in our national life.

We do not mean to infer that the entire system of high school education can at one stroke be revolutionized, nor do we want to contend that those who guide the destinies of our secondary schools are not alive to the needs of the hour. But as a point in fact, if high school students could get a greater insight into those things monopolizing public interest—the things treated in the field of economics—it might be that more of them would come to appreciate the value of continuing these studies in the university.

It would be a more certain means of linking the seriousness and necessity of a university education with high school life. Those high school students who in their senior year spend the last semester debating whether they should continue their education or whether they are qualified after having completed a high school education to start "to carry on the financial business of this great nation" might in this manner be given the necessary impetus needed for an affirmative decision to continue their education.

If the majority of high school students do not for some reason or other enter the university, they are nevertheless looked upon as leaders, who, after they have supplemented their education with a little practical experience, will be able to act as qualified leaders. We are inclined to agree with the financier that greater concentration in the field of economics while the student's mind is still in the state of plastic susceptibility would be the best method for accomplishing the end that he has in mind.

COLLEGE HONORS AT STAKE TODAY IN TRACK MEET

Points Gained Count in Fight for the Nelson Trophy

The inter-college track meet which is to be held in the gym annex this afternoon at 1:15 will be one of the big events in the day's program. The track meet will be over in time so that the spectators and participants will be able to attend the dual wrestling and gymnastic meet between Chicago and Wisconsin.

College insignia and numerals will be awarded to those placing in the various events. The captains for the different colleges are: C. W. Wille, engineering; E. M. Smith, agric.; L. E. Norem, L. and S.; G. Stolley, C. C.; and F. C. Forebeck, pre-medic.

Each college must enter four men in each event in order that it may get credit for the places it takes in the event. Places in all events will be scored by teams, not by individuals. In field events, the aggregate height or distance of the four men in the team will determine the order of places. In track events, the cross-country method of scoring will be used—the team having the lowest score will be given first place in that event. Five points will be scored to a team winning first place; four points for second place; three points for third place; two points for fourth place and one point for fifth place. College insignia will be awarded to the man who wins each event.

CHURCH CHOIR GIVES MESSIAH ORATORIO

DR. DEVINE URGES EDUCATION BUREAU

"We should have a secretary of public health in the president's cabinet to get a hearing with Congress on behalf of national hygiene; and we should have a secretary of education to 'sell' education to public opinion. These two are of equal importance with other branches of government." So said Dr. Edward T. D. Devine, associate editor of the "Survey," in an address on "Our New Horizons: Social and Political Unrest," delivered last night to a large audience in 165 Main hall.

Dr. Devine told of the astounding conditions of physical defectiveness and illiteracy shown by tests on soldiers during the war and declared that vigorous health and education programs should be adopted by the federal government to better conditions.

Mississippi River Power Company, Keokuk, Iowa

Utilizing Nature's Power

ELECTRICAL energy generated by water power has grown to be one of our greatest natural resources—and we have only begun to reach its possibilities. It mines and refines our ores, turns the wheels of industry, drives our street cars and lights our cities and towns. The power obtained from Nature saves many million tons of coal every year.

At first the field of its utilization was limited by the distance electricity could be transported. But soon research and engineering skill pointed the way to larger and better electrical apparatus necessary for high-voltage transmission. Then ingenious devices were invented to insure protection against lightning, short-circuits, etc., which cause damage and interrupt the service. And now all over the country a network of wires begins to appear, carrying the magic power.

The General Electric Company, with its many years' experience, has played a great part in hydro-electric development. By successfully co-ordinating the inventive genius of the company and its engineering and manufacturing abilities, it has accomplished some of the greatest achievements in the production and application of electrical energy.

The old mill wheel of yesterday has gone. Today the forces of immense volumes of water are harnessed and sent miles away to supply the needs of industry and business and the comforts of the home.

A casting for one of the huge water-wheel driven generators installed in the Mississippi River Power Company's plant at Keokuk. This installation will ultimately consist of thirty of these machines, giving a total capacity of 216,000 kilowatts (300,000 horsepower). It is the largest hydro-electric development in the world. The General Electric Company builds generator for water-wheel drive in sizes ranging from 57½ to 82,500 kilowatts and the aggregate capacity of G-E units now in successful operation is in excess of four million horse-power.

title "Whiffs from Wizardry." Chuck's ability and the appearance of the oriental Gladys put the necessary quality into the act.

And then came the Delta Gammas in the musical version of Burdette Kinne's recent exposee "Oh, My Dear." The multitude of sinners was introduced to a collegiate Ann Pennington in the person and personality of Doris Dellicker. Bertha Blaul was oh so nice and naive, and when she said that she used to go buggy-riding in Stoughton, the male contingent present was allready to offer their motor-cars and motor-cycles. The dancing of the chorus tended toward more professionalism than is usually seen. And what is more "Pete" Burns directed.

"H" announced "Here's How for Who's WHO," and in short time on tripped Dave Moroney, Pearl Stewart, and Don Marvin. All had their own particular bit to do, and did it well, and then magnified the whole effect in their ensembles.

"J" with Sparks Dodge and the Prattville stringed trio was so suggestive of Chic Sale that we could hardly believe it was out old friend Sparks. The sermon number was "simply wonderful," according to Dean Nardin.

Ray Holcombe and Clarence Schubert in the "K" position again demonstrated their training in histrionia art and carried the dramatic effect of their playlet "The Moonshiners" to the final curtain.

Following this, Chuck Carpenter and Freddy Bickel broke up the scenery and set the stage for their own number in the "L" spot. Because these two young men are genuine entertainers, and because they try to please, but chiefly because they are both Iron Cross men by virtue of other abilities, they deserve every bit of praise, and they got it last night.

The last act on the bill, "Melody Garden," presented by Alpha Chi Omega and most capably directed by Frances Tucker, received the absolute approval and approbation of the audience although rather tired. The songs and general staging were outstanding in their high quality. The "Danse Bizarre," by Louise Sammons, served to bring the act to an impressive close.

Rudy to Be Judge

Paul P. "Mike" Rudy has consented to take the place of Richard Tyrrell as one of the judges of Union Vodvil, Tyrrell being unexpectedly called to Chicago on Haresfoot business. The other judges are John W. McPherrin, Haresfoot, and Prof. Eugene H. Byrne, a charter member of the faculty dramatic organization, Curtain club.

Rudy is president of the Haresfoot club, and is well known in university dramatic circles. In 1917 he appeared in the leading feminine role of "Jamaica Ginger," the last pre-war Haresfoot show, and appeared as Countess Cogniac in the annual Haresfoot revue and dance last winter.
