JERSEYHURST

THE HOME OF THE LATE R.T. CRANE

Among the real beauty spots on the shores of Lake Geneva one deserving of special mention is found in "Jerseyhurst", the country seat of the late Richard T. Crane and family. The name Jerseyhurst was chosen in memory of his native state of New Jersey.

When he had established his business as Iron Monger in Chicago and got it on a basis as sound as his philosophy and as solid as his product, he looked around for a playground. A happy fate led him to Lake Geneva and here in the rolling hills of a sylvan forest he purchased 43 acres and later added 37 more, and here in 1879, his first summer home was built, and as the family grew and married other homes were built until four beautiful mansions graced the park which had been gradually taking form under the skillful direction of Axel Johnson, gardener and his predecessors.

Richard T. Crane was a business man first in the development of his business the quality of forth right decision was a strong factor of success. His dealings with men, whether business associates or employees were marked with that characteristic of sureness of himself. He had no use for alibis or failure. "There is the job, do it."

It was said of Mr. Crane that he would not hire a college graduate. This was probably not exactly true, but a college diploma was not at all necessary to secure a place in any of the departments. Once I heard him say, "If a young man has it in him to fill a ten thousand dollar job, he will develop himself to fill it and I don't see how a three thousand dollar college professor can be expected to turn out a ten thousand dollar worker."

Mr. Crane was very fond of trees and so the natural beauty of the forest surrounding his home was preserved as far as possible. Mr. Axel Johnson, the foreman, has transplanted more than one hundred trees, mostly large ones, in changing the picture of the landscape. Once when talking with his employer about trees, the gardener suggested that he plant young trees and watch them grow. "No," emphatically replied Mr. Crane, I haven't time to wait for trees to grow, I want them now big enough to give me shade and beauty." So larger trees were planted, some with trunks of 8 inches in diameter and 50 feet tall.

At the present time the homes and grounds at Jerseyhurst present a picture that stands alone. Its majestic forest trees moved and placed to present avenues and vistas wide views and intimate clusters with the beautiful flower gardens and borders to add a finishing touch to the picture. Here one of the pioneers of the middle west took his recreation and from 1879 'til 1912, when he passed on, he was found every summer.

Space will not permit a description of the graperies and hot houses in which fruit such as nectarines, figs and peaches are grown in tubs, as well as winter vegetables.

The original mansion of Mr. Crane was dismantled several years ago and now a beautiful lawn stretches across the site.

The Home of R.T. Crane

The original mansion of Mr. Cranne's was dismantled a few years ago and now a beautiful lawn stretches across the site. The other homes are occupied by the grandchildren and great grandchildren of Mr. Crane. They are Mrs. A.F. Gartz, Mrs. A.K. Maxwell and Mr. Charles T. Crane ll and families.

So intimately is the life and work of Mr. Axel Johnson woven into the creation and history of "Jerseyhurst" that I wish here to present him to the readers in this relation. This is true of many of the gardeners who directed the landscaping of these beauty spots around our lake.

MR. AXEL JOHNSON

The prominence which Mr. Axel Johnson has achieved in horticulture and gardening comes from a very sound background, for in addition to apprentice work in his early years, he had three years at the college of Agriculture and Horticulture in Alnarp, Sweden, graduating in 1889. So he brought with him into his profession a highly technical as well as practical experience.

Axel Johnson was born in Sweden in 1867 and there grew to manhood. In 1890 he went to England and the following year came to the States. He came directly to Jerseyhurst, the summer home of Mr. R.T. Crane, and has been in charge of the greenhouses, gardens and grounds ever since.

As a recognition of his wonderful work in horticulture in all its branches, Mr. Johnson has received special honors from the State Horticultural Society, of which he has been a member for many years.

He was married in 1893, November 15, to Katherine Johnson of Garland, Penn. Eight children were born to them, seven of whom are living. Charles died at the age of thirty. Esther, Oscar, Florence, (Mrs. Louie Johnson), Anna, Frank Louise and Ruth.

Lake Geneva has long been famous for its fishing. The Indians who lived on its shores back a hundred years ago and untold centuries before had an unlimited supply of food from its deep, cool waters. They had their favorite fishing holes then just as do the fishermen of today. In fact where the city of Lake Geneva borders the shore, a name signifying good fishing was given to their favorite fishing grounds.

Williams Bay has always been a favorite spot for both the red man and white fisherman. The easy access to the lake at the Bay makes it an especially attractive haunt for lovers of the piscatorial art. They can come by train or auto and be right on the shore ready for business.

Fontana and the city of Lake Geneva naturally have their favorite spots for many fishermen.

For many years commercial fishing was permitted and the nearness of the Chicago market made it a profitable one for many otherwise unemployed during the long Winter months. It is stated that one Winter a total of 40 tons of fish were caught through the ice at "Pickerelville, the name given to the fishermen's huts on Geneva Bay.

Back in 1863 the first attempt at replenishing the lake with fish was made with a total of twelve lake trout and three white fish. Now annually there are hundreds of thousands added by the State Fish Commission. Fish and Game Laws have been put in force to conserve the lake as a fishing center.

The experienced fisherman expects to catch several kinds of game fish, such as wall-eyed pike, small-mouth black bass and pickerel. The average fisherman will secure yellow perch, rock bass, small-mouth black bass. These can be caught by the expert or the small boy with his can of worms and bamboo pole.

It hardly seems possible but in the summer of 1920 when a study was made of the fish diseases, in two hauls made with a seine, 50 feet long by 4 feet wide, Prof.

BETTER FIRE PROTECTION PLAN

As one goes around Lake Geneva one sees at the entrance of the lanes leading to the homes on the shore copper plates with the inscriptions " Member of the Geneva Lake Property Owners Protective Association " and also one with a number. There by hangs the basis for this story.

As a part of the protection plan for the property along the lake arrangements have been made with the Volunteer Fire Departments of Lake Geneva, Williams Bay, Fontana and Walworth for answering calls. Numbers have been assigned to the various pieces of property around the lake and the lake zoned for calls. Later on it is hoped that another department can be located on the south side of the lake at a point where volunteers might be available, such as Geneva Lake Yacht Club. Later a Fire Boat such as is now on Delavan Lake is in the plan.

It is quite a long list but may be interesting to the readers to have the entire list of numbers used in the plan. Here they are:

" Lake Geneva Observer " which is a continuation of " Bay Leaves " which has been published by F.M. Van Epps for the last four Summers and since January 1st every week, is being sent to some 1500 persons living in Williams Bay or on the shores of Lake Geneva. This week an effort is being made again to get copies into the hands of every owner of a home on the lake or in a subdivision having lake rights. If you missed last week's number say so on the return card when you sign it and send it in. If you like the paper send a few lines and we will print them.

Read the advertisements as the merchants or tradesmen who placed them in the paper have helped to make the last two numbers possible. The more subscribers the less the editor need depend upon advertisements. News and articles will fill many pages each week.

Send in news items. Let your guests see their names in the columns of the paper which gets all around the lake.

While cutting down a cherry tree at Olivet Camp, nearly a year ago, Mr. Ivar Nicholson, Williams Bay, got an idea which helped him to pass away many hours during the depression in constructive work to his liking.

Ivar has been used to working with wood from his childhood spent in the mountains of Sweden when he watched the woodsmen cut the trees and float the logs down the Göta Elv. Later as a young man he too did his share in the lumber camps.

He will never forget the beauty of the river as it dropped down the mountains in rapids and waterfalls, some magnificent falls into deep whirlpools.

He came to this country and has done fine work with his hands in watch factories and furniture factories. Being an artist he never could adjust himself to the machine age where things were turned out in stock patterns, but liked to do hand work. At one time he worked on reconditioning antiques which dated back to the Roman days. The pieces had a market value, because of their antiquity, of thousands of dollars, yet were mediocre compared to work possible today with handcarving tools.

Although through the years he has been employed and had no time for carrying on his ambitions, the depression gave him an opportunity to again resume this work. With the pieces of the cherry tree he made a beautiful table of matched wood pieces. Then he had a radio cabinet and piano bench which he made into a writing desk with inlaid designs. This he has followed up with several beautiful table tops which he has made by taking finely grained boards and cutting designs in them and then cutting pieces to fit into them making beautiful inlaid tops. All of these are carved by hand and done in a most artistic manner.

Two of his latest pieces are finished from designs given him by Mrs. G. Van Biesbroeck.

Where is "Fanny"? Yes, where is "Fanny"? We would all certainly like to know. For the benefit of those who are not acquainted with the latest fishing fad, The Lake Geneva Observer takes pleasure in describing it to its best abilities.

Several fish have been released in Fox Lake, Lake Geneva, and other lakes in Northern Illinois and Southern Wisconsin. These however, are not ordinary fish. These fish have metal tags affixed to their exalted personages. Upon the tags are printed several different numbers denoting amounts of money which are to be paid upon presentation of the fish. However, to present the fish is quite another thing. Anyway that is precisely what our sportsmen are beginning to do.

About $2000.00 worth of tags were released with fish in all the places. In Lake Geneva, "Fanny", with a $200.00 tag was released by Mayor Ledger of Lake Geneva. "Fanny" was born and raised at the fish hatchery at Burlington. She was launched in Lake Geneva on Sunday, June 13. She has been pursuing her course since then and has probably surmised that prosperity has returned from the sudden flow of food bestowed to her advantages.

There are several other fish which were released in Lake Geneva bearing tags ranging from $1.00 to $10.00. Many of these have been caught. The biggest interest however, is placed on "Fanny". Who will get her?

Another suddenly popularized fish is the one bearing the name of "Oscar II". He is called "Oscar II", because he is the successor of a subsequent "Oscar", who was sadly called to the "happy swimming grounds". His body was found upon Fox Lake where he was released. His finder was awarded $25.00. If he had been alive he would have brought $500.00, as that was the amount stated on his tag. However, he was forgotten when "Oscar II" was rushed forward to carry on the dangerous work of dodging fish

LIFE IN OUR CAMPS

CONFERENCE POINT-

Conference Point Camp was invaded on June 19 by the Geneva Summer School of Missions. This Conference consists of missionaries from various points of the world. They will leave on June 26.

Mrs. Thomas A. Freeman is serving as chairman of the conference. She is being assisted by sixteen other officials.

Among the guests are the Mmes Beveridges. These women are distinguished for their gracious work of carrying on a nursing service in the Kentucky mountains. This institution provides for the care and recreation of people who are in poor health.

There are many others who are also doing work helping needy and underprivileged people. It is a boost to have such a fine body of personages in our community if only for a short while.

CONGRESS CLUB-

Another ever creditable establishment in our midst is Congress Club, which was founded over fifty years ago. Upon this property are ten homes housing people from Chicago and vicinity. The name, Congress Club, was derived from Congress Street in Chicago, on which the founders resided. However, residents at Congress Club are not necessarily from Congress Street.

Residents of this happy spot for the summer are: Mr. and Mrs. MacMasters; Mrs. John L. Little and daughter, Mrs. Max Evans and her two young daughters, Susie and Anna Lary; Mr. and Mrs. John Acheson; Mr. and Mrs. Townsend with their three children; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peace and their daughter, Sara; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schwinn and their two sons, Edward and Frank; Mrs. Charles Lang and two children, Nancy and Ralph. -- Here it may be said that Mrs. Lang's grandfather, Mr. Harvey T. Weeks, was the founder of Congress Club; Mrs. Florence Biggs with her mother, Mrs. John B. Foley; her niece, Miss Virginia Hall, and her brother, Mr. John B. Foley; Mr. J.W. Porter; and Mr. Frank Van Inwagen with his mother, Mrs. Lucia Van Inwagen, and three sisters.

Eleanor Camp

At Eleanor Camp we find a group of girls from the different Y.W.C.A.'s. There are representatives from Urbana, Ill.; Whitewater, Wis.; LaGrange, Ill., and Janesville, Wis. The total number of campers is 170, thirty of which are counselors and other such staff. This group arrived June 16 and will be here 'til June 26.

The Deloit Y.W.C.A. is sponsoring this outing in the hope that these girls may have a joyous vacation which may add to their sense of sportsmanship and recreation.

COLLEGE CAMP-

Here, at College Camp, we find things booming with a conference which arrived on June 21 and leaves on the 29th. The conference is made up of 400 Y.W.C.A. college students. This 400 represents Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Missouri, Minnesota, North and South Dakotas, and Michigan. The chairman of the conference is Miss Elaine Ward.

The main theme of the conference is; "How can a college student most effectively evaluate life's experiences to find and use the most worthwhile?" This problem is to be discussed as to how, what and why.

The discussion leaders are: Miss Ethel Davis; Mrs. Ruth Johnson; Dr. Thornton Merriam; Miss Sara Chakko; Dr. Kathleen MacArthur; Dr. Thomas Graham; Miss Ethel Kavin; Miss Florence Clark; Mr. George Collins; Miss Margaret Mead; Dr. Larry Sears; Mrs. Minnie E. Allen and Dr. Walter Laves.

Undoubtedly this group will leave College Camp very much enlightened upon the question to be discussed after this sojourn with these capable leaders.

Chas. Giauque.

A WILLIAMS BAY ARTISAN (Con't)

The natural grains of the wood make the background effect of sky, land and water, and on one a heron is inlaid with other artistic figures, and on the other two robins are sitting in a tree.

Possibly some of the readers would like to see these table tops, and may do so by calling at his home, 132 Williams Street, Williams Bay. Many people saw samples of his work at the recent All-Craft Guild Exhibit. It was there that the editor became enthusiastic over them and thought readers of "Lake Geneva Observer" might be interested in seeing them. Mr. Nicholson desires to make it a business if there is a market for his work. Such fine handcraft should be encouraged.

It may be that readers of this article have some beautiful discarded old pieces of furniture which will furnish material for fine pieces of furniture in your home, which would last for generations.

EDITOR.

CASUAL COMMENT

By An Observer

WAR IS PREDICTED IN 1937

A Virginia woman predicts war in 1937. An egg laid the other day by her hen "Betty", had inside the egg shell this- "June 20, 1937." This wouldn't be the hen that laid the golden egg, would it? We saw plenty of rain clouds, no war clouds.

GET A JOB AT A PIN A WEEK AND STICK YOUR BOSS

Here is the way the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics figured it when they met in convention in Chicago lately- A way for easy money- if you can find an employer who will pay you in pins; go to work for one pin a week, doubling your income every week. At the end of the year you can sell the brass for $1,000,000, 000- so they say. Better not go on a sitdown strike where you keep the pins, we would say.

ACCIDENTS WILL HAPPEN

A W.P.A. worker met with an accident the other day. He fell off his shovel.

HOW IS THIS!

Name of a young man, tenor soloist in a church choir in Georgia is Justin Tune. Young lady soprano soloist's name- Isabelle Sound. Three singers together with B.O. Low, basbo, he called the Harmony Trio.

FRESHMAN COLLEGE COURSE TO BE GIVEN IN WILLIAMS BAY THIS FALL.

In cooperation with the Extension Division of the University of Wisconsin the Williams Bay Board of Education will have the complete Freshman year of University work the coming school year given right here in Williams Bay.

Student completing the full year's Extension work will be rated as sophomores if they enter the university the following year.

A representative of the University was in Williams Bay yesterday and today (Thursday) to confer with prospective students.

The classes will be conducted here in the village during the day time. Many of the students will come from the villages and communities in the surrounding territory.

The Williams Bay School Board, Dr. C.Y. Wiswell, G. Van Biesbroeck and Miss Ragnild Nelson and Mr. Sorensen, Principal of the High School are to be commended on their efforts to bring this part of a University course here. It should make possible the attendance at the college of many who could not get started otherwise.

ALL LICENSES FOR SELLING BEER AND LIQUORS RENEWED FOR NEXT YEAR.

At the meeting of the Village Board the applications for renewal of their licenses to sell Fermented Malt Beverages to be consumed off the premises were approved for W.H. Burton and Gordon G. Burton. Application to sell Beer on the premises was renewed for Clifton Mustin at the Homway Restaurant. Applications for renewal of Class "B" Tavern Licenses for Mrs. Clara Ridell for The Clarendell, Mrs. M.C. Spence and R. Stein were approved.

The application of J.H. Yeo for a combination Class "B" license for Bay Shore Hotel was refused on the grounds that the village ordinance requires a full year's residence within the village of Williams Bay before a license can be granted.

The application of Mrs. B.H. Vandercook which was a substitute one to the application of J.H. Yeo could not be acted upon as it had to be published and fifteen days lapse before action.

BOARD OF HEALTH MEETS.

After the meeting of the Village Board the meeting of the Board of Health was called to order by Chairman Atkins. The Board consists of the Village Board, the Clerk and Dr. C.Y. Wiswell, the Health Officer.

The matter of toilets was taken up as several complaints had been made.

Since the village sewer system has been installed most every one who was served by it has connected with the sewer. It was understood that five years would be granted at the time of the installation of the system for persons to make connections.

It is time now to insist that all out side toilets be connected up where sewer connections are possible. The attitude of the Board of Health is that after proper warning all unsanitary toilets be removed and the proper charge be assessed against the property owners.

The burning of garbage where it becomes a nuisance to neighbors was discussed also as complaints had come about about certain places.

The Board felt that a suggestion in this regard was sufficient. Henry Kenyon takes the garbage away twice a week for a nominal charge. Burying every day is a good way to dispose of small quantities.

YERKES OBSERVATORY

The Observatory has been open for visitors during the Summer months on Saturday afternoons. At that time those wishing to see the workings of the Observatory are taken in groups through the corridors and shown the photographs of the sun, planets, nebulae, etc. and then taken to the dome up a long narrow stairs where some member of the staff gives a lecture.

The mechanics of the telescope are shown and demonstrated, the floor moves up and down and the dome revolves. After the lecture all go out onto balcony which surrounds the dome and take a view of the lake and the surrounding country. This view is worth a long journey to see.

The editor has frequently visited the Observatory since 1900 and known personally most of the staff.

Dr. George E. Hale, the first Director is living in California and takes an active interest in astronomy. Others who have made valuable contributions to the astronomical field who later went to other institutions are Prof. G.W. Ritchie, Prof. Ferdinand Ellerman, Dr. Oliver J. Lee, Dr. Philip Fox, Prof E.E. Barnard, John A. Parkhurst and Dr. Edwin Brant Frost passed away while still in the village.

Mr. Barnard made some notable photographs of the Milky Way and these are being carefully studied today and compared with photographs of the same spot to note any changes.

The movement of the stars in the Milky Way, of which our Earth and Sun are a part of a vast stellar nebulae, can be noticed in these studies. The movement seems very slight on the photographs or plates but represents vast millions of miles.

They talk of light years which means the distance travelled by a ray of light in a year at the rate of 186,000 miles a second, about the way we think of the expenditures of government today.

It caused quite a bit of interest when the Chicago World's Fair, Century of Progress, was opened by a ray of light from the star, Arcturus, which had been on its way 40 years. That was a short time in light years compared to many of the stars.

The editor knows very little about astronomy and always is awed by the pictures of nebulae which represent islands of universes such as our Milky Way.

In succeeding articles it is expected that one of the astronomers will give our readers some lessons in astronomy which we folk living in this astronomical atmosphere ought to know.

An article on Dr. Frost will also appear soon as a part of the Lake Geneva Personalities.

ELKHORN BAND CONCERTS JUNE 30

For convenience of those wishing to make purchases most of the stores will be open on Wednesday evenings.

Several pages of advertisements appear in this issue, showing you where you can find what you may need. Tell them that you saw their welcome in the "Lake Geneva Observer".

Remember you have a date for WEDNESDAY, JUNE 30 at about 8 P.M. At ELKHORN BAND CONCERT.

WATER SAFETY PATROL BOAT PART OF COUNTY RADIO SYSTEM

H.C. Paterson, director of the Lake Geneva Safety Patrol is feeling highly elated over the arrival and launching of the Water Patrol Boat which is equipped with radio and is connected with the Walworth County Police Radio System so that wherever he may be on the lake he can receive emergency calls.

The extreme heat has not made as nice looking pages as the publisher would have liked to send you. The thermometer registers over 90 at this writing. It makes the ink run and paper stick. Excuse us.
