BIG MASS MEETING

WILL BE HELD WEDNESDAY EVENING FOR MINNESOTA GAME.

The Week's Football Review—
Grinnell's Captain and Coach Compare Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Saturday's Games.

Wisconsin, 45; Grinnell, 0.
Pennsylvania, 41; Chicago, 0.
Michigan, 12; Illinois, 0.
Northwestern, 6; Beloit, 6.
Yale, 12; Columbia, 5.
Princeton, 17; Brown, 5.
Harvard, 17; Carlisle, 5.
Cornell, 23; Dartmouth, 6.
West Point, 6; Williams, 0.

The only championship game in the west on Saturday was the Michigan-Illinois game. The outcome of this contest demonstrated, that notwithstanding the hard luck stories emanating from the Michigan camp, the maize and blue hold the first place in the west at this stage of the game. Of course Wisconsin and Iowa have not played any of the Big Nine as yet and both are looked upon as promising "dark horses." The Badgers particularly are considered as strong candidates for championship honors.

Illinois showing on Saturday was a disappointment. Her supporters had confidently expected her to defeat Michigan with comparative ease. The game the previous week with Northwestern had demonstrated her defense to be unusually strong although the team was weak in offensive work. Michigan, however, outclassed her, outweighed her and out-conditioned her. This was the cause of her downfall.

It was again the east against the west with Chicago upholding the honors of the west, and again the east won. The decisive defeat administered the maroons ought to settle Stagg's aspirations for eastern honors for a year or so at any rate. The result although it does not throw Chicago out of the western race, will give her opponents greater confidence. This should be avoided if possible for Coach Stagg will put forth his best efforts to whip his men into shape for the remainder of his heavy schedule and Wisconsin and Michigan learned what his best was last year.

The score in the Northwestern-Beloit game showed the purple team to be less formidable than was supposed from her showing of a week before. Minnesota had an easy time with Dakota as was expected. The proposition she will have to solve the coming Saturday will be altogether different however.

Grinnell Easy.

Minnesota made but twenty-six against the plucky team from Iowa a week ago Saturday. Wisconsin a week later set out to equal this score and at the end of the game the score stood Wisconsin forty-five, Grinnell nothing. From this a natural conclusion would be that the Badgers had the better team but existing conditions were so different that the comparative scores are of little value.

Wisconsin playing showed considerable improvement in offense. Her men played a snappy, fast game and fumbling was of rare occurrence. Schreiber is credited with a sixty-yard run, and several other good gains; Larson, Marshall, Abercrombie and Curtis also came in for their share with several runs of twenty and thirty yards.

The Varsity however, showed a lamentable weakness in the handling of punts and this should be remedied before next Saturday.

Owing to the importance of next Saturday's game the management has decided to hold a mass meeting on Wednesday night to give the team a rousing sendoff before they start for Minneapolis on Thursday.

What Grinnell Thinks.

The following are the opinions of the Iowa Captain, Coach and Trainer concerning the comparative merits of Minnesota and Wisconsin:—

C. E. Harris, Trainer and Coach.

In estimating the strength of Minnesota and Wisconsin from a Grinnell standpoint it must be remembered that we played a much better game at Minneapolis than at Madison. Were the coming game to be played on the fast Camp Randall gridiron I should judge Wisconsin would win and that too by a comfortable margin. On the soft, sandy Minnesota field, however, the cardinal's speedy backs will be considerably handicapped. Notwithstanding I rather fancy Wisconsin will win on account of her great strength in the tackle positions.

L. R. Palmer, Trainer.

Judging from our two games with Minnesota and Wisconsin, I would observe first of all that the style of play of the two teams is quite opposite. The Minnesota team excels in slow mass plays and Wisconsin in fast bristling plays. Wisconsin also has very aggressive tackling but Minnesota has some speedy men in her ranks even though they be exceptionally heavy.

Wisconsin will be terribly handicapped by the grounds on which they will play. In my opinion, Minnesota has about the worst football field in the West. Hard work upon it will quickly tire any team. Quick evolutions cannot therefore be as successful as on your excellent field. The Minnesota style of play is adapted to their home field. If played at Camp Randall the outcome would not be very doubtful.

Douglas, Captain.

We didn't play the game we did against Minnesota. We played a far more brilliant game with them. Two of our regular players also were not in this game and that operated against us. Then again there were 35-minute halves in the other game and shorter ones here. That last would at first sight make the comparative score seem all the better for Wisconsin, but keep the first points also well in mind. Wisconsin must take no chances.

If the game were played here I am confident Wisconsin would win. But on that soft sandy field it is altogether different.

The odds, to my notion, are about even.

Wisconsin plays by far the faster, snappier football, while Minnesota plays slow but sure. The Minnesota team is extremely heavy and they can hardly be overworked.

DEMOCRATIC CLUB.

A meeting of the Democratic Club is called for this evening at 7:30 in the City Hall. All Democratic students are earnestly requested to be present. The meeting will be short, but business of importance is to be transacted.

J. E. Davies, president.

CAN STUDENTS VOTE?

QUESTION OF STUDENT ELIGIBILITY RAISED.

Opinions Pro and Con—Attorney-General Hicks for Students—Several Cases Cited.

Considerable discussion has arisen on the question of the right of students of the University to vote in the coming election. For several years this question has been hinted at, but it has never elicited any attempt at settlement. A short time ago opinions were expressed by Messrs. Felker and Bouck of Oshkosh relative to the student vote in that city. These opinions were to the effect that students could not vote. The matter has been raised here in Madison and has provoked much discussion. An article appeared in the Madison Democrat of the 28th inst. supporting this view of the case. Attorney-General E. R. Hicks has prepared an opinion on the matter, the essential points of which are as printed below. This question is of vital interest to students and its settlement promises to be of great interest. Extracts from the opinion are as follows:

Dear Sir:—In reply will say that this is not a question upon which I am authorized or required to give you an official opinion, and anything that I may say is advisory only. Unofficially, I would say that the whole question is determined by the question of residence, and that is a matter for each individual student. If he determines that and makes proper proof of the fact of his residence in the place where he offers to vote, there is no further question as to his right to vote there.

"Col. Bouck's opinion is also, in my judgment, correct on this point, and no lawyer will seriously challenge it. He says:

"Students at universities, normal schools, etc., not residents in locality where located, but only there as students, does not make them a resident of the locality in which the institution is located."

"That is correct upon that statement of facts, but if the student is there as a resident and claims it as such, he, like any other citizen, has a right to make that his domicile and is not obliged to remain there forever or keep that as his residence for his entire lifetime or for any definite or fixed period of time.

"I have carefully examined the communication appearing in the Madison Democrat, and particularly the cases therein referred to, and, while some of the older cases proceed on the theory that the intention of remaining at such place permanently must be entertained in order to entitle the student to vote at such place, these decisions are not supported by the more recent cases. One of the more recent cases on this subject, and which I believe fairly states the modern rule, is that of Berry vs. Wilcox (Neb.) 62 N. W. 249, decided in 1895.

In the case of Pedigo vs. Grimes (Ind.) 12 N. E. Rep. 700, it is held that a college student may be both a voter and a student, and that, if he in good faith elects to make the place his home, to the exclusion of all other places, he may acquire a legal residence, although he may intend to remove from such place at some fixed time or at some indefinite period in the future. A student having the other necessary qualifications, attending the University, has as much right to elect to make Madison his residence during his college course, and to exercise the rights of citizenship at Madison, as he has to elect to make any other place his residence."

Handball Tournament.

The annual handball tournament to determine the champion double will be held in November. The first game of the series will take place about Nov. 19th. The number of entries from each class is unlimited, and the class championship will be played off before the inter-class games are held. The law classes will be played off separately as usual, and the winning Law school double will play the winning "hill" double for the final honors.

Candidates will choose their own partners, and sufficient time is given so that they can become accustomed to each others style of play.

Entries will close on Nov. 15th, and the trials will be held as soon as possible afterward.

Rules of the game will be posted in handball courts so that everyone can become familiar with them. I would like to call the attention of players to one rule that is very seldom observed, that is, "A server's partner must stand inside the ace line, and inside the court until the ball strikes the wall on the serve." A majority of players seem to think they can play outside the ace line, if they are out of the court. This is wrong as it gives the server's side too much advantage.

Players must remember that opponents must be given a fair and equal chance to hit the ball; and, crossing between a player and the ball, after striking the ball is a breach of handball etiquette.

As there is always some difference of opinion about the condition of the ball, it is well to state that a new ball ought to be used for each match, and one with covering on preferred. However when both parties agree to use a ball without covering, there can be no objection, but when the teams disagree the referee will decide.

Andrew M. O'Dea.

WILL ELECT MEMBERS.

Athletic Association Meeting to Select New Board Members.

Considerable interest among the students is being manifested over the election of three members of the Athletic Board of Directors, which is to be held at the mass meeting Wednesday night. Among those most frequently mentioned for places on the board are Student-Manager Wheeler, Jerry Riordan, Captain F. C. McGowan of the track team, Tratt and Juneau of the football team, and Coxswain Sawyer of the 1903 crew. Every student is a member of the Athletic Association and is entitled to vote. All should come out and see that the best candidates are elected.

—Beta Theta Pi held its initiation Saturday evening. Alumni present from abroad were: Charles H. Howell, '95, of Sioux City, Ia.; Edward B. Cottrill, '81; Harry R. Crandall, '98; Orsamus Cole, Jr., '99; Harry O. Seymour, '99; George P. Robinson, '96; and Irving P. Robinson, '00, all of Milwaukee.

Student Voters.

Attention is called to the article in another column on the question of student voters. This is an annually recurring subject and seems in a fair way to be settled this fall. However it is decided it will establish a president that will have great weight in deciding future cases.

James Whitcomb Riley.

The large audience that greeted Mr. Riley Saturday night, must have been both pleasing and encouraging to him. It was his first public appearance here for six years, and naturally every one of his admirers was anxious to hear and see him. And they were not disappointed in their favorite. He was clearly at his best, and poems which every one thought he understood perfectly before, were by the touch of the poet himself, made to reveal new meanings.

One word concerning public speakers, or rather the lack of public speakers in Madison, is not untimely. Madison, as the seat of a great university, is renowned for its culture, yet nevertheless very few famous and excellent speakers appear before us. The church lecture courses partly fill the void, but beyond that we have nothing. Only in presidential years, do we have an opportunity to hear a few of the great speakers of our country.

The large and enthusiastic audience which Mr. Riley addressed should be a practical illustration to all, that Madison will support such attractions, and that it will not permit any first-class public speaker to address empty seats.

Republican Club Meeting.

The University Republican Club meeting was called to order by President Emerson Ela at 7 o'clock last Saturday evening. Mr. John A. Johnson of Madison was then introduced by the president. Mr. Johnson said in substance that there was no such issue as imperialism, and that without a sound money basis we cannot have any prosperity. He also said that if the Free Silver Act, which Mr. Bryan advocates, were passed, the country would be put in just such a financial panic as there was in 1893. In view of the fact that James Whitcomb Riley was to speak at the Opera House, he did not detain the audience very long.

Mr. E. Ray Stevens, candidate for the assembly from this district, emphasized the fact that every person should not fail to register. He said that it was the duty of every University student to take part in the election of the President.

Mr. M. S. Dudgeon also spoke on the subject of registration.

Communication.

Editor Cardinal:

In a recent edition of the Cardinal appeared an article advocating an increase in the price of the Badger. The idea is certainly a good one, and should receive the hearty support of every student. It has been the aim of every Badger Board to publish an annual which not only would take with the students, but also would be a worthy representative of what a University of Wisconsin annual should be. This work is undertaken without the slightest financial backing of any kind. The members of the Board have no hope of financial gain. Now, it is practically impossible to do justice to the work, to produce a book which will be complete in all departments, when the price is as low as $1.00. It actually costs $1.85 or more per book to publish the edition.

And looking at the matter from a business standpoint, no person or body of persons would ever undertake to do any work of any kind, to publish any sort of a book, on such a basis as this, except a body of students. The risks are too great. Failure is almost certain, except where extreme care is taken. There is no margin on which to work. If the accounts just balance, the board is fortunate. A business man never thinks of doing his business on such a plan. There is no incentive to do good work.

An increase in the price to $1.50 would allow a margin to work by, and nothing more. There would be no profits for the board to divide. There never have been and there never will be, as circumstances have been. But the board could work with a feeling of security, and an annual could be produced with greater certainty of success, and with less fear of failure. If the students want a book which will be a credit to the institution, and a college annual to be proud of, then let them all join in and give their hearty support to this movement.

—Chairman 1901 Board.

—In the November "Outing" Charles Chadwick has a very complete, as well as interesting article on "The Football Player's Harness." This number also contains a resume of the big college games this season. Caspar Whitney claims that Wisconsin has grown wiser in discarding her one-man style of play. He draws the conclusion that Wisconsin has developed a well-balanced eleven around a fair kicker and a good line buckler, relying not alone on their backs to carry the ball, but using also to good advantage the line men. So that now Wisconsin has one of the strongest elevens she ever had.

Tell of Lake Geneva Conference.

The Sunday afternoon meeting yesterday of the Y. M. C. A. at the Law building was one of the most enjoyable held this year. The meeting was led by General Sec. Phelps, assisted by a number of the members.

The topic of the meeting was the Lake Geneva conference held at Lake Geneva each summer. Sec. Phelps gave some interesting information in regard to this conference. Wisconsin, he said, was the banner University at the conference for the last two years, having eighteen delegates present last summer, the largest of any college there.

Four hundred and twenty-nine delegates were present last summer representing three colleges, bringing together men from all sections of the country.

Messrs. Hook, Grover, Williamson and others presented different phases of life and work at Lake Geneva in a pleasing manner.

Secretary Phelps urged all members to attend the state convention at Janesville next month.

The meeting was a source of help and inspiration to all who attended and all hope for an even better attendance and service next Sunday.

Met the "Boys."

Dear Father:—After bucking hard all the week I took a constitutional around the pack up town and met several of the boys at the One Minute
Coffee House. One fellow ordered
"Adam and Eve on a raft" and a cup of fierce coffee. We all followed suit.
It proved to be poached eggs on toast and the best Mocha and Java. Send me that V which ma is saving—that
"calf money."
