INVITATIONS MAILED TO EVERY DAD TO VISIT UNIVERSITY ON OCT. 18

Reception Planned For Fathers After Minnesota Game

An invitation to come to Madison and join the university family for two days, "to see the university at its work and at its play," at the first annual Fathers' Day, October 18, is being mailed direct to the father of every student in the university by President Birge.

The program for the week-end, which is being planned by a joint committee of faculty members and students appointed by President Birge will include an inspection of the university by the fathers, with members of the student body, on hand to act as escorts and guides.

Special Section Reserved

All members of the faculty will endeavor to be in their offices to meet the fathers with their sons and daughters, and to make the fathers acquainted with the personnel of all the university departments.

In the afternoon a large section of the stadium at Camp Randall will be set aside for fathers with sons and daughters to attend the Wisconsin-Minnesota football game. This section will be on the west side not far from the cheering section.

To Hold Reception

Following the game, President Birge will hold an informal reception at his home, when he will be host to the fathers and their sons and daughters.

"The day's program will reach a climax in the evening, when all fathers will be entertained at a large banquet. The spirit of the banquet and of the week-end will not be that of a superficial celebration, but of appreciation of the substantial institutions and activities of Wisconsin, something as experienced at the birthday party of the university held last February," a member of the student committee said.

Committee Meets Today

The joint student-faculty committee meets at noon today to out-

CHEERING SECTION ON SALE MONDAY

Seats to Be Reserved in New Rooting Groups For Gopher Game

Tickets for seats in the cheering section for the Minnesota game on October 18 will be placed on sale Monday afternoon from 1 to 5 o'clock in the former clinic building. The sale for regular tickets will continue from Monday morning until next Saturday.

Only men students can obtain tickets in this section, which comprises Sections G and F in the stand between the 30 and 50 yard lines. Women students are excluded from this part of the stand, although they can obtain just as good seats in the adjacent sections. More than 1,000 seats are available for leather-lunged male students.

Only blocks of ten or more tickets will be sold; no single seats will be available. The application for tickets must contain a typewritten alphabetical list of the students' names, and must be accompanied by a fee card and 50 cents for each name.

The cheering section has been set aside in the belief that men students will make more noise when they are concentrated in one part of the stand and are not accompanied by women students.

An effort is being made to organize non-fraternity men into groups so that they can take advantage of this opportunity to procure good seats at football games.

WELCOME USHERS FRESHMAN CLASS INTO UNIVERSITY

Birge, Vinje and Mason Speak;
Green Headgears
Donned

By IRENE NORMAN

Appealing to the loyalty, good will and cooperation of the new students, the university yesterday morning officially welcomed the class of 1928 at the varsity welcome through representatives of the state, the university, the faculty, and of the student body.

Menacing clouds nearly shattered the tradition that it has never rained during Varsity Welcome, but for the fifth time since the ceremony has been held on upper campus the tradition held fast. Promptly at 11 o'clock the university band struck up and the classes moved en masse to lead the freshmen to position on Lincoln terrace.

Birge Speaks for Faculty

Green caps were everywhere in evidence. A year ago the wearing of the traditional cap was established on a purely optional basis and intended to signify loyalty to the university and not subjection.

An interested visitor at the welcome was Dr. Oskar Hagen, Carl Schurz professor from Germany for this semester.

"I have been much impressed by this ceremony, and I do not understand how it was managed without a dress rehearsal," he said.

Pointing out the fitness of Lincoln terrace, from which three graduating classes marched into the service of their country, as the place of ceremony, President Birge called on the new class to express its loyalty to alma mater.

Blaine Not Present

Following the president's speech of welcome in behalf of the university, Dr. C. H. Mills of the School of Music led in the singing of the new version of the Badger ballad, the music of which was especially printed on the program.

Because Gov. J. J. Blaine was unable to be present on account of illness, the address on behalf of the state was delivered by Chief Justice A. J. Vinje.

"Education and contentment are the foundations of the state," Justice Vinje declared. "The founders of our state wisely concluded that its safety and perpetuity must rest upon an educational basis."

Sellery Presides

Prof. Max Mason of the physics department welcomed the freshmen in behalf of the faculty, while Bert Hilberts '25 and Alice Corl '25, president of the S. G. A., spoke for the student body.

Dean George C. Sellery, who presided and gave the introductory, pointed out the significance of the welcome in the university program.

"Your university and the state of Wisconsin," he said, "have rec-

FIRST MIXER TO BE HELD TONIGHT

S. G. A. and Union Board Se- cure 10 Piece Orchestra For Entertainment

Final plans for the first mixer of the college year this evening were completed yesterday, according to Malcolm G. Millar '25, in charge of the Union board mixers. The chaperons and introducing committee of 50 women interested in S. G. A. were obtained by Helen A. Callsen '25.

The mixer will be held at 9 o'clock tonight in the men's gymnasium. A new floor has been laid in the gym during the past summer and will be an improvement over the old flooring which was badly warped. Thompson's 10 piece orchestra will furnish the music. The admission price is 25 cents a person, and fee cards must be presented at the door.

As in former years, the S. G. A. is assisting the Union board in giving the first mixer which brings the students together for the first time during the collegiate year.

The chaperones are Prof. and Mrs. M. V. O'Shea, Prof. and Mrs. W. H. Twenhofel, Mrs. Katherine Dietrich, and Mrs. Minnie Hull. The following women will serve on the introducing committee:

Elizabeth Sears, '25, Polly Kelso, '25, Clara Hirtzberg, '25, Jean Palica '25, Margaret Campbell '25, Kathryn Davis '26, Dorothy John '25, Marie McGrath '25, Helen Wright '27, Veve Marquis '27, Caryl Delahurst '26, Catherine Cavanaugh '26, Leone Glau '26, Katherine O'Neil '25, Catherine St. John '26, Jean Miller '26, Grace Malott '25, Martha Williamson '26, Evelyn Smith '25, Mildred Rogers '26, Maxine Day '26, Peg Wegener '26, Ernestine Blatz '25, Lysette Haase '27, Barbara Warren '27, Ruth Moody '26, Ruth Hewitt '26, Florence Poppenhagen '25, Jean Dunbar '25, and Helen Brood, '25.

THREE WORD REPORT GIVES PHILO ASSETS

"Assets, three dollars" was the brief report of William Sheldon '24, Philomathia treasurer, at the society's meeting last night. Nobody suggested building a Philomathia mansion or hiring a car to round up delinquent members, nor was an inkling supplied as to how the fund had been raised. None of the officers are reputed as good poker players. Wanted, an expert accountant with college experience.

WISCONSIN OPENS 1924 GRID SEASON AGAINST NORTH DAKOTA TODAY

Game Will Start at 2 O'Clock;
Ryan to Use Most of Squad

When some twenty-odd men in Cardinal jerseys trot onto the field at Camp Randall at 2 o'clock this afternoon, carrying the hopes, the fears, and expectations of seven thousand students with them, the first test as to the fitness of the 1924 varsity eleven for championship consideration will be applied.

For two weeks Coach Ryan and his staff have cajoled, and stormed, and soaked football into the men until now he has an outfit that bears a semblance of strength and irresistability. The team is strong, how strong will be shown today.

Experience Lacking

The coach has the largest amount of good material that has fought for a place on the team in several years, but most of the men are handicapped by lack of Big Ten experience, and will require

The game will be called promptly at 2:30 this afternoon at Camp Randall. Tickets will be on sale until 12 o'clock at the ticket office in the old clinic building. Tickets sold at the gates in the afternoon will be sold only at the public price, $1.50. Until noon students can take advantage of their free cards and buy darts for 50 cents.

considerable grooming to place them on a par with the best in the conference.

North Dakota is coming down loaded for bear, as any coach or varsity man will tell you, and have pointed their team forward this tilt for several weeks. The Flickertail stronghold is represented by a squad of fast, husky men, and has at least seven veterans back on the team.

Coach Ryan expects to use the greater share of his varsity squad in the encounter, at least if conditions warrant the injection of the second string into the fray. None of the men are in shape to last a full game, and the coach is anxious to get a line on some of the new men and see what they are capable of in actual combat.

"CO-ED" SWINDLER MADE PLANS EARLY

"Imposter Must Have Known
Day of My Arrival," Miss
Brehm Says

That the young woman who used her name in swindling three Madison banks of a sum exceeding five hundred dollars, recently, knew of her plans before registering at the university is the opinion of Dorothy Brehm, '26.

"I returned to Madison to register on Monday morning," Miss Brehm said, yesterday. "This other girl registered as Dorothy Brehm on Saturday morning and as it would have been quite risky for her to do so without being certain that I should not be there too, indication are that she made certain of my plans beforehand," she said.

The First National bank was the heaviest loser having cashed checks to the amount of $450 on an account opened with a worthless check of $800. Accounts had also been opened at the Commercial National bank and the Branch Bank of Wisconsin.

Because of a rule against honoring checks on newly opened accounts before these have been verified the Branch bank according to B. R. L'Hommedieu, assistant cashier of the bank, did not suffer as great a loss as the National bank.

Jupiter Pluvius Stays Away When Olson Is On the Job

The tradition that "It never rains on Olson" was demonstrated again yesterday when the Varsity Welcome was blessed with a smiling sun. It is the greatest boast of Prof. J. E. Olson chairman of the committee on public functions and incidentally head of the department of Scandinavian languages that rain has never spoiled a celebration of which he has had charge during the seven years of his chairmanship.

He tells of the time five years ago when rain threatened the program of Class day which had been called for 3 o'clock. At 2:30 a slow drizzle was driving away those who had come a little early to secure good places. Rising to the occasion at 2:53 o'clock Prof. Olson drew out his watch and announced to the assemblage that there would be just seven more minutes of rain. At 3 o'clock the sun peeped out and the professor put his watch away as the crowd roared out a "skyrocket for Julius."

All the attendants at last year's Class day recall the steady downpour which cast a gloom over everyone in charge, everyone save Professor Olson. He went calmly on with his preparations and at 2:30 o'clock rounded up the speakers of the day. At 2:50 the sky cleared, the crowd came up the hill and those who were there will tell what a success the program was. At 5:30 the last speaker had finished, the tardiest straggler had disappeared when the heavens, realizing that Professor Olson would no longer care, let loose their fury for the remainder of the night.

The fact that the Varsity Welcome program says that in case of rain the exercises will be held on Monday keeps the rain away on Friday, Chairman Olson believes.

DELTA ZETA HOME SHOWS PROGRESS

Sorority to Have Colonial House of Elaborate Modern Plan

Work on the new Delta Zeta house has been progressing rapidly since September 18, when ground was broken on the former O'Shea property for a Colonial type sorority house. When completed the house will be in a court parallel to Henry street, on Langdon behind the old Acacia house.

Elaborate plans have been drawn up for a structure having a terraced front bounded with ornamental iron railings. The front entrance will be of solid carved stone and will lead into a reception hall decorated in ivory and mahogany. The ground floor will contain a dining-room whose fixtures will be a large window facing the lake, terrazza floors, a stone fireplace, and French windows leading to an arched porch.

The first floor consists of the reception hall, lake-view living room the width of the house, a chaperon's room, a pillared porch, chaperon room, and a library.

A winding Colonial stairway will lead from the reception hall to the first sleeping floor which is planned according to the dormitory system, there being eight dormitories with four girls in each, and sixteen

Silence Follows Gab-Fest; Men Await Annual Parade

Patrick Henry once said, "We judge the future, but by the past." Judging by the past it seems safe to forecast that the old guard will take its stand in front of the respective sorority houses tomorrow evening at 5 o'clock to toast the triumphant damsels who will at that time, make their debut into the rosy existence of a Greek letter girl.

The last rushing functions were staged last night at the various sorority houses and the sisters did enough talking to last over Saturday and Sunday, the days of silence.

After a harassing pow-wow, late last night, the sororities made their final decisions, and the die will be cast at 9 o'clock this morning when the lists of desired girls will go into the office of the dean of women, F. Louise Nardin.

This list forms the basis for ascertaining the rushees who will receive preference slips which will be sent out this noon. The rushees must terminate their period of indecision between the hours of 8 studies, each of which is to be used by two girls. The whole structure will be decorated in ivory and mahogany.

and 9 o'clock tonight as during that time their choice must be turned into the dean's office.

With the prayers and hopes of her delegation the rushing captain of each sorority must report at the dean's office tomorrow noon to ascertain whether or no the pink teas, dainty luncheons, and numerous dinners have made the proper impression on the proper girl.

Resenting the statement in the little rule book, "that no men shall take part in rushing", the male colleagues will no doubt assemble at the appointed hour to witness the results of last week's battles, else precedent counts for nothing.

WAMPUM COLLECTION IS AT HISTORICAL MUSEUM

The historical museum has acquired a collection of wampum in all the various processes of manufacture.

Wampum was not originally made by the Indians, but was procured by them from traders and fur companies. A certain Campbell family began the manufacture of it in 1775, and this was stopped only at the time of the Custer Massacre in 1876. The wampum beads were used by both Indians and whites in business and diplomacy. The Indians also used them for decorative purposes.

ly of dummy scrimmage and signal drill, together with some work on kickoff and place kick plays. Milt Stangel has been outpointing the rest of the squad in punting for the last few days and will probably be elected to start at fullback. He is not as fast or shifty as Leon Harmon, but his consistent punting is keeping him in the fight.

The scrimmage Thursday afternoon disclosed the fact that Wisconsin at present has two first rate teams that it can put in the field. One is slightly less efficient than the other, but still is good enough to represent the Badgers against some of the weaker conference teams of former years.

To Use Many Players
It is Coach Ryan's idea to use as many men as possible, and the game may see the first eleven jerked in a body and an entire new outfit substituted.

The lineup for the first kickoff of the season will be as follows: North Dakota Wisconsin Currie, Capt. I. E. Polaski, Burris Brodie, I. T. Leitlx, Sauger Daily, I. G. Bieberstein, Slaughter Stechman, C. Teckmeyer, Bonini Steenerson, R. G. Miller, Stipek Smith, R. T. Straubel, Schwarze Olson, R. E. Solbraa, Blackman Nelson, Q. B. D. Harmon, Larson Nimec, I. H. Badger Captains
No. 2—Marshall Diebold

The year 1916 marked the beginning of the athletic career of the captain of this year's varsity quintet. At that time Marshall Diebold, captain of the Badger basketball team, played his first basketball for Central High of Madison. Dee was a regular for three years on the prep school team and is proud that during that time Central never lost a game to their rivals, Wisconsin High.

After establishing a brilliant prep school record, Diebold entered the university and was taken under the wing of Doc Meanwell, ace of basketball coaches. Marsh developed under Meanwell's tutelage and proved to be a real star on the frosh five.

In his sophomore year Dee played on the varsity as a substitute for that stellar pair of guards, Gus Tebell and Rollie Williams, and picked up many valuable tricks of the game. Last year, his second year of varsity competition, Diebold came into the limelight as one of the best guards in the middle west. Time after time Dee would stop an offense of the opponent that looked like it was sure for a goal. As a reward for his good playing Diebold was placed on practically every all-conference team.

This year as captain of the team, Dee ought to be at the peak of his success and will undoubtedly prove a stumbling block to opposing forwards. This will be Diebold's last year of competition. He will end his career by possessing three coveted letters in basketball and having the honor of playing on what is hoped will be his third consecutive championship team.

CARDINAL SPORTS

ATHLETICS IN THE
COLLEGIATE WORLD

SO IT SEEKS

By Ken and Ken

Two other big teams get into action today with Wisconsin. Today's scores will tell something of the team's early season strength. Indiana plays Rose Poly and Purdue clashes with Wabash. Ames meets Nebraska Wesleyan. Coe college, Wisconsin's opponent three weeks hence, mets Monmouth.

Today is the big day. There won't be the big crowds that are prevalent on days of big games, but there will be a good many out at Randall to see Ryan's men offer a line on the team and its strength.

The last practice of the week has held yesterday afternoon. Coach Ryan let the first squad off easy, and sent them to the showers about 45 minutes earlier than usual.

The second team battled against the third team, and two men showed up so brilliantly that Ryan immediately singled them out and they will be in Cardinal jerseys tomorrow afternoon. They are Muegge, a lineman, and Klinger, a backfield man. Two thousand years ago Aesop said, "Virtue has its own reward."

Dope from the North Dakota camp is that they are going to open up with passes right and left this afternoon. The aerial attack is their best chance, especially with Captain Currie playing one wing position.

There may not be a record 30,000 crowd out to the game this afternoon, but we who do go out to develop a set of lusty lungs telling the men we are behind them.

The Yankees yesterday swamped Philadelphia, 7 to 1, while the Senators were defeated by Boston, 2 to 1. This still leaves the Senators in the lead by a narrow margin, but the results yesterday seriously threatened their chances to gain the league pennant. Perhaps old Wally Johnson will get his chance, after all.

Thirty huskies from Ames, the Badger foes a wee kfrom today, will arrive at the Park Hotel Friday. A banquet has been arranged by the Ames alumni to be held Friday night at which 100 persons will be present.

Germany, the university Benjamin Franklin attended in 1766 and which afterwards became popular with American and English students.

Although Professor Hagan's father was an American citizen and his mother English, he has always lived in Germany.

NO PROTEST OVER
ROLLIE FROM HERE

Reports prevalent in Iowa City, Ia., during the past few days that Rollie Williams, recently appointed freshman athletic coach, is being protested by his alma mater, Wisconsin, on the grounds that he is ineligible to coach in the Big Ten, were strongly denied by T. E. Jones, athletic director, last night.

The only source of the rumor that Rollie Williams will be protested as Iowa freshman coach, as far as I know, comes from Iowa City itself. We do not, at any time, intend to file a charge against him.

Rollie is a well-known star of Wisconsin, having won nine W's here. After his graduation in 1923 he went to Milliken university in Illinois, where he developed some very successful athletic teams. This will be his first year as coach at Iowa.

GRAND FORKS, N. D., Sept. 26.—Coaches Davis and Rusness left Grand Forks for Madison Thursday night with 18 University of North Dakota football players and a conviction that Wisconsin will be pushed to open her 1924 gridiron season Saturday with a win. The Flickertail barometer, which jumped Wednesday with the announcement that Captain Currie would play, took another hop Thursday night when "Mutt" Gronvold, still a little weak and peaked, left the hospital and worked out at end with the varsity.

Six Veterans on Team

Gronvold will stand ready in case Olson falters at right end. Running true to form, Coach Davis made another last-minute shift Thursday night by placing Stechman, a center, at tackle. This was made necessary when Dan Smith took sick. Either Samuelson or Houck will start at center, "Firpo" Daily and Steenerson will be at the guards, and Brodie will play the other tackle. Nelson, Arndt and Nemec are sure starters in the backfield, with Thacker and Dunham a tossup at fullback.

Dakota will have six lettermen in her lineup to start the game.

TWO BADGER SOPHS
MENTIONED IN ARTICLE

Two of Wisconsin's last year's freshman track squad received mention in an article in this week's Big Ten weekly, written by Frazier Harrison, telling of brilliant 1927-ites who will grace varsity squads this year.

The writer mentions that McGinnis, the Badger freshman captain, did 6 feet 2 inches several time in high jump competition last year.

Schwarze is given a fine eulogy. Says Harrison, "Schwarze at Wisconsin consistently put the 16-pound ball over 43 feet. His best mark was just short of 46 feet. This 245 pound Badger is learning to throw the discus and next year should be one of the greatest weight men in America."

TODAY'S GAME

The chief occurrence in today's crowded program will be the game with North Dakota this afternoon. It will be the season's opener; deep in the hearts of us all there is a desire that it will open the best season Wisconsin has enjoyed for many years. The two Jacks and their cohorts out on the field have this prayer in their hearts, too, and there is no reason why it can't be realized if we all do our part.

For one thing, the freshman parade and cheering section should be made the largest and best it has ever been. Every freshman who can walk and yell should be on lower campus at 1 o'clock, ready to follow the band to the field. Upperclassmen can help here, too, and urge the yearlings to join the march. We can all help by going to the game, doing a little more than our share of the yelling, and lending our moral support to the team.

Let's put the emphasis on this idea of moral support, and make it the proper kind of moral support. Help the boys to win, of course, but above all, help them to play the game. If we can win a conference championship, that will be exactly what we are after, but above all, we want to play hard, fast, and clean, and make sure that, whatever the result, we have done our best in the way that only Wisconsin can do it. We want the boys to go up or down fighting. We can all help them by our encouragement, our yells, our presence, and our support; we can hinder them by staying away, by putting money on the game, by fussing to the game, and in a dozen other ways.

Varsity out and varsity help! And good luck in the opening game!

CONCERNING THE WELCOME

One of Wisconsin's finest and most unique traditions was observed yesterday when the university welcomed into its membership the class of 1928, and the ceremony was both beautiful and impressive.

Everything conspired to make the occasion a glorious one; the speakers, those who attended, the band, the weather, and the photographers all performed their part well. Those students who are new here were made to feel a bit of the true varsity spirit, and no upperclassmen could fail to respond to the music and the speeches with a quickening of his loyalty for his school.

Credit and congratulations for the welcome are due to the committee on public functions, and especially to Professor Julius Olson, its chairman, Keystone, and the Wisconsin union. These agencies, through their cooperation, achieved a worthwhile service in behalf of the student body. Nothing can be above criticism or suggestion, however, and with the thought in mind that this tradition will and should be continued during the coming years, we have two changes to suggest.

The first involves the three upper classes and the part they have to play in the ceremony. According to the showing made yesterday, there are very few sophomores, juniors and seniors who take any interest in the incoming students; and if the freshmen were at all observing, they could not have failed to notice that with few exceptions the upperclassmen stood around the edges instead of taking part in the pageant. Probably those in the marching line were the best quality of the student body, but in an affair of that type it is the quantity which makes the impression. How much more at home the freshmen would have felt had they been greeted by the whole mass of the students instead of by a faithful few!

And so we suggest that next year the committee turn its efforts more in the direction of creating a spirit of cooperation and participation among the upperclassmen, so that they will all take part naturally and as a matter of course rather than with a sense of duty, as a few good students did yesterday. This can be accomplished if sufficient publicity is given the affair during the previous week, and if various organizations and student groups lend their support. A spirit could be developed much the same as the enthusiasm for the "Red Wagon days" was aroused last year. It might also not be amiss to suggest that next year the faculty be invited to participate in the march together with all the undergraduates.

The other criticism is concerned with the seating arrangements. It is too difficult a matter to sit huddled all in a pile amongst a crowd of strangers, with the neck stretched into an uncomfortable position to give a clear view of the platform, for any student really to appreciate the program. Much of the inattention that was noticeable yesterday was due to the fact that the audience had to look uphill toward the speakers, a feat which requires too much energy and concentration for many people. If the setting were so arranged that the speakers' platform were halfway down the campus, with the audience uphill toward Bascom hall, this difficulty would be done away with.

The reason why the setting was arranged as it was doubtless was because the platform around the statue of Lincoln makes an excellent stage for the speakers. However, from the standpoint of the students in the ceremony, it would be much better to sacrifice this point and insure the comfort of the audience, allowing them to sit in a position where they could look downhill directly upon the leaders of the services. The line of march could be so directed so as to include the steps on either side of the statue and the platform in front, so that this factor of beauty would not be entirely left out of the setting.

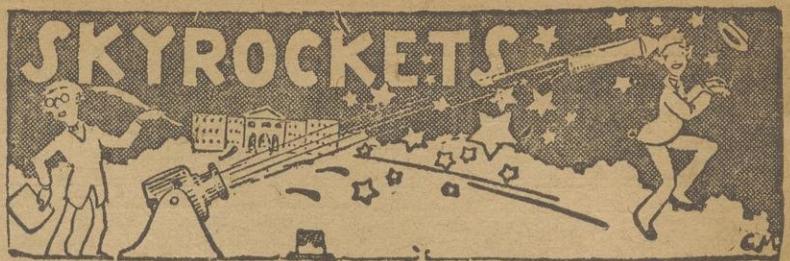

LIGHTER VEIN

This is the first weekend of the regular academic year, and of course there are any number of parties and social functions, both last night and tonight. Chief among these is the varsity mixer, promoted by Union board with the help of S. G. A., which will be in the men's gym at 9 o'clock tonight. Here will be an opportunity to revel in the best music of the collegiate world, to make new friendships, meet old acquaintances, and to get started in that half of college life, the glare and blare of social activity.

Freshmen and new students especially should not overlook this opportunity to get acquainted. A large floor committee will effect introductions for the timid, and a carefree good time will be had by all. And here we may add, for the benefit of ten or fifteen students who may not already know it, that friendships and social experiences are among the most profitable things to be acquired during a course here at the university. During the week work and books are in order, but Saturday night at least is set aside for relief and fun.

A GOOD START, FROSH

The prevalence of the green cap on the campus yesterday was an encouraging sign. Last year the freshmen started out well also, but the number of men who were wearing their caps steadily decreased during the year. But that's no reason why we should not be pleased over the splendid attitude this year's class is taking. A good beginning is always likely to mean a strong finish.

Two scrimmages are scheduled for today.

We are requested to announce that 257 Langdon, formerly the "Red Mill," has been officially changed to the "Pink Pajamas."

Under the shelter of Bascom hall they sat.

He held her hand, she held his hat.

I held my breath, and lay quite flat;

They kissed—I saw them do it!

He held that petting was no crime.

She held her head up every time. (Wisconsin spirit)

I held my peace and wrote this rhyme—

They never knew it!

Pert: "Al's a nice chap, but he's too terribly tight, It goes against my royal blood."

Katherine K.: "He isn't. He's saving for a rainy day."

Pert: "Rainy day, my dear. He's saving for a flood."

You have heard about Roy French having been appointed head of the department of Journalism at North Dakota, of course? Well, now, after the game today there will be just two things that Roy will have to say to his fellow Dakotans. If we lose the game he'll be crowing; but if we win the game he'll tell them this:

"Oh well, you know that's a large school anyway, and they have many advantages with good material and all that. But we'll get 'em next time. I used to go to that school, you know, and I know they're pretty good in some things."

Little Irene: "I'd do most anything for you."

Doubtful: "Most covers a multitude of excuses."

L. I.: "Yes, and and a multitude of virtues."

Small waste boxes will be scattered around the hill bearing the legend: Help keep the Kampus clean.

The burning question, who are we?

We admit we're good.

—Lily and Asbestus

NEW SCIENCE OF CHEMISTRY SHOWN

Department Bulletin Declares Chemistry is a Basic Science

"Chemistry has been found to be basic science, so the bulletin 'Chemistry in the Service of the State', declares. This bulletin has been sent out through the state to a great number of organizations and individuals, through the courtesy of the chemistry department of which J. H. Mathews is chairman.

The pamphlet states that 89 per cent of the students in the four elementary courses in chemistry in the university are specializing in agriculture, home economics, engineering, commerce, and medicine. The relation of chemistry to these subjects and its development are set forth in his pamphlet.

The bulletin also shows a relation of chemistry to the production of food stuffs, protection against pests, the use of cements, soil fertility, steel production, the making of paints, wire and explosives.

A chemist's service is almost unlimited, according to the bulletin. Chemistry has taught conservation and the utilization of waste and by-products. Wood alcohol used for formalin, and resin for the ever-present phonograph record, are examples of the utilization of wood by-products. Wood pulp is changed into artificial silk, grain alcohol and water-proofing for leather. Sugar, which is derived from saw dust is converted into alcohol which can be used as a motor fuel.

Also, the chemist is concerned, the bulletin states, in the health of the world. It is this work which has produced antiseptics, anesthetics, safeguards for food products and purifiers for municipal water supply.

GENERAL DAWES IS HERE TODAY

Republican Vice - Presidential Candidate Will Talk From Car Platform

Brig. Gen. Charles E. Dawes, vice-presidential candidate on the republican ticket, will speak in Madison at 3:40 o'clock this afternoon from the rear platform of his private train at the west side station of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad. A. B. Batty, local agent of the company said yesteray.

The general will give a series of ten-minute talks on his way from St. Paul to Chicago across Wisconsin. Leaving the Minnesota city he will speak at Lake City, Winona, Wabasha, Minn.; La Crosse, Sparta, New Lisbon, Portage, Madison, Stoughton and Janesville. He is expected to arrive in Chicago at 8:40 tonight.

The vice-presidential candidate is traveling in a private train of six cars and will be accompanied by a party of 75 persons. General Dawes has just completed a trip through the northwestern states in an attempt to counteract the swing towards Robert M. La Follette.

This will be one of the few opportunities that students will have to hear the possibilities in the presidential race. Interest in General Dawes is more than the general election interest in a vice-presidential candidate because of the possibility of the election being thrown into congress, political observers say.

The meeting will include also informal stunts to help students become acquainted. An invitation has been issued by the president to all Jewish students on the campus, primarily freshmen and new students, to attend the opening meeting of Menorah.

Committee Hears Dean Russell Speak in Favor of Pur nell Bill

Members of the agricultural committee of the American Banker's association spent yesterday at the university in the interests of the Pur nell bill for the relief of agricultural experiment stations which will come before the next session of congress.

Those attending heard talks on nutrition, plant diseases, feeding problems and cooperative marketing by various professors of the College of Agriculture. These subjects are part of the work of the experiment station of the college.

Dean H. L. Russell, of the College of Agriculture and also director of the experiment station, spoke to those present on the necessity of congress enacting the Pur nell bill for the aid of the experiment stations and urged the backing of the association.

That the experiment stations are at present faced by insufficient funds to carry on their work was the chief point Dean Russell strove to impress upon the committee.

SOLALINDE GIVES SPANISH COURSE

"Spanish Civilization" Offers Opportunity to Study Under Expert

A very satisfactory number of students have enrolled in the new course of Spanish Civilization that is being offered this year for the first time, according to a report from the head of the romance language department.

The report stated that the course is being given by Prof. Antonio G. Solalinde, who has been appointed to take the place of Prof. F. O. Reed. Professor Reed is on a leave of absence.

Professor Solalinde, who is also teaching a course in Spanish literature and is conducting a seminary on old Spanish, has been professor of Spanish literature in the Centro d'Estudios Historicos at Madrid for several years. He received the degree of doctor of letters there this year. He has served as visiting professor at three American universities, being at the University of Michigan in 1922-23, at the 1922 summer session of Columbia university and in the 1923 summer session of the University of California.

He has edited some of the works in Spanish literature and has published several texts. A list of positions, including a secretaryship of the courses for foreigners at Madrid, editorship of "Revista de Filología" and the secretaryship of the bureau of cultural relations under the Spanish government, are held by the professor in his native country. He is considered an authority on the period of Alfonso X.

O'Shea Attributes Students' Downfall to Social Activity

Cigarette puffing co-eds that overindulge in dancing, eating, loafing, and sleeping stand the best chance of being "detached" from the university at mid-semester, according to M. V. O'Shea, professor of education. He added that the same rule applies to men.

"Too much self-indulgence by the student," declared Professor O'Shea in a lecture yesterday morning, "is the cause of the regrettable number of early failures."

"Naturally the mental pace at a great university such as this is faster than set at high schools and the commonest causes of downfall are dancing, loafing, eating, sleeping and smoking, or rather the overdoing of these."

Adding that he did not know to what extent smoking particularly was true to both sexes, Professor O'Shea declared that it seemed to have become a common fact with both and that he "wished it were not true."
