TO DISTRIBUTE ELECTION GUIDE BOOKS MONDAY

Voters May Apply to Registrar

Election booklets for the spring elections next Friday will be ready for distribution at the registrar's offices tomorrow. The booklets were compiled last week by the elections committee under the direction of Harold A. Seering, chairman.

"We want to urge every student to get a booklet tomorrow so that he will have plenty of time to look over the qualifications of the respective candidates. Election of students to important offices requires more than snap judgment, and voters should make their choice with care," Seering said last night.

Summaries Will be Listed

The booklets will contain the names of all candidates who filed petitions for offices in the regular manner. The names of candidates elected by default will be included, but not summaries of activities will be printed with these names. In all cases in which the candidates are to be elected a summary and list of activities furnished by the office seeker will be published.

Two questions regarding the election of members to Union board and the Student senate will be printed in the booklet and also on the ballots to be used Friday.

Must Observe Rulings

The elections committee repeated its warning concerning the marking of booklets by number or any other designation to influence voters last night. The names will be printed in alphabetical order and any marking by numbers or signs will be considered a violation of the regulations. Such violation may result in the disqualification of the candidates.

A complete list of candidates will be published in The Cardinal later in the week together with the place and time of voting.

Applications For Y. M. C. A. Rooms Must Be Made May 1

Applications for rooms in the Y. M. C. A. for next year must be in the office by May 1. Those students belonging to the Y. M. C. A. and doing work on the committees will be given the preference. Otherwise the rooms will be distributed according to the date of application.

Last Concert of Orchestra Today

The University orchestra will give its final concert of the year in Music hall at 3 o'clock today. The orchestra will be assisted by Miss Erma Duncan '24, mezzo-soprano, who will render Giordani's "Caro Mio Ben", Henschel's "Morning Hymn" and "My Lover He Comes on the Skee", by Clough Leichter. Robert Nethercut '24 will accompany Miss Duncan.

The feature numbers of the orchestra program will be Beethoven's "Egmont" overture, Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony"; and the Wagner prize song from the opera "Die Meistersinger von Nurnberg," Waltefel's valse "Reves de Bois", Raff's "The Mill," the Scene D'Amour from the ballet suite "La Source" by Delibes, and "Ase's Death," from the "Peer Gynt" suite by Grieg will occupy a secondary place on the program. The concert is free and the public is invited to attend.

UNION BOARD DANCES CLOSE

Season Has Been Most Profit- able Since Dances Founded

The week end dances at Lathrop parlors closed last night and the profits from this year's dances will amount to approximately $1500, according to a statement made last night by Oscar Sander '24, member of the Union board and in charge of these dances.

As soon as all expenses and business connected with the dances are settled, the profits will be turned over to the treasurer of the Memorial Union fund.

"The past year has been the most profitable season since the Lathrop parlor dances were founded. The attendance has surpassed all previous records and the dances have been more exclusively student affairs," said Sander.

A new system of having students present fee cards at the door was inaugurated by the Union board at its dances last winter and other dance halls soon followed the example. The system was effective in limiting the attendance to students only and will probably be continued in the future.

"The primary purpose of these dances and one which is always uppermost in the minds of those in charge, is to give the students a real party which they will enjoy and not to run a dance merely for the financial purpose," Sander said last night.

"The very best orchestras available have played and many special features have been offered throughout the year to accomplish this end. A home-like, congenial atmosphere has been in evidence at all the parties.

"Each Friday and Saturday night the parlors have been crowded. Until the ballroom in the Memorial Union is built the Union board will have to conduct the dances at Lathrop under the same crowded conditions.

"The only regret is that a larger room with the same home-like surroundings is not available at the present time. We must be satisfied with the parlors until we have the large ballroom in the Memorial Union which we hope will become a reality in a very short time."

Geneva Representatives to Talk at Vesper Service

A Lake Geneva vesper service will be held this afternoon in Lathrop at 4:30. Representatives of the different groups who will attend the Y. W. C. A. conference in August will talk about their work.

No more vesper services will be held on Sunday until June.

Hold Banquet Friday

The present officers of the Phi Kappa Phi chapter at Wisconsin are: Prof. R. E. Whitbeck, head of the geology department, president, Ralph E. Ramsay, chemical engineering department, secretary and treasurer.

An initiation banquet will be held at 6:30 o'clock next Friday, in the S. G. A. room, Lathrop hall. Dr. Nathaniel Butler of Chicago university will be the chief speaker.

The principle of Phi Kappa Phi is election on the grounds of creditable scholastic standard in addition to an active participation in outside activities. Tumas held its annual initiation parade yesterday at noon. The neophytes, dressed in the traditional costume of the organization and pushing baby carriages of some description, marched down State street to the square and around the capitol building. 8-HOUR LAW IS LIT DISCUSSION

Politics and Ruhr Continue to Be Popular Subjects in Debate

The main events in the programs of the literary societies last Friday evening were political discussions and talks. Two debates were held on the Olson 8-hour law and French protection from German invasion.

Hesperia occupied most of the time with a debate on the subject "Resolved, that the United States and England should guarantee France against future aggression by Germany." The negative team, composed of George Schutt '26, L. Hirsch '26, and C. Dedrick '24, obtained the decision. Vivian R. Dunn '26 led the society in Parliamentary Law drill.

Philomathia's program consisted of an inaugural address by the president, Edgar Erickson '23, a talk on "Immigration Problems" by W. H. McDonald '25 and political speeches by candidates for the coming elections. Sam D. Thompson '24, Norton V. Smith '24, and Crawford Ellis '24, were initiated into the society.

The main event in Athenae was the election of Henry Balke '24, Edgar Smith '24 and Eugene Meyer L 2, as members of Athenae's Joint debate team for next year's argument with Hesperia.

The negative debate team, composed of H. G. Siljan '25 and F. Haber '25, won the decision on the subject, "Resolved that the Olson 8-hour labor bill now before the Wisconsin legislature be adopted." Other talks were given on "World Court of Justice," "Ford for President," and "Kemal Pasha and the Turkish Situation."

PITTSBURG GIVES $3,500 TO UNION

More than $2200 was subscribed at a Wisconsin Union meeting in Pittsburg on April 13, and $1300 more was subscribed the following week.

John Dollard conducted meetings in Pittsburg, April 13, and in Columbus, Ohio, April 20. At the meeting in Pittsburg, G. I. Haight of Chicago was the principal speaker. Prof. A. B. Hall and Merl E. Skinner, president of the Pittsburg Wisconsin Alumni club, also spoke. Prof. F. W. Ives had charge of the meeting at Columbus at which John Dollard spoke. Jack Wilce, Ohio football coach, spoke at this meeting. More than $1000 was subscribed, with more coming, according to Mr. Dollard.

"These meetings are having a wonderful effect on the Alumni clubs," Mr. Dollard declared. "They are being brought to life again, and a great interest is being taken in all University of Wisconsin projects. Old Wisconsin men are being brought together as never before, and last but not least, we are getting money for our Union building."

WEIRD MUSIC, PLAYS REVEAL MYSTIC CHINA

On the strains of weird, high-strung music, oriental music that called up dim pictures of jade and burning joss sticks, a delighted audience spent two enchanted hours in far-away, mystic China, when the Chinese students' club presented "The Chinese Night" at Lathrop concert room, last evening.

The program opened with two Chinese songs, A Medley, and "Thoughts of the Four Seasons", played by Charles L. Shao, Matthew H. C. Shen and Henry H. Chao.

A play, "Kung Cheng Chi" or "The Empty City Stratagem" played in Chinese was the feature of the evening. It was an historical play based on a story, which took place about 228 A. D., of the sly king Chukuo Ljang who with his facile wits turns aside from his city the invading army of Suma Ye.

Jordan C. S. Chow gave an interesting exhibition of Chinese fencing with two swords, and Miss Anna Chang told the amusing story of the Mother of Little Maud and Little Maud, and the runaway of their two horses who "ran madly on eight legs."

"An Unknown Pirate," a modern Chinese play directed by Prof. W. E. Leonard, was a gripping story of the Chinese revolution in 1911 and of the patriotism of the youth of the nation.

A pageant produced by Jordan C. S. Chow and recited by K. K. Chen, pictured the rulers of Chinese civilization, the rulers of the Golden Age, the builders of the Great Wall, the "evangelists" of Chinese philosophy, an autocrat of Manchu dynasty and citizens of the Chinese republic. The students closed the program by singing their national anthem. Following the entertainment a sale of Chinese food was held.

MICHIGAN WALLOPS BADGERS

PENNANT HOPES DROP AS TEAM LOSES 11 TO 3

Johnson Has Bad Day On Mound

(Special to The Cardinal)
ANN ARBOR, Mich., April 28.—Michigan decisively stopped Wisconsin's pennant-ward march at Ann Arbor this afternoon by walling the Badgers by an 11 to 3 score in the feature conference baseball tilt of the day.

As a result of the victory, Michigan remains in the 1000 percent column with Illinois, while Wisconsin, erstwhile pace-setters, drop down a rung on the ladder.

Radke Stops Hitters
Michigan's victory came as a result of hits bunched in the first, third, and sixth innings when Johnson allowed the Wolverines to run with their hits. It was an off day for the Badger moundsman, for he was erratic throughout the entire session he was on the mound.

Coach Guy Lowman chose wisely when he sent in Radke, diminutive Badger hurler, to take the mound at the end of the sixth frame when Johnson went to the showers. Radke held the Michigan men hitless for the remainder of the game.

Michigan got four runs in the first inning when two men walked, an infield hit filled the bases, and Shackleford, Wolverine veteran, clouted out a triple later crossing the plate on a fielder's choice.

Shackleford Doubles
Three more chalkers were added in the third frame after a single, an infield hit, and a pass filled the bases. Two more singles before the inning ended scored all three men.

The remaining runs were bunched in the sixth when Johnson again allowed the Michigan men to hit at will. Uteritz singled, Kipke walked, and Haggerty singled and took second. Shackleford doubled and then scored on Knodel's single.

Wisconsin showed power and Johnson made up somewhat for his wild spells with two singles out of three times at bat. Badger hits came in the second and third innings. Becker, Ellingson and Aschenbrenner each brought in one tally.

The game was featured by good baserunning and hard hitting by both teams. Liverance, Wolverine hurler, fanned three straight in the second and retired three in a row in the ninth.

Johnson made six assists and his batting was exceptionally good.

SENIOR PLAY TRYOUTS TO CONTINUE MONDAY

Tryouts for the senior class play will be continued at 4:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in Lathrop hall concert room, according to Miss

Castner and Mates Wallop Northwestern in Slugfest

Notre Dame won an easy 12 to 2 victory from Northwestern, Thursday. The game was featured by the versatility of Castner on the mound, the hitting of Kane and Foley, and the fielding of Taber, Sheehan and Nolan.

Castner hit a single, double, and triple, and held the Purple to five hits in seven innings. A shoe-string catch in center field which he contributed, paved the way for a double play. Sheehan, unassisted, after a good catch of a line drive, made a double play, and Taber included two remarkable catches among nine chances accepted without a slip.

Although Bengsten pitched good ball after three innings, his support wobbled in the early frames and contributed to the Notre Dame win.

BADGERS HOLD IOWA NET MEN FOR 3 TO 3 TIE

Tredwell Drops His Match

Playing rather erratically but with flashes of skillful play which predict success in future conference matches, Wisconsin netmen held the strong Iowa team to a 3 to 3 tie in the first conference tilt of the season for both teams on the Varsity courts yesterday afternoon.

Considering the fact that the Badgers have practiced for four days while the Hawks have worked for four weeks, the match was highly successful.

Coach Satisfied
"I am well satisfied with the result of the match," said Coach G. E. Linden after the meet yesterday. "With more practice the men should be able to compete successfully with the best in the conference."

The Badgers started strong and the meet appeared to be a sure win for them, but by steady work the Iowa men closed up the gap to tie the match. Wisconsin took the first doubles match and one of the two singles matches for two points. The Hawks came back strong and took one of the singles matches and the doubles match.

Lack of practice showed glaringly in Captain Tredwell's play when he dropped his match to Ted Swenson after taking the first set. The match between the two aces was the only one to go three sets, for the others went in one-two style.

18 Games To Decide Set

Nick Aagesen and Janse presented the feature set of the afternoon when they fought 18 games before the first set could be decided. It finally went to the Badgers by a 10 to 8 count. Aagesen took the second set of his match easily by a 6 to 2 score.

Moulding, playing number three man on the Wisconsin team, dropped his match to Dorsey by straight sets.

Bennett Going Good

The most encouraging feature of the whole meet to Badger fans was the work of George Bennett in his first conference competition. Bennett was a powerful factor in the Moulding-Bennett combination which won its doubles match, and he put away Searle, his singles opponent, in beautiful shape by 6-3, 6-0 scores.

Bennett played a cool, heady game and future meets should see him playing stellar roles in Wisconsin successes.

Summary of the meet:

Singles—Swenson beat Tredwell, 4-6, 6-2, 6-2.
Aagesen beat Janse, 10-8, 6-2.
Dorsey beat Moulding, 6-3, 6-2.
Bennett beat Searle, 6-3, 6-0.
Doubles—Swenson and Janse beat Tredwell and Aagesen, 6-3, 6-4.

Moulding and Bennett beat Dorsey and Searle, 6-3, 6-4.

Gertude Johnson, coach of the play, Several manuscripts have been placed at the University library in order that any seniors who wish to tryout may read the play before the tryouts.

FRESHMEN WIN IN CLASS MEET

Yearlings Run Up 64 Points Against Opponents; Juniors Second

Card Sport —Freshmen win

The freshmen easily took the inter-class track meet at Randall field yesterday afternoon when they scored 64 points, almost as many as the three other classes together were able to gather.

The sophomores, doped to win the meet, were greatly handicapped by the absence of many men who are at the Drake Relays in Des Moines Ia.

Zilisch High Scorer

Zilisch, Frosh captain, led in individual scoring honors with two first places and a second.

Following is a summary of the meet:

100-yard dash—Sherbourne, '26, first; Krohn, '24, second; Flueck, '24, third. Time 10 4-5 seconds.

220 yards dash—Sherbourne, '26, first; Ellison, '23, second; Krohn, '24 third. Time 24 2-5 seconds.

L. & S. Nine Beats Medics in First Game of Season

In the first inter-college baseball game of the season the strong L. & S. nine pounded the Medics for a 31 to 4 victory yesterday. The Hillmen led by Ezra Crane easily out-classed the Medics in all departments of the game. The Ag-Engineer game was postponed indefinitely. The batteries for the victorious L. & S. men were Cy Johnson on the mound and R. H. Thorson behind the plate. Jimmie Emmanuel had Gordon Ritchie hurl for the Medics and H. Frederic did the receiving.

BADGERS PLACE IN DRAKE MEET

Four-Mile Team Finishes Second; Two-Milers Come in Fourth

(Special to The Cardinal)

DES MOINES, Ia., April 28.—Wisconsin's four-mile relay team, composed of Schneider, Rossmeissel, Bergstresser, and Sherman, did the unexpected at the Drake Relays, Des Moines, Ia., yesterday and took second place, finishing just behind the fast Illinois team. The time of the winners was 18 minutes 13 1-5 seconds. Schneider beat Isbell, Michigan flash, on the last lap.

The Badgers were scarcely expected to make the showing they did because of the great competition in Michigan and Kansas.

The two-mile team, composed of Hilberts, Johnson, Vallely and Ramsay, took fourth place in its event. The race was on in the fast time of 7 minutes and 57 seconds.

Johnson, Hilberts, Carter and Captain Spetz, running in the one mile relay, places third in their heat and qualified to enter the finals. The competition, was too great however, for the sprint men, and they failed to place in the final standing.

The meet was the greatest ever attempted at Des Moines and there was an overwhelming list of entries. Preliminaries in many of the special events were held Friday afternoon. Both days of the meet were ideal in weather conditions.

The FLORSHEIM SHOE

The sole of a Florsheim, unlike the soul of a man, is made to tread in the dust and it always comes up smiling. Costly leathers have something to do with that—and fine workmanship—yet the price of most Florsheims is only ten dollars.

LEARNING AND LIVING

Ofttimes it is said that a college is the preparatory ground for learning not what is in books but how best to live. And too many times students with that admonition in mind, spend all their efforts learning how to live and forget to live in the interim. The effective way of learning to live is to live.

Professedly the people elected to Phi Kappa Phi, honorary society, have lived while learning. Theirs has not been a book-bound existence. Books have been for them a vital concern, but in learning from print and speech they have not neglected to learn from living with their fellows, directing them, helping them, disagreeing with them,—all in the virile manner that has meant achievement, personal and institutional. Scholarship first, and then more—living actively in our student community—has been the criterion that has guided the present Phi Kappa Phi society in its elections.

Phi Kappa Phi is the one honorary society that extends its honor into all reaches of the university. Men and women leaders in art and letters, science, engineering, agriculture, law, medicine, music, and commerce are drawn together in the society on evidence of an exemplary achievement—scholarship plus.

HAS THE S. G. A. LIGHT FAILED?

It is evident that the widely advertised S. G. A. mass meeting in Music hall Thursday night produced no direct results in the way of constructive improvement of present rules and was, in fact, as one of the city papers declared, characterized by "indecision, quibbling and a certain lack of system and concentration, together with a pronounced lack of respect and convention by a majority of the girls who did a 'walk-out' before business was underway."

Just what the trouble was, is difficult to say. That there are many changes which would bear an open discussion of the co-ed body, is clear. With the rapid changes in convention, conditions, and society, it is evident that the rules made years ago are out of date and must be made analogous to the present.

With the current realization of the necessity of making some alterations in the hoary restrictions of the past, it is strange that more interest in the meeting was not aroused among the women.

Can it be that the present restrictions offer no impediment to the active functioning of the conscience so that, "rules or no rules," personal volition has become the criterion for deportment? Or are the present rules so perfect that they need no argument or discussion by those who defend them to hold them inviolable to the charges of their opponents?

Regardless of whether the foregoing assumptions are valid or not, it is a fact that there was not a quorum present at the meeting. Furthermore, it is an admitted fact by many women that although some legitimate discussion was advanced, there was much wrangling and quibbling over minor points.

In a way, student self-government stands on trial by the actions of these mass meetings, for S. G. A. is the woman's legislative and administrative organization, and as such is on trial, just as is the Student senate at each of its meetings and in each of its activities where each action is taken as positive or negative proof of the feasibility of the plan.

A self-government association or a Student senate is ostensibly made up of just a few representative women or men, but actually is dependent upon the expressions and actions of its electors. When a mass meeting is called and a small minority presents itself and the majority of the minority departs before the meeting is over, presumably with disgust at the shallowness of the general attitude, the entire affair reflects upon student self-administration.

Another meeting for some time in the near future should be set to

A STUDENT'S GAIN FROM A COLLEGE EDUCATION

Ages ago education meant merely to teach the young to do the things which the parents had done before them. Others say that education is the imparting of knowledge, meaning that those who have it, give it to those who have not it. The Writer had a taste of this kind. It is handed out very much like patent medicine to a child. All you need to do is, open your mouth, shut your eyes and swallow what is handed you.

Again education is defined as sharpening, developing or perfecting the minds of the students. Hence we hear about perfecting the memory, the imagination, the observation, etc. This definition may not express all that is included in education. I would rather think education should teach students how to use their minds in ways that are helpful to themselves and their fellow men; teach them to use their minds in socially useful ways, to think for themselves, to set a goal and work toward it.

A college president has said that education should give the student a body strong and supple; an intellect able to think; a heart to love; a conscience for righteousness, an imagination to appreciate the beautiful and a will strong to choose.

I wish to draw attention to three of these as desirable characteristics of college graduates, viz. intellect, heart and conscience.

1. Intellect, i. e. the eye to see, the ear to hear and the mind to weigh and penetrate the deeper meaning of humanity's aspirations, struggles, ills and pains.

2. A heart to love, for love as affection is moved with compassion; love as kindness extends a helping hand and as sympathy, it enters to take upon itself as much bear with the longing to heal.

But even love might run amuck unless there were (3). a keen conscience to guide it. Someone has said that conscience is the tongue that tastes the flavor of intentions. It bids us do whatever we consider our duty.

These, it seems to me, constitute in a measure the mind of the Saviour in us; a certain Christlikeness.

Of Him it is written that He saw His nation as sheep without a shepherd and it moved Him to have compassion on them. He was touched with a feeling of our infirmities and wept over Jerusalem. Himself took our infirmities and bore our diseases. The passion of His soul was to seek and to save that which was lost. He never turned from the path which was right to please the leaders of that day. He catered to no one.

If our students have not the mind and heart to enter into humanity's burden and make it their own, but rather seek first of all to gain than to serve, we shall go deeper into materialism and have continued need of more militarism, to protect it.

definitely discuss some of the questions of S. G. A. rules.

Wisconsin's women today have some real problems to face,—problems which only can be solved by the united cooperation and interest of all women in the university. It is to be hoped that the women will attend the next meeting, not as a mere duty, but because there are some vital questions to be discussed, which will require careful consideration of all those concerned.

THE SILVER LINING

The decisive defeat in the assembly of the Heck resolution to deny the use of Wisconsin's statehouse for public functions such as the Junior promenade and the Military ball is, in many ways, an unhelped for good fortune.

Surprise though the legislative action may be, it seems to indicate, however, a welcome and increased interest in university activities by Wisconsin's lawmakers. It is not ambiguous to suppose that the action was taken because a few students who, for the sake of coming classes, worked unceasingly to present the student view-point.

Neither is it ambiguous to suppose that a realization of the meaning of every Wisconsinite's dream, the Memorial Union, had some effect upon the assembly, and that in this they saw not only the solv-

LITTLE NETTIE

Little Nettie's father was a salesman, the sort of man that never took orders from anybody and wore silly-looking hats. He was always so sore that he was just about crying, just because little Nettie spent most of her time taking the designs out of carpets or plugging key holes. Both very nasty tricks in themselves. It got so that little Nettie wouldn't even eat oyster shells; she was stubborn, that was why. So finally her father had to send her away to a girls boarding school. They practiced boarding trains and wash boarding good clean fun. And then one day just as little Nettie fell under a railroad train she had an idea, but she was killed so it didn't do her much good.

He: I thought that you were going to ask her up for the formal?
Haw: It was cheaper to marry her.

We don't think that it is very nice of these boys to go around in Fords tooting horns and all that stuff when we are trying to get our lessons for the next day.

She: My, this is a bumpy road.
He: It isn't the road—I have hiccoughs.

He put through a bill which was just seventy dollars for railroad fare. That's fair enough.

Every now and then a calamity befalls the university in which the student are unable to have no hand and which they might easily prevent if they were only given the opportunity, which is really due them. This calamity is a serious one, one which is most vital to the progress and welfare of the institution. It is the loss of able instructors.

Almost every year some excellent teacher receives a call from another institution and is allowed to accept it. That is, there is made ing of the ball and dance problem of the future, but they also caught something of the "home for Wisconsin spirit" idea.

The University of Wisconsin thanks its friends in the senate and assembly who remembered their own college days, who disapproved of the attempt to kill two of the university's cherished events, and who made possible for the next few years the continuance of these traditions.

BOB, SON OF—

Student interest in presidential politics, which already is crowding the daily press with news, will be enhanced during the coming campaign by the evident intention of one of Wisconsin's alumni to cast his hat in the ring for Republican nomination.

Regardless of what the political attitude toward Robert M. La Follette '79 may be among student individuals, his enterprise will be watched closely by the present undergraduates at his Alma Mater.

Wesleys and Methodist Church Subject of Talk

Frederick E. Wolf of the Y. M. C. A. will give the third of his series of talks on modern religions at 9:30 o'clock today when he discusses the Wesleys and the Methodist church. The relations of Wesleyism to the Church of England and the Moravian movement, the present and future relations of the denomination will be discussed.

seemingly little effort to prevent his going. We could name any number of instances in almost every department. Away they go and the students take or are able to take no action.

At other institutions what are the means taken to prevent such calamities? News come from Champaign that Prof. Stuart Pratt Sherman, well known literary critic and head of the department of English at the University of Illinois, was offered a position at Yale some time ago. The students learned of this offer and thousands of them signed a petition urging Professor Sherman not to accept the call.

Now we hear that Professor Sherman is going to stay at Illinois. Whether the hearty ovation given him by the student body or some other influence brought him to this decision is only a matter of conjecture. But doubtless the petition had a great deal to do with it. Anyway, the University of Illinois was saved from a tremendous loss.

We wonder if, when another calamity of this sort comes to a head, the matter will come before the students and if it does, what the action of the undergraduate body will be.

As Joseph Conrad nears our shores, readers' minds naturally turn to books of the sea. Conrad many salt stories are dug up and read or re-read. William McFee, who always seemed to us to be a literary cousin to Conrad, becomes more popular. New narratives of the sea are searched for in book corners.

One new book of this category is Fourteen Years A Sailor, by Chief Kenlon, a New York fire chief. The book is an autobiographical novel based on Kenlon's early life in Ireland before he came to the United States.

We hope to be able to review McFee's Command within a few days. So far as we have read it, we are able to recommend it to any one, lovers of sea stories especially. It has to do with a girl that is "like the baggage which used to be sold in certain obscure shops in London with the labels of foreign hotels already pasted on it" and a man—a peculiar man—who treated "the common people of the ship, the sailors, the firemen, the engineers, the wireless boys, with..... lofty condescension," a "rather magnificent person," very self-satisfied, who never really gets anywhere.

Jungle Life Portrayed In African Film

"TRAILING AFRICAN WILD ANIMALS"

Presented at the Strand.
Featuring Mr. and Mrs. Martin
Johnson.
Released through Metro Pictures
Corporation.

By E. H. S.

Last Thursday afternoon the management of the Strand took members of the state legislature, of the university and city grammar school faculties and the mayor of Madison and governor of the state through the wilds of Africa hunting big game. The picture that was given this preliminary exhibition is playing at that theater the first part of this week.

Hunting big game, we said. Yes, but not hunting it in the conventional manner with a rifle. The Martins were hunting with the camera and used their guns only when it became imperative to do so. And some times it seemed as if they didn't even use them then. For they allowed the hulking rhino and the mammoth elephant to come mighty close to them while Mr. Martin turned the crank and before Mrs. Martin pulled the trigger.

They are beautiful pictures that this couple, with their hundred or so native slaves spent two years in taking. To see a herd of a couple hundred zebra or 30 or 40 giraffes together is something which can not be done in America even at the Bronx.

The English people give us a glimpse and many times more than a mere glimpse of practically every animal that ranged up and down the jungle of East Africa. With the long distance lens they are able to show close-ups when almost frighten one.

Some one asked us if there was plot in the picture. Hardly. It is simply a film of the trip made by the Johnsons as a matter of zoological and general interest. They have brought home something that gives one a better idea of what the African wilds are and they have been able to give their audiences an almost intimate view of the animal in the untamed Never-Never Land.

It is a bit of what Lyman Howe pictures used to be. And by the way, we wish that that gentleman would come to life again. We haven't seen anything of him lately. The film is a great relief from the general run of things. We enjoyed it immensely.

"Westward Ho! With the Memorial Union" by Prof. E. H. Gardner, is one of the features of the May issue of the Alumni magazine which came out yesterday. It also contains an article by Paul Hunter announcing spring athletics and sport schedules.

Wanted— men to find the answer

THIS is written to the man who loves to seek the unknown quantity. He is the kind of laboratory worker who ventures into untried fields of experiment, rather than the man who tests materials.

Industry has need of both types, but of the former there is a more pressing demand.

College men may have been discouraged from pursuing pure research. In this highly practical age it may seem there is little room for work which does not have an immediate dollars and cents application. But such is not the case.

The pure research man is the pathfinder. Without him our fountain of knowledge would dry up. His findings in themselves may be uncommercial, but they establish a field for others to develop.

Volta worked out the crude voltaic pile—unimportant until other men improved and applied it. And so with Papin in the field of steam, or Lavoisier in chemistry.

Men of the inquiring slant of mind, stick to your last. In post graduate study, on the faculty, in the laboratory of some industrial organization, there will always be an "X" to baffle other men and call for the keenest thought of you blazers of the trail.

Sports Apparel For the College Girl

FRESH WEATHER! University women everywhere are keen to get in to the game again. Motoring, hiking, riding, canoeing, tennis, golf! For every sport, jaunty new things to wear or half the fun is lost. Whether you need just one new sports costume or several, the sports apparel section has much to offer for your inspection.

NEW BLOUSES

Indeed we are proud of our blouse department. There are the trig tailored effects with ruffled trimmings, and the English and Bramley collars. Dimity, batiste and madras are the materials most in favor.

THE SPORT SKIRT

All sorts of novelty skirts have won their way into spring favor. Flannel, wool crepe, russinare compose the fabrics for sports, straight lined and jaunty—and many are pleated. You will find all the new shades, particularly gray and tans. All are well made, exquisitely textured, and assure serviceability.

NEW SWEATERS

The sports costume this year is not complete without the new sleeveless sweater. They are of many a color—some plain, or with its front partly contrasting. So soft and silky in texture—no wonder they are so popular.

KNICKERS

Just the thing to knock about in. Of the smartest checks and tweeds, knickers have it all over a skirt for comfort and for good looks too. The material mixtures featured are most interesting and the cut and fit of the knickerbockers you will find most gratifying.

Harold Lloyd, Kiwanis Club At Theaters

By CHATTY

The warm weather brings with it the last of the road shows that will be seen in Madison this season (except for the stock at the Orpheum) and a strange arrangement of pictures.

Did you see "The Bat" or "The Cat and The Canary" or "The Last Warning" or "Whispering Wires"? If you did, you must have gotten a kick out of one of them.

Well, anyway, along comes a fifth of these hair-raising, side-splitting mystery plays. (That is, they are advertised as being hair-raising and side-splitting. We can't vouch for all of them.) It's called "The Rear Car" and is said to be a rip-snorter, if you know what that is. If you go, you'd better take along some rope so that you can tie yourself into the seat.

The Kiwanis club is going to play. Yes sir, they're going to become kids again, that's what these clubs seem to be for, to function as a rejuvenator for their members. As we were saying, the Kiwanians, or what ever their plural is, are going to dirty up their faces, don stove-pipe lids and blossom forth in front of the foot lights.

It's a minstrel show. Oh, you guessed it, did you? Well, then you must have seen the ads.

The Madison and Majesite are getting together this week and putting on the same show. If we didn't know that one man ran both of these theaters, we might wonder at such action. As it is we wonder at it anyhow. But then, that makes it easy for us, we have one less show to review this week.

The picture "Safety First," seems to center around a bit of human-fly work which the boy with glasses does. In that, it is like never weaken and we advise faint-hearted people to steer clear of it. It's another thriller.

But you can always maintain your composure by keeping in mind the fact that Harold Lloyd's obituary has not yet been announced, if that will be a consolation when you see him hanging from the tenth floor of an office building.

Somewhere on this page the Martins' picture is reviewed, so that the only picture that will appear at the Strand this week that comes under our cognizance is "The Abyssmal Brute." It's a brute picture, all right, and, since Reginald Denny plays in it, of course it deals with the ring.

Another wild animal picture, this one with an "intensely thrilling and gripping story of adventure in the jungle" running through it, will play at the Parkway today. Besides the wild animals, a big feature of the film is what is reported to be an actual scene of an earthquake.

Gimme a nickel, pa! Everybody's got the gimmies. At least that's the idea of Rupert Hughes latest film. It's what is commonly known as a society play, with lot of complications, misunderstandings and what not.

"Brass" is apt to play at the Parkway for a whole week or more, according to the management. It's a picture on a big scale. We don't remember ever seeing a movie which was layed in movie-land, California. This one is. It's also what might be called a society film and has an excellent cast.

LIBRARY SCHOOL HOLDS ANNUAL MAY FESTIVAL

The library school of the university celebrated its sixteenth annual May Day festival yesterday in the school's rooms. Dr. John H. Powell, of the Extension Division addressed the members of the school and their friends at 10:00 o'clock. Afterwards there was a reception and coffee was served.

"The Browning Lover" was the subject of Dr. Powell's talk. He told of the optimism of Browning, of his love of people and nature and his belief that right triumphs.

Mrs. J. J. Baline, Mrs. I. Milo Kittleston, Mrs. Peter Dedel, and Miss Mable Little assisted at the coffee table. The rooms of the library school were opened to the guests. Posters made by the girls were on exhibiton.

Illinois Appropriation of $10,546,000 Passes Uncut

The $10,546,000 biennial appropriation for the University of Illinois was signed by Governor Small Thursday at Springfield after the bill had passed both houses of the legislature unanimously.

Governor Small had recommended that the appropriation be cut $1,295,000; but the legislature completely ignored his plea. The governor had a conference with the university trustees and President Kinley. Their determined stand that any reduction would be disadvantageous to the university caused the governor to change his attitude and sign the bill.

WESTERN TOUR FOR MEMORIAL IS SUCCESSFUL

The tour of the west which Prof. E. H. Gardner is making in the interests of the Memorial Union has proven successful, according to word received at Union headquarters.

"These meetings are recreating the Wisconsin Alumni clubs all over the country. The members of these clubs have begun to reelect officers and to take a greater interest in their Alma Mater and her projects than ever before. I am met every where by enthusiastic Wisconsin workers," Professor Gardner declared in one of his letters.

"There is a large body of alumni in Seattle and we had a very interesting meeting here, in charge of Edward Bradley Dean," he wrote. "The dinner was graced by William Munday who entered the University in 1861 together with John Muir, and told us he remembered seeing Muir's famous clock which threw him out of bed in the morning. Mr. Muldoon attended the university only one year."

Drug to Restore Life is Not New, Says Dr. Sevringhaus

"Life can be restored to a dead man if the cause of death is removed and adrenalin injected into the heart a few minutes after death. This is not a new discovery but has been known to medical science for a great number of years. Recent publicity given the subject would make it seem that it is a new discovery."

This is the statement made by Dr. E. L. Sevringhaus of the physiological chemistry department.

Adrenalin has been the subject of a great deal of newspaper comment the last few weeks. The drug is a product of two small glands located above the kidneys.

According to Dr. Sevringhaus, adrenalin has been successful a great number of times, but it has not been successful a large percentage of the time tried.

DOCTOR ELSOM TO ADDRESS AG TRIANGLE TODAY

"Plays and Games for Play Days," will be the subject of Dr. J. C. Elsom's address to the Agric Triangle at 9 o'clock this morning in the S. G. A. room of Lathrop hall.

Doctor Elsom has made a detailed study of community recreational problems and will talk on the problems of correct play as it affects the rural community.

Agric Triangle, in conjunction with five girls from the course in Home Economics, gave an entertainment at Poynette last night. The Agric Triangle quartette and the girls furnished the music and stunts.

Prof. E. M. Tiffany, of the agricultural education department accompanied the young people and gave a talk on, "The Value of Teaching Agriculture in the High School." The meeting was held in the Poynette high school building.

All agriculture students are urged to attend the meeting this morning. Members of Professor Kolb's rural life class especially are asked to attend.

University Players Give "Comedy Night" May 10

The Wisconsin University players will hold their "COMEDY NIGHT" in Lathrop concert room Thursday night May 10.

The program will be made up of four one-act comedies: "The Robbery" by Clare Kummer, "A Pair of Lunatics" by W. R. Walkes, "A Matter of Choice" by William Tannewitz, and "Into the Nowhere", a pantomime copyrighted by the old Red Domino society.

These plays are being offered as a substitute for the usual spring play which will not be given this year. These comedies which are now being rehearsed require from two to eighteen people in the casts. An admission of 55c will be charged and tickets will be sold on the hill next week.

Applications for the W. A. A. scholarship which is awarded annually must be turned in as soon after May 1st as possible. This scholarship was founded last year and any member of W. A. A. is eligible for application. The award this year is to be made by a general committee headed by Prof. Julius Olson instead of one composed of W. A. A. members.
