SENATORS VOTE ON CAP NIGHT, HEAR REPORTS

Status of Green Hat Discussed

The date for cap night was set for May 26 at the regular meeting of the Student senate last night in the Law auditorium.

The question was brought before the meeting as to the official status of the green cap. Discussion of the question recalled the action of the Senate at a meeting last spring when it voted to make the wearing of the cap optional. At the next meeting the Senate voted to rescind the action of the previous meeting. Since that meeting in the spring of 1922 the constitution states that every Freshman must wear the green cap between the dates set by the Senate.

Senator Wittenberg made the following motion which supports the measure passed last spring. The motion carried by an unanimous vote from the Senators.

Makes Motion
"I move that the Senate go on record as requiring compulsory wearing of the green cap by Freshmen. The authority to enforce the above will rest with the Student Court. If any violation of this is found henceforth, the Freshmen will be ordered to appear before the enforcement committee and punishment ordered."

Tradition violators may be punished in any of the following ways which are stated in the handbook of the Student Senate. The offender may be denied the right to hold office and vote for a period of not less than one year, the offender may be denied the right to participate in any student or university activity or undertaking except such as are taken or engaged in for university credit.

Hazing Forbidden
Indiscriminate hazing is forbidden. Every Freshman who complies with traditions will be protected. Those who violate any tradition have no redress from any body for protection.

Many cases of flagrant violation of traditions have been reported and the offenders will be tried next Thursday night. Offenders may be reported to Max Brackett '25, chairman of Sophomore tradition committee at B. 6213, or Victor Werner '24 at B. 1712.

Court Lacks Action
The Senators commented upon the lack of action from the Student Court in dealing with violators. Maynard Brown '23, president of the Senate said of the meeting, "the Senate has the right to take drastic steps and if the Student Court is not going to take action in the near future we will take such steps to enforce our traditions."

"I hope that every member of the Freshman class who does not wear his cap will be prevented from voting or holding office during the remainder of his academic career," Llewellyn Cole, Sophomore senator, commented after the meeting had adjourned.

Cite Punishment
Punishment which is dealt to violators of traditions at Penn State, Penn and Dartmouth was cited at the meeting last night. At one eastern university the violators are tarred and feathered. Another university throws Freshmen in the river for speaking to a woman, and at a New England college only three Freshmen have failed to wear their caps this year.

Consider Push Balls
A committee which is gathering data concerning the advisability of using push balls at class rushes reported that they had written to several schools but had not received any replies.

Profits from the Jamboree amounting to $142.50 have been turned over to the Senate according to a report from the Jamboree committee which was submitted last night. Receipts amounted to $318.10, expenses $175.60. Of the balance $100 had been sent to Senator Lamb and the remainder was sent by check last night.

COACHES LIKE DAYLIGHT SAVING

The daylight savings plan may come into use at Wisconsin as it is now at Northwestern and Illinois universities.

Coach Lowman in speaking about this plan last night said: "I have lived under daylight saving conditions and the idea appeals to me very much. It is especially advantageous during the second semester of the academic year. I see no reason why the plan should not work out at Wisconsin. It would certainly allow more time for recreation and athletic practice and it isn't so bad after one becomes used to it."

"The plan would offer great advantages to all of the teams especially in the spring and fall seasons. Of course, there would be certain difficulties until everyone became used to the new schedule, but I believe that it would be a success," said Coach T. E. Jones.

"The idea is all right," said Coach Meade Burke.

"COMEDY NIGHT" IS TONIGHT IN LATHROP HALL

"Comedy Night" is the name given to the presentation of the four plays presented by the Wisconsin University Players tonight at 8 o'clock in the concert room of Lathrop hall.

"A Matter of Choice," a clever comedy written by William Tannewitz '23, will be produced publicly for the first time.

"To be perfectly frank," Mr. Tannewitz confessed when asked where he received his inspiration, "I got it while I was taking a bath last summer."

The three other plays are: "The Robbery," by Clare Kummer, "A Pair of Lunatics," by W. R. Walker, and "Into the Nowhere," a pantomime by Marie Bollman and Marjorie Kinnan, two former university students. "Into the Nowhere" was produced by Red Domino, of which the authors were members, when they were in the university.

"A Pair of Lunatics" is being directed by Olivia Orth '24; the pantomime, by Miss Margaret McCarthy of the speech department; and Alethia Smith '24 is directing "The Robbery." Mr. Tannewitz is directing his own play.

Rehearsals were carried on under difficulty. Four plays all being produced at Lathrop, with not enough spare rooms to go around, caused decided confusion.

The plays are all of a light nature in keeping with the name "Comedy Night."

VARSITY BANDS PLAY OUTDOORS EARLY TONIGHT

"Weather permitting the University bands will present their program from 6:30 to 7:15 o'clock this evening in front of Music hall," said Major Morphy yesterday. "In case the weather is too cold the concert will be postponed indefinitely."

The first and second University bands will unite to give an outdoor concert for the first time in the history of the university. Outdoor concerts of the first band have been given every spring for several years but never before has anything on so large a scale been attempted. The combination of the bands makes a total of one hundred musicians.

"There is no set program," stated Major Morphy. "But following the customs of former years the concert numbers will be in a lighter vein and more suited to the open air conditions than is the case when the band plays indoors."

Movies of Blackfriar Cast Will Be Taken By Pathe

Moving pictures of the Blackfriar cast, the Chicago men's dramatic society parallel to that of Haresfoot at Wisconsin, will be taken by the Pathe and the Fox picture corporations at the time music from this year's play is being broadcast.

COURT TO TRY CAP OFFENDERS

May Deny Political Rights or Add to Required Credits

The Student court will try about 25 Freshmen, who have been reported for not wearing the green cap, next Thursday night at the Law building, Max Brackett '25, chairman of the Sophomore tradition committee, stated at the Student Senate meeting last night.

The penalties which the Court has the power to impose upon these violators of Wisconsin tradition are, to add additional credits for graduation, to deny the right to hold office and vote, and to bar them from from all universities traditions.

All violators should be reported to Max Brackett '25, at B 6213 or to Victor Werner '24, at B 1712. Two witnesses are necessary for conviction.

"No hazing has been forced onto the Frosh this spring. But drastic action is being taken with the full support of Senate and Court to enforce this tradition," Brackett said last night, after stating the forthcoming action of the Court.

"The feeling of Sophomores and upper classmen is getting to be such that we fear that action must be taken against those who fail to wear the cap, smoke on the campus or break any other traditions," Brackett concluded.

Delta Sigma Rho, Honorary Forensic Frat, Challenges Book-worms to Combat

Wonders will never cease!

Delta Sigma Rho, honorary forensics fraternity, yesterday challenged the faculty members of Phi Beta Kappa to a baseball game to be played on the lower campus any afternoon next week.

The Phi Betes indicated that they are anxious to accept the offer and to demonstrate to the world that they can wield bats as intelligently as they can chalk up scores by means of books. They feel certain that they will beat the debaters at their own game of out-talking the umpire.

The lineup for the Delta Sigma Rho team has not definitely been decided upon. Tom Amlie '23, and Wayne Morse '23, seem the logical choices for the mound duties, while Ralph Axley '23, has expressed a desire to receive their slants. Other outstanding players in this organization are Arthur Inman '23, Frank Cosgrove '23, and Harold Seering '24.

Robert B. Stewart '23, is torn betwixt and between, being a member of both societies.

The members of the Phi Beta Kappa team will be announced after the candidates have had a few workouts in preparation for the event.

During the game women Phi Beta Kappa members will pass the hat in order to obtain funds for the Memorial Union.

ATHLETES WILL BE ENTERTAINED BY COMMITTEE

Burke to Publish List of Entries

The visiting high school athletes who will participate in Wisconsin's twenty-ninth annual interscholastic track meet on May 25 and 26 will be taken on an auto tour Sunday morning, May 27, around the city and university grounds, Iscar Sanders '24, chairman of the entertainment committee announced last night.

Assisting Sanders in the entertainment of the visiting men are Hawley Porter '25, in charge of housing arrangements, Al Schneider '25, transportation about the city, and Fulton Lieberman '25, who will be in charge of entertainment during the stay in Madison.

Approximately 500 high school athletes from all parts of the state are expected to participate in the events of interscholastic week.

Autos Will Be Used

In order to eliminate confusion at the railroad stations the men will be transported in autos to their houses and an information booth will be placed at each station.

Each fraternity is expected to take charge of from five to eight men over the week end. Many of the visitors have friends in Madison and it has been estimated that fraternities will provide lodging for 250 men. Application for men should be made to Hawley Porter '25.

Post List of Entries

Meade Burk, assistant track coach will publish the list of entries as they come in and students who know the athletics may meet them.

Transportation about the city will be provided by the use of student cars. All students that will have cars available for that week end are requested to report to Al Schneider '25.

Work on Entertainment

"Several novel ideas for entertaining the men are being worked on by the committee. Interscholastic week introduces promising high school athletes to Wisconsin spirit and the committeemen are working on a program which will give the boys the biggest week end in their lives," Sanders said last night.

"We will need the cooperation of every house and of every available student auto. It is a big undertaking to entertain 500 men and this week end will mean a great deal to Wisconsin," Sanders concluded.

CATALOG SHOWS 191 FOREIGNERS AT UNIVERSITY

Thirty-two foreign countries have been represented by a total of 191 students at the University of Wisconsin during the year 1922-23 according to the catalogue now in press.

This total includes 166 men and 25 women, of which 39 men and five women were enrolled in the summer session but not for the regular semesters.

China leads in the number of students with an aggregation of 63 men and four women. The other foreign countries in the order of the number of students here are as follows:

Canada: 22 men and six women; Philippines, 18 men; England, six men and one woman; Hawaii five men and two women; and Norway, sent seven men.

Argentina and Japan each sent six men. France, five women; four men from India; two men and two women from Mexico; three men and one woman from Porto Rico.

South Africa and Switzerland each sent three men. Germany, Russia, Peru, and Sweden each sent two students. Brazil, Bulgaria, Denmark, Finland, Guatemala, New Zealand, Nicaragua, Paraguay, Roumania, Siam, Spain, Turkey, Uruguay and Venezuela sent one student each.

WARNING FOR CANOEES GIVEN

Steinauer Outlines Rules For Safety on Lake
Mendota

That the trouble with the most of the students here is that they seem to regard Lake Mendota as a mill-pond, and grow careless, is the statement of J. C. Steinauer of the Physical Education department in speaking of the ways to avoid the fatalities that occur each year on the lakes here.

"The average student grows careless, and does such fool-hardy things as swimming off a moving launch or sail boat, or towing four or five canoes behind a launch, and does not seem to realize how great the danger really is," declared Steinauer. "All students should familiarize themselves with the rules regarding the lake."

Break City Ordinance

"Students are breaking city ordinances as well as university rules when they fail to observe these rules," he asserted. "Capt. Isabel has police authority and may arrest anyone who fails to recognize the regulations."

"Students who break the rules will be taken care of by the disciplinary committee. They stand a good chance of being expelled from school as well as being arrested for breaking a city ordinance."

The canoe is considered a shallow water craft, and students shouldn't take chances, according to Steinauer. Canoes can be handled almost any way in calm weather, but should be handled carefully in rough weather.

Sit in Canoe Bottom

"In case of an accident, or of sudden rough weather, sit in the bottom of the canoe," Steinauer said. "Seldom, if ever, will you find an Indian with a seat in it, and we are much better off if we follow the Indian's example."

When a canoe turns over, it is best always to stay with the canoe, and not to try to swim ashore, according to both Capt. Isabel and Steinauer.

"Always stick to the canoe. Regardless of how good a swimmer you are under ordinary circumstances, or under favorable conditions, remember that canoe accidents always happen under unfavorable conditions, usually when you are fully clothed, or have someone along who is probably not such a good swimmer. When conditions are against you, don't take any chances."

Hang Onto Ends

"The best way to keep afloat until help comes is to hang on to the overturned canoe. Get at the ends, and hang on by throwing one arm completely over the keel. By all means don't try to climb up on the canoe and lay on the center. Go to the end and stick there."

It is best not to try to set the boat right, because the action of the water will roll it and cause it to turn over again, according to Steinauer.

Make For Shore

"If you are in the lake and see that it is going to blow up, or that a storm or high wind is coming, don't try to make for the boat house, but head for the closest shore. Then go to the nearest cottage and phone the boat house so that we know you are all right," he stated. "If you can't wait until the storm blows over, beach the canoe and walk home; you can always go back for the boat."

Since the weather bureau here gives warning as often as possible when there is going to be a wind, there is really little excuse for students being caught on the lake at such times.

"When in doubt about the weather, or when there is any signs of trouble no matter how slight, always put the life preservers on," is Steinauer's warning.

KAHLENBERG PRAISES FARADAY DISCOVERY

"Every time we turn on our lights, ride in a street car, or start our machines by a self starter, we have Michael Faraday, the greatest experimental genius, to thank," declared Prof. Louis Kahlenberg of this university in his lecture Tuesday night on Michael Faraday at Science hall.

Faraday, the great discoverer of electron magnetism, was an English man and a member of the Royal Institution of London.

"Michael Faraday has no college training, and yet he developed into one of the greatest scientists of all times. All of his experiments were characterized by the extreme simplicity of means he used. Things occurred to him, and he simply went ahead and did them."

This was the first of a series of of the Women's Medical association on the great scientists of the world. These lectures are both biographical and scientific and are open to all who are interested.

Washington Is Getting Prepared For Shriners

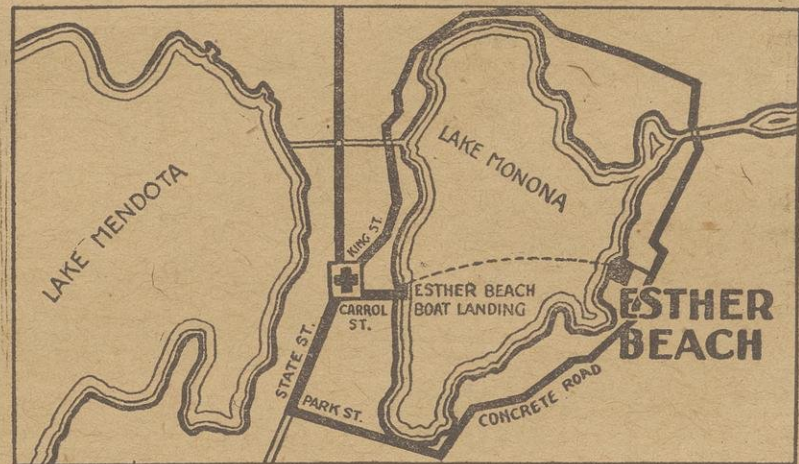

Washington Bureau, The Capital Times, Washington, D. C.
More than 300,000 Shrine visitors who are coming to Washington the first week in June to attend the sessions of their Imperial Council may do so without fear that they will be gouged by hotel keepers, is the word that went out to Madison Shriners today. Committees making arrangements for this greatest of all gatherings of the Shrine have been getting complaints from many cities, including Madison, that reports have been circulated to the effect that Washington hotel keepers intended taking advantage of the great throngs coming to the city to boost rates.

"There is absolutely not a word of truth in these stories," said Leonard P. Steuart, illustrious potentate of Almas temple, today. "We have the pledge of every hotel keeper in the city that rates will not be charged during the Shrine convention. We will see that this pledge is not forgotten."

GOPHER-BADGER TILT SCHEDULED FOR SATURDAY

Notre Dame Contest Postponed

The Notre Dame baseball game scheduled for yesterday afternoon was indefinitely postponed for fear the weather would be too bad to play, in which case Coach Rochne's squad would have made a long trip needlessly.

The postponement was mutual. Notre Dame had an exceedingly hard time in defeating Iowa Tuesday by the score of 1 to 0, and would not have been in the best condition for the Wisconsin match.

Prepare for Minnesota

Coach Guy Lowman will have a much better opportunity to tune up his squad to take on Minnesota here Saturday. He can save his men for the more important conference game.

Minnesota comes here undefeated. They got a late start this season, but took Northwestern into camp, and beat Iowa after the Hawkeyes had knocked Illinois out of first place with a 7 to 2 defeat. The Gophers pulled both victories out of the fire in the last inning. It took 5 runs in the last half of the ninth to beat the Purple, and Pitcher Friedl's home-run with two men on broke up the Iowa game in the tenth inning with Minnesota on top 6 to 3.

Dope Favors Gophers

The Gophers are supposed to have a team composed of comparatively green men, but the results they have turned in so far looks favorable for Minnesota stock. Friedl is an old man on the squad and one of the most valuable. Because of his batting ability he is sometimes used in some other place than the box. Foote, shortstop, is another hard hitter, but gets frequent errors chalked up against him. Myrum, third sacker, is an experienced man and holds up his corner of the diamond in first rate style. Rumble, center-fielder, is cleanup man in the batting order and wields a dangerous bat for all pitchers.

It seems fairly certain that Bill Johnson will begin the tossing for the Badgers Saturday. Changes in the lineup are unlikely, although Becker, Dugan and Melvin have been showing class in practice and will undoubtedly get their chance before the season is over.

VARSAITY MEETS ILLINI GOLFERS HERE SATURDAY

The first varsity golf match of the season will be played at 9 o'clock Saturday morning on the Maple Bluff links. The opener of the season will with the Illinois team instead of the Gophers as announced in Wednesday's Cardinal.

The Illinois team is generally considered one of the strongest teams in the conference and will give the Badgers some keen competition. Three Wisconsin men who are showing up particularly well are Captain Frost, Stegeman and Bock. These men - probably will be three of the four chosen to meet Illinois this week-end. The fourth man will be chosen Friday afternoon.

Practice will continue every afternoon for the rest of the week and the way the men show up will have a great deal to do with the choosing of the fourth man. Two other men to be chosen at that time will be the substitutes.

Other meets of the year are with Northwestern a week from Saturday, and with Chicago. There is a possibility of scheduling a meet with Minnesota for about the first of June.

BADGER FROSH COMBAT HAWKS

Second Telegraphic Track Meet Will Be Held This Afternoon

The second Wisconsin-Iowa freshman telegraphic meet of the year will be held this afternoon when yearling tracksters compete on their respective tracks.

Events will be run simultaneously at the two schools this afternoon and the results will be telegraphed immediately so that the outcome of the meet will be known shortly after the last races are run.

Wisconsin triumphed over the Hawk freshmen in the indoor meet which was held last winter but they will probably have some difficulty in repeating the performance today. The Badger frosh are particularly strong in the sprints, hurdles, and the mile, but they have only mediocre men in the other events.

Following is the Wisconsin entry list for the meet:

Sprints—Sherbourne, N. V. Smith, McAndrews, Landschulz, McGiveran.

440 yard dash—Held, Garens, J. G. Smith, Halls, Kreglow, Kennedy.

Hurdles—Captain Zilisch, Koehler, Sharples, Molsahn.

Half mile—Schutt, Peard, Dickenson, Lea, McDowall.

One mile—Cassidy, Petaya, Thayer.

Two mile—Cohen, Butz, Lovewell, Bemm.

High jump—Brown, Oatway, Heald.

Broad jump—Reader, Smith, Shapiro.

Pole vault—Olson.

GIBSON WILL BE PILOT OF 1923-4 BASKET SEASON

Meanwell Should Have Good Team

Douglas N. Gibson '24, Cumberland, Wis., was elected to captain the 1924 University of Wisconsin basketball team when players of the past season met Tuesday night.

Gibson has had a brilliant career on the Badger cage five, having held down the center position through two successful years. He has won two basketball W's, playing during the 1921-1922 season when Wisconsin tied for second place and taking a leading part in winning for Wisconsin a tie with Iowa for first place in the Big Ten conference last winter.

Improved Steadily

Beginning with the first game he played for Wisconsin, Gibson steadily improved as he became familiar with the play taught by Dr. Walter E. Meanwell, Badger mentor, until he was considered one of the strongest center in the conference at the end of his sophomore year.

During the past successful conference season, his work continued to be of the same excellent caliber and much of the season's success is due him. He is a pivot man who never seems to reach the limit of improvement, and the 1923-1924 season should see him outplay the best that conference schools can produce.

Have Good Team

With Captain Gibson as a nucleus, and Spooner, Elsom, Barwig, Harris and Radke to fill the gaps which will be left by the graduation of a few members of this year's team, Dr. Meanwell should again produce a team next year which may be expected to finish near the top in the conference race.

Gibson has been active in activities other than basketball at Wisconsin. He worked on a 1924 prom committee, is a member of Skull and Crescent, and of Tumas organizations.

RYAN'S ABSENCE GIVES REST TO FOOTBALL MEN

With Coach Jack Ryan in Milwaukee for the week end, men reporting for spring football practice will be given three days' rest. Coach Ryan will return Monday when practice will again be in force.

When the training is resumed, the Badger mentor will send his men through hard practices for a week, ending with a general football meeting Sunday afternoon. Whether scrimmage would be held during the week was not announced.

Thirty men were in uniform last night passing and kicking the ball. So far since the spring grind started, the men have been working on the fundamentals of football. Coach Ryan had several men drop-kicking last night in the hopes that practice would be held during the week was not announced.

The majority of the men worked out receiving forward passes with Radke, Stangel and Opitz heaving the oval. Holmes and Stangel got in a good practice drop kicking, getting many good boots.

TENNIS SQUAD MEETS CHICAGO

Team Resumes Practice Interrupted By Bad Weather

After being hampered by inclement weather during the last few days, the varsity tennis team was finally able to get on the courts again yesterday. Practice was not very strenuous, as the men were forced to start in easy after their short layoff. The remainder of the week will be devoted to intensive practice so that the men will be in condition for the match with Chicago on Saturday.

The short period of rest which the team has enjoyed this week will not hamper them any, for Coach Linden has had them working hard during the last two weeks, and the players needed a rest. Continued practice might have resulted in some of the net men going stale, which would prove disastrous with several hard matches still before them.

The meet with Chicago next Saturday will without doubt be the hardest match of the season. With men like Wilson and Frankenstein, the Maroons present one of the strongest teams in the conference. These two men won the doubles championship in Wisconsin last year, and Frankenstein, paired with Stegg, won the conference championship in doubles. Reucher, the fourth man on the Chicago team, is also said to be a player of unusual ability.

Wisconsin, by virtue of her overwhelming defeat over Minnesota last week, is now ranked as one of the best teams in the conference, and the match with the Maroons this week-end promises to be a close and exciting meet.

Linden's men took all six matches from the Gophers, the majority of the sets being won without much of a struggle. The Badgers also played a tie match with Iowa the preceding week, each team winning three sets. If the varsity can come through with a win over Chicago, they will be considered strong contenders for the conference championship.

After the Chicago match, the Badgers will have two more meets with conference teams before the conference tournament, which is to be held at Chicago on May 24, 25 and 26. Northwestern and Michigan will be met next week-end. Michigan is conceded to have the stronger team of the two and they are certain of giving the varsity team some close competition.

Women Ask Revoking Of Putnam Co. Charter

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — An appeal to the Wisconsin legislature to revoke the charter of the Putnam Lumber Co., Inc., under the laws of Wisconsin and which has extensive holdings in Florida was contained in a resolution received here today by the Florida legislature from the Woman's Club of Milwaukee and published in the journal of the house of representatives. The company was named in connection with the convict camp whipping scandal.

BADGER CINDER SQUAD TO MEET GOPHERS HERE

Hope to Crush Gopher Team

The weather man was good to the Badger track team again yesterday and allowed the men another day of much needed practice in preparation for the Wisconsin-Minnesota meet which will be held at Camp Randall next Saturday afternoon.

With a victory over the Chicago outfit on the credit side of their sheet, hope for Conference success runs higher in the ranks of Wisconsin's tracksters than it has been for some time.

The Minnesota meet will be just another mile stone to pass on the road to success, and while the way will be hard it should not prove too difficult for the Badgers.

Have Good Team

Minnesota will be represented here Saturday with a well rounded squad consisting of several veterans and a well chosen group of new men. The team which went through the indoor season with fair success has been bolstered with the addition of several capable men who have become eligible since the recent quarter exams.

The Gophers have a pair of hurdlers in Martineau, and Towler which is feared throughout the Conference and Wisconsin's best talent will have to be shown if points are to be garnered in this event. Newell, Hammann, Tuhtar and Schneider will clear the barriers in an attempt to win from the Minnesotans.

Tschudy Proved Ability

Tschudy, Badger distance man proved his ability at Chicago by winning from Bourke, Maroon ace, in the two mile. He has won from Ulrich, Gopher star, in cross country races and will strive to repeat the performance in the two mile event Saturday. Jerry Wade is also running the two mile and should be able to count.

Sport fans will have an opportunity to see Faricy, one of the country's greatest inter-collegiate swimmers, in action Saturday when he steps into action in the broad jump. Cranston will high jump for Minnesota in an attempt to keep Donohue, Platten, and Tuhtar, Badger jumpers from slammimg in the event.

Shot Put to Be Lively

A lively battle should come with the shot event when Grose, of Minnesota, and Van Ellis, of Wisconsin, start heaving the pill in the finals. Grose has a record of something over 40 feet, while the Badger heavy is almost as capable.

While Wisconsin slammed in both the mile and half-mile runs at Chicago, they have a formidable trio of men to buck against Saturday in McLaughlin, Gopher miler, and Partridge and Hirt, half milers. The Badger men are in good condition, however, and they should count heavily in these events.

The meet Saturday will be one of the feature events of Minnesota-Wisconsin day, which is an innovation at Madison this spring. A baseball game, also between the two institutions will be held after the track meet to complete a strenuous day of Badger-Gopher competition.

NEEDED: A LEGISLATIVE

In after ages, writes H. A. L. Fisher, noted British educational leader, in the Yale Review, it will be regarded as a remarkable fact that a nation, racked by war, burdened by taxation, encumbered by debt, paralyzed by industrial disturbances and trade depressions, should, nevertheless, have had the nerve and the faith to examine and test every part of its educational fabric, and to treble the funds placed at the disposal of its schools and colleges.

As the nation will be remembered for a notable achievement, whether it be England, France, or the United States,—so will be the state.

We, the state of Wisconsin, along with forty-seven other states, during the past two years have been compelled to make financial reductions and to postpone projects which we gladly would have developed. Such compulsion cannot persist and we properly exist.

it brought us a glimmering, and in some cases a downpour, of ideals. A hatred of war, a longing for friendly peace, a thirst after things, better in life, after enlightenment,—all these we have engendered on an unprecedented scale following years of killing and strife. And no one has raised louder the cry of protest against things military than has the state of Wisconsin, demonstrated in its legislative acts and tendencies.

But if the springs of idealism issuing from the moral impulses of the war are not to waste themselves in the sands, they must rise to the fountain head of practical acts. The present Wisconsin legislature has the opportunity of making its professed idealistic stand for peace tenable by carrying it to the logical consistency of providing educational funds, despite depression, taxation burdens, and economy programs.

The biennial appropriations asked for the University of Wisconsin appear for legislative O. K. soon. In the present welter of contemporary legislative reticence on such measures, our law body can distinguish and high immortalize itself by daring to put education first and granting the appropriations and more.

If the opportunity for man to cultivate his intelligence, to undergo a change of attitude is not increased, what hope?

A TOBACCO SIDELIGHT

As the epidemic of campus opinion and personal say-so concerning Student Forum agitation for and against the abolition of campus smoking spreads, it is pertinent to add fuel to the discussion by way of pointing to rather amusing inconsistencies involved in our present situation.

Smoking is permitted on the campus without restriction in the case of the three upper classes. Yet by university rule, campus publications are forbidden to accept tobacco advertisements of any sort. The loss of revenue to The Cardinal alone through that restriction is estimated at $1,000 annually according to a report made last year. And the eight other campus publications suffer proportionately.

We are not allowed to say in print that tobacco is for sale, but we are allowed to use it freely wherever we go about the campus. Funny arrangements, isn't it? The absence of tobacco advertising apparently doesn't check the smoking.

Whichever way it is deemed advisable to turn in this welter of pro and con and let-alone agitation, at least let the turn be a completely consistent one.

MUSIC IN THE AIR

It seems to us that there is no more delightful tradition—and it is a tradition—than the outdoor concerts given in the spring on the upper campus by the university band.

Perhaps it's because they don't cost anything,—but no, we'd be willing to pay a lot for them. There's nothing more joyously harmonious than a languorous spring twilight, classmates grouped comfortably about on the grass, and then the melodic fullness of concert strains floating through the warm evening air.

Major Morphy, director this year is departing from precedent and is offering the concert work of both bands combined—one hundred men. Their first appearance is set for tonight.

Will the Eskimos please page Mr. Snow and find important business for him at home,—we want to have that spring concert.

CANDY AND FLOWERS

Mothers day is overlooked in the official university schedule. Too often it is overlooked in the official I-me-ego schedule. Only the candy maker and flower growers consistently remind us, but for it we can forgive them all their transgressions, even their immediate commercial one. If it be nothing more than stereotyped flowers or candy, let mother know that she has a day of her own in the 365.

By the way,—Mothers day is next Sunday, May 13.

Editors Say—

AMERICA'S EDUCATIONAL IDEALS

(Christian Science Monitor)

Although there is a decided difference of opinion as to the educational scope within which institutions of higher learning should operate, there is a certain satisfaction, which many will feel, to realize that according to Prof. James C. Egbert, director of university extension at Columbia university, extension teaching is democratizing education. Of course, this means primarily that the aim of the urban university is to widen, and not restrict, educational opportunity. It has long been held by many that the main function of the colleges is to offer certain cultural training to those exclusively who qualify according to their standards of entrance. Of late the view has been growing that education is not the prerogative of a certain few, but that it should be made available to the greatest possible number who desire to advance themselves thereby.

The democratic ideal of education expresses itself, that is to say, not in the sentiment, How shall we reduce the number of individuals going to college? but in the idea, How can we increase the opportunities for a larger number to obtain the advantages of higher education? And it is from this standpoint that many of the colleges are developing extension courses and making their educational facilities available to those who are unable to be present at regular lecture hours or seasons.

As to whether or not such students should be considered as in line for a degree is altogether another question; the main point is that opportunity is being given to an increasing number to enlarge their learning if they so desire. That the extension method involves the depriving of the student of some of the important side issues of college life is undeniably true, but nevertheless it is a question whether their loss is not at any rate partially compensated by the added impulse to study and progress which such students are extremely liable to manifest.

Be that as it may, however, in a land of liberating ideals it is incontrovertible that the scope of extension work is in line with the democratic purpose at the basis of its government, and the future appears likely to see an enlarging rather than a diminution of these activities.

Canons of Journalism

The following code of journalistic ethics was adopted by the National Association of Newspaper Editors at its meeting in Washington last week. The association is composed of editors and managing editors of 80 per cent of the daily newspapers in the cities of the United States of more than 100,000 inhabitants.

—The Editor.

The primary function of newspapers is to communicate to the human race what its members do, feel, and think. Journalism, therefore, demands of its practitioners the widest range of intelligence, of knowledge, and of experience, as well as natural and trained powers of observation and reasoning. To its opportunities as a chronicle are indissolubly linked its obligations as teacher and interpreter.

To the end of finding some means of codifying sound practice and just aspirations of American journalism these canons are set forth:

I. Responsibility—The right of a newspaper to attract and hold readers is restricted by nothing but considerations of public welfare. The use of a newspaper makes of the share of public attention it gains serves to determine its sense of responsibility, which it shares with every member of its staff. A journalist who uses his power for any selfish or otherwise unworthy purpose is faithless to a high trust.

II. Freedom of the Press—Freedom of the press is to be guarded as a vital right of mankind. It is the unquestionable right to discuss whatever is not explicitly forbidden by law, including the wisdom of any restrictive statute.

III. Independence—Freedom from all obligations except that of fidelity to the public interest is vital.

1. Promotion of any private interest contrary to the general welfare, for whatever reason, is not compatible with honest journalism.

IV. Sincerity, Truthfulness, Accuracy—Good faith with the reader is the foundation of all journalism worthy of the name.

1. By every consideration of good faith a newspaper is constrained to be truthful. It is not to be excused for lack of thoroughness or accuracy within its control or failure to obtain command of these essential qualities.

2. Headlines should be fully warranted by the contents of the articles which they surmount.

V. Impartiality—Sound practice makes clear distinction between news reports and expressions of opinion. News reports should be free from opinion or bias of any kind.

1. This rule does not apply to so-called special articles unmistakably devoted to advocacy or characterized by a signature authorizing the writer's own conclusions and interpretations.

VI. Fair Play—A newspaper should not publish unofficial charges affecting reputation or moral character without opportunity given to the accused to be heard; right practice demands the giving of such opportunity in all cases of serious accusation outside judicial proceedings.

1. A newspaper should not invade private rights or feelings without sure warrant of public right as distinguished from public curiosity.

So-called news communications from private sources should not be published without public notice of their source or else substantiation of their claims to value as news, both in form and substance.

2. Partisanship in editorial comment which knowingly departs from the truth, does violence to the best spirit of American journalism; in the news columns it is subversive of a fundamental principle of the profession.

IV. Sincerity, Truthfulness, Accuracy—Good faith with the reader is the foundation of all journalism worthy of the name.

1. By every consideration of good faith a newspaper is constrained to be truthful. It is not to be excused for lack of thoroughness or accuracy within its control or failure to obtain command of these essential qualities.

2. Headlines should be fully warranted by the contents of the articles which they surmount.

V. Impartiality—Sound practice makes clear distinction between news reports and expressions of opinion. News reports should be free from opinion or bias of any kind.

1. This rule does not apply to so-called special articles unmistakably devoted to advocacy or characterized by a signature authorizing the writer's own conclusions and interpretations.

ASSEMBLY TIES ON WET ISSUE

Schmidt Charges Prescott
With Intent to Divert
Progressives

The Frank Prescott resolution calling upon Senator La Follette to take action in the United States senate to have the Volstead act changed to bring back beer was beaten this morning in the assembly by a tie vote, 41 to 41.

It was charged on the floor by Assemblyman Schmidt of Clarke county that the intent of the resolution was to divert the progressive members of the legislature from the main economic issues of the session, upon which the progressives had built their platform pledges. Prescott was supported in the last campaign by the Committee of 44. Even "wet" members of the assembly, seeing through the scheme, this morning went on record against the resolution.

When the resolution was introduced, Assemblyman Peterson offered an amendment asking that the resolution be directed not only to Senator La Follette but to every member of the United States Congress. This amendment was adopted by a vote of 54 to 28. Assemblyman J. C. Hanson then moved the indefinite postponement of the resolution as amended. This was lost by a vote of 40 to 40.

A motion was then made for the adoption of the Prescott resolution as amended. This was the crucial vote, and the motion was lost by 41 to 41.

"The purpose of this resolution is plain," said Assemblyman Prescott. "We want to find out where Senator La Follette really stands on the wet and dry question. He is dry in some parts of Wisconsin and wet in others. He is dry when he campaigns in North Dakota. We know where Lenroot stands. He is as dry as the Sahara. We don't know where La Follette stands, ten of his followers in the state senate voted dry recently."

"I voted for La Follette and Blaine because I could not vote for Ganfield and Morgan because they were dry."

STORM DAMAGES EX-LIFE LAUNCH CARDINAL HERE

The Cardinal, predecessor of Captain Isabel's namesake, was driven on the rocks along the shore back of the Sigma Chi house during the storm early yesterday morning.

The huge power boat had been fastened to a buoy about a block out in the lake, near the boathouse. About two o'clock yesterday morning, it broke away from the ropes which held it to the buoy, and was carried by the strong wind and waves to the shore, where it was found this morning.

"The damage is not great," said Captain Isabel yesterday afternoon. "She's full of water, and the propeller and shaft may have suffered. It would have been better, though, if she had been in the boathouse," he added, smiling.

The water will be baled out from the boat as soon as the storm abates, and necessary repairs will be made immediately, according to the captain.

This meeting will be open to all of the women who are interested in outdoor sports and who would be interested in spending the week-end at Devil's lake as well as the members of the organization.

Plans now are to leave Friday afternoon and to return sometime Sunday afternoon, although arrangements could be made for spending part of the time only. A cottage on the lake is rented for the women who go, and provisions are brought for all of the cooking during the time that the party is there. Sunday there will be a special boat trip up through the Dells.

Helen Kingsford '24, who was in charge of the party last year, and Esther Bilstad '24 will both give short talks explaining more about the house party and what has been done other years. Snapshots taken there last year will be shown.

Anyone who is interested and cannot attend the meeting should call Anita Haven, B. 350, in regard to signing up for it.

Senator Huber Attacks
Sachtjen In Talk In The Senate

The senate again today laid over for one week consideration of the Sachtjen bill restricting the search and seizure clause of the Severson prohibition enforcement act. This action was taken after a substitute amendment had been offered by Senator Theodore Benfey, Sheboygan.

The Benfey amendment would take fewer teeth out of the Severson law than the Sachtjen bill. It removes many of the detailed enforcement requirements incorporated in the Sachtjen measure.

Senator Henry Huber in talking on those behind the bill were working to "bring the prohibition amendment into disrepute." He declared that it was "political bunk" to say that there was a demand for restriction of the enforcement provisions of the Severson law.

Senator Huber said: "As far back as I can remember the liquor question has been before every session of the legislature."

"It has divided progressives; it has divided conservatives. The only faction or party which has stood as a unit on this question is the Socialist party."

"The liquor question has divided factions and parties on other important questions at former sessions of the legislature."

"I want to take this opportunity to congratulate my progressive colleagues in the senate. While we are divided on this question we have stood together on most of the important progressive legislation coming before this session."

"We have passed our platform pledges—the secrecy clause, the initiative and referendum, elective recall, and appointive recall, so there is only one other important platform pledge for us to redeem at this session of the legislature, namely, the tax question, and I have no doubt we will be able to get a tax measure through at this session which will be an improvement over our present system of taxation."

WOMEN STUDENTS MAY USE BLACKHAWK

Women students may now play golf on the links of the Blackhawk Golf club for $1 a day on any day except Saturday or Sunday, the women's physical education department announced yesterday.

Cards may be obtained at Petrie's Sporting Goods shop or from Mr. Grady at the University Co-op. The fees of $1 will be paid the day of playing on the links.

A new indoor driving apparatus has been erected on fifth floor Lathrop and all university women may use it for practicing their strokes.

No credit will be given for the golfing at the Blackhawk grounds because it is now so late in the spring sport season.

CANONS OF JOURNALISM

2. It is the privilege, as it is the duty, of a newspaper to make prompt and complete correction of its own serious mistakes of fact or opinion, whatever their origin.

VII.

Decency—A newspaper cannot escape conviction of insincerity if while professing high moral purpose it supplies incentive to base conduct such as are to be found in details of crime and vice, publication of which is demonstrably for the general good. Lacking authority to enforce its canons, the journalism here represented can but express the hope that deliberate pandering to vicious instincts will encounter effective public disapproval or yield to the influence of a preponderant professional condemnation.

Severe Storm May Injure Fruit and Garden Plants

No warm weather is in sight before tomorrow according to Mr. Miller. The temperature has ranged below the freezing point for the 24 hours ending at 8 a. m. today. It was 31 above at 7 p. m. Tuesday and had dropped one degree by 6 a. m. today. * * *

It will continue cold today, though fair skies will bring the mercury up slowly and by Thursday afternoon the weather man will be prepared to resume the spring schedule. * * *

Only six times since 1884 has Madison had snow flurries at this date or later. Once, May 10, 1907, snow covered the ground. * * *

Two sets of poles at the end of the Alpha Tau Omega pier were washed away by the waves. Captain Isabel said that the waves were not any stronger than during most storms but a pretty strong gale was blowing off the lake. He added that since the poles of the A. T. O. pier were newly driven they probably were not very strong, and the waves need not have been extra ordinarily heavy to break them down. * * *

"The White Cap" a motor boat owned by James Stevens sank last night off the university boat house pier. The boat was tied to the pier, but during the night it filled with water and sank. * * *

When the lake gets lower it will be able to see whether or not it will pay to raise the boat. Several boats a season are regularly lost because they have not been properly moored. * * *

One of the most severe May snowstorms in Madison's history swept over this city on Tuesday, bringing with it a strong wintry gale and an abundance of snow and sleet. Toward midnight last night the storm reached the proportions of a blizzard. The storm is reported general throughout the Middle West. * * *

While the storm was not severe enough to cause damage to railroads or telegraph lines, the fruit trees and small garden plants will likely suffer, according to Eric R. Miller, meteorologist at the United States weather bureau, North hall. * * *

"Beans and tomatoes, which were up above the ground, are about dead," Mr. Miller reports. "The damage to fruit trees will not be known until later in the day after the sun has had a chance to shine on them during the day." * * *

"Considerable harm may have come to fruit trees in the southern part of the state," said C. P. Norford, commissioner of agriculture. "Cherry, apple, crabapple and plum trees, which have begun to bloom in some portions of the state, were undoubtedly nipped by the cold wave. Just what the extent of this damage cannot yet be told. * * *

"Alfalfa and sweet clover may also be affected," he said. "We are fortunate in not having an early spring. The delayed arrival of warm weather has prevented crops from getting under way. * * *

Up in Mable's Room at Orph is big mixup

Everything would have been all right, because, as a matter of fact, it was perfectly harmless present Garry made, if Mable hadn't appeared at an inauspicious moment after Garry's wedding, and refused his gift when he asked for it; fearful of what might happen should his jealous better half learn the truth. * * *

This is the starting point of the farce comedy "Up in Mabel's Room" originally presented by A. H. Woods with John Cumberland in the role of Garry which is the special attraction all this week at the Orpheum theater. The frantic efforts of Garry to secure his gift to Mabel, the stubbornness of the young lady in refusing to oblige him, the stupidity of his associates in their effort to assist him, all tend to work to the end of limitless fun. * * *

"Up in Mabel's Room" will close after two performances Saturday to be followed Sunday Matinee by "East Is West" which ranks as one of the greatest successes that the American stage has ever known. Written by Samuel Shipman and John B. Hymer, is was originally produced by William Harris, Jr., and directed by Lester Lonergan, one of the most famous of the New York directors. It ran for two years at the Astor Theater on Broadway and afterwards was presented in London, England. Fay Bainter, in the role of Ming Toy, gained an undying reputation. * * *

The Dorothy La Vern Stock Company will present this production to the exactness of the original company. Seats are now on sale and orders should be placed well in advance in order to insure the seating that are desired. * * *

KIKMI GIRLS PUT
FOLLIES IN SHADEU. W. Haresfoot Comedy
Captures Hearts of Milwaukeeans

By CATHERINE PANNILL MEAD.

It is to be doubted that the Messrs. Shubert, of somewhat local fame in the city of New York, have ever staged a revue that could in any way compare with the gorgeous production, "Kikmi," which was put on at the Pabst theater Thursday night by the Haresfoot club of the University of Wisconsin.

Certainly neither the Shuberts nor Mr. Zeigfeld ever presented so remarkable an aggregation of beautiful girls nor one which appeared with complete sangfroid in costumes the brevity of which would supply sufficient wit to outfit another revue. An audience which practically filled the Pabst had the time of its life, and guesses were freely made as to the common or garden name of the show girls and the pony ballet.

Costumes of gorgeous colors and fabrics that were perfect down to the slippers and knickers which were occasionally displayed with entire modesty by the dainty demoiselles, splendid settings and a tuneful score with a book that had quite as good material as the regular follies proved that these young collegians are prepared to give the commercial theater a run for its thousands.

Lovely Leading Ladies.

Everything that goes to make up a genuine musical comedy was provided, to an oriental fashion parade, in which the lovely ladies reproduced, to the delight of their admiring friends, even the walk that is peculiar to that form of display. Such an array of bare backs, gauzy trousers and dainty, undraped tootsies hasn't been seen since the Russian ballet presented "Scheharazade," and the result brought peals of laughter from the attentive house that never missed a point the entire evening.

The leading ladies, Isabel (Porter P. Butts), Kikmi (Hubert F. Townsend), and Hushie McTush (Thomas McLean), were marvels of engaging innocence and perfect feminine beauty. Such makeup hasn't before been seen, even in the Haresfoot productions. It was just too wonderful to see these lovely girls dance onto the stage and then burst into hoarse bass or tenor song, that sent every one into fits of laughter. It was probably only the weeks of rehearsing that made it possible for them to look at one another without joining in the fun.

Even Hit at Tut.

Russell J. Irish, who in his leisure moments plays end on the football team, appeared as the sheik; Harold C. Buell was Philip Morris; Thomas W. Morony, Ernest, and T. Faxon Hall, the lively crew of the "Imbecili." Each one did his utmost to aid in the success of the show. There was a fine jazz orchestra, and hits upon all the latest modern events, such as Cote; a "Dance of Tut," splendidly done by Frederick Baker, and all the other trimmings to "make it snappy."

The book was by Henry Scott Rubel, music by Cecil D. Brodt, Elliot Gilmore and Willard Sumner. The entire production was excellently staged and produced by E. Mortimer Shuter. Some of the catchy numbers were: "Day Dreams," "My Armenian Garden," "The Hour of Prayer," "Day by Day," "Just a Little Hint," and "Leave Me Bee." The dancing to all the numbers would have done credit to experts, and the lighting effects by Edward Spranger were entirely professional in their excellence.

APRIL 10, 1923Men in Feminine Roles of
U. of W. Play Win Applause

Bits of beauty, snatches of not too obvious burlesque, captivating choruses, a dance orchestra of talent and dash, and withal an almost perfect illusion in feminine roles—such is the achievement of the Haresfoot club of the University of Wisconsin in its silver-anniversary production, "Kikmi," which appeared at the Aryan Grotto theater last night.

An enthusiastic audience testified to the effectiveness of a show in which every "chorus girl" could be a "pony," without resorting to horse play, in which the music was melodious and pleasing and the cast added some real histrionic ability to a charming appearance.

Porter Butts as the ingenue was deliciously innocent, flirtatious and feminine. Hubert Townsend, the dancing "vamp," again proved claim to his title of "the most attractive girl on the campus." "Rue" Irish, football end, sang three notes lower in his sheik song than any one had expected, and Art Platten, giant varsity tackle, blustered heartily as the first mate.

The loose-jointed, versatile "crew" in the person of T. Faxon Hall, shook and stuttered as convincingly as the famous gab of "Sweetheart Shop," and Tom Moroney and "Bud" Buell, in masculine roles, were pleasing of voice and personality.

Bits of unexpected enthrallment were wafted with the incense of the temple scene by the beauty of Joel Swenson's tenor voice singing the chant to Allah. But to the orchestra and the chorus must go the bulk of the praise.

In the Chicago performance "Kikmi" illustrated what excellent work a college club, with professional coaching and hard work, can do by way of amusing a crowd somewhat removed from the campus atmosphere and accustomed to professional entertainers.

Point System Discussed By Deans Convened at Purdue

That much more is gained in universities in regard to such matters as the liquor question and other questions by gaining the co-operation of the fraternities than by rigid rules made by the faculty, is the conclusion of the various deans at the conference for Dean of Men at Purdue university last week.

The problems of fraternity discipline was one of the problems discussed at the meeting, S. H. Goodnight, Wisconsin, Dean of Men, leading the discussion.

"The question of the point system was raised," Dean Goodnight said yesterday, "and there was some discussion as to whether or not such a system would be good for all universities, but the opinion of the majority was that the system is cumbersome. The practicability of the system was questioned, although all present felt that the aim was good."

"I quite agree with this decision and feel that some system is necessary, but I feel that while it might help some students to get better grades, I feel that the point system would not be fair to the many students who are capable of taking prominent parts in extra curricula activities, and are still able to get good grades."

There were many new men at the convention, men who have but recently been appointed deans, according to Goodnight. Several extra sessions were held for the benefit of these men.

"We all feel that we got a great deal out of the conference," Dean Goodnight said, "and we found it interesting."

This was the fifth annual conference of Deans and advisors of men. The next convention will be held in March next year at the University of Michigan. Dean Bursley of Michigan was elected president of the convention.

FIVE CARS LOST IN $3,500 FIRE

Fire damage estimated at $3,500 was caused by a blaze of unknown origin which swept the two small garage buildings at the rear of 1330 Williamson street at 1 o'clock this morning.

Loss of five cars stored in the two small buildings caused the greatest loss. The buildings which are owned by Charles Marks are valued at $500.

The cars lost in the blaze included a Dodge touring car owned by V. Shepard, a Ford roadster owned by William Fog, an Overland touring owned by H. Hastings, a Buick delivery truck owned by the Schaub Electric Company, and a Ford coupe owned by John Hussey.

Appointment of U. W. Grad as Ag Commissioner Urged

Mr. Jones is a very prominent farmer and leader in farm movements in Racine county. He also is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin law school and is an attorney.

CHARGES SCOTT ENDED SEARCH

N. W. Varsity Head Barred Mount Investigation, Mills Charges

CHICAGO—J. Allen Mills, former student at Northwestern university, was brought from Akron, O., to Chicago to testify at the grand jury inquiry into the death of Leighton Mount, who disappeared following a class rush and whose skeleton was found beneath a Lake Michigan pier. Mills was president of the 1921 class at the university of which Mount was a member. Although admitting he took a leading part in the clash, he denied all knowledge of Mount's death, declaring that he had never met him under any circumstances in his life.

"I was one of the leaders of the freshman class of 1921, and on the night of Sept. 21 I took part in ducking several of the sophomores."

"Then men were bound in such a manner that they could easily free themselves. After that I went to bed. The next morning we heard of Mount's disappearance. Three of us, leaders in our classes, went to call on President Walter Dill Scott and urged him to make an investigation. Later President Scott called me in and said he wanted further investigation discontinued."

"We thought that maybe Mount had been taken out of town by newspaper reporters. A newspaper reporter offered me money if I would throw a sophomore in the fountain in the square so that he could take his picture."

Mills said that he had come to Chicago willingly to testify, although told by attorneys employed by his father that he need not do so, and that he could not be extradited.

Bill Would Permit Extension Of F.P. Lab

NEW $1,400,000 HOSPITAL TO BE SEVEN STORIES

Building to Take Over a Year

Whenever another story is added to the new Wisconsin hospital, everybody decides that that is going to be the last. Those who thought the fifth floor would be the top story have another guess coming. There will be seven stories, including the basement, and a roof garden.

The hospital, which will cost $1,400,000 will not be finished for more than a year. The completed building is planned to be in harmony with the other buildings of the campus. The exterior will be of Bedford stone, with a base of Missouri marble. The main entrance of the hospital is on University avenue.

One-fifth Mile Around

Most of the space marked by Warren and Carter streets, University avenue, and Linden drive will be occupied by the hospital. The building will be one fifth of a mile around. In case of need for further expansion, it is so planned that the campus can be tunneled through to take patients to the other medic buildings.

Glassed-in sun parlors will be at the ends of the east and west wings on every floor. The roof garden over the sixth floor will be partly covered by awning for patients requiring open air treatment. The rear part of it will be enclosed to form a roof-house for use in bad weather.

Medics, who will make use of the hospital as a school, will watch operations through a glass ceiling. The two main operating rooms which will have a double gallery will be glassed over.

To Have 300 Rooms

Three hundred rooms will be the capacity of the hospital. There will be 12 large wards in the east and west wings. Each one of these alone occupies half a wing. Floor lights in the center of these wards will be part of the modern hospital lighting system. The floor lamps are like those at street intersections, so made to prevent glare.

The building is the only one on the campus, with the exception of Chadbourn and Barnard halls, to have elevators. Three elevators will be installed.

The entire hospital with its psychiatric wards, its special diet kitchen, its solariums, will have all the most modern hospital improvements.

R. C. Richards, general claim agent for the Northwestern road, at Chicago, will resign from that position June 1, it was announced today. He will be succeeded by Frank J. Wenter, former general claim agent of the Chicago, Minneapolis and Omaha road, St. Paul.

Nakoma Country Club is Being Planned For Madison

Another new country club is being planned for Madison.

The Nakoma Country club will be the name of the new organization. It is proposed to have the club building and course near Nakoma in what is known as the northwest quarter of section 33 of the town of Madison.

Applications for membership are now being circulated. The membership fee is to be $100.

M'DOWELL WILL ADDRESS CONVO

Washington Bishop to Give Lecture in Gymnasium Tonight

William F. McDowell, resident bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church at Washington, D. C., who will talk at the men's gymnasium in the last religious convocation of the year tonight, arrives in town at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon. He will leave on the sleeper after the meeting to continue his work at Chicago university where he is conducting a religious convocation.

Although Bishop McDowell's stay in the city will be short, it will be his first in the past five years, and as such is being anticipated by many people in the city and surrounding places.

A 6 o'clock dinner at Wesley Foundation has been planned at which the Methodist clergy of the city and all Methodist student officials will be present with Bishop McDowell as the guest of honor.

After the dinner, Bishop McDowell will speak on "The World From Washington," in the men's gymnasium.

The Campus Religious council made arrangements with Dean Shaller Mathews of Chicago university to bring Bishop McDowell here.

For the last twelve years Bishop McDowell has been president of the board of education in the Methodist church, a board which has under its supervision more than 50 schools scattered over the United States.

The privilege of giving the last lecture at the yearly Y. M. C. A. conference held at Lake Geneva has been given Bishop McDowell for the last 26 years. For the last 15 years he has held six-day convocations at both Harvard and Yale.

NEW HOTEL TO BE BUILT HERE

Walter Schroeder Holds Conference And Announces Change From

The new Black Hawk hotel to be built here by Walter Schroeder of Milwaukee will cost $1,500,000 instead of $1,000,000 as originally planned and will have 380 rooms instead of 260 rooms.

This was the announcement made here this morning by Walter Schroeder of Milwaukee following a conference held at the Madison club last night. Mr. Schroeder and his associate, H. O. Wood, Milwaukee, went over the proposed plans with local people.

A change in the law limiting the height of buildings about the capitol may be asked, it was intimated today by Mr. Wood. Piper Bros., who are to build another hotel, have already started action against the law which limits the height of buildings.

"We are laying a foundation which will bear a 12-story building, and when the time for taking out a building permit comes, we shall ask for the maximum," Mr. Wood said. "We can build an eight story hotel under the law which limits the height of buildings to 100 feet, but if we can go up to 150 feet we shall build a 12-story one."

An eight story hotel, with 260 rooms, would cost fully $1,000,000, Mr. Wood declared, while a 12-story structure, to house 380 rooms, would add an additional $500,000 to the cost of the construction.
