HALLS FOR MEN

THE
DORM DWELLER

1939

Magazines and a radio supply relaxation before an evening of study

The spring formal becomes a reality after weeks of planning and waiting

An important issue is discussed by the Men's Dormitory Council

Every Monday night the Dorm Dweller staff puts another issue "to bed"

Here's competition. A summer canoe race on Lake Mendota

Residents entertain their dates at a Party in the Pine Room

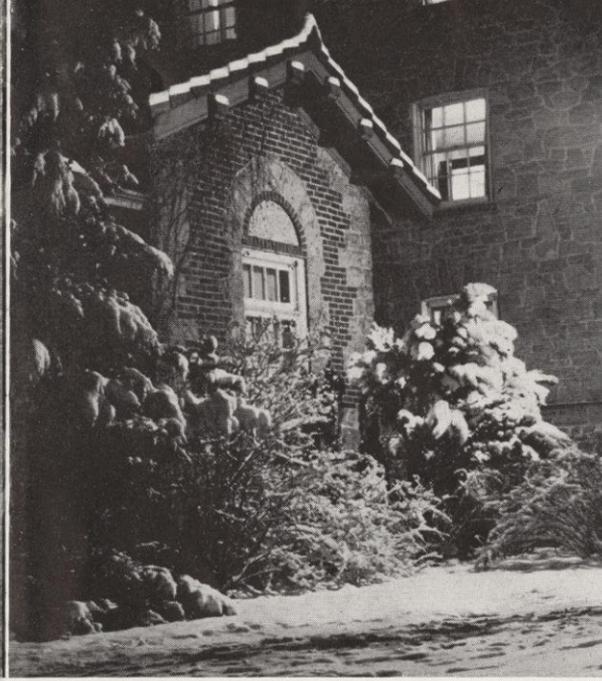

Engineers constantly make good use of their trusty slide-rules

Everything adds to the atmosphere of the Bowery Party

Administration: the constitutional committee of the Council

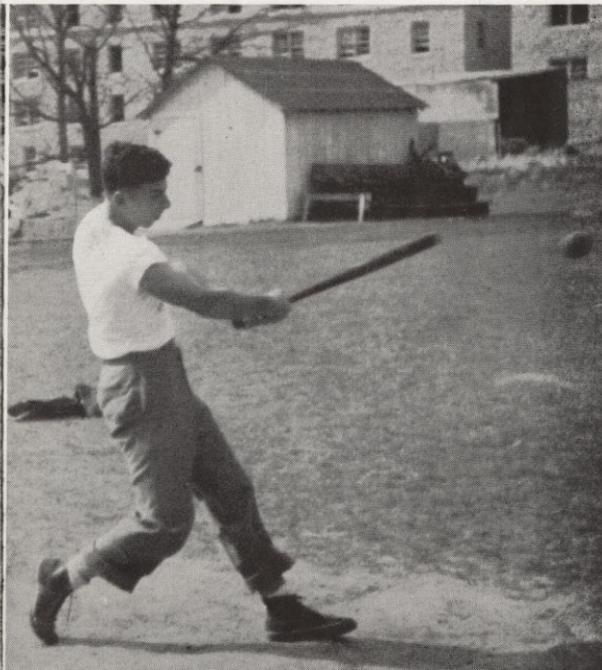

View: Adams gatehouse after a spring snowfall

W LIFE AT THE DORMS W

Work: student workers in the dish-room of the refectory

Play: a hard hit line drive

A sharp shooter takes advantage of the rifle range

Short orders are filled by Pine Room workers

The Dorm Library affords opportunity for study and enjoyment

They're off: in one of the dorm swim races

"Two?" says a waiter to one of the fairer sex at the Bowery Party

A popular fellow, this chef, and everyone knows why

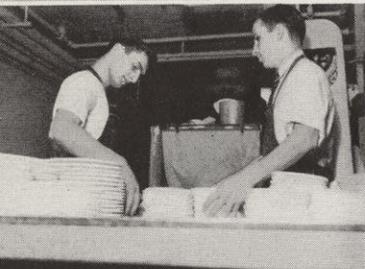

Any necessity can be had at the Dorm Store

The night watchman is not the only one who stays up late

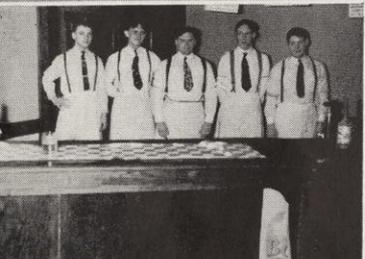

Bar-bell members line up for a picture in their clubroom

Two of the boys who work a few hours a day in the kitchen for their meals

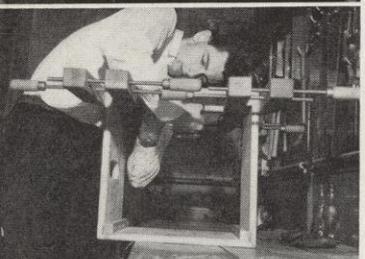

Getting a date is easy, but "fixing" two "blind" dates is something

Bowery waiters pause a moment to have their pictures taken

Checkmate? Not quite: a game of Chess before studying proves interesting

A resident makes valuable use of the dormitory workshop

The den in Botkin House, like any den, is a popular place

Adams and Tripp Halls

The new halls
