ATHENA IS FOR LABOR UNIONS FOR TEACHERS

Agric, Hesperia, and Philo-mathia Literary Societies
Hold Regular Meeting Last Night

That the organization of the teaching profession into labor unions would be for the public interest was successfully debated by the affirmative before the meeting of the Athena Literary society held in 401 Bascom hall last night. The decision was 4 to 1 in favor of organization.

The purpose of the union would be merely to get publicity for the present conditions in the profession, said the affirmative speakers. Teachers receive comparatively low salaries when their mission to society is considered, for they guide the thought of the next generation.

Strikes Not Considered

Promotion of strikes or affiliation with the American Federation of Labor would not be considered by the teacher's organization, according to the affirmative.

That the union would exist merely for monetary gain was the principal contention of the negative. If such an ideal were predominant among those moulding the thought of the young people, it would be decidedly degrading, both to the profession and to the school children of the United States.

Discuss China's Position

The affirmative was supported by H. W. Blake '25, L. H. Michvicka '25, and T. Noumacher '24. Negative speakers were B. Monfried '23, Max Brill '25, and E. B. Perry '24.

China's position at the Disarmament conference was discussed by D. R. Jones '23, who emphasized the necessity of settling Chinese questions if the conference is to be successful. S. S. Jordon '22 spoke on an open forum at Wisconsin.

DISPLAY RIBBONS OF PRIZE WINNERS

The ribbons awarded to the University of Wisconsin is exhibiting prize winning animals at the International Fat Stock show are on display in Agricultural hall. Thirty-two prizes were won.

Twenty-seven of the prizes were won by Prof. Frank Kleinheinz for exhibiting sheep. Professor Kleinheinz has taken more prizes at sheep shows than any other exhibitor. During his career as a showman, his total cash prizes amounted to more than $20,000. Last year, Professor Kleinheinz won 20 ribbons for the university.

The other ribbons in the display were awarded for showing horses. First, second, fourth, sixth, and eighth prizes were awarded to the university in the horse classes.

Vodvil Program Hits High Spots In a Clever and Amusing Bill

By WALTER K. SCHWENN

Of the numberless shows put on by university talent during the course of the year, Union Vodvil is, perhaps, the chummiest and most intimate performance of them all. It is primarily a student show, and the spirit of camaraderie existing between actors and audience is one of the first reasons for its immense success. Everyone knows everyone else, and everyone does their level best to put the show across. What matters, then, if the curtain catches a team in the midst of a bow; or if a stray spotlight shows an unexpected "prop" bringing on a fern?

The 1921 Union Vodvil is by far the best I have seen within a period of four years. That is, the entire program is the best-balanced and most successful of any previous Vodvil; whether or not the individual acts surpass those of former years is debatable, but the net effect is much more pleasing and satisfactory. But to our muttons:

A. Union Vodvil Orchestra

Under the direction of "Bill" Sumner, and "Cece" Brodt '22, the orchestra did some excellent work, both in their intermission numbers and in their accompanying of the various acts. "Bill" carried on the necessary repartee with the actors in good fashion, whenever called upon for a statement, and his dexterity in flitting from stage to pit was remarkable. He kept one guessing where he'd show up next.

B. Talee Talee Talee

The opening act was very satisfactory, with the Alpha Gamma Rhos peddling liniment to those who needed it. Plenty of hoakum, and good natured ribaldry.

C. "Oh! Gee!"

Three of the most pleasing personalities on the bill. The Butts Brothers, Port and Bob, sang and danced with unusual ease and dexterity, while Dot Cramer at the piano looked, played, and sang very well. The closing song was put over with much verve, and made us ask for more.

D. The Power of Music

What music can do, illustrated by the Kappa Alpha Thetas. "Milly" Miller's pantomime was very, very funny; the young lady has a taking way with her.

E. "Bill" Purnell

Purnell slip up a few notches in the program, and with Sumner at the piano, had us gagged and bound (Continued on page 10.)

Bashful Jimmie Refuses To Name 1923 Prom Queen

"Hello, Jimmie, I just called to ask you who is going to be Prom Queen?"—her voice rippled sweetly over the wires.

"Why—gosh—that's just what the last girl wanted to know," stammered the perturbed "Celeb." "You know I'd give a million, if I knew myself."

She hung up. "They certainly have a good line—these Prom chairmen," she reflected. "Mighty funny that no one can even locate the dominion of the Queen. Is it Langdon street, or 'sorority alley?' Will she wear a key, a signboard, an arrow, or some variety of triangle? Maybe soon she'll be wearing a Beta badge."

She looked at her own jeweled pin; she'd much rather go with Bill, anyway.

"Say, Jimmie, old man, it's about time you did something definite about the Prom queen," suggested one curious brother, as he helped himself to one of "Jimmie's" Omars—rather prevalent these days.

"I don't want to ask her before Christmas—might necessitate a Christmas present, you know," grinned "ye honorable chairman."

"Of course, we fellows don't care, but the girls are so blamed curious," came the nonchalant reply.

So it goes. This is the Prom of "mystery queens."

"Who's 'Jutes' Lunney planning to ask?"

"Dunno."

"How 'bout George Geiger?"

"Dunno."

"And 'Art' Trost?"

Well, nobody around here knows anything—do you?

VANDERLIP MAY TALK HERE ON STUDENT FUND

Preparations Are Completed for Opening of Friendship Drive
Sunday — Kuehl's
Statement

Frank A. Vanderlip, just returned from a survey of Europe, will probably be here in Madison next week to speak to the students of the university on the Student Friendship fund. This announcement was made yesterday afternoon by Frank W. Kuehl '21, general chairman of the drive on the campus, after word had been received from the national headquarters.

In case Mr. Vanderlip is unable to speak here, David Jayne Hill may be secured in his place.

Is Preparing Book

Mr. Vanderlip has made a careful study of the conditions of Europe and is now preparing a book dealing with Europe's financial condition. In this survey he has taken special note of the conditions of the students, and it is because of his belief that without outside aid the institutions of learning will collapse that he is backing the Friendship fund.

All preparations have been made for the opening of the drive Sunday morning, through careful organization by the committees in charge. The faculty is giving the students its firm support and co-operation. Contributions will come chiefly through organizations, but the finance committee will place barrels on the hill and individual gifts may be dropped at any time.

Four-Minute Men to Speak

Four-minute speakers will present the purpose of the Student Friendship fund in the theaters. If possible, the Athletic department (Continued on Page 11)

QUESTION SHEETS ARE DUE DEC. 14

Reports from the survey of student life, which is being conducted by the Commerce magazine, show that 1,200 filled-out questionnaires have been received by the committee in charge. Approximately 2,800 additional question sheets are in student hands now, and 3,000 more will be distributed by the end of the week.

This student examination, which is to determine the life and interests of the typical student, promises to be one of the largest ever conducted in the country. All reports must be in by 9 o'clock Wednesday evening, Dec. 14.

The distribution staff has not been able to keep up with the demand. To facilitate matters questionnaires have been left at Lathrop hall, the Y. M. C. A. desk, library desk, registrar's office, bursar's office, Sterling hall, and the University pharmacy. The questionnaires, when filled out, should be left in the ballot box inside the University pharmacy.

NO ADMITTANCE DURING PROGRESS OF GAME

THE French club was having its picture taken, and the photographer after several gentlemanly remonstrances, finally lost his patience and burst out, "You people will HAVE to crowd closer together."

"Say, do you think this is the Press club?" one of the French wits retorted.

WELL, the fuzzer's guides are out. As someone said the other day, "They have missed their purpose for this semester, at least. There were three girls whose phone numbers we had lost, and when we called them up with the aid of the directory, they had forgotten us."

IN other words, if they intend to keep this a co-educational institution, they oughtn't to frustrate the plans of well-meaning students in that direction.

BUT while we are on the subject of the directory, we might as well put in a contrib which was also inspired by that great work of literature. True, 'tis an old idea, but it offers an admirable space-filler.

The Pope predicted a Flood which would come with great Eddys, and with Hale and Showers to destroy Field and Hill and Heath. A Young Mann, who was none other than a Baker, with a Brown Beard, whose Hart had conquered his Head, gave a Shout of Payne when he heard this sad prophecy, and, as he said Below the Beans and Beaublossoms, the Weeds and Oyster-plants exclaimed, "Oh, Shaw! would that I had been Sharp and Wise, and never bought that doggone Diamond!"

Conditions Among French Students Are Most Severe

Miss Marlatt Describes Hardships Met by Foreign Scholars

"Wearing pieces of carpet tied on their feet, often eating only one meal daily, and sleeping on boards are conditions under which many of the French students are trying to get their education," declared Miss Abby L. Marlatt, director of the course in home economics, in her talk on the spirit of the student Friendship fund before the women's Commerce club at Lathrop hall Thursday evening.

"It is not only the depreciation of the value of money that the European students must face, but also the fact that there is no work to be had, which increases the need for help from students of other nations," she continued.

The purpose of the fund being raised here as a gift to suffering foreign students is to provide money for food and clothing for those European students who have already matriculated so that they may complete their education, Miss Marlatt explained.

"In our educational world we want to see that everyone has a fighting chance. We need to get outside of ourselves and see what the other person is trying to achieve and what his achievement means in the progress of civilization."

The European students, even though they are suffering all sorts of hardships, could not be induced to accept charity. However, this will not affect the success of the Friendship fund.

"This isn't charity; it is the gift of friend to friend, and from heart to heart," said Miss Marlatt, in closing.

The time is coming and When it does, Oh, Boys, Look out for the Ladies!

THE intermission proved as popular with the audience last evening at Union Vodvil as any of the other acts. You see, it was the first opportunity offered them to do a little talking on their own hook.

"This is the way to make an impression on the campus," said the student, as he walked through the mud in front of Bascom hall.

Mrs. Hooper Says Women Can Best Make World Peace

That world peace must be accomplished through the women was the essence of a talk delivered by Mrs. Benjamin Hooper, president of the Wisconsin League of Women voters, recently, in the S. G. A. room at Lathrop hall.

"Women and especially members of the League of Women voters are especially adapted to do this work since they have no political affiliations," said Mrs. Hooper.

Because the men react more or less to the spirit of war, it is up to the women to take the initiative and introduce the spirit of world peace, Mrs. Hooper showed.

"Especially does this responsibility rest with the college women of today," concluded Mrs. Hooper. "Therefore they should form no habits of voting but should use their own judgment."

GREEK LETTER TRACK SQUADS BATTLE TODAY

Annual Interfraternity Meet Held Today in Annex

In the annual inter-fraternity track and field meet to be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the annex, a number of fairly evenly matched cinder squads will fight for the possession of the four cups which are offered as prizes.

The cups will be awarded to the teams winning first, second, and third in the meet, and first in the relay. The relay, which will be a six-man team affair, will be the feature event of the meet.

In order to care for the spectators, the annex bleachers will be set up for the meet. Programs of the events are being printed for the affair, and announcers will keep the spectators informed as to what is going on at all times.

Stars Are Scattered

With the star performers well scattered among the 15 entered teams, the outcome of the meet is hard to predict. Pi Kappa Alpha, winners of the meet last year, have perhaps the best chance of copping the first cup this season. Foremost among their entrants are: D. Jones in the pole vault and the sprints; Newell in the hurdles and the dashes; G. Wade and I. Wade in the quarter and the distance runs, and Scott and Nash in the middle distances.

Sigma Nu, second place winner of the 1920 meet, has a strong team entered this year and stands well to take the first prize. McCandless is one of the best entered in the dashes and middle distances. Tuhtar is a freshman of ability in the hurdles and the jumps. In the inter-class meet last Saturday he did better than 6 feet for a win in the high jump. Frautschi is fairly good in the mile, as is Phillips in the half.

Betas May Spring Surprise

The Betas, who were third last year, do not appear so well this season. They have a number of men of ability entered, however. Woods will enter the shot put and the dashes, Gill the high jump, Nolte the mile, Crane the dashes, and Leiberman and Field the hurdles.

Alpha Gamma Rho has at least three men who are to be feared by their opponents Saturday. Moorhead, in the distance runs, is one of the best entrants of the meet. Callenbach is good at the dashes, and Gibson will hold his own in the shot, the jumps, and the hurdles.

Two of the Theta Delta Chis form the strongest part of that team. D. Gibson and J. Gibson will put up strong arguments for the dashes, hurdles, and jumps. Rewey will undertake the 2-mile, and Yost, the shot and dash.

Phi Caps Have Two Stars

Phi Kappa Sigma has entered two men who have proven stars in former meets. Hilberts in the mile and 2-mile has seldom been beat this fall by non-Varsity men. Schneider is a whirlwind at the hurdles. Sweeney is also a good man in the dash.

Theta Chi has a wonderful distance man in Thieszenhusen. Hart and Daniels also perform well in the dash and hurdles.

Other entrants of note are: Sigma Phi Epsilon, Blumenstein, Otto, and Hamman; Sigma Chi, Holbrook, Pauly, Fourness, Caren, and Barr; Chi Psi, Elsom, Kinnan, Pabst, Wanzer, and Blakeman; Phi Gamma Delta, Ward, Roberts, and Hohlfeld; Theta Xi, Gude, Carlson, Dodge, and Hand; Delta Tau Delta, Hippie, Stegeman, Davies, and Mather; Tau Kappa Epsilon, Rathert, Koch, Smith, and Gallagher;

Varsity and Freshman Track Teams Have Heavy Schedules

Varsity and freshman track squads have a busy season ahead of them, according to the schedule drawn up for them. Preliminary rules for training have been posted by Coach T. E. Jones, of the varsity squad, and the men are already working into their strides. The freshmen are also coming along in fine style under the tutelage of Coach Meade Burke. In their meet last week, they showed what two months of hard work was worth when they easily trimmed the Sophomores.

There is a wealth of material out for varsity and freshman teams this year. However, nothing can be definitely stated regarding the number of men who will be available to the teams until after the eligibility lists have been posted. If all of the men weather the storm and are eligible for the season, the Badger teams should be strong in all departments.

Varsity Meets Iowa

The varsity team will meet Iowa in an outdoor meet this season. This will be the first time that these two teams will have met on the cinder path, and both have exceedingly strong teams. Following this meet, Notre Dame and Wisconsin meet in their annual indoor meet. Two relay carnivals will round out the schedule before the Conference meet is held.

The annual relay carnival held in the annex, and the Drake relay meet will be the two big relay meetings of the year for Badger speedsters. The Drake relay carnival, held at Drake college, is the big relay meet of the West. It will be held on the same day as the Penn relays this season. Southern,

Western and mid-Eastern teams will compete in the meet. The indoor Conference meet will bring the indoor season to a close, and the Drake relays will be the first outdoor meet.

Frosh Meet Minnesota

The freshman team also has several meets scheduled. A telegraphic meet with the yearlings of Minnesota and Iowa will be held, and several other meets are in view for them. Besides these meets, there will be the intercollegiate meet and the meet between the track classes.

Coach Meade Burke predicts a banner year in track, such as has not been experienced for many seasons.

"Instead of having merely Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin dominating the Conference, we have these universities fighting it out with Iowa, Chicago, and Ohio State for the honors. All six of the universities will have strong teams in the field this season, and there is no telling who will come out on top," he said.

Suckers Loom Strong

Illinois seems to have the edge on the Conference teams, and Iowa is threatening to spring another surprise such as she did in the football season just passed. There will be no easy walk-away for any team this year with so many star men entering from the various colleges.

Coach Jones will speak to the varsity and freshman track squads on training and other track matters Tuesday night in the gymnasium. Moving pictures and lantern slides of track events will be shown at this time and Coach Jones will supplement them with remarks.

Badgers Still Hope For Game Against Dakota

Wisconsin is still dickering with North Dakota university for a football game next year. If proper arrangements can be made by athletic departments of the two schools, North Dakota and the Badgers will meet in one of the two preliminary games which are carded.

The Dakota team plays Minnesota in the first game each year. In the last contest the Gophers, using Arnold Oss, were held to an 18 to 0 victory over Dakota.

Efforts of Athletic Director Thomas E. Jones to get Iowa university or Ames for a game were unavailing at the last meeting of Conference athletic coaches. If North Dakota is unable to come to Madison, Ripon, Carleton, and Lawrence will be considered for games.

"We expect to close with Dakota or some other school next week," said Coach Jones yesterday.

Managers of Girls' Teams Are Chosen

Managers of the various classes for girls' basketball this winter were elected at meetings of the classes held Thursday. Helen Barton '22 is the senior manager, Phyllis Tatman '23, the junior manager, and Ethel Mae Smith '24, the sophomore manager. The freshmen will not elect until later.

Squads have not been announced as yet, and great competition is being shown by all those interested in basketball.

Lambda Chi Alpha, Hurley, Powell, and Straka.

The officials for the meet will be: Referee and starter: Meade Burke. Judges: Prof. Taylor, Prof. Miller, Robert Qlick. Timers: Frank Nickerson, Coach Vail, F. J. Nightingale. Manager of the meet: George Stolley.

TWO TEAMS TO PLAY TODAY FOR SOCCER HONORS

Black Circles and Horse Shoes Meet in Decisive Game on Lower Campus

Battling for the university championship, the Black Circles and the Horse Shoes will meet in the final game of the tournament at 2:30 today on the lower campus. A large crowd is expected to watch the contest.

The Black Circles won from the Red Diamonds on Wednesday afternoon by a score of 2 to 1. The Horse Shoes beat the Skull and Cross Bones on Thursday by a score of 4 to 1. Both of these games were very fast and interesting. The game on Wednesday was declared by the referee and by Coach Schlatter to be the best game which has been witnessed in this tournament.

The two teams which are playing this afternoon have each won all the games that they have played. As this is to be the deciding game of the season, it will probably surpass last Wednesday's tilt in point of skill and competition.

The line-up of the teams which are competing in the final game today follows:

Black Circles: Houghton, capt., Bertolet, Verbrick, Crosby, Hoss, Bond, Brusewitz, Noer, F. D. Jones, and Jack Smith.

Horse Shoes: Matteson, capt., Peterson, Sather, Thompson, Viste, Shuman, Klos, Pfeifer, Schaeckel, Gleason, Clemens, Steddom, and Vonder Merve.

The winners of the match this afternoon will be given a week's holiday from gymnasium classes, to take effect next week.

Devine Appoints 2 At University Station

Two skilled laborers were appointed at the University ave. post-office today by Postmaster W. A. Devine, as successful civil service candidates. They are Frank R. E. and William F. Reynolds.

BADGER TEAM MEETS AGGIES IN FIRST GAME

Varsity Five Goes Into Action With Michigan Aggies Tonight

PROBABLE LINEUP

Wisconsin	Michigan
Ceaser	R. E. Heasley
Capt.	Capt.
Taylor	L. F. Gilkey
Gibson	C. Foster
R. Williams	L. G. Fessenden
Tebell	R. G. Matson

The new Badger basketball machine will swing into action at 7:30 tonight with the Michigan Aggies furnishing the opposition.

The invaders will compose one of the strongest fives ever brought here for the initial game of the preliminary season. The Wolverine coach has 10 veteran players, who are of equal ability, and who are capable of giving Meanwell's squad one of the toughest scraps on the schedule. In addition to being much more experienced, the Aggies will be superior to the Badgers in weight.

Badgers Are Unexperienced

In direct contrast, Ceaser and his cohorts are just getting used to each other and to the style of play. The center and back guard positions will be filled by men who have been thoroughly tested in a game, and who may or may not come through.

Doctor Meanwell put the finishing touches on his team at a secret practice yesterday afternoon. The team has had two days to eliminate the mistakes and raggedness which were so apparent in the open practice on Thursday afternoon.

Taylor Plays Well

From the advance notices, it appears that the game will be a case of experience and size pitted against a system of floor work that has rarely failed to net a victory. The Badgers are not heavy, and their shooting, with the exception of Taylor, has not been consistent. But they have the Meanwell style of game well in hand, and this may prove to be too much of a handicap for the invaders.

The care exercised by the athletic authorities in bringing such a high class aggregation here for a preliminary contest should result in a capacity crowd. The opening whistle will be blown promptly at 7:30, and fans coming late will not be admitted until the end of the first half. The doors will be again closed during the second period.

Schommer of Chicago will referee.

Vodvil Performance Postponed

The time of the performance of Union Vodvil tonight has been set at 8:30 to permit basketball fans to attend the game and the show.

Track Squad Holds Regular Workouts

Candidates for the varsity track squad are working out four days each week and will continue this program through the holidays.

"We are stressing eligibility," said Coach Thomas E. Jones yesterday, "and the stiffer practices will not begin until prospective members of the team are sure to be eligible for Conference competition."

In addition to their three days of work in the vault, pole vaulters report to Coach Fred C. Schlatter for work on the horizontal bars. Shot putters work with the medicine and hand ball.

After the Christmas vacation, practice will begin in earnest, with the men going through their paces each night.

$1400 Gem Stolen At Ballingers

Clever Thieves Substitute
Cheap Stone for Valuable Diamond

COUPLE SUSPECTED

Believe Man and Woman Guilty
Of Clever Fraud At Local Store

Perhaps the most daring jewel theft ever perpetrated in Madison was committed Thursday afternoon when a diamond ring, valued at $1,400 was taken from a tray of rings at the W. L. Ballinger jewelry store, W. Main st., and a white sapphire ring, worth about $7, put in its place.

The fraud is believed to have been perpetrated by a couple, man and woman, who came to the store during the afternoon and asked to be shown diamonds of two to two and one-half carat weight. They were shown the diamonds by Karl F. Kastlehner, who has charge of the diamond and repair departments of the store and who has been with the firm for more than a year.

The couple, according to Mr. Kastlehner, looked at a great many rings, but appeared to be satisfied with none of them. They declared that they would look about elsewhere before deciding to buy and left the store. Mr. Kastlehner replaced the trays, and resumed his work. The diamonds were shown a number of times during the afternoon. Replacing a tray later, just before closing, Mr. Kastlehner discovered the fraud. Looking into the center of the ring, one might be deceived into thinking it a diamond, he declared, but a side view immediately revealed the truth.

The ring stolen was a two and one-quarter carat diamond, set in platinum, and surrounded with several tiny diamonds. The theft was reported to the police this morning. Mr. Kastlehner believes that he gave a fairly accurate description of the persons suspected of the crime. The diamonds were not insured and the burglary insurance carried by the firm would not cover such a fraud, it was said today.

AT THE GRAND

No finer tribute to the achievements of that wonderful body of men and women who constitute the Salvation Army has ever been paid by the silent drama than the screen version of "Salvation Nell," and no vance of the motion picture has been put forth than this production which is now running at the Grand.

Pauline Starke, a talented interpreter of emotional parts, has the title role. She is seen as the plucky little Salvation Army lass who, after many vicissitudes, makes the man of her own heart go straight.

Regent In Attack on Board

Kronshage Says State Education Board Hampers Normal Schools

STUDY JUNIOR COLLAGE Committee is Named To Study System and Report Back

Two attacks, several speeches and the passage of a resolution featured the Friday morning session of the conference of state educational boards, which adjourned sine die to meet at the call of Edward A. Fitzpatrick, secretary of the state board of education.

Theodore Kronshage, university regent from Milwaukee, accused the state board of education with failure to co-operate with the normal schools in the matter of appropriations for the increased attendance at these schools. Mr. Kronshage stated that the maintenance and progress of the normals was being seriously hampered by this attitude on the part of the board.

Maj. Fitzpatrick, defending the action of the board on their policy of allotting money claimed that the statutes prohibited them from doing so in instances similar to the one mentioned by the regent.

The second discord came at the close of the morning meeting from Harley Nickerson, representing the State Federation of Labor. The labor man accused the members of the conference with a desire to continue the pleasant relations which he claimed are not helping to better educational conditions that cause 70 per cent of the men of the U. S. to have the equivalent education of a 10 year old child. Mr. Nickerson intimated that the educators were not over anxious to change the "pork barrel" system because their personal ambitions were greater than their desire to teach the children. The unwritten conventions that are maintaining our present system would have to be bettered or the Federation of Labor would inaugurate a campaign to do so with the help of the 250,000 voters it reaches.

Junior colleges were disposed of through a resolution adopted that provides for committees to study the idea and report back to a general conference.

The committee will consist of a representative of the university, one normal school president to be appointed by their body, and one high school principal to be appointed the same way. This committee will report to a body consisting of two normal school regents, two university regents, one member of the state board of education and two members of the state board of vocational education. The value of the report will be ascertained and if sufficient will be given to the general conference.

Dean Reber of the extension division of the university stated that the problem before his department was to continue instruction at long distance.

"We cooperate with the vocational schools whenever possible because our work is somewhat similar to theirs in the sense that we are trying to educate people who have the regular schools forever."

Robert L. Cooley, director of vocational education at Milwaukee, claimed that the continuation schools tried to cooperate with the regular schools in every possible way.

Lieut. Gov. George Comings hoped that the conference would strengthen the weakest links of the school system first.

Farming in this country has become decadent," stated Mr. Comings, "and if conditions in the rural schools and communities are not improved we may have a collapse of civilization at home."

The majority of the educators left for their homes on the noon trains.

Thursday afternoon the conference of state educational boards adopted a resolution offered by Carroll G. Pearse of the Milwaukee Normal school to investigate the one of the normal school presidents to be appointed by the presidents of the schools; a county superintendent of schools and a city superintendent of schools to be appointed by their respective bodies.

The committee will report to a group of two members each of the university regents, normal regents, state board of vocational education, one member of the state board of education and the state superintendent of schools. This group will study the report of the first body and determine if the data secured is of enough value to bring before a general conference of the body to be held in May.

V. A. Henmon, professor of education at the university, probably brought about definite action when he showed the training status of high school teachers in Wisconsin. In this state only 41% of the high school teachers are college graduates compared to a general national average of 65%.

The state's poor showing in educational statistics is caused, according to Prof. Henmon, by (1) the high average of rural population compared to the urban population (2) low salaries prevalent throughout the state (3) low standards established by the state board of education.

Prof. Henmon suggested that conditions might be remedied by introducing a system of paying all teachers on the basis of their training with equal pay for equal training regardless of their teaching residence. Another suggestion was the passage of a law by the next legislature requiring better standards for the issuing of high school teaching certificates.

Conditions in Wisconsin schools were becoming worse instead of better because of the greater percentage of normal school graduates over university graduates entering the schools as teachers was the conclusion reached by Dr. Henmon.

THE SENATE AND TRADITIONS

NO question that will come before the Student Senate this year will need more careful consideration than the one of abolition of hazing.

On most questions there can always be found students who have no decided views on either side. On hazing, however, the line is clear cut. One either favors or does not favor the old traditions and their enforcement, which included indiscriminate hazing on the hill and the pettier pranks, if they may be so called. Whether hazing of that nature should continue to endure as it has in the past or whether some substitute should be offered is a question that cannot be further ignored.

The Student Senate has already recognized the importance of the decision and the necessity of taking a definite stand. The Senate has accepted the executive committee's report on this matter. Accepting the report, however, does not mean that the Senate has decided one way or the other, for the question is still open. In the Senate, as in the student body, there are firm believers in either side.

In the executive committee of three members there was a difference of opinion which necessitated both majority and minority reports being admitted to the Senate.

The majority report recommends abolition of all lake parties, official and unofficial, abolition and prevention of all injudicious hazing of freshmen on the campus, and in those cases where punishment is needed, such punishment take the form of extra required credits toward graduation. The signers of the majority report believe that the freshmen can be happily dealt with if they are treated more as men than as children. They believe that if the incoming class is educated to the idea that the green cap and the other traditions are symbols of privilege and dignity that one is glad to accept when entering the university. They believe that if the green cap be not accepted and worn with any idea of inferiority, punishments for its wearers should also lose their pettiness.

Perhaps this majority report is workable and not as purely idealistic as it may sound. And it is entirely true that Wisconsin may have outgrown her old-time traditions, and they are no longer dignified and acceptable.

That this belief is not a universal one, is expressed by the minority report, which states that in order to instill class and Wisconsin spirit into the freshman class some red-blooded traditions are necessary. The member of the Student Senate who signed the minority report believes that an official dipping into the waters of Lake Mendota might aid materially in imbuing an erring freshman with the proper Wisconsin spirit.

The minority report also holds that when the question of hazing was definitely placed before the student body at the last election, their vote was conclusive enough to preclude all doubt as to what the student body wants. Believing that it is the duty of the Senate to follow in letter and in spirit that expressed wish of the student body in the referendum, the minority report declared itself in favor of traditions and penalties as they have heretofore existed.

Which of these reports best expresses the present sentiment is perhaps but conjecture. However, the Senate will do well if it tries to accurately gauge that sentiment before it proceeds too far toward the final decision.

UNION VODVIL

WITH the opening performance of Union Vodvil last evening another merited success was credited to university activities.

To say that the 1921 Union Vodvil was vaudeville at its best is not doing credit to the performance. It contained the essentials of any successful vaudeville offering. Each act was of high class calibre and worthy of headline honors. Any act on the bill could have received success on the best circuit in the country.

Aside from the consideration that each act deserves, one thought should be paramount to all others. Non-professionals in the vaudeville game present in a short time a bill consisting of individual acts which are not surpassed by any professional assortment in ability to please, in cleanliness of tone, and in the spirit of the actors.

Too often we attend a vaudeville performance when it is obvious the actors are considering the mercenary advantage of their appearance. Too often they have no real desire to please their audience. No desire, that is, aside from the box office receipts.

To witness a performance where player and audience equally enjoyed the show was a novelty. To witness an entire bill of clean acts which were mirth provoking, rendered with an easy assurance, and the whole brought harmoniously together under capable direction, was the happy lot of those who witnessed the first performance of Union Vodvil.

Those students whose talent and consistent application have made possible this success deserve the hearty congratulations of the students. This was rendered in no slight manner last evening by the applause that greeted every act.

ON STUDENT HONESTY

Editor Daily Cardinal:

If life a la university must be one eternal question-mark, let us consider this latest problem, that of honesty (I prefer to state it positively), as a question of too much questioning. We admit the right of the university authorities to question our knowledge, but just how far should that interrogative right be extended to the rest of our attributes, including our honesty?

Perhaps the inventors of this skeptical system failed to take into account the law of positive suggestion. What do those profs, full-fledged, assistant, and otherwise, glaring down upon the poor student already in misery from a set of questions that took a wizard to devise, expect will be the effect upon the suspected, but usually innocent, victims? It is as if they were determined that just so many dishonest students were present in the class-room, and catch them they must, quite like searching for a criminal for whose head a pretty reward is offered.

A lot of incentive to honesty, that! It may, by force of fear, effect its purpose in a few rare cases; but it is a negative method and it produces negative effect. It arouses resentment in the mind of the student, and adds another discomfort to the general discomfiture of the exam. Besides meting out punishment only to the few caught in the act, this phase of dishonesty is only one of many phases, the rest of which can in no way be punished. What about the student who gets most of his work prepared by others? Dishonest? Certainly; but you can't get any evidence by which to convict him.

Why do we have so much regulating and rigid discipline here? Why the arbitrary and restrictive house-rules for girls? Why the need for an open forum? Why such extreme measures in regard to class discipline? It isn't necessary in most other universities whose standards are quite as high as here. Does it mean that the University of Wisconsin student is below normal, that he must have a severe guiding hand to direct his life into the proper channels? How old are we? Probably the majority of us are of voting age. How are we treated? Like children.

After all, what is a university? An institution for the maintenance of a high standard? Or an institution for the higher education of young people? If the former, the present attitude toward dishonesty is the logical one; if the latter, better think again. Why not take a positive stand, credit us with a little intelligence, a little sense of responsibility, and a little honesty of our own, and watch results? University students are not infants nor criminals. They are matured individuals and should be treated as such.

DR. GILKEY TO LEAD RELIGION MEETING HERE

Noted Leader Will Deliver Message at Annual All-University Conference in March

Dr. Charles W. Gilkey, of Chicago, has been secured to lead the all-university Religious conference to be held on March 10, 11, and 12, 1922. From here Dr. Gilkey goes to Harvard to deliver his annual message to the students of Harvard. Sherwood Eddy spoke here last year.

The conference, which until last year was conducted under the auspices of the university Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., is now under the general supervision of the Campus Religious council. The membership of this body is composed of representatives of all the Protestant denominations and inter-denominational organizations, such as the university Y. M. C. A., and Y. W. C. A.

"We want every organization to have a committee which will be responsible for their constituency at the conference," said "Bob" Gerholz '23, general chairman.

"This conference affords a splendid opportunity to perpetuate the real spirit of Wisconsin and to let the people of the state know that the university is not a place divorced from religion."

Comparisons were made between Willetta and another girl who can both see and hear. New money was handed to Willetta, after having been crumpled by a spectator and she located the person who had held it by smelling first of the money and later of the hands of those groups about her.

GUN AND BLADE CLUB CONDEMS JOURNAL ARTICLE

Ex-Service Men Will Ask For Removal of Newspaper Writer

"Woefully uninformed" was the condemnation placed upon Albert L. Williams of the Wisconsin State Journal staff by the Gun and Blade club at a meeting held Thursday night in the Union building.

The Journal carried an article by Williams a short time ago which attacked the soldiers bonus and asserted that the bonus students are being blessed with a university education and had the advantages of foreign travel besides being the best treated soldiers in the world.

The article hinted that the American doughboy was not necessarily the truest American and that the ex-service men are taking advantage of their position to become money grabbers. Gun and Blade will take action to have all patriotic clubs of the state unite in asking the removal of Williams from the Journal staff.

Pres. Paul T. Toby read a reply to Williams' article which has already been sent to the governor, to Senators Robert M. LaFollette and Irvine L. Lenroot, and to many patriotic clubs. Answers from the governor and the senators which congratulated the club on its reply were also read. A resolution addressed to the American Legion, the G. A. R., the women's auxiliaries and other clubs asking for concerted action against Williams was unanimously adopted.

All federal board students were warned at the meeting to reinstate insurance claims, if they have any, before the end of the year.

Rail Plea Against Rate Cut Heard On Dec. 14

See Win For Pacific Pact and Navy Cut

Believe 5-5-3 Ratio and Four Power Treaty Sure of Victory

WASHINGTON — So encouraging a situation has developed in the arms negotiations that some of the delegates believe an open session will be called next week to announce agreement on the 5-5-3 naval ratio and the quadruple arrangement proposed as a substitute for the anglo-Japanese alliance.

There are intimations that the negotiations are so close to a settlement that some conference officials had expected an open session today or tomorrow. It seems probable that in addition to the naval ratio and the four power plan it may embody some formal pronouncement of the principles on which the conference expects to limit fortifications and naval bases in the Pacific.

Definite decision on the naval ratio question is now believed to hinge on a satisfactory solution of the problem of naval bases and Ireland fortifications.

35 Slogans For '23 Junior Prom Are Submitted

Exactly 35 slogans have been submitted in the 1923 Prom slogan contest which closes at 5:30 this afternoon.

Because a majority of the mottoes are practically on a par as regards brevity, conciseness, and embodiment of the aims of beauty and representativeness, the committee will not be able to decide a winner of the contest until next week.

"Prom of Your Dreams," submitted by Mildred S. Hill, is one of the best received by the committee. Other slogans which received the commendation of committee-men are "The Badger Prom Beautiful," "Your Wonder-Prom," and "Your Prom."

Several more slogans are expected before the contest closes this afternoon. The contribution box will remain on the porch of the Union building until 5 o'clock.

AT THE STRAND

Ralph Ince's production, "A Man's Home," is being shown at the Strand theater for the last times today. It shows Frederick Osborn as president of a steamship company. His pretty wife, Frances, indulges in frivolous amusements with frivolous companions. Osborn neglects his wife, keeping his mind on business and spending his affections on his young daughter Lucy, who falls in love with Arthur Lynn, son of a wealthy neighbor.

The characters in "A Man's Home" are interpreted by a cast of notable and talented players, which includes such luminaries as Harry T. Morey, in the role of the husband; Kathryn Williams, as the frivolous wife; Grace Valentine, as the adventuress; Roland Bottomley, as the accomplice, and Matt Moore and Faire Binney as youthful lovers.

There is also being shown a "Snub" Pollard comedy and a Prizma natural color study.

Doris May in "The Foolish Age" and Clyde Cook in "The Toreador" will be the attractions at the Strand Sunday to Tuesday.

New Student Hall Will Open Soon

A dance hall to be one of the most completely equipped in the state of Wisconsin is being planned for Madison by "Al" Thompson of this city. The dance floor will occupy the ground floor of the new Beaver building being built next to the Orpheum theater and will open the first part of next semester.

Plans are being made to accommodate more than 150 couples. Refreshments will be served on a mezzanine floor around three walls of the hall. A special ventilation system is being installed which will provide a constant change of air.

Provisions will be made to hold dinner dances by the maintenance of a kitchen in the basement of the building. Friday and Saturday nights will be reserved for student dances, and a seven-piece orchestra will play on a raised platform on the main floor. Thompson will continue the management of his hall on State street.

Vodvil Program Delights Audience

with his eager line of patter. It is the best monologue act we have seen in some time, and Bill's imitations of Fanny Brice, Ed Wynn, and Eddie Cantor were corking. "Bill" is an effortless performer, and his act had finesse.

F. Trifles

An exceptionally well done playlet, in a distinctly contrasting tone to the rest of the bill. The tense atmosphere of the piece was excellently portrayed by a group of actors from Edwin Booth, Red Domino, and Twelfth Night. A difficult piece it was, but played with admirable restraint.

G. Men's Glee Club Quartet

Four earnest and sincere harmonizers singing a few cheerful songs.

H. S'More Trifles

The high light of the performance. An act replete with good singing, superior dancing, and rollicking good nature. Dorothy Oechsner's imitation of Dorward's "Ma" was a scream, and the dancing of Florence Miller and Solveig Winslow was a joy in its team work.

I. "The Toll of the Desert"

"Les" Gage feeding gags to "Heinz" Rubel, who licked them up and asked for more. "Heinz" was in black face, and his Long Island accent reminded one of a well-bred Pullman porter. The cracks were new, and the songs interesting; the act was "Les" but not lacking. Good stuff throughout.

J. Frivolity Revue

Nine beautiful sinners chasing "Reg" Garstang on and off the stage and up the aisles with agility. The songs were sung well and the movements of the choir were interesting and unusual. The requests for relief from the blues and the like ailments were eagerly received by the audience. An excellent act, closing the show with much vim and pep. "Doc" Dorward directed the act from the pit in good style and achieved a revue of finish and color.

All in all, the smooth handling and excellent acts make this show one of the best variety bills ever presented, here or elsewhere.

Very many useful, beautiful and artistic art novelties in the gift lines from which to select your Christmas.

Ygdrasil To Observe 25th Anniversary

Norse Society to Celebrate Occasion by Banquet Tomorrow

In observance of its 25th anniversary, Ygdrasil literary society will hold a banquet at the Woman's building at 6:30 Saturday night. About one hundred members and guests are expected, among them members of Gudrid Reading circle.

The speakers will include Judge A. J. Vinje, Nils P. Haugen, former tax commissioner, E. B. Steensland, Prof. Paul Kanplund, A. O. Barton, A. G. Michelson and A. J. Myrland. Prof. Julius E. Olson will be toastmaster and Mrs. E. B. Steensland will respond for Gudrid. The committee on arrangements consist of Prof. Olson, O. S. Rice, Judge Vinje and Mrs. Steensland, Mrs. A. G. Michelson and Mrs. Holger Toftoy representing Gudrid.

Among the out-of-town guests will be former State Treasurer and Mrs. A. H. Dahl of Kenosha, and Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Swanson of Milwaukee. A quartet will furnish musical numbers.

Ygdrasil was organized in the office of Prof. Rasmus B. Anderson Dec. 4, 1896, by 13 college men of Norse blood, for social purposes and for mutual benefit in the study of Scandinavian history and literature. The organization now has nearly forty members and has former members in nearly every state from New York to California.

Ygdrasil meets one evening each month at the home of some member and presents programs of a high order. Members of Gudrid, an organization composed of wives of Ygdrasil members, usually attend these meetings. Of recent years the programs have dealt largely with American subjects.

The first president of Ygdrasil was the late Peer O. Stromme, noted writer, who was also president of the organization at the time of his death last September. Present officers are: Prof. Paul Kanplund, president; A. O. Barton, secretary; and R. N. Quale, treasurer.

Among the distinguished guests entertained by Ygdrasil are Roald Amundsen, discoverer of the south pole and the son of Bjornstjerne Bjornson, Norwegian poet. A notable outing was made by the society in July, 1917, to Muskego, Wis., where exercises were held at the grave of Col. Hans Heg, who fell at Chickamauga.

Ygdrasil has had one ambassador, one governor, one supreme court judge, two members of congress, two circuit judges, many university professors, state officials and members prominent in medicine, law, journalism and education.

New England Again Hums With Activity

BOSTON, Mass. — Spindles in New England textile mills are humming this pre-Christmas season as they have not hummed since the business slump which followed the war. The federal employment survey is authority for the statement "the general feeling is optimistic for a marked improvement in all lines of industry after the New Year."

Christmas Bazaar at Y. W. C. A. is Opened

ment will donate the proceeds from one of the practice basketball games to the fund.

It is hoped that class meetings will be held where action may be taken as to means of raising money for the fund. The freshmen are planning a dance, the proceeds of which are to go to the Student Friendship fund.

Chairman Kuehl made the following statement last night:

Kuehl's Statement

"This Christmas gift to foreign students in the European war area is not a church proposition, not a sectarian movement, nor is it a drive; it is a voluntary gift, fully international, given in the spirit of the holiday season to help the students who were left in such dire and appalling straits by the war."

"Either Frank Vanderlip or D. Jayne Hill will be here one day this week to speak to the students at a time of which will be announced later. This ought to be enough to impress every student with the magnitude of both the duty and the opportunity now confronting him."

"Personally I feel that if 12 cents can supply a soul with comfort and happiness for a whole day, everyone here at Wisconsin can be depended upon to help make Christmas day a little brighter for some starving fellow student over there."

man '22, Abraham Kaufman '22, and Melbourne Bergerman '22 will represent the society at the debate, which will be held on Saturday, Dec. 17.

Hesperia Debates War Debts

Immediate cancellation of the allied war debt was the subject for debate at a meeting of Hesperia Literary society held in 451 Bascom hall last night. The question is one of great interest in financial circles, and congress has considered cancellation at times. The affirmative contended that unless the European countries were relieved of their enormous debts bankruptcy would result.

The affirmative speakers were L. H. Darnestadt '23, L. S. Clark '23, and W. L. Morse '23. Members supporting the negative were C. B. Puestow '23, R. B. Russell '23, and R. E. Axley '23.

Weeks Speaks

A. W. Weeks '23 spoke of the accomplishments of the Wisconsin Geological society. "What Hesperia Accomplished in 1921" was the subject of a talk by J. T. Atwood '23.

That marketing by federation is the best solution of the problem of selling dairy products was the argument advanced by the affirmative in a debate before the Agricultural Literary society at a regular meeting held last night in the auditorium of Agricultural hall.

"Agricultural Education in High Schools" was the subject of a discussion led by Mr. Dunwiddie. Philomathia Literary society held its regular weekly meeting in 220 Bascom hall last night.
