ABOUT THE JOINT DEBATERS

THE REPRESENTATIVES OF ATHENA AND PHILOMETHIA.

THE GREAT CONTEST AT LIBRARY HALL THIS EVENING.

Facts in Regard to the Different Contestants.

The interest in the joint debate, especially among the members of the competing societies, Athena and Philomathia, will reach its highest point this evening just before the decision on the question is announced. The six men who will represent the societies on this occasion have been honored by their societies with the highest honor that it is in their power to bestow, and, indeed, the highest literary honor that the university offers. They have devoted a great share of their time for the past nine months in arduous preparation for this debate. Not only have the libraries of our own city and of the university been ransacked but those of neighboring cities, which contain anything of special interest on the subject, have been visited.

Now that the joint debate is at hand the attention of the students is focused on the contestants in the debate. While they are only representatives of their societies and in the preparation for the debate have been assisted by the other members of these societies, yet they have assumed the responsibility and the major part of the work. Something in regard to these debaters will therefore be of interest to the students.

Philomathia's debaters are, E. H. Cassels, '95; E. R. Buckley, '95, and T. W. Brazeau, '96.

E. R. Buckley was born September 3d, 1872, at Millbury, Worcester county, Mass. At an early age he moved with his parents to Indiana and subsequently to Tomah, Wisconsin, where he received his elementary education. After teaching a year, in the fall of '91 he entered the university, taking the General Science course and doing special work in geology. He early joined the Philomathian society and opened the debate in the semi-public of '93. He has been honored as president of the senior class.

Theodore W. Brazeau was born March 12th, 1873, at Grand Rapids, Wisconsin. He graduated from the Howe High School in that city in 1892 and entered the university as special in English, in the fall of the same year. He received some training in the High School Literary society, taking part in a public debate and acted as closer on Philomathia's semi-public last year. He is the youngest on his team.

Edwin H. Cassels, was born at Tomah, Wis. He received his preparatory in the public schools of that city, being a graduate of the Tomah free high school. He entered the university with the class of '95, and is pursuing the Ancient Classical course. Mr. Cassels has taken an active part in literary society work, being the orator in Philomathia's blow out during his freshman year and one of the debaters on the semi-public, the year following. In the latter event he was closer for his side, which won the question. Last year, he was one of the editors on the Badger board. Mr. Cassel's excellent work as a debator combined with his oratorical abilities have won for him his present position.

Athena's debaters are James T. Healy, Roy D. Tillotson, and M. W. Kalaher.

James T. Healy was born at Beaver Dam, Wisconsin, December 15, 1869. He attended the Beaver Dam high school from which he graduated in 1888. After teaching in the public schools for the following four years he entered the university in 1892 as an English freshman, and will graduate with the class of '96. He has been a member of Athena ever since his freshman year. He has had considerable success as a teacher, but his special forte seems to be debating in which he made his first appearance as closer at Athena's semi-public last year.

Roy D. Tillotson was born at Waupun, Wisconsin, December 12, 1872. He graduated from the South Side high school of Waupun in 1891, and entered the civic-historic course in the university in the fall. He is now doing special work in the mathematical group and will graduate next June. Mr. Tillotson joined Athena in his freshman year but has taken no part in any of the contests of the society, though from the first he has been an earnest and faithful worker.

M. W. Kalaher was born June 22, 1870, at Lake Geneva, this state. He graduated from the Lake Geneva high school in 1890. The two following years he was a teacher in his native city and entered the university with the class of '96, being now listed in the civic-historic course. He joined Athena when he entered the university and has taken active part in all the class contests in his society. He was elected a closer on the semi-public last year when a sophomore.

"WHEN VIOLETS ARE THERE."

A New Edition of Mr. C. F. McClure's Popular Song.

Wisconsin students will be pleased to note the appearance of a new edition of the song "When Violets Are There," composed by Charles Floyd McClure, law '95. The success of this song is quite flattering as the first edition was exhausted some time ago. This new edition is the same as the other in music and words but has a new and bright title page giving a portrait of Miss Bessie Bonehill, who is singing the song in "Playmates." Miss Julia Mackey, who introduced the song in "Superba" is now singing the song in the East. Several other companies have also introduced the song into their plays.

PROMENADE COMMITTEE.

The Junior Promenade held its first meeting last evening. L. L. Alsted was elected chairman. Arrangements for the party of February 22d were partially completed considerable progress being made.

THE CHORAL UNION CONCERT

WILL BE HELD ON FEBRUARY FIFTH.

PROF. PARKER TO ADDRESS THE CONTEMPORARY CLUB.

Will Speak on the "Creation"—An Address by T. C. Smith.

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather fully three fourths of the chorus were present at rehearsal last evening. Prof. Parker announced that the tickets now held by the members are membership tickets, and that a new set of tickets entitling members to seats in the chorus at the concert would be issued at the final rehearsal two weeks hence. February 5th has now been definitely decided on. All the soloists have been secured except the bass, who is still. The following notice was read by the secretary:

"Our Director, Prof. Parker, has kindly consented to give a talk before the Contemporary club next Wednesday evening on "The Oratorio," with special mention of Hayden's Creation." It was thought desirable by the officers of the club that notice of this should be given before the Choral Union, to whose members the subject would naturally be of especial interest, and you are all cordially invited. It is the custom of the club to have two subjects presented at each meeting, and there will also be a paper by Mr. Theodore Smith on "Some Recent Studies in Antislavery Politics in Wisconsin."

The club meets at 8 o'clock promptly in the Unitarian church. While it is under the auspices of the church, the club is not denominational in its character."

FOR MUNICIPAL REFORM.

Meeting of the Citizens Last Evening—Address by Prof. Ely.

A large number of the prominent citizens of Madison met last evening and organized a Municipal Reform League. The meeting was very enthusiastic and several addresses were made.

Dr. Richard T. Ely made one of the best addresses of the evening. He opened by saying that so much had already been said about the matter under discussion that nearly all of its phases had been considered. He agreed fully with Mrs. McMynn's remarks. He said: "A city should have some best feature which makes it superior to other municipalities. And it should carefully nourish and develop that feature. What is Madison's best point? Is it going to be a great manufacturing city? I think not. It will rather develop into a center of education, art and literature. If we expect to see our city grow we must keep its moral tone at a proper standard. Cambridge, Mass., has a high moral tone. The city has local option but no one charges that the city is a hotbed of prohibitory fanaticism. I don't know as that would be available for Madison just now, but it is well to place our ideal above us and strive to attain it. The liquor traffic in the vicinity of Minnesota's university is restricted to certain limits. It is said that our city administration is not what it should be. If we want the city to grow this fault should be remedied. There are higher aspects, however, than the business points of this matter." The doctor then spoke of the high standard attained by Germans in their municipal government and thought it was due to the fact that politics has no influence in determining the selection of a mayor. That individual is selected on merit alone in the land of the Teutons. The doctor thinks all municipal reforms here should be modeled after methods of city government in vogue now in Germany. He said he hoped the day would come when the science of municipal government would be taught in the state university. He paid a high tribute to the work now being accomplished by the university which he said was unusual considering the income of the institution.

METHODIST LECTURE COURSE.

Booker T. Washington will lecture in the M. E. church January 25th on the "Negro Problem." This is the fifth in the course. Mr. Washington gives the future hope of his race in this lecture. He will also state facts about the ballot box. Politicians from all parties will be present. Mr. Washington lectures in Dr. Gunsaulus' church on his way to Madison. People all coming from a distance to hear this lecture.

THE JOINT DEBATE.

Official Wording of the Question to be Discussed.

The following is the correct wording of the joint debate question:

"Is our present national banking system and independent treasury preferable to a consolidated national bank with branches in the main commercial centers of the country, which bank shall have sole authority to issue bank notes—adequate security for all notes issued, general supervision of the bank and power of transaction of the government bonds of concealed."

Interpretation: (1) No city of less than 75,000 inhabitants shall be considered a commercial center. (2) Fiscal agent shall mean the power to hold on deposit, receive and disburse government funds and negotiate loans."

The joint debate, which takes place this evening, should be well attended by the students. The charge for admission is an innovation, but should be no bar to the attendance. The fee is small and the event is one that demands the attendance of every person interested in the work of literary societies. The proceeds will probably not be enough to pay the expenses which are every year assumed by the competing societies, and so there will be no profits for any one's benefit. The debate is the chief literary event of the year and in the attention it attracts outside of the university is hardly second to the football games. The work done in preparation is especially thorough and the investigations of the contestants carry considerable weight.

The eloquent appeals for municipal reform made from a number of pulpits last Sunday should have made every student who hopes to be a useful citizen ask himself the question "What ground shall I take in this matter?" To this there should be but one answer. The students in the colleges and universities of our country to-day will be the leaders of the nation tomorrow. If they early take a stand for honesty and for good government, the reform is sure to have a successful outcome. The college educated men are naturally reformers.

Here in Madison an opportunity is offered for active work in municipal reform. Within the last two weeks the council has clearly shown that it needs reforming. The students are quite a factor in the life of this city and what they do and say often brings important results. Active steps should be taken for the organization of a municipal reform league. There is a college branch of this league and almost every first class institution in the country has its society. While the fact that election day comes during our spring vacation will no doubt lessen the student vote, still it is strong enough to be felt and even if we cannot aid at the polls we can help the cause by agitation from now until the spring elections. The work must be non-partisan and we would suggest that committees of the political clubs take the matter in hand. Organization is needed for united action. And it is time for action now.

PROF. HOLDEN HONORED.

An Old Wisconsin Professor at Lick Observatory.

Dr. E. S. Holden, director of the Lick observatory, has been made, for his services to science, a commander of the Order of the Ernestine House of Saxony. The order, founded in 1690, is given by the combined duchies of Altenburg, Meiningen and Coburg and Gotha and is the only order they confer.—Chicago Post.

Edward S. Holden was professor of astronomy and director of the Washburn observatory from 1881 to 1885. After the completion of Lick observatory he accepted the position of director there.

PRESS CLUB.

The Press club will not meet tomorrow night on account of the joint debate tonight. Next Wednesday it is expected that an old newspaper man from outside the city will address the club.

THE TILDEN LIBRARY.

Columbia College offers the trustees of the Tilden library fund land for a library site on the site of the new college buildings, also its own collection of about two hundred thousand books and further concedes that the result shall be called the Tilden Library. Mr. Tilden meant that New York should get $6,000,000 for this library, but the heirs and the law, working on a defective will, nullified his purpose. Then spoke up a niece and said she would spare $2,000,000 for the purpose her uncle contemplated, and this is the money the trustees are waiting to convert into Tilden's imperishable monument.

MEMORIAL SERVICES AT BRYN MAWR.

On Monday afternoon, Jan. 7, the day on which the students reassembled after the holidays, Bryn Mawr college held a memorial service in honor of its first president, Dr. James E. Rhoads, who died on Jan. 2. The service was attended by all the present members of the college, by a large number of its alumnae, by the presidents of all the educational institutions in the neighborhood of Philadelphia, by Professors E. B. Wilson and B. S. Lee, of Columbia college, who were for five years members of the Bryn Mawr faculty, and by many well-known Philadelphians. Addresses were made by Miss M. Carey Thomas, who succeeded Dr. Rhoads as president of the college on his retirement last year, and who as dean of the faculty, had been closely associated with him throughout his nine years' administration; by members of the board of trustees and of the faculty; by the president of the Alumnae association, and the president of the Self-Government association. All bore testimony not only to the personal worth of a man of sterling integrity and unwearying kindness, but also to the intellectual wisdom and openness of mind which had enabled him, coming without academic traditions to the office of president, founder of a new college, to hold it from the first strictly to the ideal of high scholarship.

PRIZES AT PENNSYLVANIA.

A number of alumni of the university of Pennsylvania, in order to encourage the writing of college songs and to promote the interests of the university glee club, have offered prizes open to alumni, matriculates and students of the university, including one of $25 for the best college song, both words and music original; $15 for the best original set of words to be sung to the music of the Russian national hymn, and $10 for the best set of words commemorative of the university's prowess in athletics, set to the music of any popular song that may be elected by the author.

CHINESE-AMERICAN STUDENTS.

United States minister to China Denby has sent to the department of state an interesting sketch of the history of a number of Chinese students who were educated in the United States and afterward returned to China. Thirty of these students were sent to this country in 1872 and others were sent afterward. They were put in charge of Wing Yung, who graduated from Yale in 1854. Of the ten persons recently recommended for distinction by Li Hung Chang, who is in command of the Chinese forces in the war with Japan, four were former American students. Wo Yin Fo, who at one time was a member of the Sheffield Scientific school, has been breveted a commander, with special decorations for bravery and good service. The others who receive promotions are Tsao Kan Chiong, a graduate of Phillips Andover Academy, Tsu Chung Tong and Shun Son Qnau. In 1881 charges were made that the Chinese students in America were losing or had lost their patriotism, and they were recalled by their government. In view of this fact the report of Minister Denby is of particular interest.

WESTERN FOOTBALL.

The meeting of the Western Intercollegiate Football association was called to order at the Millard, in Omaha, January 15th, by President Barnes, of Nebraska, with the following other representatives: Judge J. D. Lawson of the Missouri State University, R. K. Moody of the Kansas University and William Larrabee of the State University of Iowa.

Several amendments to the constitution were adopted, among the most important of which was a rule declaring no person eligible to play in a championship game who was not carrying at least ten hours a week work in the college or pursuing a required course for a degree. Another that the receipts of the Kansas City and Omaha Thanksgiving games should not be pooled, as the Nebraska team thought that Omaha would be able to draw just as well as at Kansas City.

INTERCOLLEGIATE CRICKET.

The Intercollegiate Cricket association has appointed the following officers for 1895: J. A. Lester of Haverford college, president; P. H. Clark of Harvard, vice-president; Samuel Goodman of the University of Pennsylvania, treasurer.

The championship schedule has been drawn up as follows: May 24, Harvard vs. Haverford at Cambridge; May 30, Harvard vs. University of Pennsylvania at Cambridge; June 1, Haverford vs. University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

SOCIOLOGICAL NOTES.

Dr. Samuel M. Lindsay starts in the January Annals of the American Academy a new series of Sociological Notes which should prove valuable to any person interested in social problems or sociological work. Thirteen pages are given up to this department. Among the subjects treated of are the Theory of Sociology, the Pennsylvania Association of Directors of the Poor, the Massachusetts Labor Bureau, the Liquor Problem, Instruction in Social Science at Yale, College Settlements, Charities, the Department of Labor Report and Current Bibliography. Two papers on Sociology in this number are Dr. S. N. Patten's "Relation of Economics to Sociology," and Dr. Lindsay's Sociological Field Work."

There are in Ireland today 80,000 persons who speak no other tongue and 250,000 persons who speak both English and Irish. I do not doubt that there are in this country fully 2,000,000 people who can speak the language."

THE ICE HAVEST.

Interrupted by the late sudden changes—Soon to start up.

Eight or ten days ago Conklin & Sons started upon their work of harvesting ice on Lake Mendota, and this movement was soon followed on the same lake by the Hausmann Brewing company, but the late thaw badly interrupted proceedings. Work will be resumed in a day or two and it will be pushed to the end.

On Lake Monona Icemen Allen and Klueter have secured their harvest in fine shape.

Brewers Breckheimer and Fauerbach will commence in a day or two.

The ice in both lakes is very clear and is about fourteen inches in thickness.

LIGHTING CHANGES.

They occur in the temperature the past few hours.

Sudden changes occurred Monday morning. They were, as the showmen say, "lightning changes." At the start the mercury was in the forties above zero, then came a heavy rain storm which lasted, off and on, until about 8 o'clock in the morning. Then followed snow, and soon a blizzard of the Dakota style, when the mercury slipped down to a point not far above zero.

The snow that fell went before the blasts like chaff before a gale, so that sleighing is out of the question.
