CALL MEMORIAL UNION MEETING GREAT SUCCESS

Gardner Says Convocation of Students Was Tremendous Task

"The Memorial Union massmeeting Monday afternoon was a decided success in my estimation," said Prof. E. H. Gardner last night, "it is the first time that a convocation of new students has ever been held at Wisconsin, and it was a tremendous task."

"To get an entirely unorganized group of students together, and to get them unified on one idea, has never been attempted before. The personnell did well, and the returns that will come in from those students will prove the value of the meeting," said Professor Gardner.

Large Pledges

More than two thirds of the new students were present and ready to sing "O Wisconsin," when the band struck the note. Those who did subscribe came across like loyal Wisconsin sons and daughters giving an average of $44.60 each, according to Arthur Inman '23, who has charge of the returns.

A large number of new students who did not get tickets, reported to the Memorial Union headquarters, and received cards of admission. At present the addresses of the new students are so incomplete that the personnell is held up in its work.

Hunt Addresses

The Registrar's office is trying to locate all the missing addresses, and is sending them to the Memorial Union headquarters as fast as possible. "Any new student who is not sure that his address is correctly given to the registrar would aid the Memorial Union materially if he would stop in and check up his address with the registrar," said Morton Frost '23, general chairman of the drive.

Begin Canvass

More than 250 canvassers started yesterday afternoon, and will turn in their reports tonight at the Union Memorial Headquarters.

A luncheon will be given for all the personnell, chairmen, division leaders, and teams, at Lathrop parlors at 12:15 o'clock this noon.

"We want every leader, every worker, and every one who is in the ranks to put this thing across, present at the luncheon. Everyone is invited," said Professor Gardner.

Cardinal Representation

To Be Decided By Voters

A referendum fixing Cardinal representation on the Student Senate will be voted upon at the general election Friday. Whether the Cardinal Board of Control shall appoint a Cardinal representative on the senate, or whether the Managing Editor shall be automatically appointed, as previously, will be decided upon by the students.

LARGE PROGRAM OF HOMECOMING GOES TO PRESS

Seven Thousand Copies of Souvenir Booklet Ordered

The first section of the largest Homecoming program ever published goes to press today. Seven thousand copies will be on sale Homecoming week-end.

The program, edited by Porter F. Butts '24, will be a 56-page souvenir booklet containing pictorial sections on Homecoming, the game and athletics at Wisconsin past and present.

Much feature material including an illustrated review of Homecomings, a graph showing the rise and fall of Wisconsin football success since 1891 and a statistical comparison of Illinois and Wisconsin as athletic schools has been gathered and will be presented for the first time. Seventy-five pictures and cartoons will illustrate the written stories.

Mid-Semesters Will Be Held Near Thanksgiving

"Regular mid semester examinations will be held around Thanksgiving time as usual," Dean Geo. C. Sellery announced authoritatively, to refute the recent rumor to the contrary.

The hour examinations that are being held in all departments at present will not take the place of the customary mid semester tests. These hour examinations are optional assignments with the individual instructors. Their purpose is to furnish the student with occasion to review the course up to date, thereby eliminating chances for slipshod work, is the information received from the office of S. H. Goodnight.

Midsemester grades of all students must be registered in the office of Dean Sellery by December 6.

CEILING FALLS ON LIVE STOCK

Collapses Under Weight of Bales in Main Dairy Barn

The ceiling of the main dairy barn of the College of Agriculture collapsed under the weight of tons of baled stuff yesterday afternoon, a little before 4 o'clock, burying six cattle under the wreckage.

Shortly before the accident occurred, barn hands had been unloading some baled shavings into the loft and it is probable that this additional weight caused the ceiling to cave.

At the time of the crash no one was in the barn but there were several men in the yard. Word was immediately sent to the agricultural office and very shortly rescue forces were recruited and the work of extricating the cattle was begun. By working from the top down a hole was cut through the wreckage and the cattle taken out one at a time.

Fortunately it was just before milking time when the catastrophe occurred so most of the herd was out of the barn. The heavy steel stanchions protected those cows that were left from being crushed to death. Most of them were severely injured, however.

The structure was a large building of steel and wood built about 20 years ago. The accident may have been due, in part, to a lack of center supports. The barn will be repaired, probably at a cost of several thousand dollars.

REPRODUCE GAME WITH GRID-GRAPH

A grid-graph for the benefit of students unable to attend the football game at Minneapolis will be operated on the armory floor of the men's gymnasium Saturday afternoon, according to Gus Tebell, who is making the plans. This is an arrangement whereby movable lights of various colors are made to depict the plays as they take place on the football field.

The plan will enable students and the people of Madison to see the game play by play within a few minutes of the time when the play is actually made. The communicating of the plays from Minneapolis to Madison will be by wireless.

Deny Rumor That Frosh May Remove Green Cap

Freshmen must wear the present green cap subject to senate announcement, according to Maynard Brown '23, student senator.

"The student senate decided upon the present cap in order that freshmen could wear them during colder weather. We are also contemplating a green toque to be worn during the winter months," Brown said last night.

"Freshmen will be required to wear some form of green cap during the entire year, or until cap night next spring," David Wheeler '25, chairman of the traditions committee, asserted. "The committee is prepared to report all violators to the student court."

$2,500 PLEDGED IN "Y" DRIVE TOTAL TUESDAY

Canvassers Feel Confident That Quota Will Be Pledged

The total amount pledged in the "Y" drive aggregated $2,500 according to reports received from Y. M. C. A. office last night. The personnel of the drive feel confident if every student is canvassed the drive will be a success.

The Y. M. C. A. mailed more than two thousand letters during the summer in answer to inquiries about rooms, jobs and general information about the University. About twice as much money is expended annually in extending services to students in securing jobs, cashing checks and answering inquiries than is spent in Association work.

Last year the "Y" secured over 1300 jobs for students who are defraying part of their expenses. $160,000 in checks were cashed at the office. 177 campus organizations used the "Y" for various purposes. Nearly four thousand students were visited at the Infirmary and in rooming houses by "Y" committees. The loan funds made it possible for about 300 students to tide themselves over financial difficulties.

The Y. M. C. A. is here to give service to the men on the campus in every way possible. As the "Y" does not charge for any of those services, the only way to procure money to defray expenses is through contributions from students who want to see the free service rendered by the "Y" continued.

Unless the students who desire the "Y" to continue on the present basis avail themselves of the opportunity to give their support in the drive, a great deal of services now rendered will have to be considerably cut down, according to Y. M. C. A. officials.

ISSUE HYDE'S NEW JOURNALISM TEXT

"A Course in Journalistic Writing," the first fully developed textbook for the rapidly growing high school classes in journalism, by Prof. Grant M. Hyde of the Course in Journalism, has just been published by the D. Appleton and company.

A one-year course, with one chapter for each week and complete practice exercises for each day of the week, is presented in the book. Besides covering all the common newspaper stories, the book presents the essentials contained in standard books on rhetoric. It deals with journalism in high schools as a mean of developing interest in English composition work.

More than 100 pages are devoted to the problems of student publications, including staff organization, financial matters, make-up, style, copy-editing, proof reading, headlines and cuts.

To develop an understanding of the newspaper, a series of 34 sketches discuss newspaper problems; and weekly exercises involve research in the daily newspaper.

Interest in current events is stressed and weekly exercises are devoted to mastering facts about the community, its government, industries and history. A sample style sheet is presented in the appendix.

Professor Hyde has published three other books on journalism: "Newspaper Reporting and Correspondence," "Newspaper Editing," and "Handbook for Newspaper Workers."

WEATHER: UNSETTLED

Mostly cloudy today, with tomorrow probably fair is the weather prediction for Madison and vicinity. Not much change in temperature is expected.

Mischa Elman Will Play To Packed House Tonight

Mischa Elman, talented Russian violin virtuoso, will play at the armory at 8:15 o'clock tonight. He is expected to arrive in Madison at 7:45 o'clock this morning from Minneapolis.

Elman will be greeted by one of the largest audiences that has ever welcomed an artist to Madison when he appears at the armory tonight. Tickets for the event have been selling fast for the past few days, and only a few desirable $2 tickets remain, according to J. R. Frawley '23.

There will be 100 "rush tickets" at $1 each on sale until 5 o'clock today at the A. E. Smith Music store, and if any are left they will be sold after 7 o'clock at the armory.

SCORES ATTEND DAIRY COURSE

Classes in Agric Short Course To Begin Tomorrow Morning

Scores of students are pouring into Madison today in order to register in the Dairy course given by the College of Agriculture to students who desire a practical training in the field of dairy manufacture.

Registration started yesterday and will continue through today. Classes will start at 8 o'clock tomorrow. The winter dairy course lasts 12 weeks and will be concluded January 25.

The course consists of practical training in butter making, ice cream manufacture, cheese making, milk inspection, and other allied dairy industries.

Students who enter must have had at least six months experience in a creamery, cheese factory or some other dairy enterprise. Students must have had a common school education or its equivalent, and must be at least 16 years of age.

An unusual demand for men to fill responsible positions in dairy enterprises exists at the present time, according to information published by the Dairy department. Demand for 183 buttermakers, 176 cheese makers, 16 factory managers are some of the requests that have come for trained dairy men.

Certificates are issued to men who complete the course successfully and who show satisfactory evidence of two seasons experience in a creamery or cheese factory.

Senior Summaries Must Be in This Afternoon

"All seniors not having their summary cards in the Badger office by this afternoon will not have their photos or activities reported in the year book," Margaret Brown '24, senior editor, emphatically announced yesterday.

Eight hundred post cards notifying delinquent graduates of the closing date for information were sent out Saturday and received by seniors yesterday. More than 100 of these students made immediate reply. A total of 750 of the 1300 summaries have been received to date.

The early closing rule of the senior files will be rigidly enforced this year, since sufficient notification has been given the students. All those who have not received summaries who wish corrections, or who received a notification card when the summary had already been sent in, are urged to report at the Badger office some time today to adjust the matter.

Hoard Memorial Design Finished By Architect

The design for the setting of the Hoard Memorial, which will be placed in front of Agricultural hall, has been completed by Arthur Peabody, city architect. The buildings have been cleared away, and as soon as the money is appropriated the actual work of construction will start. A bill will be introduced at an early session of the legislature this winter for the necessary appropriation.

CANCEL PROXY RIGHTS OF ALL BUT ATHLETES

Students Must Vote Before Leaving Campus, is Rule

Students who are going to the Minneapolis game this week-end and who are not members of either the football or cross country teams will not be granted proxy privileges at the general student elections on Friday, according to Maynard Brown, chairman of the elections committee of the student senate.

"Contrary to the general opinion and to rumors which are circulated about the campus, it will not be possible to permit every one who wishes to leave town to send a proxy to cast a ballot," Brown said yesterday. "Too many persons are leaving town to make this a physical possibility. We wish to exercise extreme care in dealing with proxies, and we want to have time to carefully examine every case as it comes to us. Therefore, we cannot permit any but members of the teams to vote in that manner."

Persons who desire proxy privileges have been asked by Brown to write short letters of application stating the name of the person who is to cast the vote and the reason for the substitution.

One copy of the application is to be in the hands of Maynard Brown by Thursday night. A duplicate copy is to be presented to the election officials at the Biology building at 12:45 Friday. The duplicates will be checked with the originals at that time before proxies will be permitted to cast a ballot. Proxies will vote at the Biology building irrespective of the college of which they are members.

Band members who are to make the trip to Minneapolis will have time to vote before they leave.

Soccer Teams Play to 1-1 Tie at Stoughton

The International and the Chinese soccer teams played a 1 to 1 tie at Stoughton yesterday morning. The game was played as one of the attractions for an American Legion celebration.

This is the third game played by these teams. The Chinese have won one game and tied two. A fourth game will be played later on to decide which team is the better.

Soccer was to have been made a sport under the direction of the athletic department this fall, but due to the illness of Prof. Slaughter nothing has been done. It is played among the different gym classes, and by these two clubs.

SONG AND DANCE ACT IS FEATURE OF BADGER HOP

1924 Badger Staff Will Give Party on Friday Evening

John Cornelius and "Bobbie" Costello have been secured for a song and dance act at the 1924 Badger dance which will be held Friday night, Paul K. Robertson '24, associate business manager, announced yesterday.

The affair will be held in the Badger room of the woman's building, with dancing from 9 o'clock until 12. Tickets are selling rapidly according to those in charge, and it is expected that nearly 70 couples will attend.

Miss Helen Kingsford, Willard Kirchner, and heads of departments have been supplied with the tickets and they can also be procured at the Badger office in Union building. A Thompson orchestra under the leadership of Sinaiko will furnish the music.

Women members of the staff, as well as men can purchase the tickets. They sell for $1.50.

HEAR ADDRESS BY INGERSOLL

Organization For Transfer Students Social in Character

William H. Ingersoll, president of the Ingersoll Redipoint Pencil company, New York, delivered an address at the Commerce upper-classmen convocation held yesterday afternoon in the auditorium of Sterling hall.

Mr. Ingersoll talked on the problems of distributing merchandise manufactured in large quantities and used the problems of the company of which he is president for illustrations. He discussed the distributing of goods, showed that it is no easy matter and that the market is changing all the time. He took up the questions of through whom to place the goods on the market, what class of buyers to appeal to, and the reasons for the necessity of having the commodity.

Mr. Ingersoll, in company with other manufacturers, has been for several years studying the market to find out which class of retailers come in closest contact with the buying public. As to the results, he found that the small business merchant with a good trade and merit and service was the best retailer through which to reach the public.

In the course of his talk Mr. Ingersoll also discussed the use of different policies in selling the commodity, that of distribution, and how to appeal to the public. What class to appeal to and what channels through which to reach them were considered very important by the speaker.

"The man with the brains, who does the thinking, is the man who gets ahead in any business, and especially in the selling line," said Mr. Ingersoll.

Prof. W. A. Scott, head of the Course in Commerce, introduced the speaker, and remarked that the students of commerce needed the contact with men who have experienced problems to help them in their undertakings here.

To Collect S. G. A. Dues By Means of Directory

S. G. A. officials are checking over those who have paid their S. G. A. dues with the student directory and by the end of the week will have a complete list available from which to work. The house chairman will receive the lists of the unpaid dues from their house and will have the dues paid to them. Any women who have not paid at the end of this house drive will be summoned to the S. G. A. office. It is essential that all of these dues be paid if the S. G. A. continue to function.

Urge Loyal Subscribers To Wear Badger Buttons

"All 1924 Badger subscribers should wear their buttons conspicuously," Howard Lyman '24, business manager, declared yesterday. "It is evidence of loyalty to the annual, and a safeguard against the attacks of solicitors."

Subscriptions at the $4.50 rate will be received all this week through solicitors or at the office. Practically 2000 of the 5000 subscriptions anticipated are still to come in.

The circulation manager is anxious to have all orders closed this week, and thus prevent the usual demand from latecomers who are bound to meet with disappointment in the end, if they take a chance on being able to secure extra copies after the book has been printed," Willard Kirchner '23, warned.

BAPTIST STUDENTS CANVASS FOR $700

$700 will be raised this week by Baptist students. The Baptist student headquarters, near the Administration building on Park street, cooperates with the church in its student work and is financed entirely by students of the university. "Practical religion" is the keynote of the work of the Baptist young people, on which their diversified program is based. Gospel teams are sent out every year to towns and cities of southern Wisconsin. "Gibby," University half-back, Merle Rider, of Rider's pen shop, "Cal" Dietrich, candidate for the student senate are among the capable ones sent out annually to conduct peppy meetings of the "fourfold life" in the surrounding towns and cities.

Parties, hikes, and picnics throughout the year develop the social side. All works toward a well balanced life.

Postponed S. G. A. Party To Avoid a Precedent

The indefinite postponement of the S. G. A. Halloween party which was originally scheduled for last night was due to the feeling of the committee that S. G. A. should not establish a precedent of any sort for mid-week parties for women in the evenings. Dean F. Louise Nardin was not responsible for the postponement.

A series of parties for the women in the districts is being planned to get the women who live close together better acquainted. Announcements of these parties will be made later.

"We are sorry that the party was postponed at such a late date, but the feeling of the committee in charge was against establishing any sort of a precedent for mid-week evening parties," said Cleo Parsley '23, president of S. G. A.

NEWS OF CONFERENCE SPORTS

YALE AND ARMY ELEVENS BATTLE FOR TIE FINISH

80,000 See Evenly Matched Teams in Close Contest

Before a crowd of 80,000 cheering enthusiasts, the Yale and Army elevens battled to a 7-7 tie in the Yale bowl last Saturday. The two evenly matched teams playing their best brand of football held each other scoreless for the first two periods of the game.

At the start of the second half both teams resorted to a punting game. After Jordon, ale, had been downed in the center of the field, the sons of old Eli bucked up and showed real spirit. Mallory gained 10 yards on a delayed pass. A crash for two yards through center, and then a 25-yard pass, put the ball on the Army's 10 yard line. Another pass to Neale and he slipped over the line for a touchdown. Neale also kicked goal.

Army Scores

Shortly after the beginning of the fourth quarter, Yale punted from her 30 yard line. Then started a triumphant march of the West Point lads, straight down the field for a touchdown. A pass, Wood to Smythe, netted the West Pointer's 35 yards. Another pass put the ball on Yale's 3 yard line, and then Wood crashed through for a touchdown. Wood also kicked goal.

A spirited fight followed in which Yale once nearly scored a drop kick, the ball falling short of the bar by a short distance. The final whistle left the elevens with a 7-7 tie, which will have to be fought off some other year.

Harvard Wins

After an absence of ten years from Soldier's Field, the big Green team from Dartmouth visited Charley Buell's Crimson football team last Saturday, and were courteously plastered a 12-3 defeat before a crowd of 52,000 spectators. The game was played in the old fashioned style, Dartmouth seldom using anything but off-tackle plays and smashes, and Harvard doing likewise, Harvard evidently saving her "stuff" for the stiff games she still has left on her schedule.

Once Dartmouth did try a pass in the last period of play, but it was a costly experience, for it was intercepted by Percy Jenkins of Harvard who ran with it for the only touchdown of the game. Harvard's other 6 points were the results of a drop kick and a place kick. Dartmouth's lone 3 markers were tallied by a 42 yard place kick by Neidlinger. Outside of straight bucks and off-tackle plays both teams played a punting game.

URGES PAYMENT OF PLEDGES FOR BAND

"Send in your pledges immediately," is the plea made to the various fraternities and sororities on the campus by Gus Tuckerman who is handling the drive to send the band to Minnesota.

This drive will be conducted among the Greek letter organizations only, thus making it unnecessary to have a special tag day for this purpose. By so doing, this larger source of revenue will be reserved for sending the band to Michigan, a much more expensive trip. However, unless the houses act upon the question right away it will be rather difficult to make the necessary arrangements properly.

The plan as it is being carried out provides that each organization respond with a contribution of ten dollars. If every one comes through properly a fund of $640.00 will be available. This will not be entirely sufficient to defray the expenses of sending 50 men to the game, but the difference will be made up by a canvass of some of the business houses in town. At the present time about one-third of those asked have made their pledges, but they are reporting faster now than they did earlier, according to Tuckerman. Nevertheless, unless the response is more speedy the success of the plan is uncertain.

Randolph Wins 'Medical Mug' on Tennis Court

By winning the Medical School tennis tournament, H. C. Randolph '24, has also gained one of the three wins entitling the winner to the "Medical Mug." Mr. Randolph's runner-up was E. S. Watson, with Mr. W. J. Murphy third.

The tournament was entered by 52 men from students and faculty. It is expected that the Medical school will play two tournaments each year, one in the spring and one in the fall.

The departments of agriculture, chemistry, soils and bacteriology will all be played by the Medical school. These departments issued a challenge to the Medical school three weeks ago. It is expected that teams of four men from the Medical and Agric schools will compete in four singles and one double match. The dates of the interschool matches will be announced shortly.

FROSH TO HAVE UNUSUAL TEAM

Sophomore Team Weakened By Selections For Varsity

From all indications it looks as though the Freshmen would have the best football team that the first year class has put out in many years.

In the scrimmage against the varsity last night the frosh proved that everyone on the team is a fighter. The one outstanding star that is making the most ground for the frosh is "Larry" Reuland. The little Reedsburg speed demon shows that he has a real football head on him. Time and again he circled the varsity end for long gains.

When the ball was worked up to the varsity goal it was Larry that dove over the pile and scored a touch down. The line was also working good against their heavier opponents.

The soph team has been weakened due to the fact that Coach Richards has been taking the best material for the varsity squad. The squad is small, and the line material is weak. O'Brien at quarter will be a great help to the sophs when it comes to ground gaining. Collins at end had ought to be a great hinderance to the frosh attack. Coach Lowman predicts a hard scrap if the sophs only master the Illinois shift that they are working on now.

The frosh have the edge on the sophs at the present time.

Knight of Green Cloth Issues Open Challenge

J. Dawson, expert billiard player, will meet anyone who wishes to oppose him at Fisher's pool hall this afternoon or evening. He will play 50 or no count or 15 or no count in one pocket. He will also demonstrate fancy shots.

SEVEN MEMBERS OF TANK SQUAD SWIM NIGHTLY

Squad Captain Predicts Big Year in Swimming At Wisconsin

Seven men, five of whom are regulars of last year's swimming team, are reporting regularly for practice to Coach Joe Steinauer, who will pick the Varsity swimming squad within the next month.

The men reporting are Captain Johnson Bennett '24, Byron Sto '23, Hugo Cherwoncky '24, Norman Koch '23, Sterling Ewald '23, Chester Ellicott '23, and Ted Gilbert '23. All are members of last year's squad with the exception of Ewald and Ellicott.

Ellicott has served his year of residence at Wisconsin and is now eligible to compete with the varsity.

Captain Bennett swims the forty, two-hundred, and the backstroke. Storey swims the backstroke. Koch holds forth in the dives. Gilbert swims the hundred, two-hundred, relay, and, if necessary, can do justice to the backstroke. Cherwoncky does the back as well as the breast-stroke. Captain Bill Collins, Julian Lamboley, Tom Davies, and Bernard Huebner, regulars of last year's team, are lost through graduation.

"Prospects are even better than last year," says Captain Bennett. "If the men continue to report and are not lost through ineligibility, the team will show up big."

PURDUE UNDAUNTED BY IOWA VICTORY

(Special to The Cardinal)
LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 31—Undaunted by the overwhelming score made by Iowa last Saturday the Purdue football squad started workout today for the Wabash game. The Little Giants have lost only one game this year have not had a touchdown made against them.

The three field goals made by Butler last week were the only points scored against them. Last year Purdue opened the season by losing to them by a 9 to 0 score. Three hard games with Notre Dame, Chicago, and Iowa left the Boilermakers in poor shape for the next game.

The student body is still behind the team was plainly seen Sunday afternoon when fifteen hundred of them journeyed to the Big Four station and greeted the players and coach with some lusty yells. The team and players are anxious to wipe out the sting of last year's defeat at the hands of Wabash and the poor showing made last Saturday.

The cross country season will open next Saturday with a dual meet with Illinois. The Purdue squad is the weakest that has ever reported in the fall. Furnes, the star of the team for three years, has graduated.

PLAN INTRAMURAL HARRIER SCHEDULE

Three intramural cross country meets have been scheduled by Coach Mead Burke, it was announced at the gymnasium yesterday.

The first will be held on November 4. All harriers who do not make the trip to Minnesota on Friday are eligible to enter the annual intercollegiate meet which is slated for 11:15 Saturday morning. College insignia will be awarded to the winning team and to the first five men to finish. The race will be run over a 2.9 miles course.

The annual interclass competition is scheduled for November 18. It will be held over a short course and is open to all men except those competing in the final Varsity time trials on the same day. Class numerals will be given to the winning team and to the first five men to finish.

HAWAII ALUMNI HAVE BANQUET

To Observe Homecoming With Direct Wire Reports on Game

That Wisconsin alumni in all parts of the earth are interested in Wisconsin football and keeping in touch with the Badgers' success is indicated by a letter received by Coach John R. Richards from Joseph R. Sherr '21, who is stationed at Schofield barracks, Hawaii.

Sherr wrote that a dozen former Wisconsin men are stationed in the barracks and are planning a banquet and smoker on the night of the Homecoming game, with a wire direct to the banquet room.

The letter to Richards follows, in part:

"The Wisconsin alumni in Hawaii are anxiously watching the news for reports of the dongs of Wisconsin's football team. We were gratified to find the easy time you had with South Dakota Aggies, and are looking for a most successful season. We are taking this opportunity of wishing the team (and their coach) the best of luck for the coming season."

GHOST BALL IS USED IN HARD GRID PRACTICE

Richards Drives Squad in Final Work-outs Before Big Game

With the Minnesota game only three days distant, Coach John R. Richards continues to drive his men hard in scrimmage against the freshman eleven. Varsity and the yearlings engaged in another grueling tiff yesterday afternoon and the ghost ball was again called into use before Richards halted the workout.

The line is being whipped into the semblance of a regular Varsity wall. With the return of Below to left tackle and the shifting of Hohlfield to left guard, a better balance has been secured and both sides of the line are on a par in strength.

Nichols still has the edge over Pearse for center, but both men are being tried in the position. Nichols' work in early games has been good enough to insure him a permanent place on the Varsity if he maintains the gait.

The freshmen are using Minnesota plays against the regs, and although they succeeded fairly well at first, they are not gaining much ground with Gopher formations.

May Shift Backs
Just what set of backs will be primed for the set-to with Minnesota is a big question. Capt. Williams and Gibson are the regular halves, but they may not start against the Gophers, although both are regularly reporting for practice and are working out.

Whitten and Harris are good bets for the halfback jobs, and if it became necessary, Coach Richards might go farther down the list and pick Eagleburger and Saari. Opitz, sophomore who was jerked from the All-Americans and placed on the Varsity, is a sweet halfback. In the skirmish yesterday, he ripped the freshman line to shreds and he has taken a position not far below that of Williams and Gibson.

returns of the Wisconsin-Minnesota football game. By means of a special leased wire the scores and interesting points at the game will be read to the audience almost immediately after they take place.

AS we walk along Langdon street in the early evening, we feel impressed with the fact that music plays a great part in undergraduate life. From house after house, as we pass, come the sounds of orchestras. Good orchestras they are, made up of skillful musicians. They play jazz.

Perhaps, as we walk along, we come to a block where we hear no orchestras. Through an open window drifts the sound of a phonograph. We listen intently. It is playing "Hot Lips."

Softly on the gentle air of Indian summer is wafted the sound of distant music. There is serenading on Langdon street.

Late students lay aside their books, open wide the windows. Early occupants of double-deckers stir slightly and lie silently listening to the harmony.

The singers come closer and linger before the sorority house across the street. It is a quartet. Perhaps here is a saxophone with it.

An ambitious saxophone player, leaning from his window, ejaculates, "Gosh, isn't that mean harmony! Just listen to that tenor, the breaks of that sax!"

"Yes, it is pretty," agrees his long-suffering room-mate, "but I wish they'd give us something besides jazz."

"Jazz? That ain't jazz!" is the patronizing answer, "That's a vocal quartet. They're singing 'Kiki-Koo'."

Jazz reigns over the youth of this cultured campus community. The banjo and the saxophone are sovereign.

The old college songs are dead, relegated to the past along with "Alexander's Ray Time Band" The simple serenade songs of yesterday are forgotten. Opera and symphony are familiar only through the hybrid harmony of the dance hall. Bach and Chopin may sometimes be distinguished from the discords emanating from Music hall and the loft above the Chocolate shop.

The obvious exception is concerts. Doubtless some will point to the immense crowd that will pack the gym tonight as evidence that students crave and appreciate good music.

But we wonder.
Church is of little value if religion is not given a part in every day life. Are concerts of much value if good music is not given a place in every day life?

The musical organization also may be cited as exceptions. They do serious work with worth while music. But their membership is small and their influence is largely confined to the concerts they give.

No, is it jazz that reigns. The musical craving of hundreds, even thousands of students is fed only with jazz.

Is it not a pity?

We do not condemn jazz. We enjoy the music of the dance halls and the Brunswick records. But jazz is purely physical in appeal.

Good music is the language of the emotions. It appeals to those higher instincts that make men men. It is a part of civilization.

Jazz has none of this. It is enjoyable, but it is an atavism, a reversion to the physical.

Man cannot live by bread alone; he needs spiritual food.

Can man's higher instincts live by jazz alone?

INTERSECTIONAL FOOTBALL

THE most unfortunate point in connection with the recent sensational Princeton-Chicago football game is applicable equally to Princeton in victory and Chicago in defeat. It is not the outcome of this particular contest which is unfortunate. That is incidental. But the decision to hold no more such intersectional football contests is a serious loss to all eastern and western universities and to their graduates.

The university authorities who have reached this decision offer as their chief reason the argument that they take too much time of the players and their associates from study, which after all is the primary purpose of university life. We believe they are mistaken in this. The alternative to such intersectional games is not study. The question, then, is not whether Princeton shall come to Chicago or Chicago go to Princeton to play, but whether each university shall meet the other or meet some less interesting rival.

Such intersectional games as Iowa and Yale, Princeton and Chicago, or Harvard and Centre undoubtedly have an immense appeal to popular interest. Every boy in the neighborhood reads about it and thinks about it for days in advance of the contest and even afterward. It in-

Walker Whiteside Hypnotizes Audience In "The Hindu"

BY HICKMAN POWELL

The audience at the Parkway last night paid Mr. Walker Whiteside the greatest tribute that has been paid to any theatrical star who has appeared in Madison this season. He is the only one whose first appearance on the stage has not been greeted by an insipid twitter of applause.

"The Hindu" is a melodrama of suspended mystery, depending on the power of the cast to make the audience forget reality, and from the minute Mr. Whiteside appeared on the stage the audience was rapt. All was attention; everybody forgot his hands until the curtain fell.

From the moment the curtain falls on a sepulchral prologue in Scotland Yard, the hearers are carried on a magic carpet to mysterious India.

India? Commentators tell us that Shakespeare's Forest of Arden is no real forest at all, but an idealized pastoral scene, Arcadia. Mr. George Kean, who wrote "The Hindu," comes very close to admitting that he knows nothing of India or Scotland Yard. But what does it matter?

Directory Raises Time Worn Query What's A Name?

What's in a name?

There are no union men at the university whose hours are limited and yet the directory reveals Carpenters, Masons, Taylors, Bakers, Brewers, Bellmen, Fishers, Divers, Goldsmiths, Cooks, Millers, Pages, Parsons, Porters, Seamen, Woodmen, Sextons, Monks, Stewarts, and Cotters.

A monarchy boasts of its king but we have nine and still no royal display disturbs our study hours or interrupts our 8 o'clocks—such is the spirit of democracy.

The clinic makes all repairs on Chandlers, Fords, Haynes, Dodges, Packards, Hudsons, and Paiges. Although it has not been established by the traditions committee the university color scheme seems to be Grey, Green, Brown, Black and White.

A Smith-Johnson rush would be a close contest, for although the Smith tribe numbers 63 to the Johnson clan's 55 we feel sure that the Johnsens and Johnstons would forget little differences and join in the battle.

spires them all to play football, and to play better football, which makes tremendously for better bodies and cleaner, brighter minds. In the same way it raises the standards and stimulates the energies of the college men themselves. As an advertisement it is invaluable to any university to send a winning team, or even an effectively fighting team, into the territory of a distant rival.

The score aside, Princeton university is better off for having come to Chicago. Its athletes have made many friends here for the institution. Similarly, the University of Chicago is better off for having sent its team to Princeton and defeated the Tiger a year ago. Its graduates will meet Princeton graduates in the greater struggle of life on more equal footing for the mutual respect thus engendered.

Such contests tend to break down snobbery and provincialism. They offer wholesome entertainment and stimulate beneficial athletics. They let the east see that the west is not a foreign land of barbarians, but a section of wholesome and efficient Americans. They let the west see that the east is not a supercilious region of snobs, but a place of culture and progress. They impress these lessons by personal, and sometimes violent, contact, in such manner as no amount of reading or transfer of professors could ever do.

That, briefly, is the great argument for intersectional football. It is a minor point that just as we are beginning to have a good time with these contest some cold eyed professors come along and take the joy out of life. —The Chicago Tribune.

WE SEE that in England

A NEW game is all the rage

IT IS called "Beaver"

FOR those who are not acquainted with the details of the game we will give a brief resume of how the game is played.

The object of the game is to win forty points as you do in tennis, but the thing that scores the points is whiskers, not the "first down" kind such as we find on some of the striving students, but real honest to gosh whiskers like the kind "Benny" Snow totes around, or perhaps Prof. Dresden.

In England if someone sees the king's whiskers while the game is in progress, he wins the game, but as we have no king over in this country we will arbitrarily make the rule that if anybody sees Santa Claus he will win.

So if in the near future you should hear someone say "Isn't that the Kings Whiskers, or the Cat's Whiskers," don't be surprised.

The spirit of Goblins is in the air.

The signs of spooks are everywhere.

Beneath the limbs of yonder tree

A gastly face looks out at me.

I shriek and clutch my throat in fear.

And then a childish voice I hear

That laughs at me and proudly boasts

That he is not afraid of Ghosts.

And in the grim, gray light dawn,

As o'er my books I sleep and yawn

There comes a vision pale and sleek,

In memory of exams last week.

This sneaking, slinking figure whispers in my ear that I Haven't even a ghost of a chance of ever getting by.

A shriek, a yell, a stifled scream!!

And then I wake from out my dream.

The spirit of goblins is in the air!

The signs of spooks are everywhere!

'Tis Halloween!!

Yesterday at football practice

Coach Richards asked Ben Pearce

if "clipping from behind" was permissable and Ben said that it was, providing you had a good barber and of course it all depends on how you wear your hair, but he personally never liked it.

Once upon a time

ONE OF the Delts

WENT DOWN to the bank

And walked up to the window

AND SAID,

"What can I get for my money?"

And they young fella at the window said,

"Four percent!"

And so our D. T. D. said

I'LL TAKE A COUPLE OF CASHES!!!

We overheard a conversation last night between a couple of co-eds, one of whom had evidently been disappointed in love or something for it seems that some other girl had stolen her favorite "sheik" and she was feeling kinda catty as women are apt to feel. Her girl friend spoke thus, "She certainly does get the men but I don't see how she does it. I wonder what kind of perfume she uses," and the second one spoke thusly, "Oh

she probably uses ether or chloroform." Now I ask you wasn't that nasty???

"No monkey business here," said the young man as he closed up his wild animal stock.

Special attraction and decorations have been planned for the benefit of members of the squad, who will be the guests of the management.

Surrounded by a set of beautiful scenery and a duo of dancers, the artistic offering of Ethel Parker will be seen at the Orpheum for the last time today. Stan Stanley assisted by a fast working "gentlemen" and a clever girl, are offering his new laughable skit, "A Theatre Episode." Other acts showing for the last times tonight are John and Winnie Hennings, "The Kill Kare Couple"; Bayes and Fields, "The London Johnnies"; Harry Bussey, "The Versatile Funster"; and "An Artistic Triumph," presented by Althea Lucas and Co.

"A Night at Mardi Gras" will be the outstanding attraction on the new program for three days starting tomorrow night. This vaudeville spectacle will be presented by La Bernicia and her company of dancers. Formerly a minstrel man, and now equally as famous as a vaudeville star, Harry Van Fossen, will be a notable feature of the new show. Four more Orpheum Circuit acts will make up the last half program.

Sororities May Agree To Change Rushing Rules

"Questionnaires have been sent out to all the sororities in the attempt to secure definite suggestions that will lead to the improvement of this year's criticised rushing system," reported Isabelle Trotter '23, president of Pan Hellenic association yesterday.

Questionnaires call for a discussion of what features of this year's rushing season were liked best, which ones were disapproved of,

DIRECTORY SHOWS 7,367 REGISTERED

A total of 7,367 students are now registered in the university, according to the tables in the annual directory, just issued. This number exceeds by 23 the enrollment at the same time last year. The total includes 4,646 men and 2,723 women, in contrast to 4,799 men and 2,545 women last year.

The graduate school has an enrollment of 657 now, while their attendance last year was only 630. Their ranks consist of 474 men and 183 women, in comparison to 361 men and 169 women last year.

The senior class is starting out with 1,384 members, 905 of whom are men and 479 women. The graduating class of '22 numbered 760 men and 279 women—a total of 1,139.

The junior class lacks 4 of reaching last years' quota for there are only 1,586 members in all, this number consisting of 955 men and 631 women. But last year there were 1,012 men and 577 women.

The sophomores number 1,596—944 men and 602 women. Last year there were 1,052 men and 605 women—totalling 1,657.

The freshman class is slightly smaller, with a total of 1,987 students, including 1232 men and 755 women. Last fall they numbered 2,160, with 1,407 men and 753 women.

There are also 125 special and unclassified students of whom 87 are men and 39 women.

and what suggestive steps can be taken to have future rushing meet with the popular approval of the sororities. The severe criticism that resulted from fall rushing this year was the cause of this method of investigation.

Minnesota Band Sends Greetings to Badgers

The members of the Minnesota band have sent an invitation to the Wisconsin band to be their guests at the game at Minneapolis Saturday. The invitation states that the Gopher band is anxious to entertain the Badger organization and to act as host during the homecoming there.

Last year the visiting Minnesota band was entertained at Madison by Wisconsin's band which also provided trucks for hauling and rooms for storing baggage for the visitors.

"The friendly spirit shown between Conference bands in their meetings at football games is much more valuable to all than is merely an absurd rivalry as to who can blow the loudest on the field," Major E. W. Morphy said yesterday.

UNITED THEY STAND

There has been much talk to the effect that the theory of Evolution, as taught in the University of Wisconsin, is unwholesome and untrue; that it excludes Christian doctrines.

There has been a certain degree of misunderstanding among students, and others, to the effect that some of our scientific professors have been giving anti-Christian lectures in the class rooms.

The result is that many have taken exclusive views on the Scientific-Religious question, believing that they must adhere to the one side or to the other, and that no compromise is possible.

Tomorrow evening Dr. George Craig Stewart will be here to tell the students of the University, in his thorough, convincing manner, that Science is true; that Christianity is a truth; that "Evolution is a Witness to God!"

The Rev. Dr. Stewart, of Evanston, Illinois, will address the student body in Muise Hall, at 7:30 p. m., tomorrow, November 2nd.

Polly Presides At Unique Tea And Gift Shop

Polly presides at the front window of her lovely new tea and gift shop, waiting to welcome all comers, whether they be in search of delicate and satisfying food or a very special gift. Now it happens that Polly has all the honor of being the real proprietor of the Polly shop at 925 University avenue because Mrs. Helen B. Burton, the owner, has allowed her Polly, the little green parrot, to take this distinguished station.

The Polly shop opened for business yesterday noon. The unique feature of the shop for Madison lies in the combination of a tea room with a gift shop. The shop will be open from noon to 8 o'clock daily. The special luncheon served yesterday noon will be continued regularly.

The decoration of the two tea rooms provides a cheery setting for Polly, walls a warm grey, and window drapes predominating in blue, spots of bright colors in the tapestry pattern. The furniture is mahogany gate-leg tables and spindle chairs; a rose shaded lamp and a "polly" menu holder decorate each table. The china is the Old Blue willow design.

Candy, party favors, craftsman metal work, hand dipped candles, leather goods, framed Medici prints, boxed gifts and toys, character dolls, the best sellers and gift books anything that you want,—or if you don't know what you want,—look for it at the Polly shop.

The wares come from all over the country, from Japan a great variety of novelties, from the Papago Indians in Arizona their woven baskets, from Massachusetts the colored marblehead pottery, and the red silk couch covers with a white embroidered W monogram made in Kentucky, especially to sell in Madison.

Standard Fur Co. Has New Silk Department

The Standard Fur Co., 110 King St., has installed a complete new silk department, it was announced today. Part of the stock is already on hand and the balance of it is on the way. M. N. Kahn made arrangements for the department while in the east last week.

Follies Girl to Appear Before New York Alumni

A danseuse of the Ziegfeld "Follies" will entertain the New York alumni at their dinner dance on November 11.

Maxson F. Judell '17, vice president, has secured Miss Muriel Stryker as a professional entertainer and social guest, despite the fact that none of Ziegfeld's stars have never before been permitted to appear elsewhere than the New Amsterdam theater.

The dinner will be in the form of buffet supper in the famous Engineers' club rooms. Returns from the Homecoming football game will be given out and it is understood that one or two more stage stars will be secured by Mr. Judell for the evening.

The president chosen last year has moved away from New York so a new one will be elected. A. R. Taylor, an old officer of the New York alumni, appears to be the most likely candidate.

SHOOTS BIG BEAR
RHINELANDER, Wis.—Edward Bergman of Rhinelander yesterday shot and killed a 400 pound bear while hunting eleven miles south of here. Bergman first noticed the bruin coming out of its den and with a well directed shot killed him instantly.

PLATTEVILLE—An automobile and 100 pints of bonded whiskey were confiscated, and one man arrested, when Sheriff Richard Holmes of Grant county intercepted an alleged rum running expedition from Dubuque.

GREEN BAY—Out of a total of 57 requests for freedom by inmates in the Green Bay state reformatory, 23 were granted by the state board of control in its annual visit to the institution, according to Oscar Lee, superintendent.

Farmers' Institutes to Teach Correct Feeding

To get in touch with the individual farmer, a series of 200 two-day institutes will be held throughout the state this year and in connection with them about 100 or 150 one-day open meetings. Representatives from university and local agents of the county will be in charge of the meetings which will be conducted in schoolrooms, town halls, or community halls.

The keynote of the discussions will be how to get the best combinations of feeds for livestock without being forced to purchase any of them. They encourage cultivation of corn, red clover, soy beans and alfalfa.

To grow alfalfa it is necessary to lime the soil. The value of this process was tested last year in Monroe county and proved very successful and "the farmers are falling in line with the liming idea," says Griffith Richards of the University soils department. The other important discussions will be the feeding of pigs and poultry.

"Through feeding all farm produce to live stock, the farmer will hold out on the consumer and raise prices of farm products and the farmer will become self sufficient," claims Mr. Luther, Superintendent of the Farmers' Institutes of Wisconsin.

Graduate Student Will Speak to Senior Club

A talk on his thesis work "Group Velocities," will be given by Frederick Wood, graduate student, at the meeting of the Senior Mathematics club, at 4:15 o'clock tomorrow night in 309 North hall.

MANY ENTRIES IN STOCK SHOW

Badgers to Be Well Represented at Chicago Exposition

The Badger state will be well represented at the third annual International Livestock show at Chicago, December 2 to 9, according to a statement made yesterday by Prof. A. L. Stone of the College of Agriculture. Thousands of Wisconsin farmers are expected to compete for a share in the $10,000 in prizes offered by the Chicago Board of Trade.

During the three years in which the show has been held, Wisconsin has carried off a major portion of the prizes. Two years ago, she ranked highest among all the states exhibiting, and last year took the lead in her zone, with a record of 400 entries and $1200 in prize money. Plans are being formed to make the Badger exhibit this year exceed even those of former years.

Holden In Charge

Mr. E. D. Holden of the agronomy department of the College of Agriculture will take personal charge of the Wisconsin exhibit. In addition, there will be an educational exhibit under the direction of Mr. F. B. Morrison, also of the College of Agriculture. When asked as to the nature of the exhibit, Mr. Morrison said that the plans had not yet been completed, but that it would be in general upon the subject of the feeding of swine.

The International Live Stock show is an old institution, having been held in Chicago annually for many years, but it was only three years ago that Mr. G. I. Christie of the Chicago Board of Trade conceived the idea of a hay and grain show to be held in conjunction with the stock exhibit. Since its inauguration, however, the institution has proven a great success and has been received with enthusiasm by farmers from all parts of the United States as well as from Canada.

Employ Zone System

Besides the large number of samples entered in competition for prizes, there have been exhibits each year by the various states, by the United States, and by Canada.

In order to even up the competition the states are divided into six zones and each state competes with the other states in its zone. Wisconsin will compete with Minnesota, Michigan, Canada, and other sections devoted to the raising of the same general class of crops. Judges are chosen from the states competing, the corn judges being taken

Presbyterian Student Cabinet Holds Meeting

The first Presbyterian student cabinet meeting of the year was held at the Presbyterian Student headquarters last night. Plans for the semester activities were discussed and means for reaching the new students were suggested. The following members were appointed to serve on the cabinet during the year 1922-23: Herman Hoffman '23, James Douglas '24, Helen McLandress, Helen Bell '23, Herman Willet '23, Roland Baker '24, Eleanor Flynn '22, Tom Dartnell '23, Harry Carswell '23, Elizabeth Nelson '25, James Watson '25, Kenneth Wicker '24, Marian Se Cheverell '24, Edith Porter '24, Ted Field '24, Helen Powell '25, and Clyde Gleason '23.

from the corn belt (Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, and Missouri, and the judges for all other entries coming from Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Kansas, and Canada.

SHORT COURSE TO BEGIN SOON

Expect Over 300 in Agric School Lasting Fifteen Weeks

Each county in the state of Wisconsin, several states, and foreign countries will be represented in the enrollment for the Short Course in Agriculture, offered by the College of Agriculture, for young men from November 15 to March 16.

The Short Course, which lasts fifteen weeks during the winter months when farm work is least pressing, is intended for young men interested in farm management. The fifteen weeks are divided into three terms of five weeks each and new students may register for any one of them. Registration days for the first term are November 13 and 14.

To graduate from the Short Course or secure the short Course Certificate requires six terms of work or two Short Courses.

"Prospects are good for a successful year and we are expecting 300 or more to register," said Prof. Thomas L. Bewick, professor of agricultural education, who is the head of the Short Course. Last year's graduates are each under a pledge to send one student, which will help a great deal in making the desired number.

The Short Course was established in 1885 and has since been attended by 6,130 students. Most of the graduates return to their home farm managers, foremen, or special lists in some branch as, beekeepers or diarymen.

Red Gauntlet to Hold Pep Meeting at Lathrop

A pep meeting of Red Gauntlet, class organization of all sophomore women will be held at 7 o'clock tonight in Lathrop concert room. A short business meeting will conclude the program.

"The purpose of the meeting is to work up active class spirit and enthusiasm," declared Betty Stolte '23, president, who will preside. All sophomore women are asked to be present and display their class loyalty.

Miss Cynthia Wesson, head hockey instructor, will address the girls, giving suggestions for increased spirit among Red Gauntlet members. Miss Lydia Brown, sophomore dean of women, will speak on the value of a pep meeting. Esther Field '25, will emphasize the student's viewpoint on co-operative team work.

$1,000 for Some Woman OR GIRL

Who reads the new mystery story

"The Green Archer"

By EDGAR WALLACE

In THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS

Beginning Thursday, November 2

The story—the newspaper serial story—has become the habit, and a very good habit, of the great majority of American newspaper readers. The reason is not far to seek. After the strenuous day the evening story, moving on the wings of imagination, brings with its complete change of thought and interest a benediction of mental rest that makes an almost universal appeal.

In presenting "The Green Archer"—a new of mystery—The Chicago Daily News introduces a new feature of added interest in story reading—a distribution of $3,000 in prizes for the best solutions of the story's mystery. Here is a battle of wits that should provoke the best efforts of the reader to rank as one of the one hundred and sixty victors in the contest.

The Chicago Daily News is pre-eminently a family newspaper, and its long established daily installment of a high-grade serial story is a feature intended specially to commend it to the home circle. To emphasize—and advertise—the fact that The Chicago Daily News is a newspaper particularly intended for women's reading, the condition is made that the three thousand dollars in prizes shall be paid only for explanations of the story's mystery sent in by women and girls. All may read, but only women and girls may enter the contest—and win the three thousand dollars.

Going Into Business?

After graduation, you must bridge the "years of experience" before you will be fitted to occupy a position of business responsibility and trust.

To men who are eager to shorten these years, Babson Institute offers an intensive training course of one or two years in business practice.

No lectures; no conferences. No written work; but dictation through dictating machines and secretaries.

Babson Institute, an educational institution endowed for the purpose of fitting men for true executive responsibilities, invites you to send for the booklet, "Training for Business Leadership." Write today.
