COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE

SHORT COURSE BEGAN LAST WEEK.

LARGEST GAIN OF ANY OF THE COLLEGES.

Several Graduate Students Enrolled—Importance of the Work.

The College of Agriculture opens up this winter with the largest attendance ever recorded. The coming University catalogue will show at least five graduate students studying agriculture. Among these are Mr. W. D. Gibbs, a master degree graduate of the University of Illinois, who is pursuing special work in Agricultural Physics under Prof. F. H. King, and Feeding and Breeding under Professors Henry and Craig. Mr. W. A. Powers, chemist for the Experiment Station of the Illinois University, is working for a Master's degree, his work being under Drs. Babcock and Russell. Mr. S. F. Bizzelle, a colored graduate of the Tuskegee Alabama College, is studying horticulture with Prof. Goff in order to prepare himself for teaching that branch in the institution where he was educated. Mr. W. F. Bates of the Arkansas Agricultural Mechanical College, who was a student at the Agricultural College winter before last has returned this time for the purpose of studying the Wisconsin Farmers' Institute system, and will remain about one month. Friday Prof. Henry received a telegram from the president of the Massachusetts Agricultural College, Amherst, asking if we had room for an honor graduate of that institution to take dairying as a specialty. The reply was favorable, and it is supposed that the applicant will soon be on the ground.

It is the Short Course in Agriculture which shows the heaviest gains this year. Last year there were 67 students in all registered in this course; at this writing there are 100 in attendance. Of this number 18 are second year students. The Dairy class at this time number 99 in attendance, with several more to come.

The desire for dairy knowledge and the interest in dairying is shown by the attendance, and studies elected by the students indicate that this industry is rapidly growing in importance. The dairy output of Wisconsin is now above thirty million dollars per year, and capable of being doubled by the beginning of the new century. Denmark, only one-fourth the size of the state of Wisconsin, receives annually twenty-four million dollars from Great Britain in payment for butter alone. Canada last year shipped thirteen million dollars worth of cheese to Great Britain. With her fertile soil, pure water and salubrious climate, Wisconsin can easily become the greatest dairy state in the union, and our university, through its Agricultural College, is laboring to earn the reputation of having brought about this desirable condition.

UNIVERSITY HALL FLOODED.

The Tank Overflows—Forgot to Stop Pumping.

Many of those who had occasion to be at University hall this morning were unable to remain in the recitation rooms on account of the flood of water from the large tank in the top of the building. The rooms on the third floor suffered the most, some of the floors being completely flooded with the water. The plaster was soaked through and it seemed as if an accident was imminent. Happily however nothing of the sort occurred and the rooms are now in shape to be used. It seems that the men at the pumping station forgot to turn off the water when the tank was full and it consequently overflowed. As soon as the water was turned off the trouble ceased.

GEOLOGICAL JOURNAL CLUB.

The first meeting of the club will be on Wednesday, Jan. 16, for which the following reviews are arranged:

Brook's "The oldest fossils and the discovery of the bottom of the ocean," reviewed by Professor Van Hise.

Report on several new instruments for mineralogical study, by Professor Hobbs.

Mobius' "Die echten Perlen," reviewed by Mr. Rohn.

Miers on the variation of crystal angles and on vicinal planes, reviewed by Mr. Leith.

INAUGURAL BALL.

Held in the Gymnasium Last Evening—Many Students Present.

Never before has the ability of the gymnasium to accommodate a crowd been so taxed as it was last evening. The capacity of the hall, which was supposed to be unlimited, was insufficient for the dancers and spectators. The facilities of the cloak rooms were especially inadequate. The gallery was packed and many who came only to look on were compelled to go on the floor.

The reception began at a few minutes after 8 o'clock, when the reception committee, consisting of both the new and the old state officials, entered the room. Dancing began about 9 and continued until an early hour this morning. The affair was attended by many from out of town, including a number of university alumni, and by a great many students.

NEW STATE OFFICERS.

Inaugurated Yesterday Noon—A Large Crowd Present.

The new state officials were inaugurated at noon yesterday. The special train with the officers-elect, which arrived at 11:30, was met by a special committee of citizens. They then proceeded to the assembly chamber where the oath of office was administered by Chief Justice Orton. The new officers then proceeded to their offices where they signed the oaths previously taken in the assembly chamber. Several informal receptions were held in the offices.

ATHENASEMI-PUBLIC THURSDAY

ATHENA'S SOPHOMORES WILL DEBATE.

A DISCUSSION OF THE TARIFF QUESTION.

Oration, Essay and Toast—Complete Program.

The first semi-public for the season will be given Thursday evening at Library hall by members of the Athenaeon society. The sophomores have been at work for some time in preparation of the program and hope to show the public the progress they have made in but two years of literary drill in the debating society. The exercises will be opened by the president of the evening, J. K. Lynch, in a short address. The remainder of the program is as follows:

Essay—H. S. Ferguson.

Oration—Liberty and the Anglo-Saxon—F. B. Dow.

Music—Selected—A. Hedler.

Debate—"Would a tariff for revenue only, provided it be introduced for a period of not less than twenty years, be more beneficial to the laboring men of the United States than a system of protective tariffs such as has been in operation for the last twenty-five years?"

To be debated upon the affirmative by W. W. Hughes, Henry Lockney, W. S. Gannon; on the negative by F. H. Clausen, J. Gilbertson, H. F. Cochems.

Music—Selected.

Judges—Judge Bunn, Judge Newman, Prof. C. H. Haskins.

LECTURES ON AMERICAN CHARITIES.

To Be Given in Connection with Dr. Ely's Course—List of the Lectures.

The following announcement in regard to the class in American Charities is made by Dr. Richard T. Ely: When I first announced the course in American Charities, I expressed the hope that several persons who had had practical experience in charitable and correctional work or who had given special attention to some phase of such work, would address the class. I knew there was a large number of men and women in Wisconsin qualified to speak on different topics relating to charities and correction and I have been highly gratified at their readiness to contribute their services and thus help to make the course pleasant and profitable.

The program of lectures, so far as at present arranged, is as follows:

Hon. H. H. Giles, of Madison—"The Wisconsin State Board of Charities and Reform," January 15.

Hon. Clarence Snyder, of Madison—"The Wisconsin State Board of Control," January 16.

Prof. A. O. Wright, of Madison—"The Influence of the State Board of Charities and Reform on Almshouses and Jails," January 22.

Prof. A. O. Wright—"County Asylums," January 23.

Mrs. Florence Griswold Buckstaff, of Oshkosh—"Charities in Cities of Moderate Size," January 29.

Hon. E. O. Holden, of Baraboo—"Out-Door Poor Relief," February 5.

Superintendent Lynn S. Pease, of Janesville—"The Blind," February 6.

Superintendent J. W. Swiler, of Delavan—"The Deaf and Dumb," February 12.

Dr. W. A. Gordon, of Oshkosh—"Treatment of the Insane in Hospitals," February 19.

Dr. L. R. Head, of Madison—"Treatment of the Insane," February 20.

President Albert Salisbury, of the Whitewater Normal School—"The Feeble-Minded," February 27.

President John H. Finley, of Knox College, Galesburg, Ill.—"The State Charities Aid Association of New York," March 19.

Other announcements will be made later and it may be necessary to make a few minor changes in the above program. The lectures will be a regular part of the course upon which examinations will be held.

The class will meet for the first time Wednesday, Jan. 9th, at 2 p. m. in the senior law lecture room—not in the economic rooms as previously announced. The lesson assigned for Wednesday is chapter I. in Warner's American Charities.

INTERNATIONAL ICE POLO.

During the Christmas vacation a team of hockey players from United States colleges has made a trip through Canada playing three games. The first at Montreal resulted in a victory for the Victorias by a score of six to two. The first half was played under Canadian rules, the second under American rules, but in both styles of play the Canadians appeared to better advantage.

The second game, played in Toronto under American rules, resulted in a victory for the United States team. The Canadians were a team picked from Canadian college players and were outplayed in team work. The game was played before two thousand spectators and was interesting throughout.

The third game was played at Kingston and was a walk-over for the home team. The first half was played under American rules, the second half under Canadian rules. The home team excelled in both styles of play.

The Canadians team work was especially good, while their opponents were weak in that particular branch of play. Clarkson was sick and was tried in goal, but Matteson was afterward substituted. Matteson, Chace and Meiklejohn excelled in individual play. The final score was nine to two.

—The freshmen of Philomathia have decided that the subjects of their blow-out debates shall be: "Municipal Control of Street Railroad and Gas versus Private Ownership," and "The Gothenburg System versus Prohibition."

—E. K. Barnes, of Chicago, has entered the junior class in the engineering college.

The plan of dividing the year into semesters instead of three terms will be considered by the faculty tomorrow and final action will probably be taken. The new scheme is said to possess numerous advantages and it is in vogue in several large universities.

We wish to call the attention of the students to the university course of of lectures to be given in connection with Dr. Ely's course in American Charities. They are by men and women prominent throughout the state in the work of charities and reform and will no doubt prove exceedingly instructive and interesting. This idea of increasing the scope of a course by means of lectures by different persons, is a good one and one which should be followed in other classes wherever practicable.

The short course in agriculture opens this year with brighter prospects than ever. The course is a unique one at the university as it leads to no degree and simply aims to give a good amount of practical knowledge to the farmers of the state, at a time of the year when little work can be carried on in the country. The students in this college have been here a week now and are therefore familiar with the ins and outs of the university. Any advice in addition to that which they have already received would be superfluous and uncalled for. All that we will say is that the students in the short course will derive a much greater benefit from their work if they spare a little time from their regular course and endeavor to catch something of the spirit of the university.

OUTING.

The holiday number of Outing has appeared. The illustrations are unusually good and the subject matter interesting. The main articles are:
"King Skate," an illustrated poem;
"Winning a Christmas Bride," by Arthur Vance; a pretty story entitled "Bas Therese," profusely illustrated, and telling of life in the Tyrol, and the continuation of "Lenz's Tour Awheel." Besides these there are stories about turrkey and elk hunting, and articles on "Sledging in North China," and on the National Guard of New York state.

The sporting columns are as full as usual. The department on football includes descriptions of the four great games of the year and a resume of the work done by the western colleges.

JOHNS HOPKINS.

The nineteenth annual report of President Gilman, of Johns Hopkins University, covering the academic year 1893-'94, has appeared. It comprise about one hundred and twenty pages and includes special reports of the professors, librarian, directors of the marine biological laboratory, the Hopkins press and the Maryland state weather bureau. The statistical introduction shows that the academic staff numbered during the year eighty-three teachers, including seventeen in the medical school. The number of students enrolled was 522, of whom 260 came from Maryland, 240 from forty other states, and 22 from foreign countries. Among the students were 344 already graduated, coming from 143 colleges and universities. The degree of A. B. was conferred upon 41 candidates, and 33 received the degree of Ph. D. The following aggregated statistics are instructive:

During eighteen years, 2,457 individuals have been enrolled as students.
Of these 1,439 entered as graduate students and 1,018 as undergraduates. Of the undergraduates 232 have continued as graduate students, many of them proceeding to the degree of Ph.
D. It thus appears that 1,672 persons have followed graduate studies here.
Since degrees were first conferred in 1878, 422 have received the degree of A. B., and 310 the degree of Ph. D.

ROUGHNESS IN THE YALE-HAR- VARD GAME.

The following is a statement which has been given out for publication in regard to Captain Hinkey's alleged roughness in the Yale-Harvard game:
"Immediately upon the close of the football season the Yale Football association, in view of the charges made against Capt. Hinkey of the Yale eleven, requested the following gentlemen to investigate the charges: Prof.
E. L. Richards, Mr. Walter Camp, Mr.
Henry E. Howland, Mr. George A.
Adee, Mr. Howard Knapp, Mr. Eugene L. Richards, Jr., and others.

These gentlemen have found that all of the charges of roughness in the Springfield game have centered in the alleged wilful injury of Wrightington by Capt. Hinkey. They, therefore, requested all of the officials to give their testimony as to the occurrence. It should be added that these officials were unanimously chosen by both teams as men of recognized experience, capacity, and fairness in football matters. This they have voluntarily and officially given, and as they were upon the ground and nearer to the alleged play, and in more advantageous proximity to the play than any other observer, their testimony should have more value than that of any one else.

The committee examined Capt. Hin-key, who, although averse to carrying discussions into the public press, nevertheless, on account of the gravity of the many unfounded charges made against him, states once for all and or otherwise maltreat Wrightington in most positively that he did not "knee" the Springfield game, and that he has never been guilty of unfair roughness in any of the games in which he has taken part. Furthermore, his statement is corroborated by the fact that although he has played for seven years at Andover and at Yale, and hence under various umpires and referees, no official has ever found it necessary to adjudge him guilty of, or disqualify him for, unfair play. The statement of Mr. Beard, which accompanies this testimony, gives the details of the play and accords with the independent statements of the officials which have been made without consultation with each other. These statements are in the possession of Prof. E. L. Richards.

INTERNATIONAL ATHLETICS.

Sentiment in Oxford and Cambridge in Favor of Meeting American Colleges

There seems to be a well-defined and positive sentiment in England in favor of one or more international athletic meetings the coming summer.
The meeting with Yale last summer was such a success, and the interest awakened by it among British colleges was so pronounced, that a repetition of such a meeting under conditions that will make it in a true sense representatively international, cannot fail of a multitude of warm and persistent advocates.

International athletic contests confined to colleges are a comparatively new feature in the schedule of sporting possibilities, but they are a manifestly practicable one. Such a series of meetings would have a vast influence, it is maintained, on the relations of the two great branches of the Anglo-Saxon race. The keen rivalry existing between Briton and Yankee will nowhere find a more healthy and desirable point of contact than on the athletic field, between wearers of the colors of the colleges in the two countries respectively.

By a mutual arrangement the honor of crossing the ocean may be accorded to the champion team of either country, thus deciding the international championship in college athletics. Such an arrangement would undoubtedly have the effect of enhancing the interest in such contests. Hitherto the differing rules governing such contests, and the variance in methods of work have been considered a rather serious barrier to international meetings. Yale found last year that these differences proved an actual obstacle. It can be readily seen, however, that a few concessions on either side will smooth out matters to an extent, and eventually make them so unimportant as not to be entitled to consideration.

As an indication of sentiment on the subject in England, outside the universities, the London Sporting Life announced editorially only a short while ago, that in so far as the question concerned the British party to the scheme, there was no doubt but what meetings would take place this summer between Oxford, Cambridge, Harvard and Yale. The periodical above mentioned is considered an authority on matters athletic, and its opinion on the subject may be regarded as an accurate expression of the true sentiment of the country.—Harvard Daily News.
