Phi Beta Kappa Initiates Fifty Thursday Night

Prof. Roe, President of Chapter, Welcomes New Members in Address

Fifty juniors and seniors were initiated at the 31st annual banquet of the Wisconsin Alpha chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic fraternity, held Thursday night in the Memorial Union.

Prof. Frederick W. Roe, president of the chapter, welcomed the new members and spoke on "The Modern World and the Scholar" at the meeting preceding the banquet. Prof. Grant Showerman, of the department of classics, gave an address at the banquet on "Liberty, 1929."

Janet Smith Responds

Janet McDonald Smith responded for the junior members, while Ted Thelander answered for the seniors. Prof. E. B. Skinner of the mathematics department, who was elected a member of the society at Ohio, and Mrs. Charles Schuele, who was elected a member at Washington, D. C., were also among those initiated.

In his talk, Prof. Roe pointed to the disillusionment which exists among the highly educated, caused by their knowledge of life, their mastery of the materials of getting-on, and their vast comfort which seems to have undermined their confidence in life.

"Never Surrender"

"Never surrender to the intellectual vices of disillusionment, sophistication, and egomania, with their attendant cynicism and selfishness," advised Prof. Roe.

"I call upon you to spend your talents fearlessly and fruitfully in the creative work of the world; for never did truth, goodness, beauty, justice, and love cry out more loudly for courageous champions!"

Prof. Barker Talks on Burke

Says Necessity Forced Politician to Write Fame-Creating Treatises

How his father's refusal to send him money forced Edmund Burke to write treatises which made him famous, was related by Prof. Ernest Barker of Cambridge university, in a lecture on "Burke and the Politicians" in Bascom hall Thursday afternoon.

Burke's first bid for fame, Mr. Barker said, was made in London after he had been spending his time going to theaters and debating societies. His father cut off his allowance and left the son to take care of himself. It was then that he wrote the "Treatise on the Divine and the Beautiful" and the "Treatise in Vindication of Natural Society," which led him into society and politics.

Burke's hot-headed Irish temper, his sarcasm and lack of polish, kept him from reaching the highest honors in England. He was never a member of the cabinet for these reasons.

"He was not one of the 'charmed circle' which controlled affairs in England at the time. Everyone regarded him as an Irish adventurer," Mr. Barker said.

Mueller's Name Is Omitted

From Haresfoot Elections

The name of George Mueller '30 was omitted from the list of men elected to Haresfoot, printed in yesterday's Cardinal. The omission was caused by a mistake in the Haresfoot office. Mueller was a specialty dancer in the show, "Hi-Jack!"

Physician Says Henmon

Shows Slight Improvement

The condition of Prof. V. A. C. Henmon of the psychology department, who underwent a serious operation Wednesday morning, has been reported as still serious with a slight improvement by his physician, Dr. R. H. Jackson.

Bob Ocock Injured When Motorcycle Crashes Into Auto

To avoid hitting an automobile which had turned unexpectedly, Bob Ocock '31, ran his motorcycle into a parked car, at the corner of Lake and Langdon streets Thursday morning about 8 a. m. He was slightly injured.

The car which caused the damage was driven by one of the working men employed in the construction of the new women's dormitory. Driving up Lake street in the direction of the lake, he crossed Langdon, made a U turn, and came back again.

Paul Rosenthal '30, who was driving his car down Langdon, turned to avoid hitting the workman. Ocock was in back of Rosenthal and was therefore forced to drive into a car parked on the opposite side of the street.

Senate Hears Regents Rap Bill on Deeds

That a bill to prevent persons or companies from deeding land to the university in return for a tax-free leasehold for a period of more than one year is too drastic and would handicap the university in its program of developing the Cret-Peabody plan if it became a law, was the contention of Michael B. Olbrich, university regent, who appeared before the state senate committee on corporations and taxation Wednesday afternoon.

Regent John C. Schmidtman also appeared before the committee in opposition to the bill. No one appeared in behalf of the bill.

The state should be thankful for the opportunity to acquire property in this manner, Regent Olbrich urged, arguing that the city of Madison gains by such action, inasmuch as the acquisition of additional property by the university would increase the value of surrounding property.

Brown, Linton Read Papers at National Society Convention

Charles E. Brown, curator of the state historical museum, and Ralph Linton, associate professor of sociology, will read papers at the central section of the American Anthropological association at Northwestern university which meets today and tomorrow.

Mr. Brown will read a paper on "Cartographic Symbols for Archeological Survey Maps" and Prof. Linton will present a treatise on "Megalithic Monuments of Madagascar."

Members of the Wisconsin Archeological society are offering eight of the 25 papers to be given. Membership of the central section extends through the middle west, the south, and the west.

Dr. Linton, who is at present vice-president of the association, may succeed the president, Dr. Carl E. Guthe, after this session. The association may be invited to hold its session here in 1930 or 1931.

Kenneth Fearing, Ex-Editor of Lit, Publishes Poems

Kenneth Fearing '24, who was editor of the Wisconsin Literary magazine while he was an undergraduate at Wisconsin, is the author of a volume of poems, "Angel Arms," which is one of four volumes in a series of "Songs of Today" published by Coward McCann, Inc., on April 25.

"Angel Arms" is dedicated to Margery Latimer, a novelist, who graduated from the university in 1925. Mr. Fearing is now the guest of Miss Latimer at her home in Portage, Wisconsin.

Since his graduation from Wisconsin Mr. Fearing has worked on Chicago newspapers and has written poems which have been published in such magazines as The New Masses, Free Verse, The Nation, Scribner's, The New Yorker, and Transition.

WOMEN'S EDITORS

There will be a meeting of the woman's editor and all women's assistants at 4:30 p. m. Friday, May 10, in the Daily Cardinal office. Attendance is compulsory.

Women's Board Amends Student House Hours

Men Will Be Permitted to Stay Until 12:30 a. m. on Week-ends

Men may remain in registered women's houses until 12:30 a. m. on week-end nights, according to a ruling passed by the Women's Self Government association. The ruling will not go into effect, however, until fall.

The new law, which replaces the one allowing men to remain in women's houses until 12 on Friday and Saturday nights, was passed by the board only after a vote was taken in every registered women's house on the campus, and after a consultation with the dean of women. The result was overwhelmingly in favor of the new rule.

The last meeting of W. S. G. A. during this year will be held on Wednesday, May 15, at 7:15 p. m., in Lathrop parlors, when the remaining university house rules will be voted upon.

Freshmen Give Formal Tonight

Japanese Setting Forms Background for Dance at Union

Amid a Japanese setting, the freshman class will close its social program with a formal dance for freshmen only in the Great hall of the Memorial Union tonight.

"Bunny" Lyon's orchestra will supply the music with Jack Mason '29, who is the leader of the Haresfoot orchestra, assisting at the piano and with the accordion. The entertainment committee also plans specialty features and other novelties to be presented during the evening.

Refreshments will be available to everyone attending. Special service will be given to all those groups who have secured boxes.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Leonard will chaperon the affair.

Haresfoot Comedy Star

Overturns in Speed Boat

Roy Goodlad '29 was rescued from the lake early last evening when his speed boat capsized near Picnic point. "Cap" Isabell, head of the university life-saving force, is investigating charges that Goodlad was operating the launch with the muffler on, which is contrary to a recently-enacted city ordinance.

Senate Postpones Action on Repeal of Dry Law

The Grobschmidt bill repealing the state dry law, which was on today's calendar for the senate, will be a special order of business next Wednesday, May 15. The bill has already passed the assembly and the wets claim to be able to pass it, but the dries have been active in building opposition to the bill.

Union Holds Ping Pong Tournament Beginning May 20

Beginning Monday, May 20, a ping pong tournament will be held in the Memorial Union Rathskeller. All entries are to be made at the billiard room desk in the Union not later than Saturday, May 18.

The tournament is being sponsored by the Rathskeller committee of the Wisconsin Union. An entry fee of 50 cents will be charged to cover the expenses of the prizes which will be awarded to the winners.

The Rathskeller committee is especially desirous of getting a large number of entries for this tournament inasmuch as the success of this contest will have a decisive effect on its future policies.

Lott, Maroons Clash With Card Net Team on Varsity Courts Today

George Lott will lead the Chicago tennis team against the Badgers at 2 p. m. today on the varsity courts. At that time Capt. Bob McMillan, Wisconsin star, will take the court against the Maroon ace, who is third ranking player of the United States. For further details see the sport page.

Liberal Club Issues Protest Petition Today

Petitions will be circulated on the campus today by the Liberal club in protest against the bill before the legislature to raise the tuition fees for resident and non-resident students.

The exact action of the Liberal club in regard to the New Student article, "Our Dean-Natured Morality," was made plain in a statement made yesterday by Sol Tax '30, vice-president of the club, who presided at Wednesday's meeting.

"The executive committee of the Liberal club and three women students whose names will be kept secret are to determine whether the methods described in the article are used by Dean Nardin. If so, the committee is to use the occasion of Mothers' weekend to inform the mothers in such way as they deem advisable of these methods."

Test College Group Begins Rehearsals for O'Neill Drama

The drama group of the Experimental college has begun active rehearsals on "Back East to Cardiff," a one act play in Eugene O'Neill's S. S. Glencairn series, which they intend to produce at the stock pavilion during the latter part of the month, probably May 18.

This will be the first production of the newly organized drama group and is thus being watched with interest. The group consists of freshmen only as it intends to take over the work of the Experimental College Players next year, besides the additional work of laboratory plays and readings.

The leading roles of Yank and Driscoll will be taken by James Parker and Herman Somers, respectively. The other members of the cast are: Herman Diedrich, Bill Larkin, Frank Fernback, Fritz Silber, Larry Kirstetter, and John Scott. Paul Frank is directing the production.

Lone Property Holder Delays Avenue Project

With all options on property necessary to the University avenue extension expiring in June, action for the condemnation of the one holding still necessary to the expansion will be proposed to the common council tonight, according to Mayor A. G. Schmedemann.

Although a price of $20,000 has been offered for the property, the location and ownership of which are not divulged, the owner has so far refused to give at this price or to set a new price.

The options now held on all property except the one piece on which condemnation proceedings are threatened, will be taken up the latter part of this month to prevent expiration and probable increases in prices.

Pittman Potter Addresses

International Club Today

Dr. Pittman Potter, of the political science department, will address the International club today on the topic, "After the Briand-Kellogg Treaty."

Dr. Potter served on the committee for world peace which convened in Massachusetts recently. He has given lectures in several parts of the country, and has just returned from Washington where he conferred with other peace leaders.

The meeting will be held in the Assembly room of the Memorial Union. All other university groups interested in world politics are invited.

Dean Goodnight Supports Nardin in Controversy

Men's Head Says Disciplinary System Is Most Effective

That the present method of handling student discipline cases is one of the most effective this campus has ever had and that the committee appointed by Pres. Frank efficiently settles campus infringements, is the opinion of Dean Goodnight and Dean Nardin.

"Minor peccadillos are left to the deans," said Goodnight, "but the major offenses are brought before a committee whose power is distributed equally among a psychiatrist, a sociologist, the head of the law school, and the deans. Not the latter, but Dr. Lorenz, head of the Wisconsin Psychiatric institute, is the backbone of the committee, said Dean Goodnight.

Often, however, he said, the deans administer a spanking where a spanking is due and it is his opinion that the article on "Dean Morality" which appeared in the "New Student" and was reviewed in the Daily Cardinal was written by a young lady still smarting from such a chastisement.

Goodnight termed the article the "rankest idiocy" and an "infamy on a real woman." "I have been on committees with Dean Nardin on which she has been the only woman," he said, "and she has always proved herself a good sport, a clear thinker, shrewd, intelligent, and facile at exchanging witticisms and sarcasms with the best," he said, and added that such tosh as the article ascribed to her was unfounded campus rumor that grew like a snowball.

Miss Nardin, said the dean, has no more power than any other member of the discipline committee. Because it is human nature to ascribe group action to one individual, as it would be natural to grumble at one official for enforcing an unpopular law, so it is natural, in speaking of an expulsion, for instance, authorized by a whole committee, to say "the dean did it."

Six Seek Office in Dorm Election

Adams and Tripp Residents Will Elect Quad Leaders May 15

Candidates for the presidencies of Tripp and Adams halls were closed Thursday, following the deadline on the submission of petitions of nomination and certificates of eligibility Wednesday night, according to Richard Hyer '30, clerk of the dormitories.

Milton Klein '31, blind student, and ex-president of Phi Eta Sigma, Walter Bubbett '30, who carried on an aggressive campaign in the election of last year, in which he advocated a number of dormitory reforms, and Edgar Alstad '31, business manager of the Triad, dormitory newspaper last year, will contend for election in Tripp hall.

In Adams hall the three freshmen who will run for the presidency are John Ruenitz, Bruce Randolph, and Stephen Brouwer. William Tobin '32 was given an extension time yesterday, and will file his petition and certificate before noon today to stand for office.

The election will be held next Wednesday, May 15.

Women Voters League

Elects New Officers

At the meeting of the Collegiate League of women voters held at the Memorial Union last night, the following officers were elected for next year: president, Clarice Belk '31; vice-president, Alice Ochsner '30; secretary-treasurer, Ruth Lemmer '30. Mrs. Glenn P. Turner, who is a member of the state board of vocational education, addressed the club on the question of equal rights for women.

Student Paper Discusses and Criticizes Campus Topics

Nardin, Fish, and Cardinal Raked Over the Coals

Dean Nardin, Prof. Carl Russell Fish, and the Cardinal are singled out for their share of praise and blame in the latest issue of the Student Independent.

"In the May issue of the New Student," reads an editorial, "appears an article, 'Our Dean-Natured Morality,' by an anonymous, which describes a dean whom everyone recognizes as Dean Nardin. 'Every student on the campus is familiar with these stories, plus a score of others.

"Whispering campaigns so easily develop into monstrous lies, and the victim is given no opportunity to answer.

"It is not our belief," say the editorial, "that every grumble should be dignified by a reply, but when rumors have attained the startling dimensions of this case, there is a duty to answer, or else be adjudged guilty. The parents who put their daughters under the care of Dean Nardin have a right to know her tactics, so that they can measure her competence. In fairness to those whom she is serving, we call upon Dean Nardin to explain or answer the following allegations:

- (1) The Dean employs a spy system.
- (2) The Dean instructs her charges to regard all men as potential seducers.
- (3) The Dean imputes shameful sin to every aberration, and puts upon the culprit the burden of proving herself innocent.
- (4) The Dean will not permit a psychiatrist to be placed upon the disciplinary committee, but chooses instead to dispose of every case according to an inhuman conception of sin.

"If these allegations are false, it is an injustice to the school and to Dean Nardin to allow them to circulate; if true, then there is sufficient reason to ask if the Dean of Women is satisfactorily performing her duties."

Prof. Carl Russell Fish is attacked in an article "The Guinea Pigs Refuse to Goose-Step," in which the Student Independent claims that he sidestepped the questions put to him by members of the Experimental college.

"Prof. Fish was lecturing to the guinea pigs on the Constitution," says the article, "and he was giving them the assurance that it was the greatest instrument ever penned by man."

"Did these guinea pigs agree? No! A group approached the professor and announced that some reading in Charles Beard's 'Economic Interpretation of the Constitution' had led them to believe that the signers of the Constitution were not at all holy—that they were motivated by self-interest. Professor Fish did attempt to explain. The students were advised that Beard's work is yellow journalism and 'blithering nonsense.'"

"Soon after the disturbing event," says the editorial, "Professor Fish announced that his duties on the hill would not permit him to continue at the Experimental college."

The Daily Cardinal was criticized for its "advertisement-like accounts of coming concerts and plays, and of University publications; and the burlesque accounts of meetings at which some subject is discussed which the staff has been taught to fear, such as Communism."

Praise is deserved for the handling of matters affecting school life, such as fraternities, athletics, etc. But "the department of criticism is disgraceful."

"These shortcomings," the article concludes, "are more truly a reflection on the demand of the student-body than on the ability of the staff."

Yodelling Sweeper Appears on "Row" in Formal Attire

The yodelling chimney sweep of the nation's college towns has again made his appearance on Langdon street with the advent of the robins, porch furniture, new grey suits, and other harbingers of spring. This picturesque character, who wanders up and down fraternity, sorority, and rooming house row, clad in a tall silk hat, and English frock coat, warbles an Alpine melody to the Greek houses.

He's not an ordinary chimney sweep nor an old fashioned one, though he may look like a character from a 19th century London story book. He's a specialized chimney sweep, a sweep with accomplishments, a society manner, press notices, and a knowledge of the psychology of salesmanship.

Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity entertained—pardon, he entertained the Lambdas at a luncheon at their house the other day. Not only did he convince the house manager that his chimney needed a cleaning and take him on the roof to prove it, but he convinced the brothers that their guest was a distinguished man.

He yodeled half a dozen tunes for them, told them several good stories about the Gammas and the Betas, and showed them his scrapbook of recommendations, testimonials of fraternities from Berkeley to Amherst.

Dobbin has gone the way of the one horse shay but this chimney sweep, special of a dying race, is keeping up with the times though the effort necessitates an Orpheum repertoire stored under his high hat and the metamorphose of his profession from a manus task to a skit. For the moment Langdon street's spotlight plays on him, while Railroad Jack, declaiming in the shadow, rubs a broken nose.

Meteorologist Sees Bumper Wheat Crop in Kansas Fields

Topeka, Kan.—When combines and binders start whirring through the big wheat spaces of Kansas in a few weeks, another bumper crop may be harvested, aided by abundance of moisture in the past 24 hours, Fred Flora, meteorologist, announced recently. Flora said that under conditions now current—with increased acreage, freedom from insects, ideal moisture and weather—only a calamity could keep Kansas from harvesting one of its greatest wheat crops.

Set of Rules Made for Care of New Biology Building Lift

With the installation of a new elevator in the Biology building, it was necessary for the custodian of the building to compile a few hard and fast rules, in an attempt to keep the elevator on a running basis with the one in the Memorial Union,—the latter having run a whole week without stalling.

In an effort to make a lasting impression on the instructional staff of the Biology building, Prof. George Walker of the zoology department, composed and published a set of rules, which may or may not be remembered for their intrinsic value, but shall certainly be remembered for the witticisms contained there. A copy of the rules was sent to each member of the teaching staff in a manner somewhat as follows:

1. The elevator is exclusively for staff use. In very exceptional cases where permission is desired for its use by others, application must be made to the custodian of the building. All staff members are urged to prevent or report any infractions of this restriction.

2. Because of the heavy demands on it, the elevator should ordinarily not be used to travel the distance of only one floor.

3. Staff members are urged not to make a practice of inviting students to ride with them. Attention of the younger members of the staff is especially called to this and the previous request.

4. The elevator is practically "fool-proof." It is, however, provided with an alarm bell, located on the ground floor. Should you get stranded between floors, press the black button just below the light switch, and assume such patience as you may. If it happens at night, you had better curl up and wait for the dawn.

Signed,
George Wagner,
Custodian, Biology Bldg.

Bicycle Riding Proves Popular at East Schools

By JUSTUS ROBERTS

All who get up at 7:30 a. m. every morning, live eight blocks from the campus, and have five or six o'clocks a week, take heed of an advertisement in a recent issue of the Saturday Evening Post, stating that students of the eastern universities and girls' schools are already using bicycles as a means of transportation to and from classes.

The students of the University of Illinois had their roller-skates! Why can't the students of the University of Wisconsin have their bicycles?

Just think of the wear and tear on the "sole" that they would save. Our grandmothers and grandfathers used to ride high-wheeled bicycles, which only an expert could safely ride. But even the most awkward co-ed can ride the modern bicycle.

Instead of hiring a rent-a-car or a taxicab to go to a formal party, ride a bicycle. It's cheaper. The bicycle would also be a time-saving device, and it would give the students more time to study—or perhaps play baseball, or go canoeing.

It's no secret that several of the university professors use this means of conveyance. Several have been seen riding about the campus on these balmy spring days.

No, this isn't an advertisement to help the bicycle dealers in Madison, but merely a suggestion to students.

Statistics proved that Orientation week helped raise the average grades of the freshmen students during the past year. Maybe bicycles, by saving time, would do the same thing for the whole university.

Let's make the new university slogan, "Bicycle to knowledge; it's quicker and easier."

Prof. Jamison Advises on Avoiding Credit Losses

To have information about a prospective credit customer as to his ability to meet his bills, his readiness to pay them, and the time it takes him to pay them, is a valuable asset in prevention of credit losses. This is the opinion of Prof. H. C. Jamison of the business administration department who has written an article analyzing mercantile credit problems for the current number of the Wisconsin Retail bulletin, monthly business publication of the university school of commerce and extension division.

Harvard Junior Found Dead; Suspect Murder

The body of a Harvard junior, Walter Treadway Huntington, of Windsor, Conn., was found near the Hartford - Springfield highway at Windsor, Wednesday, May 8, with a bullet wound in the head. Authorities said preliminary investigation indicated that the youth was murdered and the body placed in the field where it was found.

Will Study Gorillas to Find Similarities Between Man, Ape

Washington—A year's study of gorillas in their native African haunts will be undertaken in June to see if there is any similarity between the conduct of ape and man.

Scientists can show some resemblance of apes to man in physical appearance, but the stumbling block of the evolution theory is to account for man's singular behavior and habits.

Day and night observations of the private life of the gorilla will be made to shed light on ape behavior in a co-operative investigation of the Carnegie institution of Washington and Yale university.

Studies will center on mental capacity, habits of normal family life, and the relation of activity to the natural conditions of every-day existence.

Scientists want to know if the gorilla has a social life, whether males and females mate for life, and how they behave with relation to each other as well as to their environment.

This is the first project of its kind ever attempted and will supplement observations on animals in captivity begun in the Yale private laboratory.

Dr. Harold C. Bingham, research associate of the institute of psychology of Yale university, will be in charge.

The natural laboratory in which he will make his observations was set aside by the Belgian government for one of the two remaining varieties of gorillas.

Authorities claim that the gorilla only can be found in two widely separated regions of Africa. The western variety occupies an area which extends from the hilly sections of Cameroon southward along the coast into the northern border of Belgian Congo and eastward as far as the Sanga river.

The other, the mountain gorilla, which is to be the subject of Dr. Bingham's study, is to be found on the slopes of the volcanic peaks of the Kivu region.

Students Vote Tuition Raise for Northwestern Unit

Evansville, Ill.—The students at Garrett Biblical institute, largest Methodist theological school, have voluntarily raised their tuition fees, after learning that the institution was in serious financial straits due to a depleted income from its real estate endowments. The students petitioned the trustees to increase the annual fee from $45 to $70. The trustees approved the proposal. The institution is a unit of Northwestern university.

Phi Psi's Edge Out the Tekes in Close Contest

Phi Kappa Psi took an early lead in their diamond ball against Tau Kappa Epsilon Thursday noon and as the ball game came to a close after the last half of the fifth inning the Phi Psi's eked out a slim 5 to 4 victory. All of the winners' five runs were made in the first and second innings, after which Lusby settled down to real pitching and held his opponents scoreless the rest of the game.

The Tekes collected two runs in their half of the first inning and then ended the scoring in the third by bringing in two more runs. The final two frames were scoreless, as either team did not have a man reach second base.

"Ernie" Lusby pitched a nice game for the losers, but inability of his mates to connect for base hits cost him the game. Hintz, catching for Lusby, put up a good exhibition behind the plate.

A. T. O's Get But One Run Against Pi Lamb's Six

Scoring one run in the sixth inning saved Alpha Tau Omega from a shut-out in a regular diamond ball game Thursday noon. The final score was Pi Lambda Phi 6, Alpha Tau Omega 1. The winners pushed over one run in the first inning and then failed to score again until the fourth when a long home run by Jaffee with three men on base brought in four tallies. The final marker was chalked up in the sixth frame.

Miller, first man up, doubled to deep center and he was brought in on Gottlieb's double to the same spot. Steinberg, playing left field for Pi Lambda Phi team, collected two singles in three attempts at the plate. Beeman played the best game for the losers.

Mendota Is Calm; Crew Is Tested in Long Workout

The usual turbulent waters of Lake Mendota calmed down considerably Thursday and enabled Coach Murphy to give his charges a long and strenuous workout over a two-mile course.

This is the first time this week that the varsity crew has rowed on Lake Mendota having practiced on the calmer Lake Monona since Monday. The excellent weather conditions have brightened Mike's hopes, and he is optimistic over the possibility of getting in a lot of work in the next few weeks.

The freshman crew, training for the contest with the strong St. John's crew on May 18th, worked out with the varsity crew over the two-mile course, and made an impressive showing.

Rowing in the varsity boat were Oberdick, eight; Horsfall, seven; Keenan, six; Capt. Drouet, five; Marple, four; Goodman, three; Woodman, two; and Beers, bow. Woodman who rowed number seven on the freshman crew of last year, has been chosen to take Weber's place by Murphy. Weber was recently declared ineligible for competition.

The following men made up the freshman boat: Yonker, number eight; Perrigo, seven; Herness, six; Smedal, five; Wells, four; Weckmuller, three; Gauerke, two. Gunderson and Skoglund alternated at bow.

Net Teams Play in First Round

Nine Women's Squads Advance to Second Bracket in Elimination

The first round of the women's tennis matches has been completed and the second round has started in the gradual elimination of teams until the last match determines the 1929 intramural tennis championship.

The results of the first round indicate a great range of scoring. Alpha Omicron Pi took a match away from Outing club 6-0, 6-0; Gamma Phi won from Phi Omega Pi by the same score; Alpha Gamma Delta won easily from Schneider's 6-2, 6-3.

Kappa Kappa Gamma looked like winners in the match with Chi Omega in the first set, only to be surprised into speedier action in the third set after Chi Omega had taken the second set 4-6. The third set went to the Kappas 6-3. Alpha Delta Pi defaulted to Sigma Kappa as did Delta Zeta to the All-Americans. The Tri Deltis won easily from Pi Beta in two sets, 6-1, 6-1.

Theta Phi Alpha took Barnard's team by surprise and came through to win with sets of 6-1, 3-6, 10-8. The Nurses took the match from the Charter house team by 6-2, 7-9, 7-5, and Anderson house defeated Beta Phi Alpha by 6-2, 6-3.

In games already played in the second round Chadbourne won from Kappa Delta 3-6, 6-3, 6-1; Alpha Gamma Delta won from Kappa Kappa Gamma 6-2, 6-3; and Pi Nu defeated Beta Sigma Omicron 6-3, 6-1.

Three Madison Preps Fly to Goodman Prom

Flying to a high school "prom," was the experience of three Madison youths last Friday. The three hired a big cabin ship and rode in comfort to the Goodman, Wis., dance, driven by a young woman, Lee Smith, of the Madison airport. The group returned Saturday. The boys were Erwin Millette, Ernest Anderson, Nils Nyberg, and Leo Imhoff.

Badger Golfers Face Gophers in First Match

Bolstad, Minnesota Ace, Won Conference Title Two Years Ago

The Cardinal golfers in their daily practices, have been concentrating their efforts on the first conference meet of the season with the University of Minnesota, scheduled for next Wednesday, May 15th, on the Maple Bluff golf course.

In Lester Bolstad, who is assuming the dual role of coach and captain this year, the invaders have one of the best golfers in the Big Ten. Bolstad, who is playing his third year on the varsity team, won the conference championship two years ago, and last year came close to repeating. In 1927, he was crowned national public links golf champion.

Michigan, represented by an unusually strong team, plays host to the Badgers on May 18th. The Wolverines have recently taken the measure of Illinois, who in turn drubbed Purdue, 24 to 0.

Coach Levis has decided to carry twelve men on his squad during the season, deviating from the usual procedure of working with a small squad. Three lettermen are back, and will form the nucleus of a fairly strong team.

Sheldon Back Furst and Hagen, juniors, and Sheldon, a senior, are practically assured places on the squad by virtue of their experience gained in conference competition. Sheldon, who absented himself from school for a year in 1927, after being chosen captain for the following season, returned last year, and is now eligible for competition. Along with Furst and Hagen, he has shot consistently in the seventies since the beginning of practice.

12 Men to Play Nine men have already been chosen for the first squad, and players for the remaining three positions will be picked from 10 men now engaged in competition. The nine players who have been chosen include Sheldon, Furst, Hagen, Garmager, Strengfellow, Stebbins, McDermaid Febock, and Stewart.

Among the others out for practice are Pattison, Musser, Yule, Hibberd, McNichol, and Harrigan. Captain of the 1929 team will be chosen this noon at a special meeting in Coach Levis' office.

Card Tracksters Face Wildcats

Northwestern Favored in Field Events; Badgers Strong in Sprints

About 30 members of the Wisconsin track squad have been chosen by Coach Tom Jones to take part in the dual meet with Northwestern at Evanston Saturday afternoon. The Badgers will have their full strength, every athlete who competed against Minnesota last week being in shape except Callendar, high jumper. The latter suffered a wrenched knee on one of his take-offs and may be out for the balance of the season.

Doped on the basis of past performance, the Northwestern and Wisconsin teams are about equal in strength. The final outcome will depend upon reserve strength, as first places will undoubtedly be evenly divided.

Purple Have Edge

The Purple have the edge in the pole vault, half mile, javelin throw, broad jump and the hammer. The Badgers should win both hurdle events, the century, mile and two mile runs, discus throw and the shot put. Coach Jones will present his star distance man, Moe, in the mile while Follows and Steenis will be entered in the event to attempt to carry off (Continued on Page 10)

Football Mentor Drills Squads for Scrimmage

With the announcement of the division of the football squad into Army-Navy divisions, Coach Thistlethwaite is spending the week prior to the coming tilt on Tuesday in brushing up his candidates on the various plays dealt out earlier in the spring.

The annual game will be played on the practice field on the University avenue side of Camp Randall stadium as the turf inside the huge bowl is being resodded in preparation for the coming fall games.

Ropes will encircle the practice field for the game which will serve to help keep the entire field clear for the fans. No admission is to be charged and the great interest aroused over the promising material of the Badger squad is expected to draw a large turnout.

Forty-four men will see action in the game with each team required to use at least 22 men. The play of the candidates in this game will go largely in determining their chances in the coming fall. The announcement from Harold Smith, 190 pound veteran fullback, of his departure from school leaves the fight for the backfield post with but one experienced player back for competition, this being Harold Rehholz. The remaining material for the position rests in the hands of freshmen from the 1928 squad.

Alumni Group to Give Banquet

Basketball Teams to Receive Awards at Luncheon Tomorrow

Wisconsin's basketball team, co-champions of the Western conference for the past season, will be the guests of the university Alumni association at a luncheon Saturday in connection with the second annual "W" Club reunion. The Badger cagers will be presented with gold balls, and at the same time will receive their sweater awards.

The luncheon has been arranged by Herman Egstad, secretary of the association, who has also planned a program of after-dinner talks. Earl Vitz '14, Manitowoc manufacturer, will act as toastmaster. Mr. Egstad will welcome the visiting "W" men on behalf of the Alumni body, with Jerry Riordan '00, responding as president of the "W" club.

Presentation of awards to the Wisconsin basketball men will have a prominent place on the program. Glenn Frank, University of Wisconsin prexy, will deliver a short address. Other speakers will be Dr. Walter E. Meanwell, coach of basketball since 1911, and Chris Steinmetz '05, who captained the 1905 team at Wisconsin.

Star Opposed by McMillan in Tilt Today

Badger Tennis Squad Ready for Crucial Match With Chicago

The stage is all set at Randall courts for the curtain to rise on the biggest tennis drama of the season, as George Lott and his trained performers engage the racquetesters of Wisconsin at 2 p. m. today.

Promptly at that time, Capt. Robert McMillan of the Badgers will step upon the varsity courts and clash across the net with Lott, third ranking amateur tennis player in the United States, and alternate on the present Davis Cup squad.

At the same time, Dave Freeborn, captain of last season's Big Ten championship sextet, will clash with Rexinger, a western junior champion for three years, while Donald Meiklejohn will oppose Capt. Calohan, a public courts champion from the Windy City.

Wisconsin Underdog It will be a battle of the underdogs, Wisconsin, against a team that thus far has had smooth sailing toward the conference title, and has been called the finest aggregation this season in intercollegiate net circles. Already in their wake the Maroons have left Northwestern, Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio State, matches won by wide margins of victory.

For the benefit of the tennis enthusiasts and the many spectators who will be drawn to the match through the magic of Lott's name, (Continued on Page 10)

A. E. Pi's Defeat Delta Pi Epsilon in Close Thriller

In one of the most exciting and best played diamond ball games of the year, Alpha Epsilon Pi eked out a victory over the hitherto undefeated Delta Pi Epsilon team Thursday noon by a score of 1 to 0. Nashban's single in the second frame brought in Forman for the only score of the game. The action after the second inning resolved itself into a pitchers' battle between Joe Lieberman of the A. E. Pi's and Tomskey of the D. Pi E's.

After Chechik of the victors walked in the first frame, Tomskey struck out four batters in succession. Lieberman struck out four batters, while Tomskey's deliveries let down eight batters without hitting the ball. Only three hits were garnered from Lieberman's offerings.

Lineups, Alpha Epsilon Pi: Chechik, Lieberman, Bassowitz, H. Fox, P. Fox, Zubatsky, Forman, Weiss, Nashban, Davidoff.

Delta Pi Epsilon: Nohr, Last, Nelson, Kossak, Keehn, Traube, Brummond, Walley, Becker, Tomskey.

Sigma Phi Sigma Gets 10 to 9 Win Over Phi Kappa

Sigma Phi Sigma had to extend themselves to the limit to take a 10 to 9 victory over Phi Kappa Thursday noon in their regular diamond ball game. Heavy hitting by both teams featured the day's play.

The winners scored four runs in the final inning to sew up the ball game. They went to bat in the last inning with the score 9 to 6 against them. The first man up singled, and came in on a double by Cullinane. The next three men all got on base and scored to bring their total to 10.

Lineups, Sigma Phi Sigma, 10: Resan lf, Wehmyer 2b, Schuirman c, Teska 1b, Zoesch 3b, Cullinane p, Eagan ss, Hulbert cf, Dennis rf, Locker rs.

Phi Kappa, 9: Kenney c, Beck p, Coughlin 1b, Sullivan rs, Kellogg 2b, Murray ls, Healy 3b, Carney lf, Gallagher cf, Lodi rf.

Still-Born Issues

Coach Thistlethwaite Suggests, The Cardinal Expounds, the Faculty Slumbers

CRITICS of The Daily Cardinal during the past year have included in their program of grievances the statement that the editorial policy of the paper has been dominated by an "against everything" attitude. What the critics meant, of course, was that The Daily Cardinal was unfavorable toward ideas championed by the critics—but whether these ideas represent "everything" or not is a matter open to question. Now, from Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite, comes the request for a positive statement of The Daily Cardinal's purpose behind its arguments on the eligibility question.

First and foremost The Daily Cardinal stands for a complete revamping of the eligibility requirements of the university. The minor engagement over the .8 grade point standard for athletics is simply the opening skirmish. Unfortunately the major objective has been partially lost sight of in the smoke-screens raised in this contest. But the prime objective is still there. If for the moment activities instead of student scholarship in general have stolen the spotlight, the whole question of that scholarship must be considered if any satisfactory eligibility settlement is to be made. The question is not, who shall represent Wisconsin on the football field? rather it is, who shall be permitted to take active part in any field outside of academic pursuits?

Coach Thistlethwaite states that his department "might be of some help" in any effort on the part of The Daily Cardinal toward raising the standard of scholarship, providing that the eligibility rules applying to athletes, besides the grade requirement, be equally enforced in all activities. These additional requirements he lists as the professional rule (forbidding any payments), the freshman rule, the graduate rule, and the transfer regulation.

To what extent should these rules be applicable to all activities and how far would they go toward raising scholarship? These two questions seem to be pertinent.

The professional rule, forbidding payments of money in any way, is confined to sports alone, not only in university activities but in the country at large. In no other field is it incumbent upon an individual that he give his services gratis in order that he may retain a certain "standing." This is not in any way a matter impinging upon the question of scholarship. It has to do only with sports and athletics. And The Daily Cardinal is attacking the eligibility problem with a single purpose in mind, namely, that of reformulating eligibility requirements all along the line to the end of making available for extra-curricular pursuits only those who are academically fit to receive the university's stamp of approval in scholarship.

The freshman rule in athletics forbids the participation of all first-year men in inter-collegiate athletic contests. Freshmen are not, as might be supposed, prevented from all athletic participation. It is remotely possible that freshmen candidates in all sports devote equally as much time and energy to athletic activities as do the upperclassmen. The Daily Cardinal will give its full support to Coach Thistlethwaite in this matter of a stricter curtailment of extra-curricular activities of first-year men and women. Any thorough-going reconstruction of eligibility must take into consideration the fact that the first year of university life is largely a period of orientation. The Daily Cardinal suggests that freshmen be limited to one outside activity. If this were done, there might be less difficulty over eligibility later on.

The graduate rule, again, pretains to inter-collegiate contests. No activities on the campus would suffer seriously from the loss of graduate students. It is a minor item outside of athletics, and in athletics the graduates become coaches anyway.

The transfer regulation, as Coach Thistlethwaite must know, applies equally to athletics and to all other activities for the first half of the year. Although the dogmatic finality of the ruling may work unfairly at times, The Daily Cardinal believes that it is for the most part an intelligent ruling, and advocates its retention.

As for Coach Thistlethwaite's final suggestion, that The Daily Cardinal exercise its influence toward raising the low eligibility requirements in other Big Ten universities, this can be said—until Wisconsin has set its own house in order in regard to student eligibility for extra-curricular activities, there is slight justification for the student newspaper going far afield with its program of reform.

The University of Wisconsin has acquired, in some fashion, the reputation for possessing a certain degree of pioneering spirit. If there is any reality remaining in that spirit, it is at times sadly elusive. Apparently the faculty is determined that the question of eligibility shall remain closed. A student petition asking for the equalization of grade requirements for all activities, which was submitted in the hope of precipitating some thorough action, or at least consideration, has been doubly shelved. But one faculty meeting remains this year, and that, it is reported, will deal only with the report on the Experimental college.

What is the faculty going to do about eligibility? As a body is it, like Dean S. H. Goodnight was with The Daily Cardinal's arguments and reasoning on the one o'clock party "railroad," simply amused? These situations, and student opinions on them, have, of course, their humorous aspects, but it seems to The Daily Cardinal that the students in the university should have some voice in what takes place here.

'Dean-Natured Morality'

New Student Article Raises Questions Relevant to All Disciplinary Systems

THE Daily Cardinal regrets the constructions which have been placed upon our republication of the article entitled "Our Dean-Natured Morality" and its news treatment of the Liberal club meeting Wednesday night.

The Daily Cardinal in printing the article or the account of the club meeting assumed no editorial attitude toward Dean Nardin. Since "Our Dean-Natured Morality" explicitly states that it was written as the result of experience on three university campuses, the assumption of an editorial stand on the basis of the article is at present an unwarranted step.

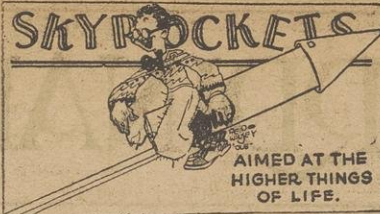

The Daily Cardinal, however, does interest itself and will continue to concern itself with vital questions of student discipline and government. "Our Dean-Natured Morality" is perfectly relevant to those questions, if not by specific charges, at least by raising a question that must receive consideration beyond whisper and rumor, namely, "is our disciplinary system like that?"

The Daily Cardinal fully realizes the complexities and the intangible character of disciplinary systems as well as the multiplicity of currents and cross currents in the administrative and instructional staffs of this university. Nevertheless we believe that unsavory conditions are unnecessary, and that investigation of the question raised by publication of the "Our Dean-Natured Morality" article can produce only beneficial results. All possible consideration should be shown the persons likely to be involved, but above every other consideration, the best ends of the university and its student body should be regarded.

Coming to the Point

The reason spectators have to stand when they watch tennis matches is because that sport hasn't yet become a racket, we presume.

"She did fine," says Prof. A. T. Weaver of victorious Ruth Scherer. She certainly must have, to make him forget his eloquence to that extent.

A woman is frank when she does not lie uselessly.

The wages of sin are about the same year after year.

Our idea of an optimist is a man who will take his girl window shopping while the stores are still open.

The women on this campus are getting so liberal that even the president of the W. S. G. A. is going to spend this week-end on a house party.

All of which reminds us that we heard yesterday, from an indirect source, that the W. C. T. U. have the Ratskeller rented for Saturday night and are going to throw a big beer party for their new members.

Mr. Person, our Sociology instructor, tells us that in the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to that which the women have been thinking about all winter.

No, Mr. Person, in the spring a young man thinks of love, not money.

Phil was telling us the other night that Christianity is a state of civilization in which a man can only have one wife. This is called monotony.

Ladies and Gentlemen, this is not Fox Movietone News but the pen of the MOST MODEST MAJOR HOOPLE, bringing to you the news of all the important figures on the campus.

To the Half Wit who is now residing across the lake we send these soliloquy blues:

Dejection hovers o'er me
I look like a picked hen,
But I will prune my feathers
When you are well again.

May the Gamma Phi rest in peace. For a whole week has passed since their name appeared and we shall not mention it again.

We understand that the Beta Sigma Omicrons are selling beer in their chapter room. Well, we are not blaming them, they must find some way to attract men.

Here is the second verse which is dedicated to that blonde haired, blue eyed Tri Delt who taught me more than I am willing to admit:

I was a young one in college
Searching for a woman to win,
I found me a Tri Delt with knowledge (?)
And she was as clever as sin
She gobbled her gin where she got it
And stuck to my flask like a burr
Her letters were hot but her necking was not
And I learned about coeds from her.

We admit that this verse isn't so good, but neither was the girl, and so we write accordingly.

The Alpha Phi house mother is getting so romantic these spring days that she was heard citing passages from Romeo and Juliet to Herb the other night. Be careful Jean.

She ought to pick out a few from Hamlet and Macbeth so she could warn the boys as to what would happen if they didn't behave.

Life's Little Intimacies
Bear: Say you don't treat me right.
Taxidermist: No? Well, when you came here you were skin and bones.

Farewell. I do not care to hear what others say about me. They probably are quite right.

Readers' Say-So

Resurrection and Light?

Editor, The Daily Cardinal:

The angel has written and the book is closed. One o'clock parties have been interred. This is an epitaph. May it lead to the resurrection and the light.

One. "A general observation, not a definite survey was the basis of the recommendation resulting in the abolishment of one o'clock parties," said Dean Scott H. Goodnight in Wednesday's Cardinal.

Nevertheless the Dean wrote to, and solicited the opinions of, Union board, W. S. G. A., the Pan-Hellenic council, and the Inter-fraternity council, to determine student opinion toward the change. When the Dean discovered that the above organizations were in favor of retaining the one o'clock privilege, and that Union board recommended abolishment of all restrictions relating to the matter entirely, he ignored the attitude of the groups and now attributes the change to "a general observation and not to a definite survey."

Two. The action of the faculty in this matter is a direct infringement upon the rights and duties of the Women's Self Government association. It is merely a manifestation of the established fact that student self government is a myth when a faculty is concerned. If the decision of the faculty is allowed to stand the W. S. G. A. may consider itself as having been painlessly and neatly put out of existence.

Three: The attitude expressed by the passing of this regulation implies that the girls in the university are incompetent to govern their mode of life and are too young to face the problem without the protecting hand of a maternal faculty. Though the average age of a junior or senior is 21 or 22, while able to vote in all elections they are unable to regulate their own lives.

Four. The question of expense is one included as a justification of the regulation. Strange, indeed, it is, that a student must have his financial expenditures supervised in a state university. Ironically, at this very time a bill to raise the tuition of the very same university is about to be passed by the state legislature. In other words, so long as your money goes where we want it to go you may spend it freely.

Five. And last of all it has been said that Saturday morning classes have not been attended. Let us but wait and see the seething masses storming the classroom gates on Saturday mornings next year.

If the ruling abolishing the one o'clock party was an isolated incident it might well and peacefully be accepted with a degree of "amused tolerance." But it is not. It reflects an attitude of puritan paternalism which is often visible on this campus.

There are too many Messiahs willing to regard themselves as having seen the light and who devote the greater part of their worthless time to having others do as they wish them to do. If the crusade is once launched we may soon see automobiles as well as one o'clock parties disappear from our progressive community.

—James Munroe.

A Constructive Criticism

Editor, The Daily Cardinal:

As an interested reader of The Daily Cardinal, I wish to make a suggestion which, I think, will improve the effectiveness of your paper in controversial discussion and result in fair play to all concerned.

The suggestion is simply this: When a factual survey of some phase of university activity is announced in your columns, let the man who conducted the survey and is most familiar with the facts involved give his own interpretation of those facts.

Merely as an illustration of the point, let us take the story appearing May 6 which gave the results of Prof. Merriman's study in regard to athletic eligibility standards. Your readers have no way of knowing whether your reporter's interpretation of the figures agrees with Prof. Merriman's analysis of them. The story does not make that clear.

Don't you see that if you had directly quoted Prof. Merriman's own conclusions, the evidence you present would be much stronger? I have had enough experience with statistics and statistical procedure to know that one must be very cautious and judicial in drawing final conclusions from statistical data. The man who actually does the research work, if he is seeking the facts without bias, is less eager to jump to conclusions and more inclined to point to qualifying factors.

I am not arguing that statistical data is subject only to the interpretation of the man who collects the data. But if his name is used in reporting the survey, his own conclusions should be given and plainly labeled so. Then, if you either agree or disagree with him, you are at liberty to give your own views, again with label attached.

—John L. Bergstresser '25.

Prof. Merriman has been notified of the request of Mr. Bergstresser, and if he has any interpretation of the facts in his report other than that given them in The Daily Cardinal's news story, he has agreed to submit that interpretation in writing.

—Editor.

Handbook Containing Information on Summer Activities Published

Cincinnati, O. — Information concerning European travel has just been published in a 32-page booklet by the International confederacy of students. The leaflet, a special edition of which has been compiled for American students, may shortly be obtained from the national student federation of America at a cost of 50 cents.

This Student's Guide will be composed of two parts. The first portion will give information about Student tours, camps, and centers, as well as the main congresses and conferences, which will be held in Europe this summer.

These include the international camp at Lake Balaton in Hungary, from August 10 to 22, and the C. I. E. Council meeting in Budapest, Hungary, at the same time. It will include notes on National festivals, and celebrations. There will be information about summer schools and vacation courses, as well as sporting items and a special chapter on important European political events.

The second part will deal mainly with the work of the International societies in Europe, and the facilities they offer to the student traveler. This includes details about opportunities offered in large centers such as Paris, Geneva, Rome, Berlin, as well as information about the International student identity card, the Handbooks of Student Travel, and other informative and useful books for travelers.

The American edition of the International student identity card, as previously announced, can be obtained for the price of one dollar by any student registered at an accredited higher institution on the list of the American council of education. The student must carry 12 hours of work or must be working for a degree. This serves as an introduction to student union in Europe as well as to entitle its owner to many free visas, railroad reductions, and other reduced rates.

Shot! N.Y.U. Football Star Is Killed in Friendly Tilt With Policeman

New York—Edwin Hill, star half-back of New York university's football team last season, was shot and killed Wednesday night in a playful struggle for a policeman's revolver.

The shooting occurred outside a police booth near the college campus, a favorite congregating place for the students. The patrolman, Joseph Green, was absolved of criminal blame, but was suspended from duty.

Green said Hill and John Bunyan, a former N. Y. U. guard, had stopped at the booth to talk to him when Hill spied two girls strolling down the street and asked the policeman for his night-stick to "chase them away."

The policeman refused and a friendly struggle started. During the struggle, Green said, Hill grabbed his service revolver from its holster and, during the attempt to regain it, the weapon was discharged. The bullet pierced Hill's left breast, killing him instantly.

Plan Renovation of Lincoln's Tomb and Collection Removal

Springfield, Ill.—Passing of one of the most famous Lincoln collections was forecast recently with the announcement that the state of Illinois plans an entire renovation of the tomb of Abraham Lincoln here.

For many years, the entrance room of the tomb has been the sanctuary for the collection of Herbert Wells Fay, custodian. It has grown by contributions of the thousands of visitors each year until the room is literally overflowing. Now the plan is to eliminate the collection.

It will be stored until a place for the collection has been selected. It is possible that part of the collection may be added to the historical library collection here.

Cost of the proposed renovation, which will be submitted to the legislature next week, is estimated at $175,000. This will include redecorating the entire interior of the tomb and repairing the exterior.

Controversy on Stocking Issue Still Continues

Minneapolis, Minn.—Should co-eds go entirely without stockings or should they wear half-sox? This is the question confronting co-eds of several universities.

The dean of women at the Oklahoma A. and M. college has declared that bare legs are entirely too informal, while the head of the women's physical education department insists the half-sox are both healthful and practical.

Co-eds of the University of Georgia are also debating the same question. Several have gone to classes without stockings. They are making use of the new sunburn lotion that resembles a coat of tan, or a pair of sunburn hose.

Dean Nardin to Go to State Meeting With Assistants

Dean F. Louise Nardin and assistant deans, Miss Zoe Bayliss, Miss Susan Davis, Mrs. C. B. Flett and Miss H. L. McNaught will attend the annual convention of the Wisconsin Association of Deans of Women which will be held in Beloit, Saturday, May 18.

"Problems of Dishonesty Among Students" will be the topic of discussion led by Dean Nardin. Miss Bayliss and Dean Maude Mendenhall of Carroll college will give reports of the national convention at Cleveland.

Dean Nardin will lead the round table discussion of "Possible Cures."

Social Functions on Campus Center About Spring Formal Dances

Saturday night's social functions find spring formal dinner and dances continuing to lead the activities of the sororities and fraternities on the campus. With the exception of only two, all are formal parties.

Friday night parties consist also mainly of this important spring function. Those entertaining at formal dinner dances are Delta Theta Sigma, Phi Kappa Psi, Phi Beta Pi, Lambda Chi Alpha, Alpha Kappa Kappa, Delta Chi, Sigma, Alpha Omicron Pi and Chi Psi. Chadbourne hall and the men's dormitory association are holding formal parties. Alpha Kappa Psi is entertaining at an informal party, Phi Gamma Delta at an informal dinner dance, and the Newman club at an informal party.

Kappa Delta

Members of Kappa Delta are entertaining at a formal party on Saturday evening at the Madison club, from 7 to 12 o'clock. Mrs. A. E. Buckmaster, Mrs. J. T. Rood and Mr. P. H. Senn will chaperon.

Margaret Luther Engaged to Marry William Fritzsche

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Margaret Luther '26 to K. William Fritzsche.

Miss Luther, a member of Beta Phi Alpha sorority, is a teacher of home economics in the Madison city schools.

Mr. Fritzsche received his bachelor of science degree in mining and metallurgical engineering from Queen's university, Kingston, Ontario, in 1925, and is now doing graduate work in the geology department of the University of Wisconsin.

The wedding will take place the latter part of June.

Mrs. Ralph Linton Will Address 'Wisconsin Dames'

"Wisconsin Dames" will meet Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Calvary Lutheran church, State street.

Mrs. Ralph Linton, well known and popular lecturer, will talk on "Madagascar." Miss Mary Watts '29 will give several selections on her violin.

There will be a short business meeting following the program. Refreshments will be served. There will be a nursery for the children.

Former Student Is Married on Tuesday

Miss Pearl Margaret Jirtle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Jirtle, University avenue, and Chester C. Behrens, Columbus, O., were married Tuesday at the Plymouth Congregational church in Oshkosh. The Rev. William Reese Dixon officiated.

Mrs. Behrens was a former student at the university and is a member of Kappa Delta sorority and Delta Phi Delta, honorary art society. Mr. Behrens is a graduate of Ohio State university.

Local Professor Elected Director of Park League

Dr. Walter E. Sullivan, professor of anatomy, was elected a director of the Madison Park and Pleasure Drive association at the 37th annual meeting of that organization held Wednesday night.

Levitan Backs Free Loan Move

State Treasurer Advocates Group to Lend Money Without Interest

In his address before group two of the Wisconsin Bankers association, meeting here Thursday, Solomon Levitan, state treasurer of Wisconsin, advocated the organization of free loan associations to be supported by donations from philanthropic citizens for the purpose of lending money to needy persons without interest.

"When I attended the seminary at Wilna in Europe," said Mr Levitan, "I was the financial secretary of an organization that loaned money to the poor and needy without interest. Well do I remember the timely help given by that society to the struggling boy or girl, man or woman, who were out of work or sick, or who had met with some adversity. Seldom did these people fail to pay back these loans within a reasonable time.

"With all the poverty that existed in Europe, the people paid from one to five cents a week to carry on the humanitarian work of the free loan association to help those more unfortunate than themselves. I think of this in contrast to this country with its enormous wealth, in which there are organizations that charge 42 per cent annual interest, and which claim they are doing it in the interests of the poor man who finds it necessary to make short time loans.

"Similar rates of interest have been legalized in many of the states in the Union. Those who worked for the passage of these laws advocated them in the name of philanthropy. I fail to see how legalizing the loan shark business makes it more humane.

"The Small Loans act of 1927 legalizes a rate of interest of 3 1/2 per cent a month, or 42 per cent a year. Until this law was passed, the highest legal rate allowed in Wisconsin was 10 per cent under the discount plan."

GERMAN CLUB MEETS

Prof. A. R. Hohlfeld gave the address at the meeting of the University German club held in Lathrop parlors last evening. His talk was on "Goethe's Faust on the Stage," given in German. Goethe's songs were sung after his talk. Prof. Griesch's mixed chorus sang "Koenig in Thule." "Der Fischer" and "Maided" were sung by Mrs. E. A. Philippson, and Prof. B. Q. Morgan sang "Der Erlkoenig." There was group singing of "Heidenroeslein."

Doctor Refutes Negro Charges

Elma Townsend Replies to Mrs. Ralph Linton's Answer

"Teaching the negro that his lack of achievement and inferiority is because of his color and the servile status of his ancestors, and that the intermarriage of whites and negroes will better his condition, creates the worst kind of race consciousness," and "the notion that the crossing of whites and blacks would produce a superior race mentally and physically has no biological foundation," are the high-lights in the reply of Dr. Elma Townsend to Mrs. Ralph Linton's answer to statements the Madison doctor made before a legislative committee considering a bill to forbid the intermarriage of negroes and whites in Wisconsin. Mrs. Linton is the wife of Prof. Linton, of the department of social anthropology, and is a lecturer on the negro question.

The slavery of the negro race by the Anglo-Saxon was a good thing for the negroes, in the opinion of Dr. Townsend. "The southern people gave the negro all that was of value to them—until recent years. They brought the negro to a state of civilization, teaching them to work with their hands, becoming useful in the common mechanical trades," she says.

"It is not prejudice," she believes, "that creates the distinction between the negro and the white races. It is the personality of the negro himself—like most of us—that fixes his social status."

That Mrs. Linton evades the scientific basis of racial distinction, is the doctor's contention. She claims that the negro brain is an organ less complex than that of the white man; that there is an imperfect development of the interior association centers; that the convolutions are narrower and the gyri unequal.

Clef Club Initiates

Florence Livergood

Florence Bell Livergood '30 was initiated into Clef club at a meeting of the organization held last night in the Memorial Union. Plans for the annual spring picnic were discussed at the business meeting following the initiation. Clef club is a musical organization, the membership of which is open to all women students outside of those enrolled in the School of Music.

COMPLETE CAMPUS COVERAGE

BY THE RAMBLER

A quiz section in the Biology building was awakened Wednesday morning when a mauve-colored pigeon flew into the room through an open window. It seems, however, that the pigeon found it embarrassing to have 16 pairs of eyes glued on him, so he aimed for what seemed an open window. Unfortunately, he guessed wrong and collided with a glass window pane, the impact of which stunned him and he fell to the floor. Before the hour ended he revived and flew away.

If reports are to be believed the university buildings are infested with bats. The latest reports place their habitats in the Chemistry building and Sterling hall.

Ross Sport '32 was taking himself about the campus with his arm in a sling as the result of a broken shoulder bone until too many people began to offer their sympathy. Now Ross walks along without a sling even though his shoulder is just as bad as it was two days ago.

Charles Cadwell '30 and Ray Ballou '31 missed some words during the course of a Spanish game in one of Miss Manuela de Mora's Spanish classes. As a penalty they were forced to sing "La Paloma."

Then there's the professor who came to the foot of the campus with a bicycle, dismounted, and wheeled his vehicle up along the north walk.

"Dad" Brown tried to stop him until he realized that the gray-headed man was not a student.

Pete Seidl '31 reports that Railroad Jack is outside of Watertown, selling pop, ice cream, etc., while answering history questions. He has erected a roof on his wagon and uses it as his emporium.

Big doings over at Barnard hall these nights. The seniors took it upon themselves to awe the juniors Wednesday night. The entire group clothed themselves for dinner in Floradora outfits with long gloves, and bustles, 'n everything. But just for spite the juniors stayed away until the seniors had filed in and then they entered the dining hall en masse without even looking at the rival class. Well, last night the juniors dressed themselves in rubbers and slickers and the seniors did the same.

Someone or the other phoned a campus ice cream purveyor and ordered five quarts of ice cream to be delivered to Ruth Burdick '30 at the Delta Gamma house. It was delivered but Ruth claims she had nothing to do with the ordering.

The latest co-ed prank. A young lady secreted eight tadpoles out of her biology lab in order to keep them at home to make observations. Now, she does not know what to feed them.

The girls at 613 North Frances street are holding a "jacks" tournament. ("Jacks" if you must know is one of those pastimes where you bounce a ball on a table and pick up one, two, three, four, six-pointed objects consecutively. You probably saw your kid sister play it once upon a time.) Cecil White '31 is in the lead.

In the list of one o'clock parties for the weekend, Dean Goodnight has sent to the Daily Cardinal, appears, "Chi Psi—at the CHAPTER HOUSE." Dean, how could you! Don't you know the tribe Chi Psi dwells in a LODGE.

Roy Matson '29 did a jig dance in the Daily Cardinal office yesterday so well one spectator threw him a penny, which Roy quickly recouped.

A new reason. Lou Bellinson '29 cut his 11 o'clock class Thursday in order to take a bath. The explanation offered is that it is the only time he can be assured of the unhampered use of the tub.

Senior-Alumni Dinner June 22

Glenn Frank and Evan Evans to Be Principal Speakers

The principal address at the senior-alumni dinner which will be held on Alumni day, June 22, will be given by Pres. Glenn Frank. An address will also be given by Evan A. Evans '97, Chicago, who is president of the Wisconsin Alumni association, and a judge of the United States circuit court of appeals.

Representatives of the classes of 1897 and 1929 will give a parting pledge of loyalty on behalf of their organizations. According to Herman Egsted '17, general secretary of the association, it is planned to make this a regular feature to the dinner.

The full program for the day follows:

10 a. m., general business meeting of the Alumni association; noon, class reunions; 4 p. m., university band concert and boat rides; 6:30 p. m., a parade of the reunion classes; 7 p. m., senior-alumni dinner; 9 p. m., pipe of peace ceremony, followed by president's reception and the senior-alumni dance.

Players Postpone Play Production Until Next Fall

The three student-written plays, winners in the Wisconsin Players' contest, will not be produced this spring, because of lack of time, Joe Richter, '29, president of the organization, announced Thursday.

The plays will be produced as the first series of laboratory productions next fall. Prizes will be awarded to the winners of the contest at the Wisconsin Players' banquet this month.

The approach of examination time, with restrictions on social activities, makes the production of the three plays this spring impossible.

Y. W. Cabinets Meet to Plan for Next Year

Plans for next year's program for the university Y. W. C. A. are being made by its various departments.

Members of the old and new cabinet will spend this week-end from Friday night until Sunday afternoon at the city Y. W. C. A. cottage. On Sunday noon they will entertain the Y. W. C. A. advisory board at a dinner at the cottage.

On May 16, the new Y. W. C. A. council will be hostesses at the W. A. A. cottage for all freshman girls who are interested in next year's sophomore clubs. Miss Mary Anderson will be the chaperon.

Union Will Give Final Dance of Year Saturday

Students will have their last chance to attend a dance at the Memorial Union this year when the third "Rathskeller Bummel" is held in the Union Rathskeller Saturday night. Special efforts are being made to make this final dance the best of the year.

All members of the Wisconsin Men's Union board will make up a group which will occupy a large table in the center of the Rathskeller. Large and small tables are also available for other groups of any size.

"Hy" Rich and His Rhythm Rascals will play for the dancing and Rich, who has appeared on the vaudeville stage as a dancer, will give specialty dance numbers for entertainment.

Advance reservations may be made now at the Union desk for tables of any size. No extra charge is made for the use of the tables throughout the evening. The regular price of $1.50 per couple will be charged.

Clay Manufacturers Create Tariff for Fellowship Fund

Proceeds from a self imposed tariff on bricks manufactured by members of the Wisconsin Clay Manufacturers association will be devoted to a fellowship in ceramics in the department of mining and metallurgy in the school of engineering.

Thirty members representing 75 per cent of the clay plants in the state attended the second conference of the association held Wednesday in the Engineering building.

For every 1,000 bricks made by the plants, the manufacturers agreed to donate 2 cents toward this fellowship, which will be started July 1, 1929. Prof. G. J. Barker of the mining and metallurgy department and secretary of the association said, "The university is actively supporting the clay manufacturers in their effort to produce a better product."

Announce Prize Essay Winners

Made in Contest Held by Chemical Society

Wisconsin winners in a prize essay contest conducted under the auspices of the American Chemical society have been announced by Dr. J. H. Mathews, chairman of the state judging committee. Of the 134 essays submitted by students in secondary schools of Wisconsin, six were selected for first prizes and six received honorable mention.

One first prize, $20 in gold, and one certificate of honorable mention were awarded in each of six groups of topics dealing with various aspects of chemistry in modern life.

Prize Winners

The prize winners are: Dorothy E. Ketchum, south division high school, Milwaukee; Lillian Bohl, Wausau; Arthur Bassett, Baraboo; Dorothy Boyle, Shawano; Sophie Mullen, Colfax; Gertrude Weller, La Crosse.

Those awarded honorable mention are Paul Wagner, Harold S. Confer, and Shirley Tollefson, Monroe; Edward M. Shealy, Wayland academy, Beaver Dam; Marjorie Burns, and Howard A. Schneider, Washington high school, Milwaukee.

Enter National Contest

The 12 winning essays will be sent to the national committee which will enter the six first prize essays in the national contest. The national committee will then select one winner in each of six subjects from the essays submitted by students in secondary schools in each state, the District of Columbia, Alaska, Hawaii, Porto Rico, and the Philippines.

The national prizes are six four-year scholarships at any recognized college or university in the United States, each providing tuition fees and $500 cash annually. Funds for the scholarship awards were provided by Mr. and Mrs. Francis P. Garvan, New York city, as a memorial to their daughter, Patricia. This is the sixth consecutive year the American Chemical society has conducted the contest under the Garvan fund. The contest is to be held again next year, Dr. Mathews announces.

The state judges for the contest this year were as follows: Clare H. Hall, Milwaukee; Dr. J. L. Yates, Milwaukee; Miss Lucia R. Briggs, president Milwaukee-Downer college, Milwaukee; John Callahan, state superintendent of public instruction, Madison; E. G. Doudna, secretary, board of regents, Wisconsin Teachers college;

Bart E. McCormick, secretary, Wisconsin Teachers association; Mary C. Richards, Madison; Prof. J. H. Walton, chemistry department, University of Wisconsin; and chairman, Dr. J. H. Mathews, department of chemistry, University of Wisconsin.

H'Doubler Returns From West; Sails for Europe Soon

Having completed a two-month trip to the west last Monday night, Miss Margaret H'Doubler, associate professor of physical education, will leave next Sunday for a trip to Europe, and will return to begin the new semester. She is going from here to New York and Boston and will sail for Europe from Boston on May 22.

Miss H'Doubler, who instructs dancing at the university, has been traveling, during this last trip, in the western states and in Honolulu, where she was observing different styles of dancing.

While in Europe, Miss H'Doubler expects to visit as many countries as possible, and to attend a dance consort held at Berlin, Germany, in the latter part of June.

Fire Dive to Be Novel Feature of Venetian Night

A spectacular fire dive by Earl Hatleberg '29 Varsity diver will be one of the many novel features offered at the annual Venetian Night on May 25 which is being sponsored by the Union board and the athletic department, Bud Lange '30, chairman of the water events committee, announced Thursday.

Besides the fire dive, other entertainment novelties include water stunting by the members of the varsity swimming team and the Dolphin club. The advisability of staging an aquaplaning exhibition was discussed at a recent committee meeting and it is possible that such an exhibition may be given unless weather conditions make the plan unfeasible.

Several fraternities and sororities have signified their intention to enter floats in the parade which promises to be one of the main events of the varied program. All interested are asked to call Eleanor Savery '30 for information.

Tennis Team Plays Chicago

George Lott, Third Ranking U. S. Player, Heads Invaders

bleachers to accommodate 1,000 on-lookers will be erected this morning and will be ready for use when the match begins.

Went Last Year

Last year, Wisconsin defeated Chicago 6-1 in their final match of the season, and in doing so, clinched the championship of the Big Ten. However, the current year finds the situation somewhat reversed, as a Badger victory would leave Michigan the only unbeaten squad in the conference.

In addition to the men that have already been named upon both teams, Fred Hewes, a southpaw with a puzzling drive and chop, will clash against Allison of the visitors, Aaron Gottlieb, the chop stroke artist of the team, will play Hebert or Kaplan of Chicago, and Howie Segal of the Cardinals will meet Heyman, junior doubles champion in the western division.

Lott in Doubles

The doubles matches, which again will find Lott in action, feature the Chicago ace paired with Allison against McMillan and Freeborn, Rexinger and Calohan against Meiklejohn and Hewes, and Heyman and Hebert or Kaplan against Fred Tiegs and Paul Bauhs, the latter being a new combination in the field for Wisconsin.

Bad weather again kept Coach Winterble during the past week from bringing his men into tiptop condition, and several members of the squad are on the injured list. Capt. McMillan has been bothered with a sore side, Gottlieb suffered an injured tendon in his leg, and Bob Osgood has been encountering difficulty from a balky shoulder.

The varsity courts will be in excellent shape for the matches this afternoon, and some fast tennis should be brought out. The Cardinals, with their backs to the wall, find themselves with everything to win and nothing to lose, and hope to upset the confident visitors this afternoon.

How Gold Prospector "Went Scotch"

Minneapolis, Minn. April 30, 1928

Larus & Bro. Co. Richmond, Va. Dear Sirs:

Two years ago last winter I went into the Red Lake gold fields in Canada. It was a tough trail from Hudson, over 140 miles of snow and ice. There were fourteen of us on the trail going in, and frequently at night when seated around a big camp fire, some one would ask me for a pipeful of Edgeworth. These Canadian boys sure like our Edgeworth.

In four weeks' time I ran out of Edgeworth. I was glad to get 'most any old tobacco.

One day, however, I dropped in to Dad Brown's tent, a 72-year-old prospector, and seeing a can of Edgeworth on an improvised table, back there 150 miles from the "steel," I perked up at once, saying, "Dad, I'm plum out of tobacco—how's chances for a pipeful?" "Help yourself," he said. So pulling my heavy duty pipe from my pocket, I loaded it with Edgeworth, packing it in so tightly that I couldn't get the least bit of a draw.

I excused myself for a moment, and stepped outside to remove about three pipefuls to put in my pouch. Dad stepped out, saying, "You're worse than any Scotchman I ever saw." Then I confessed. I told him what happened to my Edgeworth—that I was just dying for a smoke, and he understood right away. He said, "Boy, Edgeworth is mighty scarce in these parts, but I reckon I can spare what's left of that can. Help yourself."

You can just bet your last nickel that I guarded this Edgeworth with extreme care until I got back to the "steel."

Yours very truly,
C. M. Bahr

Badgers-Gophers to Clash Saturday on Baseball Field

helped the Hawks stem a late rally by the opponents. Minnesota also dropped a game to Ohio State.

Wildcats Dark Horse

Northwestern's Wildcats, the first to trim Wisconsin this season, are rated as dark horses in the 1929 race, and in the Tuesday game they gave Wisconsin all it could handle for nine innings, and when Farber went to the mound in the tenth to relieve Thelander, the visitors rallied with a volley of six hits that brought five men across the plate and gave them the lead that cost the game for the locals.

Minnesota has not been rated as an exceptionally powerful team, and its record has not been impressive, but they gave their opponents a good run in both of the conference matches, and Coach Lowman looks forward to a battle when the Norsemen step out on the Camp Randall diamond.

Ellerman Injured

The match will be the second of a string of five home games for Wisconsin. There will not be much change in the Badger lineup, although Coach Lowman was dissatisfied with Harry Ellerman's Tuesday performance at the keystone sack. Ellerman has been slowed down because of an ankle injury.

Wisconsin's hitters, who have been instrumental in the Badgers three wins to date, slowed down against Northwestern Tuesday, and were able to gather no more than five swats good enough to get them on the sack. "Dynie" Mansfield, rated as one of the best Big Ten willow-wielders, was unable to get a safe hit.

Farber, who stopped the Illini in a recent game when he allowed them only three hits, will probably be saved for the next skirmish with the Suckers, which is slated for next Monday. Ray Ellerman, who pitched Wisconsin to a win over Notre Dame on May 1, may go on against the Gophers, although Ted Thelander is also a possibility on the mound. Evans is slated to catch.

Badger Tracksters Face Northwestern in Outdoor Meet the lesser places. Dilley, Goldsworthy and Folsom will face the Purple contestants in the two mile.

Captain Larson, Henke, Diehl, and Bensen are the Badgers to enter in the 100 and 220 dash events and are expected to give Lattman and Portness of the Wildcats plenty of competition.

Behr in Weights

Sam Behr will lead the Cardinal shotputters and will be assisted by Neupert, Shomaker, and Backus. Behr should have little trouble in taking first place. The Wildcats will have the edge in the javelin and hammer but Jones will try to stave their field attack by presenting Shomaker, Larson, Purtell in the spear event, and Rottman, Shomaker, and Frisch in the hammer.

Lunde and Lynse will attempt to take a few points in the pole vault, while Behr, Kemp, and Buechner will compete in the high jump. In the hurdles the Badgers are expected to come through with Brandt, Ziese, Eisele, and Roden as their performers. The half mile will be entered by Ocock.

The following men have been entered by Coach Jones: Capt. Larson, Lysne, Lunde, Purtell, Henke, Diehl, Benson, Davidson, Roden, Brandt, Ziese, Eisele, Moe, Follows, Cassidy, Steenis, Buechner, Kemp, Behr, Neupert, Shomaker, Warren, Folsom, Goldsworthy, Dilley, Ocock, Backus, Paschong and Frisch.

CIGARETTE TAX LEVIED

Lansing, Mich.—A bill placing a tax on cigars sold in Michigan was signed by Gov. Fred W. Green Tuesday. The levy is 1 cent on each ten cigars. It is estimated the tax will yield more than $1,500,000 a year and is designed to provide funds without taxing property for the poorer school districts of the state.

APOLOGY

An error was made in the May 9th issue of the Cardinal in which Arthur Simpson '30 was referred to as a member of the state senate. He is not a member of either house.

Plan Construction of World's Tallest Building in Chicago

Chicago.—Plans for construction of the world's tallest building, a 75-story edifice to house the general offices of the Illinois Central railroad and the Crane manufacturing company have been announced.

The building, to be known as the Crane tower, will rise 1,022 feet, 38 feet higher than the top of Eiffel tower in Paris. It will be located on Chicago's new thoroughfare, Randolph boulevard, a continuation of Randolph street extending from Michigan boulevard to the lake. The date for the start of construction has not yet been announced.

In addition to being the tallest structure ever erected by man, it will be the world's largest office building, containing 3,500,000 feet of space.

EVERYBODY IS TALKING ABOUT THE "PERPETUAL MOTION" WATCH

AN INSIDE TIP . . . on how to write a strong advertising headline and win this $55 Self-Winding Watch FREE

NOTE what your fellow students say about the "perpetual motion" watch—the watch that has no winding stem—that winds itself! In this way, you will get a definite idea of the appeal of this revolutionary invention. See the watch itself in the offices of this publication, or at your leading jewelry store.

Then write an advertising headline of ten words or less, that you think would attract attention to an advertisement featuring the Perpetual Watch. Write a twenty word secondary headline, or "subhead" if you wish.

Send us your headline before June 25, 1929. Our advertising agency will compare it with others written by your fellow students, and if your headline is judged the best submitted from your college we will send you a $55 Perpetual Self-Winding Watch FREE.

And—if your suggestion shows a "flair" for advertising—this is your opportunity to attract the attention of advertising agency executives who are constantly looking for college men with natural advertising ability.

Hillel Will Play Host to Lodges

B'Nai Brith to Attend Concert Sunday

The Hillel foundation will be host to representatives of the B'Nai Brith lodges of Wisconsin Sunday afternoon when the Choral club of the foundation will give its spring concert.

This will be the first time that the B'Nai Brith, which sponsors the foundation, will officially inspect its quarters and activities. Large delegations from all over the state are expected to be in Madison, and the various committees are preparing to meet them.

Addresses of welcome and explanation of the foundation's activities will be delivered by Martin Spero '30, president of the foundation; Allan Polachek '29, last year's president, and Rabbi Solomon Landman, director.

A program featuring a number of Yiddish folk songs will be given by the Choral club. The Choral club has broadcast over the radio, and has sung in Milwaukee and Chicago. Professor Leon Iltis of the university school of music directs the club.

Although the visiting B'Nai Brith members will be the special guests of the foundation, the concert will be open to the public and general open house will be conducted at the foundation.

Plan to Hold Memorial Day

Activities in Union Building

Plans are being made to bring as many of the Memorial day activities as possible in the Union building, according to Sally Owen '30, chairman of the Union Memorial Day committee.

Arrangements have been made to have the main ceremony take place in the Union in case of rain, and the officer reserves may have their annual dinner in the Union building.

She also announced that any group desiring to celebrate Memorial day in fitting manner may make arrangements to eat its dinner in any of the Union dining rooms.

Carleton Upperclassmen

Given Unlimited Cuts

Minneapolis, Minn.—Carleton college has lately decreed that juniors and seniors need not attend classes unless they wish to do so. Their grades are to be determined on the basis of examinations written at the completion of the course, rather than upon a system of daily average plus an examination mark, such as is in use here.

Uniform Entrance Requirements Planned for Oregon Universities

Corvallis, Ore.—Recent action taken in this state by institutions of higher learning for uniform and more flexible entrance requirements are in line with the best and most modern practice in the country, believes E. B. Lemon, registrar, who has just returned from the annual convention of American Association of Collegiate Registrars at Seattle.

Mr. Lemon was elected vice-president of the national body, the first time a Pacific coast man has been chosen an officer. He is also president of the Pacific coast association.

Unique System

"The University of Minnesota has made the most radical departure in matters of entrance requirements," said Mr. Lemon. "A recent action there permits a student 19 years old or over to be admitted in case he or she can pass a college adaptability test regardless of nature or extent of high school work, if any. Some doubt was expressed as to the workability of this plan but much interest is being taken in results of this move."

Representatives from the University of California reported that in 1931 the school will abandon the plan of admitting students on recommendation of high school principals, a policy which aroused discussion in neighboring states, and will put in force a plan similar to that used in this state for several years.

Stresses Orientation

Stress is being placed on personnel work, orientation courses and other methods for better fitting students to their individual needs. Practices here conformed with the best information on this subject, Mr. Lemon said.

Meeting jointly with registrars was a national conference on reorganization of lower division work in colleges and universities. It was agreed that such reorganization is primarily for bettering teaching in the academic fields, technical schools always being exempt from such reorganization work.

Far East Group to Meet Soon

Students' Convention to Be Held June 5 to 12 at Taylor Hall

The fourth annual oriental students conference which affords students from the orient an opportunity to meet and discuss their problems will be held at Taylor hall, a boys' preparatory school in Racine, from September 5 to 12.

The object of the conference, according to a bulletin which the conference has sent out, is to provide an opportunity for the interchange of points of view between oriental and occidental students to the end that a fellowship based on an intelligent understanding may be established.

The program for the conference consists of discussion of the educational movement in China, India, and Japan, and current events in the world. On the morning of Sept. 7 H. T. Muzumdar, grad, will discuss the "New Movement on Education in India," and James Mo, grad, "The Problem of Class Struggle."

John Mason, grad, will speak on Sept. 10 on the current events in Europe, and on Sept. 12 on "Educational Movements and Agencies

Columbia Student Takes 'Camp Leadership' for Ninth Time

New York, N. Y.—Columbia university has another "perpetual student." He is David Layton, who likes one course so well he is taking it for the ninth time this spring.

In fact, Mr. Layton has taken the one course so often that Teachers College has refused to accept tuition from him this year and has retired its faithful pupil to a status of "guest student." It was said that if Mr. Layton thinks the instructor is making a mistake, or if he leaves out a part of the accustomed lecture, he will interrupt the teacher and correct the error.

The course is for camp leaders and is given every spring.

Which Promote International Spirit." Attendance at this conference is by invitation. Those who attended last year from the university were Emily Dawson, grad, Dr. Kurt Mattusch, who is now in Germany; Dr. Carl Baumann, grad; Felix Quirino '29, Carlos Quirino '31, Ruperto Torres, grad, and Gengo Suzuki, M. A. '27.

Augustin Rodolfo '23, is chairman of the oriental students conference, and Haridas T. Muzumdar and John Mason are members of the executive committee.

Stanford Golf Course Project to Begin Soon

Palo Alto, Cal.—Dreams of a Stanford golf course are near realization with the announcement yesterday that "Al" Masters, general manager of the board of athletic control, had been directed by the organization to begin construction on the project at once.

Word of the move was dispatched to Bell and Thomas, nationally famous golf course architects of Pasadena, who were ordered to take charge immediately.

The final straightening out of irrigation difficulties, which heretofore has forestalled the project, was thought to be the main reason for the move toward making the new course an actuality, although the comptroller's office declined to make any statements regarding the matter in the absence of Comptroller A. E. Roth.

The new grass course is expected to be one of the finest and most picturesque in the state, and will cost approximately $100,000.

The present layout of the course provides for the first nine holes between Lake Lagunita and San Francisco creek and north of the county road. The last nine will be located on the other side of the road and will run south and west into the hills. The course is expected to be completed before February 1 of next year.

Nearly 100 students of the University of Southern California were given work through the employment bureau to take part in the filming of a college picture. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, the company making the picture, believes that a genuine college atmosphere can be created if college students appear in the picture.
