Gold and silver keys were awarded staff members who have served the past year and a half. Laurens G. Hastings '24, was toastmaster for the evening. William J. Fronk '24, retiring business manager, and Richard Bellack '24, the editor during the past year, spoke.

Dean Scott H. Goodnight gave a short talk on eligibility, telling how ineligibility is not a punishment for the students but is meant as a protection.

BROSSARD HONORED BY LEGAL FRATERNITY

The honor key of Gamma Eta Gamma, professional legal fraternity, will be given to E. E. Brossard, revisor of statutes for Wisconsin when he is initiated into Upsilon chapter. This key is given to honorary and graduate members of the fraternity, and represents the ancient fasces of the Roman law. Mr. Brossard graduated from the university in 1888 and received his law degree in 1890.

Prof. Bleyer Goes to Convention of Social Commission

Prof. Willard G. Bleyer, head of the course in journalism, left yesterday for Washington, D. C., where he will represent, with Prof. Walter Williams, dean of the University of Missouri school of journalism, the schools of journalism at the conference of the social research council, to be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

The distribution of international news is to be taken up at the conference. The social research council, which consists of three representatives of the American Political Science association, the American Sociological society, the American Economic association and the American Statistical association, is undertaking a scientific investigation of the means of gathering and distributing current news and opinion of international importance.

Professor Bleyer will return for his Monday classes.

Kenneth Fearing Wins Vilas Award of $50 For Essay

Kenneth L. Fearing '24, was awarded first prize of $50 for his essay on "James Gibbons Huneker," submitted in the Vilas prize essay contest of 1924. The second prize of $25 was won by Helen M. Rickett '25, for an essay on "Havelock Ellis As a Critic of Life."

The Vilas prize essay contest, held annually for the last several years, was established by Mrs. Anna M. Vilas in memory of her husband, Col. William S. Vilas.

Altogether five essays were submitted. The topics were chosen from a list prepared by the English department.

The committee of judges was composed of Professors R. E. Neill Dodge, Louis A. Cooper, and William E. Leonard. According to Prof. Dodge, the standard of excellence of the themes submitted was noticeably higher than in previous years.

LAW HONOR GIVEN TO SEVEN SENIORS

Are Elected to Order of Coif at Annual Dinner at Y. M. C. A.

Seven seniors were elected to the Order of Coif at the annual banquet of the Law school held last night in the Y. M. C. A. banquet room. The newly elected members of the honorary law organization are Russell P. Jones L3, Miriam L. Frye L3, Arthur T. Thorson L3, Walter Dahl L3, Thomas N. Burke L2, Beatrice Walker L3, and Leroy J. Burlingame L3.

Membership in Coif is based chiefly on a high scholarship rating.

Eugene E. Gilmore, vice-governor of the Phillipines and formerly affiliated with the law faculty of Wisconsin, was the guest of honor, and chief speaker of the evening. Prof. W. H. Page acted as toastmaster.

Among the speakers at the banquet were Prof. H. S. Richards, dean of the Law school, Justice Burr W. Jones of the state supreme court, Arthur Thorson '24, Paul Paulson '24 and Frederick Johns '24.

MENDOTA SEES FAST PIER BUILDING RACE

The fraternity pier building race is progressing rapidly. When a survey was made along the lake shore last night shortly before dark it was found that most of the piers were on an even line and that the eight fraternities were progressing furiously. Although no silver loving cup has been offered for the fraternity that gets its pier out first, each competitor feels that the satisfaction of holding the honor of having a swimmer dive from its spring board first will be sufficient award.

DRIVE HEADQUARTERS MADE FOR CAMPAIGN

Headquarters for the senior Memorial drive have been established at the Union board office on Langdon street for the period of the campaign, John C. Dawson '24, the chairman of the promotion committee said yesterday.

LA FOLLETTE PRAISES SOCIAL SCIENCE CLUB

Phil La Follette '21 endorsed the aim of the Social Science club in his speech at the meeting last night in Lathrop concert room. The Social Science club is doing a good work by acting as the medium through which both sides of public questions are brought to the student body by outsiders, according to La Follette.

ELECTIONS FOR JUNIOR COUNCIL TO BE TODAY

Elections for the Junior council will be held at the final meeting of the Sophomore commission in the fellowship room of the Y. M. C. A. this noon. Other business for next year will be taken up, George Shutt '26, president, said yesterday.

HILBERTS NAMES FOUR ASSISTANTS FOR HOMECOMING

Gustorf, Tuhtar, Porter, and Casterline Chosen Assistant General Chairmen

General chairmen for the 1924 Homecoming were announced last night by Bert M. Hilberts '25, who heads the 1924 Homecoming organization. They are Fred Gustorf '25, Gene Tuhtar '25 Hawley Porter '25, and Robert Casterline '25.

Gustorf will have charge of publicity, homecoming programs, decorations and special features. The management of alumni arrangements, the parade and the furnishing of information for visitors has been put in the hands of Porter while Casterline will handle the finances and manage the budget plans. Tuhtar has been placed in charge of the carnival, dance and mass meeting.

Select Committees Soon

"Committees are being chosen and will be announced this week," Hilberts said last night.

New ideas for the decorations, mass meeting and special features have already developed into concrete plans according to the homecoming chairman.

"They indicate that Homecoming generally will be especially worthy of university interest next fall," Hilberts said.

PARES TO TALK ON RUSSIA TODAY

Professor Was Eye Witness of Much That He Describes

Prof. Sir Bernard Pares who will speak this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in 165 Bascom hall will base his talk, "Present Day Russia" upon his long connection with Russia, preceding the revolution, of nearly a quarter of a century and extending to 1919. Having held a distinguished position as an authority on Russian affairs and as public lecturer he has been selected by the committee on lectures and convocations as particularly qualified to discuss Russia of today.

As an eye witness of much that he describes, Professor Pares has come in contact with practically all angles of Russian life. Every year he spent some time in journeying in a cart among the peasants, and he has travelled in forty out of sixty provinces of European Russia.

Professor Pares is at present director of the school of Slavonic studies and professor of Russian in the University of London.

He was educated at Harrow and Cambridge and later spent long periods of study in France, Germany, Italy, Austria and Russia. From 1904 he visited Russia regularly for some months in each year and witnessed many of the principal events of the first Russian revolution. The government allowed Professor Pares special rights of access to the Duma.

PLAYERS CUT MEETING TO HEAR GLENN FRANK

In order that the members may be able to attend Glenn Frank's address tonight the regular program for the University Players meeting will be dispensed with, according to Jack Harrington '25, president of the organization. The regular business meeting, however, will be held as usual and will commence at 7:30 o'clock in Lathrop hall. Plans for "Comedy Night", May 16, will be discussed.

Prof. I. S. Griffith Head of Industrial Education, is Dead

Prof. Ira S. Griffith, 1904 Jefferson street, chairman of the courses in industrial education and applied arts, died at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the Methodist hospital.

Death followed an illness of three weeks. During that time Prof. Griffith underwent four operations.

Professor Griffith came here from the University of Illinois in 1920 to succeed Prof. S. B. Crawshaw as chairman of the courses in industrial education and applied arts. He also taught for a number of years at the University of Missouri. Many books on manual arts were written by Professor Griffith.

Surviving him are his widow and two daughters, Mrs. J. E. Willey, Urbana, Ill., and Esther Griffith, 1904 Jefferson street.

FOUR INITIATED INTO JUNIOR HONOR SOCIETY

White Spades, honorary junior fraternity, held initiation and election of officers last night at a banquet in the Y. M. C. A. The initiates are John Bergstresser, Harold A. Cranefield, Marshall Diebold and Eliot H. Sharp. Bert Hilberts was elected president and Ellis Fulton vice-president for the coming academic year.

FRANK'S ADDRESS MARKS PHI BETA KAPPA INITIATION

Century Editor's Speech Tonight in Gymnasium Open to All

Glenn Frank, editor of the Century magazine, will complete the Phi Beta Kappa initiation tonight at 8 o'clock with an open address in the men's gymnasium on "The Educated Man and the New Politics." Mr. Frank arrives in the city this noon on his way from Chicago where he spoke last night and will leave for New York tonight after the address.

The formal initiation of the 48 students who were elected to membership in Phi Beta Kappa will commence at 4:45 o'clock this afternoon in Lathrop parlors. Prof. F. C. Sharp of the philosophy department and president of the local chapter will be toastmaster at the banquet which will be held at 5:45 o'clock in the parlors. All members of Phi Beta Kappa will be admitted to the initiation and banquet.

Bronze Tablet ERECTED

Lois Livingston '24 will speak at the dinner as the representative of the seniors and Vernon Houghton '25 will speak for the juniors. Glenn Frank will also give a short talk at the banquet before his public appearance at the gymnasium.

This will be the first time in 20 years that President Birge who was national president of the honorary scholastic fraternity last year, will not speak at the initiation. He has gone to Purdue to take part in the semi-centennial celebrations there.

A bronze tablet bearing the names of those who are to be taken into Phi Beta Kappa has been erected opposite the entrance to the registrar's office in Bascom hall. Each year a new tablet bearing the names of the newly elected students will be erected there.

The tablet was designed by Prof. W. H. Varnum of the department of applied art. Professor Varnum also superintended the work on it.

GRADUATED FROM NORTHWESTERN

Editor of the Century since 1921 and its associate editor from 1919 to 1921 Mr. Frank has written many articles and editorials on social, political and religious subjects which have received high praise from members of the faculty here. Besides his usual editorial the Century for March carried an article by him on the Bok peace plan.

He was a member of the group headed by ex-president Taft which drafted a covenant for the League of Nations which was considered by the peace conference at Paris in 1918-19. "Politics of Industry" is the title of a work published by him in 1919. He won the Northern Oratorical contest in 1912.

"Glenn Frank is one of the most persuasive orators in America," Prof. A. B. Hall of the department of political science who taught Mr. Frank when he was at Northwestern and who has heard him speak declared yesterday. "I think it is more his personality and literary style which make his audiences respond so whole-heartedly to him than it is his oratory. There are few speakers these days who evoke such response from their audiences as does Glenn Frank."

Police Arrest Nine Student Violators of Arterial Rule

Nine students were arrested yesterday for disobeying the law which requires autoists to stop at arterial highways, according to Joseph Pearson, alderman of the First ward, who warns students to take special care to observe this traffic ruling.

Tuesday 10 students were arrested for the same offense. The fines are $5 and costs. The city police this week are putting on a special drive to enforce the arterial law.

Many new arterials have been planted by the city street commission and they are all marked by traffic guides set in the center of the street on arterial highways. They have been placed on all the avenues and the important streets.

SHARP EXPLAINS PHI BETA CHOICE

Chapter Elects Fewer Students in Accordance With New Policy

With the approach of the Phi Beta Kappa initiation, which will be held tonight, comes the question as to how the 48 students who will become members of the national honorary scholastic society were chosen.

In the first place, according to Prof. Frank C. Sharp, of the philosophy department and president of the local chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, 6 per cent of the junior class and 14 per cent of the senior class, excluding, of course, those who have been elected as juniors the preceding year, who have the highest grades are chosen for consideration. Of these, not more than 50 per cent from each class may be elected.

The nominations from this original group of 6 and 14 per cent are made by a nominating committee of seven, which this year was headed by Prof. M. C. Otto of the philosophy department. The function of the committee is to go through all the names, consult the teachers of the candidates and pick out those who are most worthy and show the most promise for the future. The nominating committee then makes recommendations to the chapter which elects the new members.

The names of the highest six per cent of the junior class and the highest 14 per cent of the senior class are turned over to the nominating committee by the university which has compiled their grades. Admission is not based on grade points but on actual numerical standings.

The possible quota has not been reached for several years, Professor Sharp declared, for two reasons which result from the policy of the chapter. The first reason is that for many years the chapter has taken in a far larger percentage of students than is taken in at any other institution of the size and character of Wisconsin. This fact has put the local chapter in an exceptional position with regard to the national fraternity. The second reason is that with the growth of the university the number of those students who have the ability or interest to make Phi Beta Kappa has not increased in the same proportion. Thus it has been that for the last three years the chapter has elected fewer students each year.

At the meeting a week ago Saturday afternoon the local chapter voted that the maximum which should be elected hereafter is to be 50 students with a maximum of 12 juniors and 38 seniors.

Prize Offered By Cosmopolis For Best Jail Story

A prize of $1,000 is offered by the Cosmopolis press for the best full length play, motion picture scenario or story adaptable into a play or scenario on the subject, "American Jail as a Force in the Creating of Criminals and the Fostering of Crime."

The judges of the contest are John Golden, theatrical producer; Ludwig Lewisohn, author and an editor of The Nation; Minnie Marden Fiske, actress; Carl Van Doren, literary editor of the Century Magazine; Dean George W. Kirchwey, formerly of Columbia university; Ida Clark, associate editor of Pictorial Review; and Jesse Lasky, of the Famous Players Lasky corporation.

Manuscripts must be in English and should be sent to Contest Department, Cosmopolis press, 257 West 71st street, New York.

Mr. Young met John Muir in Alaska in 1879, and with him visited all parts of Alaska and the Siberian coast and the Arctic ocean by boat, travelling long distances in winter by dog-teams. He organized the first Protestant church in Alaska in 1879, and the first Presbyterian one at Dawson in 1898.

Although 77 years of age, Mr. Young is still active in his work in Alaska.

REDUCE YELLOW CAB RATES STARTING MAY 1

A reduction in Yellow cab rates beginning May 1 was announced yesterday by Charles Ossmann, president and general manager of the Madison Yellow Cab company.

The cost to the rider is the same for the first mile under both the old and the new schedules, but is now ten cents per mile less after the first mile. The new rate is 30 cents for the first half mile and ten cents for each half mile thereafter. The charge now in effect is 20 cents for the first one third mile and ten cents for each third thereafter.

The Yellow Cab company, which now has 25 cabs, expects to add ten new cars in September. The reduction is the result of generous patronage.

RESEARCH LAB MAY BE LOCATED HERE

Mathews Brings Encouraging Reports From Convention in Washington

Resolutions adopted by the council of the American Chemical society, endorsing the plan for the establishment of a national institute of research in colloid chemistry were brought back by Prof. J. H. Mathews, head of the chemistry department, from his recent trip to Washington, where he attended the meeting of the American Chemical society.

Wisconsin will become the fountain head of research in colloid chemistry for the world, if the institute is located here," said Professor Mathews. "We expect to have a considerable number of fellowships available."

That the institute will attract a great number of scientists from other universities during the summer is the belief of Professor Mathews.

"This institute will be the only one of its kind in the world. All other sciences will benefit by the work done in it, especially medicine, agriculture and the biological subjects.

Colloid chemistry embraces the study of the physics and chemistry of material in extremely finely divided suspension in other material or materials. It is unique in the world of science, and its principal development has been accomplished during the past twenty years.

NAME OFFICIALS
FOR RELAY MEETMembers of Faculty and Track Team to Act at Carnival

Officials who will be in charge of the first annual University of Wisconsin interscholastic relay carnival, which will be held at Camp Randall next Saturday, May 3, were announced by officials of the affair at the gymnasium yesterday afternoon.

The meet will be directed by members of the faculty who are closely connected with university athletics and by members of the track team.

Seats for the relay carnival, in which 28 high schools from four states will participate, will be placed on sale at the general office of the gymnasium on Friday noon.

"With the dividing of the stands into sections, I hope that there will be a complete sell-out of tickets," said Chairman Trost declared. "Students and townspeople now realize the importance of this meet to the university, and the visiting athletes must be given a real welcome when they come to Madison."

1925 GYM SQUAD

Herbert (Huck) Schmidt '25, was elected captain of the 1925 gym team by members of the present team at a banquet held recently at Hick's cafe by the 1924 squad.

Schmidt is by far the most outstanding gymnast that has been chosen to lead Wisconsin's gym team in the past few years. He is recognized as one of the best turners in the Big Ten and won the all around conference championship this year, an honor which has not been achieved by a Wisconsin man since 1916.

Schmidt comes from Wauwatosa, where he had several years experience in gymnastics. He is a junior in the College of Engineering and a member of Acacia fraternity.

INTRAMURAL NINES
IN ACTION MONDAYSchedules Are Arranged and Three Leagues Will Open
Next Week

Baseball in the Independent Intramural league is scheduled to begin Monday. While action is slated to start in the Intercollege Intramural league on Wednesday. Complete arrangements for snappy openings have been made announced George Berg, director of intramural athletics yesterday.

The Inter-college league is composed of teams from the schools of Medicine, Law, Engineering and Agriculture. These teams will fight their annual battle for the championship of the hill.

In regard to the Independent league, George Berg made the following statement:

"I would like to see more groups get together and place nines in this intramural division. At present only four teams have entered the league, while we would like to see a great many more get into the game. Real live matches are assured, for the Intramural department will furnish paid umpires. In order to get more men out we will allow teams to enter even at this late date."

Schedules for the two leagues follow:

Inter-College League

VARSITY NINE IN HEAVY PRACTICE
FOR PURDUE TILTCoach Stresses Fielding and Hitting Work; Defeat
Frosh 9 to 1

Strenuous hitting and fielding practice, in which Coach Lowman drove the men to the limit, and five fast innings against the frosh, in which the varsity came out on the long end of a 9 to 1 score, comprised the work for the varsity nine yesterday afternoon.

Hitting, which looked woefully weak in the Illinois game, and on which the coach has been concentrating his efforts, showed a decided improvement.

Coleman and Ritchie did the flinging for the varsity and went fairly well. The infield accorded them airtight support and did a lot to steady their efforts. Neither has had a great deal of experience.

Purdue, playing here Saturday, will prove no mean opponent. Illinois was fortunate to squeeze out a victory over the Boilermakers by virtue of Roettger's homer, when the score stood five all. Purdue is not a slugging outfit, and gathered only four scattered bingles off of Roettger.

The field at Camp Randall is rapidly drying up and should be in good condition for the tilt Saturday, if the weather holds fair and warm. It is probable that the game will be played on the permanent diamond.

CREW GOES OVER
REGULAR COURSEVarsity Covers Three Miles in 19 Minutes; Vail is Optimistic

Rowing the regular three mile course for the first time this year, the first varsity crew covered the distance in 19 minutes. Ordinary time for the course is 16 minutes.

"The showing the crew made over the regular course is fair," was the comment of "Dad" Vail, rowing coach.

Cold weather has hampered the crew a great deal. The water remains cold and the men are forced to wear sweat shirts when on the water.

The lineup in the first boat remains the same with no evident changes being contemplated by the coach.

The freshmen are working every day at the same time as the varsity and are showing some improvement, according to Newcombe, frosh coach. Five crews have been fully organized.

THE PART OF EDUCATED MEN IN OUR DEMOCRACY

Colonel Yerkes, one of the chief promoters of the army intelligence tests, says that at least fifty million people in this country lack the brains to get through our certified high schools. Thirty-five million might get through high school, but would be stalled before graduating from college. Fifteen million can negotiate college, but less than one-third of them can graduate "with any degree of brilliancy and go on into fields of independent, abstract, and creative thinking".

When one considers that our public questions are to those of our great-grandfathers what problems in quadratic equations are to problems "under the rule of three", and when you consider, furthermore, that the man in the legislature or congress is every year less of a representative and more of a delegate, to vote as we direct and not as he might think right, is there not danger of a shortage of political intelligence in our citizenry? If this is so, what about the college men drawn from the superior seventh of the population? Whatever their favorite specialty should they not all strive to gain some insight into our economic, social, and political development? Ought they not to endeavor to arrive at a worthwhile opinion on important questions as they come up? Should not educated men organize themselves so that their attitudes will attract more attention, their voice ring farther? When a gifted leader appears like Roosevelt, combining the scientific attitude with a genius for popularity, ought not educated men to fall in behind him and help him put his program across?

If the problems confronting American citizens are becoming more complex and difficult to see into, then the proportion of voters who can "figure them out" by their own strength will become smaller and more of the voters will form the habit of looking to an element which is equipped to arrive at rational solutions of public questions. If educated men are not this element, then who is?

We suspect that the above is the line of argument Mr. Glenn Frank will follow in his address in the gymnasium this evening, and if so he will start a discussion worthy of an intellectual center such as the University of Wisconsin is supposed to be.

THE LIBRARY INVESTIGATED

Beauty and utility seldom go hand in hand. So it is with the library. He who defends the absolute utility of the library is a foolish person. He should take off a semester and try to do some real work, real research in the library and find out for himself just what the situation is.

The Division of the Social Studies has been investigating conditions in the library and reports that there are three major reasons for the disproportion between the library equipment and the calls which are made upon it. They are that the library has never attained a completely satisfactory equipment, that the enormous increase in the number of our students has not been proportionately met and that the character of the university study has put an increasing strain upon our decreasing facilities.

To the casual users of the library, most of whom doubtless thought that a library to which such men as Theodore Roosevelt came for material for books must be excellent in all respects, this statement comes as something of a shock. But investigate a little more closely as the Division of Social Studies has done and you will find three glaring deficiencies. One is inadequate reading-room space for students. Try to find a place at a table in the reading room about 8 o'clock and you will be fortunate if you do not have to repair to the stairway or some bench in the hall. The second deficiency is inadequate study space for members of the faculty. Many university libraries in the country have special study rooms for the faculty, and rightly so. The third deficiency is an inadequate supply of duplicate copies of books necessary for the conduct of large courses. If you have ever tried to find a book that was assigned to be read for some history course, or language course, you will know only too well what this means. This deficiency, however, is largely a result of students' "love" for books. It was reported that during the academic year of 1922-23 approximately 3,000 books disappeared from the library shelves. Evidently students are almost as responsible for the annoyance caused them because of the inadequate supply of duplicate books as the powers that be are.

Even more important than the reconstruction of Bascom hall, than the replacement of the heavy swinging doors in Bascom hall and the library, than the much needed bath house, is this matter of library improvement. More will be said about it in these columns during the next few weeks, about the measures advised by the Division, temporary and permanent, about the future of the library, about conditions at other similar institutions.

Students are rushing for canoes. They had better not rush too hard for they are apt to be some upsets.

Dartmouth Investigates Some Self-Improvement Measures

BY A DARTMOUTH STUDENT.

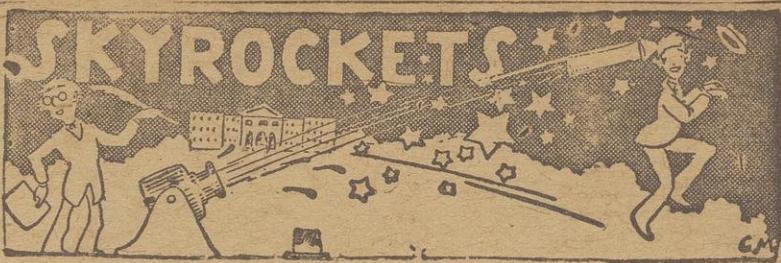

(Reprinted from The New Student.)

Realizing that no progress is possible without continuous adaptation to changing conditions, and continuous reorganization to meet new needs, Dartmouth College is today taking stock of itself to consider how its educational processes may be improved. This willingness to adopt new methods, if once they have demonstrated their merits, is but one phase of a liberal spirit that has taken hold of Dartmouth, under the leadership of President Ernest Martin Hopkins. This spirit has shown itself in the welcoming to Hanover of men representing all shades of opinion—from William Jennings Bryan to William Z. Foster—in the holding of student forums on problems of world interest, in the formation of two active political clubs—one of which advocates a third party for independent political action, and in constant discussion among undergraduates of faults in the present educational system. Dartmouth is, however, in no sense a sick man, casting about for hopeful "cures," but a strong man, seeking more efficient application of his powers.

President Hopkins has shown his appreciation of the interest of the students in the educational policies of the college, and his respect for their point of view by appointing an undergraduate committee of twelve seniors to investigate into the educational problems of the college and to make such recommendations as they see fit. No restrictions have been placed on this committee as to the scope or extent of their activity. There is no faculty supervision of their meetings or discussion. They have carte blanche to examine Dartmouth college from their own viewpoint, report whatever they believe is wrong, and their suggestions for improvement. That these recommendations will be seriously considered is indicated by the fact that the appointment of the committee is itself a student suggestion.

The committee members include the football and baseball captains, the manager of basket ball, the president of the Outing club, the editors of the three student publications, and several men of high scholastic rank—forming, in all, a fairly representative group of seniors.

In order that they may devote sufficient time to this work, they are credited just as if the committee work constituted a regular semester's course. They expect, before the close of the college year, to make a report of their findings to the president. Having come to a tentative agreement on the purpose of the college, they are now engaged in discussing the curriculum, in order to determine how best it can serve to carry out this purpose.

The Reader's Say-So

THE TREACHEROUS DISJUNCTIVE

Editor, The Cardinal:

Bully for you! Congratulations on the way you came to the support of Glenn Frank. It's fine to have somebody around here stand up for something, and especially for leadership. Besides, it's encouraging to find a student paper take issue with a professor, and to do it in a way to which even the most dignity-loving can't object.

Just the same, Mr. Editor, wasn't there something a bit off in your argument? You put it up to the professor who had objected to Glenn Frank's social philosophy whether he'd prefer mass leadership to leadership by real leaders. If I remember a course in logic I took sometime ago, that's what is called a disjunctive proposition. What we used to try to do under such circumstances, was find a third alternative. That knocked the disjunctive into a cocked hat. And you can imagine how a disjunctive proposition looks when in that shape.

Well, wasn't the question at issue really this:—whether we could hope to be introduced into a social heaven by some sort of social messiah?

If I were the professor you so gently reprimand for lacking faith in leadership, I'd come back by saying:

—"Leadership? What do you mean leadership? I'm for leadership, too. Nor am I for mass leadership—if there is such an animal.

On the other hand, I am not for the Glenn Frank kind of leadership by some outstanding hero who sets us on fire and stampedes us blindly into what development of leaders in every ever seems best to him. I'm for the walk of life. Humble leaders, but leaders who deal directly with things that need improving—the everyday things in home and village and city. That's the best way, I take it, of getting real leaders, not so called leaders, in larger matters."

If I did thus reply to you, Mr. Editor, don't you see that your editorial assumes the appearance of the dilapidated cocked hat?

However that may be, I return to Juliet: Ay, Romeo, I didst gaze over the waters of Mendota and beheld the bodyless head of a man floating on the water, singing.

Romeo: Surely twas thy fancy, what causeth thee to think that the head was bodyless, and what was it singing?

Juliet: Verily, Romy, it was singing, "I Ain't Got No-body."

I hadn't met her never before, But I knew that day, as she stood in the door, That she was the one I'd been looking for.

Her's, indeed was a beauty rare, And I stroked and patted her chestnut hair, (A thing which with other I'd never dare.)

We walked way out along the shore, And each step farther called for more, But at last we returned unto her door.

I went quite far with her, of course, But still I can feel no remorse, 'Cause she really was a darned good horse.

Self appointed "helper," reading over Skyrocket editor's shoulder,—"I don't see the point to that joke."

HOME ECS INSPECT MILWAUKEE FIRMS

Classes in Bacteriology and Textiles, 110 Strong, Will Make Annual Trip

Approximately 110 students of the home economics department are going to Milwaukee, Wednesday, May 7, p. m., by special train to spend three days there inspecting industrial plants.

Every May the students of the bacteriology and textile classes take a trip of this sort under the guidance of Prof. Frost, Miss Manning, Miss Bachman, and Miss Kinslo, to survey related industries.

On Thursday they will visit the Plankinton Packing company to see every phase of the meat industry. From there they will go to the city health department to get an idea of the actual duties of a bacteriologist in a public laboratory.

Friday they will be the guests of the National Biscuit company's factory. Before returning home Saturday the class will go through the Reed Shirtwaist factory, Milwaukee Woolen mills, Phoenix Hosiery company, and Western Woolen mills.

MAN INJURED ON ROAD WORK HERE

Caught in Machinery of Steam Roller; Condition Reported Serious

John Rung, 50, Verona, is in a critical condition at St. Mary's hospital here suffering from several fractures and possible internal injuries received early Wednesday morning when he was caught between the fly wheel and the drive wheel of the steam roller which he was piloting on the Fish Hatchery road, route 5, three miles south of Madison.

The injured man was found lying at the rear of the roller by Robert Bowman, route 5, who was on his way back to his farm from Madison.

From the farmhouse of the Edward Koster farm, Mr. Bowman summoned the police ambulance. Driver Maurice Mackesey and Detective Robert Putnam responded and took the man to the hospital.

Late Wednesday, hospital aides reported that Mr. Rung's condition was very serious. He is being cared for by Dr. Joseph Dean.

OUTING CLUB TO HOLD HOUSE PARTY MAY 9-11

Two Grads Start Ten-acre Rabbit Farm at Roundtop

Rabbit meat has a good market and rabbit pelts are worth from $1 to $2 apiece, so two university graduates, Robert W. Dahle and Ralph Runge, are starting a fur and meat farm on a ten acre tract which they have purchased near Roundtop, south of Lake Monona.

Mr. Dahle, who was formerly an instructor in the chemistry department here, and Mr. Runge, now an attorney at Baraboo, have invested about $20,000 in the industry, and expect to raise annually 5,000 rabbits of the Blue Flemish Giant breed. They have purchased already a nucleus of eight animals for breeding purposes, valued at $20 to $60 each, which they will increase to 200 as soon as they find more breeding ones.

The bunnies will have sheds for shelter, and plenty of food, for the owners are planning to start planting alfalfa, sudan grass, clover and other grains at once. The ten acre tract will be improved also with an up to date house for the convenience of the owners.

DEMAND TRAINED SOCIAL WORKERS

Wisconsin Unable to Supply Men and Women Needed in Many Cities

The demand for trained social workers is greater than can be supplied, according to Prof. J. L. Gillen of the department for training social workers, conducted by the department of sociology.

The "school" is in its fifth year and consists of a group of carefully selected courses in which only seniors and graduates in sociology are eligible. The department is able to take care of 15 students each year, and has trained 75 students since its inception.

The demand for men trained in social work is great, but few men take the course Prof. Gillen declared. Milwaukee, Minneapolis, Cleveland and Des Moines have their share of Wisconsin graduates working within the city, and are constantly making application for more.

Four special training courses are required, including methods of social case work, social agencies, so-

PULLEY WARNS TOBACCO GROWERS

Advises Against Planting Big Crops as Demand Has Declined

Tobacco growers in Wisconsin should beware of increasing their acreage, according to C. N. Pulley, in charge of tobacco marketing of the state division of markets, in an article published in the current issue of the Tobacco Pool Bulletin.

"The manufacture of cigars is decreasing yearly," says Mr. Pulley, "and our tobacco is chiefly used in their making. The use of cigarettes, made of Ohio tobacco, is increasing by the billions each year. Statistics show that there were 15,000,000 less cigars made from February, 1923, to February, 1924, while there were 20 billions more cigarettes used from 1920 until 1923."

The introduction of coarse tobacco stocks into the state a few years ago was a mistake, according to the writer. "We lost our reputation as a choice binder state when this was done and we can't make money on high priced land with high priced labor with this produce," he said.

"I see no other conclusion from this than that Wisconsin farmers should not increase their tobacco acreage," he said. "Cutting the average down would not only tend to bring supply in a better balance but it would also have advantages on the farm. Shad-burn is caused to a great extent by over-crowding. I believe the man who puts in four acres instead of six, and handles it so as to obtain a better and sounder crop will receive greater net returns than by planting six acres. This is a year for retrenchment in our operations and judicious selection of seed."

"There are three leading types recommended for Wisconsin, all being good Spanish or seed leaf cial service and social organization and administration. Each student must devote from 10 to 12 hours a week to practical field work for the Madison Welfare association.

varieties. These are Comstock-Spanish, Connecticut Havana No. 38, and Rootrot resistant. The Comstock-Spanish is of fine quality and produces well on rich soil. The seed known as No. 38 was developed by Prof. James Johnson of the University of Wisconsin as a selected type of Spanish. The Root-rot resistant seed is a special type also developed by Prof. Johnson which should be used on old ground or on soil known to contain the rot-rot disease. This type usually produces more pounds per acre."

Engineers to Hold Dance at Esther Beach Saturday

One of the big parties scheduled for Saturday evening is the annual Engineer's dance to be held at Esther Beach. There are many spring formals to be given, and only a few informals. Now that the weather is getting warmer cottage parties are being given in larger numbers, as are picnic and hiking parties.

Acacia

Members of Acacia are motoring to Frank's on Middleton road to hold their spring formal, on Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. John S. Donald have accepted the invitation to chaperon the party.

Polygon

The annual Engineer's dance will be given Saturday evening at Esther Beach. Arrangements for this affair have been made by Polygon. Chaperons will be Professor and Mrs. G. L. Larson and Prof. and Mrs. R. S. Owen.

Tabard Inn

An informal dancing party will be given by residents of Tabard Inn on Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Stebbins will chaperon.

Sigma Phi Epsilon

A formal dancing party at the Park hotel will be given by Sigma Phi Epsilon on Saturday night. Mayor and Mrs. I. M. Kittleson have been asked to chaperon.

Gamma Alpha Epsilon

Members of Gamma Alpha Epsilon will entertain at the Gamma Beta house at an informal dance on Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Kivlin of Oregon, and Miss Alice Kinslow are to chaperon.

Delta Pi Epsilon

Mortar Board May Supper Is to Be Held on May 15

The annual Mortar Board May day supper will be held in Barnard court May 1st. Dinner will be served at 6 o'clock for 75 cents. Proceeds will go toward Mortar Board scholarship fund of $100 which is awarded every spring.

Music for dancing will be furnished free during and after the dinner hour by different orchestras, according to custom. Both Barnard dining rooms and the court will be used. Fraternities, sororities and other organizations in previous years have arranged to have dinner at Barnard.

Letters will be sent out to all organizations within the next few days asking them to reserve the date for the Mortar Board May supper.

PROPOSED UNION OF CHURCHES DISCUSSED

The proposed union of the Wisconsin Presbyterian and Congregational churches will meet much opposition from certain elements in the Presbyterian church, according to Rev. George E. Hunt, pastor of Christ Presbyterian church, who spoke at the joint meeting of southern Wisconsin pastors of both denominations at the city Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday noon.

Rev. Aitcison of Poynette made a vigorous speech against the proposed union because of creedal differences, which he claimed could not be overcome. He declared that the union of the two churches is impossible because the Presbyterians would not stand for the cutting of the Bible, where the modernists wanted to eliminate things they did not like.

About 20 ministers from southern and eastern parts of the state attended the meeting.

SORORITY TO HOLD MEET HERE IN JUNE

Gamma Epsilon Pi, national honorary commerce sorority, will hold its national convention here June 22 to 28. Delegates who will come from the seventeen chapters situated in all parts of the country, will be the guests of the Wisconsin chapter, Alpha Gamma.

This is the second bi-annual convention to be held. It is expected that fifty delegates will attend. The Wisconsin delegate is Mary Ball '24. Cottages have been rented on Lake Mendota where the guests will be entertained and the convention held. Excursions will be taken to the Dells and other points of interest in Wisconsin.

SIGMA KAPPAS GIVE PROGRESSIVE DINNER

A. K. K. AND PHI SIG
NINES WIN CONTESTS

The only scores turned in for the week end interfraternity baseball game are Alpha Kappa Kappa 5, Phi Sigma Kappa 3, and Phi Alpha Delta 7, Phi Sigma Delta 1. The rainy week end caused many of the games to be postponed and it is desired that these games be played as soon as possible and the scores turned in to chairman Crane.

An error was made in printing the score of the Delta Sigma Pi and Delta Epsilon Pi game. The score should have been Delta Sigma Pi 6, Delta Epsilon Pi 4.

The new schedule for the semi-finals of the tournament will be out sometime this week as soon as George Berg, director of intramural athletics and Ezra Crane, chairman of the tournament, get it drawn up. The two highest teams in each division will go into the semi-final round.

The games for today, the last day of the round-robin play are, Sig Phi Epsilon vs. Phi Beta Pi 6 o'clock, varsity field, Theta Chi vs. Gamma Sig 6 o'clock, Frosh field No. 1; Delta Sigma Pi vs. Sigma Chi 6 o'clock, Lower campus.

A Message from a Chicago Bank

The demand in big business for men who have learned to think, to work with their heads, to see beyond the first few years, and to strive for the ultimate goal instead of the immediate reward, is never satisfied.

Unfortunately, there are too few instances when the college graduate makes the right start. Often the fault lies with him for not realizing that college is only a preparation for business education, that another four years of much more intensive study is needed before a position of responsibility can be filled.

Sometimes the fault lies with the employer for not giving him an opportunity to use his college training and to continue his education. He naturally grows restive under routine work which does not arouse his interest or encourage him to do his best.

This Bank, which is one of the largest and most conservative institutions of its kind in America, has room for three college men in its Bond Department. The work will not necessarily include selling but will be an intensive training in the fundamentals of investment banking. It will be hard but interesting mental work, where the able man will have ample opportunity to use and show his ability.

This advertisement is being printed in the hope that it will appeal to those who are not looking for "get rich quick" advancement but for a position where, by hard work, they can obtain the business training which will enable them to rise toward the top of the financial world.

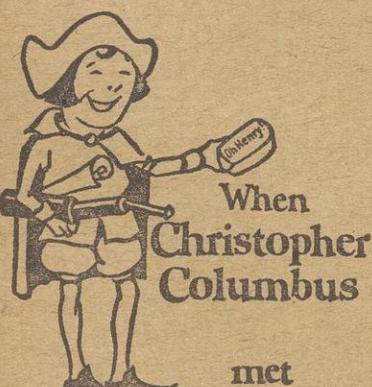

{ Any man who is seriously interested in this opportunity is invited to write to our advertising agents, Benson, Gamble & Crowell, at 7 S. Dearborn Street, Chicago }
