CREW MATTERS

COMPLETE FINANCIAL REPORT OF BOATING DEPARTMENT.

Student Subscription Soon to be Taken —Support Must be Much Better
This Year.

In presenting the statement of receipts and disbursements of the Boating Department for the season 1900, it will be noticed that we are able, for the first time, to place an estimate on the amount necessary to run the department, and send our crews even to our opponents' territory for competition. We can say in round numbers that $5,000 must be raised annually in order to support and maintain our Boating Department. This, comparatively speaking, is a very moderate sum wherewith to equip and train both University and freshman crews, and it speaks well for the management that has accomplished so much with this small outlay. Harvard and Yale, in addition to their University and freshman crews, train and equip four-oar crews, but this has only existed since 1899. Previous to this, when Yale and Harvard did no more than Wisconsin does now, and sent their University and freshman crews to compete, the cost of supporting these crews was from $8,000 to $12,000 annually. Yale and Harvard merely travel to New London, a two hours journey, while Wisconsin makes a pilgrimage of about twenty-eight hours duration.

In looking over the receipts, the Boating Department regrets the necessity of calling the attention of the student body to the amount of the undergraduate contributions.

Fraternities, $187; students, $146.45. Total of $332.45. This represents just about 7 per cent. of the funds necessary to support our crews.

If the crews performed miserably there would be some excuse for this lack of support. In the face of what the crews have accomplished recently, it seems that there is a great lack of appreciation at Wisconsin. We venture to assert that of all the institutions in America that support crews, Wisconsin, in the measure of her financial support, falls very much behind the lowest on the list.

Now boys this is not right; you can all do very much better than you have been doing, and the Boating Department expects you at least to set a good example in the matter of contributions. If the students do not show a disposition to support their own athletic interests, then assuredly they cannot expect outsiders to step in and make up a deficiency of at least 93 per cent. Even at Yale, where the football receipts are five times greater than at Wisconsin, the athletic authorities are at present assessing the undergraduates at $7.00 per man in order to support the teams. This department does not think it necessary to impose a tax of a certain amount upon the students at Wisconsin. We feel that the student body has been a trifle careless, and are sure that they only need to be shown their duty in order to have it accomplished. The crew subscriptions have in the past been very much delayed, and for this reason have not been a success.

This year the imperative need of a student subscription is obvious.

The Athletic Association's statement after the close of the football season showed a deficit of $3,000.00. Therefore with a depleted treasury, and a large liability, there is not much chance of the non-supporting departments such as crew, track and baseball receiving much, if any, help from the Athletic Association. It is very plain, that if the crews are to represent Wisconsin on the water this year, there must be a great improvement in the matter of subscriptions. If we can secure a sufficient amount to pay the expenses of the crew this spring, without calling upon the Association to borrow the amount, we will enter upon the football season next fall with just a $3,000.00 deficit. And with the schedule which we have in view, the Athletic Association ought to finish the season practically clear from debt. If there be not sufficient money raised to defray the expenses of the crew, it may be necessary to keep the crews at home this year. It is proposed to start a student subscription in the near future and we hope that everyone will do his best to make it a success.

Crew training is severe and long continued. There is very little opportunity for the student body to cheer the crew candidates in their work. It is one long, patient, silent effort, and if the candidates are willing to undergo a severe discipline for the sake of bringing glory to their alma mater, it is surely not too much to expect the remainder of the student body to show their appreciation of this splendid spirit, by giving the financial aid which is just as essential to our ultimate success.

U. S. CONSTITUTION

INTERESTING QUESTION AS TO ITS INTERPRETATION.

Propounded by Atty. J. B. Smith—Law Students Invited to Submit Answer.

To the Law Students:

I desire to submit a number of constitutional questions to you, believing that the careful investigation which they require for an answer, will be of much value to each student now, and in coming years will be of far greater value. I will be pleased to receive answers—with the authorities and reasons for the conclusions reached—from as many as can spare the necessary time.

In order to awaken something of the interest of a friendly contest, I will endeavor to publish the best answers to each question with the name of the person answering, indicating which answer is first, second or third "best." The following are the questions:

Under what provision of the Federal Constitution, special or general, does the U. S. Government,

1.—Conduct the money order department of the postal system; that is, do a banking business?

2.—Carry merchandise with the mail; that is, do an express business?

3.—Claim the right to own and operate the rail-roads and other means of transportation; and can it engage in business as a common carrier for all purposes?

4.—Lend its credit to private banks in the form of a guaranty of banknotes?

5.—Lend its credit to rail-roads in the form of a guaranty of bonds?

6.—Grant a subsidy to ship lines or other common carriers?

Please typewrite answers, on legal cap size of paper, make them as short as convenient, and cite authorities without any long quotations, where it can be done. Hand answers to me at my office in the Keyes Block corner of Carroll and S. Hamilton St., or mail to me, on or before Feb. 15th. More time will be granted if needed, to any student indicating a desire to participate in the matter.

Respectfully,

J. B. Smith.

NOTRE DAME WANTS MEET.

But Management Cannot Accept Challenge.

A challenge was received yesterday from Notre Dame for an indoor dual track meet to be held at Notre Dame some time next month. The local indoor meet at Madison, and the meet in Milwaukee on March 2, are considered by the coach and captain to be all the indoor competition that is advisable, and the challenge will not be accepted.

John Marshall Day.

The Assembly received a communication yesterday from Justice J. B. Winslow asking the use of the assembly chamber for John Marshall memorial services at 10 a. m., Monday Feb. 4. Judge Winslow announced that it was expected that Judge Bunn would preside and that Prof. Howard L. Smith would give an address. An invitation was extended to legislators to attend. The use of the chamber was at once granted.

—A. O. Corstvet, '03, went out to his home at Deerfield to-day.

REGARDING BOAT RACE.

Management May Get Use of Drainage Canal.

"The statement that negotiations are on between Wisconsin and Pennsylvania or Cornell for a boat race on the drainage canal next summer are a little premature," said Coach Andy O'Dea yesterday afternoon. The management has been endeavoring to secure from the Chicago drainage commission permission to row on the drainage canal next summer. The question was submitted at a meeting of the commission a week ago last Wednesday, but no reply has as yet been received. Until the commissioners reply no formal challenge will be sent to an Eastern institution. The purpose of the management is to get a race in the West where the Westerners, and supporters of Western aquatics can have the benefit of seeing a college boat race. The expenses incurred in such a contest would amount to the same as sending the Wisconsin crew East, but the wished-for race on Western waters would undoubtedly create such enthusiasm that both Chicago and Minnesota universities would add boating to their list of sports, something which has long been desired.

MANDOLIN CONCERT.

By Anderson Orchestra Next Tuesday Night.

Preparations are now almost complete for the concert to be given by the Anderson Mandolin Orchestra under the auspices of the School of Music next Tuesday evening, January 22nd.

The orchestra for the concert will consist of twenty-three pieces,—seventeen mandolins, two violincellos, flute, violin, harp, and piano. The club will be materially strengthened by three mandolin soloists from Milwaukee, Messrs. Joseph Huebl, L. M. Stuart and Miss Funck, and Signor Tomaso from Chicago.

The program will be entirely of Italian music which was written especially for the mandolin by some of the best composers of Italy.

It is as follows:—

Part I.

1. Celebre Siciliana (Pergolesi-Bellenghi) Orchestra.
2. Ouverture Rubezahl (Flotow) Mr. Brown and Mr. Washburn.
3. Ave Maria (Ricci) Orchestra.
4. Bolero (Cristafaro) Signor Tomaso.

5. Serenade (Tomaso) Orchestra.

Part II.

6. Povere Viole, Melodie (Gatti) Orchestra.
7. a Serenade (Silvestri) b Dance (Tomaso) Signor Tomaso.
8. a Petite Berceuse, b Barcarola, c Prima Gavotta (Musso) Orchestra.

Gift to Chemical Department.

The chemical department has received as a gift from the Glucose Sugar Refining Co., of Chicago a fine collection of about thirty samples which illustrate the manufacture from Indian corn of the various products made by them. The Charles Pope Glucose Co., of Chicago, has also sent a collection of samples of a similar character. These samples will be used to illustrate the lecture of Dr. Gudeman on Monday.

—Mr. Gregory will address the Section on Civics of the College Endowment Society at Milwaukee Monday on the topic of "American Lawyers and their Making."

Library Hall Should be Improved.

Apropos of the recital at Library Hall tonight some little inquiry into the condition of the stage and interior might not be amiss. Now that the statues have been removed to the Historical Library building, the stage is absolutely bare and unornamented and the hall is scarcely a place where the University would care to invite distinguished lecturers and public men to appear before it. Nevertheless it is the only place that is available for such a purpose.

There was considerable disappointment among students when it was found that the new library building was not to contain a suitable auditorium. Such an audience hall is one of the most pressing needs of the University at the present time. Now by the outlay of a comparatively small amount of money the present Library Hall could be made over into such an auditorium. The seats could be arranged in to concentric tiers and the stage appropriately fitted up. Accommodations for dressing-rooms and other accessories are already present and could easily be made very serviceable. It is a project that will bear serious consideration.

The Brown Herald is an excellent paper but has a habit of copying matter without giving credit. Journalistic courtesy should lead it to do so.

Chemical Club.

Dr. Fischer, of the Pharmaceutical Department addressed the Chemical club yesterday on the subject of synthetic compounds. The work of Traube, on the synthesis of xanthin, caffeine, uric acid and their derivatives was outlined by Dr. Fisher. Some very interesting relations existing between these compounds was shown. It was demonstrated by means of structural formulae how one is able to form complex organic compounds from simple ones. After the members of the chemical club had a brief discussion on this subject, Dr. Fischer continued his talk. He then reviewed the work of Emil Fischer. This chemist and his pupils worked on the problem of synthetic compounds during the past eighteen years. Dr. Fischer mentioned in particular the synthesis of purine and its derivatives.

BASKET BALL TEAM WINS.

Defeat Wayland by Score of Thirty-five to Twenty-two.

The basket ball team defeated Wayland Academy at Beaver Dam last night by a score of 35 to 22. The game was played well on both sides, but Wisconsin had the better of it from start to the finish. Wayland made most of her points by fouls, while Wisconsin made her points by goals from the field. Twenty minute halves were played with an intermission of ten minutes. A good-sized crowd watched the game. The players returned this morning. Paul Tratt accompanied the team and entertained the crowd with tumbling "stunts" before the game and between halves.

The Park commissioners promise President Harper that a lagoon will soon be made on the Midway where the Maroons hope to be able to train for projected boat races on the drainage canal.

—Professor Monaghan received a letter this morning from E. W. Single, U. S. consul at Brunswick and Director of the Philadelphia Commercial Museum regarding the establishment of the Museum in connection with the School of Commerce at the University of Wisconsin. A full account of the communication will occur in Monday's Cardinal.

—Mr. Ernest V. Moore who has been afflicted with the small-pox is progressing very favorably. The attack proved to be but slight. Much of the time he is able to sit up and is already considered out of danger. Assistant Dean Gregory has kept himself informed regarding the patient's condition by telephone and by communicating with the attending physician. Mr. Moore's parents have been kept well informed of their son's condition during his sickness. Mr. Moore will not return to the University for some time on account of necessary precaution.

James Watt.

The second in the series of lectures on Great Engineers was delivered yesterday afternoon in the auditorium of the Engineering Building by Professor Storm Bull before a good-sized audience. He spoke of James Watt and the early history of steam, giving a short review of Watt's life. The lecture was illustrated with stereopticon views of the various models of engines and excellent likenesses of Watt and Bolton were shown.

SUCCESSFUL EXHIBIT CLOSES.

Prof. Jastrow and Mr. Smith Give Lectures.

The last two lectures at the art exhibit were delivered yesterday. Walter M. Smith, Librarian, spoke at four o'clock, giving a general discussion of Florentine art. He stated that art criticism was mostly impressionism, and pointed out the difference between ancient art. His talk was largely on the personal side of the artists.

Professor Jastrow, who lectured at eight o'clock, took for his subject the Venetian Artists of the Renaissance. He described the character of the school, their attention to detail in interiors and landscapes and the excellence of their portraiture. The Venetians achieved great effect in other than religious subjects, but even the religious subjects were in the spirit of the times, being similar to Venetian pageants. The special excellence of the school in color led to their being spoken of as colorists.

After a few early masters the school came prominently to the front in the work of Giovanni Bellini, whose masterpieces, Madonnas and portraits, were represented by photographs. The works of Carpaccio were next described and a prize was shown representing the legend of St. Ursula which Ruskin has made known by his enthusiastic description. Giorgione, perhaps the master of them all in brilliancy of portraiture, is best known by his painting of "The Concert." The work of Giorgione is so characteristic of the school that paintings of other masters are often described as Giorgonesque.

Two others, Sebastian Del Piombo and Sorenzo Totto, examples of whose work were exhibited show great individuality. The school, however, is conceded to have reached its best exemplar in Titian, whose works were briefly described.

The later Venetian artists, Palma, Tintoretto and Paul Veronese represent at once the brilliancy of coloring, charm of subject and facility of execution which characterize the last group of Venetians.

The Art Exhibit closed this afternoon. The attendance was good throughout and the promoters feel gratified with the success of the affair.

Recent Magazine Articles.

In January 15th issue of "The Philadelphia Manufacturer," Prof. Monaghan of the School of Commerce had an exceedingly interesting article on "The Century, Past and Present," in which he compares the accomplishments of the past and the hopes of the future. In the same issue John A. Johnson of the Gisholt Works has contributed a worthy article on "Making and Selling Goods," in which he treats of the Americans' strength at home and weakness in foreign fields.

In the issue of January 1st, Dr. W. A. Scott has contributed his well-known article on "Technical Education of Business Men."

MR. W. W. COOPER.

Will Address Christian Association Tomorrow Afternoon.

Every student should hear Mr.
W. W. Cooper tomorrow afternoon in the Law building at half past four o'clock. Mr.
Cooper is the general manager of the Chicago-Rockford Hosiery. In this capacity he has won the admiration of experts in sociology on account of his ideas on the way employees should be treated. He has rivaled the famous "Dayton plan" in his solicitude for the welfare of the hundreds of men and girls in his employ. The factory is surrounded by plots of grass. The long rooms are furnished with plants and flowers. Curtains hang at all the windows. Nearly all the belts, pul-leys and other machinery not necessary for use, are hidden under the floors. Altogether the factory looks more like a well ordered sewing room than a dirty factory. At noon a cook serves delicious hot coffee free of charge to all who would otherwise be compelled to eat cold lunches, another innovation are ten minute recesses at ten o'clock a.m. and at 4 o'clock p.m.
During these periods all machinery is quiet and the girls are at liberty to gossip as much as they please. Mr.
Cooper says it pays the company in dollars and cents. He is now planning a reading room and a few special classes for self-government. Mr.
Cooper is being entertained by the missionary committees of the Christian Associations and will present some phase of the "Forward movement." Men and women are invited.

Frederick Paulding, actor, will read tonight at Library Hall,—you should hear him.

Yours for service,

Both Phones 85.

KENTZLER BROS.

Most people think that any old place is good enough for a bicycle through the winter, so they dump it in the basement where it is damp, or into the coal shed where it is almost obliterated with coal dust, etc. Of course they don't think of the consequences until spring, then Oh! My!
they wish they had taken it to Wm. J.
Park Co., 113 State St., successors to the Madison Cycle Co., and had it cleaned and stored properly for the winter for $1.50, and saved $5.00.
