IN THE CLASSICS

A SERIES OF LECTURES BY EMINENT SCHOLARS.

THE FIRST BY PROF. KELSEY OF MICHIGAN.

Next Wednesday at 4 p. m.—No Lecture in the Epic Course.

With a view to stimulating interest in classical studies in the university, as well as to afford agreeable entertainment to our townspeople, a series of four lectures on classical subjects by eminent professors of Greek and Latin has been arranged. The four distinguished gentlemen selected as lecturers by the classical departments of the university have readily consented to serve, and their names and subjects should alone be a sufficient announcement for a cultured community like Madison. These are Dr. F. W. Kelsey, professor of Latin in the University of Michigan, "Pompeii"; Dr. W. Gardner Hall, professor of Latin in the University of Chicago; Dr. Paul Shorey, professor of Greek in the University of Chicago, "The Genius of Greek and English Poetry"; Dr. M. L. D'Ooge, professor of Greek in the University of Michigan, "Greece, Past and Present." The first and last of these will be illustrated lectures.

The large attendance on the Epic Course, of townspeople as well as students, would seem to indicate that any ordinary hall might be expected to be filled with an appreciative audience, such as any speaker might be glad to address. Professor Kelsey inaugurates the course in the Physical Lecture room, Science Hall, next Wednesday, at 4 p. m., with an illustrated lecture on "Pompeii." He is well known as an excellent lecturer, full of enthusiasm for classical study, a thorough master of his special subject, and able to kindle in his pupils and hearers much of the spirit that has made his own teaching so eminently successful. The large number of pictures to be exhibited will enliven as well as enhance the value of a lecture that may confidently be expected to arouse great enthusiasm. This lecture takes the place of the regular lecture in the Epic course, Professor Olson having consented to postpone for one week the continuation of his admirable treatment of the Volsunga Saga. The public is cordially invited, and it may not be amiss to suggest that those who are promptest in attendance are most sure to be comfortably seated in a hall that is sure to be packed.

Professor Kelsey, who is still a young man, has occupied the chair of Latin in the University of Michigan for six or seven years. His work at Michigan has been gratifyingly successful, both in maintaining and stimulating activity in Latin studies, and in developing his department. His classes and lectures are conducted with a wide-awake enthusiasm that commands the interest of his students. Prof. Kelsey is widely known through his editions of classics and his book reviews. His tastes incline toward the anacharological side of classical studies; and he is one of the authors of a forthcoming Dictionary of Classical Antiquities to be edited by well-known European and American scholars.

The lecture Prof. Kelsey is to deliver will have a freshness of interest from the fact that he spent some time recently in Pompeii, supplementing the experiences of a former visit, and is prepared to speak from personal study and observation of late excavations in that fascinating source of information about Roman life.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE FROM THAT UNIVERSITY.

THE NINETEENTH ANNUAL PALADIUM BALL.

Notes on Athletics—Preliminary Oratorical Contests.

(Special Correspondence.)

Ann Arbor, February 23.

The past week has witnessed the end of the half-yearly examinations and the beginning of the second semester. The close of the first semester was celebrated by the social event of the season, the Nineteenth annual ball of the Balladum fraternities of the university, given in the gymnasium, Friday night, February 15th. Two hundred and fifty couples were in attendance, almost all of them being out of town guests, of the various fraternities, some of them coming from Boston and New York, some from Minneapolis and Denver, although Detroit and Chicago furnished the largest representation. The decorations were predominantly yellow and blue, and the various fraternities cared for their guests in booths ranged along the sides of the room. This year's ball was signalized by the first independent booth, which was well patronized.

Practice for the baseball and track teams has not been begun as early as elsewhere, as Trainer Fitzpatrick does not believe in too much work. The baseball candidates, seventy in number, have been taking the class work in the gymnasium for a month, and on Monday a little special work was introduced. The battery candidates have the use of the gymnasium every afternoon until 3:30 for throwing and catching. All the candidates are given light work at sprinting on the track, and later on base-sliding will be introduced. Three trips, besides twelve home games, have been announced, one through Ohio, Kentucky and Illinois, one to Cornell and one (May 18 to 25) to meet Wisconsin, Chicago and Minnesota. E. C. Shields again captains the team. Five of last year's nine are left and a number of new men of good reputation are on hand, among them Sexton, pitcher at Brown. The candidates for the track team have been called out for a meeting next Saturday night, and a hundred or more are expected to report. Distance runners will be set to work Monday on the running track. The shot putters, high jumpers and sprinters have been at work to some extent all winter by themselves. Squad work will now be begun. The 'Varsity' indoor meet will be held March 29th, with a program of dashes, shot putting, high jumping, team races and boxing and wrestling. There is a probability that Michigan will hold a duel field day with the U. of California on its return from the East.

The preliminary oratorical contests have occupied the past week, the senior law contest, the last, being held tonight. W. H. Danforth will represent the '97 lits in the 'Varsity contest March 15th; C. R. Stearns, the '96 lits; J. E. Lautner and J. E. Hickman, the '95 lits; and F. L. Ingraham, the '96 lits.

Washington's Birthday was celebrated for the 25th time under the auspices of the lits. University hall was crowded by an audience of over 3,000, seated by classes. Hon. J. J. Lentz, a graduate of the university, delivered an address on "American Citizenship."

GREEK PLAY.

On Thursday last the Greek department of Beloit college presented the play of "Oedipus the King" to a large audience, in the Beloit opera house. The play was very well put on, and many of Beloit's alumni and friends were present to hear the production. Mr. Charles Wood took the part of Oedipus and Mr. Loomis that of the queen. The story of Oedipus is familiar to all Greek students and needs no comment.

Mr. Leo Grastie, business manager, received several flattering offers from the Chicago alumni to present the play in Central Music hall this next week. The sale of seats for Friday night was so great that the play was repeated Saturday night.

Mr. Wood as Oedipus made a decided hit and received his well merited applause. A chorus of fifteen voices and a band of suppliants of twelve together with the guards and attendants numbered nearly fifty. The whole play was under the direction of Prof. Wright and the music prepared by Prof. Allen. About $400 was cleared above expenses.

INTER-COLLEGIATE ATHLETES.

New Members Admitted to the Association.

The annual meeting of the inter-collegiate athletic association was begun Saturday afternoon. The following colleges were admitted into the association: Syracuse university, Dartmouth university, University of California, University of Iowa. Lafayette college was restored to her position in the association. Hobart college and the University of Vermont were expelled from the association and the University of Michigan given until April to pay her arrears or stand expelled.

Ogilvie, Nelson and Henderson, Dunning and Summer, Olson and Veerhusen, Kentzler Bros, The Van Etta, the Avenue hotel, Kentzler Bros, Klauber, Oppel, Keeley, Neckerman and Kessenick and Larson.

PROM COMMITTEES.

The Cardinal publishes today the first of a series of weekly letters from the university of Michigan. The U. of M. Daily will publish similar letter from the Cardinal. We hope by these letters to increase the good feeling between the two universities as the students can keep informed of events much better by this means than by any other.

Now that debating contests are over for the year, the oratorical exhibitions come in for their share of the interest. Next month promises at least two and from the successful ones will perhaps be chosen ten representative of university in the inter-collegiate contest at Iowa City, on Friday, May 3. Wisconsin has never yet been able to win first place in these tests and it is hoped that the extension of the right to compete to Sophomores and Juniors may lend enough spirit to the preliminaries to secure the long desired first place.

FOOTBALL AT HARVARD.

The Harvard Daily News comments as follows on the football situation:

"Further consideration of the faculty's action in regard to football does not seem to alter the situation. 'Harsh and hasty' are the words used by almost everyone in referring to the resolution, and harsh and hasty it must be considered, unless we are given some proof to the contrary. And at present this proof seems lacking. It is rarely that student opinion is so unanimous in regard to anything as it has proved to be in regard to the football situation. Can the faculty afford to ignore this sentiment? And it is not only undergraduates, but also graduates, who feel that an injury has been done; that a wrong has been committed. The opinion of the general public agrees with that of the graduates and undergraduates. But, while it is only natural that we should not tamely acquiesce, we ought not to regard the action as by any means dealing a deathblow to football. For it is not final, and must not be so considered. The athletic committee will, undoubtedly, give the advice of the faculty due consideration, but they will not regard it as excluding or rendering superfluous any intelligent expression of the feeling prevalent among the men who actually know from hard-earned experience what is necessary or advisable for football to be placed on a better and higher basis. Had the faculty done this, the discontented murmurs so general would, perhaps, have been hushed."

COLLEGE NOTES.

SHAKESPEARE DEBATE.

The people of Madison and the university will no doubt be pleased to know that Prof. John C. Freeman and Ignatius Donnelly are to meet for a debate on the Shakespeare-Bacon question Tuesday evening, March 5, at Fuller's. This debate, no doubt, will be more exciting than the former one, for both of the gentlemen have continued their researches, and will present many new arguments in support of their respective views.

Dear Sirs—I have been a tobacco fiend for many years, and during the past two years have smoked fifteen to twenty cigars regularly every day. My whole nervous system became affected, until my physician told me I must give up the use of tobacco for the time being, at least. I tried the so-called "Keeley Cure," "No-To-Bac," and various other remedies, but without success, until I accidentally learned of your "Baco-Curo." Three weeks ago to-day I commenced using your preparation, and to-day I consider myself completely cured; I am in perfect health, and the horrible craving for tobacco, which every inveterate sinner fully appreciates, has completely left me. I consider your "Baco-Curo" simply wonderful, and can fully recommend it.

Yours very truly,

ON THE STAIR.

We sat on the stair, she and I,
And the music came dreamy and low
And sweet was the light in her eye
And charming her cheek's rosy glow.Silent we sat on the winding stair,
Far from the madding crowd;
An incense rose up from her hair,
And came like a perfumed cloud."It's really too bad," I said to her,
As I gently stooped and kissed her,
"That you are not some other girl
Than my young, pretty sister."Alaska, according to current accounts, is enjoying the luxury of a grand jury which is especially concerned over the liquor question, liquor being an excise contraband at present in the territory. The jury's report is as follows: "We recommend that a license law be adopted and believe that this will be satisfactory to all classes and the solution of the liquor question. By reason of the severity of the Alaskan season and owing to the nature of the employment of white people a stimulant is absolutely essential and whisky is the best-known agent among civilized people."
