BIG PROGRAM IS ANNOUNCED; MONDAY FREE

Many Lectures Listed; Sec- ond Movie Program and Mixer This Week

With Independence day Monday, there will be no classes and work will not be resumed until Tuesday.

The university's part in the Fourth of July celebration will consist of a patriotic musical and oratorical meeting at Music hall at 7:00 p. m. This will be a somewhat altered Monday informal musical gathering of the series which is held each week under the direction of P. W. Dykema. The singing will consist largely of patriotic material including not only the standard national songs but some of the more ambitious settings in a larger form.

The soloists of the evening will be Professor Waldemar von Geltch of the University School of Music. Professor von Geltch is closing his teaching at the university preparatory to a concert tour during the entire ensuing season. To fit in with the patriotic note of the evening, his numbers will be devoted to American composers.

An unusual feature will be added to this Monday evening program in that Professor Carl Russell Fish, the popular lecturer of the history department, will deliver a patriotic address. He has selected as his topic "The Personalities Surrounding the Declaration of Independence."

Lectures by Professors Smiley Elanton, P. B. Potter, Angela Lipari, and Friedrich Bruns are listed among the week's events. Thursday evening will witness the first of a series of summer school baseball games on the lower campus and on Wednesday the department of Visual Instruction will present three films including a comedy-drama with Charles Ray.

The second social gathering in the form of an International night will take place on Friday. On Saturday Mr. C. E. Brown of the Historical museum, will conduct a tour of Lake Mendota.

The detailed program follows:

Monday, July 4.

7:00 p. m.—Second informal musical evening under the direction of Prof. Peter W. Dykema. Patriotic program. Violin solos of American music by Prof. Waldemar von Geltch. Address on the Declaration of Independence by Prof. Carl Russell Fish. Open to the public, Auditorium, Music hall.

Tuesday, July 5.

Attention is called to the Fine Arts courses. "An Illustrated Survey of Sculpture and Painting," daily at 8 a. m., and "An Illustrated Survey of Architecture and the Philosophy of Art," daily at 10 a. m. in the Engineering auditorium. These lectures constitute credit courses, but may also be attended without registration by any person who is interested. Professor Showerman, who gives the courses, will provide all who apply to him with written outlines. The doors close at 8 and 10: please be prompt.

Attention is also called to the dis-

FOREIGN STUDENTS HAVE OPPORTUNITY TO MEET TONIGHT International Club Extends In- vitation to Social Evening at Lathrop Hall

A social meeting of the International club, to which all students from foreign countries are invited, will be held at the S. G. A. rooms of Lathrop hall at 8 o'clock tonight.

Previous to this social meeting, a dinner will be given for the regular members of the club at 6 o'clock, after which a business meeting will be held until the guests of the club arrive.

The International club was founded here in 1904, its purpose being to bring foreigners from different countries together, socially as well as internationally. At present, 30 percent of its membership consists of Americans, and among the remaining, 22 different nationalities are represented.

The meeting this evening will be in charge of D. D. DeWitt, who was elected president of the club last semester.

FIRST MIXER IS HELD TONIGHT

Opens on Upper Campus at 8 O'clock; Birge Speaks

Tonight occurs the biggest social event of the summer session, the annual mixer under the direction of Professors Gordon, Dykema, Johnson, H' Doubler, and Elsom.

A very interesting and instructive program has been arranged consisting of interpretive dancing, pagentry, music, dramatic production, and playground work, given by the students of the various departments.

All students are invited to gather on the main campus at 8 o'clock where they will join their state groups, meet old friends and make new ones.

After the program which will last about one hour, the state groups will indulge in stunts, yells, and representative features of their respective states.

Following the outdoor stunts President E. A. Birge and Dean S. H. Goodnight will give addresses which will be followed by a series of mixing stunts led by Professor Elsom and his class, at Lathrop hall.

FORMER ASSISTANT TO "BILLY" SUNDAY WILL PREACH HERE

Evangelist Linden Invites Students to Sermons at Baptist Church

Evangelist John M. Linden of Madison, formerly first assistant to "Billy" Sunday, will preach during the Sundays of July at the First Baptist church, corner Carroll and Dayton sts., and a cordial invitation is extended to all students of the university to attend both the morning and evening services at 10:30 a. m. and 8 p. m.

TRIM 'EM Tree Surgeons Busy With Amputations These Days; Service Bureau Funds Ex- hausted.

Have you been a victim of the squad of surgeons operating about the campus, and like many of us, while sleepily ambling up the hill to your morning classes, been rudely awakened by the crash of falling branches?

Perhaps you think the stately elms are receiving seemingly brutal treatment, but it is a necessary annual procedure to keep the campus dotted with its many varied trees. Decaying limbs and diseased portions must be removed to prevent the total destruction of the trees, and every summer the service department of the university sees to having this work done.

About $500 a year is spent for running and overhauling the trees on the university grounds. During the past week Madison's tree surgeon, Mr. Brown, and several assistants have engaged in this work, and so far several truck loads of dead and decaying wood have been removed from the trees on the stretch of campus before Bascom hall.

According to Superintendent A. S. Gallistel of the service department, the work of caring for the trees will be the last job that can be undertaken until more funds are received through legislative approbation.

"Today is the end of the fiscal year for us," said Mr. Gallistel this morning, "and as we are also at the end of our funds, our plans for university buildings must rest under that North hall was modernized til a future date."

BE YOUR OWN COP IN MOVING TRAFFIC ABOUT BASCOM HALL

Venice has its aquatic traffic regulators, Fifth avenue its signal lights, but Bascom hall has its honor system.

Approximately 1,500 people pass through Bascom hall every hour. For this reason the regular term traffic rules are in effect during the summer session. They provide for the following cases as signs over the doors and on the stairways indicate:

Entrance to the hall should be made through the only entrance, which is located in the front center of the building. All upward traffic should use the stairways on the immediate right and left of this entrance, and the one directly in the rear.

Those taking the downward path should use the two end stairways, and leave only through the exits, which are located on either side of the entrance.

CHINESE CLUB TO HOLD RECEPTION FOR NEWCOMERS

A reception for all Chinese newcomers at the university will be held at the Y. M. C. A. at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon by the Chinese Student club. The purpose of the reception is to get the incoming Chinese students acquainted with the university.

A program, consisting of musical numbers and speeches will furnish the entertainment for the afternoon.

BIGGEST ROLL IN HISTORY IS ON THE MOUNT

Late Applicants Continue to Arrive—4,661 is Lat- est Count

Exactly 4461 students had registered for the summer session at the Registrar's office late yesterday afternoon. This is the largest registration ever made for a summer session of the university.

Previous to this year, the largest summer session registration was 3600, which was the number of students registered here last summer.

"There is every indication that the registration will be larger than the 4461 students registered up to last evening," said Registrar W. D. Hiestand, this afternoon.

"Thirty of the present total registered yesterday, and some more students registered today, although the latter number has not been totaled as yet. Of course, these figures cannot be considered absolutely reliable because we may lose a certain number of the students registered."

VESPER SERVICE IS ARRANGED FOR SUNDAY EVENING

Rev. Thomas Knox To Speak;
Campus Religious Council
In Charge

Sunday evening from 7 to 8 o'clock the patriotic program in the open air theatre back of Bascom hall will be the opening of the Summer Vesper to which the members of the university and the general Madison public are invited by the Campus Religious Council.

The oration will be delivered by the Rev. Thomas Knox, D. D., pastor of Westminster church. Dean S. H. Goodnight will preside and on July 17 the Rev. R. W. Blakeman, D. D., Methodist university pastor. There will be different speakers each week.

The music will be supplied by the University band members under the general chairmanship of John Jaquish. The chairman of ushers is P. W. Voltz. Miss Mary Anderson of the University Y. W. C. A. and the Rev. J. B. Gleason, student secretary of the Baptist church, will care for the advertising during the session.

The Rev. A. J. Soldan of Luther Memorial church will preach July 10th and on July 17th the Rev. R. G. Reiman, Presbyterian University pastor will speak. A pageant is being developed by the Music school to occupy the evening of the 25th or the 31st.

Dr. Blakeman and Dean Goodnight are again in general charge as in former years.

The custom of holding open air Vesper Services during the summer session was established ten years ago, at which time there were no churches near the campus. Observatory Hill and other points overlooking Lake Mendota were used for these meetings until the open air theater was built five years ago.

Hop to it you male vamidores; there are 3,521 women here and 1001 men. A three to one chance to fall in love. It may never come again, boys! Of course, tho, one has to shut the hon. eyes and make believe that she's what she ain't.

She was a Phantom of delight
When first she gleamed upon my sight.
I saw her in my English class,
A quite bewitching little lass.
I saw her everywhere I went,
A lovely Apparition, sent
To grace the campus with her smile
And make the summer course worth while.

She haunted me both night and day.
I tried to meet her every way.
But yesterday I changed my mind,
(The fates have surely been unkind)
For I went down to take a swim—
I looked and stared, my eyes were dim—

I saw her in her bathing suit
And, Horrors! she looked awfully cute.

ELSMON TALKS ON ACTIVITY VALUE FOR YOUNGSTERS

Says Scouts and Camp Fire Girl Programs Are Big Aid to Youth

"The keynote of success in dealing with boys and girls is physical activity," said Prof. J. C. Elsom in a lecture on "The Educational Value of the Boy Scout and Camp Fire Girls Activities" Thursday afternoon in the Biological building.

If the child is not given the right thing to do he will do the wrong thing—he can be depended on to do something; in this fact appears the problem which scouting solves, Prof. Elsom pointed out. Boy scout masters are not like the old-fashioned ministers who used to tell boys what kind of men they were to grow to be. They tell them instead what to do today.

The two great things the Boy Scout Movement has done are to create health through a wholesome outdoor life and to satisfy the boy's best instincts in the best way, Dr. Elsom states. The instinct for companionship, for construction, for adventure and the instinctive love of a camp-fire all find outlet in scout activities. The former "gang" of doubtful influences becomes the carefully guided band of scouts gathering useful information and experience.

Slides were shown illustrating the work of boy and girl scouts in all parts of the country and including pictures of scouts engaged in activities which ranged all the way

TO THE PERENNIAL SUMMER COED

Thou'rt back again at school, my

Dear!

My heart was bursting with the fear That thou wouldst not be here this year,

My Mary!

Remember, many years ago, I think 'twas nineteen one or so, When first we came to learn and know,

My Mary?

And every summer since that time When thou and I were in our prime We've met. Each year thou'rt more sublime,

My Mary!

If I should come and not see thee, What sight worth seeing could I see?

The sun would rise in vain for me,

My Mary!

IOWA SUMMER ROLL SHOWS INCREASE OF OVER 50 PER CENT

Registration in the University of Iowa summer session is running 50 per cent greater this summer than last. Enrollment is not yet complete and the only comparisons possible are for a certain date this year against a corresponding date last summer, but it is apparent that the 1921 session will show a decided gain over a year ago.

The college of education has already enrolled 45 per cent more students than last summer's total, and probabilities are that education will show a gain of more than 60 per cent this year. Seventy-five new school superintendents are enrolled in the four-year summer course. Graduate and undergraduate students in education are about equal in numbers this summer, with the graduates slightly in the lead. The graduate college shows a steady growth.

Students in the summer session are coming this year from a wider space of territory than formerly. Besides a growing popularity in Iowa and the whole middle west, the university summer session is attracting students from as far east as Connecticut, from the south, the southwest and the Rocky Mountain states.

from making flapjacks to sending wireless messages. Signalling, knot tying, learning the points of the compass, swimming, giving first aid and artificial respiration, and making fires without matches were among the occupations in which the boys appeared.

CHANGES AT CAPITOL TODAY

July 1 Sees Administrative Changes in Commissions

Important changes in state administrative positions took place today with the replacement of C. P. Cary, superintendent of public instruction, by John Callahan; of George P. Hambrecht, chairman of the industrial commission, by Reuben J. Knutson; and of E. A. Everett, member of the board of control, by Henry Town.

Mr. Cary goes out of office after eighteen years as superintendent of public instruction. John Callahan, his successor, until now director of vocational education, has been connected with Wisconsin schools for 30 years.

George Hambrecht, chairman of the industrial commission for six years, is replaced by Mr. Knutson, of La Crosse.

Mr. Town, former warden of the state prison at Waupun, comes into office as a member of the state board of control as a result of the resignation of E. A. Everett. Mr. Everett had served since the reorganization of the board during the Phillip administration.

Mr. Knutson arrived in Madison yesterday. On Wednesday evening he was given a great sendoff at La Crosse. A big informal reception was tendered to him by the citizens of La Crosse. A number of the leading citizens of La Crosse spoke and as a token of esteem a gold watch and chain were presented to Mr. Knutson.

Mr. Knutson will bring his wife and two children to Madison as soon as he can find a residence.

ATTEND THE MIXER

SUMMER SESSION students will have an opportunity to hear President Birge address the first mixer and social gathering ever held on the upper campus.

In previous years the mixers have been held in Lathrop Hall and dancing was the chief form of entertainment presented. This summer's departure from custom is a novel and practicable solution of a perplexing problem. With over 4000 students in attendance it would be impossible to entertain any appreciable number of them in Lathrop. By meeting on the upper campus, the heat and discomfort caused by meeting in a crowded room will be eliminated. The campus will provide ample room for students from the various states to assemble under their states' banners.

A novel program in pageantry is planned and each state will be represented by its students on the stunt committees. The university is serving a real purpose in fostering the state spirit and providing by means of this mixer a chance for each one to be with those from his own state.

The Director of the Summer Session and other prominent faculty leaders will address the students. It is the university's welcome to the summer session students. Everybody out!

THE CAMEL LINE

THE membership in the Camel Line is growing daily. Hot weather, many students, and a dry interior are responsible for its organization. Its meeting place is any hour of the day in the corridors of Bascom hall.

Last year we had the Chicken Walk. The inconveniences it caused were many, and great was the rejoicing when it ceased to exist. Now, only a little more noticeably inadequate because of the weather, is the drinking fountain system in Bascom hall.

As the building in which perhaps the largest number of students go for recitations it is peculiar that physical lubricating arrangements have so long been inefficient. One full time and one part time fountain are the best that the thirsty may look to for relief.

We have traffic regulations in the building to save time and to afford convenience in passing to and from classes, yet between periods for the last four days two lines have formed in either of which one is obliged to wait his turn to drink. If he is in a good humor and in no hurry he will join that on the second floor, otherwise he will try the fountain on the first floor which operates freely, and for this reason is patronized extensively. However, that is not the sole reason for its popularity, it is because the one above it does not run when the former is in use. The elusive stream of water in the second floor fountain might be considered humorous at times.

We should like drinking facilities in Bascom hall.

The least that should be done, not alone for the present, for the regular session students likewise partake of water, is to put the second floor fountain in a serviceable state. The addition of one or more fountains would not be amiss. We look to our officials for an adjustment of this present condition.

OBEY THE TRAFFIC RULES

THE traffic regulations in Bascom Hall are being flagrantly violated. The inherent desire of every normal American is to be "different"; to avoid all rules and prescribed actions of authority that tend to unnecessarily restrict and govern. To the individualist especially is it repugnant to obey at all times seemingly needless regulations.

The university has no desire to post needless rules. It desires only that a maximum amount of traffic be handled with a minimum amount of confusion and delay. To that end, the present regulations have been prescribed.

Over 4000 students are in attendance at the university. Over 1500 students enter and leave Bascom Hall each hour. Programs are arranged so that there is only a few minutes between the classes in the different buildings. A minute delay in leaving or entering may mean tardiness at a class. It may mean missing the class entirely through a reluctance to enter late.

Without some definite rules of entrance and exit, stairways for ascent and descent, delay and confusion would be the natural result. It is unfair to others to fail to observe these rules. It is dangerous to disregard them. On the way to class remember to observe the proper means of exit and entrance. Especially is this duty incumbent on the regular students who should by this time have become thoroughly used to the custom.

It is a reasonable and fair thing to ask. It is just to expect compliance.

AMENDMENTS TO BONUS LAWS ARE NOW IN EFFECT

Two new provisions in the state bonus laws were recently passed, as the Lang and Czernowitz amendments. The first of these provides that students who have received the cash bonus of ten dollars for each month in service, do not need to refund to the state the money they have received from the cash bonus before they can apply for the educational bonus of thirty dollars per month. Many students have been unable to refund the cash bonus money to the state and have thus been prevented from receiving the educational bonus.

Under the new rule, the student uses the thirty dollars a month received from the educational bonus to apply on the payment of the money he has received through the cash bonus. As soon as the debt has been paid, the student receives his thirty dollars per month.

The second amendment provides that students who have been attending school for some time and have not made application for the educational bonus because of their inability to refund to the state the money which they have received under the cash bonus law, may now make application for the bonus and receive their thirty dollars per month for each month they have been in school since the law providing for the educational bonus went into effect, minus the money they have received under the cash bonus act. This new ruling is expected to affect many students and those entitled to the bonus should report to 151 Bascom hall at once and make application for it. It is not yet known exactly just how many bonus men are attending the summer session but the statistics will be compiled as soon as possible.

FRENCH ONLY SAY
CERCLE FRANCAIS
FOLK AT MEETING

Nothing but French was spoken at the meeting of the Cercle Francais, held Thursday night in the parlors of Lathrop hall when students of the French department met for their first meeting of the summer session.

Fully 60 people were present when Frederick A. Ernst, assistant professor of romance languages, called the meeting to order for the program. Maxwell Smith of the French department, who spent two years at the Sorbonne, spoke on "University Life in Paris." Mme. Marguerite Treille, also of the French department, led the singing of French popular songs.

The officers of the club elected last evening for the summer session were: Miss Rebecca Flint, professor of French in Milwaukee high school, president; and Prof. L. W. Crawford, of Syracuse university, vice president.

CO-OPERATIVE CO-ED HOUSES ESTABLISHED

Journalism House and Two General Houses to Open in Fall

A second co-operative house for women which will accommodate 14 students will be opened in September. The location is to be at 426 N. Charter street, near Tabard Inn, the present co-operative house, where 22 women live.

Three small co-operative cottages were originally tried out, but these had to be given up two years ago because of the new hospital and infirmary being built on their location. The furnishings of these houses has been stored since then and will be used in the new house this fall. These furnishings were contributed by students, alumnae at Chicago, and local groups of American Collegiate Alumnae at Madison and Superior. S. G. A. has undertaken to complete the furnishings of the house.

Another house that will accommodate 18, semi-co-operative in plan, is being established at 428 Charter street. A group of junior and senior women have undertaken to secure furnishings for this house. After the debts which they may be obliged to incur in opening the house are paid, this house too will be managed on a co-operative, cost-price plan; but at present the girls will pay the usual rates. However self-supporting students will find the house a help to them. One student will earn all her living expenses by the services she renders. Two will receive board. Others may do work by the hour at usual student rates.

The demand for such home-like an economical living is great. Immediately upon the announcement that these houses would be undertaken, numerous applications were made. Both houses are filled for next year, each has a waiting list, and applications continue to come in daily.

Besides these two houses, there is to be another, a Journalism house, on the order of the present French house, established by the junior and senior women in the Journalism course. Miss Portia Lugoff is in charge of applications for residence at the house which is to be located at 430 N. Frances street.

Social News

Miss Lucy J. Newton, formerly mistress of Chadbourn Hall, has gone to Columbia university to take her masters degree in administration for women. Next fall she will go to the University of Texas, where she will remain as the Dean of Women.

The local chapter of Delta Delta Delta sorority will entertain for its members at a picnic at their house on Langdon street at 4:30 Wednesday afternoon. All those planning to attend are asked to call Badger 159.

The members of Chi Phi fraternity will entertain at a dancing party Saturday evening at their house at 200 Langdon street. Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Tesch will chaperone. The music will be furnished by Thompson's orchestra.

LOOK FOR SITE FOR IOWA STATE UNION

Early decision as to the site for the Iowa Memorial Union and acquisition of the property, followed as soon as possible by breaking ground for the building and commencing construction on the million dollar memorial which is to be erected on the Iowa campus by the alumni, former students and friends of the university were two important recommendations placed before the annual meeting of the University of Iowa Association in the report of Director Ralph G. Grassfield who is in charge of the Union project.

After another year it is hoped that conditions will warrant breaking ground for the building. Since the opening of the campaign, $252,336 has been subscribed, of which amount $115,000 has been pledged by the student body and faculty of the university. The report shows that eight counties have recently been permanently organized in the interest of the Union and that the financial campaign will be put on in these counties as soon as conditions warrant. Organization will be pushed throughout the state this summer.

METHODIST STUDENTS.
The Methodist students, numbering something over 400 in the Summer Session, will be ministered to by the Wesley Foundation opposite the Chemistry building on University avenue. Dr. E. W. Blakeman and the Rev. Howard Hare are the pastors.

Each Sunday at 9:30 o'clock these pastors will offer Bible courses, which are open to all. Dr. Blakeman will deal with a "Survey of Testament Introduction" will be conducted by Rev. Hare.

At 10:30-11:30 Public worship. Sermon by one of the pastors and music by a quartet consisting of Josephine Darrin, Marie McKittrick, Bernard Huebner, and Reuben Brown. Mrs. E. J. Cooper is director and pianist.

GET AWAY FROM HOME FOR OUTING, SAYS STATE BOARD

Vacation Hnts Offered in Booklet by Health
Bureau Here

Get away from home and business if you can possibly afford it. A change of surroundings is helpful in restoring health and strength. It isn't necessary to go long distances, but it is important to get out into the open. Forge business, it will be the better off for your vacation." This is advice offered by the state board of health in a little pamphlet sent free to any citizen of Wisconsin. It is entitled "The Safe Vacation" and enjoins scrutiny into the sanitary surroundings of summer outing places.

Valuable hints regarding camping out, first aid measures to meet various emergencies, and advice on drowning and methods of resuscitation are offered.

The popular idea that a drowning person rises to the surface three times is incorrect, the bulletin asserts. Some persons never come to the surface at all. Others come up but once."

The pamphlet, which the department desires shall be in the pocket of every camper or vacationist, will be mailed free to anyone sending a postcard request to the state board of health, Madison.

BOOK DISPLAY FOR TEACHERS IS ARRANGED

Two Companies Place Text Manuals and Guides in Biology Building

For the benefit of the large number of teachers present at the summer session, there has been placed in the Biology building a display of text-books, manuals, and teachers' guides covering work in secondary schools and high schools. These texts are exhibited by the A. S. Barnes company and the Scott, Foresman and company of Chicago and New York. Many of them are wholly new texts in new fields of study. Others are reorganized, or new editions of standard texts. Among those in comparatively new fields of work, are "The Industrial Art Books" in eight parts for graduation purposes to be used in secondary schools. They are designed for use like geography or arithmetic texts, and based on the principle that "art is necessary to commerce, manufacturing, advertising, selling of merchandise, salesmanship, and to consumers selecting and buying." Two texts on art are "Use of the Plant in Decorative Design" and "Pencil Sketching", both for high school use.

Also in one of the newer fields of education, is text on "Social Games and Group Dances" by Prof. J. C. Elsom and Blanche M. Trilling of the University of Wisconsin. This text was written "as a result of testing the practical value of social games and group dances for children of all ages", and contains games for indoors and out.

Texts used in teaching elementary agricultural and home economics courses have a large part in the exhibition. Of interest to rural teachers in a complete set of Lippincott's Manuals, put out by the A. S. Barnes company covering all elementary courses in farm and home industry such as "The Business of the Household" "Successful Canning and Preserving," "Housewifery," "Productive Vegetable Gardening," and "Injurious Insects and Useful Birds."

Scott, Foresman and company has a display of texts for teaching of English. Among them are new editions of "Twelve Centuries of English Poetry and Prose," by Newcofer and Andrews, and the Lake classics. Some new texts in English shown are Ward's "Sentence and Theme," Hall's "English Usage" "Vocational English," by Bowlin and Marsh, and "Effective English," by Claxton and McGinnis, the latter of whom has been United States Commissioner of Education.

New methods in teaching are shown in the books by the Barnes company on silent reading, socialized recitation, folk dancing, ideal spelling and vocational guidance.

The exhibition includes also texts in the teaching of Latin, French, and Spanish in secondary schools and high schools. There are several books written as guides and manuals in the teaching of some special courses which the teacher finds more difficult to organize.

MANY STUDENT SCHOLARSHIPS ARE OFFERED

Regents' and Legislative Scholarships Are Great Aid to Students

That a large number of university scholarships are given each year is not generally known. Professor Susan A. Sterling, a member of the faculty committee on undergraduate scholarships and loans has written in the Alumn Magazine to arouse the interest of graduates and former students of the university in behalf of more scholarships for the worthy and needy students.

The Board of Regents offers 50 scholarships of $100 each to first year students resident in Wisconsin.

sin. These are known as the Wisconsin scholarships. Besides these there are over a hundred Wisconsin legislative scholarships awarded each year to students not resident in the state; that is, the non-resident fee of $124 for tuition is remitted to such students. The number of these scholarships awarded is proportional to the number of non-resident students in attendance at the University during the year preceding. It must not exceed eight per cent of the number registered. This past year there were 169 scholarships awarded. In both of the cases above the scholarships are granted upon the basis of merit and need.

Through the generosity of individuals and associations the University is also able to offer nine scholarships each year to young women. They vary in amounts from $50 to $275 approximately. They are as follows: two Amelia E. H. Doyon scholarships, amounting each to about $140 a year, the interest on a fund of $5,000 left to the University as a Student Aid Fund; two Fannie P. Lewis scholarships amounting to about $275 each, interest on a trust fund of $10,000; the Mortar Board Scholarship of $100. Mortar Board, a society composed of senior women, maintains this as an annual scholarship. The Gamma Phi Beta scholarship of $100 has been offered since 1911. The Christian R. Stein scholarship amounts to about $50 annually, interest on a trust fund of $1,000. The Kappa Kappa Gamma scholarship of $150 has been offered for about ten years. The American Association of University Women offers a scholarship of $100. The Madison branch of this Association formerly the A. C. A., has made this scholarship available since 1917. These scholarships are also given upon the basis of superior scholarship and financial need. Every year there are many more applicants than scholarships available. This year there were just three times as many, 27 having applied. The young women who received the scholarship are without exception entirely or partially self-supporting. They do all kinds of work to help themselves, filling in their spare hours, Saturdays, and holidays with manual or mental labor. They usually work also during the summer vacation and frequently are obliged to stay out a year to earn additional money. One of the young women who received a scholarship this last year is also aiding in the support of a blind and deaf mother. Another stayed out of school six years to care for an invalid mother and a younger brother. All are filled with a desire to be of real benefit to their communities.
