The libraries provide public access to a wide range of material, including online exhibits, digitized collections, archival finding aids, our catalog, online articles, and a growing range of materials in many media.

When possible, we provide rights information in catalog records, finding aids, and other metadata that accompanies collections or items. However, it is always the user's obligation to evaluate copyright and rights issues in light of their own use.

An Old Woman is Picking Blueberries

One time there was an old woman picking blueberries. She had a boy along and she told him to go back. Then the old woman picked berries and then she got lost picking blueberries. So they looked for her where the old woman had been picking berries. They failed to find the old woman. Then around this time he was cutting poles to make barrel hoops and this pole cutter was called Simon King. He found her, but the old woman had died. So he went back to tell where she was and that she had died in the woods. Then they went back to get the old woman.
