The Peekskill Bear Mountain Bridge Road is the Eastern approach to the bridge. Is a newly constructed road, blasted out of the lofty sides of Anthony's Nose and Manitou Mountains, and commanding the most picturesque views of the Hudson River. Its greatest elevation is more than 400 feet above the river. This road connects the Bridge with the Albany Post Road, and is over three miles long.

THE L. C. BURKES, 17 South Harrison street, are noted for giving original and clever parties . . . but they out-did even themselves Saturday night.

The Burkes collected discarded but still-good Christmas trees all over town, moved their living room furniture out and the trees in, and when their guests arrived they found it transformed into a perfect picnic-grounds.

The room was lined with evergreens, the floor had a thick coating of evergreen needles on it, there were rough picnic tables here and there, and in the fireplace was a roaring big wood fire. A steak supper was cooked over the fire just as it would be outdoors, and, later, as one of the stunts, the Burkes presented their guests with a series of dried-up branches, twigs, flowers, buds, and what-have-you and let them try to identify what they HAD been last summer.
