FIVE CENTS

PLAYERS PRESENT "THE MOLLUSC" IN LATHROP TONIGHT

Production Will Go on the Road, According to Manager

"The Mollusc" will be presented by the Wisconsin Players tonight at 8:15 o'clock in Lathrop concert room. This play, which was written by Herbert Henry Davies, an English playwright, is the first production to be staged by the organization.

The cast is: Mrs. Baxter, Maxine Walker '27; Mr. Baxter, Louis Mallery '25; Miss Roberts, Agatha McCaffery '25; Tom, Gordon Abbott '26.

Last year Prof. L. A. Cooper of the English department, used the play as a model of dramatic construction. It is considered to be one of the best plays that has ever been produced in New York or London.

The production staff is as follows: production manager, Mark C. Porter '26; technical manager, Ralph Mead '27; property manager, Frederick Buerki '27; publicity, Paul McGinnis '25.

The Union Board dance which is held in Lathrop every Friday and Saturday nights will not begin until 10 o'clock. The play will begin at 8:15 and will be over at 10 o'clock.

"MOLLUSC" TO GO ON ROAD

"The Mollusc" will go on the road this fall, according to an announcement made yesterday by Kenneth Gardner '25, business manager of the organization.

Although no definite dates have been made as yet, Gardner says that there are a number of theaters in Wisconsin which are angling for the production. In view of the fact that the cast is small and the scenery built especially so that it can be taken on the road easily and used in a hall where stage facilities are poor, as well as in a first class theater, it is possible for the Players to accept any dates which may be desired.

STRAW VOTES SHOW STUDENTS FOR G. O. P.

The G. O. P. elephant appears to be the favorite animal of the students of the country. Straw votes for the presidency in 400 educational institutions show a Coolidge vote of 16,004 against 6,180 for Davis and 3,714 for La Follette.

There are 18 states in the vote.

FRESHMAN MEN ORGANIZE GROUP

Plans For Banquet After Thanksgiving Are Nearly Completed

The new organization of freshman men which is now being formed will be an integral part of the freshman class, organized to promote the things for which the class stands, according to Clyde K. Kluckholm '28, president of the class, at the meeting of the freshman commission last night.

The group is being sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. and is working in full co-operation with the regular class organization. Plans are nearly complete for a large banquet which probably will be held shortly after Thanksgiving.

"A tentative constitution is being drawn up which sets forth the purposes of the organization as promotion of better fellowship among members of the class, higher scholarship, more active interest in activities, and cleaner thinking," Kluckholm stated.

Galloping Fence Gates, Weird Noises-Hallowe'en

Mysterious noises in the house, a creaking on the stairs, ghostly figures walking about are all associated in our minds with Hallowe'en. Of course, this was back in the dim dark ages when we were young. What fun it was to gather at the house of a friend and have the curl taken from our hair by bobbing for apples.

Better still to have bruised legs the next day because you had fallen down the cellar steps when trying to walk down backwards with the mirror over your left shoulder. This was the time of year when tick tacks could be placed on the windows of the man next door who had never let you holler down his rain barrel.

Also with one of the bars of soap that floats you could ruin the windows of any other enemies. The ringing of doorbells as well as hanging the gate way up on the telegraph post was considered another form of outdoor sport. Of course fences were always taken and the night wasn't complete until the annual ride in the police patrol was experienced.

Naturally, when we come to college, the weight of years has been added and we are too dignified, especially the freshmen, to participate in such things. Nevertheless, some students probably revert to their childhood and many fence rails, gateposts, and windows will feel the touch of youth.

Fraternities and sororities are offering diversion for those seeking excitement by having dances Friday and Saturday night.

For the sake of those who feel tempted to participate in these things tonight, it might be well to add that the entire police force, including day men, will be on duty, according to Chief of Police Thomas Shaughnessy. In addition 25 extra men have been sworn in, so that there will be 75 in all.

AD CLUB ELECTS 16 NEW MEMBERS

Two New Officers Elected; Discussion of Club Policy is Held

Election of new members was the main feature of the meeting of the Ad club last night, and the policy of the club was discussed. It is the purpose of the organization to encourage people who are interested in advertising and also to instruct those who are members.

There were 16 new members admitted at this meeting, Arthur Toffe '25, John S. Weisz '27, Harland Gilbert '25, Alice Bruns '25, Ralph M. Ballau '26, Floyd J. Gray '27, Harry Schuck '26, Mary Elizabeth Husson '25, John Stuart '27, Gordon Lewis '25, J. Thompson '26, Ben Anderson '26, Arthur Morris '26, Ewart Merica '27, Helen Baldauf '25, and Irene Norman '25. The names of several other applicants were held over to a later meeting.

Luther Brooks '26 was elected secretary of the club, and a new office, corresponding secretary, was instituted, and Edna Walters '25 was elected to fill this position.

An open discussion followed these elections, and Edward H. Gardner, professor of business administration in the Commerce course, introduced a measure for discussion. The measure, a statement of advertising standards, was adopted as a new policy by the club. The object of the statement is to attempt to give uniformity to all the campus publications in their advertising policies.

PLANS FOR MOUNTED GUARD UNIT COMPLETE

The military department has announced that plans for a mounted guard unit are now complete. There has been a long felt need for such an organization to act as guard of honor in parades and ceremonies, and an attempt was made to form the troop last year. With new saddles and bridles now available, maneuvers will begin at once. Tryouts will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Camp Randall, with Lt. E. A. Erickson in charge. Junior and senior cadet officers in the Field Artillery are eligible for the competition.

ZR-3 SUPERVISOR TO BE HERE ON HOMECOMING

Major Frank M. Kennedy '07, who supervised the construction of the ZR-3, now the Los Angeles, for the United States government, will be in Madison for Homecoming, November 15. Major Kennedy graduated from the College of Engineering. He was designated by the government to go to Friedrichshafen, Germany, to represent this country in the construction of the zeppelin and to make the trans-Atlantic flight in the airship. He is a charter member of the local chapter of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

Football Squad, Coaches Guests of Goedon, Orpheum

Members of the Varsity football squad, coaches and newspaper men, were entertained at a dinner given last night at Fred Hick's cafe by the Goedon and Kruger company. Following the dinner the men were the guests of the Orpheum management during the second vaudeville performance.

This is the second year the Goedon and Kruger company and the Orpheum have entertained the members of the team. The Goedon company, instead of awarding prizes to men making touchdowns, brilliant plays, and the like, have given the dinner so that the entire squad might get together and enjoy the steak dinner.

GRADS TO REGISTER AT HOMECOMING

Arrangements Made to List Alumni and Visitors at Music Hall

Registration of all the alumni and visitors who will be in town for Homecoming is to be a feature of this year's program, according to Elizabeth Sears '25, who is in charge of this phase of the activities.

"With such an arrangement, we can check up on all the alumni and find out how many from every class attended, as well as provide a list where alumni can locate each other," said Miss Sears yesterday.

Elizabeth Sears '25, Badger Studio.

One booth will be at Music hall and will be run in connection with the information booth there. Sororities and fraternities are to have all their guests register there. It will be open all day Friday, November 14, and Saturday until 6:30 o'clock except during the game.

On the committee are Grace Mallett '25, Virginia Bennett '26, Eleanor Renn '25, Martha Williamson '25, Phyllis Edkins '27 and Beulah Henry '26.

COULTER WILL SPEAK BEFORE PHI KAPPA PHI

Dean Stanley Coulter of the School of Science at Purdue university will be the guest of honor and principal speaker at the annual initiation banquet of Phi Beta Phi, honorary scholastic and activities fraternity, to be given November 5, in the Woman's building, it was announced today.

A talk on the aims of the society will be given by Prof. Willard G. Bleyer, president of the local chapter.

Formal invitations have been sent out to the 39 seniors elected by the faculty committee to membership in the society.

Suffrage Leader Will Give Talk Here November 12

"Men, Women and Politics" is the subject of the address which Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, suffrage leader, will deliver at 4:30 in the afternoon of Wednesday, November 12 at the men's gymnasium. Mrs. Catt will speak under the joint auspices of the Dane County League of Women Voters and the lecture committee of the university. The lecture is free to the general public.

A few years ago Mrs. Catt met Susan B. Anthony, who started the move for women suffrage and became interested in this movement. In 1900 she succeeded Miss Anthony as president of the National Suffrage league.

One year ago a vote was taken in this country to see who the twelve greatest women of this country were. Mrs. Catt was voted by the American people as being one of the twelve greatest. She was a very active worker for the seventeenth amendment which gives women equal voting rights with men.

YODVIL TRYOUTS SET FOR TUESDAY

Dramatic and Orchestral Positions to Be Filled; Purnell in Charge

Tryouts for dramatic and orchestral positions in Union yodvil will be held next Tuesday, according to William Purnell, director of this year's production.

Openings in two dramatic sketches will be filled at a tryout at 4:30 o'clock in Lathrop concert room; the orchestra tryout will be held at 8:30 o'clock in Boyd's studio.

Both tryouts are open to anyone except freshmen. Actors, not dancers and singers, are needed for the two dramatic sketches, according to Purnell who with Hazel Weingandt '25 will judge the applicants. The sketches will be part of the regular yodvil production.

The orchestral positions open are those in the pit orchestra. String, reed and especially brass instruments are needed.

"This year," Purnell said, "the orchestra places are open for competition. The pit orchestra will be the biggest that Union yodvil has ever had and will be one of the features of the show."

Committee Gives Out Penalties to Cheating Students

Penalties of from two to six credits were meted out to three offenders by the university disciplinary committee at its weekly meeting Wednesday night in South hall.

In one case, an instructor had liked a freshman English theme very much and had kept it. A year later, enjoying a column of O. Henry, he ran across the identical story. The copyist must earn two extra credits.

A Letters and Science second semester freshman was fined three credits for plagiarizing and three more for lying about what he had done. In addition, the committee placed him on probation. Because of very unusual conditions, a Letters and Science junior was allowed to take a chemistry examination outside of Madison. The man who was giving the examination left the room and when he returned found the student copying out of a text book. The junior is now on probation and must make five extra credits before he can graduate.

JUDGE LUECK TO GIVE TALK HERE TOMORROW

Judge Martin L. Lueck, Democratic nominee for governor, will speak at 8 o'clock Saturday night in the Central high school auditorium, according to an announcement by the local Democratic committee. The subject of Judge Lueck's address has not been announced.

SENIORS, JUNIORS GO TO POLLS FOR ELECTION TODAY

Chief Interest Centers About Upper Class Officers and Prom Chairman

Senior and Junior class officers and prom chairman are the principal offices to be filled in the general election today in which students of all colleges will vote. The polls will be open from 9 until 5 o'clock.

Special regulations enforced at the elections last fall for junior officers will be used again today. No students will be permitted to stand or loiter about the polling places or to act as watchers for candidates. Intimidation of voters or attempts to influence them while standing in line will not be permitted. Each official in charge of the polls will have full authority to enforce these regulations.

Elections Body on Watch.

A member of the elections committee will be in charge of each of the seven voting booths all day and will see to it that the same precautions against illegal tactics as were taken in the election last spring are in force today. Student directories will be used to check the voters in and out of the polls.

Classification in the directory will be absolute unless a slip from the registrar giving the correct classification is presented. Voters' guides will be available at the registrar's office and at other places on the campus. The qualifications of each candidate are given in the guide and the elections committee urges all voters to make a careful selection from the booklet before casting their ballots.

Proxies will not be accepted unless the voter is out of town on university business or in the infirmary.

The votes will be counted at the registrar's office after the polls close. The results will not be available before 7 o'clock. No one except members of the elections committee and a member of the Daily Cardinal staff will be permitted to be present while the votes are being tabulated.

Annual Tilt; Both Teams StrongConfidence reigns supreme in the frosh stronghold as the day of their battle with the sophomore eleven draws near.Since the first day of school the frosh have been working under the able hand of Coach Guy Sundt, yearling mentor, and now they have a well oiled machine that is capable of holding the varsity to small gains and at times even gains through the varsity line.The frosh eleven has been drilled long and hard on the Minnesota and Notre Dame styles of play and will undoubtedly employ such strategy against the second year team.The frosh boast of one of the fastest and most aggressive elevens in the history of frosh football.
Several stars are playing in the yearling forward wall that will cause the soph backs no end of trouble. Kreske, a big lineman, mixes in every play and often tosses a would-be runner for a loss. The first year ends are fast and are deadly at picking passes out of the ether.

Crowfoot Shows Ability

In the backfield Captain Crowfoot of the yearlings has gained renown for his ability to skirt the ends or to drive off tackle. Weigandt, Curtis and VanHorn, the remainder of the quartet, are all capable ground gainers, while VanHorn passes to his teammates with uncanny accuracy.
Tappert, another big frosh back, also has great prowess as a pass toss and is also a line plunger.The sophomore camp is silent but grim. When Coach Gundy Nelson issued the call for sophomore candidates a week ago he had four sophomores who had been working on the all Americans to form a nucleus for his team. Since then about a dozen other hopeful sophs have reported and with this material Coach Nelson is trying to mould a team that will be able to give the frosh a real skirmish. The main handicap of the sophomore team is that its best men are playing on the varsity and will be ineligible to play with their class team.

Klinger Runs Well

For the most part the sophomore men will depend upon Captain Klinger to gain most of the yardage against the fighting frosh outfit. Klinger runs, passes and kicks with equal ability and if the frosh hope to annex a victory they must first stop the powerful captain of the second year eleven. Joey Wrend, midget quarterback, is another man that the sophs will rely upon for a win. He shows excellent field judgment in the midst of the fray. Fa-bera, Jacobs and McCartney will bear the brunt of the frosh attack in the line.Besides being a class duel this tilt Saturday will be a personal rivalry, in a friendly way, between Klinger, soph captain, and Crowfoot, frosh leader. These two lads came from high schools that are deadly athletic rivals in Iowa. Two years ago Klinger, playing halfback on the Cedar Rapids eleven, scored a victory over Crowfoot's team at Mason City, Iowa. Both of these lads placed on all State elevens and this year will give Crowfoot a chance to get revenge as the sophs seem to be the under dog.

TANK CAGE MEN
LOOK PROMISINGThree Veterans of Last Year
Are Back For Squad
Positions

"With three veterans back and some very likely candidates for positions on the water-basketball squad, the outlook for the coming season is very favorable," said Coach Paul Eschweiler yesterday afternoon.

Intricate formations such as is used in regular basketball are being learned. It is planned that when the first game is played, Wisconsin will be able to display a battle front of not only fight but strategy.

Captain Feuchtwanger, Kissel, and Coleman are veterans of last year's squad. In the first scrimmage, which was Wednesday night, Radcliffe, Rhode, Bardeen, Ruscha, and Bell showed up as men who will make a great fight for positions on the varsity. Football men have signified their intentions of reporting for the squad after the pigskin season. Schwarze, Bonini, and Burris, all boys who have had some experience playing water-basketball, intend to report for the team.

Three meets have been planned for the first semester. Two will probably be played with the Milwaukee Athletic club and the other with Iowa.

Inter-fraternity water-basketball will be started within the next week, according to Coach Eschweiler.

Badger Coaches
No. 9—Joseph Steinauer

The public first heard of Joe Steinauer, famous Badger swimming coach, in an athletic way when he played baseball for Calumet, Michigan, at the youthful age of 16 years. Joe was one of the youngest sandlotters in the circuit.

Soon tiring of the national pastime, Steinauer went into the field of gymnastics. For three years he ran a gymnasium of his own in Milwaukee. Later he was director of athletics at St. John's Athletic club. Nine summers saw Joe as swimming instructor at Whitaker's Swimming School in the Cream City. For the sake of variety he traveled with a show putting on a novel athletic act.

After this varied career, Steinauer went to Marquette university for three years to study medicine. While at the Hill-top institution he made his letter at shortstop on the nine and also played sub-quarter on the grid team. In addition to this, Steinauer served in capacity of varsity trainer. In order to earn his way through school he acted as athletic director of the Young Men's A. C. of the Jesus Church.

In 1911 Steinauer came to Wisconsin as varsity trainer and frosh baseball coach. After four years of this sort of work Joe took complete charge of the boxing and wrestling teams. Then he took over all the gen-

Crofoot, Former Prep Star,
Elected Frosh Grid Captain

Edwin Crowfoot '28, was elected to captain the frosh football team at a meeting of the squad members yesterday afternoon. Crowfoot, known to all of his friends as "Toad," hails from Mason City, Iowa.

He played high school football for four years, and last year was chosen as halfback on the mythical all-state eleven. The Mason City team, during the four years that Crowfoot played, has been a close contender for the state title. In his first year of grid work "Toad" played at end, then followed two years as pilot, and last season he played at half.

In each of these four years Mason City won every game but one, and two of those lost were to the strong eral gym classes and also coached the gym teams. During his reign in the gym department Wisconsin had two championship gym teams.

During the war, Joe was athletic director at Municipal Pier, Chicago.

After that he returned to Wisconsin to take up the work in corrective gymnastics now conducted by Dr. Elsom. For the past four years Joe has been coach of the tank squads. Although Wisconsin has not won a conference championship in swimming the Badger fish have always placed high in the meets. In 1922 the Cardinal swimmers won every dual meet and placed second in the conference splash.

Some famous men that Joe has developed are Johnny Bennett, holder of the conference record in the 100 and 40 yard dashes. Bennett captained the team in 1922. Last year's captain, Hugo Czerwonky, won the conference breast stroke and back stroke races for two years.

Cedar Rapids eleven. It was in the Cedar Rapids game of last year that "Toad" distinguished himself so greatly. Marek, fast Cedar Rapids back, had always been able to cover the field almost at will; no one had ever been able to stop him until Crowfoot transplanted a feather from Marek's hat into his own in that upset of last season. "Toad" stopped the far-famed Marek time and time again, without a gain, and Cedar Rapids received the surprise of its gridiron life from the present captain of Wisconsin's freshman team.

But Crowfoot is not only a football hero. He plays basketball and runs the hurdles. At the end of last year's basketball season "Toad" was acclaimed one of the best defensive players in the state.

Alumnae-Varsity

Here Homecoming

The alumnae homecoming hockey match November 15 with the Varsity will probably be featured by a game between the Madison Hockey club and the Winnetka Hockey club developed are Johnny Bennett, holder of the conference record in the 100 and 40 yard dashes. Bennett captained the team in 1922. Last year's captain, Hugo Czerwonky, won the conference breast stroke and back stroke races for two years.

of Illinois. "No definite information in regard to the latter game has been received," said Miss Cynthia Wesson, hockey coach.

"Double post cards inviting the alumnae and asking them what position they desire to play will be sent to all W. A. A. alumnae this week," according to Dorothy E. Dodge, grad.

In order to accommodate the alumnae team, plans are being made to secure uniforms for them and to check them out at a small charge.

HOMECOMING NOVEMBER 15.

VARSITY OFFENSE SHOWS POWER IN
NEW BACKFIELDRyan Shifts Line and Drills
Charges in New Pass
Attack

A Wisconsin offense! For years Badger fans have dreamed of a team that had a powerful offense; a team that could score on its opponents. Wisconsinites have always been proud of the strong defense that always characterizes a Badger eleven, but there has always been a longing for a team with that old drive right down the field for a touchdown.

That dream is about to be realized. Last night behind closed gates Jack Ryan and his staff of coaches drilled the men until long after dark on new formations and trick plays that will be sprung against Knute Rockne's tribe or else saved for the homecoming game. After revamping the team this week following the defeat at the hands of the Wolverines, Jack Ryan is making an offensive backfield out of his new quartet.

Tonight saw Doyle Harmon back at his old position at quarterback, MacAndrews and Barnum at the halves, and Leo Harmon back at full. Kreuz, who was running at full on the first string last night was shifted to the second eleven. As soon as Doyle acquires a bit more field generalship he will make a wonderful leader. He is fast and shifty and is capable of running the ball back for every possible yard in returning punts.

Passes seemed to demand most of the attention of the coaches and the team. It has been a long time since Wisconsin had a real passing attack, and it is this factor which has been largely responsible for a non offensive team. The new combination in the backfield seemed more adept at mastering the aerial attack than any backfield that has performed on Randall field in recent years. If they continue to perform as they did last night a new Wisconsin team will trot onto the field a week from Saturday.

Besides excelling at the passing attack the new backfield seems to possess the power to drive through the line or skirt the ends. Barnum, who has taken Harris' place at half since the Badger captain has been shifted to tackle, is big and heavy, but fast. He is a hard driver, a good punter, and is especially good at running interference.

Butch Leitl, who was injured again in the Michigan game, was back on the field last night in a uniform and may fit into the new scheme of things.

A DROP AT A TIME

The mountains weren't built in a day, nor was the world manufactured in a week, in spite of what old authorities may say about it. Nor is anything else that is worth-while and important ever accomplished by a single master stroke or by the carefree effort of a passing moment. Only in fairy books and myths are miraculous feats accomplished, and even these tales of magic and supernatural attainments represent hours of honest labor on the part of their author and originator. Sweat, toil, and perseverance are the common ingredients that must be present in any successful undertaking.

Nowhere is the theory of easy and instant attainment more false than in the field of education. The mind must be built up much the same as any more material object, and master strokes of learning, commonly termed "cramming," are about as efficacious in acquiring knowledge as is the erection of a tent where there should be a palace. The tent goes up quickly and without much effort, but the first wind will blow it away and still leave the need for the palace. In the same way, cramming gains only a flimsy superstructure of knowledge which cannot withstand the effects of time on the memory.

Because the first hour examinations were held last week, and because there will be no more requirement for conscientious work until mid-semesters, there has been a let down from the last minute rush of study of the past two weeks. When the proper occasion comes the library will once more be crowded.

ed, books dusted off and used, and the movies vacated; then the majority of marks will come back with the passing grades, and all the knowledge so hastily acquired will at once proceed to slip away.

That is not getting an education. It is merely being trained in methods of glorified bluffing, and the person who is bluffed the most is the offender himself, who thinks that he is gaining wisdom. The only way by which wisdom can be won is by hard work and constant application, regardless of natural capabilities and cleverness. He who would be wise must first have the wisdom to persevere and to learn his lessons one at a time.

DRAMATICS

There are a number of interests that lie in the field of student activities that definitely take their place on the cultural side of the undergraduate's development. Among these are the various dramatic activities, and the productions of the Wisconsin Players are probably more of a cultural nature than any of the others, because the legitimate stage and serious drama are the particular field which that organization is concerned with.

The stage has many attractions, and is a great source of entertainment for all types of individuals, as well as those who make the theater their especial study. Doubtless students as a whole go to the theater as much as is good for them, and when there are good attractions, very little urging is needed to make them attend.

From past experience, however, the Wisconsin Players have learned that their presentations do not have the popular drawing power which most professional plays have. The exact reason has not been determined, though it has been demonstrated repeatedly that the quality of their work merits the support and patronage of the whole university. Perhaps insufficient advertising and poor choice of times for the productions has been the reason.

The first play of the year is to be given tonight and Saturday evening. "The Mollusc" is a good play, and students will not in the least be throwing away an evening if they want to patronize the entertainment.

FAUX PAS, NUMBER 2

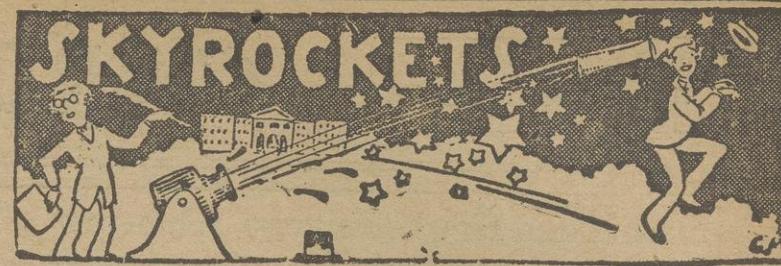

Nearly everyone on the campus agrees that the University band is an institution which is deserving of support of a definite character. Students and most of the faculty feel that this organization contributes a distinct service to the university and as such should be rewarded. Various plans have been suggested, the most practical of which is a scheme by which a small fee would be added to the tuition for the support of its activities. This can only come through the action of the board of regents, and will require the combined effort of the student body, the faculty, and the administration.

In view of this situation the recent performances of the band become a matter for criticism. The organization can hardly hope to gain the whole-hearted support of the various factions involved unless it more creditably represents the university. As a musical organization it is a success—quite a remarkable success in view of the fact that its personnel is constantly changing. For this a proper promotion of praise is due its members and director.

In matters of band etiquette and in general maneuvers, however, the Varsity fails miserably. This was displayed at Illinois. The Illini band produced inferior music, but its appearance so far surpassed that of Michigan's that the effect was almost ludicrous. Of course, their organization is a part of the R. O. T. C. and as such has more opportunity for adequate training, but it is also nearly twice as large and as such must be more unwieldy, requiring infinitely more training. No one wants Michigan to imitate the Illinois organization of its "150 more at home" policy, but the local band can afford to emulate the Illini in effectiveness of drill.

At the Wisconsin game, the band was little better. It presented a ragged appearance and cooperated poorly. There was no excuse for its bellowing out in the midst of Wisconsin cheers; there was no reason why it should not have played the alma mater song for Wisconsin rooters to sing instead of their football song; there is no explanation of the confusion which resulted between the cheerleaders and the band. In fact that whole performance between halves displayed ignorance of the situation and poor training. At whose door this trouble may be laid, remains to be seen.

If the Varsity band expects to be placed on a solid basis financially it must show that it is worthy of the effort. Before the next game, it must spend hours in drilling before it can be truthfully said that band is representative of Michigan. Cooperation with officers of the R. O. T. C. ought to make this possible, and more careful direction should insure against a recurrence of Saturday's unpardonable errors.—Michigan Daily.

TO DO THE STUDENTS—GOOD.

We saw the game last week! Where? Why, on the grid-graph, and it ONLY cost 50 cents. Reasonable? Why, that experience alone is worth twice that. It's so realistic, that when someone makes a run of ten yards, the grid graph shows twenty. Really, we can't see why we didn't win that game. And the price, we can't get over that. It is the original grid GRAFT!

We have come to the conclusion that the best definition for a co-ed is a girl who can stand under a piece of Mistletoe and not get a thrill!

YOUNG M.: "Fine! Fine! Couldn't be better!"

ELECTION.

Today's the day of the great deception! It is the time when all the boys and girls go up the hill to see how many votes they can cast for their respective candidates, and also the end of all the handshaking by the ones running. We won't even attempt to play the prophet, but as the Engineers go, so goes the whole school!

A co-ed at Madison, Wis., consented a Chi Psi to kiss, in the midst of the hug. She said with a shrug, "No pancake is flatter than this!"

SOPHIE STICATED.

This, Sophie, reminds us of another little poem we once heard along these same lines, and we will place it here for your benefit. Around her waist he clasped his arms,

Upon her lips he pressed a kiss, "I've sipped from many a cup," said he,

ARLINGTON GROVE FOR MAJOR HAAN

Commander of Wisconsin 32d Division Laid to Rest Among American Heroes

As the body of Maj. Gen. William G. Haan was lowered in the grave in Arlington National cemetery taps were sounded over the flag-draped casket. The highest officers of the army, navy, and marine corps stood at attention, and administration officials bowed their heads.

The body of General Haan rests on a hillside, near the tomb of Admiral George Dewey, and not far from the tomb of America's Unknown Soldier. The grave is banked high with floral tributes. A distant canon fired the major general's salute of 17 as the casket, borne by a lumbering army caisson, behind six white horses, came up the winding road of the cemetery. Three volleys were fired by a squad of enlisted men from Fort Meyer as the casket was lowered.

The funeral services were conducted at St. Paul's Episcopal church by the Rev. A. A. McCalum, Col. John T. Axton, chief chaplain of the army, and Father Patrick Dunnigan, chaplain of General Haan's division. The 32nd division, Wisconsin and Michigan troops, which Gen. Haan commanded in the World war, was represented officially at the funeral.

Y. W. C. A. HAS ADDED DRAMA DEPARTMENT

A new department has been added to those under the supervision of the Y. W. C. A. This newest addition is a dramatic department which has been formed for the purpose of putting on plays and pageants in connection with other phases of Y. W. C. A. work.

"Y. W. C. A. teaches Christian living and this department is to bring the spirit of that teaching before the eyes so that the students can see it as well as hear it," Margaret Campbell '26, who is chairman of the department, said yesterday.

A Christmas pageant will be the first presentation by the department. A play and an Easter pageant are being planned for next semester.

MEMORIAL STADIUM IN URBANA IS DEDICATED

URBANA, Ill.—Lew Sarett, poet and professor in the school of speech at the University of Illinois, read an original dedicatory ode at the dedication of the war memorial stadium. The stadium was erected at a cost of $1,500,000 as a memorial to the 200 dead and the more than 500 wounded students of the university. Mr. Sarett was commissioned two years ago to compose the ode, which is 200 lines, ten typewritten pages in length. It mentions the early history of Illinois, the connection between the university and the state, and relates the heroic deeds of the students in the late war.

BUYING OF DEGREES IN GERMANY IS REFUTED

BERKELEY, Calif.—That doctors' degrees could be bought at so much each in Germany as stated in a recent newspaper report, was denied by Prof. Erwin G. Gudde, of the German department of the University of California. He states that many American students who have received their degree in small universities or in private colleges would not be recognized as qualified doctors in Germany. Neither can a student take a correspondence course as part of his preparation for his degree.

PIED PIPER WANTED AT THE BIOLOGY BUILDING

A pied piper is demanded at the Biology building. The place is overrun with rodents. There were 20 caught by exasperated university employees in one night. The authorities, realizing how obnoxious the invaders were, gave permission for a cement platform to be constructed at the rear of the building to prevent the entrance of the pests. The cement has been laid and the rats have lost a home.

Nickel Novels

Harbaugh, Writer of 600 Novels of Romance and Adventure, Dies in Almshouse

A man who 50 years ago thrilled the youth of the land with stories of adventure, romance, heroism and glittering sin died late Tuesday in a bare and cheerless room of the Miami county almshouse, almost forgotten by the nation. Once the country acclaimed Thomas C. Harbaugh the "dime novel king," and he was the wealthiest and most prolific author of his time.

The body of Harbaugh was taken to Cass town where it will be given a simple burial. Harbaugh recently sold at auction the last of his earthly possessions and turned his scant funds over to the infirmary, where he paid his way at $5 a week.

Harbaugh wrote his first stories for the Nickel library, forerunner of the "dime novel," which was started by the Pictorial Publishing company of Chicago in 1877. It is estimated that during the years of his greatest activity he wrote more than 600 novels of 150,000 words each.

Revolution Rages About Pekin, Where Student Worker is Stationed

Information that Jack Childs '11 is in the midst of the present Chinese revolution was received by C. V. Hibbard, general secretary of the university association, in a recent letter from the international committee of the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Childs was president of the university association when he was a senior.

The letter reads in part as follows:

"Jack Childs, toward whose support the University of Wisconsin has been contributing, has charge of the Chinese student work at Pekin."

"Political chaos and revolution are shaking the foundations of the government. Strife and bloodshed are reported almost daily. While a number of factors look toward an early settlement of the trouble, it is difficult to say as yet just what the final outcome will be."

"General Feng Yu Hsiang, commonly named 'The Christian General,' has been in command of the forces in Pekin, where Mr. Childs is stationed. Up to the last few days he was operating under General Wu Pei Fu. The forces of both of these generals have been engaged in a conflict with General Chang Tso Lin. Papers state that General Wu is marching on the capital with heavy forces to drive out his former subordinate, Feng Yu Hsiang. At the present time, however, General Feng is in full command of the government forces.

"General Wu has been a supporter of the Y. M. C. A. for many years. General Feng also has been a close friend and encouraged the organization and work of the association in his army. There is every reason to believe that either or both of these men will continue their friendly attitude toward the association and its workers."

BUREAUS LOCATE LOST VALUABLES

Bursar, Registrar, and Daily Cardinal, Custodians of Strayed Goods

Coats, caps, books, scarfs, glasses, umbrellas, hats, pens, pencils, and any other article that a student can possibly drop or forget are to be found in the collections of lost and found articles of which the bursar, the registrar, and the Daily Cardinal are the custodians.

Practically every building on the campus has its little lost and found bureau to whose care students intrust the articles which they find, and to which they usually go in case of loss of one thing or of another.

The registrar's office seems to be the most popular building in which to deposit articles which are found about the campus and in the various campus buildings. As a rule, the articles are claimed within two or three days. If articles such as books are found which bear the name of the owner, a card is dropped the student from the registrar's office. If not claimed within a reasonable time, the article is given over to the bursar, who is the official custodian of all lost and found articles in the university.

At the bursar's office it is but necessary to identify the lost article in order to regain possession of it.

Many found articles are turned in at the Daily Cardinal office. The Daily Cardinal then places an ad in the lost and found column and by calling and paying for it the owner may regain what he has lost.

Even Organ Is Now Used For Syncopation

JESSE CRAWFORD

Jess Crawford, Organist, Explains Why He Plays Modern Music

The organ, associated heretofore with Sunday morning in church and the most solemn and impressive of concerts, is now joining other classical instruments in the interpretation of what, for the lack of a better name, is called "jazz."

Jess Crawford, America's most famous organist, has succumbed to the lure of modern syncopation and is blazing a trail which will undoubtedly be followed by many other famous organ musicians. Mr. Crawford plays at the Chicago, in Chicago, Ill., the largest theatre in the world. Although the public calls what he plays "jazz," he refuses so to consider it.

"The public insists on calling everything 'jazz' that has a dance rhythm," he explains. "But there are dance rhythms and dance rhythms. Jazz is one thing and American music as it is developed today is quite another."

"I think especially of one fox-trot ballad that I play very often, 'Honest and Truly,' as rhythmic and melodic a piece of music as any that the great writers of sentimental music have ever given us. The idea that many people have that the masters only wrote intellectual music is a fallacy that must be exploded before the American public will appreciate what the modern composers are doing."

"In reality, the serious musicians of today are interpreting great themes in rhythms of the time, much as former composers interpreted great themes in the rhythms of their own periods."

CLARK TO SPEAK ON WORLD PEACE

Former Associate Justice of Supreme Court Will Talk Tonight

John H. Clark, formerly associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, will speak on "The Importance of World Peace to America," at 8 o'clock tonight in Music hall. Chief Justice Vinje of the supreme court of Wisconsin will introduce him.

"Mr. Clark was appointed associate justice by Woodrow Wilson in 1916, but resigned his position in 1922 in order to give his entire time to cultivating public opinion favorable to world peace. He has devoted much of his time to the study of various public questions raised by the war," said Prof. R. E. N. Dodge, chairman of the committee on lectures and convocations, which was instrumental in bringing Mr. Clark here.

During his recent visit to Geneva, Mr. Clark spent several weeks with the secretariat of the league of nations, which is reestablishing order in Europe.

"Mr. Clark is greatly interested in having the United States join in the work of promoting order and restoring normal conditions," says Professor Dodge. "He believes the United States ought to join the league of nations irrespective of any reservations which are made."

She is officially the executive secretary of the Wisconsin Colleges Associated, which includes the colleges of Beloit, Campion, Carroll, Lawrence, Marquette University, Milton, Milwaukee-Downer, Northland, and Ripon. Miss Lee's job is to visit each school, become familiar with individual college traditions, and to help in every other capacity that she is able.

MYSTERY STORIES GO BIG WITH OHIO PROFS

COLUMBUS, Ohio.—Two booksellers at Ohio State university who deal in reading matter of all varieties say that two-thirds of the mystery stories sold from their shelves are to professors. Along with the statement that most of their mystery books go to members of the faculty comes the statement from one of the shop that a small and condensed edition of a book on etiquette was their best seller to students last year.

She was known particularly for her novel and play "Little Lord Fauntleroy." Until two months ago, when the last of her novels, "Head of the House of Coombe," was published, Mrs. Burnett-Townsend had written more than a score of novels, and six plays and was editor of "The Children's Book."

State Taxes Mounting Steadily, Says Lueck

RACINE, Wis.—Taxation in Wisconsin by the state has been steadily mounting since 1900 in the face of many new sources of revenue. Judge Martin L. Lueck, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, declared here tonight. He criticized the taxation policy of the present state administration.

"In 1900, the total general state property taxes levied amounted to $1,340,570," Judge Lueck said. "For 1924, it was $5,222,526. In the meantime, all other taxes, such as railroad, insurance and public utilities, have been levied and collected and the receipts, instead of being used to reduce the general property tax, have been squandered in many directions."

FACTS ON OLDEST GRAD RACE HERE

Columbia University Man Gets Honor; Received Degree in 1840

In 1922 when ex-Senator Cornelius Cole traveled across the continent from his home in Los Angeles to attend the commencement exercises of his alma mater, Wesleyan university, at Middletown, Connecticut, the newspapers of the country joined in declaring him the oldest living alumnus of any college in the country at that time. This was the 75th anniversary of his graduation, being a member of the class of 1847, and at that time he was 100 years old.

Upon the announcement by the newspapers that Senator Cole was the oldest living alumnus, other colleges put forth their claimants to this honor. The University of Vermont presented the Rev. George G. Rice, Vermont '45, who was born in September, 1819; Brown university offered the Rev. John Hunt of the class of '42 who was born in October, 1822—older in graduation and not in years. Since that time both of these men have died. There still remains, however, one man who leads Senator Cole in the number of years since graduation. This man is John A. Stewart, Columbia, '40, who was born August 21, 1822.

This rival places Senator Cole in second place in this race for longevity. He was born on September 17, 1922, just 27 days after Mr. Stewart.

ILLINI QUIT DO-NUTS IN FAVOR OF HAMBURG

URBANA, Ill.—Whereas doughnuts used to be the favorite food among students at the University of Illinois popular taste has now turned to hamburgers as the favorite after-dinner food. Meat has become a favorite food of the old guard at the night lunch counters and the greater number of hamburger consumed daily is thus accounted for.

BRITISHERS VOTE END OF LABOR RULE

Conservatives Win By Greatest Majority in Last Century

LONDON—The people of Great Britain have put a crushing end to their first experiment with a Labor government by returning the Conservative party to power in parliament with one of the strongest majorities recorded during the last century.

In this sweeping political change, the Liberal party has sunk to the weakest position it has experienced since the realignment of British political parties more than 90 years ago at the time of the reform bill.

The country districts which constituted the majority of today's returns, have shown a strong tendency toward conservatism.

MACDONALD ELECTED

By The Associated Press

ABERAVON — Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald was reelected to parliament in yesterday's election.

Mr. MacDonald received 17,724 votes, while his Liberal opponent, Capt. W. H. Williams polled 15,624.

The decline of the Liberals thus far is believed in some quarters to foreshadow ultimate verification of the many recent predictions that this election would sound their death knell as a distinct party. The retirement of their defeated leader, former Premier Asquith, if it materialized, would be likely to further their disintegration, it is believed, driving their left wing into the Laborite ranks.

Some observers see in yesterday's polling returns a strong indication of preference for the two-party system, which stood the test of centuries in this country.

With nearly 7,000,000 votes counted, the Laborites had polled only about 625,000 less ballots than the Conservatives, while the Liberals who last year received almost as many votes as the Laborites were far behind. The tabulation at 3 o'clock was:

Conservatives	3,112,108
Labor	2,486,785
Liberals	1,086,047
Constitutionalists	39,109
Independents	53,035
Co-operatives	44,292
Communists	65,785

Women fared rather badly in the constituencies thus far making their declarations.

Lady Astor added another victory to her laurels as candidate for the Sutton division of Plymouth, but at a late hour the only woman elected to keep her company was Miss Wilkinson, Laborite, from Middleboro, East.

Miss Bondfield Defeated

In addition to Miss Margaret Bondfield, member for Northampton in the last parliament and also a member of the MacDonald government, the feminine group in the house suffered the loss of Miss Susan Lawrence, Laborite, who was defeated in Eastham, North, by the male Conservative candidate.

Lloyd George Elected

Former Premier David Lloyd George, Liberal, was re-elected to the House of Commons, polling 16,058 votes to 3,041 for his labor opponent, Prof. Zimmern.

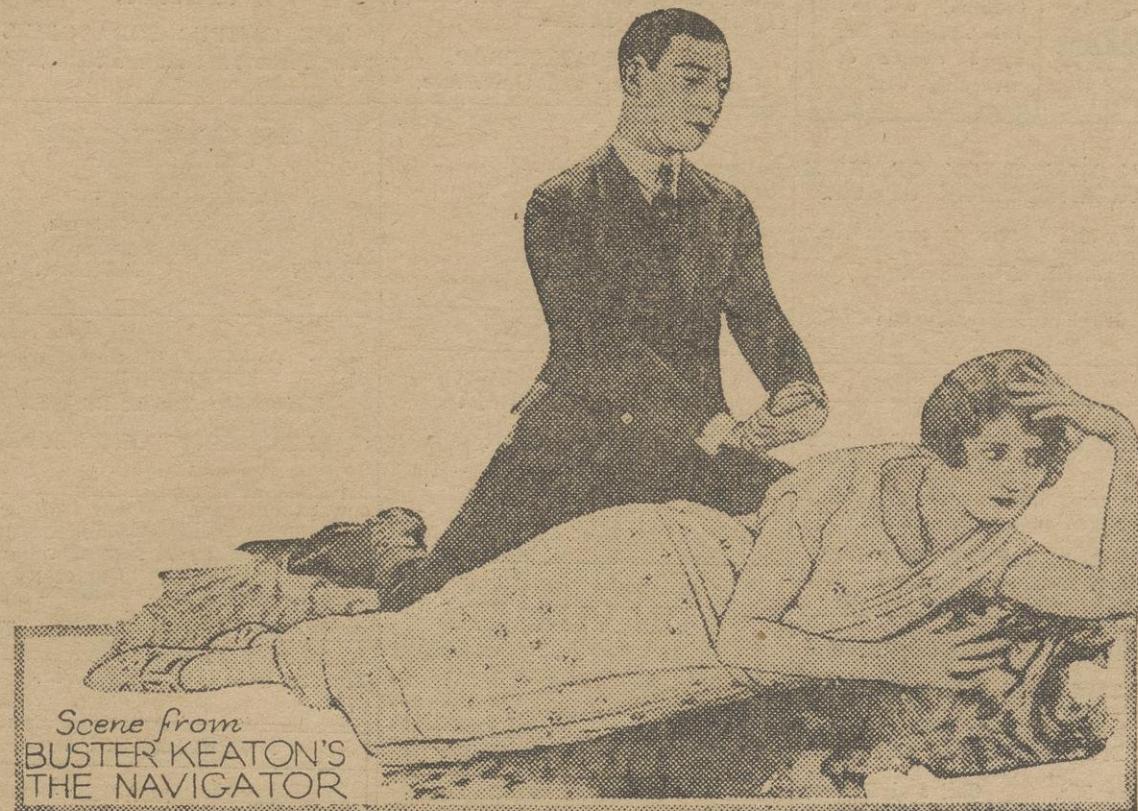

Winston Churchill, contesting as a Constitutional candidate, was elected to the house. Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer in the MacDonald cabinet, retained his seat.

Peace League Official Speaks Here Thursday

Miss Amy Woods, executive secretary of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, will speak at the Labor Temple Thursday night at 8 o'clock.

Her talk, which is open to the public, will be on some vital phase of the peace and international phase religious question. Miss Woods comes here under the auspices of the Madison branch of the league. Mrs. C. D. Ross is acting president. During her stay here, from Thursday to Sunday, Nov. 2, she will speak before groups of university women, in several of the city churches and in nearby towns. During her stay here she will be entertained by Miss Marjorie Johnson.

board offices from 2 to 4 o'clock any afternoon, and he will explain the features of this year's Vodvil which will be given at the Parkway theater on December 5 and 6.

Watch Pumping Station Chimney With Mirrors

A constant watch is kept on the chimney of the water pumping station in an effort to reduce the smoke evil from that source. It was announced by L. A. Smith, superintendent of the water department. A system of mirrors has been installed in such a way that the top of the station smoke stack can be seen by the engineer without leaving the engine room. In this way, the employees at the plant can judge the volume of the smoke and fire accordingly.

Erdman and Klump are Held to Grand Jury

Clarence Erdman and Alfred Klum, Milwaukee, held here on a charge of transporting beer containing more than one-half of one percent alcohol, waived preliminary hearing before Chauncey E. Blake, U. S. court commissioner, and were bound over to the next session of the U. S. grand jury. The men were arrested on the Madison-Portage road with 1,000 gallons of beer in their possession. The hearing was to have been held this afternoon.

"Tenth Woman" is Mostly Mediocre;
Some True Thrills

By A. B. C.

The plot is no worse than most and better than many. A little pathos and several truly western thrills. Beverly Bayne's acting supplies the punch of the cast, but she shows an effort to be youthful, though her fans would probably claim she was as wonderful as ever.

The old story of girlhood lover and jealous husband is touched so lightly as to be funny, not melodramatic. The hero, in spite of his most adequate looks and "strong character" is rather weak in spots. The speed demon wife says "nine women out of ten . . ." well go see what the "Tenth Woman" does.

The flapper wife insists on having her own way in everything. Hubby balks. Desertion. Scenes shift to a ranch. And the flapper learns some lessons.

MADISON PEOPLE WANT PUBLIC LINKS

Claim Budget May Be Made to Provide For Expenditure

Scores of Madison business and professional men and women are calling upon Mayor I. M. Kittleson to impress upon him the need for a municipal golf course here, he announced today. Several days ago, the mayor asked that the public in some way or other manifest its sentiment regarding the proposal to provide a city golf course in Madison.

The number who daily come to the mayor to express their opinion has convinced him that the public is overwhelmingly in favor of the project.

A determined effort is being made to secure a course next year. Funds for the project may be included in the 1925 budget. City officials declare that a course could be secured with an expenditure of not more than $6,000 by utilizing some of the lands now owned by the city.

Robert Duncan, chairman of the special golf course committee, declared Wednesday that the opportunity for a public links is favorable. The committee has secured a large amount of information on municipal courses in other cities which is now being compiled and may be submitted to the common council at its meeting Nov. 14. The links which they inspected are said to be self sustaining and in many cases have paid for themselves in a few years.

Mask and Wig

By CHATTY

The pre-prom play tryouts started off with a bang yesterday, and Pearl Kulp, who is in charge, says that she has some first class material with which to work. But she does send out a cry for men—more men. Is that the typical co-ed? But we can't accuse Pearl, because here she is acting in an official position.

The time for signing up for tryouts has passed technically, but we suspect that if you are nice—and incidentally a fair actor—you may be able to prevail upon those in charge to give you a chance now, even if you didn't sign up in time. Try it, anyway.

The host of actors who are writing their own vehicles is increasing annually. Olga Petrova is one of the best known American actresses who writes her own stuff. Now we have May Robson. It's funny how the practice is so prevalent among the actresses, more so at least than among the actors.

We suspect that May's new play will be very much like all of her recent ones, but that means that it will be good—and funny. "Something Tells Me" as a title sounds fair enough.

We for one are looking forward to seeing the show.

Then there is "The Mollusk" tonight and tomorrow. We've seen some rehearsals and pronounce it first-rate. The cast couldn't be better.

The news that this play may be taken on the road adds even greater interest to it. Since the cast is small—a feature which will make the play no less good—it can be taken on the road very easily and cheaply.

Another Week of Splendid Theatrical Programs Promised

By H. E. R.

Another week of good shows is to be with us again next week. We wish that we could take them all in, but—this business of the aftermath of going up the hill interferes.

Among the good list is "Tarnish," which will show at the Strand the first part of the week. This picture enjoys a good cast composed of May McAvoy, Norman Kerry, Marie Prevost, and Ronald Colman. From one of our letters we have gleaned the information that it is a dandy picture. The last part of the week at the Strand will feature a Parisian underworld story, "The Red Lily," in which Ramon Novarro, Enid Bennett, and Wallace Beery are the main characters. Sounds good?

A Zane Grey story, pictured throughout in colors, and with Jack Holt, Billy Dove, and Kathryn Williams as stars will be shown at the Parkway the first four days of the week. "Wanderer of the Wasteland" is the name of it, and it's good. On Thursday John Philip Sousa and his band will give two two-hour concerts, one starting at 3 p.m. and the other at 8. An interesting fact of Sousa's appearance here is that it is the anniversary of the famous band master's seventieth birthday, and that Keith and Orpheum theaters all over the country will celebrate that anniversary by setting aside time for the playing of his famous pieces and for slides and movies of him.

On Friday and Saturday Clyde Fitch's great stage play, "Lovers' Lane," will be shown on the screen. The stars in it are Robert Ellis and Gertrude Olmstead.

Tom Mix will open the week at the Madison in "The Heart Buster," a western comedy-drama with the accent on the comedy. The supporting cast is composed of Hester Ralston, Cyril Chadwick, and Tom Wilson. Then Bebe Daniels will take over the screen with her new picture, "Dangerous Money," a thriller, with Tom Moore playing opposite and William Powell and Dolores Cassinelli helping out.

"Wedding Bells," a play written by Salisbury Field, author of "Twin Beds," will be the subject of the comedy to be enacted by Melvin Hesselberg and the Majestic players next week. Sounds good, doesn't it?

The "Orph" will start the week with Davidson's Louisville Loons, an orchestra, and Belle Montrose & company in "Her Only Chance." Then the S. S. Leviathan orchestra will captivate the audiences, for we heard them in Detroit this vacation and they are mean.

Exit for this week, H. E. R.

Hear Arguments For
Retrial of Shields

LANCASTER, Wis.—Arguments for and against the granting of a new trial for George Shields, Boscoebel night watchman convicted of assault with intent to do great bodily harm to Bert Flesch during a klan parade in Boscoebel on the night of Aug. 16, 1924, were to have been started in circuit court Thursday afternoon.

William and James McGeever, Dodgeville, attorneys for Shields, will ask that Shields be given a new trial, charging that the court failed to properly instruct the jury concerning just how forceful a man could act in self defense. Dist. Atty. George B. Clementson was to counsel the court not to grant a new trial. If Judge Sherman E. Smalley denies the motion for a new trial, the McGeever will appeal the case to the state supreme court.

BIBLE INFLUENCED AMERICAN IDEALS

FISH
Professor Points Out Affect of Hebraic Literature at Menorah Meeting

"Second to the contribution of England in shaping America was the contribution of Palestine, for the Bible had a great influence in shaping character and ideals, as well as style of writing and even political ideas," Prof. Carl Russell Fish said, in speaking before the Menorah society Wednesday evening about "The Jew in America."

Professor Fish pointed out that there was a tremendous Hebraic influence in American history coming through literature in the formation of character and ideas. The Hebraic terse and driving style of the prophets was used by Lincoln.

The professor laid special emphasis on the fact that in spite of hundreds of years of persecution the Jewish race has maintained itself with a persistency which was made possible through strong discipline working through the family and through religion. "This discipline resulted in a distinct Jewish culture which should not be abandoned," he said.

In addition to Professor Fish's talk, the program included a reading of "The Fourth Estate," by Elizabeth Rabinoff '27, several piano solos played by Harry Pollack, and a talk on "Zionism," by Sam Strauss '27.

CHINESE MURDER ENDS TONG PEACE

Hip Sing and On Leong Tong Leaders Halt Peace Negotiations

NEW YORK — The murder of another Chinese today halted official negotiations in Chinatown which it had been hoped would end the Hip Sing-On Leong tong war.

NEW YORK — An armistice has been declared in the Tong war and it is expected that a nation-wide peace will be formally declared in Chinatown today.

At a meeting of representatives of the warring On Leong and Hip Sing tongs, here last night, at which the Chinese consul general acted as mediator, a treaty was approved. All that remains to bring an end to the hostilities which have raged in at least seven great cities of the country and has caused a score of casualties are the signatures of the leaders of the rival tongs.

It was learned for the first time last night that the latest outbreak of the tong war was the result of a business rivalry between the tongs of 25 years' standing. Police learned from members of the tongs that the treaty of peace to be signed determines the mercantile rights of each side.

FROSH TANK MEN EXCELL IN DIVES

Coach Steinauer Praises Work of Yearlings; Big Squad Out

The freshman diving squad this year shows all the prospects of developing into one of the greatest teams of fancy divers that Wisconsin has ever had, at least such is the opinion of the diving instructors.

There are 16 frosh out for diving alone, and the only difficulty for the coaches is to find some way of cutting down this squad to the conventional sized team. They simply won't be cut. Every man of the 16 seems to have gone into the game with a tremendous amount of grit and pep.

Following is a list of the men who have been plugging so steadily:

R. G. Benson, H. T. Blackford, Charleston, Ill.; W. Blanchard, Racine, Wis.; L. G. Briggs, Lansing, Mich.; E. Butler, C. Case, A. W. Einfeldt, Oak Park, Ill.; M. J. Gentile, Chicago; F. J. Haggerty, Chicago; E. J. Hattleberg, Madison; W. Laidlow, G. M. Perisho, Streath-

GROUP DISCUSSES CAPITAL'S THREAT

Say It Is an Old Trick Which Never Holds True

The threat of manufacturers to close down their industries if La Follette is elected president was discussed by Ralph Axley, president of the Young Men's Progressive association, speaking with the La Follette Flying Squad Wednesday night at Edgerton and Evansville. Mr. Axley declared this same threat had been used as a club over the heads of the workingmen every time La Follette has been a candidate for public office, and that conditions have improved after the election.

George J. Fiedler compared Wisconsin with other states. He stated Wisconsin excels in banking laws, in lower per capita cost of government, in regulation of public utilities and in better living conditions. He traced these advantages to progressive legislation proposed and sponsored by Sen. La Follette during his terms as governor and continued in later years by progressive state government.

J. K. Kyle, president of the Madison chapter of the Young Men's Progressive association, told the story of the Daugherty sleuths who broke into La Follette's office at night in an effort to get some evidences on him and their failure to find evidence. He explained how the people of Wisconsin had confidence in La Follette's honesty and integrity as shown by his long record of public service in the state.

The flying squad will speak at New Glarus, Monticello and Monroe Thursday night. The itinerary for the week end follows: Friday night, Blanchardville, Hollondale and Argyle; Saturday afternoon, Poynette, Wyocena and Rio; Saturday evening, Fall River and Columbus; Monday evening, Beaver Dam, Juneau, Lowell and Reeseville.

Bethel Brotherhood to Meet On Friday

The Brotherhood of Bethel Lutheran church will meet Friday night at the church parlors at 6:30 for a cafeteria supper. A. M. Tandvig and Frederick Lee will be hosts of the evening. Prof. Selmer Larson will give a talk on the history of units of measurements. Visitors are welcome.
