The image shows the front cover of an antique diary. The cover is made of dark, heavily worn material, possibly leather or cloth, with a fine, cross-hatched texture. A metal clasp is attached to the cover, consisting of a rectangular base and a curved, shield-shaped piece. The clasp is positioned vertically in the center of the cover. To the right of the clasp, the word "DIARY" is embossed in a decorative, serif font, with the year "1869" below it. The entire cover is framed by a double-line border. The edges and corners are significantly damaged, with the dark surface material missing, revealing a lighter, fibrous material underneath. There are several large, irregular patches of this lighter material on the cover, particularly on the left side and bottom. The overall appearance is that of a well-used, aged object.

MEMORANDUM.

Throw up your hands
 Fare thee well, we part forever,
 All regrets are now in vain;
 Fate decrees that we must never,
 Never meet on earth again.

If with true love a heart can beat
 I'm sure that love is mine
 Each hour I pray that I may meet
 The faithful love of thine

February 14 1869

The course of true love is particularly crooked

'Tis said that absence conquers love.
 But, Oh! believe it not;
 We tried, alas, its power to prove,
 Yet thou art not forgot.

MEMORANDUM.

I long have loved thee - thou art dearer far
 Than all mortality beside can boast;
 My pride, my glory - thou, my chosen star!
 I loved thee well, but now I love thee most.

Those men who peer out at you from a small forest of beard and whiskers do not, as a general thing, amount to much - their ideas seem to have run to hair and they are usually irresolute & unsettled
 The course o

She is all my fancy painted him
 She's lovely, He's divine;
 But his heart - it is another
 And it never can be mine
 All the age when boys heads are off having their brains sent in jealousy is a green eyed lobster

Precian MEMORANDUM. Bend.

Throw up your chin & bulge your chest
And assume the form of a letter S
Like a kangaroo your arms extend
And you will have the Precian Bend
Friendship p.

There's not a brighter gem on earth
Then Friendship strong and true;
And none more lasting and more firm
Then that I feel for you.
Oh! never may this sacred guest,
That's entered at my heart,
While I with life and thought am blest
Take wings and so depart

When absent far from those we love,
Is there a charm the heart can fetter?
When years roll on and still we rove,
Is there no cure? ah! yes - a letter

Lucie MEMORANDUM. April 16.

Oh! women's hearts - cannot forget;
The love that won it first;
She'll cherish it till lips are set;
The feelings early nursed.

Oh! can you think this heart untrue
That beats with fervent love for you
Or that my vows are insincere
And that I faithless will appear

Deep deep in my heart
Thy sweet face is set
Though absence may sadden
I'll never forget
From memory's page the hand of time
None thy name shall blot
Forget! forsake me if thou wilt
Thou shalt never be forgot

MEMORANDUM

CASH ACCOUNT.—JANUARY.

DATE. Faithful Heart. RECEIVED. PAID.

One undivided, trusting heart;
 When other friends have flown
 Will joy & gladness see impart
 And whisper, "tis thine own"
 Whatever may betide thee here,
 That faithful heart is thine,
 And never shalt thou cherish fear,
 But on its love recline.

Away with those who pain would make
 A score of hearts their altar,
 And when they cannot stay, will break
 And cause true love to falter.
 Give me the heart that hath that love
 Which naught on earth can sever
 Then I no more <sup>away</sup> will rove
 But cherish it forever

When other friends are round thee;
 And other hearts are thine,
 When other days have crowned thee,
 More fresh and green than mine.
 Then think how sad and lonely

This wretched heart will be
 Which while it beats—beats only
 Beloved one for thee.

(Oh)

Yet do not think I doubt thee,
 I know thy truth remains;
 I would not live without thee

For all the world contains Thou art the star that guides me
 Along life's troubled sea;
 Whatever fate betides me
 This heart still turns to thee

Forget thee! yes, when you pale moon
 Forget's to aid me in the night
 Forget thee! may not till at noon
 The sun forget's to give us light

Forget thee! no, the very thought
 Shakes my hand & rattle white teeth
 Forget thee! 'tis with danger fraught
 For fortune would long prospects bright

Forget thee! who to me art dear
 On whom alone I can rely Forget thee! who would'st thou tear
 Me to sickness and to die

Forget thee! not until the flowers
 Forget to shed their fragrance round
 Forget thee! who in yonder tower
 Spread'st smiling smiles all around

Heart's Readings

DOLLS.

CTS.

I pray thee dearest one recall
 Those fearful words of thine
 And let thy heart once turn to love
 Once more to love incline
 Oh! let thy pure and holy breath
 In tones soft pure, & sweet
 That kindness by its power may
 The wanderer homeward lead

'Tis true that when the tempter came
 I fell within the snare
 But wouldst thou by unkindly stories
 My soul drive to despair
 And cast thou out and forget the past
 And still be strict and just
 And forgive me or wazy first offence
 And in the future trust

Then think, Oh think, of all our love
 And all these scenes so dear
 Ere sorrows cloud a shadow cast
 Or we had learned to fear
 And as their memories fill thy heart
 Oh! bid me turn and live
 And drop a tear upon my fault
 Which says, I thee forgive

When this you see remember me
