GOPHER GAME LARGE FACTOR IN STANDINGS

Third Place Likely for Badgers if Basket Team Wins Tonight

THE LINEUP

Wisconsin		Minnesota
Knapp	rf	Oss
Taylor	lf	Arneston
Zulfer	c	McDonald
Weston	rg	Hammer
Caesar	lg	Lawler

After winning four conference basketball games in succession on the home floor, the Badgers left last night for Minneapolis to battle the Gophers, whom they defeated by the score of 28 to 12 less than three weeks ago.

The result of tonight's game, the hardest for Wisconsin until the Chicago contest, March 12, will have much to do with the final standing. A victory will boost the Badger average to six games won and three lost, a percentage of 667. If they can successfully dispose of the northmen their chances of defeating both Ohio and Michigan on next week's trip are more than good. Both teams were defeated on the home floor during the last two weeks.

Gophers Gain Strength

The lineup which will oppose Coach Lowman's men tonight will be strengthened by the return of Oss who was kept out of the first game between the two teams on account of sickness. The Gophers are always dangerous on their home floor and with one defeat already administered by Wisconsin, Dr. Cooke and his men will be after revenge.

The present strength of the Minnesota five was best demonstrated Monday night against Illinois, when it took the lead in the first half, and lost the game only by a few points when the Suckers rallied in the second period.

Face Rigid Test

If the Badgers display the same brand of basketball which defeated Illinois last Saturday, Minnesota will be beaten decisively, but the test will be a strong one after the four games at home, and, if it can be met, will practically assure Captain Knapp and his men of at least a third place rating in the final standing.

HARESFOOT COACH TRIES OUT ACTORS

George A. Beane, the coach of the 1920 Haresfoot production, "Mary's Lamb," arrived yesterday, and undertook immediate rehearsal with the tentative cast picked by the Haresfoot club. Two men for each part have been chosen by the club, and they read through the play separately before the coach. His decision in regard to the cast will be announced in tomorrow morning's Cardinal. Cast rehearsals will continue through today and tonight, as well as chorus tryouts which will be completed today at 1:30 p. m., at the Engineering auditorium.

Y. W. C. A. GETS 1,100 MEMBERS

Drive for 1,500 Will be Continued—Nominations Are Made

About 1,100 are now members of the university Y. W. C. A. as a result of the membership drive held this week to increase the organization from 600 to 1,500 members.

"To keep right on until we reach our quota of 1,500 is our plan now," says Mary Anderson, secretary of the association, "even though the drive technically closed at noon on Friday. We were deceived as to the number we were getting because so many girls who were already members signed up a second time and when we went through the list we found nearly 200 duplicate names."

At the Y. W. C. A. meeting held yesterday noon at Lathrop the nominating committee gave their nominations for the Y. W. officers for 1920, nominations being made from the floor in addition to those previously approved by the cabinet. Nominations are as follows, the names starred being those of the nominees of the meeting-at-large.

President—Winifred Titus, Mildred Rogers, Constance Kinne*.

Vice president—Helen Cheetham, Margaret Thomas, Ima Winchell*.

Secretary—Helen Kasbeer, Josephine Walters, Louise Haley*.

Treasurer—June Gray, Ellen Cornell, Frieda Rummel*.

Helen Harper was appointed undergraduate field representative.

To have an organization large enough to send ten delegates to the national conference of the Y. W. C.

UNUSABLE PROM TICKETS TO BE REDEEMED AT PAR

Glee Club Concert Will be Given at High School Instead of at Fuller

Because many who had planned to attend Prom Feb. 13, will be unable to go May 14, "Bud" Follett announced yesterday that all wishing to return Prom tickets and who do so before April 15, may have the purchase price refunded. Such persons should notify Ludlow F. North, chairman of the ways and means committee, at 640 North Henry street, or call B. 171.

The Glee club concert that is to precede Prom will take place in the auditorium of the Madison high school instead of at the Fuller theater. There will be only the evening performance, the matinee having been called off.

The fact that the place for the concert has been changed has necessitated the printing of an entire new lot of tickets. The holders of Glee club tickets will be permitted to exchange them for new tickets after April 20. Those who wish to exchange entire blocks of tickets should call George Bunge, F. 85.

EVERY CO-ED A LIFE-SAVER, DOLPHIN PLAN

New Club of Mermaids to Make Mendota Safe for Mere Man

Midlake canoe upsets may become a genuine pleasure instead of an annoyance to the male portion of the campus population if the Dolphin club, new organization of co-eds interested in swimming, is fully successful in carrying out one of its objects in making every woman in the university a potential life-saver.

Oh, danger of damp demise, where is thy sting, when there is always the prospect of being rescued by a beautiful mermaid—and in leap year, too! When the canoeing season sets in the "fool who rocks the boat" may cease to be regarded as such a daffy person, after all.

Evelyn Voss was elected president of the new club at its organization meeting; Hildegard Wiperman was chosen head of swimming, and Valdis Benedeke, business manager. It is expected that 35 will qualify as charter members in tests to be held in the near future.

The club is working for endurance swimming, life saving, long distance swimming, and fancy diving. It is hoped that in the future every girl in the university will be able to swim well enough to save lives. The Dolphins will present what is o-fishally heralded as the best girls' swimming exhibition ever staged at the university in Lathrop in four weeks. Members of the club will show every kind of diving, swimming and life-saving.

Those who were present at the first meeting of the club included Marion Sawyer, Julie Watson, Olga Andersen, Elizabeth Waterman, Helen Kahn, Bess Blanding, Mabel Winter, Helen Pattee, Frances Beecher, Janet Lindsay, Marguerite Croskey, Jessie McGrath, Gertrude Haagland, Frances Drake, Ruth Langmade, Beth McFarland, Dorothy Westendorf, Evelyn Voss, Hildegard Wiperman, and Valdis Benedeke.

HAROLD F. LURVY, '22, DIES AT INFIRMARY

Harold F. Lurvy, 20 years old, a sophomore in the College of Agriculture, died at 7:30 yesterday morning in the infirmary of palpitation of the heart. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Lurvy, of Oakfield, Wis., were present at the time of his death, which came after an illness of ten days.

He entered school as a freshman in 1917, served in the aviation service from Oct. 12, 1918, to July 3, 1919, and re-entered the university last fall. He was a member of Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity, on the agricultural football team, and a member of Saddle and Siroloin club.

LIMIT ATTENDANCE AT MILITARY BALL

At a meeting of the Military ball committee last night general plans for the affair were taken up. In order to prevent an overcrowded condition at the ball it was decided to limit the sale of tickets to 400 couples. Plans for decorating also were discussed.

270 ATHLETES TO TAKE PART IN RELAY EVENT

Frats, Sororities and Prep Schools Represented at Carnival Tonight

Track athletes to the number of 270 will race for various military and prep school, Greek letter organization, and individual honors tonight in the fourteenth annual Relay Carnival, which will be held at 7:30 in the gymnasium annex.

Culver, St. Johns, and Shattuck military academies all have sent speedy runners and the relays between the two local high schools will by no means be slow. Exactly 25 fraternities and 18 sororities are to be represented. Besides the relay races there will be individual competition in a series of track and field events, including the 40-yard dash, hurdles, high jump, pole vault, broad jump, and shot put.

Put Shot for Trophy

A feature of the field events is the shot put competition in which eight of the best weight men of the school are entered to contest for the Muck's trophy. This cup, which was held last year by Guy Sundt, was presented by Arlie Mucks, '17, who holds the world's indoor record for the shot put, to be held for one year by the best man of the university in that event.

Because Sundt will be with the basketball team in Minnesota tonight he was given a chance to defend his claim to the trophy yesterday. His distance was 39 feet 11 inches.

Six Men in Relay Teams

On each fraternity relay squad will be six men who will run one lap apiece. Because of the number of frats entered there will be nine heats and the races will be against time. The sorority relays will be divided into two heats, nine teams to a heat. Four men will be on each of these teams. The starter is to run a half mile, the second man, one-sixth mile, the third, one-quarter mile, and the last one mile.

GYM TEAM TO MEET MILWAUKEE Y. M. C. A.

The varsity gymnasts will compete against the Milwaukee Y. M. C. A. in a return gymnastic meet in Milwaukee tonight.

When the Milwaukee acrobats were here Jan. 31, the Badgers overwhelmed them by a score of 28 to 16, but three of their best men who did not compete at that time will be on the squad that will oppose Wisconsin tonight. It is the opinion of Coach F. E. Schlatter that his men will have to put up some stiff competition in order to repeat their victory.

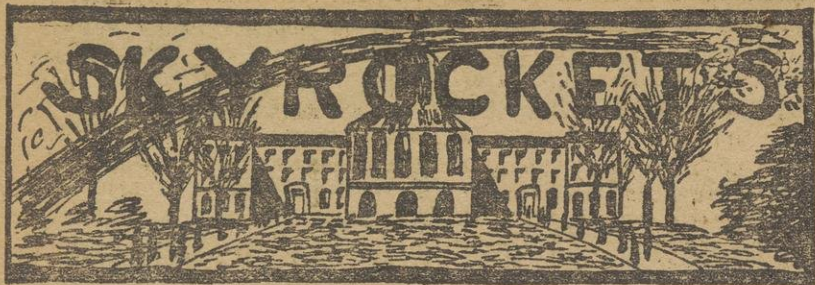

The squad is composed of Tasche, Kletzein, Holcombe, Harris, O'Shea, Hagan, Hessemann, Golley, Aanesen, Kates and Kurtin.

PRESBYTERIAN HEADQUARTERS FOR UNIVERSITY

Hostess House and Dormitory Will be Ready
Next Fall

A social center, hostess house, and dormitory for Presbyterian students at the university will be ready for use next fall if the present plans of the Wisconsin synod are carried out. Property on the corner of Murray and State streets has been purchased, on which two large houses and two smaller houses now stand.

One of the larger houses will be remodeled this summer to provide a social center and hostess house for the Presbyterian students, of whom there are at present about 900 in the university. There will be rooms for special social gatherings, bible classes, library, and kitchens.

Can Entertain Visitors

Accommodations will be provided where students can entertain friends and relatives when they are in Madison. This house will probably be in charge of Mrs. Jessie W. McKee, dean of Presbyterian women at the university.

The other large house is to be remodeled and to be used as a dormitory until a new building can be put up. It has not been decided yet whether this dormitory will be for men or women.

Start Study Classes

As soon as these buildings are equipped, the Rev. M. G. Allison, Presbyterian student pastor, and Mrs. McKee intend to start classes in Bible study, which will be held at regular hours throughout the week, where students can take up subjects of a religious nature that cannot be included in the university curriculum.

Money for this work is to be raised in a state-wide drive which is to start immediately.

URBANA, Ill.—One hundred and twenty-three men were initiated into the University of Illinois Republican club. Tentative plans for the operation of the mock convention which will be staged in the spring were outlined. It is the aim of the committee on membership to have every Republican in the university in the organization before the end of the year. With the plans for the convention safely under way, more attention will be given to nationalization.

HALF OF GOPPHER STUDENTS HELP SUPPORT SELVES

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—It has been estimated at the university of Minnesota that about half of the students contribute to their own support. Out of 6,030 students attending the university, 3,000 are either partially or wholly earning their own way. Among the men there are 1,088 and among the women 265 who are wholly self-supporting. There are 1,775 men and 310 women who are helping make their expenses.

THE NEW FORUM'S PATH

ENTERING the field with a new set of principles, the New Forum has several possibilities ahead of it for the future. The organization may be broad in its membership and in its appeal for student support. A Forum that is open and above-board in all its movements, that does not limit its appeal to class or clique, has a real place to fill at Wisconsin.

But there are pitfalls ahead for any organization of this nature if it follows the path toward small group control. The old Forum of three years ago moved in mysterious ways. Just what it stood for on many questions was unknown. It preferred the dark cloak of secrecy to the open light, where all could scan its membership and the ideas it fostered. Any group which goes on this tack is bound to fall into ill repute. The old Forum was not long in falling into the deep hole of oblivion when student opinion got "wise."

If the New Forum can ward off the stigma of small group control it can grow to big proportions at Wisconsin. There are ways and ways of getting at the truth of things. Let every angle of a question be given a hearing. Getting all points of view, analyzing, valuing, and assimilating them is the effective goal to aim for, rather than obstinate attempts to monopolize the public eye with one-track opinions.

The New Forum has a big opportunity before it as a clearing house of student opinion that excludes none and does not stress heavily on the few. Unhampered acquisition of the truth is a big present day need. Students who desire to keep themselves mentally flexible will devote time to taking part in unbiased discussions.

The New Forum has a wide avenue on which to take its course. If properly directed it need not veer off into the dark alley from which there is no return.

A LIBRARY SERVICE

FOUNTAIN pens carry only a limited amount of ink. All students are likely to discover at some inopportune moment that their fountain pens have gone dry. Almost all who study in the library use fountain pens while there. None of them carry pens that do not need refilling.

Dozens of times each day students attempt to find an available bottle of ink somewhere in the library. Since the library does not have such a refill station, students are often handicapped in their work and find it advisable to quit studying and go home. Students don't carry bottles of ink around in their pockets.

If one is to judge by the number of students whose fountain pens run dry while working in the library, an available bottle of ink seems to be a necessary part of the reading room equipment. Reference work cannot be done without making notations. Students would appreciate a library service in the form of an ink filling-station.

Coach at Columbia opposes boxing lessons as a graduation requirement because they'd cause cauliflower ears. Odd indeed, when plenty of grads are eager enough to show they have the "earmarks" of an education.

What the College Editors Say

MILITARY TRAINING

While the nation's lawmakers are discussing the pending bill providing universal military training for the young men of the country it would be interesting and perhaps profitable to sound the sentiment of college men on this question. It is known that the present bill will meet with bitter opposition in Congress but it is fairly certain that some form of compulsory military training will be urged by preparedness advocates.

A plan favored by many embraces a standardized system of military instruction in schools instead of in camps under the direction of the army. Higher institutions of learning would undoubtedly be included in this program.

Many advantages of this proposal are apparent at a glance. For instance, if all graduates of technical colleges were also thoroughly trained in the science of war their skill could be put at the disposal of the government with the minimum of time lost in preparation. The transition from civilian life to places in the military organization could be effected without first putting the men through several months of military instruction under trained officers who are needed elsewhere.

Some of the disadvantages of making military instruction a required part of all college curriculums are apparent. Considerable difficulty would be met in arranging military courses which would not seriously conflict with routine work in other departments of instruction. The work required of advanced students in practically all lines of specialization allows very little time for other activities aside from recreation. Nor could these courses be cut down without seriously impairing their value.

Indications are that this question of military training may become the center of as much strife and wrangling as the League of Nations issue. The opinion of university people on that matter aroused nation-wide comment and was probably not without influence. Would not a test vote on this question also be worth while?—Ohio State Lantern.

Y. W. C. A. CAMPAIGN NETS 1,100 MEMBERS

A., which is to be held in Cleveland this spring is the aim of the present membership drive. Committee workers lay stress on the importance of being well represented at this conference, for which there can be only one representative for every 100 active members. Since nearly one-third of the members in the university do not belong to churches and are hence not active members, it is estimated that the association must number 1,500 before it will include the necessary 1,000 active members.

Since the subject of the Cleveland convention is to be the question of the personal basis for membership instead of the Evangelical church membership basis, the two sides of the issue were presented in short talks at the meeting yesterday by Margaret Wensley for the church membership basis, and Mary White for the personal basis.

A vote was taken on the question with a result overwhelmingly in favor of the personal basis.

Another meeting will be held in about two weeks for the final vote on the nominations.

MISS ANDERSON TO SPEAK

Miss Mary Anderson, secretary of the university Y. W. C. A., will speak at Chadbourne hall chapel at 9:15 Sunday morning. Her subject will be "The Business of Being a Friend." All university women are invited to attend. 28x3

A meeting will be called shortly for the purpose of organizing a club to be composed of students from Superior, Wis. Suggestions or ideas regarding this proposed club should be communicated to G. M. Lundberg, F. 367 or E. 4421. Definite time and place of meeting to be announced later.

ANSWERS BADGER CRITICS

To the Editor of The Cardinal:

I feel called upon to reply to the accusation made against The Badger management in the communication in Wednesday's Cardinal.

It is true that this year, as in other years, organizations are charged for space in The Badger. Every organization, whether composed of men or women, must sign a contract for such space as they may desire before any copy is accepted. The entire staff was informed to this effect when the work on the book began, and the ruling has been enforced in every case. Thus, it is impossible for an organization to get copy in The Badger unless there is a signed contract evidencing its right to be accepted. Furthermore, no discriminating rates have been made to any organizations; all have been charged alike.

The accusation that White Spades, Iron Cross and Star and Arrow are to be given pages free is false and based on anything but the real facts. It is true, that, up to date, these organizations have not signed contracts, but there is no indication that they are not going to do so; neither is there any reason to believe that they are to receive space gratis. They will be handled exactly as all other organizations have been handled.

It is the policy of The Badger to give everyone a square deal. There is nothing in our dealings or workings which we are not willing and glad to disclose to any student who is interested enough to inquire. We feel that it is our duty, as a campus organization, to be open at any time to inspection and criticism. If any student is interested in knowing how The Badger is managed, or of its workings, we shall be only too glad to open our records to inspection. But, on the other hand, we do object to being branded as "grafters" by persons who have made no effort to investigate or determine the facts.

C. WESLEY TRAVERS,
Editor-in-chief of 1920 Badger.

A "RED ARROW" VETERAN ON MILITARY TRAINING

To the Editor of The Cardinal:

In response to your request for the opinions of ex-service men on universal training, I submit the following as my personal observations.

I served on two fronts with the infantry as an enlisted man and as an officer. Like nearly every other ex-service man I hate the very mention of war or military training. I am whole-heartedly in favor of a League of Nations as the best antidote for future wars.

But a few of us have some misgivings that even a League of Nations is going to be able to immediately put an end to all war and rebellion for all time. Is it not better then that we have a citizen army that would be available in case of necessity?

I am sure that those who served in France and saw literally thousands of men killed because of insufficient officers feel, as I do, that they do not wish young men of any future generation to share that fate. None was at fault particularly. Officers had to be made from citizens in a few months, or promoted from inferior ranks in the regular army to the command of regiments and divisions. They could not help but be inefficient. Men were hurried from farms and factories in America to the front line in France in a few short weeks because we had to have men quickly. Thousands of those men and officers would still be living if they had had a few months of military drill before war was declared.

The chief objection to universal military service seems to be that it may lead to a militaristic spirit in this country. Militarism is a desire for war. Who dislikes the idea of war more, the man who has had military drill, or the man who was never in uniform?

If there is any one thing that brings vividly to a man the idea that "war is hell," it is the military drill, the camps, the necessary unfairness of army life, and the overbearing discipline of the military organization.

Yet, if such a universal training law goes into effect we can always feel that we can fight effectively if we must, and that American lives will not be needlessly sacrificed again as they were in the last war.

JOHN G. BAKER,
32nd Division.

TEXAS AND ECONOMICS

To the Editor of The Cardinal:

It is kind of The Cardinal to make mention of the interest of the graduate students from Texas in the University of Wisconsin. They are attracted here by the greatness of the institution, as it is known in Texas and the rest of the world. By greatness, we refer to the distinguished professors and administrative officers who constitute in large measure the life of the institution. While buildings and equipment are very essential, they would count for but little without such men to use them in teaching and research.

Some errors somehow crept into The Cardinal's reference to Texas institutions. These I wish to correct in justice to them. The Texas Agricultural Experiment station is a part of the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college, a separate institution. The University of Texas and the Agricultural and Mechanical college are both standard institutions, but have not as yet developed graduate schools quite equal as yet to that of the University of Wisconsin. Both are the pride of Texas and both have well developed departments of economics.

As stated, Texas is a state of wonderful possibilities, and it is difficult to conceive of anything, educational or otherwise, which may not be hers in due course of time.
B. YOUNGBLOOD.

A CORRECTION

To the Editor of The Cardinal:

There appeared in a recent issue of The Cardinal a statement erroneous and misleading in the extreme; namely, that the University of Texas has no Department of Economics. The fact is that that institution always has maintained, is still maintaining, and will continue to maintain a respectable Department of Economics. It is true that a considerable number of Texas students are attracted to the University of Wisconsin, but, in most instances they come here for the purpose of doing graduate work, and not because the opportunity of studying the social sciences is denied them in their own state.

Twelve members of the Badger Ski club will go to Watertown Sunday for a small tournament staged by the Ski club of that city.

There will be several riders outside the Badger Ski club in the meet, but university men will make up about half the competitors. The Watertown Ski club slide is about the size of the jump here.

This is the eighth ski meet attended by the Badger Ski club this year, and will probably be the last.

NOTED WOMAN LEADER COMES TO CONFERENCE

Committee of 150 Plans
Co-eds' Part of Religious Meet

Fourteen years affiliation with the Young Women's Christian association is the record of Miss Bertha Conde, who will address an all-university convocation, March 5, in connection with the Religious conference next week.

As national student secretary, and later as senior student secretary of the national board, she has represented the student associations of the United States on the executive committee of the Student Volunteer Movement for foreign missions, as well as being representative for North America on the general executive committee of the World Student Christian federation.

Helped Raise Big Fund

Through her books, "Personal Evangelism" and "The Business of Being a Friend," as well as through her addresses to students, she has enlisted many for Christian social service at home and abroad. Last year she was especially active in raising the sum of $200,000 among women students of this country for the Student Fellowship fund, and did much to make this fund the overwhelming demonstration it was of the earnestness of students, and their capacity for real personal sacrifice.

Miss Conde was born in New York state, and is a direct descendant of a French Huguenot family conspicuous in French history. She was graduated from Smith college in 1895, and studied theology in the Free Church college, Glasgow, Scotland. After being two years a member of the Elmira college faculty, she began her connection with Y. W. C. A. work.

Expect Large Results

Representative organizations and leaders on the campus are expecting vital results in the lives of university women from the approaching religious conference.

Three basic benefits should be achieved if satisfactory relief is to be effective for campus problems. Miss Anderson, the new Y. W. C. A. secretary, in resume says:

"It is our hope that the girls through the incentive of the conference learn first to unselfishly thing of university needs, second to discuss and act in constructive policies, and third to pledge personal responsibility in shaping public opinion."

The office of the dean of women reports more than 2,200 women who, as students this year, should be reached by the important movements in university progress if they are to acquire a comprehensive outlook on the world outside the personal routine of individual interests.

A central committee comprised of 150 young women delegated from Y. W. C. A., Motor Board, S. G. A., Des Moines conference, and other organizations, are at work planning for the coming conference. They will meet Sunday at 3 p. m., Lathrop parlors for final discussion of plans.

FRESHMAN WOMEN PUT ON MOCK PROM

The first feature of Freshman week-end will be the Mock Prom held this afternoon in Lathrop parlors.

Green Button members will act as hostesses to all university women and feature a boxing match between George Washington and John Bull, election of prom queen and chairman, and various other laugh-provoking hits. A peppy orchestra will play for dancing between stunts.

Freshman women are especially urged to invite their junior advisors to the affair. An admission fee of 25 cents will be charged, and the proceeds will make up a fund to be sent to the Constantinople College for Women.

MEET PURPLE TEAM IN TANK

Varsity Swimmers Go to Evanston—Inter-College Match Here

The varsity swimming team will compete with Northwestern in a dual swimming meet at Evanston tonight.

The strength of the Purple squad is not known but Coach Joe Steinauer expressed his opinion to the effect that the Badgers gave a good chance to win, for the entire squad is in top condition for the fray.

The team includes Bach, Black, Bloodgood, Carter, Collins, Davies, Haldeman, Kidder, Koch, Krumm, Lamboley, S. D. Peterson, E. M. Peterson, Stark, Benson, Breidster.

Inter-College Matches

Inter-college swimming and wrestling meets will be held in the gymnasium this afternoon at 2:30.

Both meets are open to all students in the university and college letters will be awarded winners of the wrestling bouts, men who place first in the swimming events, and to members of the college team which wins the tank contest.

Eight Swimming Events

Events will include fancy diving, plunge for distance, 40 yard swim, 100 yard swim, 220 yard swim, 100 yard back stroke, 100 yard breast stroke, and 160 yard relay.

Coach John Neu, boxing instructor, will have charge of the wrestling, which will be held in the wrestling room on the first floor.

KANSAS LABOR LAW TEAM WINS DEBATE

The regular debate that had been scheduled by Athenae literary society for last night was postponed until next Friday.

The meeting was featured by installation of new officers, including Fletcher Cohn, president; D. H. Stiles, censor; I. Arnold Perstein, treasurer; A. L. Jordan, secretary, and C. W. Meyers, recording scribe.

Six nations are represented in Athenae's membership this semester. Mohindra Bahadur of India, and Austin Alvarez gave brief talks on conditions in their native countries. An impromptu debate was held on the availability of Herbert Hoover for president.

BADGER GRAD'S AD SPEECH IS QUOTED BY TRADE PAPER

Members of the Advertising club are feeling proud these days, for, besides having such men as E. S. Patterson and Wallace Meyer speak to them, they have boosted the club more than they really had expected. Printers' Ink, a journal for advertisers, devotes space in its February issue to the talk which Mr. Meyer, secretary of the Charles F. W. Nichols company and a graduate of the university, recently gave before the Advertising club.
