NINE TO MEET MICHIGAN AND OHIO THIS WEEK

Two-day Tour May Decide Conference Standing for Badgers

BIG TEN STANDING

	W.	L.	Pct.
Michigan	2	0	1000
Iowa	2	0	1000
Wisconsin	2	2	.500
Illinois	1	1	.500
Purdue	1	1	.500
Indiana	1	3	.250
Ohio State	0	1	.000

With two hard games scheduled for this week, both away from home, the Badger baseball team will leave Thursday noon on a trip which will take them to Columbus, Ohio, and Ann Arbor, Mich., for games both Friday and Saturday. The Buckeyes will be met in the first game and the Wolverines in the second.

Michigan Dark Horse

Little is known about the strength of the Ohio State, except that it held Michigan to a 3 to 1 score last Saturday. Michigan, however, is considered the most probable contender for the conference title and is known to have the best pitcher in the conference in its captain, Parks. This twirler is in only his third year at Michigan, but last year as a sophomore practically won the Big Ten championship for his team single handed. His record this year has been as good as last, and he will be a hard man for the Badger hitters to find.

Iowa Humbled Suckers

The supposedly strong Illinois team lost a thirteen inning battle to Iowa at Urbana, Saturday. It was the second game of the season for the Suckers and the first for the Hawkeyes. Hamilton, Iowa pitcher, worked the whole game and allowed only eight hits in thirteen innings. Purdue lost to Illinois and tied Iowa. Ohio has played but one game, that with Michigan, and Indiana has lost three and won one.

If the Badgers can return from their trip with two victories they should be well near first place by the end of the week. The hardest problem Coach Kent has to solve is with his pitchers, since he has only two men available, and no one to use as a relief hurler.

MORTAR BOARD SUPPER TICKETS GOING RAPIDLY

Benefit Affair at Barnard Court
Promises to be Big Turnout

Tickets are now on sale at Main Hall and at Lathrop for the Mortar Board supper, to be held Thursday night at Barnard. The tickets are reported to be going fast, and a large crowd is expected.

The supper is to be in cafeteria style, served in one dining room and Barnard court, while the other dining room is to be reserved for dancing. An especially good supper is promised.

Fraternities and sororities have been asked not to serve supper Thursday night. It is expected that most of them will comply with the request.

The proceeds are to be given to a scholarship fund for an annual $100 scholarship to be awarded to a university woman by the faculty committee on scholarship.

FIFTY FROSH WIN AWARDS

Scholarships of $100

The University Board of Regents at its last meeting made appointments to the fifty scholarships of one hundred dollars each to first year students. The University requires that the applicants for these scholarships be regularly registered as students from the state of Wisconsin, who can show a good record of scholarship and who are in need of financial assistance. Bonus students are not eligible for the Wisconsin scholarships. Following is the list of students who will receive the scholarships:

College of Letters and Science—Arnold Andfield, Anna Aase, Dagny Borge, August E. Droebe, Bernice J. Eiver, Aileen J. Geiger, Helen H. Geller, Edna L. Groth, John Kosuck, Bertha T. Lund, Dorothy Roderrick, William J. Tannowitz.

ANNUAL SENIOR SWING OUT NOW SET FOR JUNE 4

General Chairman Announces
Committees to Handle
Arrangements

The annual senior "Swing-out" will be held this year on Friday, June 4, at 6:15 p. m. on the upper campus. It is planned to have the ceremonies take place on Lincoln Terrace, and many novel ideas have been introduced into the program by Winifred Titus, general chairman of the arrangements. Plans are already well under way and a carefully chosen committee is working hard to perfect arrangements.

The time has been placed earlier than in previous years so that the ceremony will be over early enough to permit engagements later in the evening and people will not have to disturb the procession by leaving early. The following committees have been appointed:

Assistant chairman: Elizabeth Chandler.

Stunts: Eleanor Riley, chairman; Julia Hanks, Dorothy Ware, Marjorie Severence.

Music: Helen Owen, chairman; Helen Harper, Zirian Blish, Dorothy Bacon, Margaret Thomas.

Decorations: Lydia Lacey, chairman; Isabel Bacon, Eleanor Blish, Esther Haven, Mary Adeline Wilcox.

Programs: Sada Buckmaster, Mary Parkinson, Ruth Storms, Frances Tucker.

Publicity: Marion Goodwin, chairman; Hildegard Wipperman, Katherine Rosenberry, Julie Watson.

Procession: Elizabeth Chandler, chairman; Marguerite Shepherd, Leah Sutcliff, Katherine Wheeler, Marion Strassburger, Louise Regan, Orrel Baldwin, Helen Snyder, Margaret Craighill.

JUNIOR MEET TODAY
There will be a short, important meeting of the junior class today at 11:30 a. m. in Music hall. All juniors are expected to attend.

ALLEN DAVEY.

JUNIOR PLAY TICKETS PLACED ON OPEN SALE

Pasteboards May be Secured at Main University
Buildings

Open sale of tickets for the Junior play, "Cheating Cheaters," will start today. Tables will be placed in University hall, the Biology building, Ag. hall, P. E. P. and Engineering buildings. The large number of mail order sales has cut down the number of tickets available for the evening performance and the reserved seats will probably be sold out by the middle of the week.

SPECIAL MATINEE

A special matinee of "Cheating Cheaters" will be given Saturday afternoon. It was learned late last night that the evening performance was practically sold out and the committee decided that a matinee would be necessary. Tickets are being printed and will be on sale this afternoon.

"Cheating Cheaters" is the work of Max Marcin, one of the most successful and popular of the younger playwrights. It is a farce melodrama in four acts. During its phenomenal run in New York it captivated press and public alike. The play is not a crook play in the accepted sense of the word, but it is a farcical satire on the ways and machinations of crooks.

In the first act an aggregation of crooks led by Helen Harper is presented under the guise of the Brockton family. They have assembled for the purpose of striking an acquaintance with a neighboring Palmer family and through the social relations thus established gain possession of the celebrated Palmer jewels. Intimacy is made easy through the predilection of Tom Palmer for Nan Brockton.

A plan is formed which demands quick action because of the suspected presence in the neighborhood of a mysterious but celebrated detective named Ferris. In the second act, the audience discovers that the apparently respectable Palmers are also a gang of crooks whose objective under the lead of James McKivergin, is the Brockton jewelry. From this point to the end of the play the action consists of a series of surprises and clever situations. The New York Times called "Cheating Cheaters" the best farce melodrama since "Seven Keys to Baldpate."

MANAGER PICKS STAR ACTS FOR VARSITY CIRCUS

Twenty-seven Novelty Stunts
Chosen for Big Show; More
Clowns Needed

At the circus tryouts held in the stock pavilion last Saturday, 27 typical circus acts, representing talent from various university organizations, were chosen for the Big Show to be held on the lower campus, May 22.

The work is progressing favorably in every department and the actual list of novelties is practically arranged. There is still room, however, for eight more clever acts. These will be chosen at the final tryouts to be held in the stock pavilion next Saturday afternoon.

There is also plenty of opportunity for any one with a strain of slap stick comedy in his make up to participate in the circus as fifty clowns are needed and only 15 have so far been secured. All applications should be made at the circus office in the Union building.

FACULTY STAGE CURTAIN CLUB PLAY TONIGHT

Professors Frolic Behind
Footlights in Comedy
at High School

The stellar campus attraction for the day is the faculty play, "The Importance of Being Ernest," which will be staged by the Curtain club tonight at the High school auditorium. A few tickets may still be secured at Hook Bros. music store and at University hall. Prices range from $1.50 to 75 cents.

The play is a sparkling comedy full of laughable turns and situations that give excellent opportunity for unusual character work.

Byrne in Leading Role

The production will in no sense be amateurish for all of the members of the well chosen cast have a considerable background of dramatic experience. In a leading role will be Prof. E. H. Byrne who starred several years ago in Shaw's "How He Lied to His Husband." He plays the part of John Worthington who has led his young ward Cecily to believe him a very sedate person while he is posing elsewhere as the much talked of Ernest.

Carl Russell a Star

Prof. C. R. Fish takes the part of the enterprising young Algernon who lives to do two things—to marry Cecily and to eat. Seeing Professor Fish propose is alone said to be worth the price of admission.

The part of Dr. Chasuble, who falls in love with Miss Prism, the sentimental maid and would-be novelist, is taken by Horatio Winslow. Mr. Winslow recently returned from Russia. He has taken part in many university plays and also wrote a Haresfoot comic opera.

The characters of Lane, the manservant, played by A. K. Small, and Merriman, the butler, by J. M. Sheehan, are clever and amusing.

CLEAN UP JAZZ IS A D V I C E OF DEAN OF WOMEN

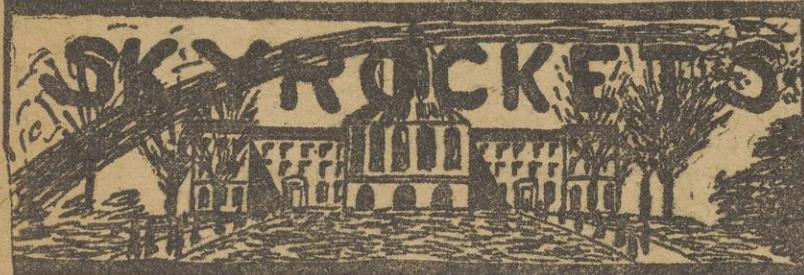

Miss Nardin Addresses Badger Club on "Chivalry and Partnership"

Pointing out that the words of popular songs frequently are suggestive, Dean F. Louise Nardin recommended a rag-time cleanup and the relegation of the average popular song to the ash can of silence, in the course of her talk on "Chivalry and Partnership," at the Badger club Sunday night.

Along with popular songs should go risque shows, insofar as student patronage is concerned, believes the dean of women.

Male enemies of co-education should bear in mind that the success of co-education depends largely upon the co-operation of the men in helping Wisconsin women maintain the letter and spirit of the standards that every co-ed promises to uphold when she becomes a Wisconsin woman, the speaker asserted.

Dean Nardin made a plea for adherence to a finer standard or honor in scholastic work by both men and women. "Calling a spade a spade" and branding cheating as plain dishonesty instead of regarding it with complacent toleration, or even an attitude of amused commendation, would do much to drive cheating out of the classroom, she said.

OPEN HOUSE AT PHYSICS HALL

Did you ever go to an "open building? Sounds queer, doesn't it, but that's what they're going to have tonight at 7:30—and Prof.

Benjamin Snow will be there to chaperon those in quest of know-

The purpose of it all is to give those taking elementary courses in Physics a chance to see the reducted by the members of the faculty and the graduate students.

The entire basement of the Phys-

many interesting demonst-

to attend.

 ANNOUNCES BOXES

The above diagram shows the arrangement of the first floor boxes for Prom. Most of the boxes for groups are on this floor. Some are also on the second floor and on the ground floor.

The boxes were all awarded by grouping all parties of the same size. The boxes were then chosen by lot, so that no discrimination would result.

All Prom parties who have obtained boxes have been requested to go down to the Capitol during the next week and acquaint themselves with the location of their boxes, in order that confusion may be reduced to a minimum on the night of Prom. Ushers will be provided, but the entire affair will be greatly facilitated if people are acquainted with the location of their boxes.

Maids can be obtained for the various boxes by calling Marion Dickens, F. 65. The maids will be used in the boxes to aid the women and to guard the cloaks and wraps. The general women's rest room is in the Library commission on the second floor. Maid service is furnished here.

The affirmative will be upheld by the Triangle team, composed of Voltz, Wileden, and Daniels, closer. The Ag. Lit team, Pinney, Koehler, and Allin, closer, will speak on the negative side of the question.

The ability of the men on both teams will insure a very interesting debate. Voltz is a member of Hesperia and a prominent member of the Social Science club, while Wileden, former president of the Agric Triangle, and Daniels are also good men with forensic ability. Pinney is a member of Alpha Zeta and has been on the Sophomore Semi-Public debate. Allin is vice-president of the Ag. CLOTHING PRICES

ALL students, at some time in their university career, buy clothing in Madison. Stocks carried by Madison merchants are ample to meet all needs, for the volume of student trade has made large stocks necessary.

In this period of advanced prices, the men, in particular, ought to scrutinize "the local conditions a little more closely than they have in normal times.

In Madison, student patronage of clothing and shoe stores goes either to the established concerns or to those transient salesmen representing outside firms who know full well that the college field is a fertile one to pluck. Many are aware just where the plucking is done—and why. Others, who may have inclinations toward joining the "smarter set," go gayly on and consider not the expense so long as they are assured of the very latest in styles—and of course there's the label of some big retail establishment. The label certainly looks well. Often the price mark takes a jump when the label is sewed on the suit.

It takes only a little reasoning to conclude that the big retail establishment that sends an agent here does so only because of the lure of bigger profits. From the proceeds of the agent's sales must be deducted transportation charges and a small rental—then comes two profits, the agent's and the retail establishment's.

The label of the big city store seems to have its attraction for some college men. They have opportunity to get it. They also have opportunity to pay for it.

Madison clothiers and shoe dealers don't have to back down on any comparison with the goods offered by these outsiders. That's where the headwork should come in for the student: match up the suit or the pair of shoes price for price before you decide who is giving you better value and better service for your money.

Local dealers are taking particular pains to serve the students. They give evidence of that by advertising in university publications. Students know that they will get square treatment from Madison merchants, for that is the only kind of treatment that builds good will.

SINGLE-HANDED?

FRIDAY night at Music hall a Wisconsin woman will compete with contestants from five other western universities in the greatest intercollegiate oratorical contest in America—the N. O. L.

The Badger representative enters a hard fight—a struggle which taxes a person's energies almost as much as the onslaught of a gridiron eleven or the attack of an opposing basketball five. She is the one person upon whose shoulders rests the responsibility for upholding the prestige of Wisconsin in the forensic world. She is our lone combatant, without a team to back her, and entirely dependent for any support on the student body.

There will be no great all-university massmeeting to cheer her on to victory, no band to play those good old varsity songs, for such honors are reserved for athletes. Let us at least be present to counteract these drawbacks by enthusiastic support.

It takes brains to appreciate an N. O. L. contest. A certain way to show the world that we realize the importance of attention to those things uppermost in the minds of all thinking Americans is by attending the contest Friday night.

If our representative is returned the victor it will be only after a hard fight. Perhaps then we can get up enough enthusiasm for a celebration on the lower campus. It would be the best way to prove that there is still a spark of appreciation left in the student body for the efforts of its chosen representative; that we appreciate the time and effort spent in bringing honor to Wisconsin no matter what the field of endeavor.

But if she loses despite our loyal support, our representative will none the less be entitled to that friendly greeting and hearty handshake which is the reward of every person who fights for Wisconsin, be that person victor or vanquished.

BADGER TENNIS STARS TO PLAY OKLAHOMA MEN

First Racket Contest at Varsity Courts Tomorrow Afternoon

The tennis team from the University of Oklahoma will invade the Badger courts for the first racket contest on the varsity schedule, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. The meet will be held on the varsity courts at the corner of University avenue and Breeze terrace, or in the gymnasium annex in case of rain.

The present Wisconsin squad consists of Harold B. Taylor (captain), Melvin Brorby, Roy C. Gotfredson, Willis M. Fanning, and Bertram Helfaer. Four of these men will be chosen to battle in the two single and two double matches to be played with the southern stars.

Badgers in Good Trim

Although the Badgers have not had very long to practice they are in good condition and are all veterans at the game. Taylor, Helfaer and Fanning held places on the varsity squad last year and Brorby won his "twt" before the war period.

Coach G. E. Linden is expecting some pretty hard competition from the Oklahoma men because of the fact that they have been playing all season. They are now making a tour of the middle west playing various schools throughout the country.

Arrangements are being made to put up bleachers in order to accommodate as many of the enthusiasts as possible. The price of admission is 25 cents or Coupon No. 32.

SOPH OPEN DEBATE BILLED FOR MAY 23

The annual sophomore semi-public debate will be held Friday, May 21. Athena, Hesperia, and Philomathia have each chosen six men. Three debates will be simultaneously staged in the debating rooms of the three societies to each of which the general public is invited.

The question to be debated reads as follows: "Resolved, That teacher's unions in our public school system should be affiliated with the American Federation of Labor."

The question has engaged the attention of the whole country during the past few months and is of vital interest to every American.

Athena will be represented by Melbourne Bergerman and Birney Miller, closers, assisted by Sherwood Buckstaff, Samuel Sygman, Chandler Osborn, and Abraham Kaufman. Hesperia will be represented by Halsey F. Kraege, and Leo H. Kohl, closers, assisted by Robert P. Geholz, Homer F. Tanguay, Jerry H. Quam, and John T. Atwood. Philomathia will be represented by Sterling Tracy and Robert B. Stewart, closers, assisted by Patrick M. Gahagan, Dean Kimball, Victor S. Von Szeliske, and Leslie Sims.

HOME ECS MAKES INSPECTION TRIP TO MILWAUKEE

Ninety Students Visit Big Industrial Plants in Two-Day Tour

Ninety women from the bacteriological and textile classes of the home economics course spent the week-end in Milwaukee visiting the Cream City's mills and industrial plants. The two-day trip was in charge of Dr. W. D. Frost, Dr. Freda Bachman, Miss Dorothy Roberts, Miss Josephine Cullinan, and Miss Marie Lottes.

Thursday, before lunch, the party had just time enough to visit the city health department. There, specimens sent to the city health authorities by Milwaukee physicians and the process of analyzing food and beverages that did not comply with the city laws were observed in the bacteriological and chemical departments.

In the afternoon the party visited the National Biscuit company and the Muirdale Sanatorium for tubercular patients at Wauwatosa was visited.

Friday was spent in trips to various factories and mills. The Plankinton Packing company, the Gridley Dairying company, the Reed Shirtwaist factory, the Milwaukee Worsted mills occupied most of the day. The party saw the entire process of packing from killing to sending the meat away.

The making of yarn from fleece was seen in the Milwaukee Worsted mills, and the making of yarn into serge was observed in the Western Worsted mills.

Saturday at noon the trip ended. Many stayed over for the afternoon drive given by the Gridley Dairying company, about Milwaukee, over the Lake Shore road and through Washington park.

UNFINISHED SYMPHONY

By Franz Peter Schubert

In adding to our list a movement of a symphony, we have entered into the field of the most advanced musical compositions. But any person with slight musical education who has been frightened by the rather forbidding title of today's selection can soon have his fears dispelled. Many persons have learned to like olives by refusing to heed the reports of their sense of taste until they have eaten seven. Any person who will show as much consideration to his sense of hearing and will listen to the first movement of the Schubert Unfinished Symphony seven times before passing judgment, can thereafter count himself as a lover of this beautiful music.

Franz Peter Schubert (1797-1828) is known as the greatest melodist of the world. In all of his works beautiful melodies bubble forth like water from a perpetual spring.

The Unfinished Symphony, so-called because only two of the usual four parts or movements were completed, seems to be a chain of attractive songs. The first movement opens with a mysterious strain in the bass, followed by a shimmering figure in the strings which forms a background for a little theme which is afterwards made to develop into many unexpected forms. Another theme soon appears, which in the orchestra is played by the cellos, and has often been called the loveliest melody ever written.

The orchestral color is so essential in all symphonic works that phonograph records are practically indispensable. Fortunately all the Madison dealers have expressed their willingness to allow the public to hear these records at their stores.

Square Club to Entertain

Members of the Square club will entertain with a dancing party at the Park hotel Friday night. Over 20 couples are expected.

N. O. L. Luncheon

PEP MEET TONIGHT

The program which is in charge of Mae Smith will include a "take-off" stunt of the conference under Katherine Ely and a talk on its benefits and events by Marcia Hinkins. Lake Geneva songs under the leadership of Helen Harper will be sung by women who have attended the conference.

Last year over 30 women from Wisconsin were at Lake Geneva and it is hoped to duplicate this number this year. All women of the university are urged to attend this meeting.

JASTROW TO TALK
ON MOB PSYCHOLOGY

"Mass Psychology" will be the subject of an address to be given by Prof. Joseph Jastrow, of the psychology department, under the auspices of the Wisconsin Social Science club in the Biology auditorium Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock. The meeting is open to the public. Questions and discussions will follow at the close of the talk.

Professor Jastrow will give a general survey of the different phases of mass action, taking illustrations from crowds, strikes, and revolutions. He will treat his subject from a somewhat new and comprehensive point of view. He will also draw examples from the recent war, and the effect of the crowd on political parties.

In outline the lecture will be the same as an article that Professor Jastrow is preparing for "The Review."

BADGER FOOTBALL
STAR WINS D. S. C.

Edwin R. Stavrum, '16, former Badger football star, has been awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action west of Chateau-Thierry on June 6, 1918.

Stavrum, who was a first lieutenant in the 23rd Infantry, was severely wounded in the left shoulder during the first phase of the attack. In spite of his wound he conducted his platoon to its objective and exposed himself to heavy fire in order to organize his position for defense.

Lieut. Stavrum was captain of the freshman football team in 1912 and won his "W" in the three following years as left end on the varsity eleven. He is a member of Star and Arrow, honorary athletic fraternity, and of Beta Theta Pi.

PRESS CLUB SCORES HIT WITH "PI PI"

Musical Comedy Proves Big Card for Theta Sigs

With a snappy musical comedy, chuck full of amusing situations, clever jokes, hits on the departments, and last but not least, a real chorus of pretty girls and dancing men, Press club entertained the delegates of Theta Sigma Phi and their fellow journalists at the Woman's building Saturday night.

The skit "Pi Pi" is built around the character of Pi Pi, a negro journalist, who attempts to get an interview with the leading lady of a musical comedy, and finally succumbs to the charms of Miss Lucindy, a "culuhed" member of the cast. The scene is laid outside the stage door, and much black-face comedy is introduced by the stage hands, janitor, and floor man. Nine musical numbers and several clever specialty acts are included, together with many exhibitions of terpsichorean art.

"Pat" Dennis in the role of Pi Pi, scored a hit, especially in his scenes with Miss Lucindy, played by Iva McDonald. The "Pretty Girl" chorus, Marion Strassburger, Catherine Schultz, and Mary McLean, with the chorus men, Walter Schwinn, Ken Ede, and Hy Davidson, presented singing and dancing numbers with all the ease of professionals, and many clever novelties were introduced in their encores.

A feature act was the comic opera burlesque on "The Sextette from Lucia," sung by the darky chorus.

The comedy was written by members of Press club, and put together and coached by E. Marion Johnson. Assisting Mr. Johnson were Mary Ade, who coached the dancing, and Mildred Nusbaum, who acted as pianist and who coached the musical numbers.

The cast included Bernard Meyers, Charles MacGinnis, Katherine Beebe, Pennel Crosby, Theodore Handy, Marion Neprud, Walter O'Meara, Wyman Smith, Robert Herz, Don Dohr, and Kenneth Olson. One of the features of the entertainment was the novelty program in the form of a miniature newspaper which the members of Press club set up and printed themselves.

KEYSTONE MEETING

The last regular meeting of Keystone will be held at 7:30 Thursday night at the Y. W. office at Lathrop. Old and new presidents of all women's organizations are urged to attend.

LADY CURZON MEETS FUTURE HUSBAND KISSING BABIES FOR "NANNIE" ASTOR

Lady Cynthia Curzon.

Society on both sides of the Atlantic is interested in the announcement that Lady Cynthia Curzon, daughter of Lord Curzon of Kedleston and of the former Mary Leiter of Chicago, is engaged to marry Capt. Oswald Mosley, M. P. The prospect has special interest also for woman suffragists, because it was the candidacy of Lady Astor, formerly Nannie Langhorne of Virginia, for parliament, which brought the young people together. It is said they were mutually attracted to each other by their respective ways of kissing babies.

RAJAH, ROYAL BENGAL TIGER AT MADISON ZOO, DIES SUDDENLY

THE keeper of the Madison zoo today was fondling Buster, the baby bear, who at four months has developed remarkable vocal power. Amused bystanders, listening to the fierce growlings from the bundle of fur, regarded the keeper enviously.

"It must be great fun to have a hundred pets to romp around with," said one man.

"It is," admitted the keeper. In a graver voice he added: "But there are tragedies, too. Just as in every family, I suppose. I'm feeling kind of glum today."

"Why?" asked the visitor. "We have just buried Rajah."

"The tiger?" cried a dozen voices.

"Yes, Rajah, the royal Bengal. The strongest—but the gentlest and most good humored animal in the zoo. I tell you it hits a man hard to have a friend like Rajah, whom one has looked after for three years, pass away—just like that!"

It came suddenly, the keeper explained. Rajah had shown signs of illness, and two hours later, after much suffering, had died. Perforation of the stomach, due to a cancerous condition, the doctor said. He was buried in a little grove of trees near the zoo grounds, and his grave indicated with a simple mound and marker.

Rajah was born in the jungles of India and lived there till he was one year old. He was captured and later shipped from Calcutta to the United States. Due to transportation troubles during war time Rajah was 18 months in transit and reached Madison Aug. 12, 1917, at the age of about three years. The specimen has been sent to the pathological department at the university for examination.

Rajah was the gift of Dr. Corydon G. Dwight of Madison, who also presented the zoo with the tiger's mate, Sheba. Sheba, the keeper said, is in excellent health and this month expects baby cubs.

Cicero, the sole remaining lion cub, has been weaned from the bottle, and in his own private little cage is lapping milk from a saucepan and eating chopped meat with gusto. Little Cicero shortly may have some brothers and sisters, for the stork has whispered something into the ear of his mother, Claudia.

Zoo visitors are also promised another pair of seals, also the gift of Dr. Dwight. The seals, who are expected most any day, will replace the pair who died last year.

Y. W. VOTE ON NEW MEMBERSHIP BASIS

A massmeeting of all active members of Y. W. C. A. is called to vote on the acceptance of the personal basis of membership in the association, Friday noon, Lathrop concert room. At the national convention recently held in Cleveland the vote stood 6 to 1 in favor of the personal basis as part of the alternate basis of membership and the Wisconsin delegates expressed themselves in favor of the personal basis as against the church affiliation basis. In order to establish the personal basis in the university association it is necessary for a two-thirds vote of the active members to change the constitution.

At present the active membership is 900 out of 2,300 women. The personal basis will admit any woman who declares that she is in sympathy with the purpose of the association and her purpose "to live as a true follower of the Lord Jesus Christ."

The personal basis will not only increase the association roll but it will make the organization representative of all Wisconsin women who will exert a greater campus influence in the maintenance of standards.

N. J. RECOUNT PLAN DROPPED

Johnson Campaign Fund
Too Small to Stand
Needed Expense

NEW YORK—No effort will be made by the forces supporting Sen. Johnson to raise $25,000 to meet a similar offer from the forces of Gen. Wood to guarantee the expense of a recount of primary ballots in New Jersey, A. C. Joy, assistant eastern manager of Johnson's campaign announced today. Chief Justice Gummere of the New Jersey supreme court has granted an application of Johnson supporters for a recount but has ruled that $50,000 must be put up to cover expenses if it is shown there was an error.

Mr. Joy stated however that this recount would be impossible unless Justice Gummere modified his ruling.

"We haven't the money and can't get it. The greater part of our contributions are small ranging from $1 to $100 and we have never had more than $5,000 in the treasury at one time."

Seek Means to Raise Farm Loans

WASHINGTON—Ways and means of meeting the demands of farmers for government loans through the farm loan system pending rehearing by the supreme court of the suit testing the constitutionality of the farm loan act, were discussed today at a conference of farm loan board members and officials of the twelve farm loan banks.

No Dry Decree by U. S. Supreme Court

WASHINGTON—The supreme court recessed today until May 17, without handing down a decision on the constitutionality of the prohibition amendment and the enforcement act.

JUNIORS PLAN CLASS STUNTS

Meet This Noon to Discuss Features for Friday Frolic

An honest-to-goodness Junior day with a real "kick" in it! That's what the class of 1921 is going to put on next Friday. Everything that can be staged to add to the glory of the already famous class will be contributed, but that means co-operation, and to that end the Juniors are meeting this noon at 11:50 in Music hall to plan the campaign and the course of action.

Already the forces are being mobilized and the stunts and plans that are scheduled to come up for discussion will take all of the time allowed the class for this important meeting. Allan Davey will preside and discussions of the varied ideas for Junior day promise a lively meeting.

The Junior play, the junior picnic at Bernard park, the Junior Day Cardinal, and general Junior "pep" demonstrations will be planned. The committees that have already been appointed will present their ideas and suggestions will be called for.

The Junior Cardinal will be a particular feature of the day. Leon E. Kaumheimer will be editor-in-chief. The staff positions have not been announced. Fred Sperry is handling the publicity for the day and William Florea has charge of programs. Marguerite Shepherd is chairman of the tags committee, and tickets for the picnic can be secured from Elizabeth Chandler.

Cleverest Woman in Junior Class

WINIFRED MOSS

Winifred Moss was proved to be the funniest woman in the junior class, when the Octopus board chose her as the junior woman member at its meeting last night.

A consistent contributor to the last three numbers of the Octopus, There were several competitors for the position, but Miss Moss was judged the best, both for the quality and the quantity of her work.

As property manager of Red Domino, she had charge of the artistic effects in the Red Domino-Edwin Booth joint production, "The Marriage of Kitty." She entered here from Vassar in her second year, and is a member of Delta Gamma sorority.

SENIOR PLAY OFFERS INTERESTING ROLES

The part of Chicot the Jester, principal role in the senior play, may be taken by either a man or a woman. It is a man's part, but has been successfully played by women, and tryouts will be open to both.

Tryouts will be held in the S. G. A. room this afternoon at 4:30 and tomorrow at the same time. Any senior may come, whether he has already handed in his name or not. Miss Johnson, of the public speaking department, will assist with the tryouts and the coaching.

Men's parts in the play offer a place to men of many different types. The two principal parts are those of Chicot and Rene, two princely young men who on a bet seek to gain entrance disguised as jesters, into the castle of an old marquis in order to see his beautiful daughter.

Good parts are offered by the servants' roles. They are distinctive characters and do not simply have a few lines to take care of entrances and exits.

Jack Pudding, a red-faced country boy, who is simple-minded and slow is one of the really funny characters.

Ray Holcombe is production manager of the play. The publicity and business managers will be appointed some time this week. Helen Colby is chairman of the senior play committee.

That Box on the Hill is for Your Union Fund Subscription

"A box has been placed on Lincoln terrace, and students are urged to fill in their subscription blanks and put them in it," said Loring Hammond, treasurer of the Union board. The Union Memorial drive is progressing well among the alumni and the university drive remains at the $80,000 mark. The complete faculty report has not been turned in yet. The total will be a big boost when the returns of this drive are included. The canvassers are still soliciting and students are asked to have their subscriptions ready for them.

GRADS TO RETURN FOR N. O. L. MEET

Former Forensic Stars Will Come Back to Witness Contest

The Northern Oratorical league contest at Music hall Friday night will witness the return to Madison of a number of old grads who were famous in their undergraduate days for forensic excellence. Among these will be a number of men who have represented Wisconsin in this premier oratorical contest.

Alvin C. Reis, at present legal adviser to the marketing commission, winner of the contest in 1913, and M. B. "Mike" Olbrich, who represented Wisconsin about 20 years ago, have already signified their intention of attending. Mr. Olbrich is at present deputy attorney general.

Other notables who expect to drop business and professional cares, if that is at all possible, in order to attend, are Fred Merk, winner of second place in 1911, and more recently the recipient of a doctor's degree at Harvard; "Bud" Mathews, former inter-collegiate debater and coach, now with the Railroad commission; Max Loeb, famous Chicago educator, also a former winner; and Harold P. Janisch, winner of third place in 1912.

The ticket sale starts this morning at Main hall. Members of Castalia will be in charge today and tomorrow under the direction of Charlotte Calvert. Thursday and Friday Pythia will have charge of the sale. Tickets have also been placed on sale at Menges' University avenue pharmacy, the Co-op, and Hook's piano store, where they can be had at 50 cents each. Only the capacity of Music hall will be sold, which means that a number of people will be turned away since approximately 600 tickets have already been sold.
