SIGMA DELTA SIGMA'S RECEPTION.

THE KAPPAS HOLD THEIR ANNUAL BANQUET.

Many of the Alumnae of the Society Present.

A very pleasant reception was held at the home of the local society, Sigma Delta Sigma, last evening. This was in the nature of a home warming as the fraternity has only occupied the house since the beginning of this term. The reception committee consisted of President and Mrs. Adams, Francis Welles, Florence Vernon, May Carleton, A. R. Sedgwick and O. M. Salisbury. The reception was from 8 till 11 and between those hours about three hundred guests passed through the house.

The halls and parlors were tastefully decorated with ferns and palms. The mantels were banked with smilax and red roses and the profusion of crysanthemums rendered the effect very pleasing. The music was furnished by Nitschke's orchestra which was stationed in one of the alcoves. Light refreshments were served during the evening. The many guests were pleased with the hospitality of the members of the fraternity.

The local chapter of this fraternity was organized a little over a year ago. It is composed of nineteen young men prominent in the literary and social life of the university and the strength and character of its membership insure a bright future for the organization. Already the chapter has attained a high position among the university's societies.

THE KAPPA BANQUET.

Last evening the ladies of Eta chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma celebrated the twenty-first anniversary of their organization by a banquet and reunion of the active and graduate members in the parlors of Christ Presbyterian church. The floral decorations were entirely of roses and the table was strewn with buds and blossoms and with favors of this flower. The table was arranged in the shape of the Greek letter Eta, at the head of which presided Miss Mabel Robinson, of Milwaukee, as toast mistress. Six or seven courses were discussed after which the following toasts were in order: Last Year's Barracks, Miss Georgiana McFetridge; Kappa Vignettes, Miss Agnes Bassett; All Sorts and Conditions of Men, Miss Daisy Sames; Our Hopes, Miss Agnes Bowen; Through Kappa Windows, Miss Frances Welles; Eta's Majority, Mrs. J. M. Olin; Positively Their Last Appearance, Miss Annie Pitman; A Message from Kappa, Miss Edna Chynoweth. Mrs. Josephine Sarles-Simpson, of Minneapolis, was to respond to the toast, Kappa Days of Long Ago, but a severe cold prevented her doing so. Those present from out of the city were Mrs. Josephine Sarles-Simpson, of Minneapolis; Miss Martha Week, of Stevens Point; Miss Nellie Ford and Miss Emily Parsons, of Whitewater; Miss Anna Wyman and Miss Anna Woodward, of Eau Claire; Miss Mabel Robinson and Miss Helen West, of Milwaukee; Miss Belle Loomis, Miss Nellie Breese and Miss Otilie Schumann, of Portage; Miss Kathryn Post, of Burlington. Others present were Mesdames John M. Olin, O. D. Brandenburg, Charles I. King, Charles F. Lamb, F. A. Stoltz, Jr., and Misses Susie Main, Juliet Thorp, Annie Main, Edith Locke, Flora Mears, Agnes Butler, Mary Hill, Georgie Hayden, Flora Moseley, Annie Moseley, Harriet Remington, Mary M. Dodge, Mary Morse, Agnes Bowen, Frances Bowen, Bertha Pitman, Jennie Pitman, Anna Flint, Georgiana McFetridge, Daisy Sames, Frances Welles, Edith Robinson, Mabel McCoy, Helen Palmer, Elizabeth Palmer, Agnes Bassett, Edith Griswold, Meta Schumann, Annie Pitman, Maude Thorp, Marie Thorp and Edna Chynoweth.

CITY LECTURE COURSE.

The Shuman quartette and Music company are now being billed in this city. This is the first entertainment in the city lecture course. It will be one of the finest ever held in the city. Remember the date, Oct. 25th. John De Witt Miller comes in November, Chicago Rivals in December, Booker T. Washington in January, Hon. Ignatius Donnelly in February, and Rev. De Gunsaulus in March. Course tickets $1.00. Each lecture or entertainment 50 cents.

MELVIN CLUB.

The Melvin club will meet at the residence of R. M. Purcell, corner of E. Washington avenue and Butler street, at 8:30 p. m. this evening. Miss McGovern will read a paper on "Church Councils."

DOANE VS. GRINNELL.

The Grinnell football team, which played Minnesota such a close game a short time ago, was defeated by Doane college yesterday by a score of 10 to 8. That is Doane scored as many points against Grinnell as did Minnesota.

—George Kroenke, law '95, will address a democratic rally at Baraboo tonight. Next week he has several appointments in Sauk county.

—The classes in physical culture will be resumed next week as usual if the weather continues to be warm.

IN THE LITERARY SOCIETIES

LARGE ATTENDANCE LAST EVENING.

FRESHMAN ENGINEERING SOCIETY FORMED.

Many New Members in the Societies.

Athenae had a large and enthusiastic meeting last night. Several new members were elected and Messrs. Wolf and Kelley, '98, were initiated. The first debate, "Resolved, that trusts are detrimental to the best interests of society," was led on the affirmative by Gilbertson, '97, on the negative by Hughes, '97. Miller volunteered and made a spirited debate. The question was decided in favor of the negative.

The second debate, "Resolved, that church property should be taxed," was the lively debate of the evening. Gillen led the affirmative; Lynch the negative. The question was decided for the affirmative. New members acquitted themselves very creditably.

Hesperia's debates last night were the most spirited that have been held this term. Great interest and enthusiasm was shown and several good volunteer speeches were listened to. The first question, "Resolved, that the government of the United States should subsidize her merchant marine," was won by the affirmative under the leadership of Hockins, '96.

After recess and a declamation by Ochsner, the second debate, "Resolved, that the single tax be substituted for the present system of taxation," was decided unanimously in favor of the negative, which was championed by Rysjord, '97. At the next meeting a debate on the respective merits of the republican, democratic, prohibition and people's parties, will be a novel and interesting change from the regular program.

The large and attentive audience which met at Philomathia hall last night was favored by two spirited and well prepared debates. The first debate was on the question, "Would the annexation of Canada to the United States be desirable?" The jury decided in favor of the negative, which was lead by Hough, '95, notwithstanding the well prepared debate of the leader on the affirmative, Lucas, '96. The feature of this debate was the good work of Compton, '98, and Willets, '98, two new members.

After the recess the audience listened to a declamation by Patzer, '98. The second debate was on the question, "Should there be an educational qualification for suffrage in the United States?" This debate was won by the negative led by Harvey, '97, in spite of the efforts of Smith, '97, who lead the affirmative. The debates of the new members were well prepared and showed much promise. The society then went into secret session and admitted Mitchell, '98, as a member. C. M. Butt, '97, was elected to fill the vacant position of essayist on the sophomore semi-public. Several new members were initiated.

FRESHMAN ENGINEERING SOCIETY.

The freshman engineers held a meeting yesterday in room 22, Science hall, at 5 o'clock and organized a Freshman Engineers' society. Mr. Mack acted as temporary chairman during the meeting. The following were elected officers: President, H. R. Crandall; vice president, F. C. Best; secretary, H. D. Tower.

At the close of the meeting the president appointed a committee to draw up a constitution. Judging from the attendance at the initial meeting, the society will have a vigorous life. The next meeting will be held Friday, Oct. 26, at 3 o'clock.

CLASSES IN SPARRING AND WRESTLING.

There have been several classes organized in wrestling and sparring at the gymnasium, under the instruction of Mr. Everett, who has shown himself thoroughly capable of completing successfully what he has undertaken. It affords an excellent opportunity for any one who may wish to enter these exercises to get first class instruction. Mr. Everett is not only an excellent trainer but has had wide experience, gained by meeting professional wrestlers and sparrers. The following is quoted from The Daily News of Elgin, Ill., at which place Mr. Everett was professor of physical culture in the National Gymnasium before his coming to this place. It was at the opening of the gymnasium last fall:

"The program was terminated with the specialty of the evening—the wrestling match between the famous Evan Lewis, known as the strangler, from his having first used a strangling hold, and Prof. Everett of the gymnasium.

Lewis was to forfeit $100, it is understood, if he could not throw Everett five times in one hour. He secured the fifth fall at the expiration of forty-five minutes.

Lewis showed himself entitled to celebrity as an excellent wrestler, and the match was watched with much interest. Everett was of course much outweighed by his opponent, but he made some fine defenses and showed much pluck, endurance and agility. At the close of the match Lewis made a short speech in which he complimented the professor and stated that the latter was the best man of his weight he had ever met in the ring."

While in Indiana he won the championship of Indiana, Illinois and Upper Michigan in heavyweight contests. He has met foreign champions as well as Americans such as Charles Moth and McInerney. Among the American contestants were Comstock, the champion of America, and Bert Sheller, champion of the northwest. Of these Mr. Everett has been defeated by Lewis only. He has taught both wrestling and sparring for the past nine years, during which time he has met many of the best athletes in the country. The present members of the classes are much pleased with Mr. Everett's methods of teaching.

Boxing and wrestling in themselves are excellent methods of development, and accomplishment in these manly arts is always desirable and is a prominent feature in the annual mid-winter contest. All who can should take advantage of the exceptional opportunities now offered in these classes.

The University of Michigan football eleven defeated the Olivet college team 40 to 0. Will some one inform us where Olivet college is located?

We are pleased to see the engineers organize a debating club for their own interests. Although our literary societies are open to them, engineers are unable to take up literary work extensively which differs so much from their own technical lines.

In this society questions of interest to them alone can be discussed, thus giving its members opportunity for reasoning upon practical questions that their routine class work does not permit of.

We hope the organization will be eminently successful and become a fixture as one of our college associations.

We notice from our exchanges that in many of the eastern colleges, the commencement program has already been arranged by the senior class. Judging from the delay that the class of '94 experienced even after they had decided upon the nature of their program it would seem advisable for the senior class to take preparatory steps in the near future and thus avoid a hasty preparation. The fact that the practice has been general throughout the college world shows that it is not in Wisconsin alone that difficulty in the arrangement of the commencement program is experienced.

The University of Michigan Daily says "no game will be played with Wisconsin this year, as she has shown no desire to make reasonable terms."

Wisconsin has been anxious for a game with Michigan but the Ann Arbor college knew that her team would be unable to do anything against Wisconsin and so refused to play. But Wisconsin can get along without a game much better than can Michigan. Last year's football score, 34 to 18, in favor of Wisconsin, will long be remembered by the public. Michigan was also "unable" to accept offers for a game with Minnesota, on account of "arrangements for other games." We suppose that these "other games" include matches with Harvard, Princeton and Yale as it is only with such teams that the University of Michigan will condescend to play.

Those endeavoring to organize a university orchestra have been somewhat disappointed in not receiving more responses to their invitations. People in a position to know have ample reason to believe that as strong an orchestra can be established here as those found in eastern institutions. It is possible that many who are qualified to join are for various reasons prevented, but it is not asking too much of them to make explanations at least. Injustice is done to both the leaders, and to those who have joined and are ready to do earnest work by the tardy responses of student musicians. It is hoped that the orchestra may be in running order this term and this cannot be without the hearty co-operation of all students who play orchestral instruments well. The constant training will also be of great advantage to these students who perhaps would not find it elsewhere in Madison.

ILLINOIS YELLS.

STEPS INTO JOURNALISM.

A Valuable Book for Newspaper Writers, by Edwin L. Shuman, Ph. D.

New, helpful, and practical book by a Chicago editor for all young writers. It tells how to get a start, how to construct a newspaper article, and gives a thousand details in a delightful style. pp 230; Price, $1.25.

"It is thoroughly practical. I know of no other book which can approach it in reliability, utility and value."—S. C. Wade, M. A. LL. D., Lit. Critic for McClurg & Co.

No person who expects to write, even occasionally, for the press should be without this invaluable treatise. It is universally commended by the newspapers of the country.

Address: Cor. School of Journalism, Evanston, Ill.

A Missouri man, whose wife was killed by the train while walking along the railroad track with him near St. Joseph, has brought a claim for $10 damages against the company, pathetically pleading: "She was a good wife and her cooking could not be equalled in the state of Missouri. She was worth all of that to me, and I think you ought to pay."—Northwestern Magazine.

YOUTH OF NAPOLEON.

His First Prestige Was Won in Corsica at the Age of 9 Years.

Napoleon Bonaparte, the son of a petty officer under the French government in Corsica, had seven brothers and sisters. He was 9 years old when the event happened that gave him a prestige among the boys of his own age. He told the story with great interest in later life.

With several other boys he was walking on the shore of a pond, when a fisherman drew out of the water the body of a drowned woman. One of young Bonaparte's companions fainted. The others ran away at the sight of the corpse. Then the latter, regaining courage, came back. The fisherman had gone off to notify the authorities. Bonaparte who had been looking coolly at the scene, took the insensible body of the fellow who had fainted, stretched it alongside the corpse, and joined the hands of the two. The companions were shocked and ran off again.

When the officials came up the unconscious boy was coming to himself. He felt something cold and clammy in his hand. He dropped the hand of the dead woman as if it had been a hot coal, jumped to his feet, and fainted away again.

"Arrest that boy," cried an old man, pointing to Napoleon.

"Don't you try it, you Marmot en cheveux blancs!" exclaimed young Bonaparte. "If you do I shall put you to sleep with this stone."

When the schoolmaster rebuked Napoleon the future hero told him that he was himself to blame for not having taught his boys the absurdity of being scared by a corpse. He added, addressing himself to the father of the boy whom he had used for the experiment, "My intuitions are never at fault. Your son will live. I will go with him to your house and if he doesn't get well you may either adopt me or revenge yourself in your own way."

The boy did get well. Bonaparte had cured him forever of silly fear. When a sister died two months later the child who had fainted at the sight of the drowned woman showed himself utterly fearless of death. From that time the boys of Ajaccio had absolute confidence in the leadership of Napoleon Bonaparte. He could do what he liked with them, but rarely mingled in their pastimes, though when any question arose he was invariably called upon to act as judge. He said with pride afterward: "It was not often that my judgments were appealed from."

"Effie: "Do you thing my papa will go to heaven, Miss Heart?"

Sunday school teacher: "Oh, yes, indeed, Effie."

Effie: "Well, if he doesn't have his own way there he won't stay long."—Judge.
