EDDY TO DIRECT ALL-UNIVERSITY RELIGIOUS CONVO

Plans Announced For Conference to Be Held at End of Next Week

The complete program of the All-university Religious conference with Dr. G. Sherwood Eddy as the principal speaker was announced yesterday by Rosamond Nolte '24 and Gamber F. Tegtmeyer '24, Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. leaders in charge of the conference.

Dr. Eddy will speak at all of the meetings to be held during the week end of February 29 and March 1 and 2, it was announced.

Discussions Will be Held

The program calls for an all-university convocation at 4 o'clock Friday and for a mass meeting at 7:30 o'clock Friday night. After the basketball game Saturday evening at 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon and at 7:30 o'clock Sunday night. Other meetings will be held.

Those wishing for discussions with Dr. Eddy on Friday and Sunday nights may ask his personal questions on matters that he will be able to answer. He will discuss various phases of questions pertaining to war, passive resistance, race prejudice and international relations.

Served in Asia

Dr. Eddy has just returned from a tour around the world. His journey took him to 22 countries where he conferred with the political, industrial and religious leaders.

Sherwood Eddy was graduated from Yale in engineering. He went to India and engaged in work among the native students for 15 years. He was then made international secretary of Asia for the Y. M. C. A. Just previous to the World War, he was associated with John R. Mott in association work in Asia.

OGG TO GIVE ADDRESS ON ENGLISH POLITICS

The Poitical Science club will hold an open meeting at 7:30 tomorrow night at the home of Prof. Frederic A. Ogg, 1715 Kendall avenue.

Professor Ogg, who is chairman of the department of political science, will give a speech on "The Present Aspect of the Political Situation in Great Britain."

The club is composed of all, graduate students and instructors in the political science department, but graduate students in other courses who are offering minors in political science are invited to attend the meeting.

Y. W. VOTES FOR DELEGATES TODAY

Representatives to National Convention Will Be Elected

Elections will be held today from 9 until 4:30 o'clock for the delegates to the national Y. W. C. A. convention to be held April 30 to May 6 at New York City. The voting is to take place at Lathrop hall and each person may vote for five delegates and three alternates.

One of the great questions at the convention is to be on the personal basis of membership for city organization.

The Commodore hotel will be the convention headquarters and the student delegates are to live at the Sherman hotel.

Mrs. Frank M. Paist, will preside and Miss Isabelle Capps, Wisconsin '23, president will preside at the student assemblies.

The nominees to be voted on today are Marian Metcalf '24, Rosamond Nolte '24, Margaret Brown '24, Helen Winkleman '24, Margaret Campbell '25, Louise Holt '25, Elizabeth Stolte '25, Dorothy John '25, Alice Corl '25, Dorothy Haskins '25, Rena Grubb '26, Dorothy Strauss '26, Miriam English '26, Larsh Campbell '26 and Roberta Odell '26.

Directs Convo

A. SHERWOOD EDDY

G. Sherwood Eddy will conduct the All-university Religious Convocation meetings which will be held here February 21 and March 1 and 2. Mr. Eddy is a graduate of Yale university and has acquired valuable experience in association work with John R. Mott while in Asia.

SOPH WOMEN TO FORM NEW CLUB

First Meeting Will Be Held in Lathrop Hall at Noon Today

The first step toward forming a bond of unity among the women of the sophomore class will be taken this noon in the S. G. A. room at Lathrop with the creation of a class club without officers or dues, whose prime motive shall be loyalty to the class of '26.

The working machinery of the organization will be various committees for different activities. Every other Wednesday people from the several existing associations will be invited to speak before the club. The other Wednesdays will be devoted to informal discussions on whatsoever interests the members.

Plans will be made for picnics in spring, week ends at the Y. W. C. A. cottages, Sunday morning breakfasts, tea dances and other interesting diversions.

The main purpose of the club will be to promote friendship among the sophomore girls. The organization will not be handed down to other classes, but will exist only for the sophomore girls until their graduation in 1926. This club will also furnish material for other organizations.

All sophomore girls who are interested in activities but do not know just exactly into what channel to direct their energy are invited to bring their trays from the Lathrop cafeteria to the S. G. A. room this noon to attend this meeting.

Seventy Students Will Try Out For Wisconsin Players

Approximately 70 students signed up yesterday for the Wisconsin Players tryouts of which number the large majority were freshmen.

Registration was carried on in the Union building, Lathrop hall and Bascom hall yesterday where it will be continued today at the same hours, from 1:30 to 3:30 o'clock.

A special call is being made by the Players for candidates for the production and business staffs, particularly the former, according to Laurens C. Hastings '24, president of the organization.

It will be taken for granted that all those who wish to tryout will be registered by 3:30 o'clock today. Those who are in charge of the registration expect that more than 100 will be signed up before the dead line this afternoon.

GLEE CLUB TIES WITH ILLINI FOR 4TH IN CONTEST

Grinnell College Takes First, Michigan Second Over Twelve Others

At the Intercollegiate Clubs contest held at Orchestra hall, Chicago, Monday night, Wisconsin won fourth place.

Grinnell college, Iowa, was given first position over 13 other colleges. Michigan won second place Northwestern and Beloit tied for third and Wisconsin and Illinois tied for fourth.

Other colleges represented were Iowa, Chicago, Purdue, Millikin, Knox, Armour, Lake Forrest and Wabash.

"On Wisconsin" thrilled alumni and friends of Wisconsin listening in on the radio when the Wisconsin Glee club broadcasted a program in the afternoon before the contest from the Chicago Daily News station.

Robert Nethercut '24 accompanied on the organ when all the 14 glee clubs sang ensemble after the concert.

Advocates Male Choruses

The clubs were judged by their presentation of three numbers, one of which, "Morning Hymn" by Henschel, all of the clubs sang. In a light song, and its own college song. "On Wisconsin" in part arranged by Robert Nethercut, was the college song presented by the Wisconsin club.

For the purpose of stimulating and improving male chorus singing in the colleges and universities in the north central states through the medium of competitive contests to be held in Chicago, the Intercollegiate Glee club association was incorporated.

Prof. E. Earle Swinney, director of the Wisconsin Glee club, stated on his return from the contest that much of the original purpose had already been accomplished.

"The singing of all the clubs showed a great improvement over that of last year," he declared. "Our club sang even better than they did last year when they won the contest."

Grinnell Competes Again

As the winner of this year's contest, Grinnell is entitled to compete in the eastern contest for the national title and in the future every winner of the Central Intercollegiate contest will go to New York.

Wisconsin won the Central contest last year and went to New York as the guest of the eastern colleges, winning sixth place over Harvard and some of the best singing organizations in the East.

The club will leave for a short tour this week end and will sing in Wauwatosa tomorrow at the Pabst theater in Milwaukee on Washington's birthday and in South Milwaukee, February 23.

Foreign Flashes

LONDON, Feb. 19.—The Labor government is facing a severe crisis due to the strike of the dockmen's union which has resulted in the tie-up of all of England's harbors. Unless the strike ends in a few days there will be serious food shortage since five-sixth of Britain's food supply comes from abroad.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The resignation of Attorney-General Daugherty is expected at any time as a result of the Teapot Dome oil scandal. The departure of Denby from the cabinet is said to foreshadow a similar action on the part of Daugherty.

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—The supporters of William G. McAdoo for the Democratic nomination for president in a meeting here, told McAdoo that although his name was brought up in connection with the oil scandal, he had no part in the fraud and therefore should continue to be a candidate.

Numerous Changes in Constitution of W. A. A. Proposed

Among the numerous proposed changes in the W. A. A. constitution discussed by the members at their meeting last night, were the proposals that the qualifications for officers of the organization should be reduced from 425 points to 300 and that second team members should be awarded 35 instead of 25 points. The entire constitution will be voted upon at the next meeting.

The following new members were taken in: Ruth Huyette '27, Marion Bigelow '26, Elizabeth Kuenzi '27, Eva Burmeister '24, Ina M. Stevenson '24.

Helen Robinson '25, Esther Field '25 and Rosamond Nolte '24 received small W's.

Those to receive pins were Daisy Simpson '25, Genevieve Brown '25, Alpha Roth '24 and Hazel Hyer '25.

Nomination of officers for next year and the election of a delegate to the W. A. A. convention at Berkeley will be among the business to be conducted at the next meeting.

INTERNATIONAL TO HAVE PRIZE HERDS

Animal Aristocrats Will Parade at Stock Show This Weekend

A $300,000 livestock parade showing the national and international prize winners of the university herds and flocks to be displayed by students of the College of Agriculture at the Wisconsin International Friday and Saturday will be the classic stock spectacle of this part of the country, H. M. Woods, assistant chairman stated.

Headed by a Scotch kilted band of bagpipers dressed in the full regalia of the highlanders, the prize animals of the university will slowly promenade around the arena and take up their positions for a picture of the entire interior of the stock pavilion.

"A more spectacular picture than the aristocrats of the animal kingdom with their white uniformed attendants is impossible outside of the great Chicago international anywhere in the country," Woods declared.

Eight pure bred perfectly fitted heavy draft teams owned by the university and fitted by students are to be driven about the arena. Flowers and ribbons will be used to decorate the manes and tails of the weighty descendants of beasts that have served man for centuries.

SOROKINE WILL SPEAK TODAY ON REVOLUTION

No change in dates has been made in regard to the series of lectures to be given by Professor Sorokine, former professor of sociology in the University of Petrograd, according to Prof. E. A. Ross.

"The remaining lectures on 'The Sociology of Revolution' will be continued today and tomorrow, February 26, 27 and 28, and on March 4, 5, and 6, as was previously announced.

"This is the first time in all history that a sociologist has made a comparative study of social revolutions with a view to discovering common tendencies which they expect," Professor Ross said.

HOLLYWOOD NUMBER OF OCTY OUT TODAY

The "Hollywood Number" of the Octopus will be on sale today. The issue is devoted to satires on the doings of the stars of moviedom, and is full of cuts and drawings about Hollywood life and activities.

WINNERS OF ICE RACES RECEIVE PRIZES TODAY

Winners of the ice carnival races will be awarded their cups and medals at the men's gym between 3 and 5 o'clock this afternoon, Gilbert F. Hoffmann, chairman of the carnival, announced yesterday. Those entitled to the awards are asked to report at the gym during these hours.

EDITH MATTHISON, CHARLES KENNEDY TO APPEAR HERE

Noted Actors to Present "The Chastening" in Music February 28

Charles Rann Kennedy and Edith Wynne Matthison, noted actor and actress, will appear here Thursday, February 28, in Music hall, under the auspices of the Wisconsin Chapter of National Collegiate players, honorary dramatics fraternity, according to an announcement made yesterday by Roy French, grad, business manager for the society.

The Kennedy players will present "The Chastening," a new play in five acts, written just for this cast by Mr. Kennedy.

Praised in the East

Charles Rann Kennedy is the author of such successful plays as "The Servant in the House," and "The Rib of Man." His company appeared here a few years ago and at that time, they were heralded as the foremost actors who had ever appeared in Madison. At that time they presented "The Servant in the House," which two years ago the Central high school staged and played to several university audiences.

"The Chastening," is one of the newest plays written by the playwright. It has three characters, and has been declared by the New York and other eastern metropolitan presses as amazingly original, and easily Kennedy's masterpiece.

Ticket Sale Begins

Appearing with Charles Rann Kennedy and Edith Wynne Matthison, will be Margaret Gage, who will play the third part, that of the carpenter's son. This part was written especially for her and she is a pupil of Miss Matthison and Mr. Kennedy.

Mail order sale for "The Chastening" is now open, according to Alfred Ludden '24, chairman of tickets. Tickets are $1.50 and $1. Mail orders should be sent to Ludden at 1015 University avenue.

KEMPER-KNAPP LOAN FUND IS ESTABLISHED

A student loan fund of $5,000 to be known as the Kemper-Knapp loan fund for needy students has been voted upon by the board of regents.

This fund was donated to the university by Mr. Knapp, a prominent Wisconsin graduate now living in Chicago.

"This loan is to be continued indefinitely," said Secretary M. E. McCaffery. "All applicants must first be recommended by the student loan committee before they can receive aid from this fund."

WALLACE SPEAKS TODAY ON POETRY

University of Toronto Professor Will Talk on "Recent Scottish Poetry"

"Recent Scottish Poetry" will be the subject of the lecture to be given by Malcolm W. Wallace, professor of English at the University of Toronto at 4:30 o'clock today in 165 Bascom hall. The lecture is open to the public.

A brief review of minor Scottish literature from the earliest times until the present will be given by Professor Wallace, who will point out the characteristic tendencies in the history of that literature. Professor Wallace will deal at greater length with the present day literature putting especial emphasis upon Violet Jacob and Charles Murray, both poets.

Professor Wallace is of Scotch origin himself, and has been on the faculty of the University of Toronto for over 20 years. Before that time he was professor of English at Beloit college, Wisconsin.

The lecture will be held under the auspices of the committee on lectures and convocations.

CASTALIA HONORS 60 ANNIVERSARY

Formed in 1864 By First Women Enrolled at University

Castalia Literary society is soon to celebrate its 60th anniversary at a Founder's Day banquet of its own.

Castalia enjoys the distinction of being the first women's organization on the Wisconsin campus, having been founded by girls of the normal department the very year, 1864, when women first enrolled in the university.

Most of the charter members of Castalia came to the university directly before the Civil War, when the Regents added a normal department for women, in case a large number of men should enlist.

Mrs. Lathrop E. Smith, the first secretary of Castalia, and now residing in Madison, gives this account of the first meeting of the society.

"Many of us well remember with what nervousness and anxiety we announced our first public meeting, which was held in the latter part of the winter of 1864 in the south chapel of the main building (where the young men of the university assembled every morning for prayers). The faculty and students and many of the citizens of Madison, curious to see what the girls could do, were there. The principle feature of the entertainment was the play of "The Great Rebellion", besides which we had a paper, essay, recitation and music. We had a goddess of liberty and each state was impersonated by a young lady dressed in white. After each state had its say about secession, the seceding states came back into the union and pledged their loyalty to the stars and stripes. All ended well and the union was preserved.

"So in one evening the Castalians were able to accomplish the task which took Uncle Sam four years with immense sacrifice of life and property. Our friends all told us that the presentation of the play was a great success. The committee in charge of the banquet is, Alpha Roth, Ethel Druse, Dorothy Hoskins '25, Fannie Gallas '25, Marion Talford '25, Mildred Rooney, Edna Walter and Margaret Meyer '25.

ILLINOIS REGISTRATION HASTENED BY NEW RULE

URBANA, Ill.—Twelve hundred fifty faculty members and clerks of the University of Illinois found their time fully occupied Monday and Tuesday registering the 7126 students, who filed their programs and paid their semester fees during those days. The number registered exceeds that of the corresponding time a year ago by 199. Officials attribute this increase to the new rules making late registration more expensive and troublesome.

CORVALLIS, Ore.—A song book containing songs of the Oregon Agricultural college is to be in the hands of the students soon. The book will include both old and new school songs.

University Poets Will Read Their Works at Meeting

Readings by a number of university poets from their own writings will feature the monthly meeting of the American Association of University Women, at 3 o'clock Saturday at the College club.

The entire program arranged by Miss Mary Katherine Reely of the library school faculty will be devoted to modern poetry. Professor Grant Showerman, Paul M. Fulcher of the English faculty, Miss Julia Grace Wales, Miss Margaret McCarthy, Miss Marion Ryan, Miss Katherine Reid will take part in the program.

Poems by Miss Zona Gale and the late Mrs. H. P. Greely will probably be read. In addition there will be on exhibition some of the recent books of poetry, and collections by Masfield, De La Mare, and Vachel Lindsey.

OFFER NEW HOME ECONOMICS COURSE

Open to Juniors and Seniors
Only; No Chemistry
Necessary

Any student can now enroll in a year course in Home Economics and get a general survey of the subject without having to take chemistry or any other prerequisite, or without having to be enrolled in the college of Agriculture. The course is open only to juniors and seniors.

The course is a general survey of Home economics and is divided into two semesters. The first, elementary dietetics, and the second, elementary house management.

Elementary dietetics consists of a study of the art of cookery and a study of the various kinds and values of food. House management consists of a study of house architecture and sanitation, clothing, house decoration, and other phases of home management.

"I wish every man and woman in the university, (yes, man,) might be familiar with the teachings of this course," said Miss Abby L. Marlatt, director of the course in Home economics. "The home plays a large part in the progress of civilization, and everybody needs to know of these things."

Miss Marlatt explained that a study of food and its proper use

SPRING FAR AWAY, ERIC MILLER SAYS

Weatherman Declares Vegetation Probably Won't Come Before May

"The best way to get spring now is to go down to Florida," Eric R. Miller of the weather bureau told an impatient student yesterday.

"It has snowed every April since 1901, and since 1884 only four Aprils have had no snow," the weatherman said. "Vegetation generally doesn't come out before May here, and if it does, it usually gets frosted."

Miller said that Madison had traces of snow October 19 of last year, and .8 of an inch on October 30, and that last spring there was a half an inch of snow on May 8 and 9.

This year we had snow traces on November 16, and .2 of an inch on November 23.

Comparative figures show .2 of an inch of snow November, 1923 with only traces of snow in November 1922; 11.6 inches last December against 9.4 inches the year before; and 5.8 inches this January against 11 inches in January 1923. Although there were 10.6 inches of snow February of last year, Miller said that this month probably would not have as much snow.

"There is too much variability to know for a few years whether winters are coming later in the year," the weatherman asserted. "Judging by the last few hundred years, it is not very probable that there will be a shift."

Yankee Ways of Spaniards Meet Ridicule in Play

The conflict between American ideas and Spanish customs and the criticism of some Spaniards for Yankee ways, is shown in the farce, "Una Yanqui en Espana" selected by the Spanish club for the annual play which will be given some time in March.

Written by Samuel Wofsy of the Romance language department with Spanish club work in view, the play is ideally adapted for this sort of work, since it contains a vocabulary especially fitted for the understanding of the average Spanish student in the university.

The play will be required for outside reading in all 10a and 10b Spanish classes, and copies will be placed on sale at the Co-op within a few weeks. The book contains a vocabulary with the more difficult words and phrases explained.

"Una Yanqui en Espana" is the third play written by Mr. Wofsy for Spanish club work. Last year he wrote and directed the annual Spanish play, "Nuestro Futuro Diputado."

FROSH NETMEN WIN OVER SOPHS IN FARCE COMEDY

Final Score Stands at 17 to 15; Martell Turns Tide For Yearlings

In a game which went an overtime period and was as full of laughs as a three ring circus, the freshman basket team defeated the sophomore aggregation yesterday afternoon by a score of 17 to 15.

Martell and Garton turned the trick in the extra period when, with the score standing 13 apiece, they tipped in two goals. Jack Harris dropped in a counter just before the gun, but the sophs were unable to find the hoop for another.

At times the tilt threatened to degenerate into an athletic farce, for coaches, players, and officials, all were in one grand mixup most of the time. At other times the play was fast and accurate, and both teams showed that they were able to play good basketball.

Half Ends in Tie

The first half ended with the score standing 4 to 4. Neither side had been able to penetrate its opponent's defense consistently, and both had resorted to long shots. Brooks, husky frosh center, tipped in two short ones in the first period, but his teammates were unable to find the ring.

Merkle was the only soph to count in this period, and also garnered two goals. He seemed the fastest man on his team and was the only man who had any success in getting through the frosh defense.

Substitutions were frequent. Coach Levis used three full freshman teams, while Doc Meanwell shifted his seven men continually. The most successful combination the frosh used consisted of Martell and Hargett, forwards; Brooks, center; and Bain and Garton, guards.

Levis Uses Strategy

In the second half Coach Levis evidenced his rare strategic ability. With five men on the floor, he posted Hargett, who was then on the sidelines, under the frosh basket. Hargett got a pass when the ball was tipped off, but he foozled his shot, and the gun ended the game.

Martell and Garton each dropped in a goal, and Harris got one just before the game ended. The lineup follows:

COLBERT SAYS WHITES MUST CONTROL NEGRO

Distribution of the Negro race all over the country so that white dominance can be assured is the only solution to the Negro problem according to Prof. R. J. Colbert, of the department of sociology, who spoke before the Wesley forum meeting Monday evening.

"Whenever there is a migration of races there is bound to be conflict between the migrating race and the dominant race. When the social prestige and the racial superiority of the dominant race is threatened, the ordinary means of maintaining order falls down, and violence and mob rule prevail," Professor Colbert said.

This fact has been the cause of the racial conflicts and mob violence that frequently have occurred in the United States, Professor Colbert pointed out.

ATHLETICS IN THE COLLEGIATE WORLD

HOCKEY TEAM WILL MEET MARQUETTE IN SECOND FRAY

The Badger hockey team will journey to Milwaukee this week-end to meet the fast Marquette puck chasers. This will be a return series. Marquette played Wisconsin here in the early part of the season and won 4 to 1. The overwhelming defeat was largely due to lack of practice on the part of the Badgers.

The hockey team is putting in some hard workouts in preparation for the coming games and is getting into better shape, according to Coach Blodgett. In a fast scrimmage with the frosh last night the varsity showed some good hockey.

Practice has been hindered by constantly recurring snowfalls and thaws.

Coach Blodgett's team was not hit seriously by the ineligibility bugaboo. One of last year's veterans, Fiske, has become eligible and is now with the squad.

The Badgers will play two games Friday night and Saturday night while in Milwaukee. Marquette has an artificial indoor rink and plays all its games at night. The coach is expecting some hard contests with the Marquette team but feels that Wisconsin has a chance. When at Minnesota Marquette received a 6 to 1 beating which is worse than the one the Gophers handed the Badgers here.

While the varsity is traveling to Milwaukee there will be a game between the frosh and the grads here on the lower campus rink Friday morning.

SCHWARZE MAY BE A SECOND MUCKS

Betters Record Arlie Made as Freshman; May Be Olympic Prospect

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 19.—That the University of Wisconsin has a second Arlie Mucks in Herbert Schwarze, is the hope of T. E. Jones track mentor who coached Mucks to a world's collegiate record and who is now training Schwarze.

When Mucks came to Wisconsin he stood 6 feet 3½ inches and weighed 262 pounds. He could put the 16 pound shot about 43 feet and hurl the discuss and put the shot 49 feet 4½ inches.

Mucks was graduated in 1917 but was not permitted to compete during his senior year as all intercollegiate athletics were stopped because of the war. In practice that spring Mucks threw the discuss 163 feet 8 inches and would have broken the world's record had any meets been held.

While in high school Mucks ran on the relay team and played tackle on the football team, but an injury to his knees kept him off the football team at Wisconsin in his senior year. He was also a stellar performer with the javelin, but gave it up after entering college for fear of injuring his arm for the weights.

Schwarze, now 19 years of age, attended the Washington high school in Milwaukee, and the St. John's Military Academy, where he had a record of 52 feet 4 inches for the 12 pound shot, 122 feet with the discus and 157 feet, 7 inches for the javelin. Since entering Wisconsin he has taken up the 16 pound shot and in the recent invitation meet held by the Illinois Athletic club in Chicago, won first place with 44 feet, 7 and 3/4 inches.

Like Mucks Schwarze is giving up the javelin and will devote his attention to the shot and discus. He is remarkably fast and active for a man of his gigantic size, standing 6 feet, 4¾ inches and weighing 260 pounds. He can run 50 yards in six seconds, almost as fast as the average football back, follows the ball readily and is an aggressive tackle.

Meanwell Asks That Fans Do Not Ragg Officials

Basketball spectators jeopardize games by shouting at the officials over apparent unjust decisions. Coach "Doc" Meanwell said yesterday.

"There is no question but the crowd interferes with the team's chance of winning by shouting at the referee. The officials have the power to call fouls on the crowd and one was called in the Butler game," Coach Meanwell stated.

"The crowd has no right to quarrel over the officials' decisions. The team and coach who have to suffer when a foul is called on the crowd. If the team is willing to play the game square, the crowd should also be ready to accept the decisions as they are given.

"The various coaches of the conference choose the officials for the game and are ready and willing to accept their decisions. No referee is thrust on us; we accept the decisions of these officials and the crowd should have enough Wisconsin spirit and sportsmanship to back us up instead of jeopardizing our chances."

SWIMMERS MEET GOPHERS TONIGHT

Steinauer Sees Relay Event as Real Battle; Minnesota Strong Squad

Last Saturday proved to be the "high-spot" in the conference basketball circles. Wisconsin emerged on top of the list. Every one of the prospective champs in the Big Ten went into action, and at least three of them were slipped an unlooked for reverse.

Michigan, without the services of their star guard, Cherry, lost through ineligibility, triumphed over the Purdue outfit by an overwhelming score, 34-20. The game was marked by the sensational basket shooting of Gullion, Purdue center, and Haggerty, Michigan forward. This defeat toppled Purdue out of first place.

The game was marked by the sensational basket shooting of Gullion, Purdue center, and Haggerty, Michigan forward. This defeat toppled Purdue out of first place.

Iowa traveled to the Maroon's gym to take on the Chicagoans, who had previously mopped up on the Hawks at Iowa City. Iowa was bent on revenge, however, and flooded the basket with ringers for a 21-13 in. Chicago was off-form that night and couldn't connect with their shots from the middle of the floor. The Maroons were relegated to second place by virtue of this defeat.

Wisconsin went into action against the Indians after a long lay-off, and through the basket-shooting ability of Captain Gibson, crashed through with a win in the final minutes of play.

Ohio State toppled the Indiana aggregation 31-27 score. Indiana led throughout the first half, and at half time, but shots by Captain Miner and Cunningham swept the Indiana lead to the side, and Ohio won. Ohio is fast becoming the most feared team in the conference, through its exceptional scoring ability.

The teams were jugged around a bit during the last week, in the conference standings. Michigan is now in sixth place with Indiana, and still has a chance to win the gonfalon. Indiana is practically out of the race with its four losses, as is Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota and Northwestern. All of these teams, however, will cause much worry to the leaders for the rest of the season. Ohio State moved up to within striking distance, and rests in fourth place to date.

Games this week should be interesting. More conference teams will see action this week than ever before this year. Today Purdue will play Northwestern at Evanston. The fighting Illini will go to Iowa City Friday and engage in a real holiday thriller. Saturday eight of the ten teams will go into action. Wisconsin will start its road trip by playing Ohio State at Columbus. Chicago will engage the Hoosiers at Bloomington; Northwestern travels to Minnesota, and Michigan and Purdue will battle again at Lafayette.

The ice boat race and skate across the lake will be held as soon as enough snow melts to permit the staging of the events.

A loving cup will be awarded the winner of the ice boat race and three medals will be given for first, second and third place in the skate across the lake. This is the first year that more than one medal has been given in this event. All students are eligible to enter competition in either of the races.

SPECIAL RELAYS ARE INCLUDED IN TRACK PROGRAM

Badger Chances Against Iowa Are Weakened Because of Several Injuries

While the Wisconsin track team and the Iowa cinder path squad men are competing for superiority in the indoor meet to be held here Saturday, two special relay races will be held to determine the relay champions of the the track classes and of the freshman squad, as an additional feature of the meet.

In both of the relays, the six contesting teams will be composed of four men, each member running two laps. The runners who have been selected from the track classes are—(11 o'clock group)—Ihland, Pease, O'Hara, Birver, and Laughlin; (1:30 class)—Beebe, Plettner, Thompson, and Sauer; (3:30 section)—Egbert, Radtke, Lehnichuk, Garena, and Rasmussen.

Several Men Injured

The freshmen athletes who were chosen as members of the three relay teams are—team No. 1, Schilke, Frackleton, Jirtle and Schneider; team No. 2, Voight, Klinger, Francis and Kennan; team No. 3, Annis, Burdick, Flynn and Osterberg.

Wisconsin's chances will be weakened somewhat in the meet against Iowa because of the injuries to several tracksters. Schmidt, pole vaulter, and N. V. Smith, dash man, will not be in condition to enter competition against the Hawkeyes, while it is still doubtful whether Don Jones, pole vaulter, will be able to participate in the meet.

The Iowa meet will be a severe test for the Badgers, and if the Cardinal athletes defeat Iowa, it is probable that they will be among the leaders when the conference indoor games are held at Evanston, March 15.

Brookins in Lineup

The members of the Iowa track team who are entered in the meet on Saturday are:

40-yard dash—Coulter, Brookins, Roberts, and Lamber.

40-yard high hurdles—Crawford, Swenson, Apfel, and Brookins.

440-yard run and relay—Coulter, Brookins, Roberts, Morrow, Otte, and Graham.

Two mile run—Van Ness, Goodrich, Phelps and Wyllie.

One mile run—Van Ness, Goodrich, Bender, and Phelps.

880-yard dash—Morrow, Otte, Wellsler, and Van Ness.

High jump—Klindt, Dobson and Jones.

Pole Vault—Meder, Oehlert, and Boyles.

Shot put—Coulter, Dauber and Daine.

THE PERFECT HOST

The party was complete. Every one there enjoyed himself immensely; such a good time has seldom been had by guests. And why? Was it not because of the host? The general opinion is that it was. Entertaining, explaining—just talking, Prexy led in the celebration like a real host. Those who had not known him before the evening had started, left the auditorium feeling good fellowship, tremendous admiration, firm friendship for him.

He was the perfect host and all Wisconsin knows it.

KILL THE REFEREE

When the score is tied or Wisconsin's opponents are leading by a slight margin and the referee renders a decision, the latest thing to do according to etiquette is to boo and hiss the official. If you are in the Badger stands you are considered a traitor if you fail to hiss any decision of the referee. It's the latest thing, and the fact that the official in question may deem it right and just to call a foul on the crowd, a foul which may net the winning point for Wisconsin's opponents, matters little. Badger supporters want a championship, but what they want most of all is to kill the referee.

Such is the attitude of basketball fans, if the last two games held in the armory are any indication of that attitude. It is a great thing to have Wisconsin spirit, but when that spirit is such that it manifests itself as it has at the Butler and Illinois game, then it becomes adulterated.

Students hold a good deal of veneration for their basketball coach. They realize that he is the best coach in his line in the country. They want to see him put out a championship team this year. Some of them may do a great amount of criticizing if the team does not carry off the pennant. Yet those same students imperil all chances for the championship when they boo a decision of the referee. Doc may wave them to be quiet, the captain of the team may beseech the fans to use their heads, the cheer leader, during a time-out period, may warn them, yet they go on booing with the score at a very dangerous point.

What is to be done? Do you want a basketball championship? If you do, you must do your part and that is to observe good manners and abide by the referee's decision. He has been at the game for some time, he is supposed to know more about basketball than the average spectator, he can not see everything, but between him and his assistant, the umpire, there is little that passes unobserved. Unquestionably, officials are a necessary part, although some people may think an evil part, of an athletic contest.

When Wisconsin plays next on the home floor remember this: that we are all pulling for a championship, that we are going to get it, but that we endanger our chances for it if we do not back the team—if we hiss the referee's decision.

YOUTH

Ancient and respected is the custom of speaking of the "Folly of Youth" and deplored its radicalness and untamed enthusiasm. Age, conservative age, laments and bewails the ways of youth, lacking sympathy and trust in its happiness, its carelessness, its energy, and progressiveness, forgetful that it once, too, was youth with all its fiery ardour. And often to the youth, as he plans his castles in Spain, there comes the feeling that the belittlement, the discouragement, and the disapprobation of his ideas and efforts by age is not without foundation and that any and all efforts of his must necessarily be valueless and unavailing; that there can be nothing substantial behind them solely because he cannot see with the eyes of age. But this is not so, for the youth of today is far better educated, is far better equipped with an understanding of the relationship of human affairs and things than was the old man of yesterday. Youth may have all the ability, all the judgment, all discernment of age, but if his hair be not white and his step tottering, he is pronounced a child, his ideas discredited. Because Age has seen the hopelessness of effort, the inevitability of fate, the uselessness of strike and struggle, and has abandoned its castles in Spain, it feels that Youth with all his fiery ambition and ardour is but a troublesome babe wasting its energies in pursuit of will-o-the-wisps; that not until Youth has thrown away all his hope and enthusiasm and settled himself in an acceptance of the stagnation of life to eke out a living for himself and his from an unsympathetic world that not till then is he to be considered a moving factor in the making of progress and the accomplishing of deeds. But Youth always has and always will have it otherwise regardless of the headshaking of Age, and fortunately so.

"THE HEAVY-FOOTED"

It is generally granted that Wisconsin's celebration of its seventy-fifth birthday went off beautifully, that the party held in the Stock pavilion was about as near perfect as it could have been. At the same time, a good many of those who were present night before last feel that the edge was taken off the beauty of the party by a few people, a few who were not on the program but who perhaps because of the omission felt slighted and determined to make their own speeches so that the audience could hear them.

As a result, many in that audience were unable to hear the speeches which were on the program and were forced to listen to a low rumble mingled with giggles and loud cackling. The source of this disconcerting noise is not known. It is suspected that it came from a few who were unable to gain admittance to the auditorium and who were perhaps peevish at being thus left out in the cold as well as being omitted from the program. It is a wonder that they were not mobbed on the scene. But the grace of God saved them and they escaped. But if thoughts were actions, they would have been struck dead on the spot.

In one of America's magazines is conducted a department which runs general notes, usually of an editorial savor, on life and people. One of these editorial notes was called "The Heavy-Footed." It spoke of those people who come to a theater after the show has commenced, make a great noise walking down the aisle, shuffle into their seats and take much time before they are finally settled for their enjoyment of the performance. It spoke of those people who walk four abreast on a narrow side-walk, leaving no room for others to pass them. It spoke of people who block the aisles of a street car when some one is endeavoring to get out of the car. In general, it spoke of all those who make themselves obnoxious to their fellows. They are "The Heavy-Footed." Now and then we all join the class. At times we are all careless of other people's feelings.

Without a doubt, though, the noise-makers at the Founders' Day celebration in the Stock pavilion were charter members of "The Heavy-Footed" organization.

The cut of the Founder's Day celebration which appeared in The Cardinal the morning following the party was finished two hours after the picture was taken.

View-Point

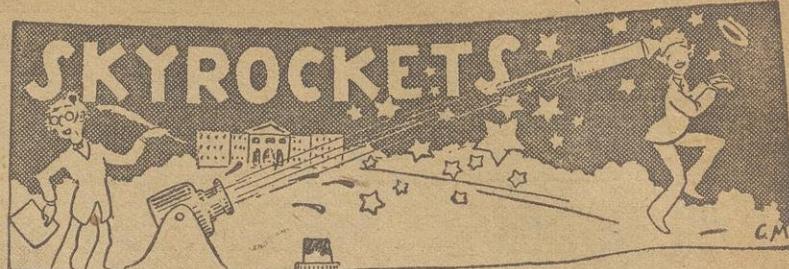

(By Recoil)

After a time they stopped to look back at the capitol. High through the mist and dark it rose, like the far-away vision of an enchanted fairy-land. Her eyes grew thoughtful. "It is beautiful," she said.

For a moment they looked in silence. Then she laughed, "But after all it is real, isn't it boy. And inside—shiny brass cuspids, and coarse politicians. It makes it all grotesque."

"Forget that side," he objected, "think of the ever-increasing number of politicians who instead of using mahogany desk-tops to rest their feet on, are actually writing on them—to our benefit. That's the complement to your picture."

"Yes," she agreed, "then it remains a vision of beauty."

HELP WANTED

Who can give this worthy man a lift?

It has been brought to our attention that one of Coach Meade Burke's most promising track candidates has been forced to drop his track work because of pecuniary difficulties. After much questioning the young man admitted that the cause of these difficulties was the shower after each day's work-out. It seems that said shower washed all the Stickum off his hair thus requiring daily applications in large quantities. This excessive use of the "stuff that binds" has driven him to the very rocks of financial ruin. Cannot something be done for this most deserving of students? Or are we to stand by unassisting while on of the greatest track athletes that has ever graced the doors of these halls of learning is lost to our Alma Mater? The matter is one deserving immediate and careful attention. Perhaps some member of the Kookoepic Klub can be of assistance, let us hope so.

Kutz: Say, Steward, is this an incubator chicken?

Cliff: I don't know, why?

Kutz: Well no chicken that ever had a mother could get as tough as this one is.

Which reminds us that chickens that run around too much, get tough.

IF YOU LIKE THE MOVIES YOU'LL ENJOY THE OCTY

By POO BUNK

Turning over the pages of today's Octopus to the title page we find a sketch by Muriel Leitzell which is exceptionally simple—simple in the more aggravated and accepted sense of dumb, silly and the like,—and we hope coincidentally the keynote of the Hollywood Octopus and for that matter of most Hollywoods and their inevitable exhalation, the movies.

But you can't blame the Octopus, considering that it is the movie the editors are writing and drawing about.

Of course, this month's simpleness has its virtues. We learn plainly what the Octopus staff thinks of the movies and we heartily agree. We pray that Mae Tinee reads "This Is a Putrid Picture" and profits thereby, that the Madison manager gets a look at page 21, and that the myriad "Find-Out Freaks" are not deprived of a glance at page 26.

All in all, we are fairly deluged with satire,—most of it, as indicated delicately before, plain and simple. But there are some good things to recommend that you get gradually wet with before accepting to prepare yourself for the general rain, and then if you don't care to go any further, you can raise your umbrella and stay where you are. Read then the fairy tale of "Romantic Rosy" on page 13 and the episodes from Screamland and see how you feel. You might also let the "Mean Verse" and the two-liner under it on page 18 hit you for good fluid weight.

The verse, — and a lot of the prose,—is strangely anti-climatic this month. But maybe that's good form after so many of the recent "last line punch" things we've had. Ambition has seized some of the contributors this month and we find them groping after Milton in one place, Pope in another, and John Held and his life sketches in still another. The first two counterfeits are almost more successful than the last. Still, since we hit on page 8 as being after the manner of John Held, perhaps it's pretty good after all.

The cover is the best the Octopus has given us this year—even if it does smack of Hearst's International with its green highlights, both of which we cordially detest.

The anatomy on page 9 is fetching, but the idea is as dumb as the girl probably is. The idea on page 11 is intriguing, but the anatomy is rather smashed.

Eligibility or Prom or something must have knocked out a good proportion of the Octopus staff; there do not seem to be the usual number of highly advertised unusual cuts and past the middle of the book the humor is pretty much exchanged. But then, it's good. We can't complain.

Again—you will find the Octopus as you find movies, simple but largely entertaining. And so if you like movies, you will like the Hollywood Octopus. It will give you something more about movies to talk about as some movies sometimes do.

FIRST FOUNDERS DAY HELD IN 1919

Exam Periods Have Interfered in Past Years With Celebrations

The first Founder's day, officially so-called, was celebrated February 5, 1919. On that afternoon Bishop Samuel Fallows, one of the twenty graduates of the class of '49, addressed some 2,000 students at the gymnasium on the early history and spirit of the university.

The day's celebration was simple, the dismissal of classes at 3:30 for the occasion being the most unusual feature. It was hoped, however, that the event might again be staged next year in a more pretentious style.

Convention Held in 1920

This wish was realized. Just a little more than a year later on the night of February 20, 1920, convocation was again held in the gymnasium, this time with a larger attendance, and a more elaborate program. The principal address of the evening was made by Dr. Charles H. Vilas '65, president of the regents, on the university and its first chancellor.

Other significant addresses were given by Leroy J. Burlingame '18 who spoke on the evolution of Wisconsin spirit, and Miles Riley '09 who discussed plans for the Memorial Union building. Dean George C. Sellery presided.

While not officially designated as Founders' day, a celebration of this order has been held as far back as 1904. In June of that year, a "Jubilee Celebration" was held in conjunction with the inauguration of President Charles B. Van Hise and the usual Commencement exercises.

5 Presidents Spoke

On the day given over to commemorating the birth of the institution there were addresses by President Daniel C. Gilman of the Carnegie Institute, President Richard H. Jesse of the University of Mississippi, President Benjamin I. Wheeler, of the University of California, President Cyrus Northrop of the University of Minnesota and President James B. Angell of the University of Michigan. A university banquet in Armory hall, followed by a promenade concert on the Upper Campus completed the program.

GUIDE BOOKLET IS ISSUED BY S. G. A.

Vocational Pamphlet Publishes Information About Jobs For Women

"After College, What?" is the new guide booklet which has just been completed by the vocational committee of S. G. A., for distribution during the vocational meet to be held March 3-9 in Lathrop parlors.

Possibilities for women in the world after graduation are discussed in the booklet. In former years a similar pamphlet has been issued but this one is an entirely new issue and points out the present fields open to women in the business world. The question, "After College, What?" is answered in three parts. These are opportunities in the business world, opportunities in the home economic field, and opportunities in the professional field.

A considerable number of women earn their own living after graduation from the university according to information in the office of the dean of women. It is because of this interest in the world after graduation that S. G. A. has organized the vocational service, which is composed of a committee of six members, with Mrs. Clara B. Flette as a faculty member. During the last three years this committee has been aided by 15 technical advisors from the different departments in the university.

"A vocational convocation for all university women has been held every spring since 1912. This year special effort has been made to procure speakers who have specialized in the various professions and vocations so that expert advice can be obtained," Louise Tobey '24, chairman of the student committee, stated.

Members of the committee are Louise Tobey '24, Helen McNaught '26, Margaret Grubb '26, Marjorie Capron '24, Alice Colony '26, and Alice McCormick '25.

REMODELING CHURCH

The First Methodist Episcopal church, Wisconsin avenue and E. Dayton street is to be remodeled at a cost of $100,000 the final plans for which will be decided upon by the congregation at a meeting to be held in the near future. Although talk of remodeling the church has been common among the members of the church for the last two years this is the first definite step to be taken.

Noted Journalist
to Be Given Tea
By Sigma Kappa

Members of Sigma Kappa sorority will entertain at tea from 4 to 6 o'clock on Saturday afternoon at the chapter house, in honor of S. K. Ratcliffe, the eminent English journalist and lecturer, who will speak Saturday at a luncheon meeting of the Civics club. Miss Marion Calkins, chaperon at the Sigma Kappa house, is a personal friend of Mr. Ratcliffe.

Mr. Ratcliffe will speak before the Civics club on "Ramsay MacDonald and His Government" instead of "The Parliament and Its Leaders" as announced previously. He has changed his subject, he says in a letter to Mrs. Carl H. Tennyey, chairman of the Civics club, in order to speak of the most recent developments in the English government.

Mr. Ratcliffe's appearance is being looked forward to as an event of unusual interest. Prof. E. A. Ross of the university hearing of his coming spoke of him as the "most accomplished and stirring British publicist alive."

GRIFFITH ADDRESSES
CONVO OF TEACHERS

Prof. Ira S. Griffith of the department of industrial education and applied arts spoke before the art group at the 34th annual convention of the southern Wisconsin teachers' association in the Central high school last Saturday. In his talk Professor Griffith said that education for service should have as important a place in school life as education for adaptability.

ECONOMIC ESSAY PRIZES OFFERED

Babson Contest Announced to Stimulate Student Interest

Roger W. Babson, founder of the Babson Statistical organization, has offered prizes for the two best essays written by students of universities in the United States and Canada on "The Forecasting of the Prices of Wheat," of "Cotton" or of "Lumber." The first prize of $650 is offered to both graduate and undergraduate students, while the second prize of $400 is offered to undergraduates only.

The subject is one which is of interest to students in all parts of the country. The Southerner and New Englander will be able to find considerable information about the growth and manufacture of cotton, while the student from the wheat region will know more about wheat. The Westerner should be interested in lumber.

Mr. Babson offers these awards to stimulate the interest of students in statistical economics, business forecasting, and stabilization of our economic life.

Manuscripts are to be judged by professors from Yale, Cornell and Minnesota. They should be sent to Ray B. Westerfield, the Secretary of the American Economics Association, Yale Station, New Haven, Conn. Any further information may be obtained from him.

EXTENSION ORGANIZES NEW LECTURE SERIES

A ten week lecture course on basic social problems has been organized by the university extension division in co-operation with the civil service commission. The meetings are being held in the G. A. R. rooms at 4:30 o'clock each Monday at the capitol. Prof. C. G. Dittmer of the department of sociology of the university is conducting the course. Although particularly intended for members of the various departments of the state public service, the class privilege is open to others who are interested in sociology.

The class has an enrollment of over 50, representing practically every department of the civil service. The subjects of the course are:

"Growth and Numbers, or the Problems of Size;" "The Quality of the Social Population;" "The New View of the Child;" "The Sociology of Divorce;" "The Woman's Problems;" "Commercial Civilization;" "Disposal of Spare Time;" "The Professions and the Public;" "Taint ed Sources of Public Opinion."

COVER OF DRAMA DRAWN BY OEHLER

Magazine Uses Illustrations of Former Instructor of Art Here

Dancing figures drawn by Miss Bernice Oehler, former instructor in the university, have been used as cover illustrations in recent issues of the Drama magazine. Miss Oehler's covers have been used consecutively each month since last August. Her well-known portrait of Israel Zangwill, author of "We Moderns" will appear in the March number of the magazine.

Miss Oehler taught home economics and manual arts in the university in 1919-20. She has also taught during several summer sessions. Among Miss Oehler's best work are a number of prints and friezes of decorative figures of a dance. These have been used by dancing teachers all over the country to assist their students in getting a correct pose. Most of these prints were drawn from the dancing classes of Miss Margaret H. Doubler. They were developed from quick action sketches of the dances and redrawn from repeated poses.

At present Miss Oehler is working on the illustrations for a language book written by Prof. Sterling Leonard of the English department.

"Les Misérables" is a frieze which she drew to help Miss H'Doubler's dancers in a pose. Others equally well-known are "The Refugees", "The Flames", Cycle of Hours" and Raggedy Ann's."

British Publicist
Will Give Talk on Ramsay McDonald

"Ramsay MacDonald and His Government" is the subject of the address which S. K. Ratcliffe, former American representative for The Manchester Guardian, will deliver before the Civics club at a one o'clock meeting Saturday at the Woman's building.

"Mr. Ratcliffe is one of the most accomplished and stirring British publicists alive," Prof. E. A. Ross of the sociology department said. "For some years he was editor of an important newspaper in India, and was secretary of the British Sociological society. He thus became acquainted with practically all of the living thinkers of the sociological field.

"For three or four years he was the American representative of The Manchester Guardian, perhaps the greatest independent newspaper in Christendom. Mr. Ratcliffe is well acquainted with the education, public career and personal traits of all the British public men, and on things political he speaks as an insider. He is an incisive speaker with a genius for crisp, memorable statements," Professor Ross concluded.
