Thirty million dollars for prohibition enforcement!

This amount was voted by the House of Representatives last Friday. No one should begrudge this, either. Prohibition is a fact legally, and deserves as much support as the government can possibly give it. The prohibition law is as worthy of respect as any other law of the land.

Yet it is with something more than a misgiving that we are forced to view such a stupendous outlay. Talk of enforcement is nothing less than "hunk", pure and unadulterated. The idea of carrying into effect this obnoxious and undemocratic law, is as absurd as the law itself.

Some idea of the magnitude of the American railway business is to be gained from a report made public last week by the Bureau of Railway Economics. For the first time in history, railroads have had a net operating income of over a billion dollars for the first ten months of the year. Indications are that the 1926 total will be about $1,240,000,000. But despite this seemingly enormous income, the country's railroads are not earning the "fair return" of five and three-quarters per cent on property investment, allowed by law.

A world disarmament conference, summoned by the League of Nations, will in all probability meet in 1928, instead of 1927, as some had hoped. This was indicated last week by the League Council's action in calling upon the Preparatory commission to report the moment at which it will be possible to summon the conference. The report will come too late to bring the conference into being next year, but the effect of this delay on ultimate results may be very salutary. It is well conceded that there can be no real disarmament unless all the nations of Europe join in. In view of recent developments, Asia's attitude becomes increasingly important. Right now, Italy is in no mood either to enter into an arrangement for disarmament, or to inspire the other nations with such a desire. Things may be different in 1928. The same holds for Russia as for Italy. A new, and naturally militant, China, adds further complications. To attempt a disarmament conference today would certainly jeopardize future efforts.

That misfortune attendant upon the rise of the exchange value of the French franc were less terrible than those due to its fall, is the thesis of Premier Poincare. The franc's ascent undoubtedly works hardships; but the upward trend is encouraging at least to the extent that, in barometric fashion, it reveals a sounder condition of the French treasury and greater confidence in the new fiscal policies.

In recent days there has been a deal of discussion as to the desirability and undesirability of the skyscraper. Mr. A. C. Bossom, a New York architect, rushes to the defense as follows:

"We are undoubtedly going to have skyscrapers in the future. ... The plumbing work in America leads the world, and it is the skyscraper that caused this to develop. The great luxury, the American bathroom, has become a vital necessity here."

Prof. Brown Granted Semester's Leave of Absence

Prof. Ray A. Brown, of the Law school, has been granted a leave of absence for the second semester. He is to be on the committee instituted by government research at the request of the Secretary of the Interior. This is a response to public opinion that the social and economic status of the American Indians be looked into. Prof. Brown is to be legal advisor to the committee.

The committee is composed of specialists along different lines. Lewis Merin, formerly with the U. S. bureau of census, is in charge. Other members are Dr. F. A. McKinzie, professor of economics and sociology at Ohio State; Edward Everett Dale, head of the history department of the University of Oklahoma; and Prof. W. J. Spillman of the government department of agriculture.

Committee to Grant Award to Writers of Melodies for Fox Trot

A prize of $25.00 will be awarded to the student who composes the winning fox trot in the annual competition for the honor of writing the official melody of the 1928 Junior Prom, it was announced today by Don Barr, chairman of the committee in charge of that phase of Prom activity. An award of $15.00 is to be made to the student writing the second best selection.

Members of the faculty of the School of Music and other people prominent in the musical circles of Madison will act as judges in the contest. Music and lyrics must be placed in the hands of Don Barr at the Theta Chi house, 22 Langdon street, not later than Friday, Jan. 7 to be considered eligible for the award.

The original Prom fox trot has become an institution in connection with the annual fete of the Junior class. The winning composition will be played at the Prom and sold in sheet music form at all the leading music stores.

Louis Boorda '30, Mishiwaukee, Ind., winner of the freshman declamatory contest held recently under the auspices of the speech department and Forensic board, was presented with a silver loving cup at the regular Friday luncheon of the Forensic Board at the University club on Friday.

Ghosts, Farmers Mingle at S. G. A. Masquerade Fete

Little girls and ghosts, farmer boys and Cleopatras met last night at the W. S. G. A. masquerade dance in Lathrop parlors. The funniest person there was Fern Bell '29, who looked so droll in a too big, unisexed and a high silk hat that she won the prize of a tin horn.

Marion Horr '30 in a black Skeezie cat outfit, won a toy balloon for having the most original costume. A quaint little lady in an old fashioned blue gown, Emily Ann Albrecht '30, was judged the prettiest girl at the party and rewarded with a doll.

Betty Wilson '29, in the gaudy gown of a bowery girl, sang a humorous song, "Goz-Into." John Stewart's orchestra provided the music for the dance.

Prof. Kraus Is Ill As Result Of Hemorrhage

Prof. E. J. Kraus, of the botany department, was taken to the State of Wisconsin General hospital at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon suffering from an internal hemorrhage. A blood transfusion was resorted to in order to compensate loss caused by the hemorrhage.

Although his condition was serious when he was suddenly afflicted and taken to the hospital in the afternoon, the attendants reported last night that he was very much improved and resting well.

Prof. Kraus was placed in charge of Dr. H. M. Kay who supervised the transfusion. Hospital attendants were unable to furnish the name of the donor of the blood.

Rumor was current during the latter part of the day that he had been the victim of a stroke, but communication with the University club, where Prof. Kraus lives, proved this to be unfounded.

It is not known how long he will be confined to the hospital. It was stated at the University club that he had had no previous attacks of a similar nature and that he was afflicted without warning.

WILSON AND CHAIRMEN MEET TO PLAN WORK

A meeting was held at 1:30 o'clock yesterday at the Sigma Kappa house of all assistant general and committee chairmen of the 1928 Junior Prom. Prof. Gordon to Lead All-University Song-fest

Prof. E. B. Gordon of the School of Music, will lead the annual all-university song-fest at 4:30 o'clock next Wednesday afternoon in Music hall. This is a yearly get-together of students for the purpose of singing Christmas carols, sponsored by the College of Engineering through Polygon. In addition to the community singing, a 30-piece orchestra will be present. President Emeritus E. R. Birge will give a short talk at the meeting.

Pianist and Soprano Join in Recital Tomorrow

Miss Elsa Chandler, pianist, and Miss Thelma Halverson, soprano, two well known artists, will combine in the joint recital to be given tomorrow evening at Esther Vilas hall in the Y. W. C. A. under the direction of the Mu Lambda chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon, honorary music sorority. The proceeds of the concert are to be utilized for the Mu Phi Epsilon scholarship fund, which is awarded each semester to a deserving student. Miss Halverson has won acclaim in major concerts in both Minneapolis and Chicago, and has been praised as a singer of experience with a voice of both power and beauty, always under control.

HI-Y MEN RALLY AT DORMS TODAY

To Hold Discussion on University Life After Dinner at Refectory

More than 50 former Hi-Y men will join in a discussion of university life this noon following Sunday dinner at the dorm refectory. The University Y. M. C. A. is sponsoring the event which will give many men their first opportunity to eat at the new dormitories and become acquainted with the men residing there.

In the belief that university men, whether living in the dormitories or outside, have to face practically the same problems, the Frosh Y has arranged this rally for men who have belonged to Hi-Y clubs or have been at the Y. M. C. A. camps in Wisconsin.

Ray Sowers, one of the state Y. M. C. A. secretaries in Hi-Y work, is coming from Milwaukee to preside at the discussion. C. V. Hibbard, secretary of the University Y is in charge of arrangements. Waldo Favereau, Frosh Y president, is handling outside arrangements and Edgar A. Zeise '30, and Alan Reudt '30, are in charge within the dormitories.

DEAN A. V. MILLAR EXPLAINS USE OF "ROGUE'S GALLERY"

"The custom of keeping a photographic record of each entering student in engineering could well be applied to other branches of the university," said assistant dean Adam V. Millar of the engineering school Friday.

This record, commonly known to undergraduate engineers as the "rogue's gallery," contains the name, course of study, high school record, date of entry, and a front and side view picture of each student.

The picture is taken at registration time in Dean Millar's office. The process is simple, the student standing near a mirror under which has been placed his name and the date, and the resulting exposure give both front and side views with one sitting. The average number of pictures taken each year since 1922 is about 300. The cost is about $20 for each year's photographing. Nearly 1500 pictures have been taken since the fall of 1922.

In addition to this record, dean Millar has four wall maps of the state representing each class. A pin with a separate marking for his branch of engineering has been placed so as to mark each student's home town. A separate list besides each map gives the home of out of state students. After the freshman year each pin is marked so as to represent the scholastic rating of the student.

"By this system, I am able to learn, at short notice, the localities that are sending us the best students," concluded dean Millar.

"DOC" CALLS OFF SCHEDULED TILT OF CAGE TEAMS

"W" Men and Sophomores Will Not Battle Tomorrow Night

The open practice between the varsity "W" men and the sophomore members of the team which was scheduled for tomorrow night has been called off, according to an announcement made late yesterday afternoon by Coach Walter E. Meanwell. The veteran cage pilot came to the conclusion that such a hard battle as was promised when the two groups met would be too much for his team considering the opening game with Franklin is only a short distance away.

With this announcement, comes the statement that there will be no more open practices this season and Butler fans will have to wait until Friday night to be able to determine the strength of this season's team—which might have been possibly determined if the game, which was planned to be held tomorrow, would have been played.

The rest of the week will be spent in hard practice which is bound to consist in several secret practice games played between the squad. The big question confronting the curious public is who Meanwell will start Friday night. He has a number of men who are about equally efficient and the starting lineup will probably be unknown until just a few minutes before the game that night.

It is hard to tell just what Meanwell is running into with this bunch he is meeting in the opening tussle. True, Franklin has four veterans from last year's team and that ought to be enough to convince anyone that they are strong but the fact the Baptist quintet hasn't played any games makes yet makes it impossible to tell what kind of ball those veterans are playing this year.

Coach Meanwell is convinced that they will be plenty "tough" and is prepared for only the hardest kind of a battle. Franklin has never been beaten by the Badgers and this fact alone has caused some worry among the Wisconsin coaches. The first time the two teams met it was an evenly matched contest and Franklin forged to the front in the last few minutes of play. The year following was a different story and the Hoosiers won a one-sided game from the Badgers.

Has Beaten Champs, But Holds No Title

NEW YORK — Maxey Rosenbloom, who meets K. O. Phil Kaplan at Madison Square garden Monday in a middleweight elimination test, has beaten champions and near champions, but has yet to hold a title himself. Maxey upset Dave Shade twice early this year when Shade was considered the outstanding welter contender. He also gained a decision over Tiger Flowers in a catch-weight encounter shortly before the latter lost the middleweight title to Mickey Walker.

Shore caught most of the Pi Kappa Alpha completed passes. Diwoy, Alpha Chi Sig, got away for good gains on short passes. Donagan showed up the best on defense for Pi Kappa Alpha. FRANKLIN FIVE IS BUILT ANEW

Coach Wagner Developing Men to Fill Shoes of Lost
Stars

FRANKLIN, Ind.—With the last of the famous Van Diver, Gant, Ballard, and company "Wonder Five" graduated, Coach Wagner, of the Franklin college basketball team, faces the problem of developing a new squad, one which he hopes may be again dubbed "The Wonder Five."

The hardest situation facing the able coach is to find capable offensive men. He has an unusually good assortment of defensive talent but is sadly lacking in good offensive men.

There are six veterans on the Franklin list, Captain Kink, Lyons, Scott, McQuiston, Utterback, and Salisbury. From the freshmen Coach Wagner has Reid, Skinner, Wooden, Oas, and Cox. These 11 men will comprise the regular first Friday, both being defensive battlers. Schutt, Theta Xi center, was high individual scorer, with seven points.

Scores: Theta Xi 11; Phi Kappa Sigma 4.

Phi Sigma Kappa 9; Lambda Chi Alpha 2.

Games Monday:

Kappa Sigma vs. Alpha Sigma Phi—12:15.

Pi Kappa Alpha vs. Delta Sigma Pi—12:15.

Alpha Chi Sigma vs. Phi Kappa Tau—6:00.

Phi Phi Phi vs. Farm House—6:00.

five. So far the starting lineup that Wagner is using consists of Scott and Wooden as forwards, Lyons at center, and Captain King and Skinner the guards. King is a floor guard, while Skinner plays back guard.

Two games are foremost in the Franklin team's eyes. The first is Thursday when the Franklinites lock horns with the Indiana university five. The second is with Dr. W. E. Meanwell's Wisconsin team.

If the Franklin team emerges on the long end of the two games, Wagner's team will have a good claim of being one of the strongest teams in this section of the country. Both Indiana and Wisconsin are considered, with Iowa, as the likely winners of the Western Conference. The Hoosiers have a veteran outfit, while the Badger have their sophomore and junior team of a year ago intact, and supplemented by the addition of several star sophomores.

Included on the Franklin schedule are also two games each with Butler college and with the University of Notre Dame.

Wisconsin Leaders Talk to Coaches at Final Session

The closing sessions of the second annual Coaching Clinic were completed yesterday afternoon with close to 175 high school and college coaches attending the session.

Coaches from Wisconsin, Illinois, and Iowa were in attendance, the feature of the day being a talk given by George Little, Wisconsin athletic director, and head football coach, on "The Forward Pass." Tom Lieb, Coach Little's first assistant and head of the Cardinal lineman, gave a demonstration of and offensive and defensive stance of the football lineman.

Other speakers on yesterday's program included George Berg, the chairman of the clinic, Joe Stein-auer, head of the Wisconsin training staff and swimming coach, George Hitchcock, the wrestling coach, and T. E. Jones, the Wisconsin cross country and track mentor. The session closed yesterday.

Of Course There's a Santa Claus

Today we take issue with the business staff of this paper. We don't mind it so much when those fellows over in the business office tell us that we can't have the money for a cut, or that we must refrain from panning a local theater too severely because the manager threatens to withdraw his advertising. We are willing to have a story left out of the paper entirely in order to make room for a profit yielding ad on what started out to be a theater page, and we don't kick when occasionally one of our brain child is slashed beyond recognition because of a fur coat ad, but when a business manager comes out with a statement set in 60 point type saying that "There is no Santa Claus!" we feel that he is going a little too far. That's a horse of a different color. It isn't our intention to pick a quarrel with the business office, but we can't let a dogmatic statement like that go unchallenged.

Eight-year-old Ruthie Johnson's heart is broken. She read the Weekly Cardinal ad in Thursday's paper saying that there was no Santa Claus, and she wrote us a letter which we published Friday, asking if what the ad said was true. Of course it's not true, Ruthie. Don't believe what that business manager said about there being no Santa Claus. Cal Koehring wrote that ad, and we know that he must have been dreaming when he wrote that statement which appeared in such bold faced type at the top of the page. Perhaps he was cynical about something. Perhaps he got out of the wrong side of the bed that morning.

Of course there's a Santa Claus, Ruthie! He will be out at your house at College Hills where you live as surely as he'll be up at Tomahawk, where this writer lives. He'll be everywhere on Christmas eve, and don't you forget to hang up your stocking.

Twenty-nine years ago, Ruthie, a little girl of your age named Virginia O'Hanlon wrote a letter to Charles A. Dana, editor of the New York Sun, and she said practically the same thing you said in your letter to us. Her friends had told her there was no Santa Claus. One of the Sun's editorial writers, Francis P. Church, wrote an editorial answer to the letter which proved absolutely that there was a Santa Claus. That was in the good old days of personal journalism. Mr. Church's editorial appeared in the Sun just before Christmas, in 1897. We are publishing it for your benefit, because you are in the same situation that

Virginia O'Hanlon was in. We think that Mr. Church's article is the most beautiful, the most wonderful, and the truest editorial that has ever been written in the English language. Here is what he said in answer to Virginia, and we wish to make that our answer to you, Ruthie:

"Virginia, your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age. They do not believe except they see. They think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their little minds. All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's, are little. In this great universe of ours man is a mere insect, an ant in his intellect, as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole of truth and knowledge.

"Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! how dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus! It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no childlike faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight. The eternal light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished.

"Not believe in Santa Claus! You might as well not believe in fairies! You might get your papa to hire men to watch in all the chimneys on Christmas eve to catch Santa Claus, but even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would they prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign that there is no Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those neither children or men can see. Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof they are not there. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders there are unseen and unseeable in the world.

"You tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise in side, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man nor the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance, can push aside that curtain and view and picture the supernal beauty and glory beyond. Is it all real? Ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing else real and abiding.

"No Santa Claus! Thank God; he lives, and he lives forever. A thousand years from now, Virginia, nay, ten times ten thousands years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood."

All Editorial Writers Get This Way Once in a While

There, we've got that Santa Claus business off our chest, and we still have a few inches of blank space to fill. We're put to it to know how to fill it. Somehow we're not in the mood to discourse on anything controversial today—excepting, of course, the Santa Claus affair. Sharp, invigorating winter weather, Christmas parties, and the anticipation of going into the North woods of Lincoln county for the holiday recess are all contributing factors to this temporary state of editorial coma.

It isn't that there isn't some provocation to enter into a verbal combat. Another member of the W. C. T. U. insulted us again yesterday and wrote us a biting letter, asking us to search for the facts anent prohibition. We're all loaded up with potent facts which would prove conclusively that the Volstead act is the most pernicious law on the statute books, but we just can't seem to get our anti-prohibition thunder to booming. Guess it's on account of those fellows cutting figures-of-eight out on Lake Mendota in front of the University Y. Great Scott, there's a boy driving his Ford out on the lake. He'd better be careful. That ice isn't safe enough to hold a car yet.

Those Whitewater folks are hopping on our necks for publishing an editorial attacking their president. They claim we're being unfair by calling a man guilty before he has a chance to prove him innocent. What do they think is going on, a trial? A trial usually has an unbiased jury to judge on the guilt of the accused party. In this Cotton-Hyer case, the board of normal regents sit in judgment, and if anything, they are biased in favor of President Hyer. The system of resident regents is a vicious system, anyhow, because it puts the regents too much under the thumb of the presidents. It makes for political log rolling. Too bad that meeting isn't coming off when we're still in town. It's scheduled for Dec. 18, and we'll all be on our way home then. It would be interesting to meet the principles in this far-flung case. However, we don't intend to say anything controversial today.

Gramercy, one lad just took an awful tumble out there on the lake. He gives us the skating fever. We'll have to borrow our kid brother's skates when we go home this weekend. The old Wisconsin and the Tomahawk river must be frozen tight by this time.

Zop tells us of the scotchman who got in Dutch.

Zop, have you heard of the scotchman here in the university who gets poor grades? He won't pay attention, he's so tight.

AT THE THEATER

"Are there any good shows in town?"

"No, the girl next door moved out."

A good many of the seniors have coined a new Christmas phrase to supplement the "Do Christmas Shopping Early" slogan. They say now that if they had only known they would do their thesis shopping early.

And by the way only 11 more shop-lifting days remain until the Christmas yule log is burned.

Don't make the mistake of picking on the fruit store in the Union building hallway—it's watched too well.

FROM THE HONEY TEA ROOM?

Zopelka received a post card yesterday which had written on it: "Enclosed find five dollars."

He can't find it now so he thinks someone must have opened his mail.

Ekkie thinks he will go down to the Whitewater Prom so he can get the facts at first hand.

An ad in a local paper says: "WANTED: sorority girl with wooden leg to stir home brew."

With all of these engagements being announced lately the following might be apropos:

She: Tell me you love me.

He: I love you.

She: Say it as though you meant it.

He: I love you.

She: Say it with more feeling.

He: What the hell is this, a dramatic rehearsal?

SPORTS DEPARTMENT

What a mess of triple threat men we have here at Wisconsin. Right now we don't know whether they are going to:

1. Flunk out
2. Drop out, or
3. Be asked to leave.

"More power to you," said the attendant to the fellow in the electric chair.

KYLE COMMENDS DAILY CARDINAL FOR COTTON EDITORIAL

Editor, The Daily Cardinal:

I want to commend the Daily Cardinal for its fearless editorial on the question of freedom of expression involved in the Cotton-Hyer case at Whitewater Normal. This editorial is a true expression of the spirit of the new Wisconsin which has been so ably voiced by the Daily Cardinal this year.

It is amusing to note the protest of a number of Whitewater instructors, whose salary increases and promotions are subject to the whim of President Hyer, as was that of Prof. Cotton. One wonders if their conception of free expression, gained at the University of Wisconsin, has not been tempered somewhat since they entered Whitewater Normal under the reactionary regime of President Hyer.

When one recalls that the president of the board of regents, himself a partisan of President Hyer, stated at the recent hearing that there has been no criticism of Prof. Cotton's TEACHING.

When Editor Coe of the reactionary Whitewater Register condemns Cotton's political views and requests that he be discharged in the same editorials.

When a sworn statement is introduced showing a deliberate conspiracy between Editor Coe and President Hyer to get rid of this

We ask one question: What the hell did they dig that Union hole for if they are going to cover it all up again?

Some of our boys won't have to take a train home this vacation—they can walk across on the ice.

Anent the Glee Club going to Europe; no doubt the boys after they get over there will find out the meaning of the song, "I'll marry the belle of Barcelona."

The papers tell us now that the evidence of the pig woman has been declared null. One of the boys suggests that one of her pigs squealed on her.

Methinks that the only thing that new Parkway organ lacks is a stop that will imitate an organ.

After some of the squabbles held in the East when the boys wanted to pull down the goal posts, someone suggested that the police play the game while the team guards the goal posts.

Acon said that snow was not the only thing that fell the other day on the hill.

Yeah—and we had just read that pride goeth before a fall—and pain comes after.

And then some bird had the crust to ask if I had enjoyed my trip.

ADD FRATERNITY MAN SERIES

"Are you a fraternity man?"
"No, all the girls back home dress this way."

Leo suggests that Palmolive soap be distributed on the hill Monday to all the coeds.

Why, you ask, oh to restore that schoolgirl complexion.

We played on the victrola the other evening—and formed the following philosophy—look to the phonograph record, only the cheaper ones are two faced.

Con Eklund comes through with this: "A reformer is a species of reptile who prevents the young people from doing the things he wishes he was young enough to do."

And a happy New year to you all.

man Cotton.

Then one wonders what sort of a backwoods conception of free speech is held by those who cannot see that this fundamental issue is involved in the case and who wish to dismiss it as trivial.

W. C. T. U. PUBLICITY

Editor, the Daily Cardinal:
Will you kindly inform yourselves of a few facts regarding prohibition sentiment in this country? It would be appreciated if you would print the enclosed letter in the Cardinal.

MRS. H. H. RATCLIFF.
Editor's Note—Mrs. Ratcliff who addressed the above fiery communication to the editor, is a Madison resident and a member of the Women's Christian Temperance union. She is the mother of Richard U. Ratcliff '27, captain of the varsity swimming team and a prominent man in other campus activities. The following letter, which she requested us to print, is taken from "The Motor" official propaganda organ of the Wisconsin W. C. T. U.)

"The letter was written in reply to an invitation from the A. A. P. A. to join their organization as reported in the Chattanooga Evening News of October 26.

"Mrs. G. C. Hinkley, National Secretary and Treasurer, Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:

"Replying to your letter of the (Continued on page five) sixteenth, I don't think there is a word of truth in any statement you have made in it.

If you had been in our city prior to the Volstead Act and seen the conditions — the amount of liquor consumed—you would not send out such a letter as this to anyone. Conditions in our city, I believe, are 1,000 per cent better in that respect than prior to the Volstead Act.

"While we work only seventy-five or eighty men, that is enough to draw conclusions from. Prior to the Volstead Act we do not recall more than one or two of our men who owned their homes. They took their money and squandered it in disreputable saloons, didn't pay their house rent and grocery bills. Today a great many of them own their own homes and also automobiles. They go to church and pay their debts.

"Why an association like yours wants to break down such conditions I can't understand. It is a pity that the laws would permit such an organization as yours to exist.

"I believe I can give you the names of possibly a dozen men of this city who were formerly in the liquor business whom you couldn't under any circumstances influence in any way to join your association. They are now in legitimate, profitable business and are recognized by society.

I sincerely hope you will not get a single member or subscriber in this city.

Very truly yours,
 W. P. McBROOM."

David Davidson '12, Winona, Minn., was elected representative to the state legislature last month.

DOING THE SHOPS WITH DOROTHY

Dear Friends:

Bagdabs

Bagdabs are something different in French novelties. Manchester's, 15 N. Pinckney street, just received a large variety of them. The single riffs contain concentrated paste perfume; the double riffs contain the perfume and paste lip-stick. They're just the thing to carry around in a tiny pocket or handbag. The perfume can be had in oriental and floral scents. Just the dab of the perfume will last for weeks.

Handkerchiefs

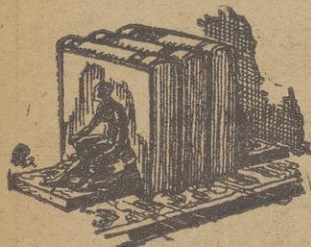

Lacy Handkerchiefs in a myriad of rainbow colors, frilly gorgette ones with hand embroidery, in fact every kind of a 'kerchief can be found at Simpson's Garment company, 23 North Pinckney street. And they do make the loveliest Christmas gifts.

For the demure Miss there is the dainty linen one with deep white lace and with pale pink roses embroidered in the corners.

The gay college girl would delight in receiving one of the brilliant colored silk handkerchiefs with artistic designs of wax painted on. Price 50 cents and up.

Toffe Week

This week is English toffe week at the Candy Shop, 426 State street. This toffe is really delicious because it is so crisp and so plentifully covered with nuts. Drop in the first of the week and take home a box of it. Price 80 cents a pound.

Books for Gifts

The leather bound volumes of selected poems at Brown's Book store, 623 State street, are gifts which are appreciated by everyone. One delicate volume of inlaid Italian leather is only $3. They also have Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam with an inlaid, hand tooled Italian leather cover, and colorful illustrations.

Desk-Sets and "Him" Books

The little leather desk sets at the Co-op gift shop, 702 State street, make novel, inexpensive gifts for men. They are of colored leather having compartments for cards, cigarettes, and a match box; others have space for thumb tacks, stamps, and pen points.

Girls are continually on the lookout for new pets to cuddle. The fluffy Molly dogs with long soft fur and pink eyes are new and lovable.

The Him books in the gift shop are handy for keeping track of the boy friends. Remember the curly-headed boy in first grade who brought you stick candy, or the hero of the class in high school? Put them all into your Him book and think of them once in a while.

The Karnak incense burners at the Co-op would be an addition to a student's room. They are hand made, hand painted and of all shapes and sizes, elves, oriental girls, and black cats.

Skates

Winter, ice and your new skates! What better combination could one hope for? The Vim Sporting Goods company, 317 State street, has a fine Canadian skate that makes skating even more fun than you previously thought it was. This skate comes in all sizes, and the prices range from $3.98 to $10.90.

"English Wool Hose"

Imported English wool socks make one of the nicest gifts that you could possibly give to your boy friends for Christmas. The Campus Clothes Shop, 827 University avenue, has a most complete assortment of these. They have Scotch plaids, checks, and stripes—all the brilliant colors such as reds, blues, and greens predominate. Price $5.

"To Solve Your Christmas Problem"

The gift case at Speths Clothing company, 222 State, with its forty-three different suggestions is one of the most convenient ways of solving your Christmas problems. This case contains such things as scarves, sweaters, pajama, hats, dressing gowns, bathrobes, swede jackets, cigarette cases, cuff links, belts, in fact everything that a man could possibly want. The prices range from 50 cents to $5.

Au-Revoir—see you after vacation.
