INTERCOLLEGiate DEBATORS WILL CLASH TONIGHT

Affirmative Team Will Meet Northwestern in Music Hall

After months of reading and arguing and a lively tryout debate with the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Wisconsin affirmative debating team is ready to answer all the questions to be asked by Northwestern in the traditional intercollegiate debate to be held at 8 o'clock tonight in Music hall.

To Have One Judge

The first woman ever to appear for Wisconsin in this branch of forensics will be Eileen Blacky '25 who will be the second speaker. The other members of the team are Glen Bell '25 who is a veteran from last year, and John Sumner '26.

Following the plan adopted several years ago, the decision will be given by one man. Prof. E. C. Mabie of the speech department of the University of Iowa, has been chosen to decide upon the winners.

Negative Team Away

The other part of the triangle debate will be held at Minneapolis where Wisconsin's negative team will meet the affirmative of Minnesota. Harold Sporer '25, George Mitchell '25, and Isador Alk '25 left last night to represent Wisconsin there.

ATHENA IS VICTOR IN SOPH DEBATE

Hesperia Second and Philomathia Third in Last Night's Contest

Athena defeated the representatives of the other two men's literary societies, Philomathia and Hesperia, in the sophomore semi-public debate held last night in Music hall.

Athena's affirmative team was victorious over Philomathia's negative debaters, while its negative squad defeated Hesperia's affirmative. Hesperia's negative speakers won second place for their society by virtue of defeating the affirmative of Philomathia which came out in last place with two defeats.

The question for the debate was, "Resolved, that the statutory provisions for the enforcement and interpretation of the eighteenth amendment be so changed as to allow the manufacture of light wines and beer."

By winning last night Athena reversed the situation of last year when it lost both contests while Hesperia won first place and Philomathia second.

TWO AUTOS COLLIDE ON LANGDON STREET

A Ford coupe, driven by James Van Wagenen '26, was struck by a Dodge sedan at the corner of Langdon and Henry streets early yesterday afternoon. Van Wagenen's car was damaged to the extent of a smashed front wheel and a bent front axle. The Dodge had its front fender ripped half-way off. Occupants of both cars received nothing more than a severe shaking up. Traveler's insurance held by the owner of the Dodge car covered the damage done to the coupe.

LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE HEARS UNIVERSITY'S PLEA FOR FUNDS; ALUMNI AROUSED OVER NEED

Philadelphia Association Asks Legislature to Grant Adequate Funds

That alumni of Wisconsin all over the country are becoming aroused at the seriousness of the university's financial status is indicated in the resolution of the Wisconsin alumni club of Philadelphia printed below. Copies of the resolution were sent to the governor, President Birge, the president of the regents, and various organizations of the state.

W. J. Bollenbock '08, president, and William Stericker '07, secretary, presented the resolution for the club. The text of the resolution follows:

WHEREAS, it has come to our attention that the University of Wisconsin is facing a crisis in its forward steps toward continued progress and expansion, through the danger of receiving inadequate appropriations for the ensuing biennium, and

WHEREAS, lack of necessary funds would not only tend to cripple a generally recognized great institution of learning and compel curtailments of important public service which it has given to the state and its citizens unselfishly and in immeasurable value and with resultant large dividends in happiness and prosperity for its citizens, but would also impair its standing and usefulness and tend to reflect unfavorably on the state of Wisconsin which has won the admiration of the country by its generous

Department Exhibit Personnel Released; Faculty Members Direct Work

The entire departmental exhibit organization for the university exposition was released yesterday by exposition officials. The personnel includes the names of more than 100 faculty, graduate and undergraduate workers.

Several months of careful preparation for the 80 exhibits precedes the announcement of department supervisors. In most cases this work is under the direction of faculty members, although many of the exhibits are being planned by students picked by the various departments.

Enthusiastic cooperation has characterized the efforts of every department in following the plans outlined by the central organization, according to Fred Gustorf '25, general manager of exhibits. Every department has endeavored to Haresfoot music on the air! Fans, tune in on the Haresfoot recording orchestra tomorrow night at 7:45 o'clock which will broadcast from WHA, university station, on a wave length of 535.4 meters.

The orchestra has been termed "the best college jazz orchestra in the country" by E. Mortimer Shuster, coach of the annual production of the Haresfoot club, which will appear at the Parkway theater April 17, 18, 24, and 25.

The four feature numbers of the show to be broadcast are "Saracen

"Love Song," "Knighthood," "Ivan Ho!" and "Haresfoot Sweetheart."

Prof. Max Mason will talk on the purposes of the Haresfoot club, the value of the club as an undergraduate activity, and the value as a medium of contact between the alumni and the student body. Thomas Morony '25, president of the club, will outline the program and policies of the show this year.

The orchestra, composed of men picked from the range of college talent, is under the direction of Jesse Cohen, who has been training the men daily at the studio.

GLEE CLUB SINGS TO SOLONS AT CAPITOL

Complying with the invitation extended to it by the state legislature, the Men's Glee club sang in the assembly chambers of the capitol last night to a crowd which filled the room to capacity to hear the Mid-West champions. UNION LOANS $600 FOR PROM DEFICIT

Board Follows Policy of Giving Help to Student Activities, Says Kissel

The Wisconsin Union will advance $600 to the junior class to cover losses sustained by the "Prom to Remember," following action taken at the meeting of Union board Tuesday evening.

Lester Kissel '25, president of the Wisconsin Union, in a statement after the meeting, declared that previous from committees have always turned over all profits to the union, to be applied to the Memorial Union building fund, and that this was one reason for the action.

"We feel, as the board of directors for the Union, that all worthwhile student activities should be encouraged and aided by us in any way possible. This is really a loan by all the men of the university to the Prom committee, which met certain unavoidable reverses; the Wisconsin Union was the only medium through which the juniors could appeal to the university as a whole for assistance.

No interest rate will be charged, Kissel said. He indicated that the Prom committee may take steps to pay the money back with funds raised in other ways, or that senior class dues next year will be made to include this item.

Spanish Play Wins Praise of Audience For Presentation

By E. M.

Presented before a capacity house last night, "El Idilio de Lolita en Nueva York," written by Samuel Wofsy of the romance language department for the Spanish club, won enthusiastic response from the audience.

From the first curtain to the last, the play passed quickly with authentic touches of farce effectively woven in and out of the story. The situations, frankly farcical, were acted with skill and veracity, and the handicap of a foreign language was not evident. Helen Stebbins '28, Jean Alexander '25, Elizabeth Henson '28, and Katherine Hartman '26 took juvenile roles.

Of the men, Clark C. Richardson '27 and James A. Cuneo were the outstanding characters. The program was completed by Spanish songs by Hilda Schultz '25 and Spanish dances by Merle Moses.

EDITORIAL STAFF

There will be a meeting of the entire editorial staff at 5 o'clock this afternoon in the second floor office of the Union building. Every staff member working in any capacity must be present.

Kronshage, Birge and Phillips Tell of Needs at Final Hearing

"Unless you want us to put up barriers in the form of higher entrance requirements to make the number of students conform to the present amount of room space, you will have to give us the necessary funds to put up the needed buildings," Theodore Kronshage, president of the regents said at the last public hearing of the joint legislative finance committee yesterday afternoon in the state capitol on the matter of university finances.

"As to a new wing for Bascom hall, a new wing for the library, or an addition to the Chemistry building, I can make no choice between them; they are equally important," he said in answer to a question from Senator George Staudemeyer, chairman of the committee.

President Birge, J. D. Phillips, business manager, Mr. Holt, city superintendent, Janesville; Mr. Witz, city superintendent, Manitowoc; and Miss Zona Gale and Mr. M. B. Olbrich, members of the regents, before the committee in behalf of the university.

"If the building appropriations made by the legislature in 1913 had not been repealed by the legislature of 1915, we would be $1,000,000 in buildings ahead at the present time," Mr. Kronshage pointed out. Throughout the entire discussion it was the object of the university representatives to show

FACULTY BACKS FRIENDSHIP DRIVE

Prof. Potter Directs Work; Goodnight Commends Undertaking

The student friendship fund campaign is being launched today among the members of the faculty under the direction of Prof. P. B. Potter of the political science department.

A circular letter inviting the support of each member was mailed yesterday, and departmental secretaries have been appointed to receive the contributions in each department, according to Thane Blackman '26, and Gwen Drake '26, who are conducting the drive among the students.

Dean Scott H. Goodnight endorses the student friendship fund as being worthy of the support of both the students and the members of the faculty in the following communication:

We recognize in this undertaking a worthy cause, unselfish and efficient administration of the fund on the part of those in charge and the consequent certainty that gifts we make go directly to the alleviation of real distress among fellow students in European universities.

REGENTS DESIGNATE MAY 29, 30 AND 31 FOR MOTHERS' RECEPTION

The regents of the university have designated May 29, 30 and 31 as the official week end for the reception of mothers. President Birge will send invitations to the mothers in behalf of the university some time next month.

This will be the first time that the mothers of both men and women will be official guests of their sons and daughters at Wisconsin. Hitherto fathers were entertained in the fall and mothers in the spring, but never before has the entertainment of all mothers been made an all-university event.

SET ANNUAL BALL BOX PRICE AT $10

Ways and Means Committee Continues Policy Initiated Last Year

In accordance with the policy initiated last year by the Military ball the ways and means committee of the thirteenth annual Military ball to be held in the capitol April 3, has set the price for boxes at $10, the price for tickets being $3.50. This is the lowest price charged for any function of this nature ever held in the state capitol.

Billeting Officer Gilbert E. Roach '26, whose

De Longwork is that formerly known as the chairman of the box committee, is arranging for the use of rooms in the capitol, to be used for boxes. There will be enough boxes for all parties that attend the ball, even though the senate and assembly chambers will not be used this year.

Senate and assembly members will occupy these two rooms themselves the night of the ball. It has also been found in the past that these two boxes were too large for the average party attending such a function.

The most desirable boxes will be issued to those whose applications are received first. Applications for boxes may now be sent to Roach at 140 Langdon street, accompanied by $10 to pay for the box.

Senior swingout, dance drama, women's field day, a banquet for mothers and their sons and daughters, senior vespers on Muir Knoll Sunday, memorial services on Lincoln Terrace, Saturday, and special classes Friday are some of the events scheduled for that time.

W. S. G. A. has placed Alberta Johnson '26 in charge of Mother's week-end and his named the following persons on the committee, Dorothy King '26, Rena Grubb '26, Miriam Inglis '26, Dorothy Strauss '26.

PRACTICE STARTED BY COACH LITTLE WITH ENTHUSIASM

Uteritz and Brader Present to Assist as 70 Men
Report

Wisconsin's spring football practice opened with a rush last night as Coach Little sent 70 gridiron hopefuls through an hour and a half of stiff drill on fundamentals.

The squad was divided into three groups for the first part of the session. Erv Uteritz worked with the backfield candidates, Jimmy Brader took charge of all line men with the exception of ends who worked under the supervision of Captain Steve Polaski.

Little Enthusiastic
During this part of the work, Coach Little rushed from one group to another throwing his whole personality into the work in such a way that all the men put all they had into the drill.

After an hour of fundamental drill Coach Little took charge of the squad and worked out some passing formations. If last night's exhibition is any indication of future performances Wisconsin will have a much stronger passing game than that used by the Badgers last fall.

Clever Plays Show
Deception seems to be the whole theme of Coach Little's football policy. "Keep the plays covered up" was the chief topic of last night's lesson. A few clever plays were given the men last night with the promise of more as soon as these had been mastered.

Barofsky Back
Barofsky, captain of the 1927 frosh team, and Weigandt, a quarterback from this fall's yearling eleven, showed up to good advantage a backfield men. Both of them are small but have football sense. All of the old varsity material were out as were many men from last fall's frosh-squad.

Coach Little announced his coaching staff for the coming spring. Assisting Little will be Erv Oteritz in charge of backfield men; Jimmy Brader in charge of linemen, and Guy Sundt, as a general assistant. In addition to these Jack Harris, captain of last fall's varsity, will assist in the backfield and Captain-elect Steve Polaski, Bieberstein and possibly Gerber will assist Brader on the line.

MATMEN PREPARE FOR OHIO MEET

Splees and Zodtner Still Undefeated in Five Meets This Year

Hard work is the program for the wrestling squad this week in anticipation of the last match of the year with the undefeated Ohio team at Columbus Saturday.

Elmer Hanson is definitely out for the season, it was learned from Coach Hitchcock yesterday. Hanson has an infection on his back and it will be impossible for him to participate in the last meet. Either Elmer or Mensin will take his place.

Coach Hitchcock fears the strength of Ohio. Wrestling is a major sport there the same as Iowa.

William Splees and Captain Zodtner have yet to meet their first defeat, and they will fight hard to keep that record. Each of the mat stars has gained three falls and two decisions in the five contests this year. "I never expected that Whitehouse would be thrown," said Coach Howard of Iowa after Splees had thrown his 175-pounder last Saturday. He declared that Splees was the best man that his light-heavyweight had met this season.

SWIMMERS MEET BIG TEN TONIGHT

Wisconsin Centers Only Hope on Relay Team and Herschberger

Badger swimmers invade Chicago today, and will start the two day period of conference competition which will, in all probability, see the crowning of the Northwestern natators with the Big Ten laurels. Minnesota lines up well for second place. Wisconsin should not be lower than third on the list of standings.

Cardinal hopes center around the brilliant Herschberger and that rec-

With Foil and Sabre

Agility, poise, and dexterity are the fruits of practice with the thin blades and besides these benefits the Badger fencers derive a certain intangible satisfaction in mastering a sport which is the heritage of medieval times. The team lost its first meet of the year at Chicago last Saturday against the conference champions of last year. Purdue is the op-

ord breaking relay team of Coach Joe Steinauer's. Northwestern will constitute the relay competition, and Northwestern again, this time in the form of the speedy Breyer, will push Herschberger hardest in his favorite swims, the 40 and 100. It would be a pleasant surprise if Wheatley, who has had no conference competition, should be among the leaders in the dives. He displays pretty form in practice, and is the type of diver who makes a good impression in a meet. It would also come in handy for the Badger point columns if Captain Simpkins were to place in the dives. Cook will do his best in the plunge against such famous submarines as Lake, Atwood, and Eldredge. If none of these blow up, and if the Minnesota plunger does not better Cook's time, then the Badger entry will probably place in this event.

Badgers With Three Victories Leave For Final Games On Purdue And Buckeye Floors

Spradling and Harmeson Will Be Difficult Combination
to Solve

Fresh from their decisive victory over the fighting Illinois quintet the Badger men left yesterday afternoon for Lafayette, Indiana, to engage the fast Purdue men.

Although the Purdue cage men were able to win in the first meeting of the two teams the Wisconsin team has shown such a decided reversal in form the last few games that a victory over the Boilermakers would not be surprising. The game on Monday showed that the little doctor has at last found a scoring combination, one which can find the basket for the winning goals.

Spradling Dangerous

Captain Diebold and his teammate Barwig will have a real problem when they again face the veteran forward, Spradling. Spradling is one of the fastest and most accurate shooting of all of the conference forwards. In the game against Wisconsin this cage veteran garnered fourteen points for his team, and twelve of these were from field goals. Harmeson, the other forward, found the basket for six counters. This pair, with Cramer at center, will be a real offense, and will give the Wisconsin guards much trouble.

The fact that in the game against Purdue here the Wisconsin offense was able to collect only six field goals in the entire game shows the decided strength of the Purdue guards. The Badger forwards and center will have a job to send the ball through the loop with Wellman and Rigsby, Purdue guards, hard after them. This pair which held the Wisconsin men to six goals in the first meeting of the two teams, have greatly improved their guarding since that game.

Lineup Unchanged

Brooks was not in the first contest with the Purdue men, for he had not shown his ability at that stage of the game, but with the lanky center in the second conflict the score may be different. He has shown uncanny ability in shooting from under the basket and his guarding has improved.

The lineup for the Wisconsin team is the same as in the game with Illinois. Barnum and Merkel at the forwards with Brooks at center will be the starting offense for the Badgers. Barwig and Captain Diebold will hold the defense positions. With this team on the floor and Bain and Miller ready to enter the Cardinal men ought to play a great game.

Twelve Men Go

Purdue is expected to open with Wellman and Rigsby guards, Cramer center, and Harmeson and Spradling guards.

The following "W" men made the trip to Purdue, Bain, Merkel, Barnum, Barwig, Captain Diebold, Brooks, Young, Hargett, Andrews, Miller, Woods, trainer, and Gordon Walker, manager.

Other items of economy already noted include orders to turn out all lights when they are not needed, substitution of a common drinking cup for individual paper cups at the drinking fountains, reluctance of employees to "lend" pencils to newspaper correspondents, and re-use of the large manila envelopes in which messengers carry documents from one department to another.

LAST GAMES OF SEASON DECIDE MIDDLE PLACES

Only First and Last Places
Settled in Conference
Basket Race

With the western conference title decided in favor of Ohio, and the second position in the race divided between Illinois and Indiana, Purdue must defeat either Wisconsin tonight or Michigan when the Boilermakers play off their postponed game with them in order to win third place.

The Boilermakers can also go into a triple tie for second place with Indiana and Illinois if they trim both the Badgers and the Wolverines. If this happens, Michigan will share fifth place with Minnesota, each team winning six games and losing the same number. However, if Michigan defeats Purdue, it will be fourth provided that the Boilermakers also lose to Wisconsin.

Minnesota Sixth

No matter what happens in the race from now on, the worst the Minnesota team can get out of the race is sixth place. The Gophers have finished their card for the year and have broken even. The best the Gophers can get is joint honors for the fifth place position in the race with either Michigan or Purdue.

Iowa, which has finished its schedule, holds seventh place with five victories and seven losses. The Badgers are the only ones which can tie the Hawks. To do this the Meanwell men must defeat both Purdue and Ohio.

At the present time Wisconsin holds eighth with three victories and seven defeats. The Badgers meet Purdue tonight and Ohio Saturday. If both games are won they will tie with the Iowa quintet for seventh. If one is lost and the other won it will be a tie for eighth place with Northwestern, if the Purple beat Chicago last night. If the Evanstonians lose to the Maroons the Badgers divide eighth with the Purple if they lose both games, and own the octet spot if they split even.

Chicago, which has had a disastrous season, holds the cellar undisputed. The Maroons are hopeless, and whether they won last night's game or not, the cellar goes to them.

So, dope is a funny thing. Even this late in the year the standings of the various teams can be easily affected. Only four games left, including last night's, and yet the finish in the middle of the Big Ten league is not definite. All one can say is "Ohio is the champ and Chicago wins the cellar title."

Gilbert E. Vandercook, for years political writer for the old Evening Wisconsin, visited friends in Madison Tuesday. He is now associated with a new insurance company

Cage Jottings

"Wisconsin will win." That's what the team declared when it left for Purdue last night, and it looks like it will. The Badger has made a noble comeback, and tonight's contest should be another victory under the Cardinal's belt.

After the game with the Boilermakers, the Badgers will entrain for Columbus to meet the champions Bucks. Even here the Cardinals are apt to win. It will be a fitting climax to a disastrous season if they do, and Doc Meanwell's team will try its best.

Indiana has finished its cage season, while Ohio has one more game to play. No doubt, Miner will come through with more than two points, and finish the season at the head of the scoring column.

Saturday night at Columbus, Captain Diebold and Barwig will play their last basketball game for Wisconsin. These men, the only veterans this year, have kept the Cardinal team in the race, and to them goes much of the credit for the showing the weak Badger team has made.

Tonight it is "PUNISH PURDUE" and Saturday night, "BEAT THE BUCKEYES."

TRACK TEAM SET FOR CONFERENCE MEET TOMORROW

Dope Now Places Illinois as Winner of Annual Indoor Contest

As the day for the Big Ten indoor track fest draws near it appears more and more as though Illinois, a dark horse in the conference thus far in the season, would have her ineligible track stars reinstated in time to compete and stand an excellent chance of winning the meet.

Although the 50 yard dash will go to the man getting the best start it looks as though Michigan would take a first with Wittman and Hubbard, winners of the outdoor 100 yard dash in 1923 and 1924 respectively. Evans of Illinois, winner of the event indoors last year, should place, while Coach Jones is giving McAndrews at least a third place.

Northwestern and Chicago should win the majority of points in the 440 with Martin, McFarlane and Cusack. McFarlane won the event last year, while Martin and Cusack have been hot in this event all of this season. Either Kennedy or Flueck should pick off a place and Coulter of Iowa, winner of the event outdoors last season, will make a strong bid for a place, although he seems to have gone a bit stale this year.

If Cusack stays out of the 440 he will be good for a first in the half mile. Ponzer of Illinois has run the event in better than 1:58 in dual meets and is sure to place. Martin of Purple fame is another point winner as is Reinke of Michigan. Just what Wisconsin will do in this event is not known as Coach Jones may save both Valley and Bergstresser for the mile, leaving Carter to run the half for Wisconsin. The midget Badger 880 man is steadily improving and may displace some of the veterans in this race.

ANOTHER SPORT GETS UNDER WAY

Tonight will witness the opening of the debating season. You groan and pass on. Debates! They're dull at best. A waste of time it would be to listen to one. An unutterable bore indeed.

But how do you know? Have you ever heard one? Very likely not. It would be quite a surprise for you to learn how really entertaining a debate can be. The endurance and fight of some of the orators is comparable to the endurance and fight of intercollegiate athletes. Except that, of course, unlike senators, the debaters are limited in their time.

And the juggling of words and play back and forth is as good as some basketball games. In fact, a debate is little more than an intellectual basketball game.

Wisconsin meets Minnesota tonight at Minneapolis and Northwestern here. The debating team is as much Wisconsin's as is the basketball team, the Glee club or Haresfoot.

Give it a try tonight. The subject has to do with an important feature of the last presidential campaign. Perhaps you'll be surprised!

FRIENDSHIP APPEALS TO WOMEN

The success of the campaign for the student friendship fund among the women of the university, as indicated by the report yesterday that a sum between $700 and $800 had been raised by the sororities alone, exclusive of the unorganized groups, speaks well for the idealism and love of friendship that exists among Wisconsin women.

The student friendship fund makes an appeal to the most far-visioned, and therefore the most unusual, type of friendship that there is. It seeks to bring the students of all nations into perfect harmony with one another in ideas, ideals, and efforts toward establishing a permanent world peace. It is based on the principle that young people the world over have the same desires and sympathies, and that they would willingly get together in a closer union if the proper medium were provided.

This contention is borne out by the response to the appeal for world friendship on the part of the women of the university. They have set a splendid example for the men to follow in their campaign during the rest of this week.

An engine nearly dropped out of a student Ford the other day. No, student Fords are not all they might be, but it is strange that more engines do not suffer a similar fate because of the wretched condition Madison roads are in and the aid the local street car company is giving to keep the roads in wretched condition.

The university lacks funds. Write home about it!

Wisconsin Should Know

ENGINEERING AND INDUSTRY

Arousing World Interest With Blast Furnace Slags

The work of Prof. R. S. McCaffrey on blast furnace slags has given national prominence to our College of Engineering. The particular knot in the problem for American foundries has been the difficulty of treatment of high sulphur ores; it is on this phase of the question that Professor McCaffrey has been working. Very encouraging progress has been made toward a more economical process of reducing these ores, and the mining interests of Wisconsin and Michigan have been following it closely.

This particular piece of research has attracted wide attention not only in this country, but in European iron centers as well; direct requests for copies of results have been received from France, Germany, Belgium, and Luxembourg. Two Wisconsin industries, in further recognition of its importance, are supporting research fellowships in this department.

After College, What?

One answer comes from a group of 10 graduates in engineering now in Milwaukee, all of them holding responsible technical or administrative positions in Milwaukee industries. These graduates have organized a class and are conducting, under the direction of the College of Engineering, research projects in their own industries. They are projects of general interest. Helpful results will be broadcast to a large group of industrial concerns. These trained workers, carrying on the spirit and practice of the College of Engineering, are a prime example of the influence of the university in the industry of the state.

A Study in Concrete

Much of the pioneer work in the field of the design and strength of reinforced concrete has been done by F. E. Turneaure, dean of the College of Engineering. A lack of proper understanding of the correct design of this form of construction for many years has been an obstacle in the path of the builders of American bridges and buildings. Through the work of the University of Wisconsin in cooperation with the University of Illinois, the basis of understanding of this important field was laid.

A representative of the university was a member of the first joint committee to formulate rules and specifications; and many present-day contractors and engineers in this state have learned the fundamentals of reinforced concrete usage in the university laboratories.

In cooperation with the Wisconsin Highway commission a study has been made of the local sands and gravel deposits, which has led to the discovery of many local pits and made possible considerable financial savings to Wisconsin builders. A number of studies also have been made in cooperation with national engineering societies on the best proportions for the ingredients of concrete, and the effects of freezing on concrete and on clay tile.

Experiments have been conducted to discover the effect of moving trains on railway bridges; so important have they been that the results have formed the rules of practice for many railroads.

Dean Turneaure's book on "Water Supply, Steel Structures, and Reinforced Concrete" is authoritative in its field.

Engineering Service to State Commissions

The College of Engineering has a distinguished record of service to state commissions. The first chief engineer of the Railroad commission was Prof. W. D. Taylor of the department of railway engineering; in his regime the first valuation of steam roads in Wisconsin was made. He was succeeded in this capacity by Prof. W. D. Pense, also of the railway engineering department. The first valuations of public utilities was made under Professor Pense before he left this work to take charge of the Interstate Commerce commission's work of evaluating the railroads in the central district of the United States. L. F. Van Hagan, now professor of railway engineering, has served on the state engineering staff in several investigations, supervising the valuation of the roadbed and tract of the Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light company. The late J. G. D. Mack and Prof. R. McKeown of the department of machine design have assisted in the valuation work of the railroad commission. Professor Mack later was chosen as the first state chief engineer.

HIGHER LEARNING SHOWS INCREASE

Congregationalist Cites Cases to Prove College Education More Popular

"College education will probably, within the next decade, become as extensive among all classes in the community as high school and preparatory school education was a decade ago," is the opinion voiced in "College Education and Democracy," an article printed recently in the Congregationalist.

Figures given out lately by Yale university regarding its graduates, gives striking illustration in recent development in American education. Since the first degree was issued in 1702, Yale has granted, all told, 40,968 degrees. Of this total number, over 64 per cent, or in actual figures, 26,407 are still living.

"Here are facts almost revolutionary in their significance," the article continues. "Higher education has ceased to be a sectional or aristocratic thing. The privileges of higher learning were never entirely withheld from the poor and lowly, but, by social custom, or in the usage of the times, a certain exclusiveness operated. The sons of the minister, the doctor, the lawyer, the statesman, naturally went to the university, while the sons of the laboring man, no matter how skillful their father's trades and occupations, just as naturally stayed away."

Now all this is reversed, says the article. In the colleges of the nation at large the youth of the country, regardless of what may have been their fathers' occupations, have awakened to the privileges which until yesterday were sought only by the few.

PLAN GROUP TO FOIL CRIMINALS

Scientific Body to Aid in Solving Crime, is Proposed By Prof. Mathews

The work of the modern criminal will be greatly hampered if the organization of a group of expert scientists planned by Prof. J. Howard Mathews, chairman of the chemistry department, is completed.

The scientists would be appointed by the attorney-general of the state for the purpose of solving criminal mysteries. Many a time a criminal goes free when legal investigation can prove nothing against him, but when the simple analysis of a scientist might have given convicting evidence.

The state will not be required to pay for the maintenance of such a group, but each county into which a member of the group is called, will pay for the services there rendered.

Thus at the immediate call of any attorney, expert scientific knowledge can be obtained directly from such a group when the least hesitating might give the criminal a chance to go free.

COMMITTEE TOLD OF UNIVERSITY'S PLIGHT

that they were after an economical building program, one which would satisfy the present needs of the university, and not that of the future. Miss Zona Gale told that while on her recent trip to the east that a Boston man said to her, "The University of Wisconsin is an agricultural school, now isn't it?"

Mr. Phillips, in stressing the need of funds for maintenance, pointed out that it was economy for the state to keep up with its building program in connection with the giving of necessary funds to keep the present buildings in repair. At his invitation the committee considered the request to go through the buildings themselves to ascertain the amount of repairs needed.

Mr. Olbrich in his discussion brought out the fact that of the $2,200 taxes paid on $100,000 worth of property in the city of Madison, only $40 goes to the university.

In his concluding statements Mr. Kronshage stated that the average amount of space per student at this university is less than that given by the universities of neighboring states to their students in chemistry courses alone.

President Birge, in closing the case for the university, said that it was probably the last time he would appear before the legislature, and that he wanted to see the university maintained at the same high level at which it had been maintained in the past, suggesting that the committee provide for a bill for the state to set aside $500,000 every year for six years to take care of the university's building program in much the same manner as the University of Minnesota has been provided for.

W. G. Rice, Jr., was issued a building permit Tuesday for a $7,600 residence to be built at 2242 Hilling-ton Green.

Norway Sons Pursue

Tickets, tickets, where are the tickets?

This was the plaint and the query of the local committee of the Sons of Norway as it followed a trail through local express offices and chased an express wagon around the city in search for the elusive tickets to the moving picture "Norway To Be" that will be shown in the Central High school auditorium Friday night.

Members of the committee, who had advertised the tickets to be for sale Monday morning at Hook Bros. Music stores, were in a quandary when people began to inquire for them at the music store.

Receiving information from the local express office that they had been placed on one of the delivery wagons, the committee began its frantic chase on the trail of the driver and after an exhaustive pursuit finally overtook it and got the tickets to Hook Bros. at noon.

R. N. Qualey announced today that all seats on sale are reserved.

Thompson has been chosen for the part of "Schubby," an elderly English steward in the new New York play "Outward Bound" by Sutton Vane which will be presented by Mask and Bauble, university dramatic society.

He also will take part in the chorus of the 1925 student opera, "Sin."

WARREN BEATEN IN U. S. SENATE

Dawes Not Present to Cast Deciding Vote of Confirmation

WASHINGTON—President Coolidge was advised today by Republican leaders in the senate not to resubmit the nomination of Charles B. Warren to be attorney general because it could not be confirmed.

The leaders, who visited the White House early in the day said the chief executive had given them no indication as to what his course would be, but some of them were of the opinion that he would make another selection.

The list of men who were under consideration when Mr. Warren was chosen included Arthur P. Rugg, chief justice of the Massachusetts supreme court, Gov. Groesbeck of Michigan and others.

A new name which appeared today was that of Judge Wallace McCamant of Portland, Ore., whose selection is said to have been urged vigorously upon the White House.

Only by the president's re-submission of the nomination can it again come before the senate. As an alternative to re-submitting the Warren nomination or sending a new name to the senate, the president may either leave Solicitor General Beck in charge of the justice department until the next session of congress or make a recess for appointment for that period.

Session is Dramatic

WASHINGTON, D. C.—In a dramatic session, the senate late Tuesday rejected President Coolidge's nomination of Charles Beecher Warren of Michigan to be attorney general in his cabinet, the vote being 41 to 39.

The vote was a shock to the White house, as well as the republican leaders, all of whom had counted upon confirmation of the appointment by a safe margin.

Vice President Dawes was blamed for Warren's defeat. For on this crucial occasion when the vice president might have cast a vote, when his vote would have saved the day for the administration and put Warren into the cabinet, Dawes was missing from the senate.

Hunt, Fail to Find Despite frantic efforts by administration senators to find Dawes and drag him into the senate in time to cast the deciding vote, he could not be found and Warren's defeat was made final when after failing to muster a majority on the motion to confirm the nomination, the senate by a majority vote laid on the table a motion made by one of Warren's supporters to "reconsider" the vote by which confirmation was denied.

After his sensational scolding of the senate for its "archaic" rules in his inaugural address, senate leaders were bitterly amazed by Dawes' absence at a time when his vote was so greatly needed.

When the roll on the question of confirmation was first called, hasty checks made by Warren's supporters revealed that the vote was a tie, 40 being cast for Warren and 40 against him. Dawes could have made it 41 to 40 for confirmation had he been present.

718 MUMPS CASES IN MADISON NOW

Smallpox Leads Other Contagious Diseases With Total of 39

The city is still in the grip of an epidemic of mumps, according to the February report of the city board of health which lists 718 cases. Of other contagious diseases smallpox led with 39 cases, whooping cough 25, scarlet fever 16, pneumonia 11, infantile paralysis 1, measles, 8, diphtheria 3, tuberculosis 2, cases reported.

A total of 46 deaths were reported during the month of which 14 were caused by general diseases.

Two sets of twins were born in the city during the month according to the report which showed a total of 78 births of which 35 were girls and 43 boys.

The mump epidemic that has hit the city of Madison has extended its effects to the university. There are nearly 50 students now in the infirmary with mumps and the number is increasing daily, according to Dr. William Mowry, department of clinical medicine at the Wisconsin General hospital.

The disease, declares Dr. Mowry, incapacitates a student for a couple of weeks, but is not very serious as far as after effects are concerned.

Wisconsin's health record in the last four months of 1924 was unusually high, Dr. W. D. Stovall, director of the state laboratory of hygiene here, announced today. There were no epidemics and diphtheria cases were lowest since records have been kept in this state, he said.

The state laboratory and its branches in Beloit, Green Bay, Kenosha, Oshkosh, Rhinelander, Superior and Wausau, help in diagnosing cases for physicians and public health workers.

STATE IS HEALTHY, SAYS DR. STOVALL

No Bad Epidemic; Diphtheria Cases Number Lowest in History

Wisconsin enjoyed an unusually healthy period during the last six months of 1924.

There were no epidemics in the state, and the record of diphtheria cases was the lowest in the history of registration in Wisconsin, according to W. D. Stovall, director of the state laboratory of hygiene. The death rate from diphtheria was only 7.1 persons per 100,000, the lowest since records have been kept.

Evidence of this is seen in the fact that the laboratory examined only 37,592 bacteriological specimens for Wisconsin physicians between July and December, 1924, as compared with 50,686 specimens during the same period of 1923.

Of the 37,592 specimens examined for physicians and public workers, 24,393 were handled in the central laboratory in South hall. The other 13,199 specimens were examined in branch laboratories in Beloit, Green Bay, Kenosha, Oshkosh, Rhinelander, Superior and Wausau.

Besides diphtheria, the laboratories help in diagnosing typhoid, paratyphoid, rabies, and numerous other diseases.

ALUMNI ARE AROUSED OVER FINANCIAL NEEDS

WHEREAS, we fully appreciate the high esteem in which the University of Wisconsin is held in other states because of its great accomplishments which were made possible by its encouraging and never-failing support from the people of Wisconsin, and the consequent loss of prestige and value which would result from a refusal to supply sufficient funds to enable that worthy institution to continue its progress in educational lines to serve the public further as no other similar institution has done, and that such action would do irreparable injury to the university and state, be it,

RESOLVED, that we, the alumni of the University of Wisconsin, now residing in Philadelphia and organized as the Wisconsin alumni club, and assembled today to observe Founders' day of our beloved alma mater, do earnestly urge and implore the legislature of Wisconsin to provide adequate funds for proper maintenance, operation, additions and normal expansion and proper development of the University of Wisconsin to enable her to continue to progress and fulfill her great function and service to the state and its people, and to retain her enviable prestige as being the foremost and leading state university.

RESOLVED further, that this resolution be presented to the Wisconsin senate and the assembly and that copies be sent to the governor of the state, the president of the university, the president of the regents and the president of the Wisconsin alumni association.

DEAN AT MICHIGAN FROWNS ON AUTOS

The use of automobiles by students causes a waste of time, in the opinion of Dean Joseph A. Bursley of the University of Michigan.

The Michigan Daily quotes Dean Bursley's objections to the use of automobiles by students. They are that it causes students to lose time, gives growth to forms of extravagance, detracts students' attention from the real purposes for which they came to the university, places them in danger of injury or death through accident, and causes them to lose valuable exercise.

Although Dean Bursley so strongly disapproves of the use of cars by students, there is no talk at Ann Arbor of prohibiting the practice.

CARDINAL TO RECEIVE WEST POINT SERVICE

The Daily Cardinal office recently received a letter from the commandant at West Point, saying that this service had been established and that the Daily Cardinal's name had been submitted by a cadet who formerly attended the university.

New Three-Year Pharmacy Course Announced Here

A new three-year course in pharmacy, to take the place of the present two-year course, has been announced by the faculty of the university.

The new course is to conform with the action of the American Conference of Pharmaceutical faculties, of which 34 leading universities are members, to establish three-year courses in member universities.

This new plan will permit a far more rational course than was possible before. Under the two-year plan the subjects were crowded in, while now the three-year course makes it possible to lighten the work and to give the studies in their proper sequence, according to Professor Kremers, head of pharmacy course. English and several electives are among the new requisites for the course. These revisions make it easier to change from the three to the four-year course in Pharmacy, which will be continued as before.

Wisconsin's pharmacy department, established in 1892, was the first in the country and was the first to offer graduate work. Wisconsin also has the only university pharmaceutical experiment station in the United States.
