POWELL AND GREEN TAKE BADGER JOBS

Both Referendum Measures Passed in Spring Election

Horace B. Powell '23 and Sherman Green '23 were elected editor-in-chief and business manager of the 1923 Badger with more than 100 votes each over the nearest contestants, in the spring elections held yesterday. The two referendums presented to the student body by the Student Senate were both accepted.

Evvard Caluwaert '22 won the junior place on the Union board and the sophomore positions went to Morton Frost '23 and Leslie Gage '23, Marjorie Severance '23, and Julian Lunney '23 were elected to Badger board. A recount is necessary in the vote on the sophomore members of the Cardinal Board of Control. Arthur Freytag '23 is in the lead but second place and the vote on the candidates were not announced.

In the Athletic board elections, William Collins '22 was elected as minor sports representative and Thomas Tredwell '23 and Edward Scherneck '23 took the non-"W" places. The Forensic board positions and the junior place on the Cardinal Board of Control and all places on the Athletic board except non-"W" and minor sports representative went by default.

The election proved one of the most hotly contested and showed a heavy vote. Much interest was shown in the Student Senate referendums. The first, providing that the presidents on the Union, Athletic, and Forensic boards and the editor-in-chief of the Badger and managing editor of the Cardinal sit on the Senate was passed by a margin of 250 votes and the second one, empowering the Senate to use the Council of 40 as an executive and increasing the membership of the Senate to 18 members was carried by 76 votes.

Decided feeling was expressed by voters on the above propositions and the regularity as well as the expediency of the measures was questioned by some.

The complete returns of the vote are as follows:

Referendums
First, for, 663; against, 413. Second, for, 559; against, 483.

Editor—Powell 395, Brockhausen 238, McCandless 210.

NET MEN DEFEAT MILTON COLLEGE IN FIRST MATCH

Wisconsin is Victorious in Both Single and Double Events

The Wisconsin tennis schedule opened yesterday afternoon when the Badger netmen defeated Milton College in both the double and single events. In spite of the fact that Coach Linden's men had practiced only one day prior to the meet, there was some exceptionally good playing on the part of the Badgers.

The playing of Gottfredson, veteran of last year's team, was the outstanding feature of the meet. He won the first two sets 6-1 and 6-1 over the court, while he himself was pushed but little. Pickard of Wisconsin defeated Oakley of Milton 6-0 and 6-3.

Tredwell and Aagesen, playing for Wisconsin in the doubles, won over Oakley and Deland of Milton in two out of three sets, 4-6, 6-0, and 6-3. The Badgers did not get started in the opening games, but when they hit their stride they completely outplayed their opponents.

The Badgers' prospects for a winning team were greatly reduced this week when it was announced that Captain Fanning was ineligible for competition. Fanning is a veteran of last year, and with him playing with Gottfredson, Wisconsin would have had the fastest double combination in the conference.

RUNNERS TRY OUT FOR TRACK TEAM THIS AFTERNOON

Conference Scoring System is Changed Through Efforts of Coach Jones

At least 40 track and field men will enter in the varsity track team tryouts this afternoon to determine which men will represent Wisconsin against Chicago in the first dual outdoor track meet of the conference season at Chicago on May 7. The tryouts will begin at 2:30 on the Camp Randall field.

In conjunction with the varsity tryouts, an inter-college track meet and final tests for membership in Sigma Delta Psi, national honorary athletic fraternity, will be run off. The hurdles and the two mile run are the two events in the requirements for membership in the athletic fraternity that will be held today.

Change Score System
After years of effort, Coach Thomas E. Jones has succeeded in having the system of point scoring in Big Ten meets changed so that well-balanced teams in the conference meets will not be at a disadvantage to squads with one or two individual stars. Former scoring methods gave five points to men winning first place, three points to second place, two points to third place, and one point for a fourth position.

Aided by Coach Harry Gill, Illinois track mentor, Coach Jones has won the conference committee over to a basis of scoring in which the first five men to place score points. This system of awarding the points apportions them in the following way: first place, five points; second place, four points; third place, three points; fourth place two points; fifth place, one point.

Overcomes Advantage
With this system of scoring accredited, Wisconsin's well-balanced teams will overcome the advantages now held by track squads boasting one or two individual stars, who are

SLIGHT SACRIFICE WILL SAVE LIVES SAYS PROF. ROSS

Drought in China Has Made People Dependent on Americans

By giving up some slight enjoyment, such as a trip to the movies, or desserts for dinner, students may easily give enough money to save a Chinese life, according to Prof. E. A. Ross, manager of the Chinese Famine fund campaign among the university students, which starts next week.

Continued drought in China has made it imperative that something be done to support the sufferers until the late June harvest, the first in many months. The Chinese government will transport without charge the food that the American money buys.

Over 5,000,000 Chinese are still dependent on American help. Three dollars will keep one person alive until the harvest, when further aid will be unnecessary. It is hoped by the committee that $1,800 may be collected here to support 600 Chinese.

Every consignment of food reaching the famine zone lessens the number of children, women, and men which previously, with reason, had been classed as doomed. And every day a large number die because they have not sufficient nourishment.

The money collected among the students will be sent immediately to China, and put to work to buy food. Many novel plans for getting the purpose of the drive before the students are being set in motion.

DEBATERS HIT CLOSED SHOP

Wisconsin and Northwestern Meet in No-decision Argument

By H. E. A.

The question of the closed shop, the 1921 football of contention between American labor and capital, was spiritedly reviewed by Wisconsin and Northwestern debate teams in a no-decision contest here last night at Music hall.

Local debaters who upheld the negative of the proposition "that the principle of the closed shop merits support of public opinion," were Arthur C. Inman '23, Bushrod W. Allin '21, and Melbourne Bergman '22, closer. Although no decision was made, the Badger constructive arguments for the open shop won very favorable comment of the audience.

Favor Open Shop
The Badger team upholding the view of the open shop and attacking the closed shop and offering the open shop with no discrimination to members, displayed great force in delivery and good organization of convincing facts. While denouncing the closed union as an irritator of strikes and industrial conflict, the Badger team offered many instances in proof that the open shop was better for business.

That the closed shop with an open union was the best agency to secure a just contract, to stabilize production, to ban child labor, and to protect the interests of the laborer, was the case of the Purple speakers.

Rap Closed Unions
"Closed unions tend to restrict production, to restrict membership, and to incite industrial conflict," it

BADGERS BEAT NORTHWESTERN BY 7-1 SCORE

Lowman's Men Make 13 Hits on Two Purple Pitchers

(Special to the Cardinal)
EVANSTON, ILL.—The Badger baseball team defeated Northwestern here by the score of 7 to 1 yesterday afternoon in a game which was featured by hard hitting.

Coach Lowman's men gathered a total of 13 hits from two Purple pitchers, Jennings and Lawson. Skull plays on the bases lost the Badgers many other opportunities to score. Christianson, pitching his first conference game, held the Purple to six scattered hits in the seven innings he was in the box. Hoffman relieved him in the eighth and held the enemy hitless until the end.

Start Well
Starting off with an onslaught of hits in the first inning, when Lyman, Farrington, Elliott and Williams all singled in succession, the Badgers continued to hit the ball hard throughout the game.

Poor work on the bases, however, resulted in no scores in this inning. Two runs crossed the plate in the fifth. Snow hit safely but was caught at the plate after he had gotten as far as third base, when he attempted to score on an infield grounder. Christianson scored when Farrington singled, and Lyman crossed the plate a moment later when Elliott's bouncer was booted.

Five hits, coupled with Northwestern errors added five runs in the seventh. R. Williams, Farrington, Elliott, J. Williams, and Davey hit safely. Elliott's clout was good for three bases.

Northwestern's lone tally came in this inning when the Purple batters bunched three-hits.

FOREIGN CUSTOMS TO BE SHOWN AT CARNIVAL TONIGHT

An African Boer hunt, a Chinese play, an impersonation of a Mohammedan at prayer, a demonstration of Japanese ju-jitsu, and native dances by Filipinos and Danish students comprise the program of novel entertainment at Cosmopolitan Carnival to be held at Music hall tonight at 8 o'clock. All are invited to the carnival.

The participants in the carnival will be in costume. Native practices will be interestingly and accurately shown.

The International club, which includes among its 100 members students from India, China, Japan, Iceland, the Philippines, Germany, Norway, Sweden, and Africa, is giving the carnival.

VARSITY TRACK TEAM
All varsity track men are expected to be at Camp Randall this afternoon at 2:30 for regular tryouts for dual meet. The regular conference order of events will be given:

RYMIFICATION

Of all things in this creation
That demand severe damnation,
We should say, sans hesitation,
Is a Saturday exam.

When we most need relaxation—
Close upon nervous prostration—
We go to our ruination
At that Saturday exam.

Nothing in this entire nation,
Preponderation, rumination,
Offers us a revelation
When we're writing that exam.

Though we try prevarication,
Followed by much protestation,
We go on most strict probation.
BLAST that Saturday exam!

Supportation, segmentation,
Sublexation, precocacean,
Lexiconed under "ation,"
Words that, had they a translation,
In this verse we'd give location
In our very next vacation,
But we haven't got the time.
(In order that the verse should be accurate, the last word should be pronounced as if spelled t-a-m.)

The society column announces that the Pi K. A.'s will give a dance and that the decorations will be jonquils, smilax and huckleberries. Well, when it comes to decorating, it might be said that the Pi K. A.'s G. T. B. (meaning "take the trinkets").

Now for that Saturday exam.

Ten professors from 10 prominent colleges have been appointed to serve on this committee. Other members include Prof. J. W. Jenks of New York university, Dean Woodbridge of Columbia University, and Prof. W. W. Willoughby of the Johns Hopkins university.

Some men stand on principle and some others probably would if they had any to stand on.

was pointed out by the Badger team. The solution for the problem was offered in the adoption of the open shop, with an open union, and in the establishment of shop-committees, a board of directors on which laborers should be represented, and collective bargaining.

Bergerman, closer for the Wisconsin team, made a forceful speech that teemed with confidence and punch. Inman and Allin completed the arguments, both possessed excellent delivery and put across their points in a spirited manner. All speakers received favorable applause.

The Purple Inneup was Donald Strikler, William Warmington, and James Armstrong, closer. Armstrong made an excellent speech, exhibited creditable delivery, and won hearty applause. The other members, while having good delivery, were weak in arguments, and lacked the convincing punch of the Badger trio.

Prof. M. L. Wright, Northwestern university, was chairman. Following the debate, questions were asked by the audience. These were answered by the two teams.

A COMMENT ON CANOEING

Editor of the Cardinal:

After Sunday's disaster there has come from the student a flock of criticisms of the university life saving crew. Before we go any further and knock Capt. Isabel and his men, why not look ourselves over? I am not referring particularly to the disaster which occurred on Sunday, but on canoeing in general.

Sunday afternoon my roommate and I walked around to Picnic Point. We sat on the shore and watched the canoes as they came around the point. While thus engaged, we observed about 18 canoes as they passed by us. Out of this number one and one only was handled properly. I believe that any man who attempts to take a canoe out in this weather should be sure of himself. Any man who has never before handled a canoe in rough weather has absolutely no business in a canoe, to say nothing of endangering the life of a girl.

As a preventative of any further disasters it might be well if some of these "would-be canoeists" would get out by themselves and practice the art of handling a canoe and not do their practicing when accompanied by a girl.

PERSONALITY A TIN GOD IN EDUCATION DECLARES SPEAKER

"Many people become educated by setting up their personalities as little tin gods and then polishing them so that they made a good appearance," asserted James H. "They take instructions in languages, literature, science, and the arts so as to tell their friends about it. An education to them is not a thing to be used, but rather a thing to be shown off."

A Phenomenal Sat- urday's Business comes to this store of "Go Getters"

Last Fall almost any clothing store could "sit down and watch the trade flow in."

This Spring—it's the "go getters" who are selling the clothes—you should have seen the army of suit boxes that left here Saturday.

If you could have opened and peered into each, you would have quickly understood why this additional business came here.

The reason is plain.

We are figuring our profits pitifully low—we are going after business with an aggression that cannot be denied and we are getting it.

See us this week—every man, from Porter to President is on his toes,—ready to serve you and save you the embarrassment of paying too much or receiving too little.

U. S. WANTS ONLY WHAT IS HER OWN HARDING DECLARES

President, in Reviewing Fleet,
Says He Opposes Peace
"Without Honor"

HAMPTON ROADS, Va.—America wants only that which is righteously her own "and by the eternal, we mean to have that," President Harding declared, Thursday afternoon, in an address to the officers of the Atlantic fleet on the flagship Pennsylvania after he had reviewed the powerful armada.

Declaring it was his wish that the navy might never again fire a gun in war, Mr. Harding told the officers he believed if all the nations on earth were impelled by the same motives as actuated the U. S., "this world would be at peace forever, starting from today. But I would not want a peace without honor," he said. "I would not want peace without the consciousness that America was doing right and protecting its citizenship in the most effective way."

Memorial addresses will be delivered in the Wisconsin Supreme Court on May 3 for Judge A. L. Sanborn, Madison; George Green, Green Bay, and former U. S. Senator John C. Spooner. These memorials have all been prepared. The memorial to Sen. Spooner will probably be presented by Rufus B. Smith.

Miss Margaret Otterson was a fine accompanist. She plays beautifully, and with a great deal of feeling.

PHI BETA KAPPA AND THE STUDENT BODY

PHI BETA KAPPA aims to raise the standard of scholarship at this university.

And Phi Beta Kappa is a living force on the campus—to be reckoned with and to be given due consideration.

Recently its undergraduate organization sent to all Greek letter societies an appeal which had as its ultimate aim the improvement of the scholastic standing of the membership personnel of those societies. It asked for the calling of a convention of the eligibility and scholarship chairmen of those organizations for the purpose of arriving at a more uniform system of study for pledges and for freshmen. It asked for co-operation in an enterprise that merited the utmost in interest and attention. The object to be attained was to result in better scholarship at Wisconsin.

And how was the appeal answered?

Of the 62 circulars only 12 were favored with answers. Twelve out of a possible 62 responded to an embryo movement designed to elevate the plane of scholarship at this institution. Perhaps this laxity can be explained partially by the fact that some of the chairmen considered their respective systems in force as being satisfactory; perchance others misplaced the correspondence. But these reasons offer no excuse for a diplomatic reply, especially when a specific reply was asked for.

If this proportional acknowledgment is the true criterion of the attitude of the Greek letter societies toward the betterment of scholarship, then one thing, and one thing only, can be said, and that is—"SHAME ON THEM."

It seems, however, that in the past the fraternities and sororities inclination has been one favored to the advancement of scholastic standing. The fraternity and sorority leaders in time gone by have placed scholarship as the primary factor in university life.

And now again emphasis must be placed on the fact that the big thing in college life is the education provided by the courses of study; but it is by no means an accepted fact among our student body, unorganized as well as organized. On the contrary, it is a decidedly unpopular notion with a goodly number of students. Many have come to regard their studies as a kind of necessary evil. To many they represent nothing more than the irksome necessity of keeping eligible for athletics; to others nothing more than a burdensome task, preventing full indulgence in dramatics or some other outside activity; to still others, nothing more than a vexatious interference with social amusements.

This attitude toward studies is radically wrong. Why do the people of the state maintain this splendid equipment of laboratories, shops, and recitation rooms? Why do they employ high-salaried professors? That we may fritter away our time in outside activities or social diversions and devote only our spare time and left over energy to our studies? No! They expect us to devote ourselves seriously to the courses of study that they provide. They expect us to utilize the equipment and instruction that they provide, to a reasonable degree, that we may become expert engineers, well-equipped business men, broad-minded lawyers, scientific farmers, and serious scholars.

However much we may value the training gained in outside activities or the personal poise acquired in social intercourse, and each has a considerable degree of value, we must recognize that our studies have prior lien upon our time and energies. If one is to acquire the tastes of a scholar or to obtain a broad view of his profession such as to enable him to become a truly big man in his field, he must do so while in the university. Many an alumnus will tell you that social poise can be developed more readily when tackling the big job after college days are over; that those things of value that our studies have to offer can usually be secured nowhere but in the university because the time required for thought and meditation is altogether too fleeting in the hustle and bustle of the commercial world.

Co-operation in the movement for better scholarship will put Wisconsin on a higher intellectual plane. Let's pull together.

Communication

LAMONT REPLIES

Editor of the Cardinal:

In reply to the communication of Mr. Comstock in yesterday morning's Cardinal I wish to state that I have never made any statement to him or to anyone else which would lead him to believe that my eyesight was not up to the average. The only conversation that I had with the gentleman was over the telephone Tuesday evening when I called him up to correct the idea that he seemed to have that the Cardinal was the only boat engaged in rescue work on the lake.

No one is more sorry than I that the tragedy of Sunday occurred and no one, not even Mr. Comstock, could be more desirous than I that a thorough investigation be made of all elements connected with it; but in order to clear myself of any charge of incompetency and to absolve Captain Isabel of any charge of negligence for sending a blind man across the lake to rescue those in need of help I again state that I am neither blind nor is my eyesight, according to the statements of competent physicians, in any way defective. I am sorry that Mr. Comstock and not I could have been across the lake when the accident happened.

I shall always hold myself willing to go before anyone to testify to those facts which Mr. Comstock is so desirous of knowing and in case that he wishes to talk to me personally I shall be glad to meet him at any time.

LABOR VICTORY IN ASSEMBLY

House, 52 to 26, Adopts 8
Hour State Printing
Substitute

One of the first labor victories to be recorded in the legislature came Friday, when the house by a vote of 52 to 26 adopted the committee substitute to the Hasley bill providing for an 8 hour day on state printing contracts and time and one-half for overtime.

Assemblyman Mark Catlin, stalwart leader, attempted to block the bill by a substitute amendment, which would leave overtime work at the current commercial rate.

"In some shops of this state current rate of pay or commercial rate may be the same as that paid to coolie labor," said Assemblyman Fred Hasley, Milwaukee, author of the bill. "I wrote to the Homestead Printing Co., Des Moines, Ia., recently awarded a part of the Wisconsin printing. They replied that this bill would not affect them as they had operated for years on an 8 hour basis."

Assemblyman Frank H. Fowler made a fight for the bill. He said that the amendment recently offered to this bill by Assemblyman Caldwell to include paper-makers, was a joke.

"It would have been just as well to have offered an amendment to include aviators," said Assemblyman Fowler.

"These amendments that are and have been offered to defeat this bill all come from the one source," said Assemblyman E. H. Killian, Watertown. "They all come from that good looking, well dressed gentleman, who sits at the reporter's table (O. D. Brandenburg). All of these amendments should be defeated and the committee substitute adopted."

"Is this man you refer to a member of the third house?" asked Assemblyman F. J. Peterson, Milwaukee.

"I think he is," replied Killian. The Catlin amendment was killed 42 to 36 and the committee amendment was adopted 51 to 26. The bill was then engrossed.

SEAMAN'S ACT IS UNDER FIRE

Edmonds Introduces Bill to Suspend La Follette Measure

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Rep. George W. Edmonds, Penn., introduced a bill in the house on Thursday which would authorize the president to suspend any part or all of the La Follette seamen's act. It was referred to the committee on merchant marine and fisheries. The action attracted interest because of negotiations under way under the auspices of the shipping board to bring a settlement of the grievances between the ship operators and employees. Another conference in regard to that dispute will be held here Friday.

The La Follette act has long been a controversial point between the seamen and the owners and has been held by the latter to be inimical to the advance of an American merchant marine. Designed to protect American citizens working on the ocean, it is said by operators to furnish protection mainly to unnaturalized foreigners.

Schwab Declares Germans On Road to Normalcy

NEW YORK—Germany, through the economy and sacrifices of her working people, has settled down to real production and is outstripping the U. S. and allied nations in the fight toward normalcy, Charles M. Schwab, declared Thursday before the Chamber of Commerce of the state of New York. "Germany today can put a ton of steel in England at a price of $20 a ton cheaper than England can make it," he said, "and is selling pneumatic tools in Detroit where formerly we shipped such machinery to Germany and sold it cheaper than she could make it. The difference is solely a matter of labor costs. Labor costs underlie our railroad difficulty. They are the causes of excessive railroad rates."

MORGAN SEES PRICE FIXING

Attorney General Takes Action Against Com- pany in Tomah

Atty. Gen. William Morgan started proceedings this morning to dissolve the Tomah Cash Mercantile Co. for violation of a statute enacted in 1897 prohibiting price fixing combinations.

Action in the suit brought this morning followed an extensive investigation carried on by an employee of the attorney general's office. Findings show that there is no question but that prices are being artificially held up in many communities the attorney general said.

In the charge against the $100,000 Tomah corporation it is alleged that the company conspired with its competitors to eliminate competition and control prices of food products that it sold to consumers, and also prices it paid to producers of butter and eggs. Subpoenas were served on every merchant in the city involved, calling them to appear before the court commissioner forthwith.

AT THE GRAND

The four year old youngster who is creating so much favorable comment at the Grand in "The Woman in His House" is Robert Hedrick. This is his first appearance in pictures and he is a natural born actor. Bobby plays the part of a little boy who has been stricken with infantile paralysis, and his acting is one of the outstanding features of the attraction.

"The Woman in His House" will be shown for the last times today. It will be followed at the Grand tomorrow by a screen version of Stewart Edward White's popular novel "The Westerners."

In order to film the great ice gorge scenes and the snow storms along the Connecticut river for the climax in D. W. Griffith's production of "Way Down East," to be shown at the Fuller theater, beginning May 4, a large force of engineers and men skilled in such matters were encamped along the shores of that stream for weeks last winter. Players in the company were also under contract and immediate call and were summoned by long distance telephone at various times when weather and other conditions made the moment propitious for filming.

PRETTY ACTRESS PROVES THAT WITH VERY SIMPLE METHODS ANY WOMAN CAN EASILY HANDLE THUGS

Miss Myrtle Tannehill using the hammerlock on Alphonz Ethier when he attempts to snatch her purse

"The female is not the unprotected creature that poets sing about, nor is she so unconditionally of the weaker sex as she has heretofore been labeled," says Myrtle Tannehill, who is appearing in a prominent role in "The Broken Wing" in New York. "A woman is just as capable of taking care of herself from the assaults of footpads and robbers as a man if she knows a few simple yet efficient methods of self-defense. Of course a hat pin is always valuable to have handy, but better still is knowing how to use the hammerlock and an umbrella. If you are walking in the park and a man comes up to you to grab your purse don't wait to threaten the man with all sorts of dire things, but do it first and talk about it afterwards. The first lick most generally wins a fight."

To illustrate the hammerlock, Miss Tannehill is here shown employing it on Alphonz Ethier, the leading man of the company, who posed with her

At The Theatres

AT THE ORPHEUM

There will be three performances today and three tomorrow at the Orpheum where one of the most pleasing of vaudeville programs is on view. Heading the bill is Irving Golsar and Rhea Lusby, Mr. Golsar at the piano with songs and Miss Lusby, one of the prettiest dancers seen here in some time, the act has a tone of big-time. For laugh producers none are better than Ralph C. Bevan and Beatrice Flint, who as the fifth act on the bill have the patrons laughing from the rise of the curtain until the close. The Bottomley troupe present a hair-raising act and Orren and Drew with their Barnyard Episode are very entertaining. A very good male quartet is found in the Four of Us and Jack Roshier, with his dog Muffs, starts off the show with a very interesting display of animal training. The matinees today and tomorrow will be at 3 o'clock and evening shows at 7:15 and 9:00.

AT THE STRAND

Wanda Hawley in "Her First Elopement" will be the attraction at the Strand theater Sunday to Tuesday.

When love flew in at her window, peace and quiet rushed out of the door. She had always been cold to all her many suitors and now she was provoked to find herself falling in love with a strong-armed brute who had kidnapped her, under the impression that she was somebody else, and was now heading out to sea with her in his yacht. Was she mad? Oh, boy! Yet sorter glad, for she knew who he was, all right, one of the wealthiest and most eligible bachelors in the city. Still—unless she could bribe the skipper to head for home she would be compromised, and no nice girl likes that. But she got even.

Larry Semon in "The Sportsman" will be the added feature. Betty Compson in "Prisoners of Love" is being shown at the Strand for the last times today.

AT THE FULLER

Richard Carle, Blanche Ring, Charles Winninger, Winona Winter and Jay Gould are coming together in one theatrical attraction. Here, indeed, is a combination to draw folk to the theater. These widely-known stars and famous fun-makers are all in the "Century Midnight Whirl" which John Henry Mears will present at the Fuller today and tomorrow.

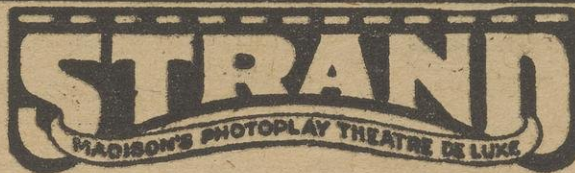

Such a group is a sure guarantee of just about as much fun and merriment and laughter as could be crowded into a single theatrical performance. But the "Whirl" has others besides these eminent comedians. There are Maxson and Brown and the Bennett Twins whose dancing has delighted all who have seen it, and there are Virginia Birmingham, Grace Cronin and others in their songs and specialties. Also there is the famous "Millionaires' Chorus," the most celebrated organization of gifted and beautiful young women ever brought together. The "Century Midnight Whirl" is a roof show. It is a novelty. It is the first time an entertainment of this sort has ever been presented in regular theatrical hours. It is a revue with many added features of novelty. It was made for laughter and happiness and spirited fun. All who enjoy wit, humor, catchy music, pretty girls in fascinating dances, handsome costumes and a lot more will find every desire gratified in the "Whirl."
