Foreword

The aim of this volume is to serve as a reminder of people and events of the school year just passed. If, at the same time while recording its activities, it succeeds in showing the spirit that pervades Marinette High, it will have fulfilled its purpose.

JUNIORS

WILLIAM ANDERSON .....	President
MARGARET REDEMAN .....	Vice-President
CLAYTON CAMPBELL .....	Secretary-Treasurer

Although late to organize, the Juniors were well represented in all activities in any way connected with the school. As a class, however, they did very little until the latter part of the year when a party was given corresponding in a way to the Junior Prom held in former years.

By looking over the athletic data, it is found that ten of the twenty-five wearers of the "M" were Juniors. Four of these were football men while the other six composed the whole first team basketball squad. Several of the point winners in the track meet were third-year students.

In the inter-class basketball tournament the team though defeated in the first game of the series, from that time on won every game and took the championship with the record as shown on another page of this book.

The strong representation of the class was evident not only in Athletics but also in the forensic field. Four of the six debaters were Juniors, one being on the Negative team while the Affirmative was made up of the three other third-year men. The one representative in the Junior-Senior Oratorical contest took third place. In the Declamatory contest the two Junior representatives failed to take a position among the winners.

In the Girls' Glee Club there were five and in the Boys' Glee Club six third-year students. From this it is apparent that musically as well as in other directions the class was active.

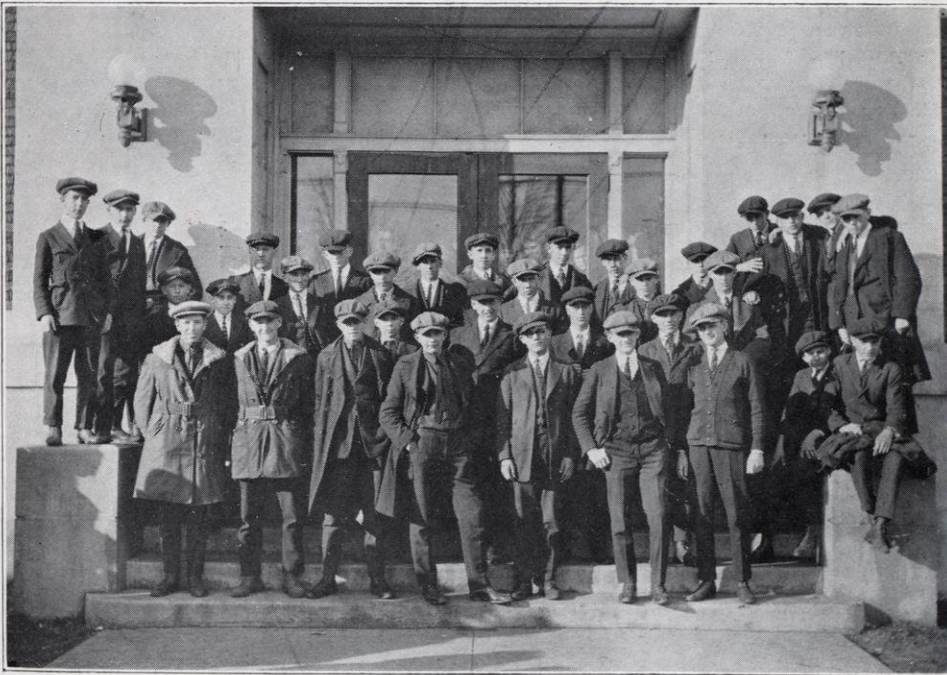

Next year, as Seniors, the class of 1923 ought to be one of the best that has ever graduated from Marinette High School. Everything is in its favor. An unparalleled season of victories in football, basketball, track and forensics should confidently be expected when the teams of this year, of whom so many members are Juniors, go out as the teams of 1923. With the experience of 1921-1922 behind them they should be invincible.

SOPHOMORES

BERNICE KLEMAN .....	President
DONALD WILSON .....	Vice-President
ALTA RASMUSSEN .....	Secretary
CARL BERGFORS .....	Treasurer

First to organize, the sophomore class was also first to do something among the organizations connected with the High School when it led off the social season with a Hard-time party. Well advertised and planned, it proved a great success. Although not always a leader, yet in other activities of the school year as well the class as individuals and as a whole was a willing participant.

The second year delegation to the football squad of 1921 was nine in number of which there were three first team men. Since the juniors appeared to hold a monopoly on the basketball team, no sophomores were on the first squad although three were on the second team. In track, next to the juniors, the sophomores had the most numerous representation. The class team took third place in the tournament leaving the fourth position to the seniors.

Turning from the athletic to the forensic field, we find that here too the second year students were ably represented. In the Oratorical contest sophomores placed first, second and third, in this manner completely shutting out the freshmen while in the Declamatory contest they succeeded only in taking third place.

In the Boys' Glee Club there were three and in the Girls' Glee Club seven members of the sophomore class while five of the thirteen people in the orchestra were second year students.

The Webster Debating Society and Edison Science Club listed four and seven sophomores respectively on their rolls.

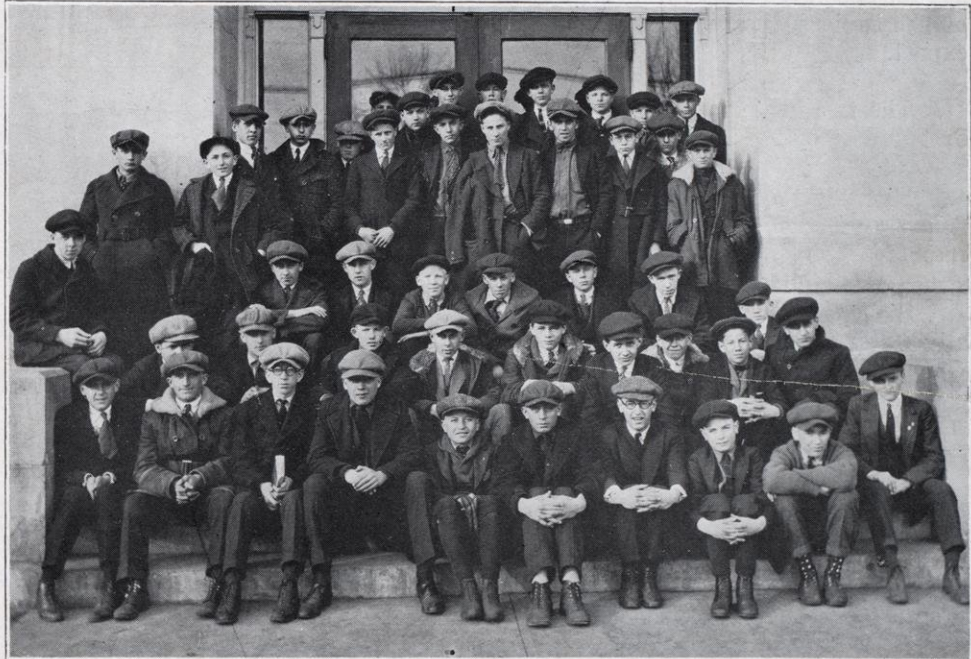

These facts plainly show the sophomore class to be an active and live organization. With two years yet remaining in School they should become the more active until as seniors they ought to be one of the largest and best classes that has ever graduated from Marinette High School.

SOPHOMORE GIRLS

SOPHOMORE BOYS

FRESHMEN

JOSEPH KRESKY .....President
 LEVI BROWN .....Vice-President
 ESTHER DELBRIDGE .....Secretary-Treasurer

The largest numerically ever to enroll in Marinette High School the freshman class kept the balance even by being the smallest bodily. Of course there were large freshmen as there always are but then there were also some abnormally small freshmen which is not quite so usual. However, this did not hinder them from supporting every activity that could be supported.

The Freshman May Day party given on the night of April 28th proved one of the most enjoyable of the year.

Five first year men were on the football squad of whom two were "M" winners. Although no freshmen were to be found on the first or second basketball teams, the members of the squad representing the class in the tournament made up for that deficiency by taking second place. Without a doubt at least three members of this team will be second string men next year. The freshmen out for track, although fewer in number than the other classes with the exception of the seniors, showed that size was not such a great hindrance as one might expect.

The two contestants from the class of '25 in the Declamatory contest took first and second place while the representatives in oratory lost out completely.

Five members of the orchestra and two members of the Glee Clubs were first year students which shows that musically as well as in other directions the freshmen were active.

Since first year pupils are not eligible to Webster Debating Society, naturally no freshmen were members. In the Edison Science Club, however, there were six people from the class of '25.

Most certainly the freshmen have made a good record this year as a class and as individuals. This should be the more true when they are sophomores with one year's experience behind them while as juniors and seniors their activities should be even wider and more completely entered into so that when they graduate they can look back on four years at Marinette High School filled to the brim with service and the pleasure derived from it.

TOM JOHNSON

Coming directly from the University of Illinois with a fine record as a 3-sport man, Tom Johnson assumed the Directorate of Athletics and lived up to advance notices by developing a state championship football team. He inaugurated a new system of play which taught close cooperation between the line and backfield.

With the basketball team, he started with a green squad and while not winning a state championship as in football, the men learned more basketball than has any squad before. Naturally it is hard for any team to perfect an altogether new system the first year; next season when the men are more familiar with Johnson's methods, both basketball and football teams should be winners.

FOOTBALL

THE 1921 TEAM

Marinette will always be proud of the 1921 team, inasmuch as it was the third state championship eleven to be developed by the High School during the past five years. Although the squad was defeated by Oshkosh, its fine record of eight victories and one defeat caused most of the state football authorities to recognize the Purple and White crew as the Badger Champs.

After eliminations, Coach Johnson was left a squad of twenty-eight men from which a team was constructed. The preliminary game was easy, but the next four were "man-killers" and it is little wonder that the last of the series, the Oshkosh tilt, was lost. The eleven regained its drive, however, after a change in its line-up and copped the remaining four contests. Menominee proved an easy victim, and while Superior died hard, the point is that her ambitions perished in the same manner as those of seven other strong teams.

PROSPECTS FOR 1922

Prospects for a strong team in 1922 are very bright, considering the fact that of the nineteen letter men, only five are seniors. This means that, barring ineligibilities, eighteen veterans, including the five "1921" wearers, will return. As Coach Johnson will undoubtedly be here to direct affairs, a wonderful eleven should grace the gridiron next year.

M. KRESKY
Captain-Elect.

STURGEON BAY

The Purple and White opened the 1921 season with a rush when Sturgeon Bay was handed a 96-0 drubbing. The first touchdown was made four minutes after the kick-off and thereafter the scorekeeper was the busiest person present.

ESCANABA AT ESCANABA

A battle between lines featured Marinette's 14-0 defeat of Escanaba at the Northern city's grounds. The locals were playing in the shadow of their goal until Barofsky intercepted a forward pass and sprinted 91 yards for the first touchdown. The tide then turned, Johnson's crew taking the offensive. Kuchenberg scored the second marker on a play through center. The Purple threatened again in the fourth quarter, but lost the ball on downs within the opponents' ten yard line.

CHIPPEWA FALLS

The Chippewa Falls squad, Western leaders, failed to live up to expectations and submitted to a 17-3 beating. Saidel and Hallen scored on forward passes and Kresky booted a field goal. Chippewa made her lone 3 points on a dropkick. The feature of the game was Kresky's defensive playing.

EAST GREEN BAY

Tom Johnson's eleven defeated the Green Bay machine 2-0 in a hard game, although both sides were guilty of ragged playing. While the final result does not indicate it, the Purple crew played circles around the Bayites, but a safety was the only tally rung up.

OSHKOSH AT OSHKOSH

Marinette journeyed to Oshkosh for the first defeat of the season. The Oshkosh team uncorked an aerial attack which was not solved until 20 points were rolled up. In the last quarter the locals came to life and shoved across two touchdowns and a safety in short order, but could not overcome the Sawdust City's early lead.

FOND DU LAC

Johnson's squad showed its comeback power when it trounced Fond du Lac 19-0. Hood, Barofsky, and Lund crossed the goal on line plays. The team was completely renovated after the Oshkosh defeat and the new combination worked well, although many chances to score were lost because of disastrous fumbles.

OCONTO AT OCONTO

To get practice in crossing goal lines, Marinette captured Oconto's bacon by a score of 68-7. Barofsky starred with his pass catching. The second team proved its worth when it registered 19 points in the fourth quarter.

*you are wonderful driver and you.
J. Furloette.*

MENOMINEE

The Purple and White eleven, playing in varsity style, vindicated Tom Johnson's system of coaching by soundly trouncing the ancient rivals 20-0. The so-called Menominee stars somehow were lost in the rush and could not cope with the Marinette team-play. The first touchdown was made by Barofsky on a short off-tackle buck after the ball had been brought within scoring distance by hard line smashes. The sensation of the game was also provided by the Purple captain when he dashed 76 yards through the entire Menominee team for the second touchdown. Thereafter the chief endeavor of the enemy was to hold down the score and they succeeded in doing so until the fourth quarter when Lund intercepted a pass and broke away for the third and last tally.

SUPERIOR

This game, played to eliminate one contender for state high football honors, ended in a 14-0 victory for the Queen City crew. Superior brought down a wonderful team and it was only by fighting every minute that the locals were able to carry off the honors. The Northerners got the jump on our crew and by using a series of delayed cross bucks, brought the ball from their sixteen yard line to our fourteen where it was lost on downs. Marinette took a new lease on life, and after Barofsky returned a punt 50 yards for the first touchdown, it was the locals who were on the offensive. Newman scored the last touchdown of the game and season when he received a short pass and stepped over the line.

SECOND TEAM

The second team is deserving of a large share of the credit awarded the regulars and it is safe to say that were it not for the "Scrubs", our record would not be nearly so impressive. The Seconds were used in the Sturgeon Bay, Chippewa Falls, Fond du Lac, and Oconto games and made creditable showings each time.

Second-string men who graduate this year are Hornibrook and Lindstrom, tackles; La Fountain, end; Dettman and Mundt, backs. Those who will be candidates for the 1922 team are Mathson, Netzer, Spoor, and Peterson.

BASKETBALL

C. BAROFSKY
Captain

The 1922 season was a decided success, not from the point of games won and lost, but because of the valuable experience it netted the men. When we consider that only one member of last year's team remained and that Coach Johnson's system was entirely new to this section of the state forcing him to neglect the finer points of the game and concentrate on fundamentals, the results were entirely satisfactory. Any impartial observer would say that our men were stars in all departments of floor work; knowing dribbling, passing and pivoting from A to Z. Their shooting, however, was not always deserving of praise although of course we had our off and on nights. Free throwing especially was not what it could have been.

Yet no one can truthfully say that the defeats we incurred reduced the morale of the men in the slightest degree. The team certainly deserves credit for keeping in constant training and never quitting under fire.

Perhaps it would be better to see what 1923 will hold in store for our hopes on the caging court. Every man on the squad will be a veteran with a year's experience under his belt. In addition to the regulars there will be several likely second stringers along with the cream of the class teams. After carefully considering the material and the coaching, we will let you draw your own conclusions.

THE BASKETBALL TEAM

Leonardson, Teige, C. Barofsky, Trepanier, Johnson (coach).
Hofherr, L. Barofsky, Murwin, Hood.

Captain C. Barofsky, running guard, was the mainstay of the 1922 basketball team, his good work at the Ripon Tournament earning him the captaincy of the All-Tournament five. Barofsky excelled in all departments, his floor work being especially good. He was our best long shot and did the free throwing the last three games.

Trepanier held down the standing guard and also did the free throw tossing until the Mayville game. Trep was not the best guard turned out at Marinette, but his scrappy tactics and clean playing made his work satisfactory to all.

Hood at center deserves much credit for his meritorious floor work, but his difficulty in locating the basket was fatal to Marinette's hopes in several games. Next year he should develop into a first class pivot man. Leonardson was the reserve center.

Teige filled left forward. He was groomed as substitute center until the Oconto Falls game when his steady playing earned him a regular's berth at forward.

Hofherr at the other forward also was a second team prospect until the Oconto Falls game. Though small, he was always full of fight and showed up particularly well against Mayville. Murwin and L. Barofsky occupied the substitute forward positions.

REVIEW OF THE SEASON

Marinette opened the season with four consecutive wins when Wausaukee, East Green Bay, Oconto Falls, and Menominee were demolished by 29 to 1, 25 to 23, 38 to 12, and 32 to 20 scores respectively. The Menominee game was a big upset of dope as everyone judged the superior experience and size of the Redmen were—handicaps which could not be overcome, but good shooting and teamwork proved our rivals' jinx. The following week Racine showed too much class and scrapped our hopes 31 to 12. Oconto continued the defeats, handing an 18 to 3 licking to Johnson's men. The five showed its comeback power when Menominee was humbled 15 to 10 after it had maintained a lead throughout the first half.

The rest of the season is merely a succession of hard luck stories with only one registered victory. De Pere and East Green Bay were the first two winners, copping 22 to 19 and 24 to 18. At the Ripon Tournament the Purple succumbed to Waupaca, 22 to 16 the eventual tournament winners, in a hard game which necessitated an overtime period; in the second game Ripon administered a 27 to 13 beating.

The second Oconto game was in doubt until the final whistle, the lead see-sawing back and forth but the count found Marinette on the short end of a 17 to 16 score. In an elimination game for the Oshkosh tourney Mayville was defeated 16 to 12. At Oshkosh a none too successful season was brought to a close when Neenah and Shawano fattened their percentages with 20 to 11 and 22 to 13 wins over the Purple and White squad.

The class basketball league was not organized until after the holidays, but after getting under way proved a success. The championship was captured by the Juniors after they had defeated the Freshmen, their closest competitors, in a three game series. Krueger of the Juniors and Mathison and Hiel of the Freshmen were the stars of the league.

The Juniors annexed the class supremacy of the twin cities by defeating the Menominee Juniors, champs of the rival school. The Freshies also trounced the red and white first year men.

TRACK

(Editor's Note: It is always difficult to give any definite up-to-date facts about track as the season does not get under way until the Annual goes to press. College annuals chronicle the record of the previous spring, but we see no object in reviewing something which is not included in our scope. Therefore we will only give an authentic statement of the facts as we know them.)

About thirty men responded to Coach Johnson's call for candidates for the track and field squads which was not issued until basketball season had terminated. Among the candidates were a few veterans from the 1921 squad but their experience was so very limited and their knowledge of fundamentals so insufficient that there was practically nothing but green material; from this aggregation a team truly representative of Marinette high school's athletic abilities must be selected which could ably defend our reputation on the cinder track in the several interscholastic meets which were scheduled. The men worked particularly hard for the meet with Menominee in their desire to even up the score with the red and white school for the jolt handed their hopes on Walton Blesch field a year ago. Preparations were also made to send the squad to the state high school meet at Madison.

THE GYMNASIUM

DRAMATICS

The past year has been very successful from a literary standpoint. The season was opened by the Webster Society presenting a modern version of a Shakespearian play. Armistice day and the Christmas season brought forth interesting material in speeches, recitation, song and pageant. The different English sections have held many class programs in Goodman Hall which helped to prepare the students for better public speaking. Competition was aroused in oratorical and declamatory contests and near the end of the year, the class play acted as a fitting climax to a successful literary season.

THE WEBSTER PLAY

The first entertainment of the year was "The Merchant of Venice Up To Date," a comedy, given by the Webster Debating Society in the high school auditorium on November tenth.

The feminine characters of the play were very cleverly taken by members of the society as they exhibited to perfection all the charms and wiles of the sex. As the plot unfolded, Bassanio and Gratiano did their utmost to save Antonio, their football hero, from the clutches of the scheming Shylock, who had bargained for a pound of his hair—nearest the brain, in payment for Latin ponies rented to tide him over a critical examination, upon whose result depended a happy marriage with the lady of his choice. Portia, with a woman's ready wit acted as judge at the trial and saved her lover's honor. An X-Ray picture revealed that he had no brains, therefore no forfeit could be taken.

Lack of space and modesty forbid that any "stars" be singled out of the brilliant company but certain it is that some of them had been ardent students of Shakespeare as well as keen observers of their fellow students.

The play was a great success financially, and from a dramatic standpoint. The Webster boys deserve much credit for the able manner in which they responded to suggestions given by Miss Daniels, who helped them stage the production.

THE CHRISTMAS PLAY

Before the Christmas holidays, the English department with the assistance of the glee clubs directed by Miss Sprester, presented "My Lady's Yule Tide" before the High School. Glimpses of social life and quaint customs of England during the sixteenth century were portrayed by groups of lords and ladies in beautiful court costumes, and by peasants, children, and merry Morris dancers in holiday attire. "My Lady's Yule Tide", half pageant, half play in two acts was well rendered by the following cast:

DRAMATIC RECITAL

Mary Marguerite Arens, an experienced teacher of expression from Lawrence College, gave a dramatic recital in the high school auditorium on March seventeenth.

Students and outsiders were very much pleased with her interpretations. The first selection, "Blue Roses," a satire was especially adapted to young men and boys. Mrs. Arens won her entire audience with an interpretation of "The Taming of the Shrew" by Shakespeare. The manner in which Petruchio tamed his lady-love, the Shrew, was well interpreted by Mrs. Arens.

"Fourteen," a little one act play, concluded the program. Combining personality and natural grace of word and gesture, the reader carried her audience through the trials of an aspiring society woman.

The program was under the auspices of the City teachers' association who wished to give the students an opportunity of hearing a talented reader.

Music was furnished by local talent. Altogether the program was one of the best heard this year.

THE SENIOR CLASS PLAY

The play usually given by the senior class near the end of the school year was presented on the evening of June second in the high school auditorium. It was deemed a success by the large audience.

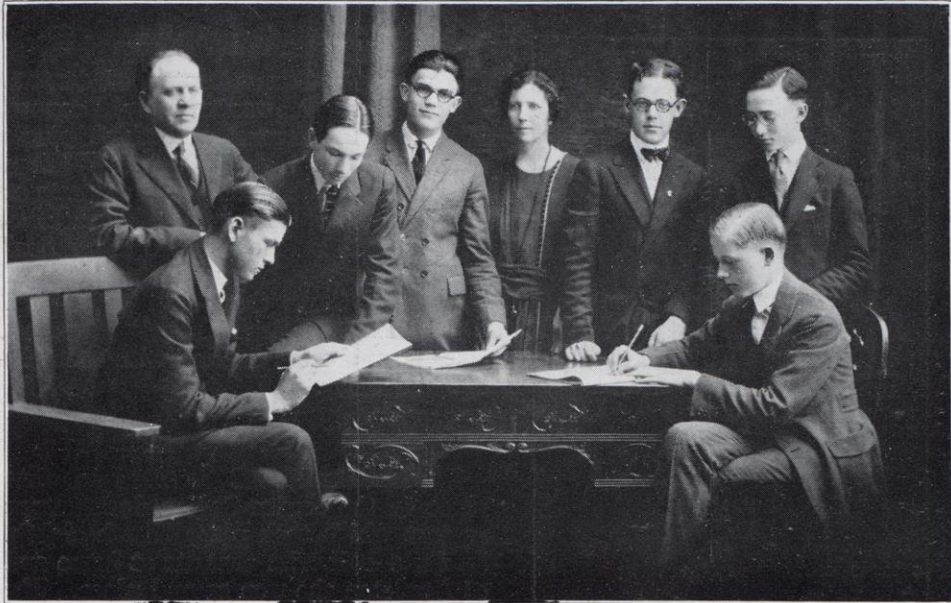

"Charley's Aunt" was a three act college play portraying various types of English characters. Jack Chesney and Charles Wykeham, two college friends in love with Kitty Verdun and Amy Spettigue, wished to propose so invited the girls to their rooms to meet Charley's aunt who was coming from Brazil. At the last moment they received word that she was detained and forced Lord Fancourt, a friend, to take her place as chaperone disguised as a woman. The queer actions of the bogus aunt and the tangled state of affairs when the real aunt arrived caused a great deal of merriment from the audience.

THE DEBATING TEAMS

Mr. Evert, Anderson, Merar, Miss Roycroft, Boose, Wichnovitz,
Doberstein Leonardson

QUESTION

Resolved: That a reduction of national armaments to a status adequate for police forces within a period of ten years is practicable.

Affirmative:	WILLIAM ANDERSON	Negative:	SAMUEL WICHNOVITZ
	WALTER DOBERSTEIN		FARNHAM BOOSE
	THOMAS MERAR		SIGURD LEONARDSON

A few weeks after the teams were selected, the Lawrence College Forensic Board decided on Oconto and East Green Bay as the other two members of the triangle with whom Marinette was to debate. Four weeks of diligent preparation followed so that no possible factor which might aid in a victory would be neglected.

Following the rule of the Lawrence Forensic League, the Negative team went to East Green Bay on February 16th while the Affirmative remained at home to meet Oconto's Negative. A 3-0 victory at home made the defeat at Green Bay seem less crushing.

The record made by the teams was highly creditable when we consider the fact that only one regular debater remained from last year, while the other five men were making their debut in public debate. A successful season may be anticipated for 1923, as four experienced men, Anderson, Doberstein, Leonardson and Merar, will return. Stiff competition for positions on the teams may be expected as much promising material is being developed by the Oratorical Contests.

Miss Roycroft and Mr. Evert spent a great deal of time and effort in the capacity of coaches to perfect the arguments so that no flaw should remain, while Miss Daniels labored to improve the method of presentation of the material. A great share of the credit for the record made by the teams must, in truth, go to them.

THE ORATORY AND DECLAMATORY CONTESTS

The Junior-Senior oratorical contest, March thirtieth, was won by Leonard England '22, second and third places going to Sam Katz '22, and William Anderson '23. Later in the contests at Marinette, Appleton and Oshkosh England took first place also and in the final at Madison was awarded the title of Wisconsin State Oratorical Champion. "Grinding the Seed Corn," his selection, is an oration dealing with the evils of child labor.

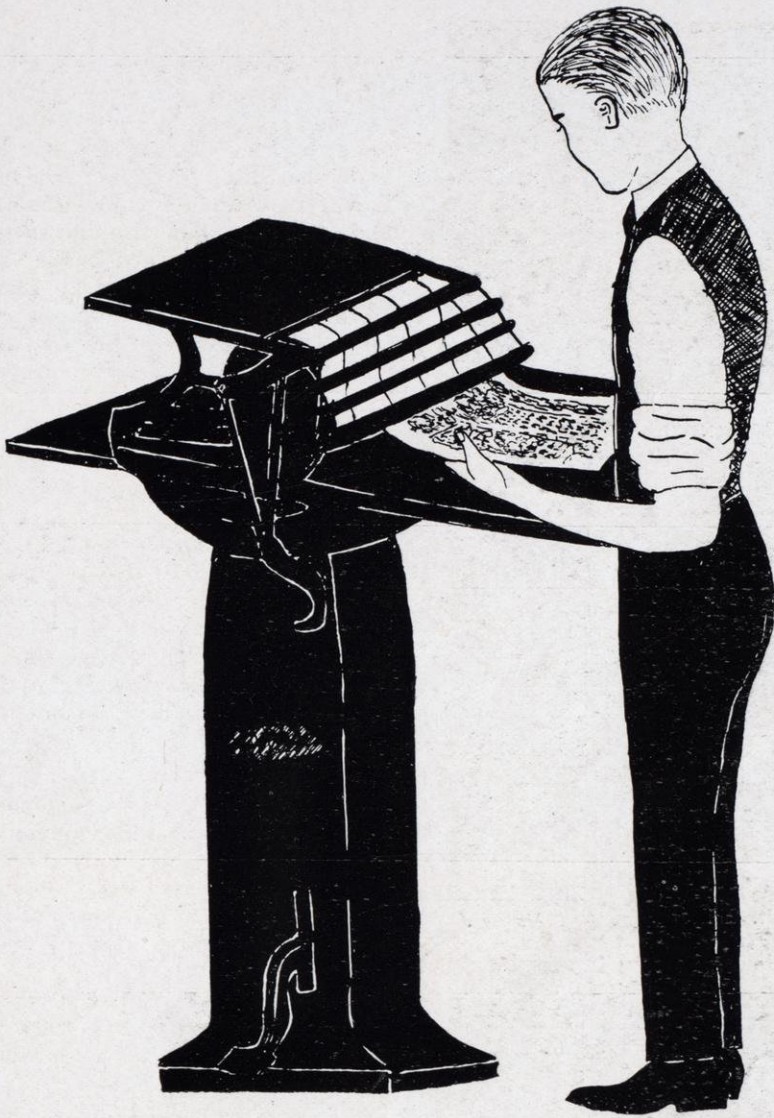

Marion Davis '22 was given first place in the Junior-Senior declamatory contest which took place March eighth. In the sub-district contests at home and at Appleton she won second place. The selection used was "The Littlest Rebel", a well known southern story.

In the Junior-Senior contest Esther Danner '22 and Rose Bongfeldt '22 were given second and third honors.

Floyd Habeck '24 was awarded first place in the Freshman-Sophomore oratorical contest which occurred on March 22nd. The oration was "Robert Emmet's Vindication", the story of a young Irishman who was charged and convicted of treason.

Lael Westberg '24, and Lloyd Cook '24 were given second and third honors.

Freshman and Sophomore declamatory honors were awarded to Thelma Magnussen '25, Olga Johnson '25 and Mary Morton '24 on March first. The winner's declamation, "A Bear Story" carried the audience and there was no doubt as to her ability as an entertaining speaker.

THE ETTENIRAM

The purpose of any yearbook whether of high school, college or university is to serve as a record of the people and events which aid in making the school year worth remembering. A volume such as this should of course be accurate. But more than this and perhaps equally as important, it should be so constructed that at the same time it will be attractive.

In an attempt to meet this latter demand, a departure has been made from the methods of previous years and the organization of the material within the scope of the "Etteniram" has been changed. Activities similar in nature have been brought together under fitting heads, while two new sections, "Press" and "Organizations", have been added. To make the book even more compact the minor divisions have been arranged under the four principal heads of "Administration," "Classes," "Activities" and "Humor."

It may, perhaps, not be amiss at this point to say a few words about the various sections. To maintain a balance the literary and society departments have been given more space. The same is true of the humor and, in fact, of every section due to the increase in size of the book as a whole. The lower classes have been more fully represented by the introduction of an article for each class, reviewing its activities during the year. In the senior section we have tried to break away from the custom which says that every senior must have his nick-name and a flowery compliment embodied in an epigram. All these changes have been made in the hope that the book would be more interesting by reason of them.

There are many to whom we are grateful for the work done on the "Etteniram." Mr. H. O. Massie of the Eagle Printing Co., by the helpful suggestions he has given the Staff and the painstaking attention all "Annual" matters have received at his hands has greatly aided the work.

Mr. A. B. Hansen, our Faculty Adviser, also has been ready at all times with practical suggestions. To the editorial and business staffs of the "Etteniram" goes a great share of the credit and especially to the following: Lyle Lang, upon whose shoulders falls the burden of paying for the book; Pierre Martineau, who besides handling the athletic section, also did the cartooning; Agnes Johnson, whose original and artistic work is evident in the designs for the various sections, and Ralph Olson, who acted as photographer. We must also express our gratitude to Walter Dettman and Harry Olson who generously gave their time and efforts to get the printers' copy ready when various causes made it impossible for the regular typists to do so. The conscientious work of Gladys Madson, Assistant Editor; Leah Erickson, Literary; Samuel Goodman, Humor; Anita Weber, Society and Louise Yenor and Helen Boehm, typists—though not so evident in the finished volume—will always be remembered and appreciated.

Our work as an Annual Staff is done. It is now for you, the readers, to decide the degree of success that has met our task. If the "Etteniram" serves to recall "school-days" with their joys and sorrows, to bring back memories in the years to come—and does it faithfully—we may in truth say that the time and labor spent in editing it has been worth while.—The Editor.

THE BOOSTER STAFF

Yockey, Johnson, Nickelsen, Dettman, Martineau.
 Stevenson, Wall, Miss Delbridge, Erickson, Wisner.
 Goodman, Kirmse, Mundt, Pinkowsky, England, La Fountain.

THE BOOSTER

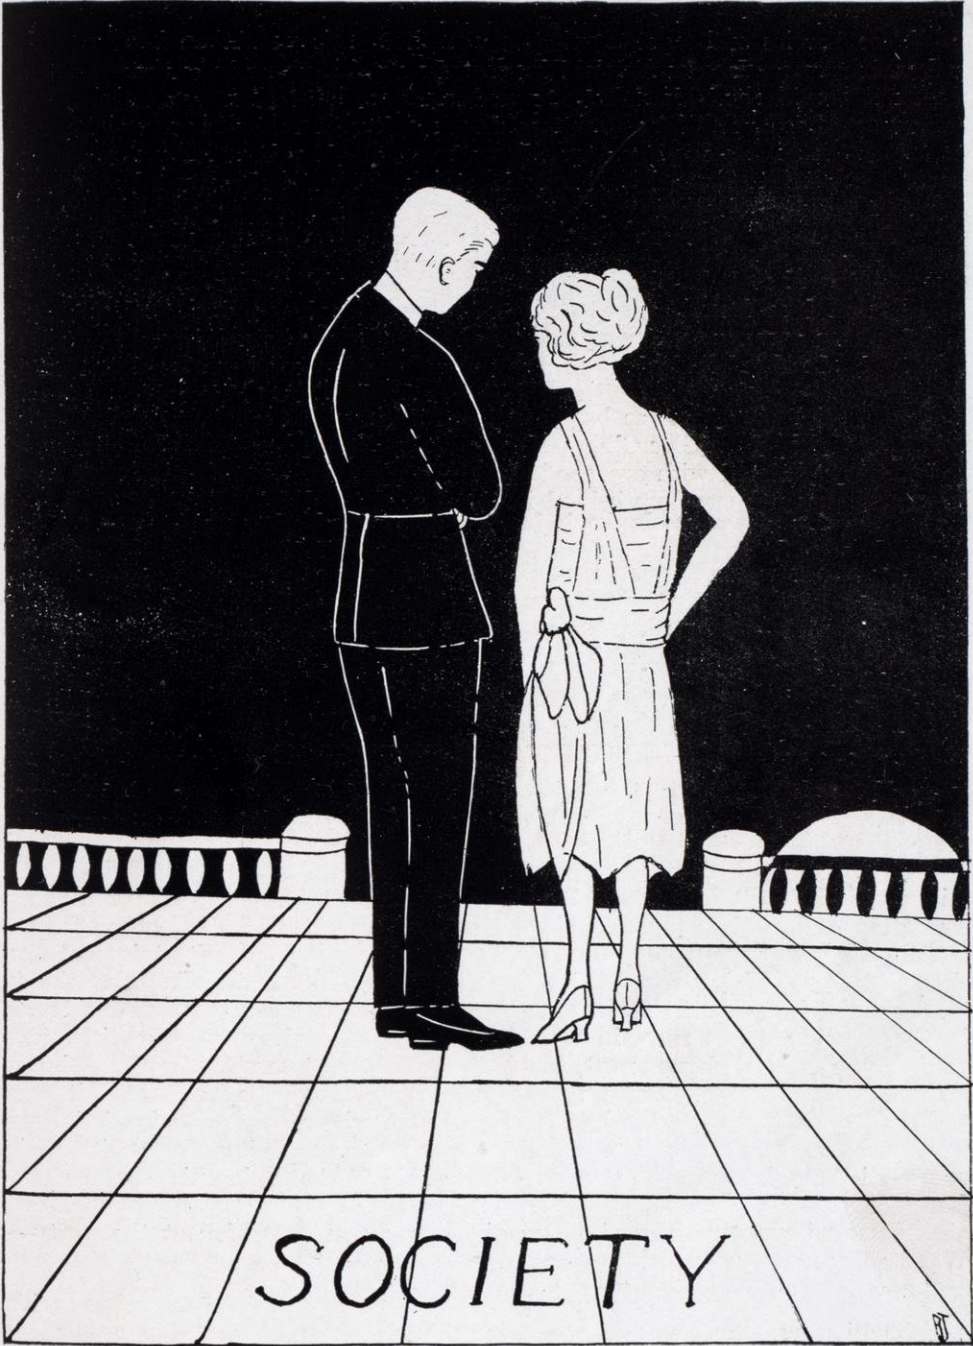

The Booster, published by the journalism class of the high school, has become an established fact. This year, the paper joined the Central Interscholastic Press Association at Madison.

At the beginning of the year, the following staff was elected:

Editor .....	Pierre Martineau
Business Manager .....	John Wisner
Asst. Business Manager .....	Mildred Pinkowsky
Exchange Editor .....	Florence Kirmse
Organizations .....	Samuel Goodman
Features .....	Leonard England
Literary Editor .....	Leah Erickson
Society .....	Violet Nickelsen
Sports .....	Amie La Fountain, Clarence Mundt
Humor .....	Claude Yockey, Walter Dettman
Headlines .....	Myron Stevenson
Local News .....	Agnes Johnson, Pearl Wall
Faculty Advisor .....	Helen Delbridge

The staff aimed to make the Booster a real high school paper. Condensation was emphasized to get the most news in a small amount of space. Humorous and informational feature stories were also used to a great extent.

Quality and not quantity was the motto of the staff as the printing was done in the high school print shop with limited facilities. The students performed their work in a creditable manner and helped the staff put out the paper on schedule time.

SOCIETY

More parties and "get-togethers" were held this year than has been the case for the last five years. For the greater part this was due to the commendable activity of the various classes and organizations, each class giving one party while the Glee Clubs, Annual Staff and Webster Debating Society each gave one. As is true everywhere, there were those too dignified people who would not get into the spirit of the entertainment, but instead acted as braces to a post or wall all evening. But for those who were willing and did participate, we are sure that every event was a keen pleasure and an occasion that will often be remembered as one of the things which helped to make their school days zestful and happy.

THE GLEE CLUB MIXER

The social calendar was begun October 14th with a party given by the members of the Mixed Glee Club. The object was to give everyone an opportunity to get acquainted with everybody in the two musical organizations. Several boys who were not members helped in the fun.

The dancing, as usual, was universally enjoyed but poor sportsmanship, or shall we say reluctance, was apparent on the part of the girls when it was suggested by the boys that some games like "Spin-the-bottle" and "Post-Office" really shouldn't be omitted. The argument that appeared inevitable was averted by serving the refreshments which as is usual, marked the close of the party.

THE SOPHOMORE HARD-TIME

The school learned that there was to be a party the night of October 28th by means of little invitations given to each student two days before the event.

The doors opened at seven-thirty. By the time the last belated hick and milk maid had trotted in a delightful music and dance program was under way consisting of Mabel Heurion, Elsie Olmsted and a male trio. Fortune telling by flirtatious little gypsies and Spanish damsels provided entertainment for the spectators. They proved a huge success—we don't know whether "they" means the maidens or the fortune, although you may. Then to provide a break in the dancing a nut race, in which the dignified seniors won the title, was held. A grand march was next, the judges of the costumes being placed in an advantageous position. Since there were many clever "make ups" it was rather difficult to choose the best. The witches with steel-gray wiry hair and bent backs burdened with heavy fagots came slowly trudging along with their broom-sticks. Katherine McCrory and Virginia Oakwood in this costume carried off first prize. Lydia Johnson, Lucille Leafe and Ruth Berglund as "coons" took second place. Third prize was given to the biggest hick at the party—Warren Brown.

It being time for refreshments, in a few moments everybody was busy with a dish of ice cream and necessary kitchen utensils.

At twelve the party was over, the only regret of all participants being that midnight came "awful early that night."

THE SENIOR CHARACTER PARTY

The Senior Character party of December 9th taxed the ingenuity of its participants and aroused unusual interest from onlookers.

The Grand March was led by the long and short of it—Leslie Uecke and Mabel Heurion. Although it was necessary to brush up on one's literature and history to recall some of the characters portrayed, Martha Washington, Napoleon, Oliver Twist, Shylock and many other noted folk of history and fiction were easily recognized. These, mingling with some who had not come in costume, gave the suggestion of having been brought back to life so that they might join in the festivities of the Modern World.

To pass the time in an enjoyable manner competitive games were played. Farnham Boose, in training for the valedictory address, showed his remarkable versatility in an entirely new direction—pie eating—when he won first place in showing appreciation for the products of the Domestic Science Department. Each class was represented by one contestant.

Next came the so-called weaker sex (?) to show their skill in the nail driving contest, one girl from each of the four classes participating. Anita Weber, with great accuracy and much precision hitting the nail at every blow, had the pleasure of walking off with a vest pocket tool chest.

Besides the games, dancing was the principal diversion with the Badger Four furnishing the music. After candy canes and popcorn balls were served, the final round was danced about the huge Christmas tree in the center of the floor.

The prizes for the most original costumes were awarded to Hazel Rondeau, who represented a Christmas tree, and Leonard England, who posed as a Cannibal.

W. D. S. PARTY

False Alarm!!! The W. D. S. Party of March 11 opened with a little speech by Mr. Merbach explaining that the party would have to be one without dancing since it was to save the good name of the school that this pleasure was to be excluded during Lent. Those bitter words were hard for the crowd to swallow, but they managed it nicely.

Immediately after the dreadful news, games such as pom-pom-pullaway, farmer-in-the-dell, tag and other kid games were played which seemed to be once more enjoyed by all. All were good sports that night except a few old bachelors who had to "sit it out" on the balcony, and several couples who seemed rather stiff left the crowd in a short time to seek pleasure elsewhere. It is also rumored that the crowd just spoken of got away with thirty Eskimo pies—Say, who was on guard???

After a few more wild games, there was a mad rush to the door where the remainder of the Eskimo pies were given out.

The party seemed to be too much for some, for eleven-thirty found many limping home.

The entertainment committee can be complimented on keeping the crowd together as well as it did.

(Editor's Note: Since the yearbook went to press before the events described below occurred, it was impossible to give any real facts in the articles. However, on the basis of advance information from those in charge of the affairs, write-ups, which went as far into detail as was possible under the circumstances, were made so that the "Etteniram" might be the more complete as a record of the events of the school year. It is therefore hoped that such small discrepancies as there may be will be excused.)

THE FRESHMAN MAY DAY PARTY

Although given on Friday, April twenty-eighth, the Freshman party in the gymnasium was supposed to celebrate the May Day festivities much as in Old England. A May Queen was elected and after being installed in her regal state, the dancing began, the Syncopators furnishing the music. To prevent the program from becoming monotonous games were played during the intermissions. All together the freshmen proved themselves royal entertainers.

THE "ETTENIRAM" PARTY

To help defray the expenses incurred by the publication of the "Etteniram" a party given by the Annual Staff was held in the gymnasium on the evening of May nineteenth. An attempt was made to make the party different from the others by having more entertainment for those not dancing. Several stunts, satires on various people and activities of the school, were pulled off causing great amusement to the spectators. The greater part of the evening, however, was spent in the Terpsichorean art.

THE JUNIOR PARTY

Given on the evening of May 26th, the purpose of the Junior party was to serve as a farewell to the graduating seniors. This was accentuated by the huge sign "FAREWELL" hanging from one of the girders in the gymnasium, the first thing to be seen as one entered.

To start things off as soon after eight o'clock as possible the Grand March was held after which the floor was divided off with dancing to music furnished by the Syncopators on one side and games on the other.

Then after the refreshments, which came at a most happy time, the prizes for the winners of the games were given out when dancing again held sway until the last strains of "Home, Sweet Home" had ended.

Perhaps for the first time the realization came forcibly to the seniors that their high school days were nearly over and that this was the last social event they would ever attend as members of the student body.

MATINEE DANCES

The Friday afternoon before Christmas witnessed a celebration of celebrations—our first matinee dance of the year.

It was well attended, not only by high school students, but also by quite a few of the alumni who were home for their Christmas holidays.

Though rather late for the first dance, all made up for lost time that afternoon BUT, kept in mind "au revoir" to any contortionistic dancing.

A number of other matinee dances followed with just as much success and pleasure as the first. However, it must be said that the boys of Marinette High school were rather bashful, since they had to be coaxed to get on the floor, and get a partner. Perhaps, they thought it was lady's choice. We wonder?

ORGANIZATIONS

MUSIC

The year's work of the Glee Clubs, begun a few weeks after school started, culminated in a concert on the evening of Friday, March 31st. The first part of the entertainment was straight concert, while the second half was given in costumes consistent with the selections rendered. The program reads:

WEBSTER DEBATING SOCIETY

As soon as was practicable after the beginning of school, the Webster Debating Society convened for a discussion of plans for the year and the election of officers. Mr. Evert was secured as coach. Weekly programs were held composed of debates, mock trials, readings and lectures.

On November 10th, the night before the Menominee game, a play, "The Merchant of Venice, Up-to-date", was given in the Auditorium, feminine as well as masculine roles being carried by members of the society.

March 11, a party was held in the gymnasium for the school at large. Because of the prohibition of dancing at the last moment due to Lent, it was not an unqualified success.

An active and successful year was rounded out by an informal "feed" which will long be remembered by those participating.

The Edison Science Club, an honorary organization which was organized in 1921, continued its work this year. The members of the organization are chosen from the several science departments as: Biology, Elementary Science, Chemistry, and Physics. The majority, however, are juniors and seniors from the chemistry and physics classes.

The purpose of this society is to give opportunity to those who wish to increase their knowledge on scientific subjects. This year the club had fifty members, the vacancies caused by the seniors who graduated being filled by students chosen by the heads of the science department.

Several local men from the Ansul Chemical Company, Paper Mills, and Electrical shops gave interesting and educational talks on their respective branches of industrial science.

Musical numbers were furnished by students and teachers of the High School, many of whom were members of the society, proving that its members are talented along other lines than science.

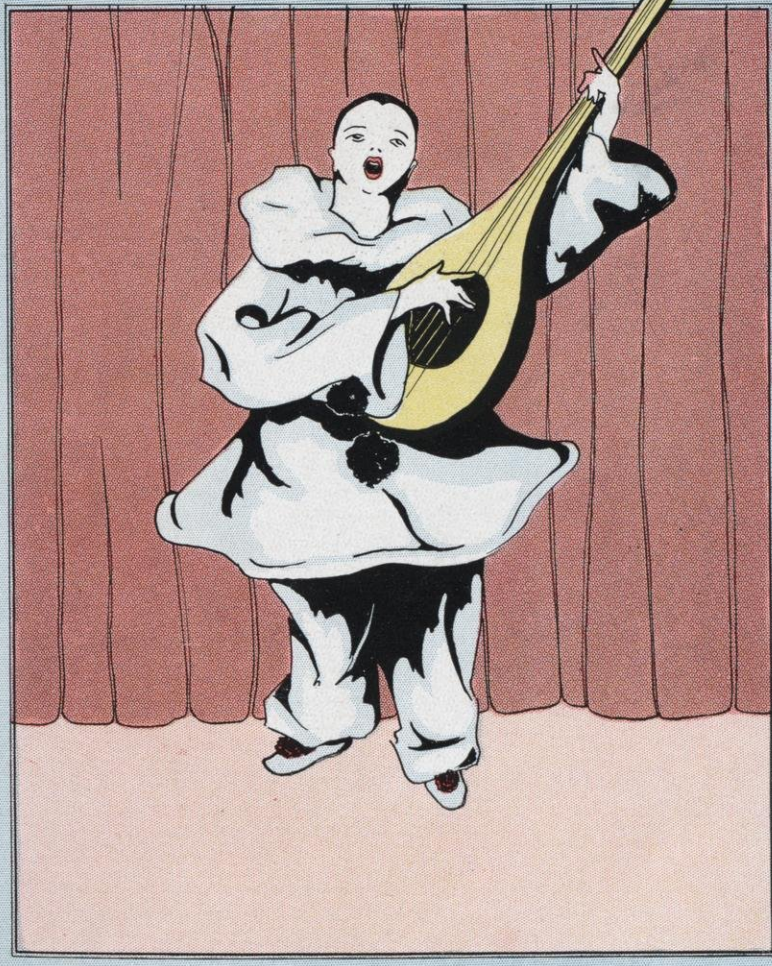

Meetings were held every alternate Thursday but several special meetings were called when good speakers were available.

Great expectations are held by the school and public at large from the club. It is hoped that its members although leaving school year by year will derive enough benefit from it to do much for the general welfare of the city and community in which they live.

THE FISH HOOK

(Catches Suckers)

Published on the run by the class of Sweet Sixteen once a year for one year annually.

DEDICATED TO THE MEMORY OF:

The flag-raising call most foully murdered by our bugler (we nearly said bungler) Yockey, whose hardened conscience has enabled him to annihilate the flag-lowering call in like manner, most fearful to hear.

The bum jokes revived, misrepresented, distorted and perpetuated by various members of the Faculty.

The remarkable music? spouted forth by the Glee Clubs in the concert.

MORE THAN FOREWORDS

Various euphonious cognomens have been suggested for this most sacred and dignified volume. We nearly fell for the Banana Peel. After seriously cogitating over the Pancake we decided not to use it being afraid that as a joke it might fall flat. There was a raisin why we did not use the Yeast Cake.

Finally, after having decided on our present name (telephoned to us by a delirious patient at the M. & M. Hospital) we began to fear that perhaps some people and especially those living in East Marinette would not know what was meant by the term. A simple, yet accurate definition is therefore given. The fish hook is a rigid and barbed segment of ferric ore, thermometrically solidified by process of carbonization. It is used for catching suckers. Hence the name of this volume.

In this section we twist the starched white shirt, jazz-bow and pongee handkerchief into a flannel garment, four-in-hand and bandana respectively and respectfully. In other words, we judge people by their back yards. Our motto is truth. We are willing to wipe the powder of deceit from the nose of a blue-blood to find one freckle of truth. Since falsehood is the mother of evil and auntie to crime we have avoided it in this section. With our usual good humor (reference is not to this section) earnestness and sincerity we wish to portray high school life as seen through the window of a smile.

FACULTY

FRITZ RITTENDEN

He has two lines of conversation—one, giving advice gratis and the other, telling feeble jokes. Pupils are marked not on scholarship but on laughs. Over his door should be a placard, "A loud laugh denotes not the vacant mind, but much intelligence." He himself must be superhuman. To counteract this levity—for levity it is; jokes that old should be respected and not laughed at—to counteract this, on Monday morning as a result of Sunday church-going he gives his classes a sermon. His pupils respect him as a preacher of the gospel of work and—do not follow his teaching.

SCHLESWIG DURHEM

A very cheerful woman whose only worry is her weight. Her ambition is not to weigh 200 pounds before she is forty, while after that she doesn't mind. One of her outstanding characteristics is a fondness for animals—especially horses. This is probably an out-cropping of her desire to be a sport. It is also shown when she rolls her eyes, rams three sticks of Bloodberry gum into the side of her mouth and then solemnly tells her pupils not to chew gum as "it isn't ladylike."

THOMAS LICKCHEESE

The idea that he could be sarcastic popped into his head one day and he has been trying to be ever since. We say "trying" altho adoring young flappers affirm that "he's just awful on slamming. You'd oughta heard him today," etc. However, his favorite occupation is trying to be witty at least and he is in the seventh heaven when he succeeds in shutting up some clever student with a timely remark. If the reverse is the case, he resorts to hints about the door. Reminds us of the spoiled child who wants his own way.

MAUDE R. MILK

The very pink of convention. Has an affection for art and makes herself believe she appreciates it. "The color effect," "get in the spirit of it," "enjoy it so immensely." She is incorrigible on this point. Her favorite pastime is enthusing to a cornered student over some author or artist. But on the whole, she is quite harmless. Some day she will probably eat too many peppermints and after that she'll be instructing the angels as a change from those she taught on earth.

CHARLES D. PERCIVAL

Ah, at last our lady-killer. We are all so glad to see him, especially the women. That carefully oiled hair, million-dollar complexion and drawl make him "so charming." At times he has the regrettable hallucination that he is "hard"—"a reg'lar devil, bah Jove." He, like so many others, inflicts would-be jokes on his classes. Also, nothing delights him more than to show his authority when he is given any—especially before the ladies for they will admire him as the strong and resolute man he is (?).—C. B.

THE SENIOR CLASS IN 1949

After perusing the list of occupations in which the various members of the class of 1922 are now engaged, more forcefully than ever is driven home the value of an education. It seems wonderful that some ordinary youth can step right out of high school and enter a profession as promising as the scrap-iron industry, instead of starting at the bottom as a banana peddler.

If we have been partial with our flattery, we sincerely excuse ourselves as it was unintentional. Or, if the contrary is the truth, do not hope for revenge as the compilers of this information have purchased one-way tickets to the Sahara Desert and Patagonia respectively. The compilers have also taken a correspondence course in pugilism from a prominent dancing school to insure themselves further against unwarranted attacks resulting from the publication of this work of art. We therefore present this list to you, dear brethren, with the admonition that truth, like murder, will out:

- Dora Aarons—Hair tonic Saleswoman.
 Gladys Amundsen—False Teeth Advertisement.
 Mildred Bachelder, Rose Bongfeldt—Artist's Models.
 Ruth Berglund—Malted Milk Fiend.
 Farnham Boose—Middleweight Pugilist.

 Lydia Johnson—Poodle Dog Raiser.
 Maurice Johnson—Vacuum Cleaner (naw, he ain't a Brain Specialist).
 Samuel Katz—Professional Pirate (in other words, a Dentist).
 Florence Kirmse—Patent medicine fakir.
 Mabel Kleinprintz, Ellen Murphy, Constance Peterson—Mack Sennett Bathing Beauties.
 Amie LaFountain—Bug Hunter.
 Lyle Lang—Carnival Baboon.
 Lucille Leafe—Designer of Cold Cream Cheeses.
 George Lindstrom—Eskimo.
 Florence Livingston—Modesty refrains us from telling the truth.
 Lulla MacFarlane—Lion Tamer.
 Edward McCrory—Sailor, on the dreaded sea of matrimony.
 George McLean—Jesse James' Rival.
 Stella McWilliams—Peanut Vender.
 Gladys Madson—Queen of the Soap Suds and Dishwater.
 Pierre Martineau—Editor of the "Woman's Home Companion."
 Alyce Massie—Side-show Fat Lady.
 Esther Molander—Anti-Tobacco League President.
 Edward Mudrak—Soap Agent.
 Clarence Mundt—Lineman for Wireless Telegraph Companies.
 Christine Nelson—Matrimonial Bureau Patron.
 Mildred Nelson—She performs in the funny papers.
 Violet Nickelsen—Dishwasher at Loomis Hotel.
 Helen Nystrom—Yodeler.
 Rose Oliverius—Locksmith (she loves to pound keys).
 Harry Olson—Designer of Women's Garments.
 Raymond Penkowsky—Beaver Baggage Master.
 Lloyd Peterson—Mormon.
 Esther Randall, Hazel Randall—Chorus Girls.
 Hazel Rondeau—Baby Carriage Mechanic.
 Dorothy Rothman—Preacher of the Gospel.
 Harriet Ruberg—Nut House Keeper.
 Edward Rynning—Blacksmith.
 Lucille Schleis—International Beauty.

 Ruth Sundre—Professional Beanbag Athlete.
 Leslie Uecke—Kiddy Kar Demonstrator.
 Luella Van Dreese—Editor of the Encyclopedia Britannica.
 Dotty Wallin—Author of several prayer books.
 Anita Weber—Ben Turpin's Successor.
 Alfred Weissgerber—Doghouse Janitor.
 Louis Wichnovitz—Oatmeal Miner.
 Rose Wichnovitz—Movie Heroine.
 John C. Wisner—Manager of Sultan of Turkey's Harem.
 Florence Witt—Social Queen.
 Wesley Wittig—Toonerville Trolley Motor-man.
 Hazel Wood—Inventor of Buttonholes.
 Louise Yenor—Gum Tester.
 Alice Zebuhr—Soup Cooler at Arcade.

CLASSES

The Fish Hook Staff has inaugurated a remarkable guessing contest and out of the goodness of his heart has made it free to all. No cash awards are being offered. However, prizes have been contributed such as: two and a half packages of "Life-savers" by Miss Kemp, three pounds of hair from K. Evert and T. Disch (forgot to mention that it was horsehair) a book entitled "One Hundred Ways to Kiss" from Pierre Duane Martineau (author unknown but experienced) and various others that we're keeping quiet.

The idea is to guess who the following sketches portray of those students who because of some characteristic have earned a place among the jokes in the humor section. If all identities are correctly guessed before the Fourth of July, double trading stamps will be given with each prize just to spite Lauerman Bros. Co.

THE BOOKWORM

Girls have a distant liking for him. The greater distance the stronger the liking. You know him. He takes an exam and says, "Dash it, I bet I fail"—and gets 100. Of COURSE he's surprised and comments, "I'm sure I don't know how it happened. She fell for my hot air." Well, well. Once he said, "Darn it all anyway!" but as that was a slip of the tongue and unintentional he went back of the piano and prayed forgiveness for it.

THE WOMAN-HATER

That is, he USED to be. Alas, he is no more. The entrancing smiles of The Girl from Beaver warmed his icy heart. Then came another damsel and stole it from him by the witchery of a cute double chin. After that he was a changed man. He became a woman's escort, this terrible caveman, a Spinster Club fusser and Fern Room lizard. Ah, woe is us! We must stop to dry the tears which come unbidden at thought of his heart-breaking downfall.

THE FUNNY BOY

He thinks he is anyway. Sad to say other people's opinions vary or no doubt Harold Lloyd would be out of a job. He pulls some terrible pun in class and then hee-haws. One or two girls look at him with worship in their eyes and he is amply repaid and inflicts another on the class within two minutes. Some day Everett True will get him and we're living in hopes of seeing that event.

THE LADY KILLER

The important vehicles by which civilization has advanced, according to him are not the pen and the sword but the comb, bottle of hair-oil and the barber-shop. If you watch him you will see that comb getting worn out by numerous passages through his oily locks. Certainly it isn't to stir his brains up for such things never worry him. His aim in life is to keep the barber, tailor and druggist on Easy St. right next door to his house so he won't need to get his newly shined brogues dusty. Then for every social event he buys two tickets so he'll get a discount. What would the girls do without him? —C. B.

ATHLETICS

Barring the fact that we won but one game, the marble season was a marbelous success and much credit is due Coaches Dishes and Hemp. Although only 8½ candidates reported for the first practice, a team was soon picked and several severe scrimmages were held.

The squad picked to make the first trip to Kalawahooloo was composed of Captain Warren Hornibrook, high diver; Gladys Madson, pea-soup strainer; Sam Katz, left hatrack; Frances Broughton, cigarette holder, and John C. Wisner, organ grinder, with Rose Bongfeldt acting as substitute stroke oar.

After arriving at Kalawahooloo, Coaches Dishes and Hemp piloted the hussy Purple and White outfit to the playing field and gave some very confidential advice on the necessity for acting like true bald-headed citizens. From the first whistle, the game was always in doubt; however in the 37th inning John C. Wisner was attacked with a severe case of bunions and had to be carried from the field. After being revived with an Eskimo pie, he rushed back in the game with renewed determination and on the first clinch, took a deep breath and banked eight marbles with a sensational overhand shot, followed by a terrific right to the jaw.

OUR HERO

CAPT. HORNIBROOK

The victorious squad was met at the train by an immense throng while Home, Sweet Home was rendered by Murray's jazz orchestra. Each player was presented with a gorgeous bouquet of cauliflowers and buttermilk. The team was then treated to a royal banquet at which post-office was the main diversion. During the tooth-picking ceremonies Attorney Goldman recited some original jokes which were roundly applauded.

Then, on behalf of the business men, Captain Hornibrook was presented with a copper-lined cotton necktie on which was glued a handsome epitaph surrounded by a picture of the coaches. In a touching voice, the famous captain then thanked the people for their support and stated that prospects for next season should be bright as the price of soap was falling.

HOW MUCH OF AN ATHLETE ARE YOU?

What chance would you have of being on a championship football team? What do YOU know about the game? Test yourself by answering the following questions. They are part of an examination given by E. Tom Johnson on the eve of battle, which greatly resembles the Edison test. The eleven men having the highest averages were put on the catch-as-catch-can team.

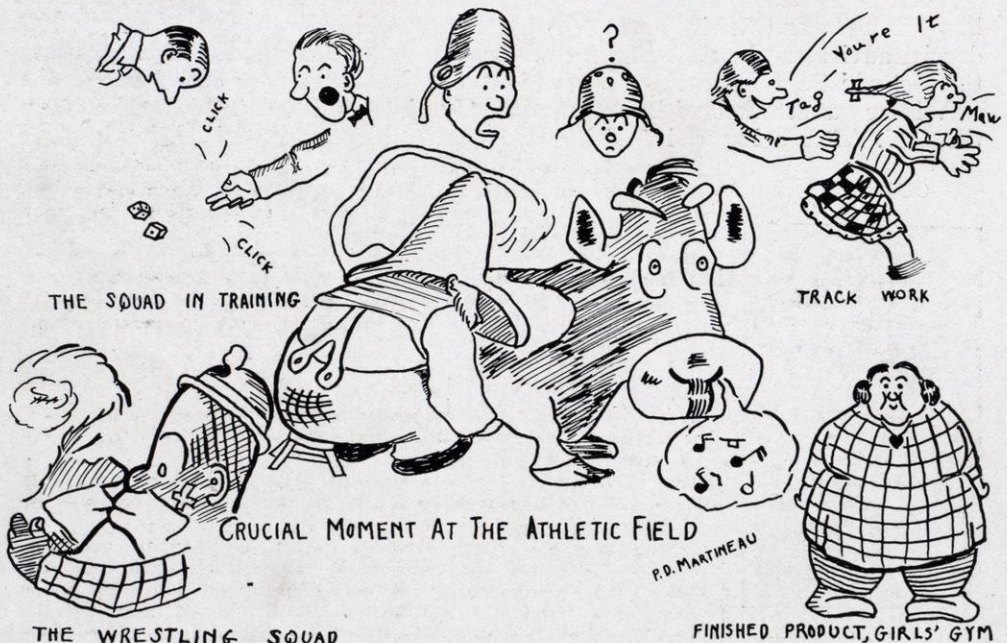

1. If the hydrogen and oxygen of two footballs that are exactly alike have a different ratio, what is the referee's duty? The time-keeper's? The ticket speculator's?
2. Is the object of the quarterback in calling off signals to prove to the audience that he is a better mathematical student than his opponent?
3. Why does not the two halves and a quarter make more than a whole team when geometry affirms that it does?
4. If the air in a football is under a pressure of 100 lbs. per sq. in., as stated in Archimedes' Principle and if its acceleration is in accordance with Newton's Laws of Motion, how many people are there on the sidelines?
5. Between halves why does a coach "bawl out" the team? That is, other than for the purpose of increasing the temperature?

CLASS BASKETBALL

Electing Mudrak captain because of his experience in the Pool Tournament the Senior team began its record breaking season. A clean slate marks their course. In spite of the attempts of the other teams, they lost every game although often only by an eleventh inning rally. Without a doubt the star of the league was Lindstrom of the Lavender Trunks. The great bulk of the credit for the remarkable record made by the seniors in truth must go to him. He was always prominent ON the floor. As janitor, his work was very satisfactory. Coach Zuppke is awaiting him with open arms as he needs a ventilator.

DEBATING SEASON

Without a doubt forensics were a success this year—financially. We dare not convict ourselves otherwise. It was probably due to the fact that Peshtigo is no further from Marinette than Marinette is from Peshtigo. Otherwise the cost of returning home would have been prohibitive.

The teams were chosen after a fiery contest among the 369 boys who turned out for the tryouts. Seven heats were run before six men with good wind and chest expansion were discovered who could ably represent Marinette in the triangle with Loomis and Rat River on the agitated question: Resolved: That the irregular regulations regulating the irregularly regulated regulations should be regularly regulated by a regular regulation. In the first debate the affirmative firmly affirmed that if the irregularly regulated regulations were regulated by a regularly regulated regulation the irregularly regulated regulations would become regularly regulated, while the Negative noting not the noxious notions of the Affirmative claimed that irregularly regulated regulations regulating the irregularly regulated regulations would cause the regularly regulated regulations regulating the regular regulations to be irregularated. (Above is a picture of the first, second and third speaker proving his point conclusively). The decision was 1½ in favor of the Negative.

A great season can be expected next year as debating will be supported by the School Board who found that much fuel was saved this winter. To show their appreciation, in a moment of forgetfulness they generously voted to give the debating teams a large copy of the advertisement for Bull Durham Smoking Tobacco that the memory of their speeches might be with them always.—C. B.

THE SPRING PLAY

Scene: Mountainous desert. A stream trickles gently among the nasty nasturtiums. The sun, a glowing ball of fire, rising in the west, shines upon the square, glassy top of the round-house standing desolate near the freight depot.

Enter the Turkish fugitive Pach Ump Ahs. Now Pach is dying from thirst and he is unable to see the stream of concentrated hydrogen monoxide due to the heavy darkness of night. He falls lightly upon the ground among the morning-glories.

Pach.—(crying with heaving bosom.) Good Allah, I die, I dye! (while his color rapidly changes. Suddenly his hand dives into the bosom of his raincoat and Pach Ump Ahs extracts an Ingersoll. The face of the watch is visible because of his lantern jaw. He jumps up and runs hysterically about). Now, thanks be to Allah. I shall not die of thirst. Halle-lujah! I shall not! I shall not! (For Pach Ump Ahs has found the spring in his watch).

Gimme that bread, I need it.

A LITTLE STORY

There was a short little girl named Small who longed to marry a small man called Little. Little little knew that short little Small longed for him so Little did not call on Small for a long time. Now Small was obvious of her shortcomings, yet Small wanted to marry Little before long. As long as Small was short she was a little afraid that Little did not long for her. But little did Small know how long Little had longed for her. Little looking longingly in Small's little eyes, proposed. Small's breath came in short gasps when she realized that her long-desired wedding would take place shortly.

PRESS

THE BOOSTER

The Booster, a sixteen-page newspaper with Sunday supplement, published daily every other Friday, passed the second year of its existence prosperously. This was in part due to the wonderful new double eight cylinder, automatic, electrically driven, steam-heated press procured by the School Board at a cost of $6.93. As a result the project of an annex to the Junior High will have to be abandoned.

However, the great bulk of the credit is due to the staff elected by Pierre Martineau at the beginning of the year:

Editor-in-chief ..... Pierre Martineau    All other editors .. Pierre D. Martineau
 Associate Editor .. P. Duane Martineau    Miscellanae ..... P. D. Martineau

The policy of the paper at all times was to contradict its name. In spite of this the timid freshman as well as the flunking senior boasted of being boosted by this remarkable acme of journalistic art. The paper was always free from slams, razzes and typographical errors. The humor was awfully simple but it was simply awful the way the staff worked in reviving decrepit old jokes, and finding good wholesome unoffending stories that would please and amuse everybody. The paper never razzed anyone and it was because of this fact that it made friends with everyone from the sociable spinsters to the sardonic seniors. The staff deserves a great deal of credit for HIS brave attempt to instruct, entertain and amuse the studious inmates of this glorious institution of learning.

THE ANNUAL

The Annual Staff had the time of its life this year. There wasn't a single thing to do all year except get new ideas, write dedications, memoriams, and forewords, arrange with photographers about group pictures, send correspondence to advertisers, find the correct way to spell teachers' and students' names, interview printers, engravers and local business men, send out engravings, write up football, basketball and track, classify activities of each senior, swipe snapshots, beg for cartoons, subscriptions and contributions, write up humor, assort the material from the Annual box, check up finances, rewrite contracts, collect gloss prints, hunt up mislaid plates, and a few other minor things not worth mentioning. However, the Staff is still alive and on its way to Russia to visit Lenine and Trotsky and incidentally to get a little rest and peace. Ho, hum, two great menaces to civilization are the Germans and—.

SOCIETY

I called for Mollie at 7:30 o'clock. The old man answered the door and ushered me into the parlor. Then he hollered up stairs for her and she came down the staircase powdering her nose and getting it all over the front of her dress (the powder I mean). While she wasn't looking I pushed five sticks of Beechnut into my mug and the wrappers in my pocket. Then I says to Mollie, "You're lookin' kinda pretty, tonight," pushing the gum in one side of my mouth and my tongue in the other. She answers, "Did I keep you waiting long? One-half hour? I'm so sorry. But we'd better be going as the high school party starts at eight." Pulling a handful of hair from the rocker and neatly piling it on the piano bench I calmly said, "Sh-shalll w-w-we ride or-er-walk?" "Ride!" says she and I gave my last two tickets to the conductor.

We got on the floor as the Bloodhounds started their seventh encore. Mollie asks me, "Isn't Searcy strong looking?" "So is the punch," I says when I see Hallen going for his fifth drink. "Oh, my conscience, lookit that short skirt! Don't you just hate it? Good looking! What do you mean? I'm astonished. Oh no, you dance just lovely. Just look at Farnham Boose. Isn't he simply a wonderful dancer? See how graceful he is. Oh, heavens, here it's 11:30 all ready. Goodness, my poor little feet! It pains me to the sole."

I left her at the gate. "Goodnight, Mollie," says I as her switch got hooked in my collar button. "Goodnight," she says, "thank you very much. I had a wonderful time. I'd like to know you better as I think you've got lots of good cents!"

THE JUNIOR PROM

(Sez the School Board to Mr. Merbach one day, "Mr. Merbach, we feel we have been pretty mean to the students of the High School so this year we're going to let them have a Junior Prom, WITH RESTRICTIONS.")

As a natural consequence, the Prom was held on February 29th from 4:16 until 4:26¾ o'clock. The Grand March started promptly at 4:17 2-3. The couple was a pretty sight, she being dressed in a nicotine waist and calico skirt while he at great cost and sacrifice was able to rent a suit of coveralls and also buy her a beautiful corsage of dandelions and milk-weeds.

Just as the Bloodhounds were getting into the Finale, Mr. Merbach, watch in hand, said that the dancing would have to begin as it was 4:18¾. Mr. Frederick Smith, the jews-harp artist, began his dance program with the lively strains of "Sweet and Low" most beautifully rendered. As an encore he played "Abide With Me". To make this Prom different the intermission was at the end of the program. During that time the girls chewed gum to keep warm while the boys had a rousing and hotly contested game of checkers. Starting "Home, Sweet Home" too late to finish before 4:26¾, Mr. Smith got just to the chorus and the Prom was over.—C. B.

MUSIC

THE GRIEF CLUBS

The concert given by the Glee Clubs this year was pronounced a success by the blind and deaf man who sat in the last row of the balcony. And this was true in spite of the fact that Blueblood Below, our prize baritone, sprained his thumb, thus not being able to officiate at the last sad rites, while Alla Davis, the crocodile interpreter, lost herself, or got lost in the third spasm. When Pink-eyed Teige appeared with the mermaids, the audience was much impressed by the local color. Then Hallen sang "White Lampblack in A Minor" by Tolstoi and everybody got the blues. The Boys' Glee (?) Club rendered the selection, "My Kingdom for a Piece of Cheese" and the sympathetic mob, not provided with that fruit, passed them twenty-minute boiled eggs and slightly fermented grapefruit.

The hit of the evening was a selection by the Boys' Quartette entitled "My Main Support" by Sus Penders for the audience registered more hits on that number than at any other time. Angered by this everybody said they would go no farther with the program whereupon the audience wanted to show their appreciation. They did, on the next number, a solo which was delayed by the soloist refusing to sing until he had trimmed his finger-nails as he said it always made his voice scratchy. They tried to give him anything and everything they could lay their hands on from the inkwells to a brick. A heart-rending groan broke from the audience when they learned that the concert was over. Altogether it was the best joke and the bummiest program ever seen here. May we never see another.

THE ORCHESTRA

While the jailor slept the Orchestra escaped and with the aid of the speedy car service of the M. & M. Light and Traction Co., within two minutes were at the High School. Evading the net of private detectives thrown out to secure them, they stole craftily into the High School Assembly and carefully stuffing their ears with cotton, were off. The program follows:

- "Chickens' Charge on the Dough-dish"—March .....Orchestra
- "Tom Cat Alley"—Clarinet Duet.....Thomas Merar-r

At this time they sprung the latest from Broadway and their newest selection, "Swanee River." Just as the last agonizing strains were dying away the janitor came in and informed them that the rest of the concert would have to be postponed as he wanted to sweep the stage. The orchestra with one accord threw sweeping-powders at the audience inducing him to snore within twenty seconds. While the gurgling sounds still emanated from him, they crawled one by one out through a window, again eluding the police and made a mad rush to the river. Their conscience had awakened as had the people and with it came the realization of their horrible crimes. They went to the river. Millions of suffering humanity are praying that their instruments went with them—and are there still.—C. B.

ACHIEVEMENT

The goal of every ambitious man and firm is typified in the rapid growth of the Jahn & Ollier Engraving Company—the universal esteem in which their art and plates are held by the large national advertisers—and the enviable reputation for prompt deliveries which they enjoy.

Delivering this same high quality and careful personal supervision to schools has built up for us the largest college and high school annual engraving business in America—400 books yearly.

Thirty thousand square feet of floor space (4 floors) and over two hundred and fifty skilled employees are required to meet the constant demand for "J&O" commercial photographs, art, color process plates and photo engraving (one complete floor is devoted to color process work).

Intelligent supervision of all work by many skillful office service men eliminates your troubles. Sales service men sent everywhere

These Are Great Days for Young Men

Every organization, every industry, every institution needs new blood. Young men with vision, enthusiasm, clear perspective and ambition and ability to do things are wanted "in the board room."

In this store, these are great days for young men who are keen enough to have their appearance keep pace with their ambition and opportunities. We are proud of our record in grooming young men for success. Now we are especially well equipped to serve the young man with clothes that will express his high ideals, confidence and culture.

Wearables for Junior Misses

NEWEST STYLES; AT ATTRACTIVE PRICES

Just when youthful tongues are buzzing about vacation and mothers are interested in finding appropriate modes to include in daughters' Summer wardrobes come these irresistible garments. Fluffy dresses to wear afternoons and evenings; bright sports clothes; simple little gingham dresses ideal for mornings and any number of up-to-the-minute simple blouses and skirts, priced very specially, are included in this selling.
