Menasha Couple Drown in Lake Winnebago

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Schneider of Menasha were drowned in Lake Winnebago Wednesday evening when the small boat in which they were riding with Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Sheplowe, also of Menasha, was overtaken by a sudden squall and capsized. None of the party were able to swim, but Sheplowe tied them to the cushions and then tied himself to the boat. He and his wife were rescued by Hi DeBaufer, his son Robert, and Guy Stearns, who heard their cries from shore and went out in row-boats.

Mrs. Sheplowe was the first one found and she was taken to shore by Mr. Stearns, while the DeBaufers continued their search for other members of the party. Sheplowe was soon located and also rescued, after having been in the water at least an hour and a half. The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Schneider were not recovered until Thursday morning.

Junior Chamber Plans Good Will Tour

The Junior Chamber held its regular meeting at the Junction Inn Monday evening. Harold Finger, who with Norman Dragset and Arthur Jensen, represented the local body at the State Junior Chambers director meeting in Eau Claire last Sunday, reported that the state body is planning a good will tour for October. The tour will probably start with a banquet at Eau Claire on a Sunday evening early in October. The following Monday and Tuesday the tourists will cross the state, winding up in Appleton Tuesday evening, where a banquet in their honor is being planned. A similar tour has been put on by the Milwaukee Junior Chamber for the past several years, but this will be the first time that local organizations have been invited to participate.

James Grace and Reed Engelsby gave short talks about their auto trip to Canada from which they returned last week, and the committees in charge of the municipal open golf tournament reported.

Army Officers Transferred

Capt. James K. Campbell of the U. S. Army, who has been stationed in Appleton some time, has been transferred to Columbus, Ohio. His successor, Captain A. P. Lagorio, has already arrived and taken over his duties. Captain and Mrs. Lagorio have just returned from Hawaii where they had been stationed a year. They will live at 416 N. Morrison street, but for the present are practically camping out, as their household goods have been delayed in transit and will not arrive for several weeks.

A Quintet of Real Old Cronies

Their Combined Ages Total 398 Years

Every afternoon, summer or winter, finds this quintet of old cronies assembled at John Gamsky's place on S. Walnut street for a sociable game of schafkopf. They are retired business men who have acquired enough of the world's goods to keep them in comfort the balance of their natural lives and, satisfied with that, they decided several years ago to turn their respective business establishments over to their sons, or to sell them and take life easy.

That decision was not reached by all at the same time, but they had been close friends almost all their lives and

John Haug & Son a good many years ago, but he felt that his age entitled him to take things easier, he is now 79. Philipp Frieders is the youngest member of the crowd, he is only 78, but that gives him no advantage over his more elderly chums. Matt Rossmeissl fills out the quintet. He is 80 years young and his greatest regret when the picture was taken, lay in the fact that his brother, Joe Rossmeissl, was not present. Joe is also only 78, and the quintet really should be a sextet as he ordinarily never misses a session. But he has been on the sick list for several weeks and is only just on the road back when one of them carried out this decision the others were not slow to follow. The first man to retire had a rather dreary time of it for a while, because they had all been active in business so many years that they had never learned to play. But as one after the other quit his business and settled down, they began to gather in Gamsky's place on occasional afternoons for a sociable game of cards and to talk over old times. It did not take long before those afternoon gatherings came to be a rite for them, never to be missed except in case of dire necessity and for many years past each afternoon finds them assembled around their table playing sheephead.

The oldest of the party is Charles Rechner, who has seen 82 summers pass by. His younger brother, Anton Rechner, had a tailor shop on Appleton street many years, is only 79, and is never missing. Mike Alberty sold his building material and coal business to to health, so that he is still under the doctor's orders and not permitted to participate in the wild orgies carried on by his pals. He is doing nicely and will soon be able to take his place at the table and make up for the time he has lost while the doctor kept him at home.

Just count it up. The combined ages of the five men shown in the picture totals 398 and if Joe Rossmeissl had been present the combined ages of the sextet would be 476. It is very doubtful if anywhere else in the country could be found that number of men, of such advanced years, all of them still as hale and hearty as are these old cronies. May their daily sessions be continued many years.

The latest census figures are being placed on signboards as fast as the highway commission can do the work, according to W. C. Buetow, state highway engineer.

County Board Special Session Held Tuesday

Votes $25,000 for Snow Removal
Equipment

The county board met in special session at the court house Tuesday morning and appropriated $25,000 for additional snow removal equipment for the highway department. The money is to be expended in buying snow fence, a new tractor and plow and two trucks equipped with plows. Some of the old equipment is to be traded in.

The county's snow fighting equipment will then include eight FWD trucks, one Oshkosh four wheel drive truck, one Oneida truck and one Mack truck and three tractors.

Two thousand five hundred dollars was transferred from the general fund to the highway fund to pay the county motorcycle officers and the finance committee was instructed to include this item in the appropriation for next year. Resolutions were adopted asking for state aid in paving unfinished sections of County Trunk "E" in Little Chute and of Highway 26 at Hortonville. A number of other routine matters were disposed of before the board adjourned at noon.

Two Killed in Auto Crash On Highway 26

Aged Couple Instantly Killed

Charles W. Schultz and his wife were instantly killed Sunday morning when the car in which they were being driven to church by their son, Albert, was struck by a machine driven by David Bilsker of Chicago.

The accident occurred on highway 26 west of the city, near the Pleasant Hill schoolhouse. The Schultz family was driving west. Bilsker, who was driving south on 26, claims that he did not see the car until it drove onto the road directly in front of him, so that in spite of his efforts to avoid a smash-up his machine crashed into the Schultz car and hurled it into the ditch. Mr. Schultz, who was 79, and his wife, aged 78, were instantly killed. Their son, Albert, who was driving, suffered a skull fracture, five broken ribs and a broken shoulder.

Bilsker was arrested immediately after the accident and arraigned in court Monday on a charge of fourth degree manslaughter. His trial was set for September 3 and he was released under bonds of $1,000.

The more than $3,000,000 federal road aid made available to Wisconsin immediately through action at Washington, will be put to use as rapidly as possible.

89 Qualify in Review Swimmers Club Tests

22 Girls and 67 Boys Qualified Last Week

The great interest taken by the youth of Appleton in the tests for the Review Swimmers club was shown by the crowd of young people which gathered at the municipal pool last Friday and Saturday afternoon to watch the tests. The girls' tests were held on Friday afternoon and the twenty-two girls that started finished the test successfully. However, a number had telephoned at noon that they would be unable to appear and they will be given their opportunity later. The boys had their chance Saturday afternoon and sixty-seven qualified. Their record was not one hundred per cent perfect, as was that of the girls, because several of them failed to make the grade. But that made them announce determinedly that they were going to practice real hard, so that they would make it easily the next time tests were held.

A group of successful candidates for the Review Swimmers Club

The emblems for the swimmers who passed the tests have not yet arrived, but each successful aspirant received a card certifying to the fact that the bearer is entitled to an emblem. As soon as these arrive the fact will be published in the Review and then the holders of the cards can obtain their buttons or pins by calling for them at the Review office.

Following is the list of successful candidates:

Girls

Boys

Charles Hoeppner, Warner Nelson, Robert Green, Wilbur Nelson, Ralph

Farmer-Labor League Elects Officers

At a meeting held at Trades & Labor Council hall last Saturday evening the following officers were elected: president, Fred Bachmann; vice president, Senator A. M. Miller; secretary, Anton Jansen of Little Chute; treasurer, Joseph Promer of Kaukauna. Another meeting is to be held tomorrow evening at the same place.

In a speech by Senator Miller the legislature record of Assemblyman Oscar Schmiede was severely criticized. Mr. Miller declared that the assemblyman had failed to carry out his promises to stand in the interests of Progressive legislation and that according to a report from the State Federation of Labor he had voted favorably on only three out of nineteen roll calls on labor legislation. He voted negatively five times and was reported absent eleven times.

The meeting went on record as endorsing the candidates of the Progressive party, headed by Phillip F. La Follette and including George Schneider for congress, John A. Koehler for assembly from the first district and William Bay of Kaukauna for assembly from the second district.

Retail Division Plans Style Show

At a meeting of the retail division of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce held Monday it was decided to hold the style shows for all future fall openings in the afternoon instead of the evening as heretofore. The fall style opening for this year was set for 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, September 11, and will continue for three days.

Plans for the Retail Trade Institute, to be sponsored by the chamber and put on at the Vocational school September 23 and 24, were also discussed at the meeting held Monday.

A PLAGUE OF COCKROACHES

Occupants of business houses and residences in the neighborhood of the Superior street fill between College avenue and Lawrence street are besieging the city hall and demanding relief from a plague of cockroaches which has descended upon them recently. The pests breed in the fill and literally swarm all over the neighborhood, invading dwellings and business places. Several methods of extermination have been tried, but the insects seemed to grow fatter and larger as each successive exterminator (?) was applied. Anybody knowing a remedy for the removal of these pests will earn the eternal gratitude of the city administration and of everybody living in the stricken neighborhood by reporting at the city hall immediately.

Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock V has arrived from overseas and is being put in trim for its try for the American cup in the September race off Newport.

THE BUSINESS MAN

"There is no higher rank among intelligent people than that of Business Man", says Dr. Frank Crane. And isn't he right?

During times of stress he must produce, no matter how adverse the conditions. During slack times he must "speed up" to normalcy, and write off his losses. At all times he is called upon to contribute to, to support, to back, to finance, to champion this, that and the other project—not always worthy or necessary—regardless of burdens already thick upon him.

Always the mainstay of a community, today, as never before, business is striving to do everything necessary to win over "hard times". Every live concern is bending every effort to stimulate old established trade and endeavoring to create new business.

But let us remember that the progress of a community rests in large measure on the dependence upon each other of the local merchant and the home—the seller and the buyer. Team work between these two is necessary. Dependable goods at a fair price, and service, on the part of business; loyal support, co-operation, buying on the part of the home.

Keep your dollar working in Appleton where you can meet it face-to-face and say "how-de-do" once in a while. The best way to do that is to buy from Appleton merchants, use Appleton made goods, employ Appleton service. It's your town. Stick to it.

And Mr. Business Man, if you determine to make business better by pushing your own particular business—production, sales, service—business will be better.

Many are already doing so. Anyway, business is already better and showing signs of getting well.

Business needn't be bad, or sick. Advertising will make it better any time. It was advertising that made the slump in buying—free advertising. Advertising that prices ought to come down, and were coming down, and better not buy until they do.

Well, prices have come down. Some of them, at least. Now if the advertisers would put into good paid advertising as much money as the "Don't Buy" movement got free, showing people why they should buy now, business would soon be where it was a year or more ago, and on a much healthier basis.

So—it is up to you, Mr. Business Man, and you, Mr. and Mrs. Buyer.

"THE TEACHER—ALPHA AND OMEGA"

With September our thoughts and our steps turn schoolward.

Some of us who have small children to launch on the long pursuit of education wonder how they will fit into the system and those of us whose grown children are "finishing" wonder how they will come out it.

Children differ so in abilities, aptitudes and interests. There is such a wide range of environmental conditions. Yet the educational ideal constantly before us is that of equal opportunity for all.

We are working toward that ideal all the time and here in our own state we have come a long way. Clean, sanitary, modern school houses meet proper health standards. Buildings and grounds are made pleasing and attractive and kept that way without extravagant expenditure. Adequate materials for instruction and courses of study based upon modern needs and constantly revised in accordance with the findings of good practice and educational research. The object of all these is better results from instruction.

"The real magna charta of equalization is a satisfactory course of study which is spiritualized by the skillful teacher," says Agnes Samuelson, Superintendent of Public Instruction for the State of Iowa.

"The alpha and the omega of the whole program is the teacher. This is true in every program of education ever proposed or adopted.

"Whatever the organization through which she works, it is through her skill, ability, training, resourcefulness and devotion that the program succeeds, that children progress.

"She it is who must make reality of the demand that lies at the root of our democracy that each school be for individuals and that the development of boys and girls as individuals is the true purpose of education."

Eminently true. We cannot help but wonder how many of the thousands of teachers going into unfamiliar school rooms in the next few weeks realize how big a factor they may be, if they choose, in the lives of their pupils, whether their field be a little backwoods school in the north or a great city high school with thousands of pupils.

HIGH AUTO DEATH RECORD

Automobile drivers who are planning trips over the coming weekend will do well to check over their cars carefully before starting out. Be sure that everything is in first class condition and watch the tires. Recently two cars were wrecked and two of their passengers killed when a front tire on one of the cars blew out near Fond du Lac. The driver of that car had not watched his tires carefully.

But watching your own car is not all that is necessary. Remember that the traffic over the coming weekend will be unusually heavy because of Labor Day. And in heavy traffic it is especially necessary to be careful because you can never account for the other fellow's actions. Last Sunday an aged couple was killed when the car in which they were riding was struck by another as they entered a highway from a side road at which no arterial stop sign had been placed. At an open intersection near Forest Junction, where both highways are in plain sight for over half a mile, several people have been killed this year, in spite of the fact that double warning signs were installed.

These accidents would not have occurred if the various drivers had exercised a reasonable degree of care in their driving. Each one probably thought that the other fellow was going to stop. Instead, nobody stopped until the crash occurred and then it was too late.

You cannot outguess the other fellow. The only way to win, is to be careful at all times. Far better to make an unnecessary stop and then be able to continue your trip, than to try to beat the other fellow to the crossing and have the race result in a tie. Dead heats of that kind usually mean work for the undertaker.

Better be safe than sorry.

WISCONSIN HELPS OTHER STATES

Although the serious countrywide drought has hit some parts of the state pretty hard, it has left Wisconsin farmers, as a whole, in a most favorable condition with their bumper crops while other states are having difficulty in getting enough feed for their livestock.

The state department of agriculture has notified the United States department that Wisconsin has pasturage and feed for additional cattle and the Wisconsin Bankshares corporation has set aside a million dollars to finance western feeders in the state.

The United States department has, in turn, notified Montana agricultural chiefs that Wisconsin is ready to take over feeders and is ready to finance the taking over of some of the starving animals.

William Renk, member of the Badger department, declared that in case of sheep they would probably be held in the state for a period of about sixty days, while cattle would probably be held for a longer time.

LOYALTY

Loyalty is one of the most valuable traits a person can have. It is also one of the rarest. Loyalty to your friends—standing up for them—when it is easier to say nothing.

Loyalty to your boss and his interests—when it is easier to say it is none of your affair.

Loyalty to yourself—when the right road is a bit hilly.

Isn't loyalty, after all, just playing fair—doing what you think you would like the other fellow to do for you, if conditions were reversed?

A poor joke isn't improved by repetition.

A Digest of Events and Trends for Busy People

LOCAL

Alfred Galpin, who has been spending the summer with his mother, Mrs. Louise Galpin, 726 E. College avenue, has returned to Evanston, Ill., where he is instructor in Romance languages at Northwestern University.

Elmer Honkamp, deputy income tax collector, who has been stationed in Appleton for the past year, has resigned that position to enter the employ of the Terra Granite Corporation of America. He expects to be stationed in Florida.

Golfers of the Kiwanis and Lions clubs are striving for supremacy over the Butte des Morts course this afternoon. The Lions expect to have another match with the New London Lions on September 2.

Fred Abendroth, 744 E. Eldorado street, made the eighth hole on the municipal course in one last Saturday. He was playing a threesome with Prof. Percy Fullinwider and Ernest Subora when he made the lucky shot.

The fire department has been called out several times during the past week to extinguish minor blazes.

The fall term in Outagamie county rural schools will begin next Tuesday, September 2.

According to a report recently published there are 1,668 children attending the various Catholic parish schools in the city: 650 in the elementary grades at St. Joseph, 374 at St. Mary, 241 at Sacred Heart, 350 at St. Therese, and 53 in the high school department of St. Joseph. The total number of children enrolled in the schools of the diocese is given as 23,668.

Students planning to enter the local high school or one of the junior highs and who have not yet registered, are requested to do so before the opening of school. The offices will be open for this purpose and book lists may be obtained so that necessary books can be purchased before the fall term begins.

Articles of incorporation for the Horton Pickle company have been filed with the register of deeds. Capital stock is given as $5,000. The incorporators are A. F. Schroeder, J. P. Platten and W. L. Schroeder.

The contract for printing the ballots for the primary on September 16 was let to the Kaukauna Times Publishing company. The contract price was $265.

F. W. Sargent, president of the C. & N. W. railway was in the city Monday on his annual tour of inspection.

The Wisconsin-Kentucky Oil and Gas company, in which a number of Appleton people are interested, now has a daily output of 20,000,000 cubic feet of gas from twenty wells. Fred Schlitz, P. H. Ryan, Hubert Fassbender and John Balliet are in Kentucky at present inspecting the property.

From January 1 to August 1 the local police found 387 doors of business places and offices open when making their first rounds at night.

Mark Catlin's dahlia garden is in full bloom and the public is invited to visit this beauty spot. Lovers of flowers will enjoy a treat.

Axel Fahlstrom, who has been in charge of the local locks on the government canal since 1896 retired on pension last week after 39 years in Uncle Sam's service. His son-in-law, R. A. Richards of DePere, has been appointed his successor.

Miss Alice S. Holtan of Lake Geneva has been engaged as city nurse to succeed Mrs. Vernon Spaeth, whose resignation goes into effect September 1.

The Outagamie Fish and Game Protective association received 250 pheasants last week which were liberated near Hortonville, Kaukauna, and Shiocton.

George Roberts of Shiocton was granted a divorce from Rose Roberts, and Ernest Messman, also of Shiocton, was granted a divorce from Margaret Messman. In both cases the wives had sued for divorce, but the husbands won the decision and the decree.

Emma Newby, Orlene Wettengel, Marjorie Meyer, and Mary Jane Doherty took part in the closing recital at Arens Art Colony, Saturday.

John Weiland, city building inspector, left Monday for Madison where he is undergoing treatment for an injury received several years ago when he fell from a ladder.

Miss Mildred Dingee of Kilbourn is the only new teacher to be added to the faculty of the Vocational school this year. She will instruct in the clothing department and direct subjects in related sections.

Harvey Schlitz spoke to the Lions Monday. His subject was an outline of the plans of the chamber of commerce.

Lucy Haefs, who lives on route 5, was bitten by a police dog tied in the yard of Mrs. Alice Ralph, 520 N. Rankin street, when she entered the yard Monday morning to ask if the family wished to buy some corn.

Walter Kohl and Otto Noack of Grand Chute, who with Clarence Kohl were charged with assaulting Louis Peters with intent to great bodily harm, were bound over for trial on September 22. They were released on bonds of $1,000. The charges against Clarence Kohl were dropped.

The local Kiwanis club is already making plans for the 1931 convention which will be held in our city. The committee in charge of preliminary arrangements is composed of Fred Schlitz, Guy Warner, L. C. Sleeper, Walter Hughes and Alex O. Benz.

The sidewalks on Brewster street, which were damaged last fall when the storm sewer was installed, are to be repaired soon. The work will be done by the city and the expense deducted from the balance still due the contractors who installed the sewer.

Basil McKenzie and Orville Hegner were among the golfers who won prizes in the golf tournament staged as part of the district Kiwanis club picnic at Oshkosh Tuesday. Sixty local Kiwanians were among the three hundred who attended.

The First National Bank is seeking information as to the present residence of Mrs. Irma Sigl, so that the probating of an estate can be completed.

STATE AND NATION

A pilot and two passengers were killed Saturday when their cabin plane exploded over Sheboygan airport and fell 3,000 feet endangering the lives of two farmers in the field where it crashed. The pilot was Marshall Field, chief pilot of Sheboygan airport and flying since 1922. Passengers were Omar Watson and Edwin Raasch, of Sheboygan.

In a speech at Fond du Lac, Saturday, Gov. Kohler told of his policy toward his own employees. Among other things he stated that Kohler company is today maintaining its organization, its program of continuity employment, and its wage scale of 25 to 30 per cent above the average for the state.

Schmidt's Fall Suits for Students

If you've witnessed many fashion openings, you can probably recall that in the excitement of the new models, very little was said or thought about economy.

But now—that Mr. America is asking his school of dollars to turn in better averages, style is no longer timid about associating with thrift.

This Fall clothing is beautiful—but not dollar dumb.

The values are as sparkling as the garments—and as important.

The purchaser of 1931 clothing is asking more value than his 1928 predecessor and here it is in the new Fall Suits.

Weddings

Miss Irene Ekern, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman L. Ekern of Madison, and Winfield Alexander, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Alexander of Kewaunee, were married last Saturday at the Fourth Presbyterian church, Chicago. It was a double wedding, the other principals being Miss Geneva Williams and Malcolm C. McQuaig of Chicago. Many Appletonians will remember Mr. Alexander, who was graduated from Lawrence College in 1923. He has been blind since the age of 16, but in spite of that handicap was a star student, a singer in the glee club and active in the councils of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity. The young couple were in Appleton between trains on Wednesday visiting friends.

Miss Pansy Tash, who resigned her position as instructor at the local Vocational school last spring, was married Saturday at Attleboro, Mass., to Adelbert P. Gerhardt.

* * *

The wedding dinner for Miss Elsie Thomas and Edward J. Diederich, who were married last week, was served at the groom's home instead of at the home of the bride's parent as was erroneously announced.

* * *

Miss Mabel Delfosse, daughter of Alphonse Delfosse, 1234 W. Eighth street, and Kenneth Diedrich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Diedrich, 1417 S. Lawe street, were married Wednesday morning at Sacred Heart church. Father F. L. Ruessman performed the ceremony. Dinner was served to fifty guests at the home of the bridegroom's parents. After a short wedding trip the young couple will be at home at 216 S. Mason street.

At Appleton Theatre

Joe E. Brown, the hilarious comedian, heads the cast in the feature picture TOP SPEED opening at the Appleton Theatre Saturday midnight preview. Everyone remembers this actor's funny work in "Hold Everything," and here again in Top Speed he has an even greater chance to show his ability as a laugh maker. Top Speed deals with a college youth working in a broker's office with a speed boat race finish which allows for action thrills and plenty of comedy. Joe Brown is supported by a splendid cast including Bernice Claire, Jack Whiting and Laura Lee. If you got a kick out of Hold Everything, Top Speed will be very much to your liking. This feature opens Saturday midnight preview playing also Sunday to Thursday.

Saturday matinee at one p. m. the Appleton Theatre will again hold a special Children's Matinee, at which time free gifts will be given away. Through the courtesy of Voigt's Drug Store an Eastman camera will be given away to some lucky boy or girl. There will also be Free school rulers for every child, besides candy for those holding the lucky numbers.

"Mamba," the feature attraction tomorrow at the Appleton Theatre, we believe brings to the talking screen the first drama of feature length to be produced entirely in Technicolor. We have had musical comedies and color sequences in pictures of various types, but "Mamba" is sheer drama—without a single theme song—and its locale has been laid in the heart of an African jungle.

Boasting one of the most capable dramatic casts since the advent of talking pictures and adapted from one of the greatest of Broadway stage successes, "He Knew Women," Radio Pictures all-talking comedy drama will be at the Appleton Theatre Friday and Saturday.

WELFARE WORKER TO HAVE OFFICE AT WOMAN'S CLUB

Miss Helen Wallis, welfare worker and field representative of the Children's Home and Aid Society of Wisconsin, will have office hours at the Appleton Woman's club every Tuesday from 8:30 to noon to take care of children's welfare work in this city. A local branch of the state society was recently organized here, with Mrs. M. T. Rae as temporary president and Miss Orbison as secretary.

59 Run 120,000,000

Ryan, All Copper Men
Wanted King, Got One

Lenin's Great Revenge

James W. Gerard, formerly ambassador to Germany, says "Fifty-nine men rule the United States." The remaining 120,000,000-odd will be interested to know that no public official, not even the president of the United States or any member of his cabinet, except Secretary Mellon, appears in the list of "fifty-nine that rule the nation."

It seems impossible, but perhaps it isn't. Sometimes men seem to rule that really do not rule.

Mr. Gerard says "All these men are too busy to run for political office." The really important man, of course, doesn't run when he can send a boy to run for him.

However, the marvelous fifty-nine don't seem to be doing very much running of the nation just at present. They are letting the good old U. S. A. machine coast down hill, while each asks the other fifty-eight, "What do you think of the prospects?"

A short time ago copper fell to its lowest price in 20 years. This suggestion is offered to copper producers: Offer copper, in thin sheets of various thicknesses, suitable for flashing and other building and repairing purposes. Sell it to farmers, householders and others at the lowest profitable price and unload your surplus.

Get co-operation from mail order houses and hardware stores and advertise a definite price—15 cents a pound, if possible. Tell how many sheets there are in a pound of thin copper sheeting and why it is better than tin or galvanized iron.

The copper surplus could be disposed of if copper men would unite in a really intelligent, persistent advertising campaign, using extensively the country weeklies, read by farmers, among other mediums.

This column would buy a few thousand pounds of copper sheeting, properly priced, to start the sale, and make money on it.

Dispatches from Bucharest say the new King Carol, who decided to come back and put his little boy out of the royal job, plans to get a brand-new wife. He was divorced from his first wife, Queen Helen, after he had departed with a charming lady, making no secret of it.

When he returned from Paris, looking "royal," it was said the divorce would be canceled. Now it is planned to let the divorce stand and get another queen.

He may marry the lady with whom he departed, but, if so, it must be a "morganatic" marriage. A king cannot marry, in the regular way, any one that is not "royalty."

Rumanians thought they needed a king and they have got one.

In the regular course of business, before the war, one unimportant Russian was put to death, under the knout, by the Czar's government, for political offenses. That Russian's younger brother looked on, and his name was Lenin. The czars are gone, great St. Petersburg, built by Czar Peter the Great, is now called Lenin-grad, and the Romanoff jewels belong to Communists that will gradually trade them off for agricultural machinery—a wise trade, although Congo savages and many charming American ladies would not think so.

Whatever your opinion of Bolshevism, you must admire the complete way Lenin avenged his brother.

Some read with surprise the statement that organized crime in the United States, including bootlegging, takes in each year an amount running into thousands of millions, far in excess of the total revenues of the United States government.

It is no exaggeration. The get-rich-quick rascals, racketeers, gangsters, bootleggers, collect, squander and distribute in bribes a revenue greater than that of Uncle Sam.

One little item in the organized racketeering shows that in New York, the "milk gang" levy on milk dealers amounts to $1,155,000 a week, and that is only one of a thousand "rackets."

When Gutenberg ran his little press by hand, using the type setting idea that was to fight the darkness of superstition with light, he printed a simple Bible.

One of his Bibles now becomes the property of the Congressional library. One million five hundred thousand dollars bought Doctor Volbehr's book collection, in which the Gutenberg Bible is included. Doctor Volbehr bought the Bible from the monks of St. Blaisus monastery in Austria for $275,000.

All that would surprise old Gutenberg if he could hear about it. But a modern printing press would surprise and interest him more.

Russia does not want silver hoarded or anything done to interfere with credit or to monopolize money. Four men convicted of hoarding coin were shot dead, which is the Soviet method of showing that it is displeased.

If they ever have a federal reserve in Russia you may be sure that it won't push the interest rate on call money up to 20 per cent.

Lack of rain has shortened the run of corn canneries in the state.

Qualifying Flight Over in Muni Tournament

Interest Growing in Appleton's First
Open Amateur Event

The qualifying rounds in Appleton's first open amateur golf tournament, sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, were run off as per schedule last Saturday and Sunday. Tom McKenny, Jr., and Joe Brautigam tied for low score, McKenny shooting a 37 on his second round to finish with a total of 80 for the eighteen holes.

The first matches in the various flights were played off the first part of the week and the semi-finals are being played on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The finals, which will be for thirty-six holes, will be played off next Monday, Labor day. The first pair of contestants will start out at 9:00 A.M., so that eighteen holes can be played in the forenoon and eighteen in the afternoon. The cups, medals and prizes will be awarded immediately after the last players have checked in.

Great interest has been shown in this tournament and the galleries have been growing from day to day, so that a large crowd is expected at the municipal course on Labor day.

The following players qualified for the various flights: Championship—T. McKenny, L. M. Spencer, R. Voigt, F. Bendt, T. Heinritz, A. Lemke, J. Notebaart and J. Brautigam.

"B" flight—R. Connell, R. Piper, A. W. Markman, O. Strutz, A. Gresenz, H. Brock, C. Huhn and E. Feldhahn.

"C" flight—Wm. McMahon, F. McGillan, J. Hantschel, H. Wolfe, C. Below, T. Sauer, J. R. Rierson and L. Konzelman.

"D" flight—C. Goss, W. Coel, W. Lohr, O. Tank, J. Doerfler, W. Haynes, T. Hill and T. Fargo.

"E" flight—J. Guilfoyle, R. Nehls, J. Miller, Ed. Mullen and E. F. Berry.

The eightieth annual state fair opened at Milwaukee Monday with exhibits crowding the ground space.

Eagles and Birdies

By the Dubb

When W. Cullan Bryant broke into print with "To him who in his love of nature holds communion with her visible forms, she speaks a various language," he didn't, unless he knew golf, know the eighth of it. To know how various it really is, one has to attempt speech with such of nature's visible forms as stroll the various Appleton links. He will learn then how a well brought up lady will act when absolutely stymied. He will discover that not all birdies have feathers; that the eagle's chief claim to fame is not on American currency. And he won't answer, more than one, a friend who admits to being under par with "I haven't been feeling so well lately, myself."

You know golf is just different that's all. The other day the writer was playing in a foursome made up of Appleton business men and near business men at the Kaukauna Country Club, which, by the way, has more hills and vales than the Himalayan mountains. Par on this layout is 70 and when someone tells me they got that thing called "Par" down there it must be verified by at least the president of the club and the professional, before yours truly will believe it. One of the members of our foursome was having trouble in staying on the fairways. We came to a hole which required a long wood and an easy iron. He drove into the rough; he tried a jigger, the ball didn't move; next came a spoon; no better results. This man was a gentleman and used no profane language whatsoever. Finally with the perspiration falling freely from his brow he bent down, picked up the ball and threw it out on the fairway. On his next shot he had to cross a deep creek. Too bad. Poor man, his ball lit in the creek. He walked down to the edge; his caddie stood faithfully by his side. With a wrathful look on his face the man took his bag from his caddie—and bag followed golf ball into the creek. The little fellow by his side snickered. Caddie followed the golf bag.

Then, being a rather big hearted man and thinking of his own kid caddying out at Butte des Morts, he jumped in himself, threw out the golf bag and caddie and then found his own golf ball. He declared he would never walk on one of these courses again. He followed us to the next tee. This was a 425 yard hole. He watched us drive and finally said he would drive also. We stood aside and watched him as he slowly teed up his ball. He swung, and listen, that man made the longest drive I have ever seen. I said the hole was 425 yards. We measured the distance from the ball to the pin. It was a short 50 yards. Some drive. I will not go into detail as to how this man spent the week-end, but he and his friends spent a happy one.

Speaking of dodos, they happen, but so seldom.

The dub would like some comments on the Junior Chamber of Commerce golf tournament. Should it be an annual affair; how could it be bettered?

The first round of the city tournament at the Municipal Course is over. Some fine matches were played. One match, especially interesting to follow, was the Notebaart-Brautigam which Brautigam won at the 22nd hole. Another, the Cole-Goss, which ended on the 20th hole in favor of Cole. From now on when the Fourth ward speaks of its "golfers" it will have to include Joe Guilfoyle. Joe came through and beat Ray Nehls of Superior street, 3 and 2.

I wouldn't miss seeing those finals on Labor Day for anything. They are all to be thirty-six holers. I am going out and back up my favorites, aren't you?

P. S. And if you like this dippy stuff, write the "Dub" if you have something of interest for the golfing public of the city.

So long until next week.

The neck and neck finish of the Miami derby and other thrilling events were witnessed by a crowd of 55,000 air fans at Curtiss airport Sunday.

Short Trips of Interest

Lake Winnebago

Why travel far afield looking for a pretty recreation spot when we have so many of them at our very door?

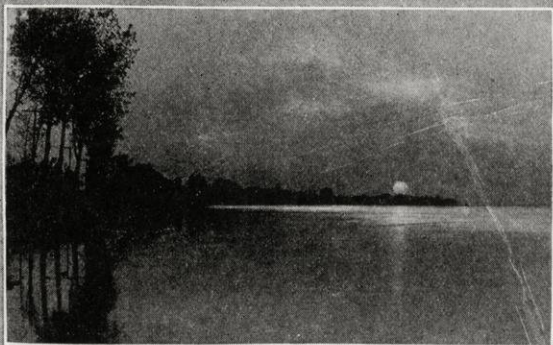

Lake Winnebago, twelve miles wide and twenty-eight miles long, is one of the largest inland lakes in the country. In fact it is the largest lying entirely within one state, and it is only a few miles away. The trip around the lake can be made easily in an afternoon, as it is only about one hundred miles. It body knows High Cliff park, one of the most popular picnic spots in this part of the country and the mecca for hundreds of people every Sunday. Even at High Cliff it is possible to get away from the crowd on a holiday, as the wooded area runs along the top of the cliff for several miles and a short walk is usually all that is needed to find a secluded spot where you can rest in the shade while enjoying the magnificent view through the trees.

Or, if you do not care to stop at High Cliff drive south a couple of miles on 55 and then turn towards the lake. Another road runs between 55 is no trip for a Sunday or holiday, because the traffic is too heavy on those days.

The north, west and south shores are literally lined with summer cottages and during the last few years more pretentious residences have been erected along the north shore, some of which have cost many thousands of dollars. But along the east shore there remain numerous attractive picnic spots for the wanderer who wants to get away from the crowd, as well as several more sophisticated resorts. Of course every-and the lake shore. It carries very little traffic and affords numerous glimpses of the lake. Crossroads every mile run down to the lake shore, and at the ends of several of these splendid picnicking spots may be found. The owners of several of these spots have had sad experiences with city picnic parties and have posted their lands against trespassers. But if you go up to the house and ask permission, it will always be granted most cordially.

At Stockbridge Harbor is a little resort with a splendid view from a high bluff. Calumet Harbor and Winnebago park also welcome picnic parties, but you will enjoy yourself more in one of the little groves at the end of one of the little cross roads.

Try it.

"Bum" Driving

Editor's Note:—It has been suggested that we publish a column in which short accounts of examples of poor driving by the other fellow are given. Contributions to this column will be welcomed. They must be short and concise. It is not necessary that the name of the contributor be published with the story, but it must be known to the editor. Let us have your experiences.

Tuesday morning I saw a "Clean Towel Service" truck stop in the middle of the street for the lights at the Morrison street intersection. When the lights changed the driver turned west in front of the car in the west lane, forcing that driver to use his brakes to avoid being hit.

MEDINA GIRL WINS HONORS AT STATE FAIR

Thirteen year old Janet Rieseberry of Medina, who represented Outagamie county schools in the intelligence contests in reading, spelling and arithmetic at the state fair, was awarded a gold medal and a silver loving cup as Wisconsin's brightest student. The tests to which the contestants were submitted, contained a number of real "nut crackers," but Miss Rieseberry never faltered and achieved a final score of 1213 out of a possible of 1221 points. This is said to be the highest score ever made in a state fair educational competition. Her nearest rival, 12 year old Carol Moely from Prairie du Sac, received an even 1,000 points. Robert Nelson of Hayward, was awarded third place for 990 points.

The death Monday of Justice E. Ray Stevens of the Wisconsin Supreme Court was the fourth in that body during the Kohler administration.

INSTALLMENT IX

I unlocked my arms and peered down to where her face lay half hidden on my breast.

"Thank God, I was able to reach you!"

"Yes, thank God!" she answered faintly. "Oh, I thought it was all over. I nearly died with fear. It was terrible. Thank God for you!"

But she had scarce spoken when I realized with a vast shock, that the danger was far from over. We were hurrying along helplessly in that fierce current, and already I heard the roar of the Squaw rapids.

"Be brave, Berna," I had to shout again; "we'll be all right. Trust me, dear!"

She was staring ahead with dilated eyes of fear. Yet at my words she became wonderfully calm, and in her face there was a great, glad look that made my heart rejoice. She nestled to my side.

We took the rapids broadside on, but the scow was light and very strong. Like a cork in a mill-stream we tossed and spun around. The roar of doom was in our ears. Thud, crash, roar, sickening us to our hearts; lurching, leaping, beaten, battered . . . then all at once came a calm; we must be past; we opened our eyes.

We were again sweeping round a bend in the river in the shadow of a high bluff. If we could only make the bank—but, no! The current hurled us along once more. There about two hundred yards away, were the dreaded Whitehorse rapids.

"Close your eyes, Berna!" I cried "Lie down on the bottom. Pray as you never prayed before."

We were on them now. We both dropped down in the bottom of the scow, and she clasped me so tightly I marveled at the strength of her. I felt her wet cheek pressed to mine, her lips clinging to my lips.

"Now, dear, just a moment and it will all be over."

Once again the angry thunder of the waters. The scow took them nose on, riding gallantly. Again we were tossed like a feather in a whirlwind, pitchforked from wrath to wrath. We clutched each other convulsively. Would it never, never end . . . then . . . then . . .

It seemed the last had come. Up, up we went. We seemed to hover uncertainly, tilted, hair-poised over a yawning gulf. Dizzily we dipped over; steeply we plunged down. I gave up all hope. I felt the girl faint in my arms. How long it seemed! I wished for the end.

Then, swamped from bow to stern, half turned over, wrecked and broken, we swept into the peaceful basin of the river below.

Boats and scows were lined up for miles along the river shore. On the banks water-soaked outfits lay drying in the sun. We, too, had shipped much water in our passage, and a few days would be needed to dry out again.

Madam Winklestein I found surprisingly gracious. Winklestein, too, had conveniently forgotten our last interview, and extended to me the paw of spurious friendship. I was free to see Berna as much as I chose.

Thus it came about that we rambled among the woods and hills, picking wild flowers and glad almost with the joy of children. In these few days I noted a vast change in the girl. It was as if in the poor child a long stifled capacity for joy was glowing in to being.

One golden day, with her cheeks softly flushed, her eyes shining, she turned to me.

"Oh, I could be so happy if I only had a chance, if I only had the chance other girls have. It would take so little to make me the happiest girl in the world—just to have a home, a plain, simple home where all was sunshine and peace; just to have the commonest comforts, to be care-free, to love and be loved. That would be enough." She sighed and went on:

"Then if I might have books, a little music, flowers—oh, it seems like a dream of heaven; as well might I sigh for a palace."

"No palace could be too fair for you, Berna, no prince too noble. Some day, your prince will come, and you will give him that great love I told you of once."

Swiftly a shadow came into the bright eyes, the sweet mouth curved pathetically.

"Not even a beggar will seek me, a poor nameless little girl traveling in the train of dishonor."

She had all the sad sophistication of the lowly born, yet with it an invincible sense of purity.

Once I asked her: "Berna, if you had to choose between death and dishonor, which would you prefer?"

"Death, of course," she answered promptly. "Death's easy; physical death; compared with the other, compared with moral death."

She was very emphatic and angry with me for my hazarded demur. Never was such a brave spirit, so determined in goodness, so upright in purity, and I blessed her for her unflinching words.

We were dreamers twain, but while my outlook was gay with hope, hers was dark with despair. Since the episode of the scow I had never ventured to kiss her, but had treated her with a curious reserve, respect and courtesy.

Indeed, I was diagnosing my case, wondering if I loved her, affirming, doubting on a very see-saw of indetermination. When with her I felt for her an intense fondness and at times an almost irresponsible tenderness. Was I in love? Poor, fatuous fool! I wanted her more than everything else in all the world, yet I hesitated and asked myself the question.

Hundreds of boats and scows were running the rapids, and we watched them with an untiring fascination.

That was the most exciting spectacle in the whole world. The issue was life or death, ruin or salvation, and from dawn till dark, and with every few minutes of the day, was the breathless climax repeated. Every day were bodies dragged ashore. The rapids demanded their tribute. The men of the trail must pay the toll.

Soon I knew that Berna and I must part, and but two nights later it came. We were sitting by the river, I remember, a little way from the boats. As she sat, silent and with hands clasped, it was as if the shadows that for a little had lifted, now enshrouded her with a greater gloom.

"Tell me your trouble, Berna." She shook her head, her eyes wide as if trying to read the future.

"It's nothing; it's only my foolishness. If I tell you, it wouldn't help me any. And then—it doesn't matter. You wouldn't care. Why should you care?"

She turned away from me and seemed absorbed in bitter thought.

"Care! why, yes, I would care; I do care. You know I would do anything in the world to help you. You must tell me, Berna. It will worry me indeed if you don't."

Once more she refused. I pleaded with her gently. I coaxed, I entreated. She was very reluctant, yet at last she yielded.

"Well, if I must," she said; "but it's all so sordid, so mean, I hate myself; I despise myself that I should have to tell it."

She kneaded a tiny handkerchief nervously in her fingers.

"You know how nice Madam Winklestein's been to me lately—bought me new clothes, given me trinkets. Well, there's a reason—she's got her eye on a man for me."

I bit my lip. "Who's the man?"

"Jack Locasto. Have you heard of him? He's got a million-dollar claim on Bonanza."

Had I heard of him! Who had not heard of Black Jack, his spectacular poker plays, his meteoric rise, his theatric display?

"Of course he's married," she went on, "but that doesn't matter up here. There's such a thing as a Klondike marriage. Anyway, he wants me."

"But you wouldn't, surely you wouldn't?"

She turned on me fiercely.

"What do you take me for? Surely you know me better than that. Oh, you almost make me hate you."

Vainly I tried to soothe her, whispering:

"Oh, my dear, tell me all about it. I'm sorry, girl, I'm sorry."

She went on in her fierce, excited way.

"He came to the restaurant in Bennett. He used to watch me a lot. His eyes were always following me. I was afraid. I trembled when I served him. He liked to see me tremble, it gave him a feeling of power. Then he took to giving me presents, costly gifts. I wanted to return them, but she wouldn't let me, took them from me, put them away. Then he and she had long talks. I know it was all about me. That was why I came to you that night and begged you to marry me—to save me from him."

"But he can't get you against your will," I cried.

"No! no! but he'll never give up. He is relentless and of all women he wants me. He would break me on the wheel of dishonor. Oh, God!"

Color on the Table

Colorful tables are very much in the mode. Perhaps you have flattered your hostess at some party by carrying away her color scheme, or worked out one of your own for the bridge luncheon or tea. Whether you hold to the pastel colors of the fast waning summer or use the more vivid hues of autumn, you may have attractive color in your linens and other table appointments, the decorations, or the food—or all three.

Of course, you know that colorful sugar cubes in various designs are sold in the shops and make a nice decorative piece for the beverage service.

Colored coconut may be used on cakes, the meringues of individual pies and custards, or on the salad or fruit. You may prepare it yourself by adding a bit of paste or liquid color to a tablespoon or two of hot water and then stir in the shredded coconut, leaving until the desired shade is obtained.

Salads, vegetable service and fruit desserts easily lend themselves to a color scheme, as do cakes, cookies and sandwiches. Angel food and other delicate cakes may be colored, with a contrasting icing. Or the batter may be divided into several portions, each portion tinted as desired, and then put together in checkerboard or marbled pattern. The daffodil cake, rule for which was printed in this column some weeks ago, is lovely for a yellow and white color scheme and needs no artificial coloring. Gold cake is nice for yellow alone.

Here is a rule for colored cookies you may like to add to your list:

Cream  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup butter and add gradually  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup sugar; add 1 unbeaten egg white and beat the mixture thoroughly. Sift  $1\frac{1}{2}$  cups flour with  $\frac{1}{2}$  tsp. salt. Add this to the mixture alternately with 3 tbsp. milk to which  $\frac{1}{2}$  tsp. of any desired flavoring has been added. When the mixture is smooth divide into two portions. Chill one and when thoroughly chilled roll out to about  $\frac{1}{4}$  inch thickness and chill again. Then roll the second portion, kept soft at room temperature on top of the first. Return to icebox once more and when very cold roll into a tight roll and chill until cold enough to slice smoothly. Bake in a hot oven, without browning (that hides the color), for about 8 to 10 minutes. —E. S.

Double Peach Sundae

So many nice "fountain" sweets may be made at home for the children and grown-ups, too, that I am sending this for your readers to try.

Take ripe, finely-flavored peaches and finely chop enough to make  $1\frac{1}{2}$  cups. Add 1 cup of sugar, a few grains of salt, and 2 cups of milk with  $\frac{1}{4}$  tsp. vanilla. Stir until well blended and put in cold place until sugar is dissolved. Strain through a coarse sieve into the freezer. Freeze; serve with peach preserve. —Mrs. A. T.

Orange Sandwich Bread

Sift 3 cups flour with  $\frac{1}{3}$  tsp. salt and 4 tsp. baking powder. Work in 2 tbsp. shortening; add  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup sugar,  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup chopped, blanched almonds, and grated rind of 1 orange. Moisten with 1 egg and 1 cup milk. Knead lightly, turn into greased baking tin, cover and set aside for about ten minutes. Brush over with melted shortening and bake about 40 minutes in moderate oven.

Fill sandwiches of this bread with orange marmalade, cream cheese or lemon butter.

Our Gardens

Grubs Damage Lawns More than Drought

According to reports of the state entomologists white grubs have done more damage to lawns and golf courses in some sections than the dry hot weather.

As many as two dozen of the grubs have been found in spaces less than a yard square and in the heavily infested areas the sod is completely stripped of roots. The grubs are in the larval form of the large brown June beetle which appeared in such large swarms last spring and summer.

Good results have been obtained in controlling the pests by applying a mixture of 5 lbs. arsenate of lead and a bushel of slightly moist sifted sand to an area of 1,000 square feet. It can be applied directly to the lawns without injury to the grass or soil and does not interfere with watering or mowing.

While you are enjoying the late summer and early autumn blooms in your garden, plan ahead just a little on the fall and winter work. Have you decided on the new bulbs you are going to put in and how you will group them? What things are you going to move and where? Are you planning for a rock garden or a pool for next year? Will you try more roses? Perhaps one or two of the new rose trees? There are so many interesting things about a garden. If it is large enough you can even have your own outdoor kitchen and family picnic spot in it—right at home.

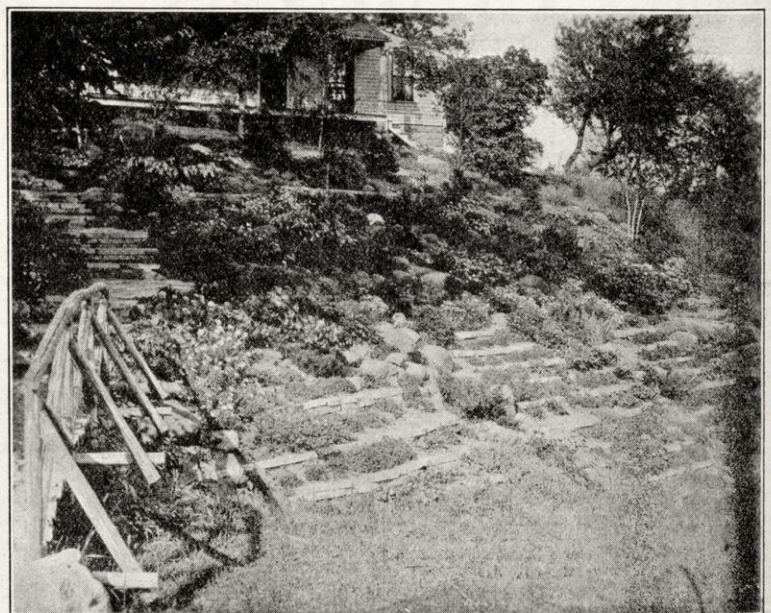

If you don't think it pays to advertise, try and name the first seventeen amendments to the constitution of the United States.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS

Three of the Zschachners, Big Carl, Little Carl and Frank, have returned from the north woods where, with Bill VanRyzin, they spent two weeks camping and fishing on the Red river near Mattoon. They had an uneventful outing as the water was low and the fishing poor, but Big Carl did succeed in arousing the ire of a farmer living in the neighborhood of their camping place. It seems that this farmer had a large bull which objected to the presence of a tent so close to the pasture and finally decided to do something about it. He broke through the fence and started for the tent. Big Carl happened to be alone at the time and, instead of grabbing the bull by the tail and sending him home, climbed a big tree and sat on a limb. Naturally this did not tend to appease the bull's wrath which he worked out on the tent, and especially on the cooking utensils, while Big Carl sat on his elevated perch and expressed opinions regarding the bull's ancestry. Finally the farmer arrived and drove the bull off, but before he left he expressed his opinions in no unmistakable terms of a man who would torment a poor dumb brute by perching up on a limb out of reach and then permitting that animal to run the risk of serious injury on the frying pans and dishes of the cooking outfit.

CHILD INJURED BY TRACTOR

Robert Kramer, 5 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Kramer, Fremont, suffered severe body bruises and possible internal injuries Wednesday afternoon, when the father accidentally ran over him with a tractor. It is thought that the child was frightened by a young bull and in backing away fell under the wheels of the tractor.

The Kingbird

This pugnacious little defender of his nest home is about 8½ inches long; blackish or brownish slate color on top; white underbody and white tipped tail. A tiny crest of orange which it seems to show at will. The beak is sharp, slender, and slightly curved at the tip; so handy in breaking up crisp bugs and grasshoppers!

In one or another of its species it breeds throughout the United States (except the southwestern part) and southern Canada, and winters from Mexico to South America.

The kingbird is a pronounced enemy of hawks and crows, which it vigorously attacks at every opportunity, thereby affording efficient protection to nearby poultry yards and young chickens at large.

It loves the open country and is especially fond of orchards and trees about farm buildings. No less than 85 per cent of its food consists of insects, mostly of a harmful nature. It eats the common rose chafer and, more remarkable still, devours blister beetles freely. Also, it eats the robber flies which catch and destroy honey bees. These with grasshoppers, crickets and a few bugs and cut worms make up the kingbird's animal food. The vegetable food consists of fruit and a few seeds.

The kingbird deserves full protection!

A Kingbird Story

Some young people were flying a kite—a beautiful kite it was, too—more than three feet high, made of white cotton carefully sewed onto a delicate wooden frame. The tail was made of bunches of white rags, tied at intervals with strong white twine.

As they started to fly the kite a pair of kingbirds came and at first tried to pick up the twine. Being unable to do that, they tried to get away with some of the rags. Not succeeding, they clung to the tail, which by this time was slowly rising after the kite. Riding on the tale wasn't so comfortable, so they transferred to the kite itself and rode on it for some distance to the great pleasure of their audience.

I am convinced that these kingbirds wanted, oh! so badly, some of the twine or white rags to trim their nest. Wouldn't it be good fun to take with us, when we go to the woods next spring—or, for that matter, any time—some short bits of string and white rags and distribute them on the bushes for our bird friends? Let's try it!

A kingbird is a most desirable friend and neighbor. He does not sing—only a little twi-twi-twitter. Being a tyrant flycatcher, his Latin name is tyrannus tyrannus.

APPLETON GIRLS RETURN FROM EUROPE

The Misses Margaret, Mildred and Eileen Zuehlke, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Zuehlke, 1225 Prospect avenue, have returned from their trip to Europe. They sailed from New York July 5 and visited England, Germany, France, Italy, Switzerland, Belgium, Holland and Austria. They also witnessed the Passion Play at Oberammergau, took the trip down the historic Rhine and in fact put in a very strenuous time seeing the sights.

Miss Eileen will teach in the Washington school this year. Miss Margaret is teacher of physical education at the Wilson Junior High, and Miss Mildred is a trained nurse.

Items of Interest

Mrs. Marie Herron Truitt of Milwaukee, soprano; Miss Madeline Seiberger of Kenosha, contralto; John Sklute of Racine, baritone, were Wisconsin winners in the Chicagoland music festival held last week-end. The largest audience that ever came together for a musical event, 100,000 persons, assembled at Soldiers' field for the final concerts Saturday night, which Appleton people heard over their radios. Two Wisconsin groups also won places: American Legion Drum and Bugle corps of Racine won first place, and Fairbanks-Morse band of Beloit, second place, each in their own contest.

Recent Deaths

Frank Thompson, 35, died suddenly at his home on Barnes avenue Tuesday morning following a heart attack. Monday night he had been in excellent health, but had over-exerted himself working to extinguish a fire which broke out at the home of his brother nearby. Because the house where the fire occurred is located outside the city limits, neighbors formed a bucket brigade which saved the building, but the strenuous work brought on the heart attack to which Mr.

Thompson succumbed. He leaves his father, who lives in Green Valley, and two brothers, Robert and Edward. The body was taken to the Schommer funeral home and the funeral was held Thursday afternoon from the Schommer funeral home, Rev. F. C. Reuter officiating.

Wenzel Sinkule, 71, passed away Tuesday morning at his home, 1715 S. Jefferson street, after a short illness. He was born in Germany and had lived in Appleton 49 years, having been employed by the Kimberly-Clark company 30 years. He leaves four daughters, Katherine at home, Mrs. Anton Forster and Mrs. Donald VanRoy in Appleton and Mrs. Herman Muehlenbein in Menasha; two sons, Joseph in Jacksonville, Fla., and Carl in Freedom; three sisters in Germany; two grandchildren. The funeral was held at 9 o'clock this morning from Sacred Heart church, Father Ruessmann officiating.

Mrs. Jacob Kampf, 67, passed away Monday morning after a lingering illness at her home, 909 W. Lawrence street. She leaves her husband; three daughters, Mae at home, Mrs. Joseph Rossmoiss and Mrs. George Auers in Appleton; three sons, Carl and Lawrence at home and Louis in Chicago; one sister, Mrs. John Gardner in West DePere; two grandchildren. The funeral was held Wednesday morning from St. Joseph church.

Mrs. Jennie Coburn, 88, died Monday at her home, 622 N. Superior street, of old age. She leaves one son, J. L. Coburn in Appleton; two daughters, Mrs. P. D. Franklin in Glenville, Ga., Mrs. Minnie Mills in Appleton; one brother, H. L. Wilson in Waukegan; two grandchildren. The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon from the home, Rev. Richard Evans officiating.

Mrs. Christine Knoke passed away Saturday morning at the home of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ida B. Knoke, 327 Linwood avenue, after an illness extending over several months. She leaves twelve sons and daughters; Hugo J. Knoke in Fremont, Oscar F. Knoke in Crandon, Arnold H. Knoke in New London, Henry J. Knoke in Maznod, Saskatchewan, Charles H. Knoke in Bethune, Saskatchewan, Ernest L. Knoke in Elcho, Mrs. J. T. Henderson in Birmamwood, Mrs. Charles Eserhut in Wild Rose, Mrs. A. H. Sommers, Mrs. F. J. Sweet and Mrs. O. G. Liebenow in Racine, Mrs. Laverne Robinson in Meyronne, Saskatchewan; 7 grandchildren and 10 great grandchildren; one sister and four brothers. The funeral services were held in the Lutheran church at Fremont, Rev. J. Schmidt officiating, following which the body was taken to Birmamwood for interment.

Reinhold E. Zerbel, 78, died Friday evening at his home, 624 W. Franklin street, after a lingering illness. He was born in Germany and had lived in Appleton 52 years, having celebrated his golden wedding two years ago. He leaves his widow; two daughters, Laura at home and Mrs. Ray Feavel in Appleton; four sons, Aaron in Appleton, George in Milwaukee, Otto in West Allis, Walter in Los Angeles; four brothers, Herman in Washington, D. C., Emil in Detroit, Henry and Carl in Marquette; 13 grandchildren and two great grandchildren. The funeral was held Monday afternoon, Rev. R. A. Garrison officiating.

Charles L. Schultz, 68, died suddenly last week at his home, 330 W. Packard street, following an apoplectic stroke. He was born in Watertown and had spent the greater part of his life in Green Valley and Center, but had lived in Appleton for eleven years. He leaves his widow; one son, Herbert, in Oshkosh; one daughter, Ella in Appleton; one grandchild; one brother, Edward in Appleton. The funeral was held Monday afternoon from Mount Olive church, Rev. R. E. Ziesemer officiating. The body was taken to the cemetery in Town Center for burial.

Ruth Totzke passed away last week and was buried Friday afternoon, Rev. W. R. Wetzeler officiating.

Albert J. Kluge, who formerly lived in Appleton, died recently at Madera, California. He leaves his mother and three sisters, Mrs. G. D. Ziegler in Appleton, Mrs. F. C. Eick in Kenosha and Mrs. Harry Floyd in Park Falls.

City Playground Notes

The Appleton playgrounds ended their most successful season on Saturday, August 23, with the annual "Hobby and Pet Show and Stunt Night." During the ten week period 91,615 people visited the various playgrounds either to indulge in play or watch the games of the children or adults. This figure exceeds last season's attendance by 16,000 which shows that the playgrounds are becoming an institution with the citizens of Appleton. This enthusiasm on the part of the children and adults of Appleton is noteworthy when one considers the fact that the play program was restricted to a certain degree this season due to a limited budget in accordance with the city council's conservation program in all city departments. A serious effort was made this season by those directly in charge of the program not only to provide ample facilities and opportunities for play but to promote sportsmanship and other qualities of good conduct among those children and adults taking part in play on the grounds.

The municipal swimming pool has been a very popular place during the summer months with an average daily attendance near the thousand mark. Much promotional work was done at the pool this season through instruction classes to teach beginners to swim properly. By means of swimming efficiency tests and swimming meets those advanced in swimming were given a chance to win individual honors.

Champions and championship teams in the city playground competition for this season are as follows:

Checkers

Isadore Zussman—First Ward playground (Midget Boys)
Mendel Zussman—First Ward playground (Junior Boys)
Mabel Daelke—Fifth Ward playground (Girls)

SOCCER GAME NEXT SUNDAY

The soccer team of the Appleton Sport Club "Germania" will play the "Eintracht" soccer team of Milwaukee on the local grounds next Sunday afternoon. The Milwaukee team has cinched the league championship in Milwaukee and the local boys are determined to show them that they are not so much, even though they do come from a big city.

Last Sunday the local boys beat the Sheboygan team in that city by a score of 2 to 1. At half time the Appletonians lead by a score of two to nothing, but the players from the chair town managed to push across a marker in the second half.

Y. M. C. A. TAXES

The board of review and other city officials are holding a meeting this afternoon at which the question of placing the local Y. M. C. A. property on the tax roll is being discussed. A recent court decision in the city of St. Louis was to the effect that the "Y" property in that city must go on the tax roll and local officials contend that the same conditions exist here which lead to the decision in the Missouri city. The solution will probably be found in a friendly suit as a means of bringing the question before the Wisconsin Supreme court for decision.
