SOPH CONTESTS FINISH IN TRIPLE TIE FOR HONORS

All Affirmative Debate Teams Win; Hesperia Gets Four Votes

In three close contests, the annual sophomore semi-public debate ended in a three-cornered tie, each affirmative team receiving the judges' decision. By winning a unanimous decision with its affirmative team and one vote with its negative team with Philomathia, Hesperia Literary society gained four votes. Both Philomathia and Athenae received two votes.

The subject for debate was, "Resolved that Congress should enact such legislation as to provide for the nomination of candidates for the presidency and vice-presidency of the United States by direct primary."

The constructive speeches of the closers were 12 minutes long while all other constructive speeches lasted 10 minutes. In rebuttal, the closers were allowed five minutes while other speakers had only three.

Conventions Corrupt

The winning Hesperia team based its arguments on the fact that the party convention does not voice the sentiment of the people and under the present system there are greater possibilities for corruption.

Hesperia's affirmative met Athenae's negative in the Hesperia room. The affirmative team consisted of Ralph E. Axley '26, Lawrence C. Gram '26 and Leslie R. Peard '26, closer. Athenae was represented by Henry B. Shafer '26, Harley C. Gates '26, and Earl R. Bell '26, closer. The judges for this match were W. H. Grover '25, Harold Spoorer '25, and Vernon Houghton '25, members of Philomathia.

Neutral Judges Decide

Philomathia's affirmative team defeated Hesperia's negative in the Philomathia room. Philomathia was represented by Carl J. Ludwig '26, William A. Sheldon '26 and Harold Jordan '26, closer. Debaters for Hesperia were William L. Taylor '26, William Olsen '26 and Arthur H. Nickel '26, closer. The judges from Athenae were Max Cizon '25, Otto Messner '26 and Sam Levitan '25.

Members of the Athenae affirmative defeated the Philomathia negative in the Athenae room. Harold A. Beeman '26, Hillier Kriehbaum '26, and William Blake '26, closer, presented Athenae's arguments. Philomathia was upheld by Sam Dubin '26, Reinhard G. Hein '26 and Isadore G. Alk '26, closer. Charles Greco '24, Edward J. Sobey '26 and Richard Rynders Li acted as Judges from Hesperia.

Engineers Postpone Saint Pat's Parade; Set For March 29

Saint Pat's parade, the annual tradition of the Engineering college, will be held March 29 instead of March 22, as previously announced.

"The date of the parade has been changed because of conflicts, and to give the engineers more time to prepare the best parade in history," said Chairman Wenzel Fabera '25, yesterday.

A large band is being recruited, and the engineers will attempt to show that they have music as well as "steam and gas" in their make-up.

Polygon society is in charge of the parade. Polygon is a representative body composed of two members from each of the different engineering courses.

"Dancers will find the floor the best it has been this year, because the committee has been working on it for over a week," said Dorothy Atkinson, chairman of the floor committee.

The dance is not limited to freshmen only and all students may go. Tickets are on sale at the University pharmacy and at Morgan Bros. or may be bought at the door tonight.

Professor Lathrop Explains Plans of English Club House

Wants Intellectual Home With Library For Study and Discussion

"I have long dreamed of a club house of old English architecture with a large beautiful library where one might read without interruption and discomfort, with small, cozy places to sit and chat, with a room off somewhere boasting of a little stage, a place illustrative of English literature and culture."

In these words Prof. H. B. Lathrop of the English department explained the plans for an English house at a meeting of English majors Wednesday afternoon in the S. G. A. room.

"The plan for our English house is, indeed, more modest than this, but at least it has much of the same idea and who knows but what it may turn into something just as big and beautiful," he added.

He spoke of this "home of the spirit" as the first organization whose aim would be neither social nor professional and declared that friendships based upon such intellectual like-mindedness were bound to outlast all others.

"The main thing lacking at Wisconsin is that it has few central places where one's affection can gather," he remarked.

Miss L. L. Brown, assistant to Dean F. Louise Nardin, mentioned the business considerations that were bound to confront the English majors and offered the dean's assistance in all the details.

Mr. E. B. Easton of the Warner system discussed the financial aspects of renting a house. Overhead expenses versus income were the principle topics which he stressed.

Even after having been brought face to face with concrete problems, Lois Jacobs '24 declared, "It can be done! If we work hard and are not afraid of spending time and energy, we will see the thing through."

The following working committee was announced: Carrie Rasmussen '25, chairman, Harriet Wollaege '26, Beatrice Selley '25, Gladys Boerner '24, Lois Jacobs '24.

DEACON TO HEAD 1924 HORSE SHOW

Committee Chairmen Will Be Announced Soon For May Event

Albert E. Deacon '25 was elected general chairman of the 1924 Spring Horse Show at the last regular meeting of the Caisson club an organization of junior and senior artillerymen taking the advanced military course.

No committee chairmen have been announced as yet but according to Deacon the appointments will be made in the near future and active work on the show will begin at once. Although the event is never held until the first part of May and no definite date has been made as yet the preliminary work must start several months in advance to put on such a show.

Cornell university has one of the best known horse shows in the country and correspondence is now being carried on with the heads of the eastern show to make the local event the biggest in history.

Plans are also being laid to model the Madison affair after the famous military horse show of the University of Illinois and correspondence is being carried on with that institution to attain that end. A combination horse show on an elaborate scale with military and civilian entries will give this year's show a wider scope than ever before attained.

BIRGE WELCOMES 300 N. Y. GRADS AT BIRTHDAY BANQUET

Alumni Hear Prexy Over Long Distance in Founders' Celebration

President Birge last night addressed 300 Wisconsin alumni at a Founders' day banquet at the Commodore hotel, New York, by long distance telephone.

At 7:15 o'clock the president called Andrew Melville, toastmaster at the banquet, and read his greeting, which was then read to the gathering. A formal reply was made by the toastmaster, which was telephoned back to President Birge.

The New York banquet, which is the most recent of numerous Founders' day celebrations held all over the country, was arranged by Earl Mann and H. Edward Bilkey.

TEXT OF ADDRESS

It is a pleasure to send a greeting to our alumni in the far east and to feel that this occasion is a symbol of the relation between Wisconsin and you who love her, a relation not affected by distance. Although I am here on the campus and you are nearly 1,000 miles away, I venture to believe that your mental picture of the hill, the lake, and the familiar buildings, the members of the faculty and your own classmates, is as vivid as my own. There are memories and experiences which do not die; and among these are your memories of Wisconsin days.

I have sent you my greeting which has gone to the Founders' day meetings this year and also a special message for your directory. One might well think that two messages are enough and you will expect from this one not much more than the sound of my voice—if that has the good luck to get through.

TEACHING GREAT TASK

Yours is one of the latest in the series of Founders' day meetings which have been held in so many cities this year and with so much success. I trust that the accumulated energy of the whole series will be with you. I hope that this celebration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the commencement of teaching in the university may not only renew your interest in Alma Mater and your affection for her, but that it may also turn your thoughts toward our great work—and great task—of teaching. How much of the success of the state and of society depends on the excellence and the solidity of this work and how completely do their qualities

Literary Magazine Settles Debt Suit Outside of Court

The suit being brought by the Democrat Printing company against the Wisconsin Literary magazine for $190 on last year's printing has been dismissed and a settlement made out of court.

This was announced by Carl F. Hansen '25, business manager, yesterday, after a conference with O. D. Brandenburg, of the Democrat company. Most of the bill was settled and arrangements were made for payment of the balance according to Hansen.

Nothing now stands in the way of the issue of the magazine to come out next Wednesday. After the financial difficulty at the time of the last issue it was decided a meeting of the editors the changes would be made in the policy.

These changes come forth in next week's issue to a large extent, according to John F. Weimer '25 managing editor. Although the contemplated article by a faculty member will not appear, there will be a book and a drama section, together with a new type of literature.

DEVIL FASCINATES PURITANS ALONE

—BROUN

Dramatic Critic Will Speak
March 13 at Music Hall

That only Puritans think of the devil as the most fascinating figure of the universe is one of the ideas broached by Heywood Broun, critic author, lecturer and column conductor for the New York World, who expresses himself on "Sense and Censors" in a recent number of Vanity Fair. Broun will speak March 13 at Music hall on "Confessions of a Dramatic Critic," under the auspices of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalistic fraternity.

Tickets for the Broun lecture may be obtained from any member of Sigma Delta Chi, or at the University pharmacy at $1.10 war tax included. The Hook Brothers and Albert E. Smith music stores on capital square also have tickets for sale.

Nobody but fools and censors believe in the power of pornography, according to Broun. He claims that mere nastiness is feeble stuff. The moral devastation which is supposed to follow in the wake of printed impropriety is wholly mythical.

Broun goes so far as to urge every parent, teacher, or guardian to give children a dirty book as required reading. "This ought to happen at about the age of eight or nine," he writes, "for at the end the little scholar could hardly fail to say, 'And is this all there is to it?' Thereafter, he might mature to useful life, untroubled by vague speculations concerning the exciting horrors of the unknown."

Broun claims that after all it was not the modern novelist who invented sex. He says that the censors may be entirely correct in their assumption that the division of living creatures into male and female was a vulgar mistake but a conspiracy of silence about the matter will hardly alter the facts.

"A case of sorts may be made out for censorship," concludes Broun, "in any field, if you can imagine the job being administered by the wisest man in the world, or one of his five or six closest rivals. As things are constituted, it is pretty safe to assume that any given censor is a fool. The very fact that he is a censor indicates that."

PROF. HAGEN TO SPEAK TO LUTHERAN STUDENTS

Professor O. H. Haugen of the chemical engineering department will give a talk Sunday night at the Calvary students' meeting in the Lutheran church.

Haugen will speak on "Interesting Developments in the Chemical Engineering Field" and will show the practical applications that can be made of such knowledge.

The meeting which is to be held in the church rooms above the Co-op will be followed by a supper and informal discussion. Norman Koch '24 and Harriet Wollaeger '26 are in charge of the arrangements.

MAKE FINAL PLANS FOR MILITARY BALL

"Detailed plans for the twelfth annual Military ball will be perfected and explained at a meeting for all committee members to be held at 1 o'clock today in the Y. M. C. A. Fellowship room," Kenneth Gardner '25, general secretary announced yesterday. Howard Lyman '24, general chairman, will explain the general scheme for the ball. Plans aiming toward close cooperation between committees and between members of the same committees will be worked out at the meeting.

COLUMBUS, O. — $15,000 spent on favors is the estimate made by the Pan-Hellenic council of Ohio State university after extensive investigation.

WOMEN'S FIELDS ARE INCREASING

—MATHEWS

Many Enter Scientific Professions, Professor Says at Vocational Conference

That the fields for women in natural sciences are increasing was pointed out by Prof. J. H. Mathews, director of the Course in Chemistry in his talk before the all-university women's vocational conference, at 4:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon in Lathrop parlors.

The three things that should determine a person's profession are a liking for the job, the spirit of service and the financial returns, according to Professor Mathews.

"I am glad to find that the undergraduates have this spirit of service as well as the faculty," Professor Mathews said. "If the faculty did not have this spirit, there are many that would not be here, for they would be in commercial positions where the financial return would be greater."

Professor Mathews stated that in the last 10 years 58 women have gone out from the university into chemical work, which included teaching in high schools, industrial chemical work, food, drug and sanitation inspection, hospital chemical work, and as chemical librarians.

ANATOMY OF FOOT STUDIED AT GYM

Miss Klein Illustrates Proper Types of Shoes to Wear

This is shoe week. All the regular, light and corrective gymnasium classes are studying the anatomy of the foot.

"Foot troubles do not happen overnight. The develop through misuse of the muscles and improper footgear," Miss Klein of the physical education department who is charge of the work, pointed out.

The skeleton was used when the study was devoted to the analysis of the foot. Shoes of all kinds which were loaned by the Madison merchants illustrated the various types and their good and ill effects.

The purpose of this week is not to tell each person to wear an orthopedic, semi-orthopedic or any distinct type, but to enable each one to understand his own foot and to know the sort of shoe that is suited to it," Miss Klein stated. "When we have finished we want you to be able to go into a shoe store intelligently and know when your foot has been properly fitted."

Good judgement should enter into the selection of footgear as well as in part of the costume. In order to take the best care of the feet one does not have to wear corrective shoes on all occasions.

An x-ray machine from Huegel-Hyland was used to give each one an opportunity to see how his own shoes fitted.

BUCKHANNON, W. Va.—A novel means of cheating during recent semester examinations was carried out at West Virginia Wesleyan by a co-ed, who inscribed certain useful formulas on her ankle underneath chiffon hose.

Editor of Nation To Speak in Music Hall Monday Night

Oswald Garrison Villard, editor of The Nation, who speaks in Music hall on Monday evening, under the auspices of the Social Science club on "The United States and the European Problem," says that there will be neither peace nor prosperity for Europe until the "infamous Treaty of Versailles" is supplanted by a more humane and just instrument.

In recent speeches before large audiences in New York city and Chicago, Mr. Villard who has recently returned from a tour through Germany, England and France said that it is up to America to obtain a conference in which the only two topics worthy of distinction, the treaty and the reparations question, will be provided for.

"The next war of Europe is growing out of the peace treaty," says Mr. Villard. "If the American people want to stop it now is the time; six months from now may be too late. Many signs of approaching conflict are evident."

in Fast Overtime Session
8 to 6

Chicago tankmen triumphed over Steinauer's depleted squad in the gym tank last night in a one-sided meet, 46 to 22. The Maroons started off by a win in the relay and kept a large lead over Wisconsin throughout the meet. Captain Czerwony made an attempt to break the conference record in the breaststroke but fell short by 4-5 of a second.

McCarty, Nightingale, and Prothero were the high point men for the Maroons, while Czerwony was the lone individual star for the Badgers, winning two firsts. In his backstroke race he swam his last dual race for Wisconsin.

Frosh Relay Wins

The frosh relay team "won" from the "con" squad in a fast session of 1:20 3-5, faster than the time made in the dual relay. Stevens, Ratcliff, Thompson and Herschberger swam for the frosh, while Johnson, Gilbreath, Gerber and Bennett represented the "con" squad.

Captain Eschweiler led his waterbasketball team into a victory over Chicago, 8 to 6, in an overtime session. The play was close all the way through, the Maroons starting off with a big lead.

Wisconsin didn't have a chance in the relay. In fancy diving Simpkins lost first to Dorf, Maroon board star. Koch took third, winning over Lesage. Frazier took a third in the 40, while Sam Megeath took third in the 220.

Atwood Good Plunger

Czerwony was going great guns in the breaststroke, but was not pressed and failed to break the conference record.

Atwood, of the Maroons, walked away with the plunge in the best time made in the tank for some time. His plunging was a pretty sight. He came up at about the 50 yard mark and negotiated the 60 foot mark and negotiated the 60 Flueck, in a great finish, beat out Vanderventer in the 100 yard swim, getting second place.

The summaries:

Relay—won by Chicago (McCarty, Nightingale, Prothero, Vanderventer). Time 1:23.

Women Journalists
Need Courage to Follow Career

"Courage is the important quality for women to have who are planning to follow a journalistic career," Miss Margaret Brady, a Chicago journalist, said in her informal talk yesterday afternoon which closed the thirteenth annual all-university women's vocational conference which has been held for the past five days in Lathrop parlors.

Miss Brady pointed out the difficulties in and the aids to "job getting and job keeping." She stated women that employers complained that the trouble with college women was that they were over-educated and under-trained, meaning that it was hard for them to submit themselves to the routine of daily work.

Miss Brady suggested that the things that a girl, who is planning to go into journalism after graduation ought to leave with her cap and gown are the idea that she doesn't have to work, the opinion that she is too big for her job, and that it is her duty to reform the paper on which she is going to work.

FOR IOWA GAME

There are still 150 tickets for the Iowa game, March 11, which will be placed on sale at gym 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. "There is no chance of getting any tickets for the Chicago game," Paul Hunter, director of ticket sales said yesterday. "They have been sold out for months."

MATMEN TO MEET
PURPLE TONIGHTCrippled Badgers Set For Hard
Fight With Northwestern
Here Tonight

The varsity wrestlers are all set for Northwestern tonight. They have been working hard and are in the best of condition. Coach Hitchcock put them through a light workout last night, and the men are ready to weigh in this afternoon.

The meet should prove to be a thriller from start to finish, as the teams are quite evenly matched. The Purple men have won several of their dual meets, and last Saturday, against Indiana, won several bouts. The Hoosier men did not get a single fall. This shows that the Purple team is very strong, as Indiana is leading the conference. The only handicap the Badger team is suffering is the loss of Captain Benbow. He is out for the rest of the season. The meet starts at 8 o'clock and will be on the main floor of the gym.

The lineup of the two teams is as follows:

Hanson, White, 115 pounds.
Withworth, Hines, 125 pounds.
Holmes, Rostak, 135 pounds.
Zodtner, Anderson, 145 pounds.
Gregor, Hathaway, 158 pounds.
Plettner, Horton, 175 pounds.
Bieberstein, Lowery, heavyweight.

Sororities Donate
Clothes to Needy
German Students

Clothing for German students who are forced to wear thread bare garments was collected yesterday afternoon from the sorority houses by members of Pan-Hellenic in a canvass. Several large boxes were filled with cast-offs that had been donated.

The boxes will remain open until Monday so that persons desiring to bring in articles may have them included. Men's clothing will be very acceptable, according to Helen Kingsford, in charge of packing the clothes.

Garments that are still useful but seldom or never worn by their owners would be very welcome, although they are out-of-date, or even shabby. Contributions may be brought to the Alpha Phi house or the S. F. A. office in Lathrop hall between now and Monday afternoon.

The boxes are to be shipped direct to the University of Munich, where the contents will be distributed among needy students.

Meet

Wisconsin's title chasing quintet meets Iowa tonight in what will doubtless prove to be the crucial game of the season. The Badgers stand in second place, headed by Chicago's tearing outfit, and must keep their slate free from further downfalls in order to remain in the race.

Victory over Ohio State proved that Coach Meanwell's team can hit a fast pace and stop an apparently overwhelming attack, and the Arrangements have been made by Frank Nickerson of the Athletic department to receive by radio the account of the Wisconsin-Iowa basketball game at Iowa City tonight.

The game will be broadcast by Station "WHAA" of Iowa university and the receiving instrument with loud speaker will be installed in the gym and reports will come through during the Northwestern-Wisconsin wrestling meet. Reports are due at 7:35 o'clock. The receiving apparatus will be loaned and operated by the Northwestern Radio company of this city.

Buckeyes' barrage of baskets was rendered harmless by the close guarding of Wackman and Diebold.

Wackman Going Good

The playing of Wackman has been one of the big surprises of the season, and he is being mentioned as a likely candidate for all-conference teams. Farwell, another headliner whom Doc picked out of the second string, has been giving lessons in basket shooting to Big Ten scoring leaders, and promises to add a bunch of tallies to his account tonight.

The Hawks have encountered a lot of hard luck so far this season and are low in the conference standing, but they are a hard team to beat and have a star pair of basket shooters in Janse and Jensen.

If the varsity takes them into on their home floor it should be an easy matter to send them home from Madison with another defeat to their discredit, but it will be no mean feat to bring home a scalp from Iowa's stronghold.

Same Team to Start

The same lineup that faced Ohio will probably start at Iowa City tonight. Elsom and Farwell, forwards, Gibson, center, and Wackman and Diebold, guards, make a combination that will give any team a hard rub, and as their shooting has shown considerable improvement lately the score should run fairly high.

Dwight Spooner, kept out of the recent games by an injured leg, may play in front of his home folks, if Doc sees fit to use him. Spooner is all set now, but has been slowed up a bit and may not start. "By" Barwig, another recruit from the sick list, will also see action.

Final Matches
in Boxing Meet
Set For Monday

The only bout on Wednesday afternoon's program was a fast set to between J. Springberg and M. Derzavitz. Four rounds were necessary to give Springberg a decision.

Al Martin, all-university champion at 145 pounds, went through a fast six-round workout for the fans. Al seems to be in top form and should win his third consecutive victory handily.

Coach Moore has requested that all classes report at the regular hour on Monday. This will be the last day to try for numerals, and everybody should be there.

All men wishing to try out for the all-university championships are also asked to come up for workouts. Coach Moore would like to see a few more heavyweights out.

Hitting the High
Spots with Ken

Do you remember a short ways back when in 1920 Wisconsin and Illinois played an overtime basketball game on the local floor. Wisconsin won in the first overtime period 33 to 29?

How it all happened is more interesting. With one minute to play and the score 29 to 26 in favor of Wisconsin a foul was called on a Badger player.

The spectators rose in protest and the referee called two fouls on the crowd. The Illinois player made all three fouls and tied the score.

The girl across the street from the armory thinks it is perfectly awful to have so many doors in the entrance to the gym. She says it must be nerve racking for the boys who go in so many times a day to decide which door to use.

De Pauw defeated Franklin the other night 42 to 28 and consequently won the college title of the state of Indiana.

Three hundred colleges and schools have been invited to participate in the second annual relay carnival at the University of Kansas April 19. Wisconsin plans on entering.

Looking over the conference basketball standings one notices that Minnesota who is in eighth place has made the same number of points as her opponents; 300 all. Wisconsin in second place has made three less than her opponents; 196-193.

The contract for the new Minnesota stadium has been let. It is to cost $537,762, will seat 50,000 and is being built on ten acres of land adjoining the old Northrop field.

Yale has rejected the invitation of Minnesota athletic officials to play a series of hockey games at Minnesota for some kind of a championship. Yale refused on grounds that

NOTRE DAME FOR
FINAL DUAL MEETMuzzy Injured in Illinois Relays Unable to Enter at South Bend

To complete the indoor track schedule before the conference games are held at Evanston on Saturday, March 15, Wisconsin's cinder path men will encounter the Notre Dame team at South Bend this afternoon.

In the previous meets the Notre Dame tracksters have shown that they are strong in the running events, while the scoring power of the Badgers rests upon the entrants in the field events.

Captain Kennedy, Notre Dame, has run the mile in 4 minutes and 24 seconds, while Cox, Barber and McTiernan are sprinters of considerable ability. Layden and Barr are fast dash men, and Walsh and Johnson will compete in the hurdle races.

Badgers Good in Field Events

Wisconsin has made good records in the 880-yard dash, high jump, pole vault and shot put, while the Irish have scored consistently in the distance runs, sprints and hurdles.

Muzzy, who was injured in the Illinois relay races at Urbana last Saturday, will be unable to participate in today's meet and his place in the hurdle events will be filled by Zillisch, who was captain of last year's freshman team.

23 Men on Trip

McAndrews and McGiveran, who have been point winners in the dashes in both the quadrangular and Iowa meets, will enter the 44 yard dash.

The track men who made the trip to South Bend yesterday are Cap Giveran, Tuhtar, Hill, Flueck, Valley, Hilberts, Schneider, Bergstreser, Cassidy, Finkle, Piper, Reed, Perry, Limberg, Harmon, Donohue, Browne, Scott, Zillisch, Menke, Kennedy and Coaches Jones and Burke.

Gym Squad Set
For Conference
Meet Next Week

The gym team has finished all of its dual meets and is now pointing toward the conference meet March 15. The team has been defeated in every meet this year, because only two men, Captain Stevens and Schmidt, score.

Coach Schlatter believes, however, that Schmidt will win the all-around conference championship. He has been taking first places consistently in the horizontal bar, rings, parallels and tumbling. Stevens is also expected to place in the side-horse.

The coach also said, "There is no chance of Wisconsin winning another conference championship, because we have no men who can take second and third places."

A MOUNTAINOUS MOLEHILL

A student in a certain lecture course was guilty of pulling out his watch, (he didn't have a wrist watch and so was detected), and looking at it a number of times during the lecture hour. On the first occasion he was publicly reprimanded and on the second he was told to leave the class and not to return until he had secured the written consent of the dean.

That such conduct on the part of the student was highly discourteous is not to be questioned. Neither is there any question about the student in question meriting the punishment he received. But the question does arise whether the whole affair was worth noticing.

The type of student who goes to lecture merely to spend the hour will gain nothing from it by being forbidden under threat of penalty to look at his watch. He can sit and doze if denied that amusement, and what is more, he will. But for a lecturer to lose his equanimity of temper, interrupt the lecture and call the attention of the whole lecture section to the foolish act of a still more foolish student seems, in itself, to be likewise foolish. Surely nothing was gained by so doing and just as surely there was something lost in so distracting the attention of the class and interrupting the thread of thought for the sole purpose of expressing a little petty annoyance. The entire episode sounds like a grammar school incident.

SOMETHING TO DO

Up to the present time, the efforts of Senator Cashman to right the wrongs existent in regard to the university have failed because they have been misdirected. Instead of being an evil, the Rhodes scholarship turned out to be a benefit, and instead of partisan politics being taught, a student contest by students was being encouraged, all for the purpose of generating an intelligent interest in politics. However, the mere fact that Senator Cashman has been wholly wrong in his previous denunciations does not preclude the possibility of his accomplishing much toward the righting of many evils connected with this institution.

For one thing, there is the matter of appropriations. Every appropriation bill is cut down and pared down to the lowest possible amount, just as though education were not the finest possible investment for the state. As a result, the university is always being limited and hampered in its work. The securing adequate and liberal appropriations would be a fine opportunity for the energies of Senator Cashman.

Or again, there is the matter of class rooms and teaching facilities. In the days of 4,000 or 4,500 students they were really "spacious and adequate." But now, with 7,500 students, such can be no longer said. Another splendid opening for senatorial activity! Or the senator might watch the students trying to crowd their way out of Bascom hall at noon and then try to imagine the scene during a fire panic.

A senatorial denunciation might accomplish much. At least, it could be tried. A trip up the wobbly, wiggling, creaking stairs of that ancient building, the gymnasium, might give a little food for thought. Or the annual repairs amounting to a hundred or a few hundred dollars and the endangerment of a 5,000 dollar lifeboat each year as a result of a breakwater might merit senatorial attention. In fact, it requires very little effort to think of enough to keep not only Senator Cashman busy but the whole legislature also.

WHY NOT?

Tonight Wisconsin's hopes for a title in the basketball race are pinned on a small group of athletes on a strange floor out in Iowa. These men have been practicing and training regularly since last September, some of them have been conditioning themselves since last summer.

On five occasions last fall there were crowds at the station to greet returning football players. Tomorrow at 11:50 o'clock another Wisconsin team returns. Whether the men win or lose tonight they will have done their level best to bring the championship home after fighting through a season against heavy odds. Why not!

From time to time these columns have hit at the professor or instructor who posts his office hour on his door and then consistently fails to abide by them. We are still hitting.

When you go to a movie and sit through ten minutes of an abominable prologue, gnashing your teeth at the outrageous production and waiting impatiently to see the picture itself, remember that the theater owners cater to another class which is larger than that of the student body and that they must provide this class with such entertainment.

Who is Right, Eddy or Sorokine? Student Will Discuss Problem

EDITOR'S NOTE

The following is the first of a series of articles on the Russian situation which will appear in The Cardinal, written by Raymond Bassett '25, native of Roumania. He was in Russia during the revolution and came to America in 1921 when he entered the Milwaukee Normal school. He entered Wisconsin this year.

By RAYMOND BASSETT '25

The students of the university had an opportunity, during the past four weeks to attend the lectures of two eminent men of science and public life, whose opinions differ and contradict each other. One was Professor Pitrim Sorokine of the University of Petrograd, Russia, who has been lecturing on "The Sociology of Revolutions," the other was Dr. Sherwood Eddy, an American, who in the course of our last Religious conference discussed several phases and facts about the Soviet Russian government and Russian life in general.

It was a happy coincidence that Dr. Eddy came to the University while the series of lectures of Professor Sorokine are coming to an end. But it is unfortunate for our students to be the victims of this phenomena. Practically all that has been said by Professor Sorokine was denied by Dr. Eddy as far as I can see.

One is a citizen of Russia and a scientist, the other is a world wide traveler and an American citizen who has been in Russia several times. One led the life of a fugitive, a life full of hardships, while the other felt perfectly free and safe and was everywhere respected in Russia.

Under the heading "Students Swallow Lies" one can find this "I was safer in the streets of Russia without government guards than in some districts of Chicago and New York City. The Russians had no show places to exhibit to me. I was perfectly free to go as I pleased. Students who swallow such false material on the Soviet as a booklet 'Russia, the White Slaver of the World' are accepting without question the most damnable lies in history." This is what Dr. Eddy asserted.

Professor Sorokine is convinced that the Soviet government is to last only a year or so, while Dr. Eddy believes that it will live for years to come.

"Something must be wrong in Denmark," but I think it is on our campus rather than in Denmark. Who is right and who is wrong. Whose statements are based on real fact; whom should our students believe? They are really unfortunate victims.

Some of them know the facts and can judge for themselves; most of them do not know what to take for granted.

Being interested in international affairs, and in Russian life particularly, I am starting today a series of articles, which will deal with the most important phases of Russian life and will furnish the facts and also opinions of men which are known the world over and here in the United States.

The Reader's Say-So

"WAS LINCOLN A MURDERER?"
Editor, The Cardinal:

I am writing again to bring back Mr. Frederick L. Wellman from his journeys far afield.

War is horrible. Dr. Eddy does not need to tell us that. We all want war to be abolished from civilized society. Men have known of the brutality of war ever since the first battle. If it could be stopped merely by repeating that it is horrible, it would have been stopped ages ago. What can we do about it?

Dr. Eddy proposes that we do away with preparedness measures, including the training of the R. O. T. C. But when we shall have made ourselves defenseless against an aggressor, we shall not have destroyed all the powerful evils of the world, we shall have made ourselves the better bait.

As surely as history repeats itself, sometime in the future we shall again be called upon to make a grave decision. We shall have to decide either to make a stubborn defense of the things we hold dearer than peace, or to accept an alternative more to be abhorred than war itself. Then shall we pray for our helpless country.

I believe that there has never been a more profound expression of the problem of peace and war, than the lines of the Emancipator in the play, "Abraham Lincoln."

"I too believe war to be wrong. But the best of us have an instinct to resist aggression if it won't listen to persuasion. It is for us who hate aggression to persuade men always and earnestly against it, and hope that, little by little, they will hear us. But in the meantime there will come moments when the aggressors will force the instinct to resistance to act. Then we must act earnestly, praying in our courage that never will this happen again. We must strive to purify the world, but we must not think ourselves pure above the world. When I had this thing to decide, it would have been easy to say, 'No, I will have none of it. It is evil, and I will not touch it.' But that would have decided nothing, and I saw what I believed to be the truth as I now put it to you, ma'am. It is a forlorn thing to have this responsibility in my heart. I may see wrongly, but that's how I see."

Mr. Eddy said that war is organized murder. Was Lincoln a murderer because he could not avoid war with the South?

N. J. MOREAU.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Editor, The Cardinal:
I write to commend the editorial "Percentage and Spirit" which appeared in Wednesday's Cardinal. It was a tribute written with understanding of the true ends sought through athletic competition. It was also a recognition much deserved by the boys on the team and was correspondingly appreciated.

FRENCH PROFESSOR SPEAKS ON CHINA

Country Was Not Secluded Before Modern Times, Says Pelliot

That China had not remained entirely secluded from the western world during all the centuries before modern times was shown by Prof. Paul Pelliot of the College de France in his lecture on "The Early Spread of Christianity" Thursday afternoon in room 165 Bascom hall under the auspices of the committee on lectures and convocations.

Professor Pelliot illustrated his lecture with slides showing the documents which prove that Christianity was known in China long before the Jesuit priests came there in the sixteenth century.

"Evidence that Christianity existed early in the seventh century is shown in a stone monument discovered in 1625 at Chiang-Fu" said Professor Pelliot. "The history of the earliest known Christian community in China is inscribed on the monument. For 150 years Christianity prospered and waned in that region."

"At one time the Christians were persecuted by the only woman emperor China ever knew, a Buddhist herself. At the end of the seventh century the religion received a death blow when a Confucian emperor issued an edict against all other religions."

A diary of an oriental Marco Polo gives proof that Christianity flourished among the Mongols for a time. This Chinese lived in the period of the western Marco Polo and went to western Europe at the time when Marco Polo was in China.

Burns Denies He Acted With These Two as McLean Tipster

William J. Burns.

"It's a damned lie" and "pure bunk" are responses of William J. Burns, chief of the United States secret service, and founder of the international detective agency which bears his name, to charges that he was tipster for E. B. McLean.

William O. Duckstein and his wife, Jessie.

He is accused of having instructed his former secretary, Mrs. Jessie Duckstein, wife of W. O. Duckstein, secretary to McLean, to reveal the oil scandal situation to McLean in Florida.

Duckstein's name figures in many of the telegraph messages to McLean decoded by the senate committee probing the scandal. It has been found the secret service code was used in the messages.

STAR DESCENDED FROM SHAKESPEARE'S PUBLISHER

Only the other day the Selwyns learned that in Violet Heming,, leading woman in their production of the comedy "Spring Cleaning" at the Eltinge theatre in New York, they had a direct descendant of the original publisher of Shakespeare's plays. That is going back some years. She is also a niece of Charles Dalton, well-known actor in this country, who came from England some years ago, and starred in "The Sign of the Cross", a season after Wilson Barrett had made this play known.

REQUEST FUNDS FOR FOREST PRODUCTS LAB

Since a good wooden house will last 100 to 200 years if well painted, it is claimed, an appropriation of $45,000, part of which will probably be devoted to use at the Forest Products laboratory, is being asked of congress by a committee of the engineering foundation. Experiments are being conducted now at the laboratory to ascertain the effect of various paints on different types of wood, and to determine the best type of paint to be used for each.

RECALLS MEMORIES

But I do not mean to preach. Now a word of news. You have known the troubled situation in which the failure of the university bill left us—with plenty of money for salaries but with no appropriation for books and apparatus. The decision of the supreme court—just handed down—removes, I hope, the last obstacle to the utilization of the grant from the emergency board and comes just as we had exhausted balances left from former years.

This is the most recent item of importance. For other news you may look back to your own memories of the hill in March—underfoot alternate sloop and slip—on the lake ice boats, in the gymnasium basket ball. The prom past and lost sleep made up; the military hop coming, but not yet imminent. And through and behind all the steady operation of class room and laboratory which figures so little in The Cardinal and so much in the after life of the alumnus.

And so I leave you to the exchange of stories, the refreshment of memories, and the renewal of youth and of the happiness of college days at Wisconsin.

E. A. BIRGE,
President.

ALUMNI REPLY

Three hundred loyal sons and daughters of Wisconsin, assembled at the Commodore hotel, New York City, in commemoration of the seventy-fifth birthday of our Alma Mater, send heartiest greetings to you, President Birge, and, through you, to the regents, faculty and students of the University of Wisconsin.

We desire to acknowledge with the utmost gratitude and sincerity the great debt we owe her for all she has done for us; for the lofty ideals of life and high standards of education she has always set and maintained. We know we can never repay Wisconsin for these priceless gifts. There are a heritage without money and without price.

Even though 1,000 miles away tonight we are with you in spirit as we recall the traditions and fond memories of our college days. No inconsiderable part of these memories are associated very intimately with student life and enterprises and with the social gatherings and athletic records of our Alma Mater as well as with her great reputation at home and abroad for scholarship and achievement in every field of human endeavor.

ANDREW H. MELVILLE,
Toastmaster.
