THE COUNTRYMAN'S OPPORTUNITY

COUNTRY men and women are today appreciating a new idealism in the spirit of the soil and, dominated with a desire for service, they are giving new impetus to the life and welfare of the rural community.

The opportunities for leadership, today as never before, are coming with increasing force to college-bred men and women. It is largely from the ranks of the graduates of these great commonwealth universities that the development of community life, the promotion of the program of rural betterment, the conservation of the potential possibilities of the soil's heritage, and the perfection and beautification of the countryside will come. Such leaders have been endowed with the best culture and education which society can offer, and therefore we may expect that they will hold true to the great ideals engendered by their contact with learning.

Economic welfare may not mean contentment, for happiness depends upon the power to adapt ourselves to our immediate surroundings. In the environment of the countryside, men may, if they will, enjoy life to its fullest extent, and if they can learn for themselves how to provide their own amusement, there will be less need to carry entertainment to them. We most keenly enjoy that which we ourselves have planned, and with proper facilities at his command the countryman finds a complete life open to him under rural conditions. With this condition satisfied there will be less desire to leave the farms, and from the associations of the country there shall spring again the culture and refinement which has in past ages been so prominent in the development of better economic and social conditions.

The economic adjustment we are facing today will eventually return us to conditions offering fresh impetus to the promotion and progress of industry and agriculture. While present conditions are unstable, our individual responsibility indicates that a continued curtailment of luxuries, and a sane, careful expenditure of all money, will exert beneficial, stabilizing effects; it will help prevent many evils of a panic; and it will prepare the country for the readjustment in social life

Not only has enrollment at the University increased far out of proportion with the cubic space of University buildings, but it also shows much greater proportional increase than State population or property value. Furthermore, the number of high school graduates for several years past is relatively larger than even the great increase in University enrollment. Figures for the past fifty years show that our enrollment has doubled each decade. There is no reason to assume that such regular increase will not continue. Indeed, there is reason to believe that it may become greater. Naturally more students require more equipment, more buildings, more teachers, all of which demands more money which means more taxes for education.

Of themselves and by themselves the statistics and the resultant graphs of greatly increased enrollment as compared with a relatively small increase of population, a very meagre increase in the cubic space in buildings, and a property value increase of smaller proportion than the enrollment increase, show a somewhat gloomy and discouraging outlook.

The real hope for the University, however, lies in the fact that, while a couple of decades ago there was but one University student for each group of a thousand people in Wisconsin, now there are three University students for each such group. Surely this indicates greater community interest in the welfare and progress of the University. Three times as much interest, three times as much support, three times as much information, and three times as much activity in, for, about, and in behalf of the University in every community of Wisconsin on the one hand, and three times less prejudice, three times less jealousy, three times less ignorance, and three times less selfishness against, and for, and about, and toward the University in all parts of Wisconsin on the other hand,—surely this brightens the outlook and cheers where uninterpreted statistics may discourage.

It should also be remembered that there are now about three times as many former students of the University residing in all sections of Wisconsin as were in the State two decades ago.

On former students and on present students, more than upon any special University officials, rests the great responsibility of determining the future welfare of the University. The most important future problem is to see to it that conditions at the University of Wisconsin are such that not one earnest seeker for training in good citizenship shall be denied. Will the State feel the obligation to make suitable appropriations for educational facilities, or "will the throng of youth have to be denied and sent back home?" Will many of the sons and daughters of the rich go elsewhere, and will some of the children of less affluent parents go nowhere for higher educational training?

While University officials can present the facts regarding University needs to busy legislators working under high pressure, students and graduates have the extended acquaintance, the individual influence, the personal opportunity, to spread the Truth about the University in a most effective way.

Building needs are acute here as they are everywhere since the war. University officials have outlined building programs that are less extensive than some made by our immediate neighbors among the state universities. The minimum has been asked for. It requires no prophetic vision to state that many who seek admission to the University in the future will have to be denied unless additional accommodations are soon supplied. Indeed, conditions in some buildings are so congested now as to mitigate against comfort, health, and safety.

Alma Mater's children are not only like the widow's children, her jewels of greatest value, worth more than any mere physical kingly treasures, but they are, in such a critical time as the present, the chief hope and trust on which Alma Mater must rely if her great past and her glorious present can be assured a future of Service to all Wisconsin, and a continued "open door" policy to all of the youth of the State who desire to fit themselves for service under the University tutelage.

Local alumni clubs are reminded that Foundation Day is the first Monday of February. It is fitting that the birthday of the University be observed and celebrated. The setting aside each Foundation Day year of one day on which graduates shall renew and increase their knowledge of the University's growth, development, ideals, and accomplishments, gives opportunity also for a better general understanding of the University's present problems and future needs. Many clubs find the Friday or Saturday prior to, or the Friday or Saturday following, the first Monday of February a more convenient date than Monday for holding meetings. As long as Foundation Day is observed "on or about the first Monday of February" all desired purposes are accomplished; indeed the week-end dates prove much more convenient for faculty members who accept invitations to speak at such local club meetings. Clubs that plan to invite faculty members should send the invitations early and should, of course, pay the visitors' expenses. Would it not be an inspiration to all interested in our University if, in every county seat in Wisconsin as well as in all out-of-the-state U. W. Clubs, graduates, former students, and friends of the University would gather together on or about the first Monday of February for a Foundation Day meeting?

While indications point to the return of many graduates for the Commencement season in June, class leaders are again urged to furnish copy before January 10 so that in the February

Class Reunions number we may start to give definite publicity to class reunion plans for those classes whose numerals end in 1 or in 6. The dates for commencement are from June 19 to June 22 inclusive.

The Alumni Board met at 9:30 A. M. on November 13, 1920, at 821 State Street, Madison. Members present were F. H. Clausen, '97, Alumni Board Meeting president, J. E. McConnell, '87, vice-president, C. N. Brown, '81, treasurer, Lillian Taylor, '05, recording secretary, J. S. Lord, '04, Mrs. T. E. Brittingham (Mary Clark), '89 (L. and S.), Dr. V. S. Falk, '11 (Med), L. F. Van Hagan, '04 (Engr.). R. N. McNynn, '94 (Law) wired his proxy to the general secretary, R. S. Crawford. S. W. Reid, '15 (Agric) was absent.

Following points of inquiry regarding the constitutional provisions as to the term and election of officers, motion was unanimously carried that the Alumni Council be asked to elect a president, a vice-president, and a recording secretary.

A report was made dealing with the increased demands upon the Association requiring extra labor and additional expense. Mention was also made of the special increase in the cost of printing which, instead of receding toward pre-war prices, had made an additional increase of about 45 per cent this year. Consideration was given to the questions of whether the annual dues should be increased, or whether dues should remain as they are but special effort be directed toward increasing the number of Life members. Inasmuch as the records showed a healthy increase in the Life membership list, despite the fact that no special effort had been devoted to this form of membership, and, furthermore, inasmuch as both Michigan and Minnesota had succeeded in building up a permanent endowment fund to assist alumni work through increasing the number of Life members, it was formally made the unanimous opinion of those present that all members who could afford Life membership should be invited to take this form of membership which requires a payment of but fifty dollars; that graduates who might be heartily in accord with the idea of Life membership but who might find it somewhat of a burden to make the payment at one time, be given an opportunity to extend the payments over a period of a few years. It appeared to the Board that if Life membership could be taken by even twenty per cent of the present annual members, it would be possible to continue and enlarge the activities of the Association without increasing the present annual dues, which, while lower than those of any other Association of the same size as Wisconsin, have the advantage of making membership in the General Association no heavy financial burden to recent graduates.

The Board felt confident that the spirit of cooperation which has placed the Wisconsin General Alumni Association in the lead numerically will now prompt all members with the desire to place the organization on a permanently firm financial basis. A motion was therefore unanimously carried that details for further action on this matter of Life membership be entrusted to a committee consisting of the President elect, the retiring President, and the General Secretary.

The meeting adjourned at 10:25 A. M.

The meeting of the Alumni Council was called to order by President F. H. Clausen, '97, at 10:30 A. M., November 13, 1920, in the Green Room, 740 Langdon Street, Madison.

Alumni Council Meeting Those answering the roll call were J. S. Lord, '04, Mrs. T. E. J. G. Taylor, '68, Volney Underhill, '71, Howard Morris, '77, Dr. L. S. Head, '82, Mrs. A. W. Shelton (Mary Howe), '84, O. D. Brandenburg, ex '85, W. N. Parker, '90, Mrs. F. S. Baldwin (Lucy Churchill), '91, G. F. Thompson, '96, Joseph Koffend Jr., '00, Cornelia Anderson, '09, W. J. Wiedenbeck, '12, N. P. Biart, '15, and Phyllis Hamilton, '20.

A motion was unanimously carried that the reading of the minutes of the June meeting be dispensed with inasmuch as they had been printed in the August issue of the official publication.

The President appointed H. J. Hirshheimer, '91, F. H. Elwell, '08, and Helen Seymour, '14, as the nominating committee to recommend to the Alumni Council candidates for president, vice-president, and recording secretary.

Business manager H. J. Thorkelson, '98, discussed the growth of the University, particularly for the past twenty years. He explained the three-eighths mills tax, told of the present needs of the University, and mentioned what requests the University would necessarily make of the Legislature this year. He also told of the crowded conditions of University buildings, what had been done to Bascom Hall, the chemistry building, the engineering shop buildings, the law library, and the School of Music. He discussed the need of dormitories for boys, and of additional dormitories for girls. He also stressed the need of the Memorial Union Building.

Professor Thorkelson said that the alumni of Wisconsin are anxious to help solve the problems concerning the University, and that it was very necessary to get constructive suggestions from the alumni, and to present all of these pressing problems to the Legislature and to the people of the State. His interesting discussion was supplemented by four carefully prepared charts illustrating enrollment increases, building needs, growth of population, number of high school graduates, valuation of taxable resources of Wisconsin, and the inter-relationship of these various factors.

The nominating committee made the following recommendation; for president, Israel Shrimski, ex '88, for vice-president, R. N. McMynn, '94, and for recording secretary, Helen B. Smith, '19. This recommendation was unanimously adopted by the Council.

President Clausen, in expressing thanks for the information kindly furnished by Professor Thorkelson, suggested the desirability of promoting the thought of alumni cooperation during the coming year, and the need of fostering the idea of local U. W. clubs in most of the counties of the state, and pointed out that, with such a spirit of cooperation and through such agencies as local clubs, it would be possible to disseminate to the majority of the people of the state definite information regarding the situation confronting the University.

Mr. W. H. Dudley, chief of the Bureau of Visual Instruction, explained the activities of his department, and showed how it succeeded in bringing before the people of the State valuable educational material in the shape of moving picture films, lantern slides, and so forth. Mr. Dudley had maps showing how thoroughly the State was already covered by the Department of Visual Education. He illustrated the work by showing a couple of reels of film dealing with activities of the University during the war. He assured the Council that it would be a splendid idea to have a motion picture film devoted to the interest of the University sent throughout the State.

An expression of thanks to Professor Thorkelson and Mr. Dudley was made by the General Secretary.

The meeting adjourned at 12 M.

NEW UNIVERSITY BUDGET

By H. J. THORKELSON, '98

THE University is really asking the State for about 78 per cent of the biennial budget, $14,587,155. Almost $3,250,000, or 22 per cent of the total amount that was recently announced as the biennial estimates for 1921-23, will be earned by the University or received from other sources than the State. Of the remainder, 35 per cent, or about $4,000,000, is for building construction.

In other words, the total biennial budget of $14,587,155 includes $1,921,000 to be received from student fees, $722,625 received from sales of farm products, dormitory room rent and board, sales of athletic tickets, fees for special services, and other sources, $427,860 from the federal government, $76,000 from interest, $2,000 from counties, and $30,000 from gifts. Under the system of revolving funds, all of these funds from other sources are paid into the State treasury and must be appropriated out for University use.

The proportion of University income to be derived from the State will, of course, be unusually large to meet the estimates submitted for next biennium. This is mainly due to the large building program and is a return to the proportions of former years before construction was curtailed by war conditions. Back in 1912-13, the State's share of University support was about 72 per cent because more than half a million a year was spent on new buildings. In succeeding years the State's share was gradually reduced, with smaller building programs, until in 1919-20, it was only 52 per cent because but $66,000 was spent on buildings. The State hospital appropriation brought it back up to 71 per cent last year.

The State's share is also increased by other causes. For one thing, the tremendous increase in enrollment and teaching cost has run far ahead of other sources of support. But, more than that, a sharp increase in appropriations is needed this biennium to catch up on the budget deficit of the past two years.

That is, the special session of 1920, recognizing the impossibility of operating the University with 40 per cent more students than estimated in the budget, the mounting costs and the necessity of salaries comparable with those at similar institutions, increased the appropriation from the University Fund Income by \$1,067,139. It was planned at the special session to provide an increased income equivalent to changing the mill tax from $\frac{3}{8}$ to $\frac{5}{8}$, adding approximately \$1,000,000 to the University Fund Income, which, with the increased student fees and the income from soldier bonus instruction, would keep the balance in the University Fund Income intact, and provide an excess available for hospital construction.

These plans, however, were not carried out. The State General hospital funds were provided from other sources, and the provision for increased income passed by the Legislature did not receive executive approval. Therefore, these increased appropriations for 1920-21 will have to be met by extraordinary measures which, for one thing, will entirely exhaust the balance in the University Fund Income.

To put the University Fund Income balance back and to bring the University's income up to a total that meets the cost of a student body of 7,000 students will require extra large State support this biennium. Our figures indicate that an increase equivalent to a change in the mill tax from $\frac{3}{8}$ to $\frac{5}{8}$ will be necessary in order to enable the University to continue to operate on its present basis.

MR. ISRAEL SHRIMSKI

President of the Alumni Association

THE election to the presidency of so representative a body as the Alumni Association of the University of Wisconsin carries with it a justifiable interest in the personality of the incumbent of that honorable position. It is told of one to whom had come many honors of a professional sort of which any one might well be proud, that upon election to a position comparable to that of Mr. Shrimski reflecting a similar confidence in his personal worth, he said with emphasis: "What I like is that there is no d--- merit about it!" Those who know the president of the Alumni Association will not grudge him that order of satisfaction. We elect to this position a man cherished not only for what he has done, but for what he is.

ISRAEL SHRIMSKI

Here in the case of Mr. Shrimski is a brief record of both, in approved "Who's Who In Wisconsin" fashion.

He began life in the usual way by being born; and as fate would have it, was born in Chicago. Realizing at a tender age that this was a mistake he induced his parents in 1872 (he was born in 1869) to remove to Hudson, Wisconsin. Having exhausted all the resources of the Hudson schools he knocked at the doors of the University of Wisconsin and found them open. This in 1884. In proper season he completed the Junior year and once more was drawn to the metropolis of the Great Lakes. He then pursued the study of law at Northwestern Law School (then Union College); the pursuit ended in a degree in 1890. He was admitted to the Bar on June 11, 1890 and has since then practiced his profession with growing success.

He was first employed in the law offices of Kraus, Mayer, and Stein, later, Moran, Kraus, Mayer, and Stein, and continued this connection until 1896, when he entered the practice of law on his own behalf. He retired from active practice in 1918 to become vice-president of Bauer and Black. He was fortunate in his legal associates. Mr. Kraus was at one time president of the Board of Education of Chicago, and later Corporation Counsel of the city. Philip Stein, '65, was afterwards Judge of the Superior Court. Judge Moran was a judge of the Appellate Court. Mr. Mayer is one of the most noted of Chicago lawyers.

Among the cases with which Mr. Shrimski was associated as counsel may be mentioned that involving the Fire Escape Statute of the State of Illinois; the law resulting in the formation of the Public Utilities Commission of the State of Illinois; the litigation in the Federal Courts of New York involving the patents of the Pay-as-you-enter car; etc. He was also counsel for the Public Utilities Commission after its formation.

Mr. Shrimski was never tempted into the uncertain field of politics. He found sufficient interest in the practice of the law in its broader aspects and in its intricate relations to the machinery of modern business life. Yet his interests were ever broad and his counsels desired in many directions outside his profession. He has held many positions of confidence and good fellowship. By fraternity allegiance he is a member of Phi Delta Phi; he is also a member of the Masonic order and of the Independent Order of B'nai B'rith. He has been president of the U. W. Club of Chicago (1919) and has been a member of the Board of Managers and Vice-President of the Wisconsin Society. He is also a member of the Chicago Bar Association, the Illinois Bar Association, the American Bar Association. Likewise a member of the Standard Club (where he resides), of the Illinois Athletic Club, of the Ravisloe Country Club and the Northmoor Country Club. It is thus apparent that Mr. Shrimski is not a hermit but would qualify as a joiner and a mixer as well as something of a sport. In fact he admits openly that he regards fishing as one of the nobler ends of human existence and is a member of the Chicago Fishing Club which has its Club House on Lake Cour O'Reilles; while in company with two of his friends he is the owner of a fishing camp in the Lac du Flambeau Indian Reservation, Vilas County, Wisconsin.

He was appointed by the alumni a member of the Board of Visitors in 1917 and was reappointed in 1919 to serve until 1923. Both for service and recreation he is loyal to Wisconsin. Having failed to find his helpmate among the co-eds in his susceptible years, he knew it was hopeless to pursue the quest elsewhere, and so has remained a bachelor.

This bare record of activities will suggest what manner of man the alumni have chosen to be their representative. It remains for the alumni to get acquainted with the personality behind the record. Under Mr. Shrimski's regime we may look forward to a bright and prosperous participation of the alumni in the welfare of the University. He has maintained a close touch with its affairs and has proven himself interested and ready to do his share in all its progressive undertakings.

Extra: H. L. BUTLER, '89, has been appointed a member of the board of regents to fill the unexpired term of Dr. Vilas, which ends in February, 1925.

PRESENTATION OF THE PORTRAIT OF DR. W. S. MILLER

By C. H. BUNTING, '96

IT is a pleasant duty which has been imposed on me. I have been asked to present to the University on behalf of the donors, this portrait of Dr. William Snow Miller,—the work of the distinguished artist, Mr. Christian Abrahamson.

Dr. Miller bears the distinction of being the first Doctor of Medicine to hold appointment on the faculty of the University of Wisconsin since it became a university in fact as well as in name. For 28 years he has been identified with this faculty, teaching fundamental branches of medical science and for half these years almost unaided he nursed the seedling which we hope soon to see in full flower as a complete medical school. It is not, however, in recognition of mere length of service that this presentation is made, but rather for the quality of that service.

I may not here enter into details of Doctor Miller's work at the University but I cannot refrain from touching upon a few features that have made it notable. As teacher of comparative anatomy, of topographical anatomy, of embryology, and especially of histology and neurology during these years he has presented the content of those studies in a masterly manner. In addition, by the example of his own precise and beautiful technique, and by his insistence upon accurate, truthful, clean-cut work by his students, he has furnished them in the early years of their professional study with an ideal of the scientific worker. He has stimulated scientific curiosity and has fostered research. An enemy of shams and of pseudoscience, a strong opponent of the spirit of commercialism which has more than threatened to invade the medical profession in the last few years, he has always stood for that which is highest in medicine. His influence as a teacher may well be epitomized in a sentence which ran like a refrain with but slight variations through the responses of his former students—some now eminent practitioners of medicine or surgery, others as teachers of medical sciences. That sentence was, to quote one letter, "To me personally he was the inspiration which started me on my career and the ideals which he instilled into me as a student I have tried to keep before me ever since." Or to quote from another, "I took up scientific medicine largely because I came under his influence at the University."

In the closer bond of his extra-curricular course in medical history, the weekly seminar in which a limited number of interested students has taken part each year, Doctor Miller's influence has been directed toward the development of a broader scholarship, of a medical culture, which we are all too apt to neglect in the stress of the modern crowded medical curriculum. This has not been without its fruit as is shown not only by publications in medical history by his students and by the introduction by other students of similar courses elsewhere, but by the general high position held by these men in the medical world.

While as a teacher Doctor Miller has brought honor to the University, through the subsequent careers of his students, a far wider renown has come to it from his scientific work, particularly from his investigations on the structure of the lung. This work, carried out painstakingly, quietly, without advertisement, often under disadvantages of lack of material and facilities, always with the handicap of much teaching, has that quality which will endure as a monument of honor to Doctor Miller himself and to the University of which he is a part.

As a token then of our admiration for his scholarship and accomplishment and of our affection for the man himself, we, his colleagues, his former students, and his friends ask you, President Birge, on behalf of the University to accept this portrait of Doctor Miller from our hands, and we ask, further, that it may in time be given a place of honor in our future medical halls where it may ever serve as an ideal and as a stimulus to that high type of endeavor of which the original has been pattern.

THE MEMORIAL UNION

By H. L. ASHWORTH

PROGRESS is reported by the Memorial Union Building committee which is raising a fund of $1,000,000 for Wisconsin's memorial union project. The committee started the collection of outstanding pledges in November and about $50,000 of the $280,000 so far pledged has been paid in. Money collected will be invested so that the interest will be available towards the expenses of continuing the campaign.

A campaign among the business concerns and industries of Madison was put under way recently with promises of success. The first forty subscriptions received from business concerns averaged $200. Members of the Students' Union Board of the University are in charge of the canvass of Madison alumni. The campaign among the business men is being conducted by a voluntary group of business men.

The executive committee has been advised that the New York City alumni have also inaugurated a campaign in support of the memorial project.

Wisconsin men and women who have not yet been given an opportunity to subscribe to the fund can obtain full particulars and subscription blanks from the Memorial Union Building committee, 821 State street, Madison.

By MRS. GEORGE BECKER, '19

THE Wisconsin and Illinois alumni in Akron held a joint smoker Saturday afternoon Nov. 13, at the University Club, where reports of the Wisconsin-Illinois game were received, play by play. The results of the game were indeed gratifying to the Wisconsin alumni, while the Illinois alumni sought comfort in the fact that they still had a chance to defeat Ohio State. Dinner was served at 6:30, at which time the alumnae of the two clubs joined the men. After dinner the two organizations vied with each other in singing their "peppy" college songs. Later the Wisconsin-Illinois Jazz Orchestra furnished music for dancing.

CHICAGO ALUMNAE

By HELEN SEYMOUR, '14

Following the football victory over Chicago at Stagg Field on Saturday, Nov. 20, Dr. and Mrs. B. W. Sippy (Mabel Lamberston), ex '88 and ex '98, opened their home for a reception which proved an appropriate finale to that memorable afternoon. Some two hundred and fifty congregated there directly after the game to exchange congratulations and to enjoy Doctor and Mrs. Sippy's cordial hospitality—also to partake of coffee and doughnuts and to sing Wisconsin songs.

The house was festively decorated with Wisconsin colors. In the receiving line were Doctor and Mrs. Sippy, Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Ochsner, '84, Mrs. E. D. Sewall (Ida Hoyt, '79), Dr. J. M. Dodson, '80, Israel Shrimski, ex '88, recently elected, president of the General Alumni Association, R. S. Crawford, '03, secretary of the Alumni Association, Jessie M. Shepherd, '95, president of the Chicago Association of Wisconsin Alumnae, Catherine Cleveland, '94, Fred White, '81, George Waldo, '85, H. J. Smith, '77, president of the U. W. Alumni Club of Chicago, W. H. Haight, '03, and J. S. Lord, '04. Among those who assisted in serving the refreshments were: Miss Penn Shelton, Mrs. J. D. Young (Margaret Smith, '92), Alice Kasson, '99, Mrs. C. F. Harding (Hallie Hover, '77), Mrs. B. D. Berry (Lucy McGlachlin, '94), Mrs. R. M. Bohn (Edith Sharkey, '16), Mrs. J. W. Davis (Ethel Lawler, '14), Grace Martin, '05, Bertha Weeks, '15, Inez Wilson, Helen Farquhar, Alice Bemis, '18, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bemis (Gertrude Johnson) '15 and '17, and Harold Taylor, '20.

A note of regret and best wishes was received from President Birge and similar messages from Fred Clausen, '97, ex-president of the Alumni Association, and Judge John Karel, '95 ("Ikey" Karel of football fame), who were unable to be present.

The C. A. of W. A. met for luncheon on Saturday, Dec. 4, at the Chicago Woman's Club. Despite bad weather there was an attendance of about forty. Jessie M. Shepherd, '95, president of the Association, presided. Brief reports were given by Winifred Salisbury, '01, on the work of the Collegiate Bureau of Occupations; by Mrs. C. F. Harding (Hallie Hover, '77) on the work of the Vocational Bureau; by Alice Bemis, '18, treasurer, on the state of the Association's exchequer; and by Helen Seymour, '14, secretary, on the recent meeting of the General Alumni Council at Madison which she attended as delegate. The guest of the occasion was Miss Jane Addams, LL.D. '04, honorary member of the Chicago Association of Wisconsin Alumnae, who gave a stirring and informing talk. Her subject was "Feed the World and Save the League."

The Officers of the C. A. of W. A. are: Jessie M. Shepherd, '95, president, Helen D. Street, '76, vice-president, Helen Seymour, '14, secretary, Alice Bemis, '18, treasurer, and Mrs. C. F. Harding (Hallie Hover, '77), Mrs. F. D. Hoag (Julia Sturtevant, ex '84), Mrs. C. B. Hill (Inez Pettibone, ex '01, directors).

CHICAGO ALUMNI

By C. L. BYRON, '08

The greatest Wisconsin football dinner in Chicago was enthusiastically enjoyed by 257 loyal Wisconsinites at the Hotel Sherman on the eve of the Chicago-Wisconsin clash, Nov. 20, when again our boys turned the trick.

Bishop Fallows, '59, in closing his interesting after-dinner talk, repeated that chorus dear to all of us, "On Wisconsin!" which symbolized the spirit of the evening.

Israel Shrimski, ex '88, the recently elected president of the General Alumni Association, in his talk stated his ambition and called for the loyal support of the alumni body to raise the alumni membership from fifty-five hundred to ten thousand. With Mr. Shrimski's enthusiasm and the support he deserves, his ambition will be realized.

Harry Culver, '10, A. R. Tormey, '14, and Lynn Williams, '00, told us why Wisconsin was going to win, and they were right.

Rev. A. J. McCartney, '00, the man of many stories, kept everyone laughing for fifteen minutes.

R. S. Crawford, '03, our general alumni secretary, came from Madison to sound the keynote of success of the Alumni Association: "Cooperation," and so far as the Chicago group is concerned, he and the Alumni Association will get it in increased measure.

T. E. Jones, director of athletics of the University, told us of conditions of athletics at Wisconsin, and when he stated that rowing was reinstated and that our brawny crews would again represent Wisconsin and the West on the Hudson not later than 1922, the crowd went wild with enthusiasm.

Max Loeb, '05, entertained us with a burlesque political speech. "Sonny" Ray, '21, and "Sparks" Dodge, '21, who, by the way, are real actors, gave all of us a real treat, the former with his songs and impersonations and the latter by his sleight of hand performances.

Harold Wile, '12, who has been secretary of the U. W. Club of Chicago for five years, gave a short talk, in which he mentioned, among other things, that our Club had grown during his time to a membership of three hundred. At the conclusion of his talk, and in appreciation of his efforts, he as given a rousing cheer.

Before, during, and after the talks the banquet hall rang with song, which comes only when enthusiasm runs high and good fellows get together.

At this dinner there was held the annual election of officers. The following were elected: H. J. Smith, '77, president, C. L. Byron, '08, vice president, B. R. Brindley, '14, secretary-treasurer, Walter Heymann, '14, H. M. Hobbins, '00, and K. F. Layman, '14, directors.

The directors who hold over for another year are: Dr. N. C. Gilbert, '03 O. W., Middleton, '07, and K. E. Wagner, '10.

Our new president, following up the good characteristics of our retiring president, W. H. Haight, '03, promptly appointed the various committeemen. The following have been appointed chairmen of the committees noted: O. W. Middleton, '07, luncheon, W. M. Heymann, '14, athletic, K. F. Layman, '14, publicity, E. C. Austin, '12, welfare, H. C. Marks, '13, membership, B. D. Burhoe, ex '13, entertainment, and Fred Silber, '94, song book.

From the way the new organization has started out it is clear to see that it means business.

In connection with the football game, one very important feature is not to be overlooked. This was the splendid reception which Dr. and Mrs. Bertram Sippy held at their home, 5615 Woodlawn Ave., Chicago, immediately after the game. All of the many who were there had a most enjoyable time and appreciated the kind hospitality of Doctor and Mrs. Sippy.

On December 3, Mr. Frank Comerford, eminent lawyer, student, orator, and author, who made an extended trip through Europe, including Ireland and Russia, spoke to us in his characteristic and interesting manner on the problem of unrest as related to Bolshevism. He spoke with authority because of his intimate experience in Europe, and further because he was one of the prosecutors who recently tried and caused the conviction of the twenty Reds involved in the Chicago trial. In closing, Mr. Comerford stated:

"Bolshevism is the greatest danger the world has faced since the biography of mankind was written. The only way it can be destroyed is by cooperation of thinking people. It is a serious problem and needs serious thought. The nation cannot live half under the Red flag and half under the Stars and Stripes. We can know but one flag and under its fold we must conquer."

The address was one of the most inspiring ever given before our Club.

At the remaining meetings of the month we had no special speakers, such meetings being of the good fellowship type.

Again we wish to notify every Wisconsinite to attend our Friday noon-day luncheons at the Chicago City Club whenever it is possible. The treat will be yours and the pleasure ours.

INDIANAPOLIS

By R. M. BREWER, '18

Wisconsinites of the Hoosier Capital celebrated the Homecoming victory with an old time mixer at the home of Mary Orvis, '07, on Nov. 13. Only two of our number were fortunate enough to be in Madison that day, but the rest of us made so much noise celebrating the defeat of Illinois that surely they must have heard us as far as the Lower Campus where the real pow-wow was being held. Everyone opened up his mouth and sang and yelled like an undergraduate, but with the added zest that only an alumnus knows how to put into such rejoicings over a great football victory of his old Varsity.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Rogers (Lucile Pritchard) '15 and '16, of Milford, Ill., as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Tomlinson, '15, were most welcome participators in the festivities.

The Club also held several affairs during the past summer jointly with the Wisconsin undergrads of Indianapolis, all of which proved to be a big source of enjoyment for the alumni and a happy way of keeping in touch with the local boys and girls at the University.

MINNEAPOLIS ALUMNAE

By MRS. L. F. MILLER, '05

At a "get-together" dinner at the Curtis Hotel, Thursday evening, Nov. 18, the U. W. women in Minneapolis completed an organization which shall be known as the Minneapolis Alumnae Association of the University of Wisconsin. The officers elected were: Mrs. D. H. Pierce, president Sarah Spensely, '18, vice-president, Mrs. L. F. Miller (Mabel Chinnock, '05) secretary, Mildred Pederson, '19, treasurer.

The following were present: Laura Gilman, '13, Edna Ollis, '15, Mrs. I. W. Whitmore (Hazel Hildebrand, '10), Mrs. G. S. Ford (Grace Ellis, '05), Mrs. L. F. Miller (Mabel Chinnock, '05), Mrs. A. J. Lobb (Mary Cunningham, '03), Mrs. Donald Evans (Edna Hooley, '02), Carolyn Storlie, '20, Ethel Mygrant, '17, Mrs. Harold Taylor (Mildred Trilling, '13), Grace Wright, '98, Mirah Congdon, '04, Mrs. H. A. Bullis (Irma Alexander, '15), Mabel Whitney, '00, Agnes E. Currie, '20, Katherine Ringwood, ex '23, Mildred Pederson, '19, Marian Cuvellier, Alice Henry, '09, Ariel Macnaughton, Mrs. D. H. Pierce, Lucy Von Rohr, ex '07, Marguerite McConville, ex '11, Sarah Spensley, '18, Eleanor Sheakley, '17, Maude Curtis, '00, and Genevieve McDill, '02.

ATHLETICS

By RODNEY WELSH, '22

OHIO

A TRICK of fate lost for Wisconsin first place in the Big Ten conference. By two spectacular passes, Ohio carried the ball from one end of the field to the other and scored a touchdown. Thus in the last minute of a hard game Wisconsin lost the right to the title.

"That almost last play of the game, when Workman hurled the ball half the length of the field into the arms of the speeding Stinchcomb, that flight of the latter over the last 10 yards for the touchdown that won the game will ever remain a clearcut photograph in the brain of every onlooker."
—O. S. U. M.

But an otherwise clean slate procured for us a second place. We won from Northwestern, Minnesota, Illinois, and Chicago.

ILLINOIS

The 22,000 Homecoming rooters went wild with excitement when the Badger eleven with a wonderful come-back in the second half defeated the powerful Suckers 14 to 9. By the fastest, most baffling forward pass attack ever staged on Randall field, Wisconsin succeeded in scoring two touchdowns. Receiving a pass from Barr, quarterback, Elliott the Wisconsin halfback raced across the Illinois line. A few minutes later, Tebell received another pass from Barr and went over for a second touchdown. Barr kicked goal both times.

CHICAGO

By a drop kick from the forty yard line, Wisconsin defeated the Maroons 3 to 0. The game was not a brilliant one. For three quarters the Badgers failed to score. They had none of the fight and aggressiveness that they displayed when they rushed Illinois the week before. In the last few minutes of the game, Allan Davey, quarterback, who a year ago defeated Chicago by a spectacular 45 yard run, made a beautiful drop kick that won the game. The strength of the Stagg line was one of the season's surprises. More than 8,000 of the 30,000 spectators were loyal, spirited rooters for Wisconsin, alumni and students.

NEXT YEAR

Michigan takes the place of Ohio on the Wisconsin schedule for next year. The schedule drawn up by the conference coaches is as follows:

G. M. Sundt, '22, Stoughton, has been elected captain of the 1921 football team.

With three years of Varsity football and "W's" won in basketball and track, Sundt takes the leadership possessing a deal of athletic experience.

BASKETBALL

Despite the jinx of ineligibility and accidents that have been pursuing the Badger tossers, Director of Athletics T. E. Jones optimistically predicts a brilliant season for Coach Meanwell's five. The preliminary games found many of the old men on the floor. Captain Harold Taylor, '22, Carl Ceasar, '22, Allard Frogner, '22, John Williams, '22, Rolland Williams, '23, and Gustav Tebell, '23, are back in their old places. Frank Weston, '21, and Willis Fanning, '22, two Badger strongholds have been kept out because of injuries received at practice.

CROSS COUNTRY

Coach George Bresnahan's cross country squad took fifth place in the annual conference of fourteen universities held at Urbana, Ill., Nov. 20. Ames, which won last year, again came in first; Illinois placed second, Ohio third, Purdue fourth, and Wisconsin fifth.

The squad included Captain Wellington Brothers, '21, H. C. Dennis, '21, R. A. Noble, '23, G. C. Wade, '24, M. H. Wall, '22, C. W. Wille, '22, R. B. Powell, '22, A. F. Zielsky, '23, and R. O. Blodgett, '23.

H. S. VAUGHN, '70, died on Nov. 25, in Denver, Colo. A soldier in the Civil War, in which he lost his right arm, Mr. Vaughn has played a prominent part in civic and state affairs for the last thirty years. For nineteen years after graduation from the University he practiced law in Iowa. He then moved to Denver. In 1893 and 1894 he was city supervisor of Denver and then at the almost unanimous wish of the people he became a candidate for mayor, but was defeated by the political powers in the nomination convention. In 1903 and 1904 he was commander of the G. A. R. department of Colorado and Wyoming. Mr. Vaughn is survived by his wife, two sons and two daughters. One son, Courtland D., is a graduate of Wisconsin, class of 1913.

EUGENE W. CHAFIN, '75, died on Nov. 30, at his home in Long Beach, Calif., from burns received on Nov. 20, when his clothing caught fire while he was lighting a gas heater. Mr. Chafin was born on Nov. 1, 1852, in East Troy. After graduating from the University he practiced law in Waukesha and Chicago. In 1908 and 1912 he was prohibition candidate for president of the United States. He was a temperance advocate and lecturer from his youth.

DR. CHARLES H. VILAS

DR. CHARLES HARRISON VILAS, '65, died Nov. 22, at his home, 822 Prospect Place, Madison, after an illness of several weeks. A fitting obituary for this generous graduate, who loved the University with heart, mind, and soul, and who had a keen, active, helpful interest in all activities of the General Alumni Association, is to be written by President E. A. Birge for publication in the next issue of the MAGAZINE. With personal sorrow the officers of the Alumni Association extend condolences to relatives of our great alumnus.

PUBLIUS V. LAWSON, '78, died suddenly at his home in Menasha, on Dec. 1. Mr. Lawson was a member of the 1917 session of the Wisconsin legislature. He has been three times mayor of Menasha, and was president of the Menasha Wood Split Pulley Co. At the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Historical Society in November Mr. Lawson was chosen curator of the society. He is the author of several books dealing with Wisconsin history and was a prominent figure in education and political circles in the state.

CHARLES ROUNTREE EVANS, '81, Dean of the Chattanooga College of Law, died at the home of his brother, H. K. Evans, on Oct. 3. Death was caused by heart trouble which appears to have developed after an attack of "flu" a couple of years ago.

In addition to being a highly esteemed citizen, an able lawyer and scholar, a fluent writer, and a well-known politician, Judge Evans was a distinguished soldier, having obtained a majority during the Spanish-American war. Major Evans was born April, 1859, at Plattsburg, Pa. He entered the University from Platteville.

The Chattanooga News of Oct. 3 gave him the tribute of an obituary filling three columns, a double column picture, and a half page editorial. (In addition to the B.A. degree received in 1881 Mr. Evans was awarded a honorary M.A. degree here in 1907.)

Among surviving relatives is Mrs. Mary E. Mason, '92, of Evanston, Ill.

MARY CARLTON WASMANSDORFF, '96, wife of O. F. Wasmansdorff, '00, of Lewistown, Mont., died on Sept. 26, at Santa Barbara, Calif., where she had gone because of ill health. Mrs. Wasmansdorff was born in Wauwatosa on Oct. 7, 1873. She was very active in the work of women's organizations in Lewistown. Besides her husband, who is one of the best known architects in Lewistown, she is survived by three children.

Word has been received of the death of ARNOLD E. BROENNIMAN, '97, New York City, on May 29, in Watertown.

Morning Glories and the Elephant

By W. D. RICHARDSON, ex'10

I have harped on this subject so much that it may perhaps have become a panacea with me but just the same it is a fact that the Wilsonian interpretation of rules at Wisconsin has made it doubly difficult for Wisconsin's coaches to accomplish what they might have accomplished and what every Wisconsin alumnus wants them to accomplish. Not for a minute do I advocate an evasion of the rules. I am not seeking evasion of rules but a more liberal interpretation of rules. Take the case in question—the man who was kept out of the Drake Relays because it so happened that the relays came on the same day that “con” exams were given. Would it have been a state prison offense to have allowed this man—I don't know who he was—to take his examination a day or so earlier? If this man succeeded in passing his examination then it was a downright shame that he was kept out of the meet. There is no conference rule that I know of that prescribes when condition examinations are to be given. That's a rule that each university determines for itself. Our regulations regarding "con" examinations are fundamentally wrong anyway—and in discussing "con" exams I speak both with authority and with feeling for, like Frank Bacon in "Lightning," I know all about them—or should, because I took enough of them. If a man receives a condition in February, he is obliged to wait until May before he is allowed an opportunity to write it off—thus giving him plenty of time to forget all about the subject. It would seem sensible at least to give him an opportunity to write off his condition within one month. Then he would have a fighting chance, at least. I know that this suggestion will meet with the unanimous approval of the faculty for I know the faculty!

So much for the "con" exams! I'm glad I'm done with them because if there was anything in the world—and the only thing in the world—that tended to make me dissatisfied with college life, it was these same pesky things.

When I was at Wisconsin there was another thing that operated against successful athletics and football in particular and that was the inability of the coaches to have the services of the men at their disposal at a reasonable hour in the afternoon. That was particularly true of candidates who were enrolled in the College of Agriculture. During Juneau's regime as head coach it was at times impossible to assemble the first eleven on more than two days a week because some of the men were "Ags." Out in the "Ag" college they don't seem ever to have heard of the Eight-Hour Day! I can see why it is necessary for an "agric" to be on the job early in the morning but why he can't get off between four and six is beyond me. It is utterly impossible in the short span of the football season for a coach to turn out a well-drilled team unless he has the services of his men at least two hours a day during the season. And some means should be taken to secure for him that co-operation. It should be given willingly—even at the expense of some inconvenience to the members of the "Ag" faculty.

Of course, it is a well-known fact that there has not been a Law School student on the athletic team since the days of "Biddy" Rogers. No; perish the thought or the mere thinking of the thought! A man taking law should not stoop so low as to even think of engaging in athletics. He should spend his spare moments—all of them—communing with Mr. Blackstone! Exercise? Well, seems to insist the powers that be at the little red schoolhouse, carrying a few of those ponderous volumes up and down the Hill will suffice!

I hope that the day will come when the faculty will discard its medieval theories regarding athletics and give them a chance to thrive. Not only that but take part in them. I honestly believe that it would do a lot of the faculty men a lot of good to go in for athletics. I believe it would make them even more efficient in their teaching. And I hope the day will come when the position of Director of Athletics will be looked upon as of equal importance with the head of any college for I know that his opportunity for shaping the careers of young men is greater than that offered the dean of any college. As a matter of fact—and the ultimate in wishes—I should some day like to see a combination office—Dean of Men and Director of Athletics! The way to approach a man, they say, is—not via his stomach but via his heart and the hearts of most college men are in athletics. I don't mean to Ouija-up that ancient but honorable and perhaps slightly overworked athletic heart that the doctors tell us so much about—or have, in connection with rowing. I mean a Healthy Athletic Heart!

"CARRY ON," SEVENTEENERS!

The time has arrived when we must start the ball rolling for our reunion in 1922. It is desirable that a class directory be compiled and material secured for an issue of our class paper. Therefore, let every member get busy and send without delay the following information to J. H. March, 9903 Pierpont Ave., Cleveland, O.

Your name, address, present occupation, and any other remarks concerning yourself or other seventeeners which will be of interest to the members of the class.

The class of 1917, undoubtedly, ranks first among all other classes in regard to representation in the World War, and because of this fact, there should be a wealth of material for the next issue of our paper.

Get busy and start something! Eventually, why not now!

Harry Bullis,
General Reunion Chairman.

BOOK NOTES

First Aid to the Stockman (Circular 128 of the Extension Division) by B. A. Beach and F. B. Hadley.

The Trend of the Teens, a 12 mo. cloth of 281 pages (Drake & Co.), is the second of the series of four volumes prepared for the Parents' Library by Prof. M. V. O'Shea.

The preface reminds readers "that the aim has been to make the discussion intelligible and practical by presenting typical traits of childhood as exhibited in the ordinary situations of daily life."

The nine chapters cover the following topics:—The Crucial Age, Boy Problems, Girl Problems, When the Tender Passion Appears, Distractions in American Life, Role of the Father in the Training of Youth, The Government of Youth, Questions Frequently asked by Parents and Teachers, and Books for Parents.

In addition to an attractive frontispiece, there are six other illustrations, two of activities for girls, two for boys, and two for boys and girls.

Not only is the volume valuable for reference, but readers will find the entire volume of sufficient general interest to command close attention.

The Frontier in American History, (Henry Holt & Co.), by Frederick Jackson Turner, '84, professor of history at Harvard, is an exceedingly valuable collection of special occasion essays and papers written between 1893 and 1920.

Students of history are given new viewpoints by this volume, and all interested in politics, government, and American life, receive clear interpretations of many fundamental activities and policies. The essays all contain optimistic assurance that the sturdy traits of American character, as developed by the stern frontier conditions, will permanently influence our great democracy. Seldom will one find in a volume of about 350 pages so much interesting information of such great current value expressed in such a commanding and charming style. No reader of the book can doubt that the author himself typifies "the courageous creative American spirit" which is necessarily the main theme of this collection of thirteen essays dealing with the frontier.

NATIONAL ADVERTISING

To develop national advertising in college alumni magazines, the Alumni Magazines held a national meeting in New York City on Dec. 3. University of Wisconsin Alumni were represented by R. S. Crawford, secretary of the Badger Alumni Association, editor of the WISCONSIN ALUMNI MAGAZINE, and vice-president of the national organization.

The alumni magazines of many colleges and universities are represented in the Alumni Magazines Associated and they present a guaranteed circulation of more than 150,000. Already seven national advertisers have signed contracts with the association. The contracts are let on the basis of $5 per page per thousand circulation.—U. W. Press Bulletin.

CAMPUS NOTES

Speakers from representative parts of Wisconsin delivered addresses at the Pilgrim Tercentenary commemoration banquet held in Madison on Dec. 9, under the auspices of the University and the State Historical Society. All lineal descendants of Mayflower Pilgrims who live in Madison were guests at the banquet. President E. A. Birge acted as toastmaster. Among the speakers were: Mrs. M. B. Rosenberry, Madison, Karl Mathie, Wausau, Thomas Priestly, '01, Mineral Point, Governor E. L. Philipp, and Governor-elect J. J. Blaine. A convocation held in the afternoon was addressed by Rev. Samuel McChord Crothers, of Cambridge, Mass.

Business studies are the most popular of the many correspondence courses offered by the Extension Division. Of the total of 20,116 active correspondence students enrolled during the last year, 6,896, or about one-third, pursued business, vocational or commercial courses, according to figures just prepared. This was an increase of over 2,000 over the preceding year.

Prof. G. C. Sellery, dean of the College of Letters and Science, represented the University at the annual meeting of the National Association of State Universities held in Washington, D. C.

More than 3,600 reels of motion picture films are included in the collection owned by the Bureau of Visual Instruction and available to the people of the State. Thirteen State film circuits have now been organized to meet the demand for films from schools, churches, woman's clubs, and other organizations throughout the State. About 400 motion picture machines have been purchased by various organizations for non-theatrical purposes and, according to a survey recently conducted, of these, about 95 per cent use films and slides procured through the Extension Division bureau. During the past two years the demand for films of a different type has made it advisable for the bureau to include a rental service whereby it also secures for the people of the State films and slides from large film companies. W. H. Dudley, chief of the bureau, has, during the past two years, paid visits to the extension divisions of twelve of the largest universities in the West, giving lectures on visual instruction, with the result that nine of these extension divisions are using plans modeled after the Wisconsin plan.

Mr. T. E. Brittingham recently purchased for the University the Pietro bust of the late President C. R. Van Hise. This latest generosity on the part of Mr. Brittingham was done in his usual modest manner. Few about the University knew of the kind act until the bust arrived, and all too few even now know who made possible the placing of this bust of our revered President in the Library.

The Wisconsin Library School has 28 students enrolled this year. The school is one of the leading library schools in the United States and attracts students from practically every state. Since the beginning of the course in 1905, 420 students have been graduated.

Sophomore honors were announced recently by the College of Letters and Science. High honors were awarded to eight sophomores and honors to 38.

A 40-foot ski jump is being built on the campus by fifteen Norwegian students in preparation of exhibitions and tournaments this winter. The Badger Ski Club has recruited many new members, who hope to compete with the ski jumpers from Norway. The leader of the Norwegian ski jumpers is Hans Gude, member of the football squad, and Sverre Strom is a jumper who won honors last winter after Mr. Gude was injured.

The total enrollment in the short course in agriculture this year is 294, 164 of whom are in the first year and 130 in the second. Two women are entered—one of them is preparing to take up cow testing work and the other is taking the regular course.

Professor Victor Lenher, of the Chemistry Department, has been chosen as a member of the advisory committee established by the Smithsonian institution, Washington, to be concerned with the collection of chemical types. The collection was undertaken by the National Museum under the will of Morris Loeb of New York, who left a fund to the American Chemical Society for chemical research work.

The First Regimental Band, once more on a pre-war basis, presented its first concert of the season on Dec. 12. Major E. W. Morphy is the conductor.

A graduate of the Wisconsin Library School, Miss Mona Nyhuus, holds the position of assistant librarian in the library of the League of Nations at Geneva. She was offered this position when she returned to her home in Norway after completing the course in the school here.

Many foreign students of the University will occupy their time during Christmas vacation making after-dinner speeches before the Rotary clubs of the State. They will talk on conditions, customs, and life in general in their native countries.

Prof. W. S. Miller, of the Department of Anatomy, has recently been given the honorary degree of doctor of science by the U. of Cincinnati. This is the highest degree conferred upon men of science. The degree is in part a recognition of Doctor Miller's research work in the histology and anatomy of the lung.

The University sent ten representatives from four campus publications to the State Intercollegiate Press Association convention in Milwaukee recently. Two normal schools and 12 colleges were represented by 65 delegates.

The President's Guard is being organized at Wisconsin to present to the University at large a more tangible representation of the spirit of the R. O. T. C. and to outwardly manifest the honor and high esteem in which the members of the University cadet corps hold President E. A. Birge. Formal presentation of the guard to President Birge will take place at the military ball, April 8.

Three South African youths are among the new students from foreign countries who have come to the University this year. All are studying agriculture.

Fifty county farm agents met at Agricultural Hall in November for their annual conference. Associated with them were the home demonstration workers and the State extension workers.

Lorado Taft, famous sculptor, gave a public address in Bascom Hall recently.

A. H. Labisky, who has been purchasing agent for the University for five years, has recently resigned to become purchasing agent for the Northern Paper Mills at Green Bay.

Forty-six states are represented at the University this year, Nevada and Rhode Island being the only states from which no students are enrolled. There are 23 students from the District of Columbia. Wisconsin supplies 4,998 of the total number, 7004. From the Pacific coast come 31 students, while from the Atlantic seaboard there are 145, of which 46 are from the state of New York. There are 118 students from the south, and from Texas alone come 21. From the west there are 88, of which 28 are from Montana. The bulk of the University enrollment comes from the central states, 559 from Illinois, 198 from Iowa, 157 from Indiana, 115 from Minnesota, and 108 from Michigan. There are 114 foreign students coming from 22 different countries.

The Varsity Jamboree will be held in Lathrop Hall on Jan. 15.

The University Symphony orchestra, composed of 35 members under the direction of Prof. E. W. Morphy, gave the first of a series of concerts in Music Hall on Dec. 14.

Co-eds proved better students than the men during the past school year. Non-sorority women had higher averages than sorority women and non-fraternity men had higher averages than fraternity men, according to the annual scholastic averages just issued.

COLGATE'S "HANDY GRIP" The Refill Shaving Stick

Like putting a new blade
in your razor

FASTENING the "Refill" Shaving Stick into your Colgate "Handy Grip" takes but a moment. It is like putting a new blade in your razor. The soap itself is threaded.

Your "Handy Grip" will last for years. Colgate "Refill" Shaving Sticks cost you the price of the excellent soap alone.

Shaving with Colgate's makes it unnecessary to rub the fragrant, softening lather in with the fingers.

We took the rub out of shaving, originally, away back in 1903.
