SEASON TICKETS TO BE REMOVED FROM SALE SOON

Union Board Reports Unusually Large Number Sold This Year

The sale of season tickets for the 1922-23 Union Board concerts ends the first of this week, and persons desiring tickets for the concerts will be able to secure them only by buying tickets for each separate number, after that time. The sale for this year has been unusually large, and record-breaking crowds are expected at each number of the series.

The Russian violinist Mischa Elman, who gives the first of the three concerts on the evening of November 1, is now at the height of his career, and is playing to packed houses throughout the country.

The Spanish cellist Pablo Casals, said to be the most prominent cellist of the day, was received with enthusiasm by Madison audience a year ago. He is called the greatest musician on the modern concert stage by critics of classical music.

Reinart Werrenrath, baritone, is the sole artist of the series who has made no previous appearance in Madison. He has a nationwide reputation as the leading American baritone.

Frosh to Meet Sophs In Bag Rush Oct. 14

Gus Tebell, speaking for the Athletic board, announced yesterday that the annual class rush between the sophomores and the freshmen will be held on the lower campus at one p. m., Saturday, October 14, an hour before the Wisconsin-South Dakota football game. A bag rush similar to last year's event, is planned. Policemen recruited from the upperclassmen will be organized several days preceding the affair to prevent the usual freshman abductions to Middleton or any unfair tactics during the rush. The Athletic board will meet soon to appoint these officers and to complete its plans.

WOMEN GRADS OPEN NEW CLUB

House on Carroll Street To Be Home of New Organization

The opening during the coming week of the club house for women graduate students and university women at 420 North Carroll street, was announced late last night. The house is made possible by the support given the plan by the American Association of university women.

At a tea given Saturday afternoon by Dean Nardin she told of the plans for the club house as headquarters for the association and for women graduate students. While the present home will be rented it will be possible to buy the property if it is decided upon as a permanent location.

When the plan was first conceived the club was to be of benefit for graduate students only. However, the A. A. U. W. having needs somewhat similar, was invited to cooperate.

Following the meeting Dean Nardin, as president, appointed a representative committee to take immediate charge of opening the house. The committee includes: Miss Sarah Hogg and Miss Olga Halsey, graduate students, Miss F. Louise Nardin, and Mrs. M. B. Rosenberry as chairman.

4C Gives $10 in Meals For the First Touchdown

Miss Vera Spinney, manager of the "4C" Cafeteria and a graduate of the department of home economics of the university is going to give $10 in meals free, at the "4C" cafeteria to the man on the varsity football team who carries the ball across the goal line for the first touchdown of the season in the game with Carlton college here on October 7.

WILL ISSUE LAW REVIEW TITLE PAGE

A title page for the eight numbers of Volume I of the Wisconsin Law Review has been prepared recently for the convenience of those who wish to preserve them in bound form. The title page is in type and will be sent out with the first Number of Volume II, which is due Oct. 1. It will be issued separately so that it may be put at the front of the bound volume.

A complete index to the eight numbers appeared in the back of the last number of Volume I, July 1922. It includes a table of leading articles by men prominent in the practice and teaching of law, and an index to notes on recent cases by the students of law school.

The Review has been published quarterly during the last two years by the faculty and students of the University of Wisconsin law school. It deals primarily with Wisconsin law and with such questions of general law as are of especial interest to the bench and bar of Wisconsin.

The compact size of the eight numbers when bound with the title page and index will make a volume which will be convenient for reference.

BAND TO HAVE BIG YEAR, SAYS PLAYERS' HEAD

Major Morphy Plans Second Band For Frosh Musicians

The number of former band members returning to play in the University bands is unusually large this year, according to Major E. W. Morphy, leader.

The records made by the university bands of recent years have placed them among the outstanding musical organizations in the field of non-professional band players, and the return of many of the best players to play in this season's bands insures a quality of performance even superior to those of the past, he said yesterday.

Organize New Unit

The university bands this year will number three instead of two as in the past. The first, or concert band and the reserve band will be as formerly, and in addition Major Morphy has organized a second band, made up almost exclusively of freshmen. The second organization will receive intensive training, their work for the year being largely in the nature of instructions to prepare them for promotion.

Played at Welcome

The Concert band is made up almost entirely of juniors and seniors many of whom are returned members of last year's bands. This group played at the Varsity Welcome.

Major Morphy has this band already at work upon the material for its winter concert series. It consists of 60 men.

GREEN BUTTON TO HOLD FIRST MEET

Green Button, freshman women's organization, will hold its first meeting next Tuesday evening at 7:30 in the concert room of Lathrop hall under the direction of Cleo Parsely '23, president of S. G. A.

Nominations for the officers of Green Button for this year will be made from the floor and a recommendation for each office will be given by the nominating committee composed of the president of S. G. A., the chairman of the junior advisory system, last year's president of Green Button, and some other woman prominent in campus activities.

Green Button pins will be sold at the meeting by Red Gauntlet, sophomore women's organization, under the direction of Elizabeth Tompkins.

Dean F. Louise Nardin will talk to the women on Wisconsin's ideals and the attitude which they should have towards the university in maintaining these ideals. Mrs. Flett, the new dean of freshman women, will also address the meeting. Ima Winchell, part time secretary of the S. G. A. will tell the ways in which she and S. G. A. as a whole may be of benefit to freshmen. To stimulate interest in campus organizations an explanation will be made of the ways in which a freshman can take part in each of these. A welcome from last year's Green Button will be given by Mary Devine, president of the society. Attendance at the meeting will be compulsory and roll will be taken.

First Glee Club Meeting Will Be Held On Monday

The Girl's Glee club will hold its first meeting at 4:30 Monday afternoon in Music hall. Complete plans for the year will be made. Membership in the club is limited to 40 students. A definite date for try outs will be set. According to Marion Mosel '23, president, preparations will be made to present "King Rene's Daughter" and other short selections, directly after the Christmas holidays. The Glee club anticipates a very active season.

Union Board Plans Three Convocations

Union board has announced as a new feature of its activities a series of three or more university convocations throughout the year. Noted men from various sections of the United States will speak. All plans have not yet been formulated, but it is definitely stated that William Allen White of Kansas, noted for his humorous war adventures, and the recent fray with his friend, Gov. H. J. Allen, will be a speaker. The attempt is being made to obtain former Federal Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, and J. Hamilton Lewis, former senator from Illinois of "The Expert Kidder" fame.

MUSIC PRICES ARE NOW FIXED

Thompson and Committee Agree On Terms For Orchestras

An extended campaign to lower orchestra prices for social functions given by university organizations came to a close yesterday morning when A. S. Thompson, orchestra agent, signed an agreement meeting the demands of Inter-fraternity council and Pan-Hellenic association, Dean S. H. Goodnight announced last night.

The agreement which is on file in the dean's office and which may be seen by representatives of any organization contains the personnel of seven of Thompson's orchestras. Three are listed at $50, one at $48, one at $47, one at $45, and one at $40.

The agreement also contains the names of 30 individual musicians listed at prices ranging from $7 to $10, from which three, four or five piece orchestras may be obtained. None of these orchestras is to cost more than $45. Joseph Boyd has also agreed to this arrangement.

The orchestra charge for one o'clock parties will not exceed more than one third of the regular listed prices of the group, the agreement states. This does not include the extra musicians who play during the dinners.

Attorney Glen Stevens and Clarence Delaney were present with Thompson at the meeting which took place in Dean Goodnight's office. The student committee consisted of Miss Edith Jackson '24, Lloyd Brown, '23, Sherman Green '22 and Edward Hooker '23.

Negotiations to lower orchestra prices in Madison were started last February when Dean Goodnight sent a questionnaire to all student organizations asking for their opinions on the situation. Walter Dorth '22 president of the Inter-fraternity council was authorized in June to attempt to reach some agreement with the orchestra heads, but nothing definite was reached until the council and Pan-Hellenic association voted last week to boycott Thompson until the prices were lowered to the desired level.

Dean Goodnight yesterday expressed his appreciation of the work done by the committee to bring about the agreement between Thompson and the organizations.

Graduate Club to Give Party at Lathrop Friday

The Graduate club will hold the first party of the year at Lathrop gymnasium, Friday October 6, at 8:30. Members of the faculty graduate committee will be present, and there will be a short program and dancing.

The club holds parties about once a month during the year, and a cafeteria supper every Monday evening in the S. G. A. room at Lathrop hall. Nearly all states and foreign countries are represented in the club.

WEATHER: FAIR

Generally fair weather is predicted for Madison and vicinity today and tomorrow. Not much change in temperature is expected.

PLEDGE LIST OF SORORITIES OUT THIS AFTERNOON

Names This Year Will Be Withheld From Publication

Approximately 250 university women at 5 o'clock this afternoon will be pledged by the 20 social sororities here.

Rushing ended Friday night when the sororities entertained at formal dinner-dances. All day yesterday and today until 5 o'clock this afternoon "silence" has been maintained both by sororities and by the rushees.

Sororities List Choices

At 9 o'clock yesterday morning every sorority sent in a list of its choices to F. Louise Nardin, Dean of women.

Preference slips were sent by Dean Nardin to the rushees at noon

Pan-Hellenic association has requested all newspapers and news agencies to cooperate this year in not publishing the sorority pledge list.

This action is taken in the hope of removing any possible criticism by parents and others as to the undue emphasis placed on sorority affairs through such publicity.

Where errors occur or names for other reasons are not on the lists it has been found to work a hardship upon young women in the university and in their home cities where notices have been taken from The Cardinal and published by the home papers.

It is the intention of the organization to do all in its power to avoid this situation.

It is with the deepest appreciation that Pan-Hellenic receives the consent of The Cardinal in helping it to explain and to carry out its ideas.

EARLY DIRECTOR OF THE SCHOOL OF MUSIC DIES

Dr. Louis C. Coerne Was On Faculty For Five Years

Dr. Louis E. Coerne, director of the School of Music and Professor of history and science of music at the university from 1910 to 1915, died suddenly in Boston, September 11, according to word received here Saturday. In addition to his work at the university, he acted as organist and choir-master at the First Congregational church and as director of the Madison Maennerchor.

Since leaving the university, Dr. Coerne has been head of the music department of Connecticut Woman's College at New London, Conn., and has acted as musical critic for the Oliver Ditson Music publishing house Boston. He has continued his own compositions and is known to the music world as a prolific and versatile composer of music of high order. He composed 182 musical works.

Dr. Coerne was born in Newark, N. J. February 27, 1870.

He was a graduate of Harvard, receiving the degree of doctor of philosophy in 1905, and presenting as his doctor's thesis the "Evolution of Modern Orchestration."

This was the first instance of the bestowal of that degree at Harvard for specific work in music. He was also graduated from the Royal Academy of Music, Munich, and studied under several famous musicians. He was a member of two honorary fraternities, Phi Alpha Pi and Adelpheic.

BUTLER LEAVES FORESTRY LAB

Redwood Association Sends $5,000 For Study of Wood Uses

Ovid Butler, formerly assistant director of the Forest Products laboratory, has been appointed forester of the American Forestry association and has left the laboratories here to assume the task of directing the Washington offices of the association. Mr. Butler's position has not been filled.

The Forest Products laboratory recently received $5,000 from the California Redwood association as a co-operative fund to make a special study of redwood.

The fund will be used almost entirely in the wood-using field and personal investigations, questionnaires and other methods will be used to seek out all the present uses to which redwood is being put.

Several new machines have been installed at the laboratories this year. One machine is especially designed for box testing.

The box is placed on a table-like structure, the top of which moves the box and observations are made to the motion of a box-car. A 320 pound weight is placed on top of the box and observations are made as to how long the box can hold out under these conditions.

A new machine which greatly simplifies testing woods for toughness has been installed in the timber mechanics section. There also have been several additions to the timber preservation department.

The method used for testing boxes for drops, which has been in use for several years, has proved very efficient, according to officials. The boxes are placed in a huge revolving drum which weighs 25 tons and is about 18 feet in diameter.

The box, sliding around and bumping from side to side as the drum revolves, receives must the same treatment that it would sliding around in a box car, being rolled, and dropped or thrown about by baggage men.

The wheel makes one revolution a minute and the box receives six several reviews and "Popular and Unpopular Activities of the Federal Reserve Banks" which was published in the Annals of the American Academy of Political and Social Science.

Publish Articles

Miss A. B. Ernst, Professor F. Bruns, and Prof. B. Q. Morgan of the German department had books on articles published during the past year. Prof. E. M. Terry has written a book which will be released in a few days entitled "Electricity and Magnetism - Advanced Laboratory practice for Engineers". The book is the outgrowth of Professor Terry's manual which is used at the university.

"Better Speech" by Prof. A. T. Weaver in collaboration with Dr. C. H. Wolbert, and "Dialects for Oral Interpretation" by Prof. Gertrude E. Johnson were the published work of the members of the department of speech.

Among the books by members of the geology department are "Physiographic Diagrams of U. S." small scale edition by Prof. A. K. Lobeck and "High School Geography" by Prof. R. H. Whitbeck.

Prepares Book

Among those who are working on new books are, Prof. W. F. Roo who is preparing a book called "Colonial Beginnings", Prof. M. Maso and Prof. Warren Weaver are preparing "Theory of Electricity" Prof. F. A. Ogg is working on "Government and Politics of the British Empire", and Prof. W. G. Bleyer is revising his "Newspaper Writing and Editing" and is writing a new book entitled "History of American Journalism."

Mrs. Harry Gorman, Cincinnati, O., was severely cut about the head and arms in an auto crash east of Madison at 6 p. m. Saturday evening. Her husband escaped uninjured. They were returning to their home in Ohio after touring in the west.

Drops each revolution. In this way it is comparatively easy to determine the amount of time and the length of journey that a box will be able to endure, according to directors of the laboratory.

SORORITY PLEDGE LIST OUT TODAY

woman was privileged to record the names of the three sororities she most desired to join, stating her first, second and third choices. office by 9 o'clock last night.

Issue Lists at 12:30

On the preference slips every Dean Nardin and her assistants this morning will compare the sorority choice lists with the preference slips of the rushees. The final pledge list will be compiled from cases where the choices tally with the preferences.

Representatives of the sororities will secure copies of the pledge list at the dean of women's office this noon and the sororities will send written bids to the rushees at 12:30 o'clock.

Names are Withheld

Women receiving bids will report at their respective sorority houses at 5 o'clock this afternoon and will be pledged officially by the various chapters.

Pan-Hellenic association, inter-sorority organization yesterday requested that the sorority pledge list this year be withheld from publication "in the hope of removing any possible criticism by parents and others as to undue emphasis placed on sorority affairs through such publicity."

In accord with the request of the association, The Cardinal, for the first time in several years, will not publish the list of sorority pledges.

The Cardinal Cooperates

Although, in its relative importance as a news story, such a list is perhaps second to no other event of the academic year, The Cardinal feels that cooperation with the association in its experiment is even more important than would be publication of the pledge list.

If it is true that in the former years announcement of the pledges through the press "has been found to work a hardship upon young women in the university and in their home cities," the staff of The Cardinal this year will feel justified in its action in suppressing the sorority pledge list.

NEWS OF CONFERENCE SPORTS

RICHARDS GIVES ALL A WORKOUT IN SIGNAL DRILL

Players Hit Dummies While Tackling and Blocking

Everybody got a chance to work with the Varsity during the daily football practice held yesterday afternoon on the Randall practice field. Coach John R. Richards again dispensed with scrimmage and had the team running through signals.

Prospective regulars were given their opportunity on the regular field. Coach John R. Richards again see how second string men looked with the first-string eleven. After the drill, the men hit the dummies in tackling and blocking practice.

Possibility of Changes

Scrimmaging will begin again next week in dead earnest with the team putting in every bit of effort to get into condition for the scrap with Carleton college on Saturday. Although most of the positions appear to be cinched by their present incumbents, at least temporarily, there is still a possibility that radical changes will be made before the preliminary season has been completed.

Nichols Is New Man

Some of the men who have not been under fire will experience the acid test against Carleton. This is Nichols' first year of Varsity football. Although he reported for the squad last year, he did not show enough to gain a regular job. Pearce and Teckmeyer, other candidates for center, are also inexperienced in the ways of Big Ten football. Neither has played in a Conference game, Teckmeyer having come up from the 1921 freshman squad and Pearce playing a secondary role to George Bunge last year.

Veterans on Squad

The remainder of the line is composed of veterans. Hohlfeld and Christianson, guards, got their first taste of Conference football during the season past. They both held regular jobs in the forward wall. Below returns to the fold after an absence of several years. He played on the Badger S. A. T. C. eleven in 1918, then was a member of the Oshkosh Normal team for two years. Below played with the Wisconsin All-Americans under the guidance of Coach Guy S. Lowman last season, and is ready to hit the line again for his second season of Big Ten competition. Jab Murray, who appears to have the edge on the other tackle, is a newcomer in Big Ten football circles. Murray has shown that he knows the game and he will undoubtedly prove a valuable man this year.

Tebell Is Ready

"Gus" Tebell is ready for the opening whistle in his third season of "big time" battling. Tebell is one of the steadiest ends who has ever played at Wisconsin and he is due for a banner year. Irish and Pulaski, competing for the left wing station, have had much previous experience although not as regular Varsity men here. Pulaski played with the frosh in 1921 and with St. John's Military academy before that. Irish came originally from Lawrence college and was on

The backfield is composed of veterans, "Shorty" Barr, Capt. Williams, and Gibson, with Taft, the only man who has not played in a Conference game. Although this group of men has not been definitely assigned to the Wisconsin Varsity team, it is the outfit which has had the call in early season scrimmages and which will probably work against Carleton—unless unforeseen occurrences necessitate transfers.

Carleton made a good showing against St. Mary's college at Northfield, Minn., yesterday. In addition to Wisconsin, the collegians play Gustavus Adolphus college, Knox college, St. Olaf's, M. A. Lester, and Hamline. St. Olaf's will furnish the entertainment for homecoming at Northfield on Oct. 29th.

"BEAT YALE!" IS CRY AT CARNEGIE AS TECH ELEVEN SWINGS INTO ACTION

Remarkable action note of Capt. Jimmy Anderson of Carnegie Tech.

Carnegie Tech's football eleven hopes to open its 1922 season with nothing less than a victory over the Bulldog. The Tech boys face Yale September 30 in the Yale bowl and hope to give the Bulldog his first setback.

Carnegie students and grads are looking to Capt. Jimmy Anderson to play a big part in the contest. Anderson was ranked as one of the leading players in the east last year. His punting was a feature of the team's games last fall and is expected to add power to Carnegie's defense and attack this fall.

"Watch Carnegie!" is the cry.

FROSH QUARTER DISPLAYS GREAT FORM SATURDAY

Williams Gives Brilliant Exhibition of Kicking and Generalship

Quarterback Williams, playing on the frosh squad displayed rare class and form in the scrimmage at Randall field Saturday afternoon. By his brilliant open field running, his line plunging, and his generalship; he appears to be a long looked for combination and a good bet for near future Varsity material. The stalwart Sioux City Iowa, youth has the open field style of his namesake "Rollie" Williams and the good right leg of Guy Sundt.

The first and second teams fought savagely for every inch of ground gained. The first squad worked the ball to within scoring distance several times only to be held for downs, and succeeded in making a goal only once during the practice. Several new men were used for the first time, but no outstanding talent was observed among them.

Nelson right end from Superior is still holding down that position and is getting into good shape. Nelson, Poehlman and Coleman, two halves, and Williams seem likely to remain at their respective places. The rest of the first string looks due for several shake-ups, especially the left side of the line which showed only mediocre strength in scrimmage. Williams had great difficulty in punting because of second squad men breaking through the left wing. A fullback has not yet been found. The men who tried out last night were poor in offensive work, failing especially to pick holes.

Last Year's Haresfoot Scores on Sale Oct. 4

Scores of last year's Haresfoot show will be sold on the hill and in campus buildings Wednesday, Oct. 4, for 50 cents. A few more than two hundred scores were left from last year's sale and all of these will be disposed of at the cost price.

Sidney Thorsen '24, has charge of the sale. He has arranged to have the books sold at the gymnasium, the Y. M. C. A., Lathrop hall, Bascom hall, Biology building and Sterling hall.

In addition to fourteen songs with complete lyrics the book contains a complete history of the dramatic club, and the story of the making of the 1922 production, "Kitty Corner." Some of the favorite songs of the show are in the score are "Romancing," "Softly and Low," "Vamping," and "Waiter Blues."

TENNIS TRYOUTS FOR FROSH ARE HALF FINISHED

Good Talent Looms Up For Matches in Spite of Rain

In spite of the fact that the Frosh tennis tournament started last Thursday, only a little more than half of the initial games have been played. The rainy weather is no doubt responsible for the fact that the initial try-outs are slowed up.

Boardman Looks Good

Of the talent which the matches disclosed, Dakin Boardman appears the most likely. In his high school days in Oklahoma City, he held for three years the interscholastic championship in the state singles. His easy 6-2, 6-1, win from Land-schutz shows he apparently has not lost the old time wallop.

L. Groenert won easily from L. A. Roddard in two sets, 6-0, 6-0, while Friday had a more difficult time with Wegner, who he finally eliminated in three hard fought sets, 3-6, 6-0, and 6-3.

Four men, T. Riley, Tramonti, Kemp Wells, and Wilson drew the byes while L. P. Robinson survives Weber through default.

Exceptionally good tennis material is showing itself daily as the wearers of the green cap battle for the championship of the class of '26.

U.S. Destroyers Sail for Levant

WASHINGTON—The two destroyer divisions of six destroyers each, ordered to proceed from Norfolk to Constantinople, "for the protection of American interests," will be ready to sail Monday noon, Captain C. M. Tozer, who will command the squadron today notified the navy department.

The destroyers will supplement the American naval forces in European waters which now consist of 12 vessels including eight destroyers and two sub-chasers.

The battleship Ntah, flagship of the European squadron now is en route to Gibraltar with Vice Admiral A. T. Long on board.

NEW TANK WILL BE READY IN A MONTH

Opening of the swimming tank in the men's gymnasium will take place for nearly a month because the tiling of the tank will not be started until next week.

Eleven of the 41 showers are now in use and more are expected to be ready next week. Locker space has been greatly increased because of the new arrangement of the showers. Lockers will be placed in the space formerly occupied by the old showers.

The new tank will be of a standard size, 60 feet in length, displacing the old 75 foot tank. It will contain all the modern improvements of today.

Move Made to Send Band To Game at Ann Arbor

A movement to send the band to Michigan and Minnesota with the team has been instigated by "Gus" Tuckerman '23. "Let us put all our effort into raising sufficient funds by means of private subscriptions and tag days, to send the band to Minnesota and two weeks later to Michigan," said the cheer leader. T. E. Jones said that if this movement was successful it would be typical of Wisconsin spirit, and encouraging for the team.

"Broadway Rose" Will Be Shown at Parkway

Starting today, the Parkway offers the third super-attraction of the fall season when it presents Mae Murray and Monte Blue in their new and most lavish production "Broadway Rose," direct from its New York showing and the first time shown in this section of the country.

It is a story of Broadway, the most dangerous street in the world and Miss Murray surpasses all her previous efforts in this, her brand new picture. As a special added attraction the Parkway is presenting the first of its winter prologues with special scenery and effects, the first one featuring Miss Constance Penny, a dancer from New York who does a replica of the dance performed by Miss Murray in the picture. The usual Parkway supplementary features will round out this unusually attractive bill.

Next Friday the first musical comedy of the season appears here when the famous Chicago show "For Goodness Sake" will be seen for the one night only. Mail orders are being accepted now and the seat sale will open at the box office Tuesday.

Saturday matinee and night Olga Petrova, comes in person in a Spanish play written by herself called "The White Peacock." Mail orders are now being accepted for this also.

Y. W. Will Hold Open House at Six Tonight

To welcome new girls of the University into its activities, the Y. W. C. A. is holding open house from 6 to 10 Sunday evening October 1, at the apartment of the secretary Miss Mary Anderson, 109 West Gilman street. These gatherings will be repeated every Sunday evening after the vesper services held at Lathrop parlors.

CROSS COUNTRY VARSITY MEN TO RUN SATURDAY

First Contest of 1922 Season With All-Americans

Varsity cross country runners will be opposed next Saturday morning at 10 o'clock by the All-Americans, a squad of ineligible men, in a dual match over the university short course. The meet which will be run over a distance of two and seven-tenths miles is the first Varsity contest for the 1922 season.

Team In Shape

Coach Mead Burke has been training the Varsity squad since the middle of September and has decided that the team is in shape for a preliminary contest. The list of candidates for the hill and dale sport now totals 46, a large number of whom will participate on October 7.

Although the All-American outfit includes some very capable runners, a slight handicap may be given them in order to force the Varsity harriers to exert themselves. The personnel of the All-American team is as follows: Powell, Captain, Sherman, Stewart, Swingle and Lessing.

Sherman Runs Well

Powell has had three years of experience with track and cross country and will be a big asset for the All-Americans. Sherman who made a name for himself in 1920 when a freshman is running exceptionally well this year; he will give many of the Varsity squad a run for their money. Stewart, Swingle, and Lessing are also experienced men.

May Push Leaders

Of the veteran Varsity runners out this year Tschudy, Wade, Ramsay, Moorhead and Schneider are expected to show up well. Other squad men who are apt to push the leaders next Saturday are Val-lery, Perry, Trier, Bergstresser, Paciotti, Link, Williams, Smithyman, Dowling, Lang, Grubb, and Cizon.

The cross country men will have their last practice from the stock pavilion on Monday, at which time pictures will be taken of both the Varsity and freshman squads. After Monday practice will be held from the gymnasium where lockers have been assigned to all men on the squad.

"Bud" Walsh Improving; Will Be Out For Season

The condition of "Bud" Walsh, who is suffering from a dislocated knee received in a scrimmage Friday afternoon, is considerably improved, but it is not expected that he will return to football practice his season, according to a report from the University infirmary today. Walsh has been contending for a position as quarterback on the freshman team.

AFTER THE RUSH

SORORITY rushing is over. Today a nerve-racked multitude of sorority sisters will welcome a nerve-shattered squadron of freshman women. There will be rejoicing, and otherwise.

And now that the season is over, there are certain glaring defects in the system which Pan-Hellenic association should face.

The iron should be struck while it is hot. Defects should be remedied while unfortunate occurrences are remembered.

Sororities have hedged themselves about with a complicated system of rushing and bidding rules, designed to protect themselves and to protect rushees.

In their intent these rules are good, but in their working out they are decidedly imperfect.

The elimination of personal bidding has made it impossible for a freshman to find out important facts about the sororities which rush her.

A system so complicated that few sorority members understand it has caused even greater confusion and misunderstanding among inexperienced freshmen.

In today's editorial we shall suggest no remedies, but merely point out faults that need to be removed.

Mary Jones' Case

MARY Jones is a young woman of high ideals, who has been reared excellently. Delightful little thing, a prize for any sorority. She comes from an excellent family, but her means are limited. She wants to join a sorority.

Today she will affiliate with an organization of which she knows practically nothing.

She has been teared, danced, and informally rushed for a week. She has seen pretty clothes and shown her own. She has conversed about the weather, football, men society, university life. These are imperfect.

But has she heard any talk about sororities from those who know about sororities. She has not.

What does Mary know about the ideals of the sorority to which she will pledge today? Does it stand for anything? Is it a group of frivolous butterflies, or has it a definite conception of developing womanhood in its members? What will be expected of her as a member? Concerning these things she has learned nothing, except by unreliable hearsay and superficial impressions.

What financial obligations will she incur when she pledges today? What will be her sorority dues? What will be the initiation fee? How much will her board cost? How much does the organization owe on its palatial house? Is it vent?

Concerning these facts, which are paramount to a woman of limited means, Mary has received no information.

Susan's Plight.

Susan Brown is a mighty sweet little small-town girl, but rather inexperienced. She's not used to handling herself in a crowd or to meeting lots of people.

A week ago she, with a flock of other freshmen, she attended seven or eight sorority teas in one afternoon. She saw the sorority houses and met, in the confusion, a dozen or so women at each house. There were so many freshmen that she didn't get to meet any sorority members.

Her mind was very much confused when she went home.

During the first part of last week she met small groups of sorority women, members of various organizations. She received several invitations to rushing events, formal and informal.

She could only accept a few of them; it was hard to decide which. She had to eliminate some, but it was hard to choose from what she had seen of them.

She split up Wednesday evening among three sororities, but she could accept only one invitation for the Friday night formal.

Two of the sororities which entertained her Wednesday evening were rather surprised that she did not accept their Friday night invitation. They decided that she didn't like them anyway; so they decided not to bid her.

On Friday night she said something which one of the sorority women didn't like. So she was blackmailed by one woman.

She will not pledge to a sorority today.

—Thinking Needed.

There are many cases like those of Mary and Susan, caused by an impersonal, incomplete, confusing system.

It is in the interest of the sororities and of the university at large that such conditions should be remedied, that the problems of rushing should be solved.

It's time right now for everyone to do some hard thinking. It's time for Pan-Hellenic to think and act.

Few Men Smoke, Is Belief of Picnicers

This is a story of the light that nearly failed. It also proves that training rules are kept.

Fifteen girls believe that they can swear to the fact that the men in Madison do not smoke—that is, not many of them. Here's the reason. The Delta Alpha Mu's, never heard of them?—started out for Picnic Point. Everyone was in high spirits, and "Bosco," the big dog who never misses a picnic, ran on ahead, joyfully anticipating bits of good things he hoped would come his way.

"Of course we have everything," suggested Esther.

"Here are the pickles,—and the cake,—and the buns,—and the weinies, and Oh! Hazel, did you bring the matches?"

"No! What will we do?"

"You'll have to go back," came the emphatic chorus.

"I'll run back to the Stock pavilion. I saw some fellows there, and they will surely have some. Wait for me," she shouted, depositing a tin cup and a bottle of "pop" in the middle of the road, where they were rescued from immediate destruction.

Up the road she sped, and into the building she ran.

But at the stock pavilion she was disappointed. Forty-one members of the track team turned their pockets inside out. One ran upstairs, but failed to get any from the coach. At last, they presented the now thoroughly miserable girl with two matches, all that could be found among them.

Fearing that would not be enough, the girls stopped five machines, and not one of the men had any matches.

Gustorf Submits World's Smallest Doll to Museum

What is thought to be the smallest doll in the world has just been submitted to the examination of C. E. Brown, curator of the State Historical Museum, by Fred Gustorf, a sophomore in the College of Letters and Science.

The doll is less than three-quarters of an inch high, is made of wood and is perfect in every detail. Despite its diminutive size, it is perfectly proportioned and has jointed arms and legs.

Gustorf brought the doll to Mr. Brown carefully encased in what looked like a pillbox, and it was only after close examination that the contents of the box was recognized to be a member of the doll family.

"It is really a very unusual doll," Curator Brown declares, "and its exquisite workmanship leads us to believe that it is of either early Dutch or English origin."

"The arms and legs are so small that it is hard to see them without a lens, but they are even jointed and are free to move. Microscopic wooden pegs hold the joints together."

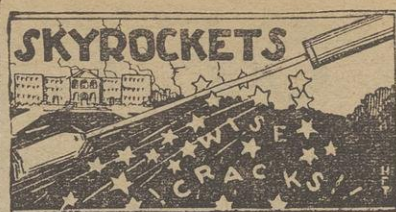

"It isn't a baby doll, but a full grown lady, dressed in a delicate tan silk bodice, with a wide skirt."

The eyes and hair are painted on, and in spite of the doll's unquestionably advanced age, she still looks young.

Curator Brown has not been able to determine whether the doll is of the flapper or the slinker variety.

EDITORIAL

WE had a conference in South hall the other day and as a result, we submit to ambitious contributors the following motto:

Risk not the Risque.

AND WHILE on the subject, we might explain the kind of quips we DON'T want submitted to this col:

"All co-eds who don't smoke will meet tonight in the phone booth of Bascom hall."

"Hub Townsend says he recognizes twice as many girls on his way to classes this year. It all depends on the point of view."

"A co-ed must have quite a wardrobe of minds. She changes so often."

"We've only met 16 Scott Fitzgerald girls this year. Alas, the younger generation is no longer influenced by literature."

"When the smoke had cleared away, 64 sisters and 113 rushees were found to be overcome with gas."

"Yesterday morning the street cleaner found the court littered with false bobs empty (Quelleque Fluor) bottles, hair pins, and pictures of the Theta Prom queens."

THESE ARE only a few samples of what we constantly receive, but they illustrate our point.

THEY all imply frivolity, they misrepresent that noble creature, the Wisconsin co-ed.

Audience, Not Actors, Big American Stage Need,—Miss Anglin

BY HICKMAN POWELL

Attendance at the Parkway was an event for several hundred students yesterday afternoon and evening. For they heard, saw and experienced, a superb symphony, auditory, visual, emotional.

Margaret Anglin, aided by an exceptionally well-cast company, played in "The Woman in Bronze".

The play was one of human agony simple in its symbolism, crushing in its intensity. Behind a screen of triviality, pent-up passion grew and broke forth, punctuated by the quips and cranks of those who did not know.

Perfect in the control of her power, Miss Anglin carried her audience through the whole gaunt of emotion, from flippancy through deep despair to victory, the victory which she knew could only come through suffering. The actress who made Greek tragedy popular made modern drama momentous.

Intense struggle of a sculptor's wife to save her husband's genius formed a channel for a sweeping tide of emotion.

A woman in bronze! A monument to Victory! That was the sculptor's work. But his genius sought inspiration and found degradation in illicit love.

The figure grew, momentous. But where to find the eyes of Victory? They would not come. They were not those of his paramour nor those of his neglected wife.

Despair followed futile search. He smashed the statue, shattered his home.

In a year he returned, broken, penitent. Then the eyes of his wife were the eyes of Victory.

Technically, the production was exquisite. Incidental music properly subdued, intensified scenes already intense. Strange lighting varied with the moods. Every property, every bit of business carried a characterization, a symbolism.

The cast was remarkable for ability and truth to type. The smooth villain of sinister stature; the passionate paramour, dignified in her disgrace; the sympathetic friend, strong in his simplicity; the degraded genius, powerful, powerless,—all these and many others formed perfect points of contact for the work of the star.

The Parkway should be commended for its opening attraction. If the quality of its attractions is maintained, it should be assured of student support.

Through the advice of Carmen, one of Carroll's gang, Parrish has secreted a copy of the treasure map now the Shantung starts in the mad race for gold. Parrish arrives first but his victory is interrupted by Carroll's armed crew. His rescuer, Bessie, is imprisoned on Carroll's ship and Parrish fights his way to the beach, swims to the hostile Calliope and sets the ship afire. MINE RESCUERS ARE MYSTERY TO HILL STUDENTS

Government Men Introduce Courses in First Aid Here

Curiosity has been aroused on the campus by the appearance of a group of men with mysterious packs on their backs.

The mystery is explained by the fact that the mine rescuers department of the bureau of mines of the United States Department of Interior last week was offering a course in first aid and one in mine rescue work. The packs are oxygen breathing equipments.

The staff and its special car are used in actual mine rescue work. When such work is necessary their car is rushed to the scene of disaster as soon as the call comes. At other times they tour the colleges and universities of the country presenting these courses to prospective mining engineers.

Mr. M. B. Orfald, who is in charge of the work here, and his staff arrived in Madison on Monday and left last night having finished both courses here.

The work in first aid is for junior engineers and covers elementary first aid to the injured. The course in mine rescue, open to senior engineers, embraces the fighting of mine fires, opposition to mine gases and instruction in the use of oxygen breathing equipment. Fifteen men are enrolled in the latter course. A government certificate is issued to the student who completes either course.

Grand Has 'Monte Cristo' On This Week's Program

To find oneself lifted from utter poverty, defeat and misfortune, into boundless wealth and consequent power, is something which is certain to delight the average American. This is the theme of "Monte Cristo", the famous tale of romance from Alexandre Dumas, which will be seen as a screen drama at the Grand theatre, starting today.

It is another of the big William Fox productions. It has retained all of the beauty and intrigue of the original story, and the scope of the screen permits the director to show in detail the many exciting incidents in the life of the famous fiction character, Edmond Dantes, who later becomes the count of Monte Cristo. The love theme furnishes the background for the story and the entire story is crowded with dramatic incident.

An all-star cast headed by John

Elbert and Estelle Taylor portray the many difficult parts. Others of note in the cast are: Robert McKim, William V. Mong, Spottiswoode Aitken, Maud George, Renee Adoree, Gaston Glass, and George Eiegmann.

$2 Down Brings This Corona

When you have seen Corona, written on it yourself, lifted it in one hand, compared its work with that of any $100 machine on the market, then pay only $2.00 down and small monthly payments until you have paid $55 in all. Or if convenient, pay $50 cash.

Nearly half a million Coronas now in use

BUSINESS men keep Corona at home and call it their "private secretary." Doctors, lawyers and merchants use it for office work in preference to heavy "standard" typewriters. Clergymen coronatype their sermons—teachers and professors their schedules and papers—students in every university in the land are turning in neater notes and essays since Corona came. Women use Corona for their personal correspondence. Children are learning to do neat, beautiful coronatyping; invalids are finding it a delightful companion for the long, weary hours.

Things you want to know about Corona

1. Corona weighs only 6½ pounds. It folds and is carried in a neat, strong case which is included with each machine.
2. Corona has all the latest improvements, such as visible writing, universal keyboard, two-color ribbon, back spacer, margin release, platen release, shift lock, paper release, marginal stops, etc.

Almost every well-known author, newspaper correspondent, playwright and scenario writer owns a Corona.

The sturdiest of all typewriters

People who do not know, are apt to think that a typewriter weighing only 6½ pounds can't be as strong as a heavy cast-iron machine.

But the fact is that no typewriter in the world has proved itself able to stand the punishment Corona has taken during its 16 years of service.

All through the war, thousands of Coronas were in use on every battle front. Almost every war correspondent carried his Corona.

Small monthly payments

Even though Corona costs only half what you would pay for a big "heavy" machine, you need not pay for it all at once. The small monthly payments of $5 each month will hardly be missed, and, almost before you realize it, Corona will be fully paid for.

And all the time you are paying, you will have the use of Corona—in fact, you can very easily do extra work with this little typewriter which will pay for it several times over!

We are authorized distributors for the Corona Typewriter Company, and we stand behind every Corona we sell. And behind us is the Corona factory which has built and sold nearly half a million Coronas.

Free service to Corona owners

Although a Corona seldom gets out of order you like to feel that you can get service when you need it. At any Corona store you can buy your ribbons, carbon paper, etc., or have any needed adjustment made. Every Corona is warranted and carries with it a year's free service.

Blaine Grants Pardons To 10, Denies 15

Ex-Soldiers Extended Clemency Due to Effects of Service

Executive clemency was extended to 10 applicants for pardon and denied to 15 by Gov. J. J. Blaine today as a result of hearings held before him Sept. 21.

The story of crime led to imprisonment and the mitigating circumstances that brought about a pardon were recounted by the governor in statements accompanying his orders directing officers of state institutions to extend clemency to prisoners whose application for pardon were favorably received.

John May of Wood county, serving 10 years for assault with attempt to rob, will go free under a conditional pardon, as a result of action by the governor. His hearing brought out that he served overseas, had been wounded, and came back to America to find himself without work and without funds. He took an automobile, robbed a bank at Marshfield, and was captured.

Governor Blaine said that "This boy is a victim of the late war and his mental and physical condition is such that he should not be abandoned now."

Governor Will Aid In Park Ceremony

Gov. John J. Blaine, C. L. Harrington, member of the conservation commission, Joseph Schafer of the state historical society and Miss Zona Gale, authoress, will speak at the dedication exercises for the Jenkin Lloyd Jones state park near Spring Green today.

The governor will speak on, "The Jenkin Lloyd Jones of Tower Hill." Mr. Schafer will speak on the history of the hill and Mr. Harrington, on "The Trust and Pledge of the State." Miss Gale's topic will be, "Influence Upon the State, The Nation and All Humanity." Rev. John Faville, Lake Mills, will give the dedication prayer.

The Friends of Our Native Landscape, representatives of the state conservation commission and other Madisonians are planning to go to Tower Hill tomorrow to attend the dedication of the new state park.

Explains Surtax Case To Teachers Here

The case of Van Dyke, taxpayer of Milwaukee, versus W. J. Cary, clerk of Milwaukee county, was explained by R. E. Loveland, chairman of the Annuity Board, at the final meeting of the year of city and county superintendents. The case which has been appealed to the supreme court and will come up early in November, is an action begun by the taxpayers of Milwaukee to restrain the county clerk from paying $300,000 of surtaxes into the state treasury for the state teachers' retirement fund.

City Engineer's Office Is Turned Into Hospital

Pidge had camped in the flower box in front of the office windows since Friday noon waiting to be helped into the building. A ward was immediately put under construction in a sunny corner of the room consisting of an inverted waste paper basket equipped with water and a box of the choicest bird seed to be purchased. First aid treatments were given by Fred Schustedt and Tim Harrington.

Ag Club Lays Plans for Years Activities

Extension work off the campus and Sunday morning meetings and picnics are being planned by the Ag Triangle club for the coming year.

Six play days in country schools have been arranged which include speeches, songs, and games. Each school will be scored, and the highest scored school will receive $5 worth of athletic equipment. Teams of from two to six men will go to the evening meetings of farmer organizations and furnish musical numbers, comic readings, and talks.

Junior Ag Triange clubs, which will be units of the local club, will be organized in Smith-Hughes high schools. Once a year, during the five stock judging week, one representative of the clubs will be brought to Madison. At the regular Sunday morning meetings, officials from the Capital will talk on problems of farm management, marketing problems, and the basis for farmer co-operative organizations.

Sultan Denies His Abdication

CONSTANTINOPLE—In a letter to an intimate friend, the sultan, reports of whose abdication have been in print, declares he will not abdicate. "I shall continue to discharge my holy duties until the end," he wrote. "When the Nationalists enter Constantinople, I shall have something pertinent to say to them. I have done what I believed was to the interests of my country and my people. I have made mistakes but they were human. The Nationalists admit I have been kept a prisoner in Constantinople. Therefore how can I be responsible for the adversity of my people?"

Palace officials say the sultan is firmly resolved to retain his throne. However, should he be forced to abdicate he will be permitted to remain on Turkish soil, it is understood. It is suggested he will be given one of the numerous palaces on the Bosphorus, in one of which his brother, the late Sultan Abdul Hamid, died.

Charity Drive To End At 9 At Mass Meet

May Go Over Quota of $87,000; Flowers, Hall Donated

Twenty four thousand dollars more by tonight is the aim of workers in the Community Union drive.

The final meeting of the team members will be held in the city Y. M. C. A. at 9 o'clock tonight. With subscriptions signed since noon Friday it is hoped to bring the total amount raised in the first days' campaign above the $87,000 mark, the goal of the union.

The money will be used for operating expenses of Madison social and charitable organizations.

"Failure of the drive to reach the goal set means the curtailing of the work of the organizations. Therefore we cannot permit it to fail," said A. C. Larson, chairman of the union finance committee.

The Beavers' organization yesterday notified Mr. Larson that it had donated the use of the Beaver building hall for the four days when noon luncheons were held there. The Rentschler Floral Co. donated the flowers presented to the winning team each day.

HAS AMUNDSEN FAILED IN POLE FLIGHT?

The map and dash line shows the start and proposed destination of Amundsen's flight which was to have carried him over the North Pole.

It is the general belief in scientific circles that Capt. Roald Amundsen, intrepid arctic explorer, has attempted his airplane trip to the North Pole and has failed. His fate is a matter of conjecture. Gottfried Hansen, noted Danish explorer, has been asked by the Norwegian government to undertake a relief expedition. Amundsen planned to take off at Point Barrow, Alaska, and land on the island of Spitzbergen, off the northern coast of Sweden.

Fight Verdict

Stillman Moves To Have Referees Finding Rejected

Counsel for Mr. Stillman received the sweeping adverse verdict, denying him a divorce and clearing Mrs. Stillman of all charges, with one sentence—"I don't think so," uttered by Cornelius J. Sullivan, chief of the banker's legal staff, when he was asked if he had anything to say on the decision. Despite their silence, it was understood that they had resolved on a strenuous fight to have the decision set aside. Within the next few days, when Mrs. Stillman moves to have Supreme Court Justice Joseph S. Morschauser to confirm the referee's finding, Mr. Stillman's lawyers will move to have it rejected. Failing in that they will carry an appeal to the appellate division of the supreme court in Brooklyn.

Tentatively the fight to set aside the decision is scheduled for a week from Saturday at Poughkeepsie before Justice Morschauser. John E. Mack, guardian ad litem for Guy, on Friday asked the judge to hear a motion to confirm the verdict on that date. Through his associates, Col. William Rand and Outerbridge Horsey, Mr. Sullivan at the same time asked that the motion be argued before Supreme Court Justice Arthur Tompkins, sitting at Nyack on the same date.

'Blood and Sand' Showing At Majestic is Thriller

Rodolph Valentino's reputation as a love-maker is well-sustained in "Blood and Sand," his first Paramount starring picture which opens today at the Majestic theatre.

Well differentiated but equally alluring are his scenes with Lila Lee and Nita Naldi, respectively, one a quiet demure type, the other, vivid, exotic, passionate. Mr. Valentino himself is colorful in a variety of costumes showing his rise from a poor Spanish boy to a place as a successful bull-fighter and idol of all Andalusia.

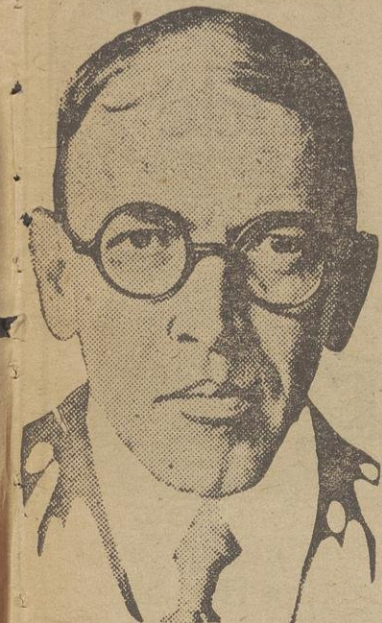

"Blood and Sand," a Fred Niblo production, was adapted from the Vincente Blasco Ibanez novel by June Mathis. Players in the cast who deserve special mention include Walter Long, Rose Rosanova, Leo White, Fred Becker, Charles Belcher, George Field, Dorcar Mathews, Harry Lamont, Jack Winn and Gilbert Clayton.

Thrilling scenes in the Madrid bull-ring, love episodes that "lift them off their seats," touches of pathos that bring an occasional tear to the eye—they're all in "Blood and Sand."

Advise Homes To Conserve Fuel Supply

State Committee Says
People Can Save 40
Million Tons

Conservation of coal is going to be necessary in Wisconsin homes this winter to assure an ample supply of fuel to meet all needs, the state coal committee admonished domestic users in a statement today. The committee outlines suggestions for saving fuel that may be applied in homes.

It urges that soft coal and wood be used in place of hard coal, supplies of which will be meager. Request is made that people refrain from starting their furnaces until as late in the year as possible.

Wasteful lights should be cut out during daylight hours to save coal, the committee says. It advises that soot should be cleaned from pipes, which out to be covered. Sifting the ashes is suggested as a means of saving coal and money.

By raising window curtains during the day, sunlight will furnish free heat, the committee advises, suggesting also that the temperature in homes be maintained at 67 degrees instead of 70.

Estimate is made that domestic users in this country may save 40,000,000 tons of coal by using a shovelfull less three times a day. Saving may be made possible by cooperation of all the people, the committee says.

BIRGE'S LETTERS THANK WORKERS FOR MEMORIAL

Wisconsin Needs Proposed Union as Center For Student Life

President Birge has sent a letter to each of the 50 Memorial Union solicitors in Chicago, expressing the thanks of the university in appreciation of their sacrifice.

The letter follows:
"I am told by your leaders in Chicago that you have accepted appointment as a worker in the undertaking to increase Chicago's contribution to the Memorial Union fund to $100,000 by October 20, and to complete the canvass of all alumni and friends of the university by Homecoming November 11. I want to thank you, in the name of the university, for your loyalty to Alma Mater and for your gift of yourself and your time in this, the greatest undertaking in which sons and daughters of Wisconsin have ever joined.

"Wisconsin needs this center for student life. The campaign must have a contribution from every Wisconsin man and woman in Chicago. I know very well that your part in securing this will demand much sacrifice from you in time and effort, but I am confident that you appreciate how anxiously we on the campus are awaiting news of your success, and will feel that your work is not without appreciation."

Very truly yours,
E. A. Birge.

X-Ray Girl Will Appear On Orpheum Bill Today

One of the most astounding attractions in vaudeville today is the act of Shireen, the X-ray girl, headliner of the Orpheum bill starting this afternoon, who will demonstrate her "second sight" and prove to Madison theatregoers, that with her eyes sealed with absorbent cotton and adhesive tape and a ten fold bandage that she can see as well as persons in the audience with their eyes wide open. Other bookings for the early part of the week include Fenton and Fields, "Appearing in Person;" Corradinis Entertainers, Adelaide and Dwyer in "The Unexpected Visitor;" O'Malley and Maxfield, the song writers and the French Comiques, Humberto Brothers.

TOWER HILL TO BE DEDICATED

Historical Spot Will Become a State Park This Afternoon

The formal presentation to the state of Wisconsin of Tower Hill and fifty-five acres of land on the Wisconsin near Spring Green will occur at 2:30 this afternoon, when Mrs. Jenkins Lloyd Jones will convey this historical bit of Wisconsin to the state as a public park.

Miss Zona Gale will speak on the influence of Jenkins Lloyd Jones on Wisconsin and the United States. Other features will be the singing of "America" and "America the Beautiful" by a special choir and the audience, the prayer of dedication by Rev. John Sazille, an introductory address by Miss Lucie Stearns of Milwaukee, an historical sketch of the surroundings by Mr. J. Schafer superintendent of the State Historical society, the presentation of Tower Hill by Mrs. Annie Laurie Kelly, Chicago, acceptance and naming of the park by Gov. John J. Blaine, the pledge of the neighborhood by Mrs. Clancy, and the trust and pledge of the state by C. L. Harrington of the state conservation commission.

In the territorial lumber days of 1830 and 1860, the village of Helene was an important center for manufacturing shot, and today Tower Hill and the remains of the old shot tower there are the only surviving relics of the town. The Hill is interesting historically and possesses many scenic attractions. It was here in 1831 that Daniel Whitney, the pioneer shot maker of the northwest, began the erection of a shot tower.

Many people from Madison will make the trip today by automobile. The distance is about 40 miles.
