Board of Regents Draws Up Budget for Legislature

Incidental Business Will Be Transacted Today; to Table Field House

At a closed session Friday the Board of Regents of the university drafted the 1929 university budget, which is said to include requests for appropriations for a number of new building projects.

Formal announcement of the contents of the budget will not be made until next week, following tents of the budget will not be at the meeting of the Board of Public Affairs which must first pass on it.

Incidental business will be transacted at the open meeting this morning in President Glenn Frank's office. The regents have been sent plans for the Agriculture library addition and for an elevator in the Biology building, and are expected to take action on them, State Architect Arthur Peabody said yesterday.

No Field House Discussion

It was further predicted that the plans for the new field house, which will adjoin Camp Randall field following the completion of the enlargement program, will not be tendered any further consideration at this meeting, inasmuch as the primary purpose underlying the present gathering is the formation of the budget. It was said that this project would receive due attention at the next regular convening of the board during the first week in December.

Relieve Gym Congestion

The structure when it is ready for use will not only act as a dressing room for athletes who play on the varsity field, but in addition as a suitable and sufficiently large indoor court for basketball games. By making this addition, the enforced use of the altogether cramped space of the gymnasium floor in the armory would be eliminated. Another use planned in connection with the new athletic building is a track for indoor running.

Graduates Hold Meeting Monday

Informal Gathering Will Precede Regular Bi- Weekly Sessions

The Graduate club will hold its regular biweekly dinner Monday, Nov. 12, in the Old Madison room of the Memorial Union. Preceding the dinner, which will begin promptly at 6 p.m., an informal social half hour will be held in the Graduate room. A very cordial invitation to attend is extended to all graduate students.

Prof. Gillen Will Read

At this meeting an executive committee will be elected to direct the club's activities throughout the present year. A house committee to govern the Graduate room in the Memorial Union will also be chosen.

Prof. C. H. Gillen of the French department will be present at this dinner and will read from Drummond's French - Canadian dialect poems. Prof. Gillen, who has spent much time among the French Canadians, in these readings from Drummond, makes these sturdy folk live before his hearers.

Graduate students will find this once a rare pleasure and a great opportunity.

Must Make Reservations

Those who plan to attend the dinner are reminded that attendance is governed by reservation which may be made by signing the reservation lists before Monday noon, in the Graduate room or on the Graduate school bulletin board in Bascom hall.

Those who have made such reservation and find they will be unable to attend, are requested to remove their names from the list.

Huge Homecoming Blaze on Lower Campus Thrills Thousands

Sending its rising darts of flame high into the air as thousands looked on from the lower campus, the Homecoming bonfire rose to match the spirit of Wisconsin hopes. A drizzling fall of snow continued all through the course of the fire, nevertheless the mounting flames went higher and higher until they matched the library.

When the throng of Wisconsin rooters came pouring out of the gymnasium, the igniting torch had already been lent to the oil-soaked accumulation of wooden cases. Slowly, at first, and then with astounding speed the yellow flames ate into the offering laid at their command by the Homecoming bonfire committee.

Crowd Draws Back
As the burning mass grew in height and intensity, the crowd which had gathered closely about it, stepped back. Growing in strength, the conflagration continued until spectators were forced back to Langdon and State streets on either side. When the illumination was at its height, the steps of the Memorial Union, the front of the gymnasium, the rotunda of the University club, and the windows of the Y. M. C. A. held onlookers to capacity. In addition lesser structures showed like large numbers of viewers.

Among the wooden articles sacrificed before the altar of the Homecoming gods that were, were numerous flares and skyrockets. From time to time one of the colored lights ignited, lending added color to the spectacle. In a similar way, the skyrockets came sputtering up through the damp-laden atmosphere.

Committee Scoured Madison
Throughout the two or three days preceding the final event, the members of the Homecoming bonfire committee scoured the town, bringing in wood to add to the growing pile. By Friday afternoon when enough wood had been brought to the lower campus, the boxes were arranged in pyramid fashion, culminating in a point decorated by a solitary red lamp.

The bonfire committee, which arranged the entire jubilee event, ran it off with unusual smoothness despite the unfavorable weather for fires of any nature. Merrill Thompson '29 and his assisting staff did all of the work in preparing for the inflammatory homecoming reception.

Union Extends Sale of Concert Season Tickets to Nov. 20

Postponement of the concert by Tito Schipa, originally scheduled for last Tuesday evening, but cancelled because of serious illness, has enabled managers of the Wisconsin Union concert series to extend the sale of season tickets until Nov. 20.

On that night, Paul Kochanski, Russian violinist, whose fame is fast spreading as one of the most brilliant of the younger artists, will appear in concert at the University stock pavilion. Single tickets for the Kochanski concert as well as the season tickets are on sale in the lobby of the Memorial Union.

Series tickets, priced at $4, $5 and $6, assure seat preference for concerts by Kochanski, Sigrid Onegin, popular soprano, the Chicago Little Symphony orchestra, and Tito Schipa, greatest of lyric tenors. Single concert tickets are priced at $1, $1.50 and $2.

President Frank Welcomes Alumni to Old Homestead

By GLENN FRANK
Today is home-coming day!
The "old homestead" is the university.

The "children" who are coming back for reunion and reminiscence are of varied ages and varied achievements. Some are making youth's first hesitant approach to the workaday world; others bear on their brows and their breasts the marks of achievement.

GLENN FRANK

But they are all "children" again today at the old home.

A few things, by common consent, mark a good home.

It is a center of sound guidance and creative inspiration while the children are under its roof.

It grows as the children grow, so that when they return for a fleeting visit, they will not find it a static place that the growing world has passed by.

And finally, in a perfect home, the achievements of the parents are so solid and sustained that the children are proud of them.

I hope the returning sons and daughters of Wisconsin may find these marks in the body of their Alma Mater today.

The university was, to them when they were here, a center of sound

Botkin House, Villa Maria, Nurse's Dorms Also Are Awarded Cups

Honors for the most beautifully decorated fraternity in the annual Homecoming contest Friday night went to Phi Sigma Kappa, with its artistic conception of Wisconsin's first Homecoming, while Sigma Kappa was awarded the sorority cup for its clever railroad crossing scene depicting the wreck of Chicago.

The decorations committee composed of Prof. William Troutman, Bill Purnell, and Margaret Ellingson, which began its inspection at 7 p.m. Friday night and finished at 9:30 p.m., reported that Langdon street has never blossomed more gloriously on any Homecoming eve in history. The fraternity, sorority and rooming houses which were awarded cups presented exceptional effects in decorations and showed carefully planned work in their preparations.

Other Winners
Other prize winners included Villa Maria for women's rooming houses, the Nurses' Dorms among the women's dormitories, and Botkin section of Tripp hall in the men's dormitories contest.

Honorable mention in the fraternity contest went to Theta Delta Chi presenting a view of Chicago's south side and featuring Al Capone's saloon, while the Pi Phi Pi sorority won honorable mention in the sorority group with its downtown Chicago sky-line and the brightly lighted Sherman hotel.

Waterfall Effective
"While the groups which received first prize awards showed individual initiative in conception and execution of novel decoration ideas, the Phi Sigma Kappa Indian camp with its tinkling waterfall was the most

Chicago to Bring Band of 90 Pieces

A 90-piece band will accompany the Chicago team and fans to Madison for the game today, it was learned from the office of Major E. W. Murphy, director of the Wisconsin bands. The Chicago band will make its headquarters at the Memorial Union building. The Wisconsin and Chicago bands, more than 200 strong, will combine maneuvers during the intermission between halves, according to Thomas L. Bailey, director of the Wisconsin football band.

HOMECOMING SIDELIGHTS; CITY IN CARDINAL GLOW

By S. S.

No need to paint the town red tonight, everything that can be colored is red already; red electrically-lighted 'W's, red decorations, red flares, and red whatnots are all over the university district.

Snow fell and night fell, but it didn't affect the exuberant spirits of the Wisconsin rooters in the least.

The Memorial Union has a striking display. Red reflectors in the portico of the main entrance and blue shading between the two units blended rather attractively.

In comparing the cheer rally of last night with last week's we cannot help but recall a line from the 'king's cameloard' incident in "Huck Finn": "everyone who was there before came again and everyone brought someone else with him."

And it wasn't necessary to use the old ruse of lack of support to get the rooters out. They simply came from all directions, filled the gym to overflowing and then some, and just yelled their heads off. Wisconsin spirit's all there.

The Button committee did a land office business this year. Each member seemed to be a natural go-getter; at any rate, they certainly put the button sale over with some great results.

The bonfire certainly peped up the bunch as they stepped out of the rally. The lower campus was as soggy as it might be, but that didn't keep the 'rarin' to go' boys and girls from stepping into the mud. Neither did the drizzle do anything to lower the ardor of the onlooking throngs.

Later in the evening, about an hour after the crowd dwindled away, the flames were still straggling along faintly, guarded only by a few small boys who seemed to be enjoying their possession of the once great conflagration.

Many a New Yorker must have suffered a pang of homesickness as he gazed on Langdon street and its byways in the hour of their greatest splendor, just previous to the judging of decorations.

Unusual is hardly the word to use but it will do in describing the effects

Crippled Chicago Outfit Hammers at Badger Door

Wisconsin Favored to Best Stagg's Machine Today at Randall

By AARON GOTTLIEB

Through the narrow gateway leading on to Camp Randall gridiron this afternoon, will pour a horde of Maroon-clad men, paying their first visit to Madison in nearly two decades, and seeking to atone for a current season that thus far has not been very successful.

And through the same gateway will emerge a squad of huskies, red-jerseyed and helmeted, determined to avenge a last season defeat and to mount another rung on the ladder of the conference football championship.

Thirty-four Year Warfare

It will be an old story, Chicago versus Wisconsin, an event that originated 34 years ago, and has traditioned its way into the years; a battle for yearly supremacy before a record breaking crowd of 42,500 spectators.

Leading the undefeated Wisconsin eleven, will be Capt. Rube Wagner, tackle, a line smasher, who will be aided by six others in the forward wall, inspired with the spirit of Wisconsin and ready to break through an opposing offense for the glory of victory.

Badger Title Hopes at Stake

For the undefeated Badgers, the struggle means, in defeat, lost hopes of a Big Ten title; in victory, a fighting chance to crash through to the championship door that they have been pounding at for many years.

As for Chicago, battered and bruised in their many defeats, they have nevertheless, shown a comeback effort that finds them at the present time, at the height of their seasonal form.

Minus the services of their captain, Saul Weislow, who was injured in the

Record Crowd of 5,000 Cheers Team; Shouts for Victory

Students, alumni, and public elbowed and pushed their way into the little old red armory last night and by the time the pep meeting got under way over 5,000 voices were singing "On Wisconsin" and following Ted Frost in thundering cheers.

The serious business of the evening was opened by Wisconsin's own Prof. Carl Russell Fish, Red Derby and all.

"I don't like lazy audiences," began Prof. Fish, "and I don't have to worry that you people will be sitting back in your chairs tonight because there aren't any chairs, so there ought to be some enthusiasm."

Our Own Game

He commented on the college "rah, rah" spirit, saying that it seemed to be dying out. If this is so, he continued, that form of enthusiasm ought to have a peaceful burial. He recommended that students look upon the game tomorrow as their own game, and not as a show.

"There are many different ways of showing your enthusiasm," he concluded, "and tomorrow we must all take part in the game and give our support that will carry the team to hitherto unknown heights and accomplishments."

Adolph Bieberstein, all-western guard in 1922-23 spoke for a few minutes and made a sincere plea for real enthusiasm. He recalled the years when he was playing and told of the spirit shown then.

Leads for Enthusiasm

"It would seem to me," he said, "that it would be a great deal easier to work up enthusiasm when we have a team which is winning consistently

Novelist Writes of Rogers, Mix

Jim Tully Characterizes Actors as "Unspoiled," and "Unpretentious"

"Both Tom Mix and Will Rogers are wealthy and unspoiled," says Jim Tully in the November College Humor. "Both have a genius for common sense and eyes that see far into life. Neither man has the least shred of pretense. And in a nation that worships money, they each earn a half million dollars a year."

"Will Rogers and Tom Mix are the same type of men. Their stature, build and contour of features are about the same. Their words and thinking are mixed with the salt and blood of life. With hearts as open as old-fashioned ranch houses, they are free of the cheap veneer which spoils so many shallow people in Hollywood."

"What about your old pal, Tom Mix, Will?" I asked.

"Oh, they hain't none better than him. He's a great fellow. I've known thirty years. You hear about new Western stars supplantin' Tom, as they say, but they hain't done it yet. Tom's like Henry Ford—he's smart."

"Tom Mix says of Will Rogers, 'In all the time I've known Bill, I hain't never known him to do an unkind thing to nobody; he's four square an' a yard wide, is ill. He reminds me o' men like Mark Twain an' Walter Whitman; they didn't have a lot o' sense, an' some day people are goin' to remember Will just like they remember them.'

"A great, genuine affection exists between these two men who have gone so far on the road to fame."

To Table Little's Project
No action is expected on Athletic Director George Little's intramural athletic center which he announced recently. This undertaking is to be similar to the field house with the one being reserved for intramurals and the other for intercollegiate events. Lower campus development is another movement which it is expected will be tabled until the winter meeting.

artistic creation I have seen used at Homecoming in many years," Prof. Troutman told the Daily Cardinal.

Sigma Kappa sorority's clever railroad wreck, arranged with great labor, was one of the most unique conceptions discovered during the evening. The Villa Maria took first prize with a miniature carnival. Charter House, second in this group, presented Charter House in the days of Queen Anne with a stage-coach before the dwelling and the windows lighted with great candelabra.

Chicagoans had no cause for complaint as the nurses' dormitory, first prize winner in this group, had Mrs. O'Leary's cow and the widow there. Their motto "Burn 'em up Wisconsin, O'Leary's cow showed us how," drew laughs from hundreds of spectators.

Botkin Has Vice Den

Botkin hall of Tripp, men's dorm winners, presented a Chicago vice den with machine guns, beer bottles and sawdust much in evidence. Honorable mention went to High of Tripp Commons with its typical old-fashioned farm-house typical in every detail from candles to Angels over the mantel.

And everywhere were red lights and W's. Langdon street blazed a welcome to returning alumni.

guidance and creative inspiration.

I hope they will feel in the air of the University today the tonic spirit of growth; that they will see in her a university with its face to the future, its eyes alight with adventure, and its heart beating in tune with the spirit of scientific and social advance.

And I hope that, alike in laboratory and on gridiron, the University's achievements may be so solid and sustained that her children will be proud of her.

Today is Homecoming Day! The old home welcomes her children.

than when the team loses every Saturday, as it did in 1922 and 1923. In those years enthusiasm shown was at a high pitch and I expect to see much more shown this season than we have already seen."

"Joe Steinauer rapped the "whispering campaign," as he called it, that there is no Wisconsin spirit. He went on to blame Michigan's downfall and Wisconsin's prosperity on the fact that George Little transferred from Michigan to Wisconsin.

"Don't be too sure we're going to win tomorrow," was his parting advice, "but get together and everyone give their support to the team."

Red Lights Glow on Langdon Street

achieved by some of the orders. The throngs that packed Langdon street to give them the once-over gave sufficient evidence of their approval. The length of the fraternity boulevard was thronged with pedestrians and automobiles.

An artistic setting labelled, "Wisconsin's First Homecoming" drew the most attention. It was a natural setting with small fires on either side and a startlingly effective waterfall in the center of it all.

Another decoration that rivalled the former in attention was that of a railroad track with a wrecked car, captioned "Chicago", laying along side of it. The entrance to the building was made to resemble a rear observation car, while a warning gong clang'd incessantly.

Among other representations offered by various fraternities and sororities were graveyards, a locomotive, and several Chicago scenes.

One sorority used balloons in the decorations on their chapter home, but failed to guard their creation with sufficient vigilance. At one time during the evening at least five youngsters were engaged in the practice of freeing the balloons from their moorings.

Down in the Rathskellar, the Union staff lent some atmosphere by using red candles in bottles for lighting features. Natural shrubbery was used on the stairs leading down to the men's den.

Two flights up in the Great hall, some pretty lighting and fixtures added grace to the scene of the Homecoming dance.

Anway, after most people had gone to bed last night, you could still hear them telling the tale, "We are not gonna be beaten this year."

This afternoon comes the grand spectacle of 50,000 people trying to crowd themselves into space meant for 36,000.

Pay phones have been installed in the fraternity houses at Northwestern University.

U. S. Interested in League Court, Prof. Rice States

Insisting that interest in the League of Nations has increased rather than dwindled, Prof. W. G. Rice of the university law school, reviewed the work of the league for the past year before the meeting of the College Woman's club Thursday evening.

He told his audience that when the court meets again in the Hague, it will undertake to determine the rights of subjects of other lands on foreign soil. This, he stated, would bring about the codification of international law.

That the United States is more interested in the former court in the Hague and has been so to the extent of having several recent cases settled there was his contention. The dispute was concerned with the rule over a small island in the Philippines and whether the United States or the Netherlands had the right of sovereignty there. The latter country was made the award following arbitration.

Knute Rockne, Notre Dame football coach, taught chemistry at that university before taking up coaching entirely.

Frank Officially Invites Fathers

President Urges Presence Here Week-end of Nov. 24

To "Wisconsin" Fathers:

It is once again my pleasant privilege to invite the fathers of our students to visit the university on Father's Day, which, this year, falls on Saturday, November 24.

I am more and more impressed by the fact that our sons and daughters are educated not by our schools and colleges alone, but also by the homes and by the communities out of which they come. This means that we must maintain the closest possible contact and counsel between parents and professors, between the college and the community. Father's Day is one phase of this important contact.

The University of Wisconsin is a big institution which would become coldly impersonal if we did not constantly plan for its humanization. During the past year we have taken several new steps toward making it possible to give a more personal consideration to each student. I want you to learn at first-hand of some of these new developments.

Attached to this invitation you will find a program for the day. I hope I shall have the pleasure of seeing you here on November 4.

Very sincerely yours,
(Signed) GLENN FRANK.

Official Invitation

"This is the official invitation which 8,500 fathers scattered throughout the United States and several foreign countries received this week.

"The students whose fathers have written in acceptance of this invitation should immediately procure reservations for the Fathers-Faculty banquet and the tickets for the Minnesota game and the 'Devil's Disciple,' the University Players' production, — the three big features of the Fathers' week-end program."

This was the announcement made by the Father's Day committee following a meeting Wednesday afternoon.

Few Tickets

"More than half the reservations for the banquet have been filled and the small number of football tickets remaining are selling rapidly."

The program for what promises to be one of the best attended and most stimulating Father's week-ends is planned:

—Friday, Nov. 23—8:15 p. m.—University Theater production of "The Devil's Disciple" by George Bernard Shaw.

Saturday, Nov. 24—2 p. m., the Stadium—Football game, Minnesota vs. Wisconsin.

5:00-6:00 p. m., Memorial Union—The President's Reception for the Fathers. (Informal).

6:00-8:00 p. m., Memorial Union—Fathers-Faculty Dinner.

8:15 p. m., Bascom Theater—"The Devil's Disciple."

Sunday, Nov. 25—Services in the various churches.

May Sit with Dad

Students who wish two seats together in the father's section at the Minnesota game must secure a permit card from the Bureau of Graduate Records and Reference at the Memorial Union, after acceptance to the university's invitation has been made. Application must then be made in person to the athletic ticket office with the permit card and coupon book. In exchange for the Minnesota game coupon and $3, student will receive two tickets in the father's section.

If students without coupon books secure their permit card before Nov. 10, they may send the permit card, fee card and $3.70 by mail to the athletic ticket office. Two tickets in the father's section will be returned by mail to the applicants.

Tickets Still Available

Failing to secure the permit card before Nov. 10, application for a student ticket must be mailed in time to reach the ticket office by Nov. 10. Then when the permit card is obtained it may be taken with the student ticket and the necessary $3.70 to the ticket office and exchanged for two tickets in the father's section.

Tickets in this section will be available up to 5 p. m. Friday, Nov. 23, or as long as the supply of tickets lasts. Students are urged to act as soon as they know their fathers are coming. Further information may be obtained by calling the Bureau of Graduate Records, University 375.

Reporter's Main Job in New York Is Poker Playing

"Playing poker with reporting as a side issue is the life enjoyed by a reporter who has a run on federal courts in New York city," stated R. L. Casey, of the school of journalism, at the meeting of the Press club Wednesday evening. "The city news service reporter gathers the news and gives it to the other newspaper reporters. This tends to make them lazy."

"General assignment work is the best job for New York reporters, especially the 'ship news run.' Reporters from the different papers interview prominent passengers and exchange notes. In this way, each paper has the same story but different leads."

Start on Small Papers

Mr. Casey urged journalists, who intend to work in a big city newspaper office, to get experience in a place such as Milwaukee, and then go to a larger city without much delay.

"Society editors on New York papers are usually men. The point is that society stories there are big and a man is supposed to be a little better at that kind of reporting. The tip of the Stillman divorce case came from the society editor."

"I do not advise women to go into newspaper reporting work in a large city," said Mr. Casey. "They are good on some general assignments, though, such as writing up Mrs. Harding's shopping trip in New York."

Art, Criticisms Emphasized

"Emphasis is placed in criticisms, of art, drama, and music in New York newspapers because residents have a considerable knowledge of these subjects. Not many newspapers would print on the front page a criticism of H. G. Wells' 'Outlines of History' such as the New York Evening Post did in 1921."

"The newspaper was the most important factor in the presidential election of 1928. With 100,000 men working, it took only three hours to collect the election returns. The Associated Press spent $250,000 to get the result of Tuesday's election.

"There are three or four newspapers that are still independent in politics. The Chicago Tribune has shown great independence in this campaign.

"If you are going to be a newspaper man or woman, size up your paper," advised Mr. Casey. "They are not impartial in political campaigns."

The New Wisconsin

Let Homecoming Alumni Analyze Our Situation in a Broad Way

RETURNING alumni this year, especially those who are coming back to the university with more than the usual Homecoming rah-rah interest at heart, will be welcomed and impressed by the new Wisconsin which greets them.

The university has entered upon and is now moving rapidly through a period of construction in the material sense. During the past few years we have seen the construction of a complete agricultural campus, the erection of a complete dormitory unit, and the completion of the Memorial Union building. More dormitory units are being planned, the construction of a huge athletic field house is in the offing, and, in general, every division of the university is advancing more rapidly than ever before.

Not only does Wisconsin show its progress in cold steel and stone, but in the important fields of thought and culture. The auspicious opening of the Experimental college at Adams hall is still fresh in the minds of many. Great strides have been taken in the expansion and liberalization of university courses. More than ever students enjoy a freedom of thought and learning that speaks well for future classes.

But even this culture and structural advance is not all. The returning alumnus will find University of Wisconsin progress embodied in all its affairs. It is shown all the way from undergraduate publications to the rejuvenated football team that is scheduled to win this afternoon. It is shown in the patient, fruitful effort to provide athletics for all. All this is particularly fortunate, for alumni and public are addicted to two evils, idealizing their university and being unduly critical.

Intelligent graduates will see not only the superficialities of material progress; they will see more than decorated houses and store windows; they will do more than have a good, bawdy time this week-end. They will understand the university with its growing pains, criticize intelligently, and take away with them the feeling of pride, sensible and deserved pride in the great steps which their university has taken.

We welcome our alumni back to Madison and Wisconsin. And we ask them to analyze our situation in a broad way. Let them draw their conclusions on the one hand from the spirit and enthusiasm shown at the Wisconsin-Chicago football game; but let them go farther than this; let them see the extensive scope of the institution that is theirs, its Memorial Union, its dormitories, its wide scope of culture and learning. If they do this, no matter what the result of the football game, Homecoming will be a success.

The Union's Welcome

Returning Grads Find in the Building a New Badger Home

FOR the first time at Homecoming, alumni have a home to come home to.

The new Memorial Union throws open its doors this weekend to prodigal former students and welcomes them to the use of all the halls of the new house.

The completion of the Union gives a new character and a new feeling to Homecoming. Alumni now have a central place to meet their old friends and teachers; a place to leave their grips and hang their hats; a place to meet with friends at dinner; a place to get coffee after the game—and a shave; a place to dance where the University crowd is sure to be; a place to hear the radio reports of other games and spend a vacant hour playing billiards or lounging; and a place to see student life as it is today in action.

I should not be surprised if Homecoming should give double the satisfaction to returning alumni and have double its former meaning by reason of the presence of a central gathering place like the Union.

For the Union, I am glad to invite every alumna to inspect and make full use of his foster home during this week-end.

PORTER BUTTS '24
House Director of the Union

Play Loud

We Say This to the Band; and Then Let's Give Applause

THE Wisconsin Football Band has come in for a lot of criticism this fall. This is because it is impossible to please everyone and because the band is working under difficulties.

The athletic department has supplied the band with 100 capes. That is why the band is not larger.

Because classes end at 4:30 p. m. the band can only practice a little over an hour a day. That is why the band isn't better in a musical way.

There are only two sousaphones at the disposal of this band. This is partially why there isn't more volume.

As for the "scandal" of insulting the Boy Scouts last week and other kicks of that type . . . those are mostly due to misunderstandings.

But we feel that the band hasn't been satisfactory. To-day they plan to play a few popular numbers. We don't think that this will help much.

The band has to play loud. The marches, particularly "On Wisconsin" must crash across the field and fill the stadium.

The band works hard to prepare for its Saturday parade. If it would work as hard on the field as it does in Music hall it would get the applause it deserves.

We hope that when the band marches down the field today, playing as loud as it can and filling the stadium with the pulsations and vibrations of "On Wisconsin," that the crowd will yell its applause.

The bands at Michigan and Purdue were greeted by tremendous cheers from the rooting sections.

A few seconds of roaring applause might hearten our musicians.

Let's have it.

Hard Studying

Such It Is on the Concrete Steps of Bascom; Chairs Are Needed

THE hardest part of studying in Bascom hall reading room is the concrete steps leading from the reading room to the floors above. One morning 36 students sat on the first two flights on the south stairs, and 14 camped on the north stairs.

Others wedged themselves into the niches in the wall of the west entrance to the building. Scarcely a morning goes by without several dozen people being crowded out of the reading room. When winter sets in, this congestion will increase.

The west entrance to Bascom hall provides much empty space where chairs could be placed for the overflow from the reading room below. This was done last year. It has not been done this year. In the basement storeroom of Bascom hall is a pile of dozens of unused chairs. They only serve as an item in the bookkeeping of the department of buildings and grounds. If someone can figure out a better way of making them useful, The Daily Cardinal will be pleased to publish it and the name of the one suggesting it.

By the time a man earns more money he has less time in which to spend it, but that is where the wife and daughters come to the rescue.—Shoe and Leather Reporter.

By FRANCOIS THE VILLIAN

Dean Goodnight seems to favor deferring rushing until the second semester. We hereby jot down a set of possible rules:

1. The University should charge no tuition for the first semester.
2. The faculty should be given a leave of absence until Christmas.
3. The fraternity houses should be flung open to the frosh.
4. Fraternity men could sleep at the dorms.
5. The house cook and the grounds keeper could then officiate at the pledging ceremony.

We understand that Balfour and Co. is offering a silver club and bushel basket to the winner of the Kappa Sigma—S. A. E. national expansion tournament.

There seems to be a demand for fraternity traditions. Sigma Nu claims Wheatly and Frautschi; Theta Chi, Don Trenary; A. T. O., Porter Butts; Phi Delta Theta, Perry Thomas. The Phi Kappa Sigs proudly point to the Theta house which hasn't moved yet—and if Kerby Earle's money holds out, Thoma may develop into a second Ralph De Palma.

The writer humbly requests the little girl who sits across from him in Math class to purchase a pair of nice, new, green, garters. Red, don't you know, is awfully hard on the eyes.

There is no need of feeling alarmed if you haven't yet found the colored porter who is handling football tickets for the University.

Your bootlegger will provide you with the required pasteboards, make reservations at the hotel, and give you a two-day headache for a truly nominal sum.

We wonder if in two years things will not be reversed. Then the ticket office would accept mail orders on a joint basis; say, one pint per ticket.

THERE WILL BE NO DRINKING THIS HOMECOMING!

For Wally Jensen's sake we hope that his cold doesn't disappear until after the alumni have gone.

Which suggests to us a remedy for financially destitute students. Why not collect the numberless "dead men" piled in the understructure of the stadium? or does the University claim that profit too?

Maybe it would be better if it did. We seem to be getting a Field House, but what about extending the Extension Division building to its proper balance by the addition of its "missing wing"?

Which (the wing) is blamed on Wisconsin's spirit of radicalism; as evidenced by the success of The Student Independent. We wonder what its editors will use for future funds. Buttons?

Speaking of humor publications, have you noticed that one of our leading magazines carries an ever-present picture of a girl on its cover and above it the tell-tale label: COLLEGE HUMOR?

Ask the man who owns one!

CONGRATULATES UNION ON WORK IN HANDLING ELECTION

Editor, The Daily Cardinal:

Once again the Memorial Union exhibited its place as a factor in the life of the university community on the occasion of presenting the election returns. Faculty, students, and townfolk alike availed themselves of the varied distribution of the latest news in the three large rooms of the building.

Each type was able to receive the returns in the atmosphere most congenial to himself. The Great hall lent itself as a dignified auditorium for the dispensation of information, while the Council room presented a more luxurious setting. For those who preferred the general "jolly fellow" thing the Rathskellar was the place to argue, laugh, and sing, what with Railroad Jack, Western Union wires, and radio reports on hand to assure the gathering of the trend of the votes.

The many people who came to the Union to spend the evening there or those who merely dropped in to casually look over the latest word attested to the part that the organization plays in their daily life at the university.

Again, the hundreds who phoned to the desk of the Memorial Union in preference to the city newspapers showed that it is uppermost in their minds; it was more so to the credit of the desk force that they were able to satisfactorily take care of all the queries. Porter Butts and his staff did a magnificent piece of work and performed a unique service for the members of the organization in so ably planning and caring for the situation.

TICKETS AGAIN AND A DRASIC CHANGE WANTED

Editor, The Daily Cardinal:

No, this article does not contain anything new. It is on the same old thing, football tickets. When I placed my order for tickets a short while after school started I figured, or rather dared to figure, that I would get a better deal than I did last year. But what good did it do me? As far as I can see I profited no more by ordering my tickets early than I would have if I had waited till a few days before the game.

My tickets for the Notre Dame game were in section I up in God's free air. My ticket for the Alabama game was in the same section a few rows down. My tickets for the Chicago game are in section M, in row 3.

I suppose my tickets for the Minnesota game will be in the vicinity of University Ave. or Regent street. Why is all the favoritism shown to the people who see but one or two games at the most. It seems highly improbable to me that some 40,000 people should have their orders in for the game on the first day of school. I, as well as most other students, am in favor of a drastic change in our ticket sales department in order that the students may get something that faintly resembles a square deal.

PORTAGE, WISCONSIN AND OTHER ESSAYS

By Zona Gale: New York. $2.50.

In "Portage, Wisconsin," a new book by Zona Gale, we find the most intimate and most complete picture which she has yet given us of herself. The book is broken conveniently into two parts. The first: Portage, Wisconsin and the second: essays on the novel, current thought and books.

Miss Gale describes Portage in her opening paragraph in a homely, simple and yet beautifully effective manner. Truly if, as in "Yellow Gentians," Miss Gale's forte is in simplicity, the opening paragraphs of her book are nothing short of word paintings.

This book, more than any other previous work, is the key to understanding the author. In it she reveals much of the personal life of both herself and the Gale family; she discloses much of her personal philosophy and many notions on the novel, a form of writing in which she has dealt.

Much of the beauty in this book is in the profound feeling which Miss Gale injects. The amusing stories and delightful anecdotes in "Portage, Wisconsin," which almost every other writer would have made appear absurd, she, with delicate artistry makes the most charming part of her essay.

There is a unity about "Portage, Wisconsin" that one seldom finds in a collection of essays and one suspects that it is due chiefly to the frank honesty of the author rather than to anything else.

"Portage, Wisconsin" fills a very important place in the works of Miss Gale—an almost autobiographical place.

Hillel Presents Lecture Series

Religion, Modern World Are Subjects of Talks by Professors

Rabbi Landman, of the Hillel foundation, recently announced a series of six lectures, to be given one each month, on the general subject of "Religion and the Modern World." The lectures will be given at the Hillel foundation, and are open to the student body.

The first of the series, by Carl Russell Fish, professor of history and an advisor in the Experimental college, will be on "A Definition of Religion." The second, to be given by President-emeritus E. A. Birge, is entitled "Religion and Science." Prof. D. D. Lesschier, of the economics department, will talk on "Religion and Economics" in the third lecture.

The fourth talk will be by J. M. Gaus, political science professor and Experimental college advisor, on "Religion, Politics and International Relations." Following this, Prof. J. L. Gillin of the sociology department will discuss "Religion and the Problems of Society."

The last lecture of the series will be given by E. G. Doudna, secretary of the board of regents of the state normal schools, on "Religion and Education."

Twenhofel Talks on Early Life, Ascent of Man

"Not much takes place that is not related to environment," said Prof. W. H. Twenhofel in his lecture Thursday at the Geographers club on "Evolution of Organisms Leading to Man."

Professor Twenhofel traced the ascent of man from the slimy plant through the worm, amphibia, reptile, mammal, lemur, monkey, ape, human precursor and man.

The earliest living things were the slimy plants, which are found on rocks in the bottom of streams. Whether these plants are in the ascent of man, no one knows. However, the earliest real organisms that lived were crayfish, and shellfish. These clam-like things passed on to their own branch of living things, and can not be associated with the ascent of man, Professor Twenhofel said.

50 Hours Sleep Are Better for Studies, Health

Jonathan Pugh, of the geography department of the University of Pennsylvania, made a study of the sleeping activities of the undergraduate.

He found that the ideal sleep period is between 50 and 60 hours per week, and that below 50 the mental efficiency is impaired to such an extent that a longer period of time is required for the absorption of information than if a normal amount of sleep is taken.

Men not active or employed spend more time in sleep, study, and recreation, with recreation receiving the largest amount of hours from the resultant spare time.

These non-active, non-employed men usually report from 50 to 100 per cent more time spent on recreation than on studies. Yet their scholastic standing as a rule is lower than that of the active and employed men.

Misfortune Follows Bebe Daniels' Trail

During the period of her convalescence, Bebe Daniels, who has just shaken loose from the shackles of intestinal flu, spent her days at the Paramount studio, working and her nights at the hospitals under the care of a nurse, reports Photoplay magazine. "You see," Bebe explained, "that was the only way I could rest. As soon as people learned I was sick at the studio, they began to call at my house in the evening to extend felicitations. It was almost a case of being killed by kindness."

Former Journalism Students Placed on Two University Staffs

Two state universities have selected graduates and former members of the faculty of the University of Wisconsin School of Journalism to hold important positions on the instructional staffs of their journalism schools. The fame of the journalism school on the Wisconsin campus has spread as far north as Minnesota, and as far south as Florida.

Elmer Emig, who received the degree of Master of Arts from the school of Journalism at the university in June, 1926, has been promoted to the headship of the department of journalism at the University of Florida, while Edward T. Ingle, formerly an instructor at Wisconsin, has been appointed instructor in journalism at the same school.

The faculty of the department of journalism at the University of Minnesota, of which Prof. E. M. ## Sigma Phi Celebrates Twentieth Anniversary

The Alpha of Wisconsin chapter of Sigma Phi is host this week-end to members of the fraternity and Sigma Phi sisters coming from out of town to celebrate the twentieth anniversary of the chapter and the 101st birthday of the fraternity.

An elaborate program of functions has been arranged for the observance of the occasion by Lowell Bushnell '29, chairman. There will be a formal dance at the chapter house, 106 Prospect avenue, Friday evening, with Mr. and Mrs. Willard J. Rendall as chaperons. Saturday noon a buffet luncheon will be served before the Chicago-Wisconsin game. Following the game a song-fest will take place at the chapter house.

The stag Sigma Phi banquet will be held in the Tripp Commons dining room in the Memorial Union building Saturday evening, while the Sig sisters will be entertained at dinner and bridge at the chapter house. Sunday there will be the final reunion luncheon for Sigs and Sig sisters in the Tripp Commons dining room.

The Alpha of Wisconsin was founded at the University of Wisconsin in November, 1908, the ninth of ten chapters established since the creation of the fraternity at Union College, Schenectady, New York, in March, 1827. In its early years the chapter lived in a rooming house in Mendota Court, and in 1915 purchased Prof. H. C. Bradley's residence on the Heights, its present home.

Robert McMurdy, Chicago lawyer and initiate of the Michigan chapter in 1876, and Stephen W. Gilman, retired professor of the University of Wisconsin, and initiate of the Alpha of Wisconsin, will address the stag banquet in the Tripp Commons dining room Saturday evening.

Correction

An error was made yesterday in the list of chaperons for the Phi Pi Phi informal party this evening. The correct list is as follows: Mrs. C. O. Zeunert, Mr. and Mrs. L. Lozier Oeland, and Mr. J. Ortega.

Hart Tells Parents of Child Education

An appeal for treatment of children in educational problems as intelligent human beings and not as mere minors was given by Prof. J. K. Hart, of the department of education, at the Hawthorn school Parent-Teachers meeting Wednesday afternoon. "Parents must adopt new attitudes and renew their mental youth until they are able to understand and meet their children and their children's teachers on a common and intelligent basis," Professor Hart declared.

Louise Barbee '27 Weds Robert Tower

Announcement was made recently of the marriage of Louise Mary Barbee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Barbee, Chicago, to Robert C. Tower, also of Chicago.

The bride, a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority, was graduated here in the class of 1927.

"Oswald . . . I'm Through"

Dear Oswald:

I've stood all I can—I'm leaving you for good! I'm going back to Madison to the Homecoming game — back to Manchester's, first of all, for some new clothes. For the first time since I married you, I'm going to have all I want—V-line hosiery, Gordon chiffon underthings, and a new dress at last. I've ordered my ticket for the Homecoming game (hst! she doesn't know it's in "N" right back of the goal post), and I'm going to celebrate this Homecoming as it's never been celebrated since the Damna Phi Data brawl in '98. Don't try to follow me—let me forget, and don't feel too badly, Oswald; you cannot be the Golden Gate to everyone.

Firmly,

Olivia,

Run Cross Country Triangular Meet Here Today

Chicago, Gophers
Battle Wisconsin
Hill-and-Dalers

Cardinal Seeking to Win
Fifth Consecutive Championship

Wisconsin's cross country team, with only one loss in five years, looks as victor in today's meet with Minnesota and Chicago. George Bresnahan, Iowa coach, will start the runners from in front of the Men's gym at 11:00 a.m.

Minnesota, coached by E. W. Ingewson whose brother, Kay, was a former hockey coach here, has two outstanding runners in Ceylon North and Captain Errol Anderson. The Gophers, losing but one man from the team which placed third in the conference last year, have not yet won a conference meet, but have shown possibilities of suddenly waking up and this may be their chance. Bruce Strain and John Spear are other possible winners on the team. Those who will enter the race are: Roland Aker, Gordon Bassett, Lester, and Earl Fornell. The Minnesota team will be numbered from 11 to 20 in the race.

Seek First Win

By DON McLAUGHLIN
Minnesota Daily

Minneapolis, Minn. Nov. 9—In quest of their first conference victory of the year, the cross-country team left tonight for Madison, Wisconsin, where they will match strides with the powerful Badgers Saturday morning.

The men who will make the trip are Captain Anderson, North, Spear, Aker, Etter, Fornell, Strain, Bassett and Trainor Joesting.

Prospects for a Minnesota victory are anything but pleasing as Wisconsin has held the Big Ten championship for the past four years while the Gophers have done nothing this year that would indicate that they are a match for the Badgers.

Minnesota's chances are further cut down by the fact that Strain and Bassett are both having trouble with their legs. They did not work out last evening and so they may be in good shape by Saturday, but it is doubtful if they will be able to run their best. In addition to this, Etter is sadly off form.

Chicago has a much stronger team than usual. In an early meet they tied Minnesota, which is one reason that they wanted to meet the Gophers again. Dale Letts, a possible winner today and Laurence Brainard are their two best runners, while Sam Teitelman and Captain Edwin Berndtson are also good. Other squad men are George Faris, John Holt, John Jackson, M. Swadesh, N. Goldman, John Ridge, and A. R. Lewis. They will be numbered from 21 to 30.

Look To Team Strength

Although Wisconsin has no outstanding runners, the strength of the team is great enough to counteract individual stars. D. W. Wixon has been the best runner on the short courses, but Saturday's race is over a five-mile course, and some other man may finish before him. Captain Bill Burgess, Vernon Goldsworthy, and Howard Folsom have been consistent performers so far, while Del Fink has improved greatly, and should be a leader at the finish. Others named to run are: Harold Moe, Morrison Schroeder, Chet Dilley, Bobby Ocock, and Carroll Blair. Glenn Egger, Howard Hoffman, and Phil Icke have been selected as alternates.

The gold shoes awarded each year to the first five men on each team in the Badger-Gopher meet, will again be given members of the two teams. Another interesting fact about the race is that it will inaugurate the new five-mile course which has been constructed for the conference meet, to be held here is two weeks.

Badger Cage Prospects Bright

Best Badger Man on Football Team to Receive Award

The most valuable player on the Wisconsin football team every year, will receive a handsomely engraved gold watch. The selection will be made by Coach Thistlethwaite.

This announcement was made last night by Basil I. Peterson, president of the University of Wisconsin club of Chicago, which is offering the prize.

The yearly award is to be made at the annual banquet of the organization, at Chicago. The banquet is being held this year on Friday evening, Dec. 7, at the Lakeshore hotel. Plans are being made to send all the letter men on the team to the banquet, at the expense of the club. Arrangements are being made to obtain Governor-elect Kohler, President Frank, Coach Thistlethwaite, and Director Little for speakers.

Sixteen Bowling Matches Run Off

Nottleman, Schmitt, Fisher Roll High Scores for Evening

By Bert Weiss

Phi Sigma Kappa had their team ready for service Thursday night and performed in great style, with every member doing his bit. Nottleman doing the greatest damage when he rolled 565 in three games. Chi Phi's were unable to make a clean sweep of their games with the Delta Sigma Pi's despite the fact that Fischer of the Chi Phi's rolled first honors in the individual scores during the evening with three fine games of 191-201-231 for a total of 623. Schmidt, Delta Sigma Phi was also high in the individual scores with 586 and was an instrumental factor in aiding his team to a clean sweep of their games with Alpha Kappa Lambda.

The closest games of the evening were rolled in the match between Sigma Chi and Theta Chi. The teams tied in the second game which was decided by counting the first frame of the last game, which the Theta Chis won. It was this game that enabled them to win from the Sigma Chis 2 games to 1.

Cage Prospects Appear Good as Veterans Return

Tall Players May Aid Team in Conference Race

By William Ahrlrich

As soon as the final whistle blows to end the Minnesota-Wisconsin football contest at Camp Randall on November 24 Wisconsin fans will begin to look towards the basketball season with the hopes of seeing a quintet that will acquit itself as well as its predecessors of not better.

Basketball will be "king" in its season, just as football is now holding the spotlight of the athletic world. Coach Walter E. Meanwell has been working all fall to develop a smooth working combination, and what success he has had will be apparent when the team makes its first public debut. Wisconsin has good material this year, and Coach Meanwell, is without a peer as a coach.

Forwards to be Tall

For the first time in a number of years Coach Meanwell will have a pair of forwards whose height averages six feet, three inches, and a pair of guards who stretch up into the atmosphere about six feet. The center however, will not be overshadowed by his mates.

Practice sessions with the frosh squad has been held often during the past few weeks, and the remarkable playing ability of both the varsity and yearlings has been viewed upon with favorable comment by Mr. Meanwell.

John Doyle, Waukegan, Ill., and Elmer Tenhopen, Cleveland, Ohio, are co-captains of the team. This year is the second time in the history of basketball at Wisconsin that a co-captainship has been used. Back in 1918 George Levis and Harold Olson held the captaincy of the Badger quintet jointly. That year the Cardinal team finished third in the Conference.

Take Title Honors in 1908

Before Coach Meanwell took over the coaching staff of the basketball team in 1911 Wisconsin won one conference championship, and held one tie for first honors. The tie for first place was with Minnesota in 1906-1907 when Emmett Angell was varsity coach. The championship was gained the next season when the Badgers had most of their veteran material back in the lineup.

With the coming of Walter E. Meanwell in 1911 the new coach introduced to Western Conference basketball, the pivot, criss cross, and short pass type of offense—really making basketball in the middle west. Get 100 per cent in 1911

In 1911 the Meanwell-trained boys won the championship of the conference undefeated. This was the year that Walter Scoville, beloved of basketball players captained the squad.

The three years following their 1911 championship found the Badgers retaining the title.

Missouri in 1916 obtained the services of Coach Meanwell. That year Guy Lowman was appointed varsity coach.

In the season of 1917-1918 the Badgers again won the championship, after having lost it for a season.

Win 1920 Championship

Coach Meanwell returned in 1920 to the University of Wisconsin after finding considerable success at Missouri, where his teams won the championship of the Missouri Valley conference. The season that he returned the Badgers won the title of the Big Ten after a lapse of three years. Again in 1922 and 1923 the Badgers met with great success on the court having won sufficient games to give them the much coveted title.

Prior to Mr. Meanwell's advent at Wisconsin, he had been coaching varsity basketball at a settlement house in Baltimore where four of his teams won 60 out of 61 games played. It has been truly stated that "Doc", as he is fraternally called by his men, is the "Father of basketball at Wisconsin."

Mr. Meanwell refuses to make any statements to the press before the (Continued on Page 15) handled the ends in wonderful form. Capt. Rube Wagner has done all-conference work at tackle together with his teammate Binish. Kresky, converted from full-back, is doing spectacular work at a guard position. Parks, a crew man and veteran, ably fills the other guard position.

Homecoming
Today before a Homecoming crowd well over 46,000, that well moulded team will go through an extremely important game with Chicago. If Wisconsin has that latent strength which did so much in other games this season, they should come through with flying colors.

Chicago
Chicago is weak. This fact cannot be disregarded. But Chicago has Alonzo A. Stagg which accounts for the fear with which Wisconsin holds Chicago. Today a team which has lost practically all its games will oppose a team which has won all of its games but one and that a tie with Purdue.

The Personnel
With more than half the season past, and the worst yet to come, it is fitting that the team be reviewed individually.

Badger And Illinois Seconds Clash At Urbana

Expect Win Over Chicago Today

Badgers Attempt to Extend String of Grid Victories

Chicago Invades Badger Camp First Time Since 1916

opening game of the year, the Stagmen will present, to offset the fleet Badger backs, an array of stars such as Van Nice, flash of the Minnesota game, Mendenhall, Rayson, and Leyers, all dangerous in an open field.

Wisconsin Holds Advantage
Comparing the strength of the two teams, one finds Wisconsin has the advantage in the line. While of the same weight, the forward wall of the Cardinal, has demonstrated its strength in every game, while that of Chicago, proved unable to stop the attacks of Minnesota, Iowa, and Purdue.

In the backfield, the Badgers boast of such stars as Cuisinier, H. Smith, Lusby, Behr, Rebholz, Bartholomew, and Hayes, any of whom are capable of excellent offensive and defensive play. The main scoring threat of the Maroons will be Van Nice, who after playing great ball against Minnesota for a half, retired with a twisted neck, and has been on the hospital list until this week.

Injuries Hurt Maroons

The Chicago team will be handicapped by an injury list. In addition to Capt. Weislow, Bob Spence, end, is suffering from a knee injury, while Small and Cushman, two tackles, are both nursing bad shoulders and may not see action today.

The only loss to the Badgers by injuries, is Milo Lubratovich, giant tackle, who suffered a broken ankle against Alabama. The loss of Lubratovich has caused Coach Thistlethwaite to shift Wagner back to tackle from the guard position he has been playing.

The Midway men will depend on their cutback plays off tackle, through the use of flat passes, and a flanked charge, for their gains, while Coach Thistlethwaite is not expected to vary the attack that has brought victories over Notre Dame, Michigan, and Alabama, and a tie with Purdue.

Crowd Fills Stadium

One of the greatest crowds in Wisconsin history will view the game. Every available space has been utilized in erecting temporary bleachers, but even so, thousands of rooters will be denied admission to the Homecoming clash. Five thousand Maroon backers are drifting into Madison by all available means of travel.

The Wisconsin team took a light workout yesterday and then retired. The Chicago squad arrived yesterday evening after having a light workout at Chicago in the afternoon, and may run through signal drill at Camp Randall this morning.

Badgers Use Running Attack

The attack of the Badgers will again be that of a strong running game, coupled with an aerial attack, while the Chicago team, primed with the many trick plays of Coach Stagg, will undoubtedly unleash at Camp Randall an array of deceptive passes and plunges that will keep Wisconsin on edge.

ATTEMPT TO ESTABLISH NEW BADGER TRADITION

An attempt to start a new tradition at Wisconsin will be made today as 6,000 hydrogen balloons are placed on sale outside the stadium before the game this afternoon. The idea of the plan is just this: spectators who have a balloon will hold on to the same until the first Wisconsin score is made. The moment that initial score is made all balloons will be released. The hydrogen content, of course, will carry those novelties straight up, presenting a novel sight. These balloons will sell for 15 cents each, two for a quarter.

Heavier Freshman 'C' Squad Tramples Intramural Team

Outweighed, but not outfought or outgamed, Athletic Director George Little's Intramural football team went down in defeat before the vicious onslaught of the Freshman C team yesterday, 19 to 0.

Frosh March Up Field

The Freshmen kicked off and Schultz, Intramural fullback, returned the ball 40 yards to the Freshmen's 30 yard line. After a series of line plunges, the Intramurals punted to the yearlings' 1 yard line. Another march by the Freshmen took the ball the length of the field to the Intramurals' 4 yard line. On the next play Bach plunged over for a touchdown. He missed the try for extra point.

The Freshmen kicked off to the Intramurals' 5 yard line, where McGuire was downed with the ball. An Intramural halfback fumbled, and the Freshmen recovered the ball on the 5 yard line. On the next play, Holmes, fullback, went over for a touchdown, bringing the total count to 19 to 0.

Bach Is Star

The Intramural defense tightened in the second half and held the Frosh scoreless. Bach, the Minneapolis flash, was the star of the fray, scoring two touchdowns and playing a strong defensive game. Schultz played well for the Intramural eleven.

Illinois Team Altered; Hope for Second Consecutive Victory

By JIM FLAGG

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 8.—The Illini Reserve team will be seeking its second consecutive victory over a Big Ten team when it clashes here with the Wisconsin "B" eleven at 2 p. m. today. Spurred on by a walk-away triumph over Northwestern two weeks ago, Coach Wilson's squad has shown a great improvement in form and should be at its best for the Badger invasion.

Somewhat of a revamped lineup will probably trot out on Stadium field when the two teams clash, because of numerous shifts from the Varsity to the reserve squad during the last two weeks. At quarterback, the position that was rather weak earlier in the season, will be Chittin, capable pilot who has played for Coach Zupke at various times.

Huddleston, a lineman who tips the scales at well over 200 pounds, has been shifted from center to tackle in order that Hise may be used at the pivot position. Irwin and Myers will probably get the call at the halfback berths, and both have plenty of speed. At fullback, Liebert may start, although there is a possibility that Robinson, line-plunger who has played well for the Varsity, will be held for the Badger contest.

The remainder of the lineup will probably be made up of Johnson, right tackle, McGrath and Baer, guards, and Hinton and Trogdon, ends.

Coach Wilson's eleven has a record of one victory and two defeats (Continued on Page 15)

Seniors Outpoint Sophs, 6-2, After Fast Hockey Tilt

Seniors won their first field hockey game of the season by defeating the Sophomores, 6-2 Thursday. The Seniors carried the ball down the field time after time only to lose it when met by the stubborn Sophomore defense within scoring distance. They were able to score only two goals in the first half.

In the second half, the Senior offense operated more smoothly and accounted for four more goals. The Sophomore counters came late in the half. Outstanding players for the Seniors were Jacobson, Meyer and Hardenbergh. For the Sophs, Powers, Shaw and Horton played nicely. The goals were: Jacobson, 4; Wellner, 2; Lange, 2. The lineups were:

Seniors (6)	Sophomores (2)
Spindler R.W.	Grimm
Shaferman R.I.	Morgan
Wellner C.F.	Hansmann
Jacobson L.I.	Sloan
Rouche L.W.	Lange
Ringe R.H.
Meyer C.H.	Powers
Gibbs L.H.	Larson
Brock R.F.	Hardy
Hardenbergh L.F.	Ravn
Paton Goal	Horton

Two Hockey Tilts Slated for Today

The two student teams which are to play the Madison Hockey club and the Alumnae today were announced Thursday by Lillian Wellner '29, student head of Hockey. The games will start at 10:30 a. m. A luncheon will be served at 12:30 in the fieldhouse to all players, alumni, and Chicago W. A. A. members for 35 cents. The teams are:

First team	Second team
Morgan R.W.	Wiesner
Wellner R.I.	Kastner
Merton C.F.	Holt
Jacobson L.I.	M. Owen
Rouche, J. Meyer L.W.	B. Owen
S. Meyer C.H.	Andrews
Sloan R.H.	Stuart
Eckstein L.H.	Pease
Hardenbergh R.F.	Fish
Wasson L.F.	Brock
Verhulst Goal	Horton

decision, he indicated that he was entirely in favor of such a team.

The fulfillment of the plan will depend, in a large measure, upon the number of men who turn out for practice next spring and who are not quite good enough to make the varsity squad. The coach anticipates no trouble in getting the men to report for work. The financial question also must be taken into consideration.

Because of financial reasons, the B team, if the plan works out successfully, will not engage in battle with any conference teams. It is planned to have the squad play against state college teams which have a one-year residence rule for their athletes; for example, such schools as Milton, Oshkosh Normal, or Northwestern college of Watertown.

Greek Grid Teams Will Meet Sunday in Quarter Finals

Fraternity touch football teams swing into the quarter-finals Sunday. While the muddy fields will probably interfere somewhat with team action, the approaching semi-finals will spur the Greeks to some desperately fast games. Alpha Chi Rho, victors Thursday, will play Delta Sigma Pi at 10:00 on field No. 3. Theta Chi meets Kappa Sigma at 11:00 on the same field. Theta Chi, a strong contender for the title, will battle Beta Theta Pi on field No. 2 at 10:00 o'clock, while Sigma Chi, another outstanding team, fights Theta Xi at 11:00 on Intramural field No. 2.

Harriers Bid for Fraternity Title in Wednesday Race

The annual Interfraternity cross-country meet will be held Wednesday over the short course. This event was won last year by the Farm House with Phi Kappa Tau second. Entries close Monday evening. The number is expected to exceed that of last year, when 18 fraternities competed.

Haresfoot Lays Plans for Show

Staff Leaders Announced; Chorus Classes Start Next Week

"I want men who are willing to work, and work hard. Haresfoot is no place for those who are merely seeking publicity, social prestige, or a free railroad trip," said Bill Purnell, director of the Haresfoot club, Thursday night, as he spoke to a crowd of 250 aspirants for positions in the 1929 production of the club, in a lecture room in Bascom hall.

Chorus classes will begin Thursday, Nov. 15, at 4:30 p.m., in the basement of the Luther Memorial church on University avenue, this being the only place of sufficient size located near the campus.

Organization of the show this year is divided into the following departments:

Production, with William T. Schroeder, graduate, as general head; and with Gordon Derber L3, in charge of publicity, and Marvin Fein '29, in charge of advertising.

The cast will be supervised by Ralph Smith '29, and the orchestra by Jack Mason '29. The chorus will be directed by Vernon Hamel '29, until Archie D. Scott arrives to take active charge of the staging of the dances. Edward Schempf '31, will assist Hamel, as a veteran of last year's show, "Feature That."

Purnell stated that he has become a strict disciplinarian, and will tolerate nothing but serious work. He promises that the show this year will offer something entirely new in college musical comedies, mentioning the mysterious words, "impressionistic," and "futuristic."

Galli-Curci, Famed Soprano, to Sing at Capitol on Nov. 13

Madame Amelita Galli-Curci, world-famous soprano, was the first artist to sing in the university stock pavilion after its erection. She will return here for her first concert since that time Tuesday, Nov. 13.

Six years ago, at the time of the prima donna's first appearance in Madison, a great protest arose from many persons interested in the concert against holding it in the stock pavilion. It was declared that an artist of so great a reputation as Madame Galli-Curci would refuse to sing under such conditions.

The matter was finally carried to the singer herself, who replied in her usual gracious manner that she would gladly sing there—anywhere that her audience wished to hear her. At the time of her concert, the pavilion was packed to capacity, the crowd being recorded as one of the largest Madison has ever known.

A record audience is again predicted for Madame Galli-Curci's Tuesday appearance. Tickets have been selling with great rapidity, and a few only are still obtainable at the several prices.

Michigan to Have Indoor Ice Rink

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 7.—Michigan's newest addition to its athletic plant and plan of "athletics for all" is the coliseum, or indoor artificial ice skating rink and it will be ready for use this month according to present plans of the board of control of athletics.

The artificial ice rink will cover an area of 14,640 square feet. The ice will measure approximately 208 feet by 60 feet and will offer opportunities for skating from November until April. In addition to the skating rink the coliseum will be equipped with the usual checking and refreshment facilities.

First Student Chess Tourney Set for Sunday

Proof that there is at least one interest besides football on Homecoming week-end is furnished by the fact that the first university chess tournament of the year will attract chess players to the Bunkhouse of the Union Sunday, Nov. 11, at 3:30 p.m.

The tournament is open to any student in the university who is interested in chess. The purpose is to select a chess team to represent the university. Matches are planned with the faculty and other teams in the city and about the state. Matches with other schools are seen as a future possibility.

The newly-organized club is bringing back an active interest in this brain game, using the new Bunkhouse in the Union as the scene of activities. John A. Lester '29 is president of the club, and Clarence W. Sonderman, grad, is secretary.

Lecturer Tells of Jungle Life

Engineering Auditorium Is Filled to Capacity to Hear Purdue Professor

"The Jungle Life at the Panama Canal Zone" was the topic of an illustrated lecture given Thursday evening in the engineering building by Prof. Howard E. Enders, head of the biology department at Purdue university.

The auditorium was crowded to capacity by both students and members of the public. The lecturer was presented by the department of biology and by Phi Sigma honor society.

Professor Enders spent the past summer at the Barro Colorado Island Biological laboratory in Gatun lake studying and photographing plant and animal life. The island is about six square miles in area and is covered with tropical vegetation of fern and wild pineapple.

Snakes are common, one which Prof. Enders described being one yard in diameter when coiled. Leaf cutting ants are interesting from a study of animal life, and small monkeys are

Frank Addresses State Teachers

Other University Faculty Members Are Active at Convention

More than 10,000 teachers assembled in Milwaukee for the 75th annual convention of the Wisconsin Teachers' association heard Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin, make the principal address of the session Thursday morning. The meeting, which celebrates the diamond jubilee of the organization, is a three-day affair.

In addition to President Frank, other members of the university faculty partook in the varied activities of the convention. Prof. C. J. Anderson of the department of education, as chairman of the resolutions committee, conducted the business meeting which took place in the early part of the afternoon. Later in the day, Prof. William A. Agard of the Greek department and adviser in the experimental college addressed the special Latin departmental session.

Inasmuch as all the teachers in the state are attending the convention, all schools in Madison and the rest of Wisconsin are closed for the rest of the week giving the students a special two day holiday. Various events are scheduled for the remainder of the convention.

Lawyers' Pictures to Grace Building

Pictures of every law student who has graduated from the University of Texas will eventually be placed upon the walls of the Law Building, according to Dean I. P. Hildebrand, of the School of Law. The only graduating class missing from the collection is the class of 1884.

"We are on the trail of the missing picture now," stated Dean Hildebrand, General Burleson of Austin, a member of the first graduating class has in his possession a picture of the class. It has been misplaced but has been promised to the University if it can be located. General T. W. Gregory of Houston, Attorney General of the United States under Wilson's administration, was a member of the second graduating class and furnished the names of the members of the first class.

Weekend Visitors in Union May See Spanish Etchings

Home-comers will see the new November exhibit in the Assembly room of the Memorial Union as they pass through the house this week-end, according to the announcement made yesterday by Jerome Sperling '30, chairman of the Arts committee.

The exhibit is a group of 14 Spanish etchings, loaned through the courtesy of Prof. Joaquin Ortega of the Romance Languages department and arranged by the Madison Art association.

It is a striking display of modern Spanish art. Two of the most effective pieces are the "Castle" by Labrada and a "Head" by Beneditto. The "Plowman" by Ostos is reminiscent of the powerful etchings of Francesco Goya.

The pictures now on exhibit are the following:

C. Guzman (de) Roja; Francesco Reyes, "The Grotto"; Manez, "The

Cardinal-Tribune Controversy Was Opened One Year Ago Today

R.O.T.C. Attack Reached Climax with Cartoon on Badger Pacifism

By MARGERY HAYDEN

Climaxing an attack upon the "pink radicals" of the University of Wisconsin, The Chicago Daily Tribune just a year ago today, Nov. 10, 1927, published a cartoon which will live long in the memories of Wisconsin students.

The cartoon pictured students of Wisconsin in an attitude of worship before a figure of pacifism while a Wisconsin soldier of the Iron Brigade and a doughboy of the 32nd division stood in the background neglected. It resulted from an editorial policy of The Daily Cardinal attacking the unsatisfactory position of the R. O. T. C. on the campus.

Abolish Artillery Unit

The Cardinal policy, which attracted widespread interest, began with an article published Oct. 5, 1927, telling of the decline of interest in military training shown in the abolition of an artillery unit of the local R. O. T. C. Shortly afterward the history of the Reserve Officer Training corps, explaining the land grant ruling which makes it impossible to eliminate military training without federal action, was presented.

A plank entitled "abolishment of the local R. O. T. C." was added to the Cardinal platform. Editorials emphasizing the prevalence of the problem of military training at other universities and enlarging on the stand taken by the paper followed at frequent intervals.

Suggest Compulsory Training

The Reserve Officer's association in a meeting at Milwaukee Oct. 27, 1927, aroused statewide interest in the campaign by suggesting that compulsory training be resumed. Colonel Joseph Barnes, at that time commandant of the local unit of the R. O. T. C., speaking before the Hesperia literary society defended military training against charges of militarism.

As a result of the great interest now shown in the question, Bertrand Russell, who lectured at Wisconsin at that time, Dean Scott H. Goodnight and many members of the faculty were interviewed and favorable and adverse criticism of military training was expressed.

State Teachers' Convention Hears Troutman Speak

Prof. W. C. Troutman, director of the University theater, and two members of the Wisconsin players, Charles Crownhart '29 and Marion Palmer '30, addressed the sessions of the Wisconsin State Teachers' convention in Milwaukee Friday.

Troutman discussed the various problems which confront a director of amateur dramatics in high schools and colleges.

Crownhart's talk treated the subject of the organization of production staffs, using the Wisconsin players as an example of what can be done in the line of building scenery and preparing all the sets required without professional assistance.

Palmer's talk dealt with the matter of the properties and costumes required for amateur productions.

The Madison people returned to the city early last night.

Use Union Rooms for Homecoming

Great Hall, Rathskeller Are Scenes of Week-end Functions

The two rooms in the Memorial Union pictured above will be the scene of interesting Homecoming activities this weekend.

The Great hall, the most beautiful large room in the state, will accommodate between 400 and 500 couples at the Union celebration dance tonight and will again be rearranged as a lounge for the comfort of Homecoming visitors on Sunday. Radio concerts, an amplifying phonograph, and a Steinway grand piano will provide entertainment for Sunday guests.

The Rathskeller, ordinarily the hangout and center of activities for the men of the university, will be open to Homecoming visitors after the game for coffee and sandwiches, served through the courtesy of the Alumni association, light lunches and refreshments of all kinds, including pretzels. An orchestra will play while the open house is in progress.

Rathskeller, meaning "cellar of the village hall", recalls the old German traditions of good fellowship and good food which are familiar to the people of Wisconsin. It is the most unique room in the building and perhaps is not duplicated anywhere except in the old villages of Germany. Humorous decorations for the walls have now been completed and are especially entertaining to anyone who reads German.

Right to Freedom of Opinion in Fact Denied by World

"I believe in freedom of opinion, but . . ." That everyone accepts freedom in principle, although most of us reject it in fact is the thesis of an article by Miss Suzanne LaFollette in the New Student for November. "Both peoples and governments, when it comes to the test, will accept freedom in principle and repudiate it in fact; the former because they do not understand their own interest, the latter because they understand their own interest perfectly," writes Miss LaFollette.

"The right to pursue one's own good in one's own way of course implies the right to decide for oneself in what one's good consists," the writer continues: "That is a right which almost no individual is ready to concede. No person, probably, doubts his own ability to decide such matters for himself; and almost none is willing to concede the same liberty to other people . . ."

"What one may justly marvel at a little, perhaps, is the confidence in their own opinions which those who advocate any forcible regulation of human conduct must necessarily possess; and one marvels the more because they are often among the most enlightened members of the community. Such a self-confidence, carried to the point of an attempt to substitute force for persuasion, amounts to sheer arrogance. One wonders to what end humanity has made its bitter struggle to escape from the chains which its own fears and superstitions have helped to forge, if those in a position to profit by that struggle and to continue it, fail so signally to understand its implications. One does not associate arrogance of opinion with true cultivation. A cultivated mind is an open mind, and an open mind is by its very nature the reverse of arrogant."

Medical Library New Addition at Hoosier School

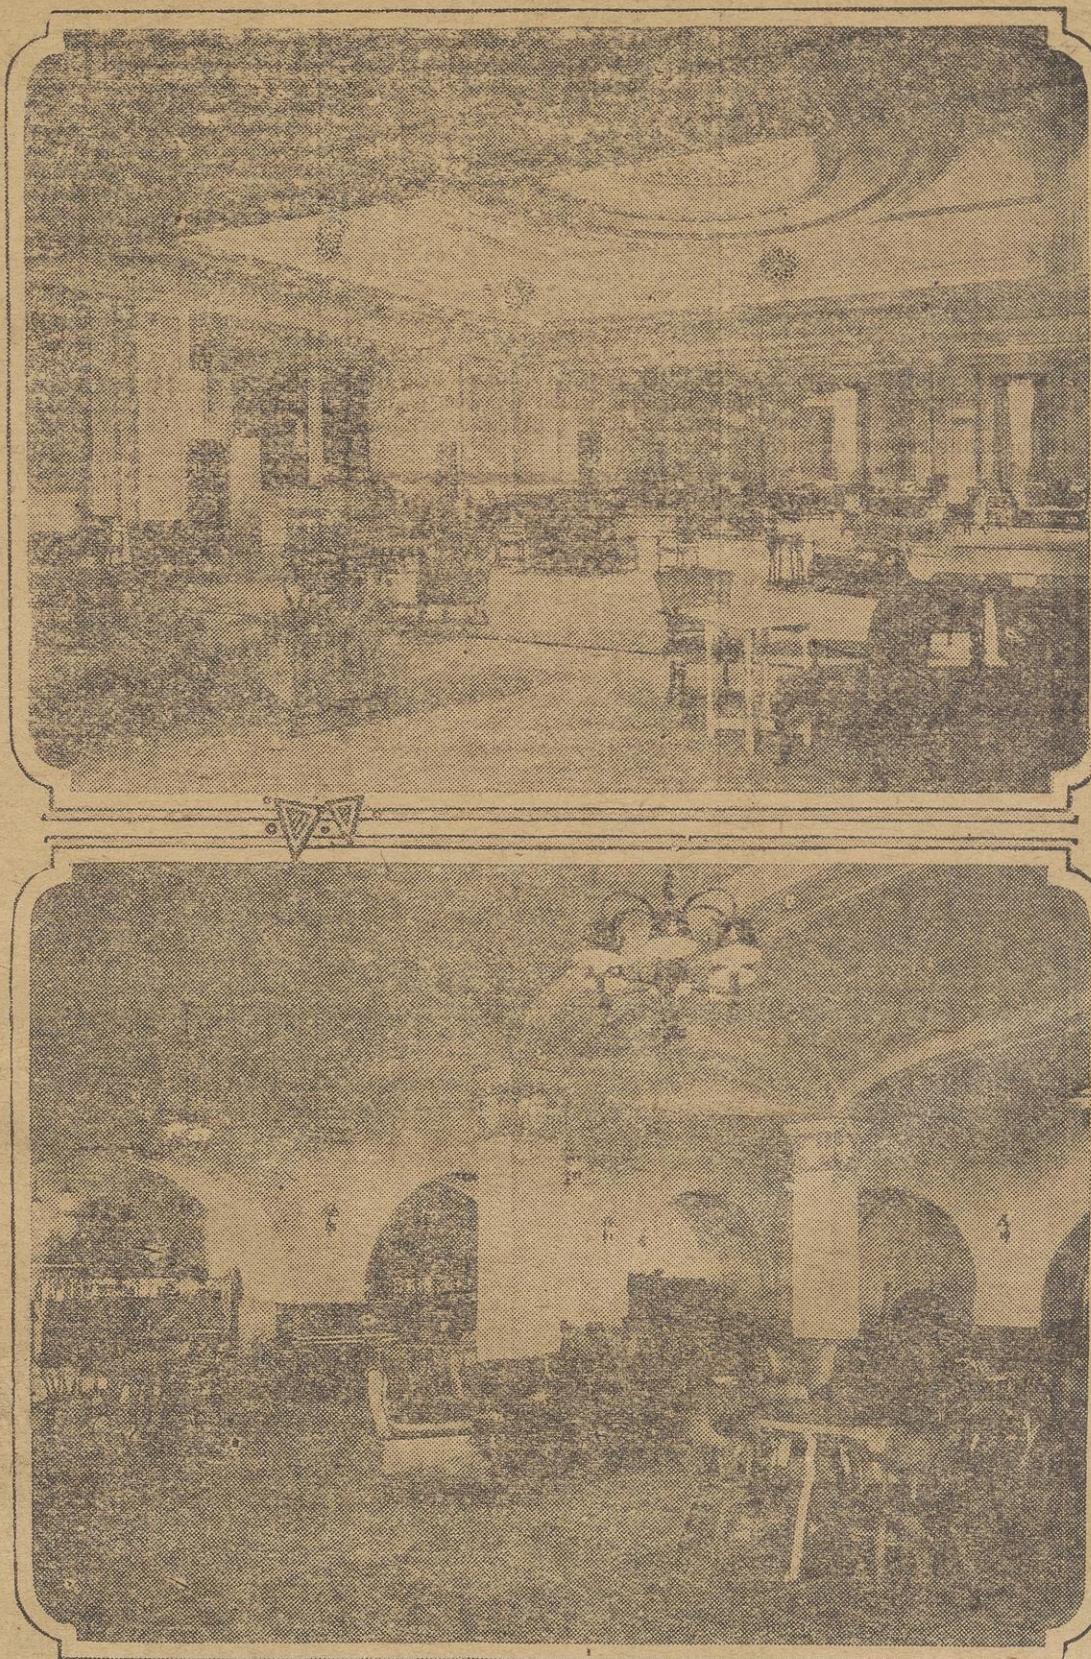

"Frank A. Morrison Ophthalmological Library" has been established at the Indiana University School of Medicine in Indianapolis through the provisions of the will of the late Dr. Frank A. Morrison, former professor of ophthalmology in the school.

The bequest includes approximately 400 volumes devoted principally to the eye, but includes also a number of works on anatomy and kindred subjects. In the collection are various journals and transactions of societies having to do with the study of the eye, the specialty to which Dr. Morrison devoted his life.

Along with his medical books and periodicals, Dr. Morrison gave to the University all of his instruments, which make up a highly valuable collection.

Dr. Morrison, a member of the Indiana University School of Medicine faculty from its founding until his death last June, was a widely recognized genius in the treatment of diseases of the eye.

Where Returning Alumni Will Meet

Both the Great hall and the Rathskeller of the Memorial Union will play an important part in the homecoming celebration this week-end.

The Great hall will be used tonight for the Homecoming dance and on Sunday for general entertainment. The Rathskeller, which is ordinarily reserved for the men of the university, will be opened to Homecoming visitors after the game.

Lunches and refreshments will be served there at that time through the courtesy of the Alumni association, and an orchestra will be provided to furnish entertainment for guests.

Large Field to Be Here for Women's Hockey Tournament

Representative Mid-West Teams to Compete at Camp Randall

The Mid-West intercity hockey tournament will be held Nov. 16 and 17, at Camp Randall. Madison's "Yellow Jacket" Hockey club will be the first club outside Chicago that will have the opportunity to entertain the members of the United States Field Hockey association.

Teams that will compete in the tournament are from Milwaukee, Battle Creek, Mich., St. Louis, Mo., the North Shore suburbs of Chicago, and two teams from the city of Chicago. Urbana and Rockford, Ill., may also be represented.

The two hockey fields at Camp Randall make it possible for two teams to be played at the same time. This will afford time for four games to be played each morning and afternoon.

The judges who constitute the Mid-West Selection committee are members of the clubs of the section. It is not the plan of this committee to determine the winning team by an elimination contest, but by the number of games won. Each team will play three games.

The final game, to be played Saturday afternoon, Nov. 17, will be an exhibition between the two winning teams. On Saturday night an all-

Guilders Tackle Goethe's Drama

Digges Is Mephistopheles, Gaul Is Faust in New Production

By G. D. SEYMOUR

New York—"Faust" as Goethe wrote it has been brought to the New York stage by the Theatre Guild. For four years the guild has looked forward to the production of the great German drama, and during that time it has rejected three translations of it. The chosen version is the directest of them all, and is the work of Graham and Tristan Rawson.

There are many ways of doing "Faust," and Gounod's treatment of it in his opera is perhaps the most familiar. The guild's interpretation differs greatly from this in narrative, relegating the story of Faust's love for and betrayal of Margaret to the latter part of the production and giving greater attention to Faust's struggle with himself—his despair of the fruits of learning, his effort to divine the meaning of the universe and to penetrate to the essence of life, his bond with Mephistopheles.

The production is given episodic treatment, and perhaps its principal handicap is that the interest of the audience often must be recaptured after the intermissions between its seventeen scenes.

To direct the play the guild brought from Germany Friedrich Holl, who has produced "Faust" with distinction at the Volksbuehne in Berlin, a workingman's theatre which is the largest subscription playhouse in the world. For the role of Mephistopheles it has provided Dudley Diggers, as Faust's part George Gaul, and as the childlike Margaret, Helen Chandler.

The critics and the early audiences found the production only casually interesting as a play, despite its undoubted merits as a faithful rendering of Goethe. In spite of which it is, currently, something to be seen—at least for its rolling poetry and for its striking settings, designed by Lee Simpson.

Head of Japanese Episcopal Church Will Speak Nov. 18

A visit of international significance is that of the Rev. Father John T. Sakurai of Japan to St. Andrew's Episcopal church Sunday, Nov. 18. He is a distinguished scholar and an influential figure in Japanese life. He is the first priest of the native Episcopal church in Japan to enter the monastic life. Father Sakurai is of the Order of Mission Priests of St. John the Evangelist. He will preach at St. Andrew's at the 11 o'clock service Sunday, Nov. 18, and will be the celebrant at the Holy Communion at 7:30 a. m. He will be in Madison several days as the guest of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Bloodgood. A reception will be given for him and Japanese students of the university.

the Waukesha county asylum and Waukesha county sent Calumet county a bill for a straitjacket and anklets that were used on the patient under the statute that provides for payment of clothes by the patient's home county.

F. C. Aebischer, district attorney at Chilton, asked the attorney general whether Waukesha county had a right to include the straitjacket and anklets in the clothing bill and the attorney general held that they were not clothing but hospital equipment and that Calumet county does not need to pay.

Strand

Koaha!

White shadows—passing over the lives of simple, pure and primitive Marquesans of the South seas—leaving disease, strife and death in its umbra, motivated by greed in its search for pearls to satisfy the fancy of milady—the life of that fast-extinguishing race, the Marquesans, because of its contact with "civilization" of the white race, is depicted in "White Shadows of the South Seas", now being shown at the Strand.

Raquel Torres as the chieftain's daughter is bewitching. Monte Blue, after some absence from the screen, comes back in the role of the beachcomber . . . condemning the greed of his race, regenerates through love, and to save the natives, dies—ineffectually. Very, very rare in the South seas.

Nature scenes are superb. Glimpses of native life and customs are true. Peachy shots of diving under water—sunsets and clouds—hulas. Real natives appear. And its all synchronized with Bristolphone newly installed.

Apa! Koaha e! (Reviewed by Carlos Quirino—of the Philippines).

criticism—but we like Leonard as he is.

Also

Carroll Blair, who we have ventured to disagree with, is a strong contributor in the Lit.

His short verses on campus figures are very sharp and ironical. We think they are very good.

Mori

There is a play called Mori in the Lit. If you have a very broad mind and a knowledge of psychology—read it.

It is not a nursery rhyme—but it is a creditable work.

Spanish

There will be an all Spanish movie—with Spanish cast and Spanish characters—presented at Music hall on Nov. 15 at 7:30 p. m.

Todos los hombres que hablan el espanol; deben ver este cine.

Which is the best we can do in the line of Spanish.

Talkie

We went down to the Strand yesterday and saw their new sound device in action.

It was a very complicated affair consisting of wheels, wax disks and loud speakers.

The sound effects at the Strand (Bristolphone) are deeper than any we have heard at any other theater.

As yet we don't know whether we like it better than the Vitaphone machine at the Parkway or not.

We do know this—the Parkway wiring is supposed to be as good as any in the country, if not better than that in most houses.

Band

Major Morphy (of the band) is really quite anxious to please the crowds at the football games.

After a study of the situation one finds that there is a lot to be said on all sides—especially the major's.

Nevertheless

We are still firm on our stand for more fortissimo and more presto.

Capitol

Police benefit shows still going on at the Capitol. This worthy cause is backed up by an entertaining bill.

Promoted

Bob De Haven will review the plays at the Garrick, and Bill Grube will listen to the wise cracks at the Orph.

Elections

Our candidate was not elected but he sure won a great moral victory.

He will continue appearing in "Three Cheers," the Broadway hit . . . oh yes . . . we mean Will Rogers . . .

When Pottsville, Pa., a town of 3,500, went broke it began issuing its own currency which is as worthless as post-war German marks.

Test Shows Breed Mixing Profitable

That stockmen should never mix breeds, such as crossing dairy and beef cattle, may have to be removed from the list of "don'ts" for cattle breeders, as a result of recent experiments at the University Agricultural Experiment station.

For three successive years, this principle, once considered a fundamental precept in the creed of livestock farmers, has been broken—and with success and profit.

And now state investigators are suggesting that in some cases dairymen, keeping grade cows, might well add a beef sire to their herd and raise cross-bred calves for baby beef.

Minnesota Tickets on Sale 'Til Nov. 23

Contrary to a story appearing in Friday's Daily Cardinal, the ticket sale for the Minnesota game will remain open until 5 p. m. Friday, Nov. 23, or as long as the supply of tickets lasts.

Instructions for obtaining seats together, which were given in the same article, remain as previously stated.

More than two tickets are not available in the Fathers' section unless more than one son or daughter is in attendance at the university. Students are urged to apply at the ticket office as soon as they know their fathers are coming.

Warmer Weather with Rain—Miller

The snow which visited Madison yesterday afternoon was merely a harbinger of winter and is in no way connected with the season itself.

Eric C. Miller's weather bureau reports that it will be warmer today and that light rains will probably mar the pleasure of the Homecoming crowds.

The field at Camp Randall is protected from the ravages of the elements by a layer of straw which will be removed just before the game.

The snow which fell Friday afternoon turned to rain as soon as it hit the pavement.

Fifty jobs at $50 a week are to be offered to ex-college athletes by Earl Carroll, producer of the Earl Carroll Vanities, within the next few weeks. The men are desired for roles in a new musical comedy which is scheduled to open about January 1.

R.O.T.C. Program Deplored by New Student Magazine

Almost simultaneously with the appearance of the neat new blue R. O. T. C. uniforms on the Wisconsin campus, "The New Student", a magazine of liberal student opinion, in a recent issue has attacked the fostering of militarism by the glamour of bands and braid. The article, headed "More 'Ginrals'", states:

"Some university presidents have happened upon the discovery that made recruiting such a simple matter for Artemus Ward when he was Captain of a Baldwinsville company in the Civil War. Said A. Ward: "Having notist a general desire on the part of the young men who are into the Crisis to wear epauletts, I determined to have my company composed exclusively of officers, everybody to rank as Brigadier-Ginral."

"These university presidents, having applied a draft which compels students to take two years of military training, find that at least fifty percent of the students drop the course after their requirements have been completed. It is not in the power of a college president to offer "epauletts," but several of them have travelled to Washington in the hope that the War Department may be persuaded to furnish nifty uniforms for advanced students in the science of slaughter."

"The plan is to have Congress appropriate enough money to furnish each student with a thirty-dollar uniform and thus seduce the young man into preparation for the coming Crisis, since the mere service uniform fails to lure him. Captain Charles C. Quigley, U. S. A., who prepared and presented the War Department estimates on the R. O. T. C. to a House committee, introduced the testimony of three university presidents on the point of a thirty-dollar uniform. We will let the President of Minnesota speak for the three:

"... We shall regret it if nothing can be done about it for unless there can be some amelioration of the order to furnish service uniforms) it will be accompanied by most unfortunate circumstances in those institutions that have been encouraging the work of the R. O. T. C. It will mean a reduction in registration, a loss of interest in the work, and it will contribute to a lowering of the prestige of the military departments."

"We respectfully beg Congress to consider the expense of dress uniforms, to taxpayers, and, if it has the power, make all these young men 'Brigadier-Ginrals' instead."

"We are bound to have the Crisis for which these colleges and universities are preparing, and it will come to a large degree as a result of their preparation. Never has a military machine been created, from the days of the Egyptian Empire down to the present day, that has not evolved from means of national defense to an end in itself and an instrument of aggression."

"War is being pictured in the eighty or more institutions that support R. O. T. C. units as one big football game extending over years instead of a Saturday afternoon. Every imaginable means is being used to popularize the military unit. And these young Reserve officers are going to be so many young jingoists, chafing to lead their country, be she right or wrong, into wars that will give thirty-dollar uniforms an opportunity to show themselves off to advantage before a nation of cheering patriots."

Return of Eight Veterans Brightens Basketball Hopes

football season is over concerning his squad, but it is freely whispered about the campus that the team has a chance to win the championship this year. The team has undoubtedly great potentialities, for eight varsity men returned for the current season, and a number of members from last year's frosh squad, and junior varsity five have reported in the "Red Army" to strive for positions on the team.

Season Schedule Completed

Four minor college teams and one eastern university five have been contracted to complete the basketball schedule. Due to the fact that he believes that regular practice against the same team becomes monotonous and undesirable, Coach Meanwell arranged to have the Cardinal quintet meet a new team each week in the final weeks of practice.

The Wisconsin quintet will open the season here Dec. 10 with Franklin College. On the 15th the strong Pittsburg University aggregation will be met at Milwaukee in the city auditorium. Lombard College of Galesburg, Ill., comes to Madison for a contest Dec. 28 and Carleton College has been booked for Jan. 1. Bradley of Peoria, Ill., completes the non-conference chart with a game at Madison on February 12.

Student Directory Completed Nov. 20

The new student directories will be ready by Nov. 20, it announced Friday. These will have many new features not found in previous issues. The home addresses of students, their fraternities or sororities, both honorary and social, and any position they may hold will be included in the directories. Due to these additions, the books will be much larger.

Lowman Favors "B" Squad Plan

The B team also will meet the varsity in practice sessions. If, however, the plan fails through, the freshman squad will continue to furnish opposition for the varsity workouts as in the past.

thus far. The Illini reserves opened the season by bowing to DePaul, 20 to 7, then lost a heartbreaker to Indiana, 13 to 12, and broke into the win column by trouncing Northwestern, 37 to 0.

The University of California spent $60,000 on its varsity crew this year.

Scientist Tries to Signal Mars

Englishman Waits in Vain for Answer to His Wire-less Message

London — Small ears and long antennae in England strained in vain recently to catch a return message from the big eared folk of Mars, to whom a wireless message had been dispatched.

Dr. Mansfield Robertson, author of the message, who professes acquaintance with the Martians through telepathic means, clings to his faith in the possibility of interplanetary conversations. He admits that no response was received, but insists that his friends up yonder are anxious to exchange good wishes with him.

Message A Mystery

The wording of the message to Mars remains a mystery. The postal authorities collected their one-shilling sixpence per word. It is purely a matter of business to them, and they are not at liberty to disclose the contents of the radiogram. This went on an 18,700 meter length and not a sound came back. Dr. Robinson thinks the wave length was too short. He hopes that some American millionaire will "put up a few shillings" for a 30,000 meter wave length.

In the meantime Mrs. Robinson, wife of the doctor, remained an exasperated woman, shooing away reporters who hope to get some inside information from her. She declared boldly that the experiment was nonsensical and is quoted by the Evening Standard as saying:

Wife Scoffs Idea

"It's all foolishness. Messages cannot be sent to Mars. I don't know what my husband is doing. I don't know if a message was sent to Mars and I don't care."

"I don't know if my husband got a message back. I don't expect he has; but I am not interested. I don't even know where Mars is."

Dr. Robinson said solemnly this afternoon, "The Martians were very annoyed that the signals could not come to them. They were sitting up for hours to receive them. They laugh at our scientists because they themselves have got rid of atmospheres altogether, and yet we have not."

Coach Pat Page of Indiana had his varsity men work out against Minnesota plays Thursday, and is hopeful of a victory over the Gophers. Indiana has not beaten Minnesota for a decade or more.
