NEW ATHLETIC RULES.

CHANGES IN THE REQUIREMENTS FOR MILITARY DRILL.

REQUIREMENTS IN REGARD TO PHYSICAL CULTURE.

Restrictions of Freshmen and Special Students.

A committee of the faculty has made a number of changes in the rules for military drill. The new rules for physical culture have also been drawn up. The athletic council referred to in the rules has not been appointed but there will probably be a representation of both faculty and undergraduates and perhaps a representative of the alumni. Probably the most important rule, from the point of view of the students, is the one in regard to the playing of freshmen and specials on the athletic teams. The athletic council will be appointed and action taken on the new rule at the faculty meeting next Monday. The following are the new rules:

REQUIREMENTS FOR MILITARY DRILL.

1. Military drill is required of male members of the freshmen and sophomore classes and of special students ranking with those classes, on two days of the week, at five o'clock.

2. Exemptions on account of physical disability may be given by the professor of military science on the recommendation of the professor of physical culture. This recommendation is to be based on a medical examination of the person claiming exemption. In case of such exemption no credit for the work will be given and the credit required for graduation must be made up by other work.

Exemptions for other causes, such as the necessity for labor in order to support the student at the university, or training for athletic teams, etc., may be given by the committee on military affairs in its discretion.

3. Military drill ranks as required work in the university, and reports at the end of the term in regard to the same will be presented to the class officers, in the same manner as reports of other work. Students reported as satisfying the requirements will be credited for the same towards graduation at the rate of one hour per term for each two hours per term of drill; but no credit for drill will be given for less than the work of a term or in case of more than 20 per cent. of absences during the term, except on the recommendation of the committee on military affairs. For unexcused absences as well as for inattention or other neglect of duty students may be conditioned or reported as not passed. Students so reported will receive no credit for the military work of the term. Whether the student so failing shall repeat the work shall be determined by the committee on military affairs; but if not repeated, the credit required for graduation must be made good by other work.

4. All commissioned officers performing their duties in a satisfactory manner will receive credit at the rate of one hour for each hour of drill; but such credit will not be given for more than two full years.

5. Members of the military band practicing regularly with the same not less than two hours a week, will be excused from military drill and will receive the same credits as other members of the cadet corps. The bandmaster will receive the same credit as a commissioned officer. Members of the band, like other members of the corps, are required to provide themselves with uniforms, and are under the general control of the professor of military science.

REQUIREMENTS IN REGARD TO PHYSICAL CULTURE.

1. Class work in the gymnasium is required of freshmen, sophomores, and special students ranking with those classes on two days of the week, one hour each day. For such work, faithfully and satisfactorily performed, a credit towards graduation of one hour per week will be given. At the end of each term the work of students will be reported to class officers; and all deficiencies must be made up in the same manner as in other university work. The work of young men is to be done at the armory and gymnasium; that of young women in the gymnasium of Ladies' hall.

2. Classes may be excused by the director of the gymnasium; or by the instructor of gymnastics in Ladies' hall, whenever there is a match game in Madison between a university team and any other college team. During the fall and spring terms any member of either class may be excused from class gymnasium work by the athletic council on the request of the captain of any university athletic team, and on the recommendation of the director of the gymnasium, whenever in the opinion of the director and council the applicant is taking an amount of athletic work that is a full equivalent for the prescribed class work. Any such substitution shall be accredited as class work. Such permission, however, may be revoked at any time by the athletic council on recommendation of the director. Whenever such permission is revoked, an immediate return to class work is required.

3. Students of the two lower classes who by reason of physical peculiarities or deficiencies may need exceptional training, must take such additional training as may be prescribed by the director of the gymnasium.

Students unable from any physical peculiarity to take class work in the gymnasium will be excused from the same by the director; but in case of such excuse other work either physical training or studies must be taken before graduation in place of the class work. Such work shall be assigned by the director of the gymnasium and the class officer of the student.

4. The anthropometric work of the gymnasium is regarded as highly important. The young men of the sophomore and freshman classes are expected to respond promptly to any call of the director for physical examination. By members of the upper classes this work, though optional, may be taken by appointment with the director.

5. For voluntary and special work the gymnasium is open daily, Sundays excepted, from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. In

FALL FIELD DAY PLANNED.

TRACK SPORTS TO BE IN ORDER ON OCTOBER 13.

STUDENTS PREPARING FOR THAT BRANCH OF ATHLETICS.

Numerous Men Who, It Is Believed, Will Make Records this Fall.

Present indications are that track athletics will cut as prominent a feature in the college sports, during the coming fall term, as they did last spring. Already under the management of Martin J. Gillen, who has charge of this branch of collegiate sports, preparations are being made for inter-class contests, on Oct. 13. It has been the custom on former years to hold the field day, with contests, open to all students at college during the spring term and to confine the entries to the games, held on the day, devoted to track sports in the fall term to members of the freshman and sophomore classes. In accordance with a custom now prevalent however, in eastern schools, this fall field day, for such it really is, will have a program in which all members of the university who are fond of track sports can enter.

Mr. Gillen believes that there will be no lack of entries and he thinks that not only among the old men, who have already proved themselves first-class athletes, but also in the freshman class, there are a number of people who will prove acceptable entries for the contests. He is urging upon all and especially the members of the freshman class the necessity of going into training early for the contests, and he believes that all students in the university, who are at all interested in track sports, should present themselves at Randall Athletic Field and begin the practice necessary to fit themselves for the field day competition.

Of the old men, who are still members of the college, G. F. Downer, C. C. Montgomery, H. B. Copeland, R. L. Holt, W. I. Frame, J. G. Graham, J. R. Richards, R. F. Schuchart, N. S. Hopkins, G. T. Hodges, B. W. James, A. R. Hager, R. L. Holt, C. L. Brewer, H. Cochrens, G. Barth, R. A. Kilbourn, F. B. Blackburn, H. A. Harding, and M. Pitman. Of the new comers, who are especially prominent, J. Petley, of Milwaukee, who enters the sophomore year, is especially promising. He is a splendid all around trackman and already holds records as a one-fourth and one-half mile runner.

Everything is especially favorable to a successful fall meet. The Dane County Fair association has placed the track in excellent shape and it is now expected at least three records—among them the one-half mile, and mile run—will be broken during the contests. Splendid work in track sports is also being planned for next season. With the finely equipped gymnasium and under the direction of Prof. J. E. Elsom, it is expected that students can be given ample winter training and that next spring the Wisconsin university will put in the field a team which will prove the best in the northwest. It is expected to send a Wisconsin team to the Mott Haven meet in June.

The following contests will be included in the program for the fall meet: One hundred yard dash, running high jump, one hundred and twenty yard hurdle, one mile run, one mile bicycle, pole vaulting, four hundred forty yard dash, putting shot, two hundred and twenty yard hurdle, running broad jump, throwing hammer, mile walk, two hundred and twenty yard dash, half mile run.

Following are the university records:

50 yard dash, L. D. Sumner, '93,	5 1/4s
100 yard dash, G. F. Sherman, '94,	10 1-5s
120 yard dash, G. F. Downer, '97,	23 3/4s

The first meeting of the various literary societies, which will be held this evening, should be attended by all of the new students who have any desire to do that sort of work in the university. The old members will be glad to see you as good members are always welcome. As there are several of these societies it is always well for a student to look around at the various societies and then to make his choice. Each one takes in about twenty-five freshmen each fall so there is no danger of being unable to find a place in one of them provided you are a good man.

The new gymnasium rules are published elsewhere in this issue and the recommendation of the athletic committee on passage of a rule prohibiting freshmen from playing in 'Varsity teams during their first term, and adult specials, during their first two terms in the university has attracted some attention. Should the rule be passed it is hard to see how it will do anything except legislate against foot ball. The reasons for the passage of such a rule do not seem very evident. Had the committee recommended the passage of a comprehensive set of rules like those in force at Harvard and other eastern institutions, its object would have been clear, but to prohibit regular academic freshmen from playing foot ball and not stop his going into spring sports seems peculiar and even had such a set of rules as those mentioned above been recommended it seems very doubtful if the time is ripe for their adoption here.

Less than twenty candidates for the eleven were out yesterday at practice on the lower campus. This is an extremely poor showing. Already at the University of Illinois sixty men are in training and reports from other institutions show a corresponding enthusiasm.

Probably a good many men do not turn out because they are afraid that they have not the "beef" to get on the team. No one should hesitate on this account. Under the new rules the kind of players wanted are wiry, quick, muscular men.

A good scheme to further interest in the game would be the formation of light weight class teams, restricting the players to men weighing 155 or under. There are no doubt a number who would like to take part in a class championship series of this sort and it would help to develop men for the first and second elevens.

At all events, let every man who ever thinks he has the football spirit in him turn out on the field tomorrow and boom the game. The ground is soft and it won't hurt anyone to plow along on his face until it freezes up. Then—the eleven will be chosen anyway. And let no one forget that this year we must beat Minnesota.

There are undoubtedly many of the new students who do not understand all the customs of the university and for such it may be well to explain the rule in regard to wearing the 'Varsity W. The stores in town which handle sporting goods often have a lot of shirts or sweaters with W. and U. W. in various resplendent designs upon them. These are in no sense the official emblem of the university athletics and freshmen should understand that a man must make the 'Varsity base ball or foot ball teams, the crew or score a point in an intercollegiate track athletic contest to secure this privilege, so much coveted in eastern colleges, of wearing the 'Varsity letter. And in this connection something might be said in regard to the indifference of 'Varsity athletes in Wisconsin to this honor. Not half the men who earn the privilege here take advantage of it. In the east when a man has won the honor he does not let the sun rise again before he has the big H., P. or Y. or whatever it may be, attached to his sweater. To make any of these teams requires a lot of pluck, hard work and athletic ability and when a man does make one he should think enough of it to wear the 'Varsity emblem.

RESTRICTIONS ON YALE ATHLETES.

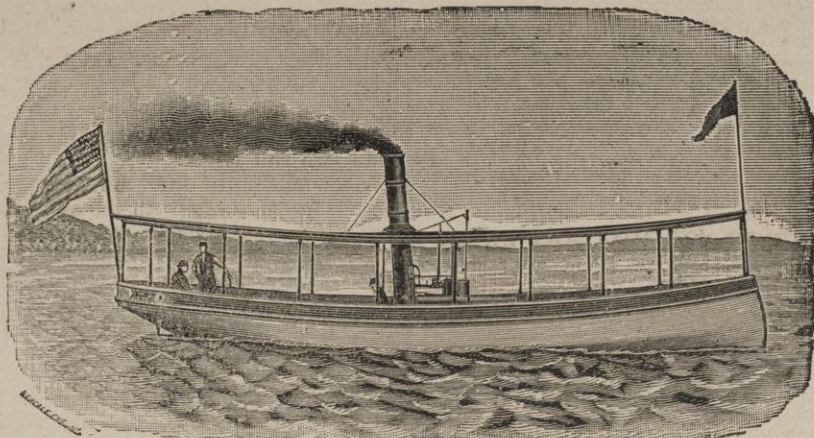

Walter Camp, Bob Cook, and George Ade, the Yale athletic triumvirate of coaches, have agreed upon an important innovation for Yale athletic teams. Hereafter no member of one will be allowed to be a candidate for another athletic organization of the university. This is a reform which the Yale faculty have demanded for several years and which President Eliot of Harvard strongly recommended in his annual report last May. The Yale captains reluctantly consented, fearing that their teams would be weakened, but they have at last been brought into line and Yale athletes will in the future limit their attention to a single sphere of work. This is the result of the exaction requisite for members of college athletic teams in the large universities under the rigid training now undergone by candidates for places. To strike a more even balance between studies, athletics, and health, the new rule will go into effect. The immediate effect of the rule at Yale will be to deprive Yale of two prominent football candidates, possibly three. Captain Armstrong of the crew has notified Captain Hinkey of the eleven that he will select rowing instead of football for his sport, and Armstrong's position as half-back will be filled by another this fall. Harry Hocom, No. 2 of the crew, has also decided to stick to the crew and let football go by the board. Big Sanford, the runner, oarsman, and football player, is undecided, but will probably accept football, for he wants to play something the year around. Murphy of the baseball nine and eleven is also undecided, but he, too, is likely to stick to football.

LETTER FROM PROF. HART.

Albert B. Hart of the faculty of Harvard University, who criticised Prof. Ely quite severely during the summer, has sent the professor the following self-explanatory letter:
"15 Appian Way, Sept. 7.—Professor Richard T. Ely, Madison, Wisconsin. Dear Sir:—When in Paris some weeks ago, I read the letter of Mr. Oliver E. Wells to the Nation, in which he made damaging statements as to your conduct in the university. Smarting as most Americans abroad have smarted over the disgrace of the recent riots in the United States, and accepting as true the charges thus made against you, I wrote to Mr. Wells, expressing sympathy with him and severe censure of you. Of the controversy arising out of this letter I knew nothing till I reached home September 4, when I learned that you had denied specifically the things charged by Mr. Wells; and that the principal part of my letter had been published in a telegram to the New York World. Your denial is sufficient. In addition, Mr. Wells in his published 'communications,' which I have carefully read, fails to make out even a plausible basis for his attack. It is therefore in common fairness due to you that I withdraw the expressions of that letter and frankly own that I was misled. I differ from you as to the force of certain economic doctrines and as to the danger to the community if they be carried into practice; but the severe language of my letter to Mr. Wells was based on a misapprehension or rather on misinformation, and was unjust and regrettable.
"The publication of that letter was entirely without my knowledge or approval. Inasmuch as it has been spread so widely, I beg that you will make any use of this entirely unsolicited acknowledgment as seems likely to counteract the other letter.
"Very truly yours,
"Albert Bushnell Hart."

S. B. FORTENBRAUGH.

S. B. Fortenbraugh, assistant professor of electrical engineering, was born at Halifax, Pennsylvania, in 1869. His preparatory education was in the public school of Halifax and at Ithaca, N. Y. He entered Cornell university, taking the course in electrical engineering and graduated with the class of '90. He was then with the Brush Electric company at Cleveland, Ohio, and afterward was assistant chief engineer of the Short Electric company. He remained in this position until the fall of 1893 when he returned to Cornell for graduate work. He received the degree of Master of Mechanical Engineering. He is a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity. Prof. Fortenbraugh's training and his experience in a responsible position with one of the large electric companies which manufactures railway machinery, gives him an excellent fitting for a teacher of electrical engineering.

ECONOMIC FELLOWSHIPS.

As is its annual custom the Annals of the American Academy for September contains a list of the students in American colleges who obtained during the past year the degree of PH.D. for work in political and social science, economics or history, together with a list of the appointments for the coming year to fellowships and post graduate scholarships in the above subjects. From these lists we see that twenty-three students received the degree of PH.D. from nine universities. Cornell, Johns Hopkins and Michigan University each conferred this degree on four students, Yale and Columbia each on three students, Pennsylvania University on two students, and the University of Chicago, University of Wisconsin and Ohio State University on one student apiece. At ten universities, fifty-nine students have been appointed to fellowships for the coming year in political and social science, economics or history. The University of Chicago leads with twenty appointments, Columbia being second, with eleven; Johns Hopkins, third with eight, and Harvard, fourth with six. Cornell and Wisconsin University each have five, and Bryn Mawr, Iowa University, Texas University and Washington and Lee University each one.

ADAMSON - WALBRIDGE WEDDING.

Dr. F. W. Adamson, of Milwaukee, and Miss Mary Walbridge, of this city, were married last evening at the Congregational church. Dr. Adamson was of the class of '91 and graduated last year from Chicago Medical. Miss Walbridge is a Madison young lady who has been prominent among the Christian young people of this city and is loved by all who know her.

Miss Alice Stephenson, '94, was maid of honor. Miss Fannie Walbridge, '95, and Miss Ellen Maine, '96, were the bridesmaids. Dr. Metcalf, of Janesville, a classmate of Dr. Adamson, was best man. Mr. L. A. Goddard, '98, of Madison, and Mr. Will Gregory, of Stevens Point were the groomsmen. A large reception was given from 7 to 10. The bride and groom departed on the 11:25 train amid a shower of rice. They will reside in Milwaukee, where Dr. Adamson has already started a good practice.

SYNOPTICAL LECTURES.

Each member of the junior and senior classes will be required to elect one synoptical lecture in each term. Class cards for the lectures can be obtained from the class officers. The place of lectures will be announced by notices of the professor in charge.
