MEMORIAL DRIVE OPENS MONDAY

DIAMOND SQUAD DRAWS CHOICE OF MATERIAL

Last Year's Team Bolstered
by Turnout of Experienced Men

With the rough edges being gradually rubbed off, Coach M. A. Kent's varsity baseball candidates give promise of good material as the time approaches for the outdoor practice to begin.

The squad, which has been practicing every day for more than a month in the gymnasium annex, is the largest reporting for baseball in several years and contains more members of former varsity teams and more experienced men than a Wisconsin coach has had to work with for some time.

Seven Regulars Back. With the exception of two regulars, last year's team remains almost intact, Keyes and Cramer being the only two men from last year's nine who will not report this spring. Barlow, ineligible for basketball, may be able to square his eligibility by the opening of the baseball season, but it is doubtful. Those from last year's squad who have already reported for practice are: Captain "Bud" Emmanuel, catcher; Miller, Williams, and Doyle, pitchers; Abrahamson, outfielder and catcher; Wall, outfielder; and Lyman, third base.

The former varsity men and members of freshmen teams who have reported include Ogle, pitcher in 1917 when the schedule was cancelled; Snow, outfielder the same year; Parrington, infielder; Donovan, infielder; Davey, catcher, and McKeague, first base. The basket-

TRENCH FLAVOR AT VETS' DANCE

Trench decorations and hand grenade refreshments — whatever they may be — will be inaugurated at the Gun and Blade dance Saturday evening at Lathrop gym and concert room. Gun and Blade is the organization of the federal board men, and the dance is to be their biggest function this year. The proceeds are to go toward decorations for the Gun and Blade club room at the Union building.

Thompson's best orchestra has been engaged to furnish the jazz. The dance is open to all university students, and tickets may be had at the office of M. H. Tiege, counselor for the federal board students, at Morgan's, or at the door Saturday night.

The dance promises to be a novel affair, and a large attendance is expected. Dean and Mrs. J. D. Phillips, and Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Tiege will chaperon.

IAWA PRESIDENT TO ADDRESS MEN IN SHORT COURSE

R. A. Pearson, president of Iowa State college, will deliver the commencement address before the graduating class of the Short Course in agriculture, March 18. His subject will be "Education and Service." About 75 short course men will receive certificates.

During the exercises, honorary recognition will be given to three prominent farmers who have rendered a superior service to agriculture. This exercise is an annual one ordinarily held during the Farmers' week. The Wisconsin C. of Agriculture was the first institution in this country to recognize the value of the efforts of practical farmer leaders by awarding a testimonial from the state university.

Congenial Footlight Ticklers Sought By Union Vodvil

Where are the big timers of yesterday?

Union Vodvil is looking for them. The influx of talent seems to be confining itself to spectacles and rather pretentious skits. The type of thing which the production staff is trying to get is the specialty act, the good old "drop" scene artists, the song and dance duos, and the monologue kings.

But it seems that the Eddie Cantors, the Bert Williams, the Dooley brothers, the Dolly sisters, the "Six Children from Lucy," and others of the same caliber have abandoned the footlights. There is a strange dearth of Uncle Toms and Little Elizas, Irene Castles and Ikey Pavloskas. Even the famous Jazz Babies are hiding their light under a bushel.

Here is a chance for actors and near-actors to tickle the footlights at close range. Fame, fortune, and a future await the valiant ones who rally to the standard of the Memorial Union.

W. A. A. OFFICERS CHOSEN FOR YEAR

W. A. A. officers for next year were elected at the meeting of W. A. A. which was held last night at 7 o'clock in the S. G. A. rooms of Lathrop hall. The officers are as follows: Margaret Swift, president; Marguerite Shepard, vice president; Mabel Winter, secretary, and Edwina Dexter, treasurer.

Nine new members were also taken in at last night's meeting: Aline Ellis, Janet Epstein, Elizabeth Chandler, Katherine Bur, Marian Debbink, Agnes Hottel, Elizabeth Kirk, Rosemary Lyons and Florence Fehrer.

MASSMEETING TO GIVE SEND-OFF TO BIG CAMPAIGN FOR $100,000

Pep Session in Gym Will

Fire First Shot
for Fund

Students Get Two Years to Pay in All Pledges

The university-wide drive for Wisconsin's Memorial Union building will open next Monday afternoon with the biggest all-university massmeeting of the year. The convocation is set for 3:30 in the men's gymnasium and all regular university exercises will be dismissed by order of the president.

Although this meeting is being called by order of the committee on public functions, the students through the direction of the Union board will handle the university campaign. Alfred H. Taylor, '20, is chairman of the campaign. Lawrence W. Hall, president of Union board, will represent the Union in the massmeeting.

A program of pep has been planned for the occasion and some of the best speakers among the university alumni and other prominent men in the state have accepted invitations to speak. The university band will start the pep with music.

The speakers already on the program are President E. A. Birge, George I. Haight, '99, Chicago, and Regent Walter J. Kohler.

Mr. Haight will be remembered as one of the speakers at the Lincoln Dedication program last commencement. He has been prominent in government work and is a finished orator. Mr. Kohler is one of the most prominent business men in the state and an enthusiastic speaker.

"The fate of the entire campaign depends upon the backing that the university students give this drive," said Professor Olson. "If the student body does not respond with the real Wisconsin spirit the whole memorial building project is absolutely doomed."

PICK NEW LIT BOARD BY COMPET METHOD

The editors for the Wisconsin Literary magazine for next year will be chosen by competition. All students except seniors are eligible for election. Any kind of literature may be submitted and manuscripts should be placed in the "Lit's" box in the Union building before April 15. The present board of editors, and Professors Leonard Dodge, and Campbell will judge the material submitted.

Contributions worthy of publication, but not securing the author election, will be kept for publication. All material will be kept till after the contest is over. Manuscripts should be marked "For Competition" and the college and year of the student should be given. The next year's board will be composed of those serving this year and those elected in the contest.

Wisconsin students must subscribe $100,000 to hold up their share in Wisconsin's biggest drive for Wisconsin's biggest undertaking — the Memorial Union building. Alumni are relied on to contribute $900,000 in the campaign to raise $1,000,000.

To reach the university quota, every student will be asked to pledge the sum of $24, to be paid within two years. No subscription is to be binding unless the minimum sum of $500,000 is pledged for the construction of the building.

Fix Ten Zones

The campus campaign will be in charge of Union board, under Alfred H. Taylor, as chairman, and Lawrence W. Hall, president of the board. Members of the board will act as captains of campaign teams to push the big drive across the goal line.

The university district will be divided into ten zones for the intensive canvass that will get underway Monday afternoon after the all-university massmeeting in the gym. Women as well as men will be solicited for support of the biggest enterprise backed by students and alumni in the history of the university.

Alumni in Big Push

Quotas have been set for Badger alumni in various sections of the country. Returns already coming in indicate that the old grads are rallying behind the movement for the Memorial Union. Alumni in Chicago are going over the top in their offensive to meet a $100,000 quota.

The Memorial Union building committee has headquarters in the University building at Milwaukee. Officers of the committee are Fred H. Clausen, Horicon, president; Walter J. Kohler, Kohler, vice president; H. O. Seymour, Milwaukee, treasurer; A. L. Sommers, Sheboygan, campaign manager; and H. L. Ashworth, Milwaukee, secretary. Faculty members of the executive committee for the drive are Dean

FIFTY IN TRYOUTS FOR JUNIOR PLAY

More than 50 students tried out for "Cheating Cheaters," the junior class play, yesterday afternoon and evening at Lathrop hall. This is the largest turnout on record for a class play. Due to the heavy competition for all the parts decisions on the cast were postponed until after another tryout and 17 of the contestants will meet this afternoon at 4:30 in Lathrop hall for the final tilt.

OPENING THE MEMORIAL UNION DRIVE

MONDAY, MARCH 15

3:30 P. M.

GYMNASIUM

ONE peculiar thing that we have noticed about the Madison citizenry is how arduously they begin to clean their sidewalks of ice and snow just at the time the sun is melting all the s. and i., sending it down the sewer.

AND the lake is beginning to look awfully sick. We saw only one girl in breeches yesterday. Guess the season's over.

AS we came up Langdon the other day we noticed that the chauffeur and limousine were waiting for Ruth Johnson to come from the Delta Gamma house. An hour later the chauffeur was still waiting while Ruth plied a shovel, arduously heaving the slush into the gutter.

OUR prayer was answered, but not from concern over the lives of the passersby. Rather as a reducing measure, we hear.

WE'RE SENDING THE ROPE WITHOUT DELAY
My dear and most respected Ed:

I send you this your heart to stir. 'Tis you I've chosen first of all on whom to make this Leap Year call. Your heart I want, this is not jest, and I hope you'll grant my fond request. I've given you the foremost chance, a home, for you I will enhance, but—

If your hand you do decline in wedlock's bonds to join with mine, then you must Leap Year's laws obey and down to me five dollars pay, besides, Mr. Ed., a handsome dress, I'll ask no more and take no less. Now you must think my letter funny, but I must have a man or money. So please send me your reply and I'll be your wife until I die. If the writer's name you guess, send your reply to her address. Or if you think I am a dandy, send to me a box of candy; but if for me there is no hope send to me six yards of rope. With all sorts of love and kisses, from one who wants to be your Mrs.

A Leap Year Girl.
(Address in the directory).

RECORD HISTORY OF OF HALL IN REVIEW

Staff for Chadbourne Annual Publication is Picked

The Chad Review will be issued in the form of a booklet this year to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of Chadbourne hall.

Marion Strassburger, '22, heads the staff with Lorna Lewis as business manager. The staff includes: Katherine Ferguson, circulation manager; Helen Zeulke, advertising manager; Catherine Hickey, assistant editor; Esther Haven, athletics; Zirian Blish and Jane Salisbury, humor; Tillie Levine, news; Katherine Stoppenbach, art; Lillian Hayes and Lillian Bresleau, features.

The first copy of The Chad Review appeared in 1910, and it has been published annually ever since. It has always been printed as a news sheet, but for this anniversary an effort will be made to produce a more elaborate number. The issue will include, besides the usual humor and news notes, much historical and artistic material. A large subscription is expected from Chadbourne alumnae.

INTER-COLLEGE PUGS ENTER WEEK'S BOUTS

Exactly 20 men have signed up for the inter-college boxing meet which is being held this week. Three bouts were fought yesterday afternoon.

The results of yesterday's bouts are: Buese, Engineer vs. Koss, Commerce, 148; won by Buese; Hovde, Agric, 145, vs. Downey, Engineer, 145, won by Downey; Kojis, L. and S., 132, vs. Reynolds, Commerce, 130, won by Kojis.

NOTED ORGANIST IN PROGRAM TONIGHT

Joseph Bonnet, who will appear in an organ recital at Christ Presbyterian church at 8:15 tonight, under the auspice of the University School of Music, is one of the world's greatest organ virtuosos.

Mr. Bonnet played here last spring, and only a month ago appeared in his second successful recital in Kimball hall, Chicago.

His program for tonight follows: Caprice Heroique—Joseph Bonnet. Berceuse—Joseph Bonnet. Fugue in C Major—D. Buxtehude. Toccata per l'Elevazione—Frescobaldi.

Toccata and Fugue in D Minor—J. Sebastian Bach.

Gavotte—Padre Martini.

Sketch in F Minor—Robert Schumann.

Christmas (new) (on three old English carols)—Arthur Foote.

Funeral March and Song of the Seraphs—Alex Guilmant.

Toccata—Widor.

DISCUSSION GROUPS FOR CO-EDS TO START

As a result of the questionnaire sent by the Y. W. C. A. to every rooming and sorority house last week, discussion groups are being organized under leaders trained by a faculty member to take up the questions of social life, physical efficiency, campus democracy, and personal honor with a view to creating public opinion and Wisconsin standards on the various subjects outlined. Already 17 organized houses have asked for these discussion groups and 10 houses are yet to return their questionnaires.

Two groups are announced by the poster in Lathrop hall on which girls may sign for either Monday evening from 6:30 to 7:30 or Thursday noon from 12:30 to 1:30. Girls living in houses of less than 10 are especially invited to join these groups.

The meetings will continue for four weeks at the end of which time a "findings" committee will draw up the results and present them to the dean of men and women and to the president for publication.

WHITBECK WRITES TREATISE ON IRON

The dominating influence of iron and coal, and the way in which the abundance of these minerals has determined the trend of civilization and the fixing of centers of wealth and of political and military power are discussed in a pamphlet entitled "Our Iron-Clad Civilization," written by Prof. R. H. Whitbeck, of the geology department, and published as a reprint from the Scientific Monthly.

The restricted utility of stone and wood which were the chief materials available to man until a century or two ago had their effect on civilization, Professor Whitbeck points out, and the abundance of iron and its marvellous properties dominate the present age and render possible the modern era of machinery.

MAY LIMIT NUMBER IN ARTISTS' CLUB

The question of limiting membership to fewer than 50 will be one of the matters of constitutional change to be considered at the meeting tonight of Arts and Crafts club at 7:15 o'clock, in the Applied Arts laboratory. Officers for the semester also will be elected.

PALM THEORIES GET HARD HIT

Prof. Jastrow Explains Evolution of Head and Hand Reading Fakes

"Since our ancestors lived in trees, it is not unreasonable to assume that the creases are in our hands as a result of hanging on tree limbs, and are therefore indicative of our pasts and not our futures."

This was the argument against palmistry which Professor Jacob Jastrow presented yesterday afternoon, in the third of his series of lectures on "The Occult." He exploded the theories of phrenology and palmistry by showing their unscientific method of development. He explained the evolution of phrenology from the study of physiognomy which arose from the ancient "humor" theory, which classed all temperaments as being characteristically related to the elements which were believed to be earth, air, fire, and water.

In the middle ages, the question of finding a relationship between the physical and mental characteristics of men and animals was originated. Hence, if a man's head were shaped like a monkey's, he was credited with many of the same attributes as that animal. From this doctrine, we derive many expressions, such as "sheepish, social lion, gay bird, and social butterfly."

"Later yet, Gaul, a very highly intelligent physician was misled from his scientific course and converted to the following of physiognomists, and was barred from a position as teacher in Vienna consequently. He supposedly discovered that the resemblance between a woman's head and that of a monkey lay in the fact that both were noted for their instinct to protect the young."

"Because the theories adopted by these primitive tribes have persisted and are very much in evidence today, their importance is to be stressed and they should be studied."

Location Near Gym

The Memorial Union building will be erected as a permanent memorial to the University of Wisconsin men and women who helped to win the war. Wisconsin will be provided with a men's union building that has long been admitted to be a need. The building in exterior design is harmonized with the Historical library and will have a similarity to the Pan-American building at Washington. The suggested location is on Langdon street, west of the men's gymnasium.

The building will combine certain principal elements, as a memorial trophy room, reading and social rooms, commons, consisting of large and small dining rooms, office rooms for student organizations, space for dancing, billiard and bowling rooms, alumni headquarters and faculty rooms, and a theater.

Say That Bolsheviks Made Bogus Money

WASHINGTON—Residents of Mexico have been warned by the foreign office to be on guard against efforts that may be made to circulate in that country counterfeit money made in the United States, according to the state department. The warning was based on a reply from Raymond H. De Negri, Mexican consul general at New York, who estimated the amount of spurious currency in circulation at $200,000,000. De Negri's explanation of the situation was that agents of the Russian Bolsheviks had manufactured and placed in circulation the counterfeit currency in reprisal for the "persecutions" of radicals by the United States government.

FRENCH WORKERS IN DOUBT OVER PRESENT OUTLOOK

Adjustment of Conditions in Belgium and France Disparaged

That the present situation in France holds no hope for any satisfactory adjustment of the political and economic problems of labor was the opinion expressed by Prof. E. A. Ernst, of the French department, in his talk on "Labor Conditions in France and Belgium," before an open meeting of the Social Science club in the Law building last evening.

"The French workers do not know what to do," said Professor Ernst. "Even a revolution would accomplish nothing. They have lost their faith in political action. From one-third to one-fourth of the men in France failed to vote in the last election, and many of the workers are turning to direct action and sabotage as their only weapon."

"The Labor party and the Socialist party are entirely separate in France and they are more interested in fighting each other than in securing benefits for the laborer. Socialism is not likely to spread rapidly, as the French are intensely individualistic, and only 35 per cent of the men are industrial workers."

"In Belgium the situation is quite the opposite. Here combinations for co-operative marketing and for co-operative producing have been remarkably successful. The labor leaders have also been the leaders of the Socialist party. The result is that labor controls seventy votes in the congress and several positions on the cabinet."

Gives Warning of the Teacher Shortage

APPLETON—Outagamie county faces a shortage of rural school teachers, according to a warning issued by A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools. More than 25 teachers have already announced they will not return to their schools next year. Mr. Meating has notified the boards that he will assist in finding teachers for districts which refuse to pay a living wage and that he has no sympathy for boards which have difficulties with teachers because they permit the board and lodging rates to be increased to such an extent that additional income paid teachers is absorbed by the increased living costs.

THE MEMORIAL UNION

MONDAY, the starting point of the Memorial Union drive, will be an epochal day in the annals of Wisconsin.

Alumni, ex-students, and friends of the University of Wisconsin have already spoken in strong support of the Memorial Union project by liberal subscriptions. Now it is the turn of Wisconsin students to lift their share, to show their brand of loyalty to the university.

Here is what the alumni back of the campaign say:

"The first opportunity for members of the alumni and other friends of the University of Wisconsin to do something really big for our alma mater is at hand. We have never attempted to do anything so big for Old Wisconsin. This is big, so let's put it over with a bang.

"Not only will we erect a permanent and fitting memorial to the University of Wisconsin men and women who helped win the great world war, but we will provide Wisconsin with a fine college union building—long and greatly needed."

Such sentiments as these must be generated in the entire student body to push the campus part of the drive over the top with flying colors. If the students fail to do their share, the alumni will hardly relish going ahead to raise nine-tenths of the total sum needed.

The campus drive will get its start in the massmeeting Monday afternoon in the gym. It is going to be a notable massmeeting in more ways than one. In future days it will be referred to as a landmark in university history. The gym is going to be jammed with students, the walls bulging from the strain of cheer on cheer. Wisconsin loyalty is going to assert itself Monday as never before. Wisconsin students will do their part toward making real the biggest thing in the history of the university.

VIOLATING A TRUST

THE trust that Madison merchants have always put in all students is something of which Wisconsin has always been proud. Each week hundreds of student checks are cashed without identification. This action of the businessmen indicates that they believe that all students are honest and that any check written by a student is as good as gold.

A few scapgegraces are jeopardizing the good name of all. The thousands of students who never have and never will write bogus checks will perhaps be surprised to learn that persons, some of whom are students, are writing checks and signing fictitious names. One merchant in Madison has lost $300 on such checks.

Perhaps the crooks who wrote these checks were not students. At any rate they were strangers, and the thousands of honest students will have difficulty in cashing checks where they are not known. Carrying one's fee card may become a necessity. Madison merchants still believe that Wisconsin students are not guilty of forgery.

Men at the university who are in a position to know, however, say that the overcoats, jewelry, furs and other valuables which have been stolen on the campus have been taken by students. They believe that there are students whose standards of morals and conduct are such that they could be put behind the bars. Someone may have to spend his vacation on the rock pile before the lesson of "honesty always" is driven home.

Communications

FROM A MEMBER OF BOARD OF VISITORS

Fond du Lac, Wis.

To the Editor of The Cardinal:

I want to congratulate you on your editorial in the March 6 issue of The Cardinal under the caption "Soldiership or Citizenship in Politics." Without implying criticism of the former editorials that have appeared in The Cardinal, I feel that it is the strongest editorial I have ever read in your periodical.

Incidentally, the whole make-up of The Cardinal has improved 100 per cent within the last year or two. With best wishes for you in your work,

W. A. TITUS.

THE REAL PURPOSE OF THE RELIGIOUS CONFERENCE

To the Editor of The Cardinal:

I wish to take issue with the communication from Gerald O. Jenny on the Religious conference published in yesterday's Cardinal.

I do not believe that Mr. Jenny's standpoint is representative of the intelligent student opinion on this campus. Rather it is the expression of the hidebound attitude of a bigoted adherent to that "one saving faith" which he persists in holding before us.

What that faith is, I do not know and I do not care. I have no quarrel with it, nor with any other faith. Religion is a personal matter and every man has a right to think and believe as he wishes. But, when a man condemns all other beliefs but his own, then he is due to meet serious opposition from every liberal thinker on the campus. As students we should stand with open minds ready to weigh the evidence that comes to us in deciding our beliefs, independent of any theories we may have inherited or of the dogmatic assertions of others.

Let it be understood that the purpose of the Religious conference was not to exalt any faith nor any brand of religious belief. The committee secured speakers from every denomination possible, in order to make the conference strictly non-sectarian. The real purpose was to bring before the student body the need of religion as a vital part of their lives, to put up to them in a rational way the claims of the higher and better things of life. The entire program and the addresses of the speakers were planned with that end in view. There was no attempt to force any system of thought down any man's throat. Religion was treated in its broadest and most comprehensive understanding.

Far from seeking to shake the faith of any man the conference aimed to bolster up faith, to aid students in solving their problems and to help them in coming to see that their religious faith was not incompatible with the scientific truths and discoveries that had come to them in their university classes.

Mr. Jenny commits a grievous error in claiming that the speakers did not themselves know "the true faith." He forgets that these men are among the strongest religious leaders in the country and are representative of several of the largest denominations. In condemning them he condemns millions of American citizens who are as perfectly entitled to their beliefs on religion as is Mr. Jenny.

If any man be afraid to think then he might well fear the results of a Religious conference such as was held here last week, but if he dare to face the fundamental truths of life and religion with an open mind then his only comment on the Religious conference can be that it was one of the finest things that has come to this campus.

KENNETH E. OLSON.

FELLOWSHIP MEETING

A fellowship meeting will be held from 7 to 8 Thursday evening in the "Y" parlors. Dr. D. S. Robinson of the Philosophy department will speak on the subject, "Applied Will Power."

DRILL FEATURE OF ARMY BILL

Prof. Ellwood, Missouri Sociologist, Scores Universal Military Training

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Disastrous consequences of the universal military training provisions of the army reorganization bill are pointed out in a letter received by Senator Sheldon P. Spencer of the senate military affairs committee from Charles A. Ellwood, professor of sociology in the University of Missouri.

"I feel it my duty to challenge the wisdom of the majority report of the senate military affairs committee which approved a provision for compulsory military training in the army reorganization bill," says Prof. Ellwood.

"All the more thoughtful students of social and political conditions with whom I have talked express amazement that congress should consider with favor such a provision. The universal training of large populations to the use of arms has invariably been followed in history by increased political disturbances, both internal and external; and with our complex population we could scarcely look for a different result in our case. What, for example, will be the effect upon our negro population of this universal training in the use of arms and in organized military action? No citizen of the south, or of the north either, for that matter, can look with equanimity upon the training in military tactics of two million negroes. The growing restlessness and restlessness of our negro population makes it more than possible that such military knowledge might be used by them to attempt to redress real or fancied wrongs by organized force."

"We rightly fear Bolshevism, a proletarian revolution, civil war between classes, in this country. If there is one thing more certain than another to bring to pass such an event in the future, it is universal compulsory military training. It is a commonplace among students of social and political affairs that the Russian revolution took the bloody turn that it did only because it occurred in a large complex population universally subject to military training."

"It is the more remarkable that any of our senate should consider favorably such a provision for compulsory military training when, as I understand, no such measure is being seriously contemplated in Great Britain."

"Every consideration of patriotism and of political prudence, therefore, dictates that we hesitate long before we enter upon an experiment which has so often proved the undoing of nations."

TO STUDY ANIMAL LIFE IN EUROPEAN LAKES

Microscopic life in the lakes of Europe will be compared with that of Wisconsin lakes in a study to be made by Prof. Gilbert M. Smith, of the department of botany, who left recently for Europe on a semester's leave of absence.

He will conduct his study in the collections of Birmingham university, England, the British museum, England, the British museum, the Museum of Natural History of Copenhagen, the Universities of Lund and Upsala in Sweden, and the Royal Botanical Institute of Norway.

Under the direction of the Wisconsin state geological and natural history survey, Dr. Smith has been preparing a two-volume study of the microscopic life of Wisconsin lakes. The first volume will be published soon.

Prof. Slaughter's Paper On Cicero Pleases

To know Cicero well is to live life in the midst of the stirring events of one of the world's greatest eras, an era with which our own has many points in common, is the statement of Prof. M. S. Slaughter of the classical literature department of the university, in a paper on Cicero, the Humanist, delivered before the Madison literary club Monday night.

Prof. Slaughter's paper was the subject of considerable lively and humorous discussion led by President Birge and Prof. C. R. Fish, and R. E. Dodge and Dean George C. Sellery.

Compared to Burke.

Prof. Slaughter said that wherever republican institutions flourished or men were struggling to attain free government, Cicero was the quickening influence. Imitation, admiration, adulation of him are seen not merely in isolated instances but were the prevailing attitude. He compared Cicero with Edmund Burke, whom he characterized as an "English Cicero."

MENORAH SOCIETY IN BI-WEEKLY MEET

"SHE LOVES ME, SHE LOVES ME NOT"

IT isn't often that we'll admit that "two heads are better than one," when pretty Billie Burke is involved. But James L. Crane is such a handsome chap that he seems to fit quite happily into the picture. Besides, it requires two to play the age-old game of "counting the petals." Here's one contest where it's impossible to demand a recount. Hence the look of concern on Mr. Crane's face. As for charming Billie, the fact that her new Paramount-Artcraft picture is called "Wanted—A Husband," makes it likely that she's more than a little interested too.

It Will be shown at the Strand commencing today

AT THE NEW STRAND

Billie Burke has temporarily deserted the movies for her first love, the stage. The star's last picture was "Wanted—A Husband," a comedy drama which will be shown at the Strand theater commencing today. Miss Burke is now playing the leading role in W. Somerset Maugham's play, "Caesar's Wife." However screen lovers need have no fear that their favorite has been lost to the silent drama permanently, as she recently made it quite plain that she will never abandon pictures. "Wanted—A Husband," adapted from a story by Samuel Hopkins Adams, is said to be the type of light romantic comedy that fits Miss Burke ideally. The central figure is a lazy, slovenly girl, who through the gibes of her companions and their success with the men folks, is led to a successful attempt to beautify herself. James L. Crane is the leading man. It is a Paramount-Artcraft picture. As added attraction "Fatty Arbuckle" in "Garage" and "Literary Digest's Topics of the Day" will also be shown.

AT THE FULLER

It would seem that Cecil B. De Mille has been working up toward the production of "Male and Female," his new Paramount-Artcraft picture, through his entire career. For this picture, which was shown for the first time yesterday at the Fuller theater, represents the summation of his many-sided genius, the finest fruit of years of artistry.

As everyone knows, J. M. Barrie wrote the play, "The Admirable Crichton," from "Male and Female" is adapted. Sir James is one of the last authors to allow his works to be filmed. He held off for a long while, but finally allowed De Mille to try his hand. When the author sees this he will not be disappointed. The dramatic strength of his play, and his deep and keen characterizations are enriched by the presentation De Mille has given it. The story has not been changed in the least. This picture will be on view for three more days, today, tomorrow and Friday, with matinees at 2 and 3:45; nights at 7 and 8:45.

FRENCH OFFICERS AGAIN ATTACKED

When Negotiating With German Officers Disturbance Began in Bremen

BERLIN—Closely following the incident of Saturday night at the hotel Adlon here in which Prince Joachim Albrecht of Prussia was the chief figure leading a demonstration against a party of French officers, another anti-allied incident is reported from Bremen. The victims in this case also were high French officers who are members of the entente military commission.

When the Frenchmen entered the barracks in Bremen to conduct negotiations with German officers, the accounts ran, the soldiers sang "Deutschland Uber Alles."

The singing attracted a large crowd which roughly handled the French when they left the barracks. The police dispersed the crowd and escorted the officers to their quarters.

Community Party To Be On Friday

Program at Lincoln School of Drama, Music and Dancing

A community party and program is to be given Friday evening, March 12, at the Lincoln school. The court scene and the casket scene from Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice" will be presented. There will be dramatization by the first and second grades and singing by the seventh and eighth. A social mixer with dancing will follow the close of the program at 9 o'clock. Dancing is to continue till 11:30 o'clock. The proceeds will probably be used to benefit the school milk fund. Over 300 portions of milk were served Monday.

Plan to Enlarge U. W. Methodist Auditorium

Plans for the enlargement of the university Methodist church auditorium, which has proved too small to accommodate its patrons, were discussed Monday evening at the 7th anniversary celebration of the church. Rev. E. W. Blakeman, pastor, and Joseph M. Boyd went to Chicago Tuesday to discuss the project with the architect of the building. Prices of building materials have been largely responsible for the delay in the enlargement which has been under consideration for three years.

Binghamton Car Men Protest by a Strike

BINGHAMTON, N. Y.—Because the Binghamton council failed to adopt an ordinance permitting an increase in car fares to six cents, the employes of the Binghamton railway company struck today.

WEATHER

The highest temperature during the past 24 hours was 32 at 3:30 p.m. and the lowest was 20 at 3 a.m. Precipitation was 0. The sun will set at 5:57 p.m.

Southerly winds prevail between high barometer in the southeastern states and low barometer in western Canada. The temperature has risen 10 or more degrees in most sections. It is raining on the west gulf and north Pacific coasts and snowing lightly along the northern border.

FRENCH CONTINUE TO LIVE IN STEEL HOUSES GERMANS BUILT

Part of a village of the corrugated steel homes with their occupants

While the Germans were in France they built semi-permanent abodes for their troops. When the allied tide drove the foe back the French people, made homeless by the guns of the Germans, took possession of these odd houses. They proved fairly comfortable when properly fitted out and thousands of French families are still living in them. They are made of heavy steel sheets.

What? Trousers Side Creased Is Worn By King

LONDON—King George's latest photographs show that he has revived a fashion set long ago by his father, King Edward—his trousers are creased at the sides. This style of crease never attained great popularity except among a few elderly courtiers, and tailors now say that in their opinion most men will stick to the old front crease.

Legion Entertains Its Sick Comrades

Madison's American Legion post last night put on their second entertainment for the ex-servicemen, who are now undergoing treatment at the Madison tuberculosis sanitarium in Blooming Grove.

G. M. Householder of the state department of agriculture put on a six reel moving picture program and discussed land settlement with several of the young men who plan to take up homestead land after regaining their strength. Regular monthly entertainments at the sanitarium make up part of the legion's service.

Suffering From Cold in North Michigan

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—Isolated since last Thursday's blizzard, which tied up practically all railroads in western and northern Michigan, towns are now in the grip of an acute fuel famine.

Actual suffering from cold was reported in Muskegon today, where dealers were helpless to respond to appeals for coal.

Reports from Cadillac say office buildings and industrial plants there will be forced to close within 48 hours. Supplies at Traverse City, Whitehall, Montague and Petoskey were almost exhausted.

Sleeping Sickness in N. Y. Killed Forty

NEW YORK—A total of 175 cases of sleeping sickness has been reported in New York since Jan. 1, Health Commissioner Copeland announced today. Forty of the cases were fatal. The disease is apparently an aftermath of the influenza epidemic, the commissioner said.

DEBATERS IN SECOND ATTACK LINE AGAINST GOPHER AND BUCKEYE MEN

KEATS S. CHU

The second speaker for the Wisconsin affirmative in the debate against Minnesota in Music hall Friday night will be Keats S. Chu, '19, of Mingpo, China. Chu is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, and Artus, the honorary economics fraternity, in addition to being an officer of the mid-west Chinese Students alliance. Last year he won the senior "open" oratorical contest and placed second in the Northern Oratorical league final try-out. If the Hamilton contest at Chicago had not been called off, he would have been Wisconsin's representative there.

Baron H. Meyer, Brillion, second speaker for Wisconsin's negative team in the debate against Ohio State at Columbus, Friday, is a senior in the College of Letters and Science. In his sophomore year he won the sophomore "open," and closed on a Hesperian semi-public debating team. He is now a member of Artus, and the Forensic board. He was closer for the victorious Hesperian team in the joint debate against Athena.

Sleuth, here's your chance to investigate some rough play on the part of varsity athletes, get a few blinks at a refined and aristocratic tea hound, and discover the identity of a co-ed who was "kissed and squeezed almost to death."

"Anxious" strongly objects to the rude words that have been said and written about tea dancers. She insists that "the boys who go to the matinee dances are a whole lot nicer than some of your rough old athletes. They are polite and know how to treat a girl nicely and show her a good time. ## "CAVE WOMAN" IS TRANSPLANTED FROM STUDIO TO HEART OF ZION NATIONAL PARK

Miss Beatrice Dominguez with the park background.

When the cave people ruled the country now known as Zion National Park its surroundings were just as they are today. To portray these prehistoric days accurately in scientific detail, Miss Beatrice Dominguez, noted California Spanish beauty, posed as the "cave woman" in a Los Angeles studio and the photo was combined with that of a part of the park in Utah.

real narrow tie and hair parted in the middle looks refined and aristocratic.

"You ought to teach your athletes better manners. One took me home the other night, and when I didn't want him to kiss me, he just grabbed me, kissed me, and squeezed me almost to death. None of the boys who have taken me to matinee dances have ever done that. They are not so rude.

"I think you ought to stop talking about the boys who go to afternoon dances because dancing is much nicer than any of those rough old games."

"ANXIOUS."

WILL PICK PRIZE STORY FROM 'LIT'

The March issue of The Wisconsin Literary Magazine will be placed on sale on the campus this morning. Three stories, three essays, and poetry are features of this number.

"My Dear," by Burdette Kinne, is a keenly penetrating story of two Varsity flappers, Edeath and Mildread, who spend a "busy" afternoon in the Libe, "studying." While the principal characters are by no means intended to be typical Wisconsin co-eds, they are fair representatives of a species which is appearing on the campus in increasing numbers.

"Mademoiselle Beauquis," an A. E. F. romance, by C. M. Russell, and "Apres Moi!" a satire on the present day outlook on life, by Edward Halline, have been highly praised by members of the English department.

"Album Leaves," impressions of the home town, by Walter Schwinn, "The Papillon," by Coghlan, and "Hints to Instructors," by Frank Sharp, are essays of more than usual worth. Poetry by Dudley Brooks, Victor Solberg, and Frances Dummer, furnish an excellent balance to the fiction in the issue.

Through the kindness of one interested in literary work published at the university, the publishers of the Wisconsin Literary Magazine are authorized to offer a prize of $50 in gold to the author of the best story or essay appearing in the current volume. Judges will be members of the English department, and the board of editors of the magazine. The award will be made on Jan. 1.
