Langdon Street Traffic Prompts Widening Plans

City Seeks Support of Property Owners on Repaving Program

Desire on the part of the City of Madison, to secure the support of property owners on Langdon street in the widening and repaving program of that thoroughfare which has been submitted by the engineer's office, was expressed by E. E. Parker, city engineer, late Wednesday night.

"The large number of automobiles that travel the street has made for traffic congestion, and the narrow street has heightened the parking problem," Mr. Parker declared to be the reasons for desiring expansion.

The claim made two years ago by opponents of the proposal to widen Langdon street that it would change it into a speedway was denied.

"We have widened other streets and this has not been the result. The only reason for widening it, is because of the traffic and parking problem."

Petitions are Circulated

The petition asking for the widening of the street is being circulated among the various owners that occupy frontage from Park street to Wisconsin avenue, and the request may be presented to the city council at its meeting May 23.

Objection to the widening proposal on the ground that it would destroy the trees and the natural beauty now present was denied by Mr. Parker.

Would Start in Summer

"Perhaps no more than five trees would be removed, and of these some are now gone," he said.

The carrying out of operations, in case the plan is approved, would be done during the summer vacation in time for the next school year. The city's willingness to go through with the program is also regarded to be due

Dean Protests Motor Regatta

Goodnight Makes Formal Objection, Declaring Event Too Noisy

A formal protest against the holding of the Octopus-College Humor outboard motor regatta on the afternoon of May 24 because it would disrupt the Mothers' week-end activities, has been registered by Dean Scott H. Goodnight with Mayor A. G. Schmedeman.

The dean of men has asked that the mayor of Madison countermand the right to hold the races without muffled motors as the noise would interfere with the reception and speech to be given by Pres. Glenn Frank and others at 4:30 p. m. of the day of the race.

Contestants Will Obey Rules

Ralph Parkin L2, business manager of the Wisconsin Octopus, stated Wednesday night that the races are scheduled from 2 until 4 p. m., and that the motorboats would be ruled off the water immediately after the conclusion of the three scheduled races by officials of the Outboard Motor association who will be present. The contestants will be forced to abide by the rules, Parkin maintained.

Mayor Schmedeman would offer no statement as to whether he would countermand his former order giving Octopus permission to hold the regatta until he had conferred with Parkin.

Mufflers Slow Race

The Octopus manager said that the race could be held with mufflers on the outboard motors, but that it would be slowed up somewhat as a result.

Parkin stated that he plans to confer with Dean Goodnight this morning to make arrangements that would be convenient to the dean. He plans to co-operate with the dean in every detail, he added.

Entries from five universities, Marquette, Northwestern, Purdue, and Illinois, have been received to date. Further entries are expected before the meet is held. The event is being planned in connection with the athletic department of the university, and Perkins has been in touch with the heads of that department for the past six weeks.

Little Requests Halt of Sabbath Baseball Games

Prof. George Little, director of athletics, has requested that students abandon the practice of playing baseball on the lower campus on Sunday morning in an announcement to this effect.

He said: "It is only natural that students enjoy playing baseball on the lower campus on Sunday morning. However, it would be regarded as a mark of cooperation and distinct deference to the churches in close proximity to the lower campus if all participation were eliminated from the period of Sunday forenoons.

"Last year the men cooperated with the churches very heartily in this matter, and it is hoped the same cooperation will be given for the remainder of the current baseball season."

Smiles, Doubt Greet W.S.G.A. Curfew Change

Opinions ranging from whole-hearted approval to doubt as to results were expressed by sorority and dormitory presidents in regard to the revised W. S. G. A. rules which will meet their final test Wednesday night at 7 p. m. when the representatives of all organized women's houses will meet in the Memorial Union to vote on the changes.

Under the new code, the privilege of special keys for senior women on the extra late night would be a trial for next year, according to Yvonne Carns '31, chairman of the rules revision committee. One infringement would mean denial of the privilege to those who abused it.

In the voting of the W. S. G. A. representatives of all houses with less than 50 residents will have one vote, houses having less than 100 residents and more than 50 will be allowed two votes, while dormitories will have one representative per floor.

Statements by several presidents follow:

Harriet Hobbins '31, president of Delta Gamma, believes that the plan would prove more satisfactory if some definite night were set for all senior girls to go out.

"Too much confusion would result if each senior would choose her own night to stay out until 12:30. Juniors might satisfactorily be allowed to stay out late, but freshmen or sophomores should not be given such a privilege. The plan is well worth trying a semester," said Harriet Hobbins.

"The idea of allowing senior girls to stay out until 12:30 on a week night is not so good for a dormitory," said Lucile Verholtz '31, president of Chabourne hall. "Girls could not be given their own keys; the night watchman

'La Reja' Plays to Full House at Bascom Theater

By JACK THOMPSON

A student audience that nearly filled Bascom theater was entertained Wednesday night by "La Reja," a one-act Spanish comedy, which climaxed the program of Spanish night, presented by members of the Spanish department. The play, excellently presented and staged, was well received and won applause throughout the performance.

The "reja" is the grating characteristic of houses of southern Spain and is famed as a trysting place for young lovers. By loaning the use of her "reja" to her friend, Rosario, after her father, Don Bienvenido, believes he has carefully locked the room, Soledad involves Rosario and

Meyer Names Homecoming Assisting Staff

Freeman Butts Will Represent Union; Wagner Chosen Committee Chairman

Plans for 1930 Homecoming spurted ahead Wednesday with the announcement by Arnold Meyer '31, general chairman of his assisting staff of seven committee chairmen.

This assisting group includes John Zeratsky '31, Homer Davidson '31, William Powell '31, Joseph Lucas '31, John Paul '31, Freeman Butts '31, assistant general chairmen, and Fred Wagner '32, committee chairman.

Freeman Butts, Alpha Tau Omega, is representing the Mens' Union board and is the first official representative of the board to sit on a homecoming committee. He will have charge of the Memorial Union activities.

John Paul, co-captain of the 1931 basketball team and a member of Theta Chi fraternity, Joseph Lucas, a Beta Theta Pi has been connected with Haresfoot and acted as stroke of the crew, and Homer Davidson, Delta Upsilon, a member of the track team, are all "W" men. Zeratsky, an Alpha Chi Rho, acted as a member of last year's Homecoming assisting committee. He is manager of the crew. William Powell, Phi Gamma Delta, is president of Badger board.

Fred Wagner, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, local advertising manager of The Daily Cardinal, will act in the capacity of publicity director for the Homecoming activities.

Diplomat Views Crisis in India

Foreign Minister Will Present First Hand Information Here May 23

L. F. Rushbrook Williams, foreign minister of the independent state of Patiola, India, will lecture on "The Crisis in India" Friday afternoon, May 23, in Bascom hall.

He is one of the high officials in the India Home office in England and has been in charge of the public information division for several years and is thus in close contact with sources of Indian news. For the last two or three years he has been active in the work of Indian independent states, aiding them to determine their policy for the new India.

Mr. Williams is a fellow of All Souls' college, Oxford, and was for a number of years professor of history at Allahabad university, British India. He is traveling in this country on a diplomatic passport as a minister.

"Only a few American schools will have the privilege of hearing Mr. Williams," said Prof. Philo M. Buck, Jr., chairman of the department of comparative literature. "Since Mr. Williams is probably the man best fitted to give us a picture of the actual conditions today in India, we are indeed fortunate to have this visit."

Spanish, Wesley Groups Stage Final Productions

'La Reja' Plays to Full House at Bascom Theater

By GEORGE WIESWASSER

A modern morality play with all the attributes of a first-rate production was done by the Wesley Players presenting "The Servant in the House" Wednesday night at the foundation. The direction was excellent, the play running along with clarity and significance, and the acting well above standard.

The story is of a man in the guise of a butler who brings happiness and fraternity to a household sorely bereft of both. Although a famous Indian bishop, he hides his identity in his own brother's home, restores his niece to the father she does not remember and injects a strain of manhood in this priestly brother and brings to him

Goodnight Threatens War on Fraternities Who Violate Rushing

Dean Promises Definite Faculty Intervention If Greeks Repeat Disobedience

"I fear for the future of Wisconsin fraternities if they do not obey their own rules of deferring rushing until the day after freshman week," was Dean Scott H. Goodnight's comment Wednesday afternoon upon the action taken by the inter-fraternity council Tuesday, practically abolishing deferred rushing.

The dean of men averred that if the new rulings of the inter-fraternity council are violated as freely as were the former rules, and the work of freshman week is interfered with, the faculty will be certain to step in and take the matter into its own hands.

Reviewing the history of deferred rushing at the university, the dean recalled that two years ago the inter-fraternity council had forbidden rushing until one month after classes had begun. This rule was not strictly adhered to by the fraternity men, he said, so they made another rule cutting down the period of deferred rushing to one week. Now they have abolished this rule making it legal to rush immediately after orientation week.

The past history of deferred fraternity rushing has shown that the fraternities do not abide by their own rules Dean Goodnight declared. If they overstep the regulations made by the inter-fraternity council Tuesday night and rush during orientation week, they are sure to run counter to the faculty, who will not tolerate rushing which interferes with workings of the freshman period, he asserted.

The dean pointed out that when the Faculty Makes Summer Plans

Professors Will Vacation at Resorts Abroad and Home

Professors of the university are spending unusual vacations this summer.

Prof. E. B. Gordon of the music school will conduct a school of creative arts at the Wisconsin high school. The school will be open to children from the fifth grade through high school and will be run from May 30 to Aug. 8. Mr. Leland Conn, also of the music school, will assist Prof. Gordon.

Dean Goodnight and family will spend a few weeks after the summer session in the Land O' Lakes country, where they have a summer home.

Prof. O. Rundell of the law school will teach at North Carolina university the second five weeks of the summer session, while Prof. John Wickham of the law school will teach the entire session at the University of Michigan.

Prof. R. A. Brown of the law school will do some very interesting work on Indian research after he completes the first quarter teaching term at the University of Chicago. He will travel through the northwest under the auspices of the Institute for Government Research of Enforcement of Law among Indians in the northwestern states.

Dr. Charles H. Mills of the music school will take a motor trip through Europe. He and his family will be gone all summer, returning in September.

Final Entries for Wisconsin Players' Contest Due Today

Today is the last day on which entries may be submitted in the one-act play contest being conducted by Wisconsin Players and National Collegiate players. Prizes will be awarded for the best one-act plays written by and submitted by students of the university. A special prize for the best radio play written by Wisconsin students will be awarded jointly by National Collegiate players. Very few plays have been submitted in the two contests as yet, Gilbert Williams '30, president of the organization, announced Wednesday.

Frank Censures Chicago Judge

President Denies University Affiliation With Any Political Faction

"If some of the things said from the bench were said before the bench, it would result in justifiable cause for contempt of court," said Pres. Glenn Frank in denunciation of the recent reference by Judge Francis Allegretti to Wisconsin as "a hotbed of radicalism." The president made his remarks in an address at Wisconsin Rapids on Tuesday.

"The University of Wisconsin is an institution for all the people of the state of Wisconsin," the speaker continued. "It is dedicated not to radicalism or conservatism, but to realism. We are quite indifferent to a policy which will lead to defense of radicalism today, and defense of conservatism tomorrow."

Pres. Frank agreed that the men might have picked up a good deal of their communistic philosophy at the university, but went on to express regret at the type of man who sometimes is vested with judicial authority.

In the course of his address, Pres. Frank declared that the university was not affiliated with any political faction. It is not the place of an educational institution to be conservative or radical, he said, adding the view that the policy pursued should be one of aloofness. He added, "We will not be the tool of any party or faction."

Arnold Dammen '32 was named chairman of the social committee of St. Francis house at the regular vestry meeting held Monday afternoon. Other members of the social committee are Arnold Verduin, faculty, and Elizabeth Gould '33. The personnel of the finance committee for next year is Frank Murphy '33, chairman, Tom Kirmse, grad, Warren Mead '33, and Alice Marie Smith '33. Jack Brown '31 was made chairman of the publicity committee.

Langdon Traffic May Bring About Widening Work

The desire to bring about the improvement this year, it was indicated by authorities, was because of the unusually low expense that would be incurred.

"The bids which are the lowest in years have totalled a cost of only $20,000 at the outside," Mr. Parker declared.

Cost Spread Out

"The approximate cost would be from $2 to $2.50 per foot or about $100 for a 40 foot frontage and $125 on a 60 foot width. The total length of street that would require improvement would be about 2,000 feet."

The cost thus incurred in the expansion program would be apportioned over a period of 10 years in the payment of taxes. Of the entire cost the City of Madison would assume 15 to 20 per cent of the probable burden.

Ways of Producing Beef Cheaply Theme Of Farm Folks Day

What is time to a steer?

In attempting to find cheaper ways of producing beef, animal husbandmen at the University of Wisconsin may answer that question.

One of the events of Farm Folks' Field day, at the University of Wisconsin, June 7, will be the report of beef steer-feeding experiments which have been carried on under the direction of J. G. Fuller, of the Animal Husbandry department.

This experiment is a repetition of last year's test to determine the most economical methods of steer-feeding. The feeding has been done by three methods, hand-feeding twice a day, self-feeding by means of racks and automatic grain self-feeders, and feeding with the use of a team and wagon once a day.

The results of last year's tests were entirely satisfactory. At the end of the trial, it was shown that the steers feeding once a day made an average daily gain of 2.56 pounds; those feeding twice a day, a gain of 2.55 pounds per day.

Ruth Clay does an exquisite piece of acting as the daughter. She could not have impersonated the character with any closer comprehension of its requirements.

The "servant in the house" is John Crawford who plays with a fatherly tenderness his part of the good angel. Cuthbert S. Francis plays the vicar, his brother, and Marion Anderson, the vicar's wife.

Newel Stephenson makes an excellent brusque and burly father, and a Mammon worshipping bishop is played with rare understanding by Ezra Powell.

Verna Ravenscroft '31, president of Kappa Kappa Gamma, believes the plan to be well worth trying one semester, at least. She thinks it better to allow the seniors to choose any night they wish. If the plan works successfully with seniors, she advocates that other classes be given the privilege.

Miss Marguerite Schlotzhauer, hostess of Langdon hall would express no opinion on the situation.

Eleanor Clausen '31, Gamma Phi Beta, believes that the senior's privilege of having her own key would be abused. "The seniors should be given the exclusive privilege of staying out late one night a week."

Sentiment Against Senior Class Play Appears Strong

Discontinuance of the senior class play was the chief topic of discussion at the luncheon of the Theater board held Wednesday noon. No definite action resulted, but a general sentiment against continuing the annual affair was shown. The fact that the play has no financial aims, that there are few people in Madison at the time that the play is given and that seniors are too harassed and busy at the end of the year were reasons given by Gilbert Williams '30, president of the Wisconsin players, in explanation of this feeling.

Jones Picks Ohio as Quad Meet Victors

Badger Track Mentor Pessimistic Regarding Card Track Chances

With the approach of the annual quadrangular track meet at Columbus Saturday, Coach Tom Jones begins to feel a bit pessimistic regarding the chances of his team reaching the conference meet next week without a defeat.

Ohio State appears as the team which has the best chance to mar the Badgers' slate, with a number of stars and ample reserve material. Last Saturday, the Buckeyes defeated Navy by over 40 points.

Simpson is admitted to have an edge in the 100 and 220-yard dashes with Root and East of Chicago his only close rivals. Lattman of Northwestern and Benson of Wisconsin also have chances for points. Zack Ford, Northwestern's best sprinter appears to be through for the season with a leg injury.

Strother, Ohio's star quarter-miler, has also been injured, but may be in shape to compete Saturday. Rut Waller of Northwestern seems to have the edge in this race, with Exum, Henke, and Gafke of Wisconsin possible point winners, along with Wise of Ohio and McAuliffe of Northwestern. Chicago's only chance appears in Schulz.

The half mile appears a toss-up with both Letts of Chicago and Goldsworthy of Wisconsin injured. Wolf of Northwestern, Brainerd of Chicago, and Hays and Heinz of Ohio have shown the best talent this season.

In the mile, Ohio has Hanover, who did 4:25 indoors. Thompson of Wisconsin should be Hanover's closest rival with Teitelman of Chicago, Wolf of Northwestern, and several Buckeye stars completing the field.

Follows, who was conceded an almost certain win in the two mile, will probably not make the trip to Columbus since he must finish a thesis before graduation. Wohlgemuth is the next best Badger runner but he will have a number of good opponents, especially Kelly and Harlacher of Chicago, and White of Ohio.

Rockaway of Ohio appears to have returned to form, which means that he will be a favorite in both hurdles races. Black of Ohio is another good bet, while Leming of Northwestern and Ziese of Wisconsin may also expect to garner a few points.

Behr and Shaw of Wisconsin are expected to win the shot put and high jump, respectively, with Gnabah expected to place in the shot and Behr also conceded a place in the high jump. Barratt and Hall of Ohio are a pair of good shot putters, while Weaver of Chicago is certain to place if he becomes eligible. Shaw's chief opponents should be Butler and Morrison of Ohio and Mandelbaum of Northwestern.

Root of Chicago has the edge over Diehl of Wisconsin in the broad jump with Weiss of Chicago and Houston of Ohio expected to place. Ed Ziese may also take a point with a good jump.

Warne, Ingle, and Klarr appear to have most of the points in the pole vault cinched. Mantz of Ohio, Cowley of Chicago, and Fox and Mayer of Wisconsin rate equally for the remaining places.

Boesel of Chicago and Frisch of Wisconsin are even favorites in the hammer throw, with Grace of Ohio a close third. Shomaker of Wisconsin has a chance to pick up the remaining point.

Schmidt, Ohio, Boesel, Chicago, and Simmons and Behr, Wisconsin, are the best of the discus throwers, with no record-breaking attempts expected. Similarly the field in the javelin appears mediocre with Mayer, Wisconsin; Hall, Ohio; and Leming Northwestern, classed as the best.

The meet comes at a very inopportune time for the Badger team, necessitating a long trip and severe competition a week before the conference meet. Goldsworthy, Davidson, and Brandt are on the injured list, while Follows, Thompson, and Goldsworthy are all pressed by their school work.

Lemming has showed up well in practice with the javelin, and while he will not go to Columbus Saturday, he may be an entrant in the conference meet on the following week-end.

Phi Epsilon Kappa Keeps Clean Slate In Greek Baseball

Phi Epsilon Kappa kept their slate clean in division five of the interfraternity baseball tournament by defeating Sigma Phi Epsilon by a score of 5 to 0, and by virtue of their victory will advance to the quarter-finals.

By losing this game, the Sig Phi Eps lost all chance of entering the final rounds, being beaten out of second place by Delta Theta Sigma. Phi Epsilon Kappa uncorked three double plays in the last three innings to cut off any chance of the Sig Phi Eps from scoring.

Lineups: Phi Epsilon Kappa—Olson, Olwell, Berg, Oman, Minton, Ahlberg, Gustav, Mickelson, Accola.

Sigma Phi Epsilon—Bolender, Meek, Neupert, Uhlir, Smith, Janson, Reef, Sullivan, Cook.

Badgers Drill For Penn Meet

Clash With Eastern Crew May 24 on Lake Mendota

With but 10 days to go before the first big meet of the Wisconsin rowing season, the race with Pennsylvania here May 24, Coach Mike Murphy sent his three varsity shells through a stiff two-hour drill on Lake Mendota Wednesday.

Despite the high winds, rain and rough waters that prevailed, the oarsmen took considerable time in intensive drilling on starts, short spurts and long high paced runs.

A bit pessimistic over the way the first shell is progressing, Coach Murphy has instituted a heavy practice program that will run over the remaining week and a half.

With his eyes set on the major race of the year, the Poughkeepsie four mile event June 26, the Badger mentor is planning to follow the Penn meet with a continued series of heavy sessions in the hope that by the time the crew leaves for the East, he will be able to issue the statement that the Badger shell will represent one of the foremost crews on the Hudson waters.

The varsity shell was composed Wednesday of Weber at stroke, Zabel 7, Ihde 6, Smedal 5, Marple 4, Keenan 3, Oberdick 2, Sperling 1, and Miller, coxswain. The Jayvee lineup was Younker at stroke, Lumpkin 7, Woodward 6, Goodman 5, Eldridge 4, Hovey 3, Parks 2, Skoglund 1, and Goldsmith coxswain.

The Hillel foundation will sponsor a tennis tournament for its members. The tourney will be composed of both singles and doubles. Entries are being taken at the Foundation office, where they must be made before May 20. Medals will be awarded to winners of the respective classes.

Crew at Syracuse is one of the oldest sports. Along with Columbia, Pennsylvania and Cornell, Syracuse is a member of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association. It is interesting to know that contrary to the popular conception, these four schools are the only members of this organization, and the Poughkeepsie regatta is sponsored solely by them. All the other participants are there by invitation.

Old Jim Ten Eyck, the coach of the varsity crews, has been there for so long that one can hardly remember when he came there. He is always referred to as the dean of coaches.

Ochsner Wins Title in Dorm Track Contest

Victors Take Three First Places in Four Postponed Events Monday

Ochsner	102
Vilas	61
Richardson	26
Tarrant	20
Botkin	12
Faville	10

Continuing its power of Saturday Ochsner swept through the remaining track and field events Monday to win the dorm track title by 39 points over its nearest competitor, Vilas. Ochsner took three of the four first places in the postponed events, Vilas taking the fourth. A large number of entry points made Ochsner's victory decisive.

Ochsner took 13 points in the broad jump, while Vilas garnered five. Ochsner's all-around stars, Lemm and McFadden, finished first and second respectively, while their teammate, Ley, took fifth. The Vilas stars, Dahlen and Lyons, scored the other five points by placing third and fourth.

McFadden scored first in the high jump, with Lemm in second place. Christian of Vilas was third, while Slotnick took fourth.

Ochsner won the half mile relay, with Ley, McFadden, Noie, and Wunsch carrying the baton.

Just as Ochsner was supreme in three events, Vilas was outstanding in the fourth, taking four of the five places counted. In the half-mile Sotek and Gottfried came in first and second. Wedgewood of Tarrant finished third. Dahlen and Lyons of Vilas took the last two places, completing the most one-sided victory of the meet.

The summaries:

Broad jump: Won by Lemm, Ochsner; McFadden, Ochsner, second; Dahlen, Vilas, third; Lyons, Vilas, fourth; Ley, Ochsner, fifth. Distance, 18 feet 11 1/2 inches.

High jump: Won by McFadden Ochsner; Lemm, Ochsner, second; Christian, Vilas, third; Slotnick, fourth.

Half mile: Won by Sotek, Vilas; Gottfried, Vilas, second; Wedgewood, Tarrant, third; Dahlen, Vilas fourth; Lyons, Vilas, fifth.

Relay: Won by Ochsner (Ley, McFadden, Noie, Wunsch).

Barn Yard Sport Revived by Silver Shoe Tournament

By THE HIRED HAND

"The Silver Shoes horseshoe pitching championship contest will be the greatest all-around tournament of its kind that has ever been held at the University of Wisconsin," said Morry Zenoff '32, sports editor, who is at the head of the first annual Daily Cardinal Silver Shoes championship.

His words were more than qualified by the buzz of excitement that the announcement of the tournament sent up. Practically every man who viewed the Silver Shoes in the gymnasium trophy case made up his mind to own them. The way to get a chance is to register at the intramural office if you are unaffiliated or do not live at the men's dormitories. Each fraternity and dormitory house is allowed to enter one man as its representative.

When the lists close at noon on Saturday, the draw will be formulated and prepared for publication in Sunday's paper.

Delta Theta Sigma Wins Playoff Tilt For Division Lead

In the only diamond ball game played Wednesday, Delta Theta Sigma defeated Phi Gamma Delta by a score of 4 to 1 on the lower campus.

By virtue of their victory, Delta Theta Sigma wins first place in their division, in which there previously was a triple tie. Phi Gamma Delta and Theta Delta Chi, the other two teams that were in the tie, will settle the fight for second place in a game this afternoon.

Lineups: Delta Theta Sigma—Kline, Blether, Ullster, Ream, Taylor, Hall, Skaife, Morrissey, Strom, Braeger.

Phi Gamma Delta—Powell, Chapman, Clogher, Evans, Morsbach, Page, Sundene, Wooding, Probascio, Wheary Score:

Four Eligible For Grid 'W'

Coaches Limit Possibilities to Kabat, Schneller, Linfor, Kranholt

The list of candidates for the "W" club general merit football award was boiled down to four men today at a meeting of the football coaching staff. Those men are Gregory Kabat, John Schneller, Joe Linfor, and Harvey Kranholt. The final decision of the staff will not be made until after the semester grades are in.

All four men have been regular attendants at spring practice and have performed well. Schneller has had perfect attendance both at the winter practice sessions and those held this spring. Kabat has been in regular attendance during the outdoor season and was undoubtedly the outstanding performer in both spring practice games.

Two of the four men play in the backfield and two are linemen. Kabat drew favorable attention for his line play in both spring practice games.

A backfield man, he was thrust into the line during the season.

Schneller, fullback, displayed some fine punting. Linfor, playing halfback in the second game, ripped off the tackles repeatedly for gains.

While the final choice of the award will not be known until the end of the semester it is believed that it will go either to Schneller or Kabat.

Last year the cup was awarded to David "Moose" Tobias.

Has New Freshman Coach

This year Syracuse has a new freshman coach. Mr. Whiteside, who formerly coached them, is now head coach at Harvard. He has always been able to produce good freshman crews and this has been a great factor in developing the varsity standard bearers.

Syracuse can always be expected to send three crews. Thus, each year upon the graduation of some of their oarsmen, they have men with plenty of experience on the Hudson to fill their places.

This year it is rather hard to predict just what they will do at Poughkeepsie but if their freshman crew of last year is any indication, they will spell trouble before the long grind is finished. All of this is in spite of their recent defeat at the hands of the Navy.

Badgers Have Single Victory, Three Losses

Must Face Wolves Today, Wildcats Saturday to End Schedule

Determined to end their season with a .500 average, the Wisconsin tennis team will make their second effort toward this goal when they face an invading Michigan sextet this afternoon on the varsity courts at 2:30.

With a season's record of one victory and three defeats, the Badgers have yet to face the Wolverines today and Northwestern Saturday before their conference schedule ends, and an even split in their six matches would leave the Cardinal netters with a fairly successful season.

Face Tough Teams

The Badgers faced probably the toughest schedule they have ever attempted. All probabilities point to the Gophers and the Suckers tying for the Big Ten championship and the Maroons in third place with only losses to the two above-mentioned squads to their credit.

Indiana proved to be an easy assignment for Coach Winterle's men but both Michigan and Northwestern on the basis of their season's showings, are acknowledged to be on a par with the Badgers, and the two matches this week are tossups with perhaps the breaks and the fighting ability determining the winner.

Lack of Practice

Because of the rain and cold, the Badgers face the Wolverines today without any practice since last Monday. Despite this handicap, Coach Winterle believes his men have an opportunity to annex their last two matches. Minnesota defeated both Wisconsin and Northwestern by the score of 6-3, while the Purple triumphed over Michigan last week 5-4, thereby making the three teams on paper at a par.

Just who will face the invaders this afternoon is as yet unknown. However it is certain that the team will be selected from the following men: Capt. Don Meiklejohn, Paul Bauss, Aaron Gottlieb, Howie Siegel, Danny Silverman, Harry Goodlett, Bill Erler, and Fred Tiegs.

Tarrant Loses To Spooner 13-1

Spooner Bats Pound Tarrant Pitcher for 10 Runs in First Frame

In the only game played in the dormitory league Spooner flashed a surprisingly good brand of ball to win from the Tarrant squad 13 to 1. The Spooner aggregation started off with 10 runs in the opening frame, but in the remaining innings the Tarrant team managed to hold the winners to three runs. The losers scored their only tally in the second.

Abiko starred for the losers bringing in their only run and also doing excellent fielding. Godfrey and Frase hit homers in the opening inning to feature the match. Godfrey allowed but four hits while Frey played a good game at first for the winners.

Lineups—Spooner: Williams, Schlemer, Ericson, Godfrey, Curtius, Frey, Pembrun, Frase, Brindley, Lynes.

Tarrant: Harris, Sapp, Liveright, Dietrich, Mortenson, Abiko, Andrews, Watson, Kraemer.

Score:

Spooner 10 1 0 0 0 2 x—13

Carl Russell and The Defenders of the Faith

ONE OF THE OUTSTANDING bon mots of the faculty meeting Monday is attributed to no less a personage than Carl Russell Fish. After Louis Kahlenberg had made some complaint of the two year elimination plan, Carl Russell arose and said:

"There is hardly anything that Mr. Kahlenberg hasn't said that I wouldn't agree with."

AND THAT is almost as good as Carl Russell's quick come-back to Fred Paxson, who had just remarked that natural elimination of poor students was working already, since there were 500 fewer sophomores than freshmen. Said C. R.:

"When I learned 20 years ago of the statistics just cited by Mr. Paxson I was worried for three weeks."

OF COURSE FRED sat down with that one. About this time George Sellery remarked that the present system is just about all right.

HON. RICARDO QUINTANA, whom rumor designates as the Moving Force behind the Curriculum committee (against his protests, of course), sits beside Carl Russell, says nothing.

AND NOT MUCH has been said, either, of those huddles of the curriculum committee after every game with the faculty-as-a-whole—huddles where new strategies are worked out for the next session.

IT HAS BEEN SAID that there is some consternation in certain quarters about various "leaks" in the faculty sessions. No wonder the hoi polloi is interested in what is going on—who ever heard of a letters and science faculty actually doing anything?

The Old Horse Roars Again

JUST ABOUT TWICE A YEAR that great hollow horse known as the Interfraternity council turns over in the straw of its comfortable bed, yawns, opens a contemplative eye, and decides to go out and browse just as if it were a real beast. Tuesday night, breathing languorous smoke from its wooden nostrils, and limping slightly from lack of exercise and oversleep, the vegetative beast stumbled out of its stall and roared to the empty paddock.

"We the Great Horse of Langdon, sired by Pegasus out of the Grecian mare of Troy; we, king of all the yard, have returned! Once more we shall rule in our rightful place; once more we shall stamp these green pastures. Our first decree, oh slaves, is this: No more shall we wait for our breakfast! We shall have our digesting done before the early sun rises, before the grasses are fresh from the early dew, that we may have the benefit of their nourishment all day long!"

How pleasant it was to see the old mule again! It is long since he has emerged from the straw and addressed his imaginary subjects with the words of regal law. He is a little enfeebled now (only a third of him was there Tuesday night: the hind legs, it appears, still slept); but he has his old sweet hollow voice, all the old pomposity, the old familiar carefree unconcern.

A Cautious Step In Advance

SENIOR WOMEN, if the revision of the regulations for women's rooming-houses which has already been approved by W. S. G. A. is also passed by a majority of the organized houses, will be able to stay out until 12:30 one week-night weekly hereafter. Senior women will have keys to their houses, the houses will be locked up by the W. S. G. A. representative instead of by the housemother, and men will be allowed to call any time during the day after noon, instead of being allowed only after four o'clock as at present.

The new rules are a definite, if cautious, step in advance. To suggest that senior women have no more responsibility, no more right to judge for themselves what is best, than do freshmen, is ridiculous. The revisions recognize this fallacy in the rules as they now stand.

Further, the revised rulings give to the representative of each house a certain amount of responsibility. The job has been in the past something of a sinecure; the representatives have been elected in most houses with little thought, and the women chosen have consequently not always been of a sort likely to accomplish much with the opportunity given them. We may hope that the new rule will encourage more careful choice of representatives, and consequently more active and intelligent work by the council.

Readers' Say-So

Mr. Cass's Othello

Editor, The Daily Cardinal:

IT SEEMS TO BE the custom at present to interpret the character of Othello as that of a wild beast, barely civilized. Only on such primitive basis is it considered possible for a man to murder his innocent wife. I have seen well-known artists, among them Fritz Wegener (Berlin), interpreting Othello in this manner. This opinion seems also to have been Mr. Weisswasser's, when he complained that the Othello "was weak and unintelligent, that he was too much the jolly good fellow in the first acts and that his almost perpetual grin accentuated the good nature he should have subordinated."

To all such interpreters of Othello I should like to say, that if Shakespeare had meant to create a character on the borderline of civilization, a character whose wild habits are only half subdued, he would not have needed to create the devil Iago in order to make Othello suspicious. Primitive man mistrusts without much ado. But Othello is not the wild beast just recently imported from Central Africa. He is, as shows his first speech in the senate, a noble, straightforward character. And in order to be convinced of Othello's noble simplicity, the actor must, as did Carl Cass, show the audience the gentle Moor whom Desdemona can love. He must be slow to believe Iago in spite of the latter's utmost ingenuity in proving Desdemona's guilt.

It requires much greater skill on the part of the actor to make us believe that this gentle, noble, sincere Othello can be brought to such a degree of jealousy as to murder his wife, than a fierce and passionate Othello. In my opinion Mr. Cass can only be congratulated on his mature interpretation of Othello which has brought out to the fullest extent the greatness of the tragedy.—GERTRUDE LAKMAN.

Adams Hall in the Press

Editor, The Daily Cardinal:

WANTED, ambitious, unscrupulous, and enterprising young men who are willing to make a few easy dollars by taking a crack at the Experimental college; training or experience not necessary; for further details apply to Mr. Nathan S. Leichman, whose name is in the directory of the university.

All of us remember a few weeks ago when a reporter of the State Journal "understood" Pres. Frank to have said that the college was soon to be discontinued. And if soon, the reporter promptly reasoned, it must be in June, hence, as far as the State Journal was concerned, our Ex college had almost become a thing of the past. Next came undertaker number 2—the A. P., and tendered to the wide and eager public the "reliable" information: The Experimental college is no more. Next came the magazine, "Time," and used what the A. P. dispatch from Madison brought up, as an education dish, and in its clear-cut style gave the reason: Internal friction. Now, trailing behind, comes this enterprising young individual, the aforesaid Mr. Leichman, who sits down (although it looks to me as if he did it standing) and writes the story of the downfall of the college. This story, dated April 30, Madison, Wis., appeared in the English section of the Jewish Daily Forward of May 4 and reads as follows:

"MEIKELJOHN'S (note the spelling) EXPERIMENT ENDS — Alexander Meikeljohn's Experimental college, long under attack by conservative educators, will be abandoned in June, according to an announcement by Glenn Frank, president of Wisconsin university. The reason is internal friction."

There are two objections to this statement: First, Pres. Frank, as far as general knowledge goes, said nothing of the sort. Second, the celebrated writer denies it himself in the course of his writing. Thus we read towards the middle of the article: "This statement (about the Experimental college) was not, as some of the news stories seemed to suggest, an announcement of the decision to discontinue the Experimental college." (A Pres. Frank quotation there.)

This kind of scribbling is the "man-bites-a-dog" news story. If the celebrated writer, who presumably is in the midst of us (never the college or near it, though), would have been interested in getting at the bottom of things he could have called up the office of the college and found out. This he didn't do because that would have spoiled the chance of cleaning the ten or twelve dollar bill which surely could have been the only motive for writing the "enlightening" article.

All this I present to show the opportunities that are knocking at the doors of enterprising young chaps of the Leichman type, and that the college will long be a source of money-making. Thus we find the writer quoting (the article must be authentic because it is full of brilliant quotations): "The college is infested with long-haired poets, Bolsheviks, and foreigners." As for the validity of such a statement, there were only two foreign born, including my humble self, during the first two years, and none of them now. Assuming that such a remark was actually made, did it warrant quoting, except, probably, from the "human interest" side?

And so, all ye needy ones! Sharpen your pencils and come one and all to watch the freakish residents of Adams hall stick their noses in the glasses when they drink, and move their jaws when they eat, and other "queer" things about them. Above all, see the "representative" Mr. Leichman, and he may tell you how to write about the college very entertainingly without ever entering the portals of that institution. Remember newspapers pay money for stuff of that kind.—NATHAN BERMAN.

On Bascom Reading-Room

Editor, The Daily Cardinal:

THE READING-ROOM in Bascom hall resembles the lobby of a hotel at convention time except that it lacks carpets.

The staff, ordinarily efficient enough in passing out books, has otherwise a laissez-faire policy that amounts to coma.

Yesterday a door in the room banged for an hour on an average of seven times a minute, and none of the staff bothered to adjust the self-closing device that would have stopped the noise.

Cork carpets on the floor would reduce the noise of the Thundering Herd which surges through twice between each class.

During the winter, the room was overheated; now that spring has come, the windows remain shut.

Certain callow undergraduates sit there and gossip about their dates, especially on rainy days—and no one protests.

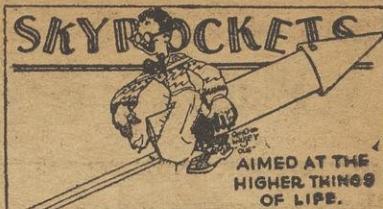

Might I request that the person responsible for the Bascom reading-room make it more like a library where study is possible?—A GRADUATE STUDENT.

WE'LL BITE—ED NOTE

After seeing and hearing the Rogue Song, we wonder why the Russians always carry so many cigars with them in the breast pockets of their over coats.

It's a good show (not an adv.) but imagine if everybody sang all the time as they did in the show. Hubby would come home in the evening and start to warble, "Wifey, O sole mio, wherein is the evening paper?" and wifey would come back with, "My dear, tra-la-la, how should I know, Ach du lieber augerstein, don't bother me now, the twins have been fighting all day, and the soup is burning, da-da-de."

And the inquisitive neighbors never would be able to tell whether some families were fighting or getting along as though they weren't married.

Under the musical plan of living, just imagine a fraternity or sorority chapter meeting. The only way to make it bearable would be for each chapter to make such close harmony as the rabble very fortunately happened to be able to make in the Rogue Song.

This is not the theater column, but we happened to break down and go to two (2) shows this week. The other was the "Son of the Gods," in which the Chinese mandarin says, "The Chinese never forget." Then why does our laundry always get mixed up?

"Use the word diplomacy in a sentence."

"Jees, on June 23 I'm gonna walk up on the platform and get my diplomacy."

AND SOME WON'T

Many a guy that has caught a pig skin in October at the stadium will get a sheepskin in June.

A mama robin is successfully raising a family of quadruplets on a fire escape of a certain university building. We'd tell you which one, but the mama says she likes privacy. If you find out, don't tell the Rambler.

Three ways to spread the dirt are to telephone, telegraph, and tell a Rambler. The agric college also has a fourth way.

Those who claim that Mo Wiener is looking for money each time he scrapes the dirt together in the batter's box don't know their sports. Mo's legs are shorter than some of the other boys, and he has to fill the holes their spikes make in order to get a solid stance.

DO U GET THIS?

The prize golf story of the week is a result of an interfraternity match. The third pair came to the last hole upon which depended the match. The hole was a long one, par 6. The player on the team which was ahead parred the hole. The other man lost a ball, topped one, and reported a 5. That's pretty good golf—playing or scoring.

HEY—AIN'T WE HEARD THIS BEFORE?—ED NOTE

Here is a trick an Alpha Fizz played on the boy friend. She sent him three neckties, two good ones and the other from a five and dime store. On the latter she sewed a label from a high class haberdashery. The b. f. praised her taste in ties, especially for the one from the store.

Civil service is a great idea. In fact, we suggest that some of the local restaurants try it.

Lesh go over an' buy some." "Some what?" "What they're selling in that store." "That's no store. Can't you see that sign which says 'Billiards'?" "Well, tell 'em to wrap up a half dozen, and I'll take 'em with me."

Who is to decide whether a serenade is a serenade or a riot? Some serenades are riots, in fact all good ones are, but all riots aren't serenades. We would suggest the mayor appoint a committee to judge serenades, or perhaps Hoover should have a committee investigate. In that case, the students wouldn't have to worry for a couple of years. Or if they want to win unqualified approval, get the state Progressives to start suit against them.

Italian Club Plans Picnic

Rossi, Assistant Professor, to Provide Spaghetti for Annual Event

Plans for the annual picnic of the Italian club were drawn up at the meeting of that group in Lathrop parlors, Lathrop hall, Tuesday night.

The exact date of the picnic was not decided upon, but it was announced that some day within the next two weeks will be selected. The location of the picnic will probably be on Lake Monona. All members of the club and of the Italian language department at the university, as well as their friends, will be included in the invitation, it was decided.

Italian dishes will be provided for the picnic by Joseph Rossi, assistant in Italian, who has made a name for himself in the club as a spaghetti cook, from reports of members. Alice Palmer '31 will have charge of the transportation, Elsie Monticello '33 is treasurer, and Vito Intravaia '33 has charge of supplies for the picnic. Prof. Joseph Russo of the Italian department is assisting the committee members.

Reading of Italian poems by Julianne Cotton, assistant in the Italian department, from her own translations, followed the business meeting of the club.

"Le Mani" by d'Annunzio, "Caruci" from Mattinata, "Francesco Redi" and poetry from Dante were presented to the Italian club by Miss Cotton.

Telephone Booth Scene of Struggle of Two Unknowns

Two unidentified persons fought an unseen battle with unknown motives in the Memorial Union telephone booth Tuesday afternoon.

Following a series of growls, grunts, and bumps inside the four-foot booth, the two men emerged in an infuriated manner, grabbing each other by the throat.

Only vigorous efforts on the part of Detective Romaine York could succeed in parting the two warriors, and convincing them to flip a coin about it.

Bystanders state that one of the contestants was Robert Sykes '30, and the other is — St. Claire, whose first name is unknown. No confirmation of names could be given by the detective, who merely separated them took them to the station, and questioned them in a vain attempt to find a motive for their conduct.

On a bus bound for Lake Mills the lights were turned out for a while, and when the driver turned them on again, he saw Marion Withey '30, president of Wesley foundation, in a clinch with her brother, Norman Withey '32.

It is reported that William Exum '32 devoured three steak dinners with triple banquet accessories to celebrate his share in Wisconsin's overwhelming victory in the state track meet in Milwaukee recently.

The girls at 430 N. Lake street felt plenty curiosity when shown visual proof that Bess Fried '33 had received flowers on Mother's day, bearing the card, "To the sweetest little mother in the world."

When a deet reporter went out to get a story about census-taking in the Latin quarter, thinking she was going to get something about difficulties with the students, she was somewhat surprised to hear that they had no trouble at all, except for having to use Prof. J. L. Russo as an interpreter. Evidently the census-taker thinks the Latin quarter and Little Italy are the same thing.

Fritz Gutheim '31 put the following ad in the paper: "Lost, strayed, or (probably) stolen; one grey 1929 Ford roadster from in front of the university library Sunday afternoon; license number Wis. 1930-C 134269, engine number 1298906. The finder of this handsome article who returns same to Box 48 Cardinal will in no case be rewarded. Why be a detective if not for fun?"

He withdrew the ad before it was printed, however, because the car was found in front of the Theta house, and Fritz's roommate in "Little Bohemia," the annex to the Memorial Union, Fritz Jochem '31, is accused of the misdemeanor.

A certain prominent civil engineer, straight A student, member of Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering frat, and president of his social frat, had to have one of the brethren get him a blind for the house spring formal this week-end.

"Rusty" Roberts '32 and Clayton Weavill '32, brother Phi Pi Phis, went motor boating on Lake Mendota early Sunday morning. The sunrise was beautiful, the lake was calm, and everything was lovely as the two toured the lake in the speed boat. All of a sudden the motor coughed, coughed again, then expired. They were in the middle of the lake without any gas. After sitting around wondering what to do for about half an hour, a couple of fishermen came to their rescue and towed them over to Maple Bluff. It was 5 a. m., than which there is no worse time to look for gas, but they got it, and finally got home.

Sherry Fobb '32, phy ed and member of the frosh track team, pitched a baseball game the other day, and hit only four men. His defense is that any able-bodied man could dodge a baseball if he was paying attention.

Bob Lowe '31 is pushing the rest of the campus lights for the title of "the bravest man on the hill." He rushes two girls living in the same rooming house, knowing that they are good friends.

The bills in the Memunion rathskeller bear the following memoranda in German: "The Rathskeller, Every Thing You Want. Please Pay The Waiter." We don't know German. Our authority is George Weiswasser, grad.

Three more days and the Rambler-Rockets-Tumas - Men's Union - Spring Carnival will be here in all its glory. Four more days and it will be either a lifelong regret because you missed it, or one of those big memories.

And in a low voice:
Casey: All due apologies, but you deserved it.
Mary: It's all in fun you know.

Frances Wright, Robert Godley Engaged to Marry

Announcement was made Wednesday of the engagement of Frances Caldwell Wright '32, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Wright, Oak Park, Ill., to Robert Franklin Godley '30, of Aurora, Ohio.

Miss Wright is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma and Coranto sororities. Mr. Godley is affiliated with Chi Phi and Sigma Delta Chi, honorary journalism fraternity.

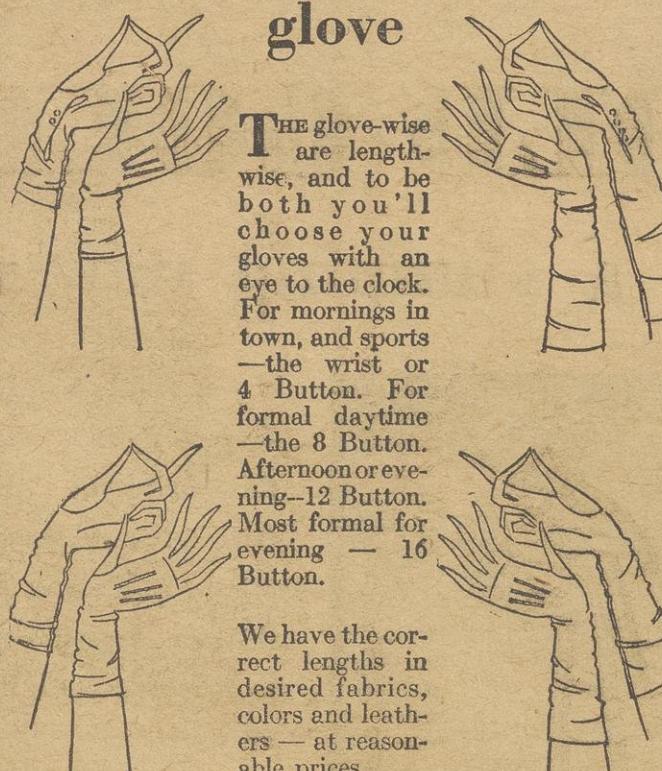

Mr. Godley has taken part in many activities in the university. In his sophomore year he wrote the prize winning serial in the Octopus contest, was desk editor of The Daily Cardinal, fiction editor of the Octopus, and started writing the theater column for The Daily Cardinal. He held the latter position until this year, when he resigned to take a position on the staff of the Wisconsin State Journal. He is also the founder of the Cardinal Radio hour and of the Chi Phi house course. He was this year's chairman for the Gridiron banquet. Mr. Godley is also a member of the Wisconsin players.

CLEVELAND HOUSE

Miss Ina Tesar of Prairie du Chien and Miss Dorothy Maes of Green Bay, Wisconsin, were guests of Betty Wilson '31 at the Cleveland house over the week-end.

Just when the movement to curb petting gets under way, a report comes from the south that 38 miles of shade trees have been planted along Alabama highways this season.

PIFACTS AND PHOOIE

that muchly press agented fillum, "Ingagi," comes to town... and is reviewed here by tommy

GAG: One of the scenes from "Ingagi" . . . that wild animal picture at the Orph . . . shows a bunch of baboons congregated around a water-hole. The talking sequence announced, "Looks like a convention . . . here comes some of the delegates." Some bright-cracking college boy in the rear yelled out, "No . . . maybe it's the Interfraternity Council." Smart people . . . these Arabs.

ITEM: Somebody sent us a very vituperous letter . . . which we are saving for a stormy day.

RELIEFF The Orph had a full house Wednesday matinee . . . despite what we said in this space.

FACT (?): Prof. Otto . . . who lectures on Man and Nature . . . recently ran into some poison ivy . . . rather ironical, if you catch on.

NEWS: Edna Ferber's novel "So Big" will be made into a talkie soon . . . and Paul Whitman will NOT have the leading role.

SO: The Rambler did not attend Mortar Board.

PLEASE: Will all our worthy assistants please be in the Cardinal office today at 4:30 p.m.

AND: Mgr. Scharnberg at the Orph reads this space regularly . . . and enjoys it . . . so I've been told . . . maybe he's just after publicity, but we doubt it.

orpheum

That much heralded picture "Ingagi" is now playing at the Orph. And already the campus is buzzing with comment.

The fillum records the adventures of Sir Hubert Winstead in an expedition into the wilds of Africa. The entire film is full of exciting incidents . . . although the extreme heat they encountered blurred some of the shots.

One of the more exciting occurrences shows a lioness spring on the cameraman . . . who luckily escaped with his life.

Also you will have a chance to see an animal that never has been filmed before. It is called a Tortadillo. It has armor on its back like an armadillo. This little animal is quite venomous. The climax of the picture shows

Memorial Union Will Open Allied Artists Exhibition

An exhibition of oils by the Allied Artists of America will open in the gallery of the Memorial Union May 15, for a two weeks' show. This will be the first show that the Allied Artists has sent out on the road, and has been selected from the sixteenth annual exhibition held in New York.

There will be 32 paintings in the show including works by several famous artists. Ernest Albert, Gordon Grant, G. Glenn Newell, and Chauncey F. Ryder are among those represented.

In reviewing the show in April, the New York World said, "The exhibition is filled with straight-forward conservative and enjoyable offerings." Its conservatism will be consistent with the Union's policy of presenting the many sides of art.

Students at Yale are making a collection of skulls of 79 species of dogs.

Elections to Order of Coif Will Take Place on May 15

Elections to the Order of Coif, honorary legal fraternity, will be announced at the annual law school banquet to be held in Tripp commons tonight at 6 p.m. The banquet is sponsored by the Law School association. The committee in charge includes: Prof. N. P. Feinsinger, chairman; Joseph Blaetky L1, Davey Jones L2, Bernice Lotwin L2, and William H. Barnes L2.

Venetian Night, Tumas Frolic Will Color Festive Week-end

Isham Jones Orchestra Promises Great Attraction; Announce New Plans

Preparations for the first Spring Carnival in the history of Wisconsin, featuring Isham Jones and his orchestra, held in an effort to provide the funds for the old Wisconsin tradition, Venetian Night, promises that the event jointly sponsored by Skyrockets-Rambler-Tumas-Men's Union will be one of the most colorful events of the season.

The entire main unit of the Memorial Union is to be set aside for the dance. Over 170 Japanese lanterns are to be hung in Great hall, the Council room, and on the courts and terraces. The main floor is to be used as a lounge to provide plenty of room for the dancers. The entire Great hall with the promenade, is to be cleared.

Lanterns Light Terrace

One thousand balloons will be suspended from the dome of the Great hall, and 10,000 serpentine rolls, with confetti, will be provided. The terrace is to be lighted with 100 Japanese lanterns, and service is to be provided for those who wish to frequent it.

The courts opening from the various rooms about the building are to be illuminated with Oriental lanterns, and floodlights reflecting on the main walls of the building are to be of various colored lights, carrying out the Mardi Gras atmosphere being sought by the decorators.

Booths Erected in Rathskeller

The Great hall is to have very simple, but impressive decorations. Ferns and palms will color the stage and walls, and a large number of flood lights will furnish a multitude of colored lights. The background for the orchestra is to consist of an exquisite colored drop.

The carnival atmosphere of Spring Carnival is to be further carried out in the Rathskeller, where booths erected by various campus organizations will provide entertainment for the dancers. This feature is being planned to divide the interest of the crowd, in order that the dance floor will not be too crowded.

Tickets for the carnival are to be on sale until Saturday noon at Pete Burns', the University Pharmacy, and the Union desk. The doors of the Union are to be closed at 3:30 p. m. Saturday, and the dance will begin at 8:30.

Prof. Trumbower Lists Placement Of Seven Seniors

Seven seniors of the economics department in addition to those previously placed, have accepted positions with business concerns, Prof. H. R. Trumbower, chairman of the placement committee of the economics department announced Wednesday.

Carol A. Regan, Madison, will work with R. H. Macy and company, New York city; James G. Richter, Davenport, Ia., and W. Lawrence Shomaker, Herrin, Ill., have accepted positions with the Aetna Insurance company, Hartford, Conn.

Ebert O. Warren, Akron, O., has accepted a position with the General Electric company, Schenectady, N. Y.; Aronld L. Crowell, Tuckahoe, N. Y., with the Mulky Salt company, Detroit, Mich.; and Paul G. Engler, Cassville, Wis., with Farwell and Breckinridge, Investment Councillors, Chicago, Ill.

Artists Equipment Planned for Union Annex Innovation

In an attempt to provide all facilities possible for recreation to lovers of art, the Union council has made plans to equip rooms in the Union annex next year with etching presses, desks, easels, and model stands, Sally Owen '30, representative-at-large of the Union council announced Tuesday.

These workshops will be purely recreational and will have no official connection with courses in applied arts. No credits will be given for work done and it will be devoted to novice and expert alike.

To determine student interest in such a project, a questionnaire has been distributed. It asks such questions as, "How much time would you spend per week in such a studio?" and "What time of day or night would be most convenient?"

Dandelions, Apple Blossoms Makes Bees Playmates

Bees no longer swarm for the keeper if he gives them the proper care at the right time, declares H. F. Wilson, entomologist at the college of agriculture. This care, he says, begins in the spring of the year just before the bees get ready to prepare for the honey flow.

A bee hive is a factory employing thousands of workers who demand both food and shelter. A good hive numbers from 75,000 to 100,000 bees and a queen. This colony, as it is called, should be started in the fall, by raising plenty of brood and supplying them with enough food to carry them until the next spring when the flowers begin to bloom.

Bees are not the mysterious creatures many people believe them, according to Wilson. On the contrary, he regards them as comparatively easy to handle and finds they respond to the wishes of the owner in proportion to the treatment they receive. When properly fed and housed they are obedient servants.

When the warm days of May arrive, bees will find enough nectar on a heavy growth of dandelions to carry them until the fruit trees blossom. After the dandelion blossoms have disappeared, the nectar from the orchards will keep the swarm busy until the clover and buckwheat blossoms appear late in June and July.

Alpha Delta Sigma Heads Will Attend Advertising Meet

Philip A. Streich '30 and William E. Payne '30 left Wednesday for Washington, D. C., to attend the National Advertising congress. They will be accompanied by Prof. Arthur Hallam of the extension division.

Streich and Payne are seniors in advertising, and are president and vice-president respectively of Alpha Delta Sigma, professional advertising fraternity. Payne was business manager of The Daily Cardinal during 1929-30.

The congress is a joint meeting of newspaper agencies and university advertising workers, and will be attended by the leading advertising men of the country.

Friends, Relatives, and Initiative

Of 51 men in our Training School—
26 had their attention directed to the investment business by friends or relatives
20 decided to investigate it on their own initiative

IT is a tribute to the investment business that so large a part of those entering it do so at the suggestion of older and more experienced heads. It is no less significant that an increasing number of alert, active-minded college men are choosing this field as a result of their own initiative.

Both are as they should be. When a young man enters a business or profession, he makes an important investment of his time and energies. Those early years may give him the momentum to carry him through a successful career. If, on the other hand, he wakes up after several years to the fact that he has chosen a business that does not fit, or one that has limited opportunities, he must begin all over again—and from a standing start.

It will pay you to know as much about different occupations as possible. Before you go out to find your first position, know what different occupations require and what they offer. Among others, investigate the investment business as a possible career.

We shall be glad to help you. Based on our extensive experience in the underwriting and distribution of sound bonds for investment, we have prepared a booklet of special interest to college men, called The Bond Business. Write for a copy.
