P I A N O - F O R T E .

Farewell, to night we part.
 The mountain wade.
 I forget the gay, gay world.
 Serenade.

We come again with song to greet you.
 She sleeps in the valley.
 Hunting Glee.

Sym: ad lib:

On every spot the sunbeam brightens,
 These constant hearted friends we find;
 With such the tie of friendship tightens,
 No space can blot them from the mind.

But now again we meet in gladness,
 To wipe the tear from every eye;
 Come, banish from the heart all sadness,
 Nor let a sorrow cause a sigh.

Oh! hearts like these we long shall cherish,
 While singing o'er our native strain;
 Not one remembrance e'er shall perish,
 Till we shall happily meet again.

BY JOHN ZUNDEL.

Organist of St. George's (Dr. Tyng's) Church, New York; formerly Organist of St. Ann's Church, St. Petersburg; author of "The Amateur Organist," "Two Hundred and Fifty Voluntaries and Interludes," &c.

WITH CUTS ILLUSTRATING THE POSITION OF THE BODY, HANDS, &c.

This very comprehensive work is offered to the public as a really complete and practical or any similar instrument, especially fitted to the wants of those who pursue their practice without a master, as well as for those who have the advantages of a teacher.

The complaint has been made very generally, and with justice, that while there have been very many excellent instruction books for the Piano Forte, no sufficient and well adapted work has been issued for the Melodeon. Such as have been published are very limited in extent, and, in fact, Piano Forte books; the music being improperly arranged for the best effect upon the Melodeon, Organ, or similar instrument. It is well known to the initiated that a different arrangement of music and style of playing are requisite to the development of the full beauties of any instrument in which the tones have the characteristics of those of the Melodeon, being prolonged at will, increased or diminished, &c. In the present work, every piece has been carefully arranged, expressly for its pages. It will be seen that it embraces a very great variety of music, and it therefore forms not only an instruction book, but also a very full collection of music for the instrument.

Care has been taken that it be not too difficult. It is gotten up in a new and elegant style. In size, it is folio, 114 pages.

PRICE, $2.

THE MODEL MELODEON INSTRUCTOR. Presenting in a series of nearly two hundred popular studies, a complete and progressive method of popular instructions for the Melodeon and other Reed Instruments, together with a selection of the most admired Songs, Duets, Trios, &c. Price, $1.

A strong desire having been expressed for a low-priced volume, which, while it might instruct the scholar in the use of the Melodeon, should also furnish a good selection of Music for that instrument, the above work has been prepared and published. Great care has been taken in the arrangement of the elementary studies. The exercises and examples exhibit every phase of execution, a diligent practice of which will enable the pupil to perform with ease and accuracy any of the popular compositions of the day. The collection of Songs, Duets, Trios, Marches, Quicksteps, &c., comprising some of the very best, and having been selected with a particular regard to the tastes and wishes of the home circle and social gatherings. This volume is, therefore, calculated for student or performer, equally valuable as a method of instruction and a favorite collection of music for the melodeon and all reed instruments.

[NOTE — "Carhart's" and "The American" Instructor, differ from this only in names, which have been substituted to suit the wants of large purchasers.]
