YOU'RE "O.K." COLONEL!

It's good news every time you pass a 'physical'. Heart disease is no respecter of uniforms. It sends many a good officer into limbo before his retirement age, even though we urgently need all the matured experience we can possibly muster to direct our war activities.

With increasing age as well as the pressure and responsibilities of war, our older officers need frequent physical examinations. No such examination can be considered complete without an Electrocardiogram.

That so many of these all important tracings are made on Cambridge Electrocardiographs is significant. The Cambridge is accurate, dependable and rugged, the ideal instrument for Government service as well as for private medical use.
